a-, an-, negative prefix: (1) prefixed to finite verbs, as rarely in Skt. (Renou p. 175) but rather often in Pali (CPD s.v. 7); here not common: apaśyanti SP 324.2; anatikramāmo Mv ii.80.8; anicchiyati (?) Mv iii.295.18; see § 23.17; (2) in sense described for Pali in CPD s.v. 2, a cpd. in a- following the same word without a-, and preceding a form of kṛ: samitiṃ asamitiṃ kṛtvā Divy 41.10, lit. making the assembly no assembly, i. e. quitting the assembly; tasya vacanam avacanam kṛtvā Divy 41.28, disregarding his advice. See an-a-.

1 aṃśa, m., (1) (= Pali aṃsa, only in comp.) (part, and so) time (as past, present, future): Mv i.160.8, 9 (prose) atīte aṃśe . . . anāgate aṃśe . . . pratyutpanne aṃśe (in sense of usual adhvani, see adhvan, which is used in Sūtrāl. xx–xxi.57 and Mvy 151–153 in parallel to this passage, on the 18 āveṇika buddha-dharma); atīte aṃśe Mv i.161.6; atitāṃśagatā (= Pali atitāṃsa-) Mvy 6438; (2) portion, in maitra aṃśa portion of affection, virtually = love (so Pali cpd. mettāṃsa, It. 22.4, not adj. with PTSD but noun love, °so sabbabhūtesu veram tassa na kenaci, he has love for all creatures, has no enmity with anyone); maitrenāṃśena sphuritvā, having suffused with love Divy 60.24 (so with mss.); 61.12 (here mss. and ed. maitreyāṃśena, a corruption due to repeated occurrence of name Maitreya in the context); 66.18 (here kept in ed. with mss.); see sphurati; a variant form, in comp. with maitra or maitrā, seems to occur in maitrāsa-jā, q.v.—See aṣṭāṃśa.

-aṃśika (cf. 1 aṃśa, 2), ifc., belonging to the part of; pertaining to; sometimes with vṛddhi of first syllable of prior member of cpd.: maraṇāṃśika Mvy 5345, upapattyaṃśika 5346, belonging to (the part of) death, birth; Tib. char gtogs pa, included in the division of (Das); aupapattyaṃśika = upa° Śikṣ 226.7 ff. (Śāl 87.10 ff.); 253.3, 5. Equivalent to -aṃśika are -antika in mārāṇāntika Śikṣ 226.7 ff. (same passage Śāl) and -aṅgika in aupapattyaṅgika Lañk 277.6 (said of citta). It is natural to suspect that corruption of tradition is responsible for one or two of these. But (1) all can be plausibly explained as of independent origin; (2) -aṃśika is well authenticated, while -antika is supported by Pali (mārāṇāntika Miln. 48.11).

aṃśu (= Skt. aṃśuka), cloth, or garment (less probably thread, a meaning recorded for Skt. aṃśu and for Pali aṃsu): -kāśikāṃśu-ḥṣomakādyāḥ Divy 316.27.

aṃśa-dhātṛī, also written aṃśa-, and in mss. atsa-, lit. 'shoulder nurse', one who carries a baby; usual substitute for aṅka-dh°, q.v.: Divy 3.13; 26.9; 58.11; 99.25; 271.18; 441.22; MSV i.132.20; iii.134.7; Av i.15.11 and often. App. secondary to aṅka-, yet supported by MSV iii.134.12 dhātṛy-aṃśa-gato niṣaṇṇo.

aḥṇa, adj. (= Pali id., see kaṇa, niṣkaṇa), free from the red coating under the husk (of rice): (śāli) Mv i.342.1, 7; iii.72.19.

Akaṇṭaka, nt., n. of a Buddhakṣetra: Mv i.123.12.

akati-gāthā (cf. Pkt. akai, unnumbered, infinite), having numberless (a-kati) verses, or an infinite(ly numerous) verse; of the sāvitṛī stanza, Divy 638.2. In an examination on Vedic lore: paṭhatu bhavān sāvitṛiṃ. (Answer:)

akatigāthā. — katyakṣarā sāvitṛī, katigaṇḍā, katipadā. (Answer:) caturviṃśatyakṣarā, trigāṇḍā, aṣṭākṣarapadā.

akaniṣṭha (= Pali akaniṣṭha; see also aghaniṣṭha), (1) n. of the fifth and highest class of the Suddhāvāsakāyika gods (see deva), and (2) sg., n. of the region where they live (Bbh 61.4 yāvad akaniṣṭhād; but more normally yāvad akaniṣṭhabhavanam, Divy 162.16, or the like). They dwell brahmaloke SP 359.1. Often mentioned alone as the highest of the 'form' (rūpāvacara) gods, as also in the lists of classes of gods: Mvy 3106; Dharmas 128; LV 47.1; 150.11; 227.2; 266.8; 342.18; Mv i.266.3, 7; ii.314.3, 9; 319.7; 349.2; iii.139.3; Divy 68.17; 367.14; Av i.5.4; ii.105.11; RP 6.16; Mmk 19.10; 69.7; Bbh 69.19; 360.26; Sukh 64.11. Sometimes in sg. of a single member of the class, LV 44.13.

akampiya, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. °pya), unshakable: Gv 25.21 (vs).

Akampya, m., so read with v.l. in Mironov for Ākampya, n. of a Bodhisattva-samādhi: Mvy 739; Tib. mi (b)sgul pa = a-kampya.

Akampyanetra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8.

Akardama, nt., n. of a Buddhakṣetra: Mv i.124.1. akalpika, adj. (Pali akappiya), improper; cf. kalpika, and next: MSV i.234.5; -dāna, gift of something that is improper, Śikṣ 271.7; Bbh 123.8; -pradāna Karmav 44.17.

a-kalpya, adj. (= prec., and Pali akappiya; not in Skt., nor is kalpya, q.v., there recorded in a corresponding sense), improper: Lañk 249.13, of māṃsarudhirāhāra.

akalmāṣa, adj. (= Pali akammāsa), pure (lit. not variegated); in this sense once in ŚB., otherwise in Skt. only as n. pr.): Mv i.211.11 = ii.15.10, along with pariśud-dha, of brahmacarya; i.239.5–6, of ceto-praṇidhāna; iii.343.2, of Buddha's voice.

akākolina, ?(said of water): °ne jātikusumānāṃ pāṇīye juhuyāt Mink 313.26; °ne pāṇiyakumbhaṃ nive-dayet 320.1, he shall offer a jar of water in (water that is?) ak°; possibly free from (the plant) kākolī (?).

akāca, adj. (= Pali id.; etym. uncertain; PTSD not glass, originally of jewels; it is once applied to jewels, along with vimāla and suddha, in DN ii.244.10 = Jāt. ii.418.20; another theory in Senart i note 508), free from blemish or impurity: achidram akācam avraṇaṃ anāśravam te caraṇaṃ Mv i.164.7.

akāmaka, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. akāma, unwilling; in spite of (adverse) desire: °kānāṃ mātāpitṛnāṃ Mv ii.68.20 and 117.18; °kā(h) iii.92.6; °kena Śikṣ 19.21.

a-kāmakāmin, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. kāma°, BhG. 2.70), not lusting after lusts: sthitalapā (see this) °naś ca bhavanti Mv i.134.10 (wrongly Senart); °mi-tva, state of being ak°, Mv i.153.11.

akāmam, adv., whether he likes or not, (even) unwillingly, willy-nilly: Prāt 496.14.

akāyikā (or °ka, n. pl. °kā), a kind of toy (Index wrongly in a game): kṛiḍāpanikāni bhavanti, tad yathā, akāyikā . . . Divy 475.18 (cf. sakāyikā).

a-kāla (m.?, neg. of 2 kāla 1, day, q.v.; cf. Skt. vikāla), night: akālāt kālibhūtam Divy 336.14, from night it became day; akālibhūtam, it became night, Divy 335.17; 337.11 (kālād akā).

akālaka, (1) nt. (from akāla), food (delicacies) suitable for eating at other than meal times (= akālakhādyaka, q.v.): śālinām odanavidhim akālakam (so Senart em., mss. odanaṃ viditakālakam, or °kārakam) anekavyañjana-mupetaṃ Mv i.306.13 (vs; otherwise Senart); tair °kāni sajjikṛtāni Divy 130.22; (2) adj. (cf. Pali akāla-civara), of monks' robes, provided at extraordinary times: (akā)laka civaraṃ MPS.40.54.

akāla-kaumudī, an irregular festival, i. e. one not held at any fixed time: puṇyāni kriyatām °mudī ca kriyatām Divy 514.17 ff.

akālakhādyaka, nt. (cf. khādyaka) = akālaka (1), q.v.: °kāni śighraṃ sajjikuruti Divy 130.21 (consisting of ghṛta-guḍa-śarkarā-pānakāni, 130.20).

Akāladarśana, n. of a mountain: Kv 91.17.

akālīka, adj. (= Pali id.; ep. of dhamma; also BHS āk, q.v.), immediate, not dependent on lapse of time (said of dharma-vinaya): Mv iii.200.10, see s.v. ehipaśyika.

akilāntaka, adj. (for a-klāntaka), unworn: °kā Lṽ 359.20 (vs), voc. sg., m.c.; to Buddha.

a-kilāsi-tā (to next), non-indolence, non-weariness: °tayā, without weariness, AsP 104.21.

a-kilāsin, adj. (Pali akilāsu; see kilāsin), unworned, not indolent: (of a kalyāṇamitra) pratisaṃkhyānabahuḷaḥ °sī . . . dharmadeśanāyāi Bbh 238.11; saṃharsakaś cā °si (m.c. for °si) nityaṃ SP 204.10 (vs).

a-kisara-lābhīn, adj., and °bhi-tā, abstr.; also in Skt. form as a-kṛcchra, (state of) obtaining without difficulty: akṛcchra-lābhī (n. sg.) Mvy 2432 = dkaḥ pa med par thob pa, and akisara-l° 2433 = tshegs med par °, or, ñan non ma yin par°; akṛcchrākisara-lābhī-tā Bbh 388.13 = (acc. to note) Tib. ñan non ma yin par thob pa dañ tshegs med par thob pa. The three Tib. translations are synonymous; it is striking that both the MIndic and the Sktized forms are recorded together in both Mvy and Bbh. Pali has both akāsira-lābhī(n) and akiccha°; otherwise the cpd. is not recorded. Even akṛcchra is not recorded in Skt. except for akṛcchra-laṅghya in pw 5.240 (from Rājat.; perhaps due to Buddhist influence?). See kisara; it appears that in Pali, too, kasira and kičcha, both historically from kṛcchra, came to be understood as different words. This suggests that BHS a-kṛcchra-lābhīn may be a Sktization of an older MIndic a-kičcha° (= Pali and Pkt. id.), specifically, and not of BHS kisara, which maintained an independent existence for a time, tho ultimately it was crowded out by the Sktized kṛcchra.

Akutobhaya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.237.10.

-akumbha, best of its kind (lit. no pot, no commonplace thing), ifc.: avataṃsakṛtākumbhaṃ kretum icchati kaḥ kumbhaṃ Jm 101.14 (vs; with word-play), who wants to buy this jar which is a no-jar made into a crown?; 186.16, see s.v. sātman.

Akulika, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.10. Follows (in a list of nāga kings) immediately after Kulika (Skt.), and evidently fashioned on that.

? akulejyeṣṭhāpacāyaka, m.: Divy 293.26 °kaiḥ, not honoring the elders of the family; neg. of kulajyeṣṭhā°, see s.v. apacāyaka; prob. read akula°, tho a loc. in a tatpuruṣa cpd. kulejyeṣṭha would not be impossible (eldest in the family).

akuśala, nt. (= Pali °sala), sin, evil; ten (3 of body, 4 of speech, 3 of thought): Mvy 1681-4 (not named); Dharmas 56 (named; opposites of the 10 kuśala, q.v.).

akuśalamūla, nt. (= Pali akus°), root of demerit, opp. of kuśalamūla: three (lobha, moha, dveṣa, as in Pali which has doṣa for dveṣa): Dharmas 139.

a-kuśīda-vartin, adj. (cf. kuśīda), not living sloth- fully: Mv i.357.13 °vartī, n. sg. m., in same vs as Pali Sn 68 akusitavuttī.

akṛtaka, adj. (see kṛtaka; cf. Pali akata as ep. of nibbāna, and akṛtajña 1), not created, unfashioned, intangible, immaterial, in Lañk standardly as epithet of ākāśa, nirvāṇa, nirodha. Often mistranslated as if active by Suzuki, no doer, not working, or the like: Lañk 60.6; 72.5; 77.1, etc. Also more generally: sarvaṃ . . . kṛtakam, or sarvaṃ . . . akṛtakam Lañk 176.11 and 13, all is created or all is uncreated, as doctrines of two materialistic schools; the question is raised Lañk 187.9 whether the Tathāgata is uncreated (akṛtakaḥ) or created (kṛtakaḥ).

akṛtajña (in mg. 1 = Pali akataññu), (1) adj., knowing the uncreated (i. e. nirvāṇa; cf. akṛtaka): Ud xxix.33 = Pali Dh. 97; (2) (Skt., also Pali akataññu, adj., ungrateful) n. of a prince, brother of Kṛtajña: RP 25.5.

akṛpṇam, adv., not poorly, very well: SP 79.12 (Skt. kṛpṇam and Pali kapaṇam are used as adverbs, miserably).

akopya, adj. (= Pali akuppa, used with cetovimutti; cf. avikopita), immovable, steadfast, fixed, sure; not to be violated (of a command): cetovimukti or cetomukti LV 418.17; Mv ii.139.6; iii.333.13, 16; dharma LV 426.20 (akopyadharmā-deśaka); Mv iii.200.15; Divy 617.13 (akopya-dharmā, said of a bhikṣuṇī); (dharma-) cakra LV 422.17; ājñā (śāstur) Divy 185.8.

akrudhyana-tā (a plus krudhyana = Pali kujjhana, °nā; to Skt. krudhyati with -ana, -anā, plus -tā), state of not being angry: °tayā Śiḥ 35.9.

akṣaṇa, m. or nt. (= Pali akkhana), inopportune birth, birth under such circumstances that one cannot learn from a Buddha. There are eight such in Pali, DN iii.287.12 ff.; AN iv.225.19 ff. (9 in DN iii.263.31 ff.), viz.: (at a time when a Buddha is living) one is born (1) in a hell, (2) as an animal, (3) as a preta, (4) as one of the 'long-lived gods', (5) in border countries or barbarian regions, (6) with perverted, heretical mentality, (7) dull, stupid, incapable of distinguishing the gospel from what is inconsistent with it; or (8) he is born capable of profiting from the gospel but at a time when no Buddha exists to teach it. (DN iii.263 ff. adds as 9th, after No. 3, birth as an asura.) These same 8, transposing 6 and 7, are briefly listed Mvy 2299-2306: (1) narakāḥ, (2) tiryāñcaḥ, (3) pretāḥ, (4) dirghāyūṣo devāḥ, (5) pratyantajanapadaṃ, (6) indriyavai-kalyaṃ, (7) mithyādarśanam, (8) tathāgatānām anutpādaḥ. In Dharmas 134 No. 5 is put before 4, otherwise 1-7 as in Mvy, but 8 (obviously by a secondary change) is wholly different: (1) narakopapattis, (2) tiryagupapattir, (3) yamalokopapattih, (4) pratyantajanapadopapattir, (5) dirghāyūṣadevopapattir, (6) indriyavikalatā, (7) mithyā-dṛṣṭiḥ, (8) cittotpādavirāgitatā (seems to be a different version of 6, which corresponds to Pali 7, while 8 of the others is omitted). As opposed to these there is only one kṣaṇa, opportune birth; see s.v. Eight akṣaṇa Mv ii.363.3; LV 412.14; Śiḥ 2.4; 114.14; Gv 116.16; Suv 41.13. The word never means misfortune in general, but only unfavorable birth, and in most cases clearly in just the sense described above. So Śiḥ 147.14 akṣanagatiṃ na gacchaty anyatra sattvaparipākāt, (a Bodhisattva) is not born in an inopportune birth, except to mature creatures (the transl. misunderstands); LV 278.22 akṣaṇāni pithitāny abhūvan, and 279.19 akṣaṇāḥ pithitāḥ, are explained by Gv 112.19 sarvākṣaṇadvārapapātāni pithayisyati (or with text pithapayis°, see Chap. 43, s.v.) he will close the door-panels (opening into) all the inopportune births. The akṣaṇa are śodhita, purified, LV 53.6; 357.5, or made śūnya, empty, LV 358.13. Others: LV 12.3; 34.22; 275.21; 327.13; 364.7; Mv ii.358.5; 371.12; 392.5 = Śikṣ 306.1; Av i.291.12; RP 35.19; Śikṣ 69.5; Sukh 23.9; Gv 54.9 (preta-tiryān-narakākṣaṇe-gatāḥ); cf. Lévi, Sūtrāl. 17.26. On SP 163.8 akṣaṇāḥ samvṛtā cf. Senart's note Mv i.405 f.; it is (as Senart says) certainly secondary, the original being aghā(h) aghasamvṛtā(h), miseries, surrounded by miseries (in apposition with lokāntarikā, q.v., sc. narakāḥ or nirayāḥ); akṣaṇāḥ in SP was, in my opinion as in Senart's (if I understand him), a noun and a near-synonym of aghā(h), (constituting) unfavorable births, see aḡha (2). Perhaps akṣaṇasamvṛtā(h) was originally read after it(?). In Dbh.g. 7(343).4 read probably akṣaṇāḥ for text akṣalāḥ: sarve ti pāpapatitā 'kṣalāḥ (text) prabhonti.

akṣaṇa-vedha, the art of piercing the target (unerringly); first member hyper-Skt. for Pali akkhaṇa (-vedhin; see akṣaṇa-vedhin), which really derives from Skt. ākhaṇa, target, see BR 5 App. s.v., and Coomaraswamy, Ars Islamica X (1943). 109, n. 9. Cf. śabda-vedha, vāla-vedhin. The mss. in Divy read akṣuṇa-, or akṣūna-; ed. always akṣuṇa-: (read) akṣaṇavedhe Divy 58.27; 100.12; 442.8, in lists of martial arts; °vedhaḥ Mvy 4994 (text akṣuṇa°, v.l. akṣuṇa°; Mironov 217.22 akṣūna° by em.).

akṣaṇavedhi-nta, vt., state or art of being an akṣaṇa-vedhin: °tve LV 156.13, where text akṣuṇa°, most mss. akṣuṇa°; none apparently have the correct akṣaṇa°.

akṣaṇa-vedhin (= Pali akkhaṇa°), having the art of hitting the bull's-eye, akṣaṇa-vedha, q.v. Implied in LV 181.7, where text kālākṣuṇadharmavedhi; best ms. °kṣaṇa°; read vālākṣaṇa°, an archer-in-religion who can split a hair as target, cf. vālavvedhin.

Akṣatabuddhi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.4.

akṣamātra, reaching up to the axle (of a chariot); with dhārā, as deep as a chariot's axle (from the ground); Mv ii.349.17 °mātrāhi dhārāhi buddhakṣetraṃ phalī, (the gods) filled this Buddha-field with streams (of flowers rained down) to the depth of a chariot's axle; Mvy 7151 °mātrābhīr dhārābhīḥ (same phrase, Sktized); °mātrābhīr vāridhārābhīr MSV i.40.4.

akṣaya (1) a high number, m. in Mvy 7793, nt. in Gv 134.2 and Mvy 7922 (cited from Gv); gender ambiguous (°asya, gen.) Gv 106.5, 18, in both of which read sattvākṣaya- for sattva-kṣaya-; (2) m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 547; ŚsP 1418.15.

Akṣayakaraṇḍa (in Mvy var. °ḍaka), m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 603; ŚsP 1424.12.

Akṣayakaraṇḍā, n. of a Bodhisattva-dhāraṇī: Mvy 750.

akṣayanikā (printed so, with n; cf. Skt. -kṣayaṇa), in °kā-dāna Bḥi 233.26, gift of something inexhaustible (acc. to Chin., wealth: Tib. zad mi śes pa [= akṣaya, Das] can).

Akṣayabuddhavaṃśanirdeśā, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 15.18.

Akṣayabuddhavaṃśavyūha, n. of a samādhi: Gv 206.7.

Akṣayamati, n. of a Bodhisattva: SP 3.8; 438.2 ff.; Mvy 702; RP 2.1; Mmk 311.14; 312.5; 461.6.

Akṣayamati-nirdeśa, n. of a work: Mvy 1344; (°śa-mahāyānasūtra) Śikṣ 278.4; cf. °mati-sūtra.

Akṣayamati-paripṛcchā, n. of a work, apparently not the same as prec.: Mvy 1400.

Akṣayamati-sūtra, n. of a work, = °mati-nirdeśa: Śikṣ 11.8 and often (on 190.4 Transl. Kṣayamati°l).

akṣayamukta, n. of a high number: Gv 106.5 (°tasya, gen.).

Akṣarāpagata, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 572; ŚsP 1421.3.

a-kṣudra, not mean, not petty, i. e. excellent, superior. In akṣudrāvakaśa, q.v.; also akṣudrāvacara (see ibidem); and akṣudrānulepana, having fine ointments, Mv ii.102.2; 104.13; for LV 23.12 see next.

akṣudrāvakaśa (= Pali akkhuddāvakaśa), of fine (not inferior) appearance. Almost always follows prāsādika and darśanīya; all virtual synonyms, applied to women and less often to men and children: Mv i.196.20; 352.15; ii.422.1, 7 (boy); 432.14; iii.35.18 (man); 153.16 (here prāsādika is lacking); 218.11; 377.12; 404.17 (an infant boy). In Mv i.197.16 (not accompanied by the other adj.) said of the family (kulam) in which a Bodhisattva is born; but perhaps this is an erroneous reading, or if correct means rather possessing no small scope, range, sphere of activity or opportunity (with the meaning of avakāśa normal in Skt., Pali, and BHS). This latter, at least, is clearly meant by Mv ii.1.7, a parallel passage, which reads akṣudrāvacaraṃ instead of this. A third parallel, LV 23.12, reads akṣudrānupaghāti, which surely means not petty and not injurious (so Tib., phran tshegs med ciñ gnod par byed pa med pa yin), not ne frappe pas ceux qui ne sont pas méchants (Foucaux).

a-kṣūna, adj. (neg. of kṣūna, q.v.), not faulty: (kāyasaṃdarśanam) akṣūnaṃ avandhyaṃ ca sattvapari-pākaṇinayāya Dbh 69.10; for Mvy 6463, text akṣuṇṇa-vyākaraṇa, read with v.l. of Index and Mironov (by em., 245.61) akṣūna- (confirmed by kṣūna-vyākaraṇa, see kṣūna). On the other hand, the em. akṣūna-vedhaḥ in Mironov 217.22, for Mvy 4994 akṣuṇṇa°, v.l. akṣuṇa°, is not correct; read akṣaṇa-vedha, q.v.

akṣobhīṇī (= Pali akkhohiṇī), a high number: LV 151.4 (vs). Cf. akṣobhya 3, the usual term in BHS, but not recorded in Pali.

Akṣobhya, (1) m., .. of a Buddha; the 2d of the 5 ('transcendent') Buddhas: Dharmas 3; Mvy 83; Sādh 16.9; (2) m., n. of a Buddha dwelling in an eastern region: SP 184.7; Suv 7.11; 120.5; Sukh 97.1; his lokadhātu is Abhirati, SP loc. cit., and (direction unspecified) Gv 82.9; ASP 366.14; see also Akṣobhyarāja; direction unspecified, in some cases at least doubtless the same personage, Mv i.139.5; Suv 152.15; RP 58.1; Śikṣ 14.13 ff.; see P. Mus, Barabudur, p. 578 ff.; (3) nt. (or m.), a high number (cf. akṣobhīṇī): in LV 147.22 = Mvy 7959, a hundred vivaras or viṃvaras; other, or unspecified, values SP 409.6; Mvy 8008 (here masc.); Sukh 31.1; Mmk 262.13.

Akṣobhyarāja, n. of a Buddha, probably = Akṣobhya (2): Suv 2.4 (in the east, like Akṣobhya); LV 172.11. akṣobhyendriya, a kind of perfume: Gv 153.17 (-gandharāja).

akhaṇḍa-cārin (cf. Pali akhaṇḍa-kāri), of perfect (unbroken) conduct: LV 223.13, of the Bodhisattva.

a-khinna-vacana (cf. Pali a-khiṇṇa-vacana, see CPD; somewhat problematic; the two words are probably connected, one being a distortion of the other; cf. § 3.2, 4a), unworn in speech: Mv i.134.8 °nāḥ, of Bodhisattvas.

1 akhila (opp. of, and perh. back-formation from, 1 sakhila, q.v.), ungentle, = paraśa, of speech: Mv i.202.7 = ii.6.4, read both times: akhilavacanā ca narapati vīramāmi tathaiva paśūnyāt; same line i.145.10 has paraśa° for akhila°, and in the next line anṛtavacanā ca, which should be read in i.202.8 and ii.6.5 instead of paraśa° (which duplicates akhila°, and leaves 'lying' unmentioned).

agananiya-parivarta, nt., square of the preceding: Gv 134.11; = aganeya-pari,³ q.v.

aganiya (= Skt. aganya), incalculable: SP 192.7 (vs). aganiya (in Skt. as adj., BR s.v. ganeya), nt., a high number: Gv 106.23; Mvy 7810 and (cited from Gv) 7942; = agananiya, which is read in Gv 134.10, the passage from which Mvy usually cites.

aganeya-parivarta, m., square of the preceding: Gv 106.23; Mvy 7811; 7943.

aganya (cf. aganiya), a high number: Sukh 31.2. a-gatika, not subject to passing away, see gatika.

agava, nt., var. for arava, q.v. Also: Gv 133.25, in lieu of magava, q.v.; in position corresponds to kamara, q.v. agasti-haritaki, a kind of plant or tree: Mvy 5781; Tib. a-gas (partial transliteration). In Mironov agasti and haritaki are presented as separate items, perhaps correctly; agasti is recorded as n. of a plant or tree in Skt. But the Kyōtō ed. interprets Agasti- in the cpd. as the ṛṣi-name.

agāra, nt., a high number: Mvy 7705 = Tib. yid yal, which also renders agāra, q.v.

agārastha, adj. (= AMg. agārattha; not in Pali), dwelling in houses (before retiring from the world): Mv i.104.8 (prose).

a-guru (= Pali agaru), not offensive, not troublesome: yadi te aguru Av i.94.3 (Pali sace te agaru); saced . . . asty aguru i.229.6 and 230.1, 9; saced . . . (gen. of person) aguru, ii.90.12, if you don't mind.

agocara (= Pali id.), improper behavior; underlies agocari-karoti acts improperly, does wrong, and -bhavati, wrong behavior takes place: nāgarājau yadi Sūrpāraṅgaṃ nagaram āgamiṣyato 'gocarikariṣyataḥ Divy 50.23; samanvāharata nāgendrau Sūrpāraṅgaṃ nagaram mā 'gocaribhaviṣyati 51.1-2, take heed for the city of S. that no wrong behavior (i. e. injury to the inhabitants, 51.3-5) takes place.

Agni, n. of a yakṣa leader: Māy 236.17.

agni-karṣu, or °ṣū (cf. Pali aṅgāra-kāsu, °sū), fire-pit: sarpaśiro-ṅnikarṣu-sadrśāḥ (kāmāḥ) LV 329.9 (vs); Tib. me mur, according to Jäschke and Das = me mdag, burning embers; ye kāma varjenti yathāṅnikarṣūṃ Śikṣ 193.7 (vs, cited from Samādḥ).

agni-khadā (see s.v. -khadā), fire-pit: Mvy 6622 = Tib. me mur gyi hobs, oven, fire-pit, or doṅ, pit; SP 448.5 'khadāya (loc.); LV 174.1; Av i.220.13; 264.1; Suv 157.4; RP 19.11 (text 'khadhām, read 'khadām); Kv 9.21; 10.12; 37.4 (in Kv associated with hells); Gv 116.14; 184.21 ('dāyām api prapatito na dahyate); Dbh 33.17; Bbh 337.1 (sacen mahatyām °dāyām ātmānam prakṣipasi).

Agnighāta, n. of a hell: Kv 18.13 (misprinted °vaṭa); 98.2; pl. Kv 66.17. Not likely to be a MIndic corruption of agnikhadā (altho this is associated with hells in Kv), which occurs Kv 98.5 just after agnighāta.

Agnidatta, n. of a king: Divy 620.13; (the same? at Vairambhya) MSV i.25.16 ff.

agninya, distorted Sktization of Pali aggañña, primeval (derived from Skt. agra, perhaps with -jña?), see CPD and Senart Mv i note 617: Mv i.340.17 (tam eva paurāṇam akṣaram 'nyam upanipate, arthaṃ cāsyā na vibhāvayetsuḥ; similarly 341.10; 342.6, 16; iii.206.13; always epithet of akṣara, and in all but the last associated with paurāṇa; Pali also combines porāṇa and aggañña as ep. of akkhara, ancient primeval formula, in similar phrase; in BHS always subject of upanipate, came in, occurred, was mentioned (in Pali the phrase is object of anupatanti or anupadanti, they repeat; CPD s.v. akkhara 2).

Agniprabhā, n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 5.15.

agni-bala(-ratna), n. of a jewel: Mvy 5962; cited under one heading with agnivarṇa-ratna, and both translated literally in Tib. Mironov reads only agnivarṇa, without v.l.

Agnibhāṇḍa, n. of a people, among whom Buddha made a 'descent from the gods'; this event is otherwise always located at Sāmkāśya, q.v., which is mentioned two lines above in Mmk but seems to be definitely not the place meant here: (bahutirthāyatanām sthānām sampratoṣya tadā punaḥ) Agnibhāṇḍe jane kṛtvā devā-vataraṇam śubham Mmk 582.(25-26).

Agnimālin (Pali Aggimāli), n. of a mythical sea: Jm 91.14.

Agnimukha, n. of a nāga: Divy 119.26; 122.27.

Agnirakṣitika, n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.23.

agni-varṇa(-ratna), n. of a jewel: Mvy 5962; see s.v. agni-bala.

?agnivalukā(-bhayātaḥ): Māy 248.6, in a list of dangers from which freedom is sought: nirmuktā garuḍa-bhayātaḥ, agni°yātaḥ, dharanīkampabhayātaḥ. Should we read vālukā°? But what would fire-sand mean? Obscure.

Agniveśya, pl., n. of a brahmanical school: Divy 635.18. (Sg. as n. of a teacher, Mbh. crit. ed. 1.158.27; and cf. Skt. āgniveśya).

Agnivaśyāyana (= Pali Aggivessāna, n. of Dīghanakha; cf. AMg. Aggivesāyana), surname of Dīrghanakha: Av ii.187.10 ff.

Agnīśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.7.

agni-huta, fire-offering, agnihotra: °hutaṃ (or v.l. agnijuhāṃ, mss.) tasya pratiṣṭhato mama (as I am setting about to sacrifice . . .), prabhaṅkaro lokatamonudo yathā, āditya lokasmiṃ tatheva iryasi . . . Mv ii.55.10 (vs); one of these forms (or agni° m.c.) should doubtless be read (Senart em. wrongly); cf. Pali agghutta and agghijuhana, °juh°, both = agnihotra.

agnihotrika (= Pkt. agghottiya; not in Pali; cf. Skt. agnihotrin, and āgnihotrika, Schmidt s.v.), cultivating the agnihotra: Av i.208.9 ṛṣiḥ . . . °kaḥ; ii.28.3; 65.17 (Corrigenda).

agrakulika (= Pali agga^o), of very prominent family: agrakulika-putra, Divy 366.6; Karmav 70.5. In Divy contrasted with the milder kulika-putra, see kulika.

agrataḥ sthāpayitvā seems to mean hardly more than beginning with, including (as the most prominent or important of the group), = -ādi in comp.: (sarvāvān bodhisattva-ḡaṇo maitreyaṃ...) agrataḥ sthāpayitvā SP 315.6 (prose).

Agratā-sūtra, n. of a work (probably = Pali Etad-agga-vagga, AN 1.23 ff.): Karmav 155.14; 157.10; 161.20; see Lévi's notes.

agrapada (= Pali aggapada, cf. pada), pl., the highest, most sublime subjects (or utterances?): (padena padam vyañjanena vyañjanam samśyandate sameti) yad utāgrapadaiḥ Av ii.142.17; 143.6, and that too with...

Agrapuruṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.5; as common noun, leading personage, Mv i.3.9.

agra-prajñapti (= Pali agga-paññatti; in AN ii.17.12 list of four, relating to Rāhu, Mandhātara, Māra, and the Tathāgata), proclamation of superiority, statement that some person or thing is supreme in his or its class: Av i.49.10 ff. and 329.13 ff. (three, relating to Buddha, dharma, and saṃgha).

agrayāna, (1) best vehicle, = mahāyāna: Vaj 30.6; also °nin, see -yāni; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.11.

Agravīrabāhu, n. of a yakṣa: Mvy 3373.

agrasārā, a high number, or method of calculation (gaṇanā): LV 148.19; Mvy 7986 (cited from LV).

Aggrāvika (cf. Pali Aggālava, adj.), n. of a wood at Ātavikā: °ke dāve MSV ii.51.9.

agrāsānika, adj. (= Pali aggāsānika), having a chief seat, occupying a high position: brāhmaṇo... rājñō 'grāsānikaḥ Av i.105.6, a brahman who occupied the chief seat (position) with the king. In line 11 he says to a Buddha, niśidatu bhagavān agrāsane.

a-grāha, m. (neg. to -grāha), (no-belief) false belief, attachment to an erroneous view: Vaj 42.13; 45.5 (cited s.v. -grāha, q.v.).

agre, postpos. with abl., from (of time): ito... agre Mv i.165.16, from this point (of time). Cf. Pali agge, only in cpds.; and -agreṇa, in cpds., in same meaning and much more commonly. Cf. also Skt. agre, used (see pw s.v. agra) in much the same way but apparently recorded only in ŚB.

-agreṇa, postpos., (beginning) from, of time. (In Pali it seems that only agge is used in this sense, not aggena as PTSD says; CPD seems to be right in saying that aggena means only according to.) tadagreṇa, from that (time) on, LV 19.4; 265.9; 407.10; adyagreṇa, from now on, SP 107.3; 467.12; Mv i.365.13; Av i.89.7; ii.13.2; Divy 7.10; 32.8; 53.8; 72.2; 187.21, etc.; Bhik 24b.4.

Agrodaka, n. cf a town: Māy 18, 70 (cf. Lévi p. 65).

agha, m. (= Pali id.), (1) sky, atmosphere; only in aghaniṣṭha, q.v.; (2) in the lokāntarikā (q.v.) passage, agha aghasamvṛtā(h) or aghasphuṭā(h) (or other cpd.) means miseries (? miserable) and enclosed by (full of, or the like) miseries; so essentially Senart, Mv i note 405 f. We could perhaps recognize the first agha as an adj. (so in RV and once in BhāgP.); but it seems more likely that it is the more familiar noun, which esp. in Pali often means misery. In the Pali version (CPD s.v. °agha, end) we should read agha aghasamvṛtā, as Senart perceived (texts asamvṛtā, a very old corruption); or at least, that must have been the original version. The CPD assumes an otherwise unknown adj. agha, aerial, without support, which is inappropriate and implausible.

aghaniṣṭha, doubtless understood as sky-based (see agha, 1), a class of gods: Mvy 3107, where it follows akaniṣṭha, of which it is surely nothing but a folk-etymological distortion. So Wogihara, Lex. It occurs in no other of my texts unless in Bbh; Wogihara reads so in 62.6 and 68.5; actually it is read only in the latter place by one of the two mss. (which reads aniṣṭha in the former place), while the other ms. reads akaniṣṭha both times. Wogihara's suggested interpretation, and those he quotes from Yaśomitra and Chin., seem to me fantastic and worthless. Cf. lokaniṣṭha.

agharikā, or °ka, n. pl. °kā(h), a kind of toy: Divy 475.19. Etym.? aghāvin (= Pali id., see § 22.51), sinful: Ud v.10 (= Pali Ud ii.7), read aghāvinaḥ (text aghādinaḥ; Pali aghāvino); in Ud ix.16 ms. aghātinaḥ, for which Chakravarti would read aghāvinaḥ (the line is fragmentary).

aṅka-dhātri, nurse who carries a baby on her hip: Mvy 9478; Divy 475.12, defined 13–14: aṅkadhātrīty ucyate yā dārakam aṅkena parikarsayaty aṅgapratyaṅgāni ca samsthāpayati. Tib. on Mvy pañ na = aṅka, which it seems must be the orig. form, since in India babies are carried on the hip. Yet in all other cases the word is written aṃsa-dh^o (or aṃṣa-, in mss. also atsa-), and this seems to have had real currency, as shown s.v. For the cliché see s.v. ksīra-dhātri.

aṅkula (= Skt. °ra), sprout: ratnāṅkulāḥ LV 76.15, jewelled sprouts (no v.l. in mss.; Calc. °rāḥ); -bhaiṣajāṅkula-, śradhdhāṅkulānām LV 352.12 and 13 (both edd. °ra°, but in 12 best mss., in 13 all mss. °la°).

aṅkuśagraha, m. (in Pali aṅkusaggaha is one who practices the art, and so Skt. °śagraha, a rare word; the art in Pali is aṅkusagayna), the art of handling an (elephant-) goad: Mvy 4981; LV 156.11 (one of the arts mastered by the young Bodhisattva); Divy 442.6.

aṅga, (1) member, part (as in Skt. and Pali, where it is recorded as nt. only), m. (at least modified by two m. adj.), sarve bhavāṅga... niruddhāḥ LV 420.14 (so all mss., Lefm. °dhā); (2) attribute, quality, characteristic, like the Skt. guṇa (so Pali, CPD s.v., 4, where it is shown that Pali uses it 'mostly with numbers', and often in dependence on samannāgata, cf. below); the 60 qualities (aṅga) of the Buddha's voice, Mvy 444, listed 445–504, cf. Sūtrāl. xii.9; same mg. in cpds., see aṣṭāṅga (2), āprānyāṅga, svaraṅga; also kulaṃ (the family in which the Bodhisattva is born in his last existence) saṣṭīhi aṅgehi samanvāgatam bhavati Mv i.197.14 (there follows a list of the 60 'qualities'). In the LV parallel, 23.10 ff., catuṣṣaṣṭy-ākārair... sampannakulam bhavati. Repetition Mv ii.1.6, also with list following. Both Pali and BHS further refer to five bad qualities as pañcāṅga (Pali °aṅga): pañcāṅga-viprahīṇa (124.15 -vipratihīna), of Buddhas, Divy 95.17; 124.15; 264.30; acc. to Vism. 146.5–6 they are the nivaraṇāni. On the other hand, there are five good qualities referred to by Pali pañcāṅga in Vism. 146.25 ff.; and a different set, characteristic of kings or brahmins, 'gentlemanly qualities', PTSD s.v.; cf. s.v. pañcāṅgika, esp. 3; the Buddha speaks pañcāṅgena svareṇa, MSV i.220.20. The line between meanings 1 and 2 is not always easy to draw. E. g. Mvy 424 describes the Tathāgata as saḍaṅgasamanvāgataḥ, referring to the six aṅgas ('qualities'? or members, parts?) of upekṣā, cf. chaḷaṅgasamannāgata DN iii.269.19 (list follows; consists of indifference to the objects of each of six senses), and Vism. 160.9 ff. (chaḷaṅgupekḥhā is the first of ten upekḥhā).

aṅgaṇa. nt. = Pali id.), spot, blemish, depravity, evil: Mvy 2157 °ṇam. Common in compounds anaṅgaṇa, nir-a°, sāṅgaṇa, qq.v., which are often spelled with °na in BHS.

Āṅgadinna, n. of a king of Videha: Jm 192.12. The Pali form is Āṅgati (Jāt. 544, which is the same story).

āṅga-nāḍikā, acc. to Tib. (pa car, see Das) loin-cloth: °kām . . . āgārikadharmas tarhy . . . yad utāṅganāḍi(kā) MSV ii.94.15–17, in a list of garments forbidden to monks; abbreviated āṅga in the uddāna ii.91.17; Pali Vin. i.306.8 has instead akkanāla, supposed to be for Skt. arka; see CPD.

āṅgabhedā, m., a disease (perhaps something like rheumatism): thrice in AV, where it is not entirely clear whether it is an epithet of yakṣma or an independent disease; Mvy 9510 = Tib. yan lag tu zug pa, pain in the limbs. Not noted in Pali or Pkt.

āṅga-maṇi(-vidyā), (science of) bodily marks: Mvy 5055 = śa mtshan (-gyi dpyad).

āṅga-lipi, script of the Āṅgas, a kind of writing: LV 125.20 (Tib. also āṅga-).

āṅgānūsārīn (= Pali id.), attendant on, attached or conforming to, the limbs (of the body); with vāyu, one of the winds pervading the body: pl. °riṇo vāyava(h) Śikṣ 248.13, rendered by Bendall and Rouse as rheumatism, for reasons not evident to me.

āṅgārīn (= Pali id.), (apparently) red (like coals, āṅgāra); only in the verse Therag. 527 = Jāt. i.87.1 = Mv iii.93.10 āṅgārīṇo, of trees (in the Pali); in Mv hopelessly corrupt, the noun being omitted).

Āṅgīras (= Palī °rasa), nom. sg. °rāḥ, n. of a king (in Pali of the race of Mahāsammata): Mvy 3572 (in a list of cakravartins headed by Mahāsammata, 3552).

Āṅgīrajva (?), n. of a ṛṣi: Āṅgīrajvā (sol) nāma maharṣiḥ Māy 256.18. Note that Āṅgīrasa (also in Skt.; = Āṅgīras) is mentioned just before this.

Āṅgīrasa (= Pali id. in mg. 1; regular Skt. would be Āṅgīrasa, q.v.), (1) ep. of the Buddha: Mv iii.109.20; (2) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.239.5 f.

āṅgulikā, (1) (Pali id., = Skt. āṅgulī) finger; only in ekāṅgulīkayā or pl. °kābhis, (pointing) with single finger(s): sg. LV 49.3; 67.12; pl. LV 290.17; (2) = Skt. āṅgulīya(ka), finger-ring; both times with v.l. āṅgulīkā, probably read so (MIndic reduction, § 3.118, of āṅgulīyākā, q.v.), Mv ii.73.1; 102.16.

Āṅgulīmāla (= Pali id.), n. of a brigand converted by Buddha: Av i.148.9.

Āṅgulīmālika, n. of a work: Lañk 258.4 (nirvāṇāṅgul°, v.l. nirmāṇāṅgul°, presumed to be dvandva by Bendall-Rouse and Suzuki), presumably = next; quoted Śikṣ 133.4 (here ms. °laka).

āṅgulīphaṇastaka, having a hand with fingers (round and awkward) like a snake's hood: Mvy 8776 (Chin. round-fingered); MSV iv.68.6 (read with ms.). Corresponds to Pali phaṇa-hatthaka Vin.i.91.11, interpreted SBE 13.225 as having hands like a snake's hood; comm. 1027.1 yassa vaggulīpakkhakā (bat's wings) viya āṅgulīyo sambaddhā hontī.

āṅgulīyakā, fem., finger-ring; nowhere else recorded in this form and gender; but cf. āṅgulīkā (°ikā): āṅgulīyākā . . . patitā Mv ii.110.4; sā āṅgulīyakā drṣṭā pariññātā 5; āṅgulīyakā . . . patitā 13.

āṅgulīya-lipi, a kind of script: LV 125.20; Tib. finger (sor mo paḥi) writing.

āṅguṣṭha-vibhedika, nt., thumb-separator, presumably a glove or mitten with separate hole for thumb but not for the other fingers: °kāny anyāni ca vīvidhāni vastrāṇi Kv 78.21.

Āṅgottama, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.233.2 f. Acaratarkirāja, one of the 10 krodha: Dharmas 11; = Acalaṭakkirāja, q.v.

Acala, m., (1) n. of a samādhi: Mvy 580; ŚsP 1421.19; (2) n. of a future Buddha: Av i.53.18; (3) one of the krodha (cf. next): Sādh 137.13.

Acalaṭakkirāja, n. of one of the krodha: Sādh 418.6; both Acala and Ṭakkirāja are thus used, alone; and see Acaratarkirāja.

Acaladeva, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.6–7.

Acalamati, n. of a son of Māra (favorable to the Bodhisattva): LV 313.15.

Acalaśrī, n. of a kinnara maid: Kv 6.2.

Acalaskandha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.5.

acalā, (1) n. of the 8th Bodhisattva bhūmi: Mvy 893; Dharmas 64; Lañk 15.5; 221.19; Dh 5.10 etc.; Bbh 353.3; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: SP 400.6; Māy 243.26; (3) n. of a female-lay-disciple: Gv 170.13; 172.1 ff.; Acalopāsīkāvimokṣa (so read for text vācanopās°, Śikṣ 36.4, refers to Gv 170–179, dealing with Acalā's instruction to Sudhana; Śikṣ 36.5–8, cited from Gv 171.21 26.

acalācala, immovable (acala) as a mountain (acala): acalācalam (niścayaṃ) LV 216.15 (vs).

Acalitasumana(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.16 (°naḥ, n.sg.).

Acalendrarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.7.

Acalopāsīkāvimokṣa, see Acalā (3).

acāra, probably m.c. for Skt. acara, unchanging, constant: acāra-cārikām, unchanging (constant) course (of the Buddha, for countless aeons) RP 5.13 (vs). To be sure there is a Skt. noun cāra, movement, of which this might be a compound with a-; but no such cpd. is recorded in Skt. or MIndic.

acintī(ṣu) for Skt. acintya, see § 3.115.

acintika (perhaps MIndic for acintyaka, q.v.? or hyper-Skt. for acintiya = Skt. acintya?), unthinkable, incomprehensible: Mvy 733 (Tib. bsam gyis mi khyab pa, impenetrable by thought); Mmk 559.20 (vs) caryā bodhim acintikā (in line 25 below note acintyaka); kalpām acintikām Mmk 587.2 (= kalpān acintyakān, for unthinkable aeons).

Acintikamadhyabuddhivikrīḍita, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 733; see prec. Tib. bsam gyis mi khyab paḥi dkyil hkhor la blo gros rnam par rol pa, sporting in enlightenment in(to) a circle (dkyil alone generally = madhya) that is incomprehensible by thought.

acintiya, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. acintya), unthinkable: examples § 3.103. Once written acintia: dāna-acintia-tyāga-mukhena Śikṣ 328.2 (vs; wrongly divided in ed.), by means of inconceivable giving of gifts.

acintya, nt., a very high number: Mvy 7814; 7946 (here cited from Gv); 8047; Sukh 31.3; Gv 106.24; 134.13.

acintyaka (= Skt. acintya), unthinkable; cf. acintika (°tikā occurs Mmk 559.20): Mmk 559.25 (vs).

Acintyaḡuṇānuttaradharmagocara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.9.

acintyaparivarta, m. (or, in Gv 134.13, nt.), square of acintya: Mvy 7815; 7947 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.24; 134.13.

Acintyaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.7.

acira-cira-cireṇā (m.c. for °ṇa; no v.l.; as one word? so text): LV 78.5 (vs). Rendered by Foucaux for a long time. Māyā speaks to the King: deva ṣṇu hi mahyaṃ bhāṣato yaṃ matam me; acira-cira-cireṇā jāta udyāna-buddhiḥ, . . . for a long time I have conceived the thought of (going to) the pleasure-park. Could acira(m?) be taken separately, with preceding line? Tib. seems to have nothing for acira; it says yun riñ riñ po ḥdas nas, for a long, long time past.

acirayānasamprasthita, = nava-yāna°, q.v.: AsP 286.6.

acela (= Pali id.) m., a member of a sect of naked ascetics: Mvy 8467 (-dānam; cf. Pali Vin. iv.92.3-5); Śikṣ 331.12.

acelaka (= Pali id.), = prec.: Mvy 3528; Prāt 511.10.

acchaṭa, nt. (only Mmk 159.23; in Pali acchara as stem in comp. beside °rā) = acchaṭā, q.v.

acchaṭā, also acchaṭā-saṃghāta (= Pali and AMg. accharā, Pali also accharā-saṃghāta), once acchaṭā-saṃghāta (see saṃghāta); cf. ricchaṭā (for ṛcchaṭā? which could be the original of acchaṭā), (1) snap of the fingers: ekācchaṭā ye (so read with WT) ca karonti śabdām SP 392.6; acchaṭā-śabdena Divy 555.21; °śabdaḥ Mvy 2802; °śabdām akārsīt, snapped his fingers, Gv 510.22; °saṃghāta-śabdaḥ SP 388.8; (2) as n. of a small unit of time, instant, jiffy: °tā (printed °tām in 160.7, wrongly) tvaṛitā gatiḥ Mmk 160.7; 279.23; once as nt. (see acchaṭā), °tam Mmk 159.23; various adverbs, in a jiffy, acchaṭāmātreṇa Mmk 79.27; °tā-saṃghāta-mātram Mvy 8226; Divy 142.11; °tā-pada-mātram Mmk 268.18; ekācchaṭāsaṃghātamātram Śikṣ 214.11; as adj., having or characterized by the measure of a finger-snap, i. e. in a jiffy, agreeing with personal subject, (Mañjuśrīḥ . . .) °tāsaṃghātamātro . . . vikurvaṇam . . . samāpadyata Mmk 3.27.

acchati (= Pali id., Pkt. acchai), sits: acchā drume tuva LV 343.2 (vs) sit at the tree!; [(piṭhe) acchati Mv ii.379.5 (vs), but this is surely an error for acchambhī of Śikṣ 303.3, which meter requires;] kausidyam acchati Śikṣ 298.4 (could be sits in sloth, but might also be goes to sloth as Bendall assumes following Pischel 480; in LV this is impossible).

acchandaḡāmin, adj., probably not going after whims or desires, of the family of the Bodhisattva: °gāminam LV 24.1 n.sg.; °gāmi Mv i.197.20; ii.1.10 (all same passage).

acchambhita, adj. (neg. of chambhita, and cf. next; Pali has acchambhitatta), not frightened: Gv 37.1; 40.20, etc.; 452.24; adv. °tam, without consternation, Mv ii.281.15 (parallel with abhitam, asamvignam, asamtra-stam).

acchambhin, adj. (= Pali id.; cf. astambhin; neg. of chambhin; cf. prec., and chambati, chambhita, etc.; on etymology see under chambati), not paralyzed with fear, not frightened: acchambhī, n. sg. m. (in LV 284.18, and possibly 285.9, voc.) LV 284.18 (vs); 285.9 (vs); Mvy 1821; Mv ii.269.20; 270.1, 18; 278.21; 281.13; read acchambhī Mv ii.379.5, with the parallel Śikṣ 303.3, for text acchati; acchambhī, n. sg. m. Gv 364.20 (vs); acchambhinam (! n. sg. m.; -m 'hiatus-bridge'?) amaṅkubhūtaḥ Mmk 93.24 (prose).

acchindati (= Pali id., for Skt. āchinatti; Senart always emends to ācch°), (1) takes away, removes, with gen. of person, acc. of thing: acchinditvā Mv ii.434.3, 9 (beṣam bhrātṛnām); iii.7.17 (gulikām); in Mv iii.403.12, 14, read ahaṃ na (14 . . . naiva) kasyaci demī nāpi acchindāmi (with mss., misinterpreted by Senart), I do not give to anyone nor take away from anyone; (2) abolishes, puts away: acchet(t)va (trṣṇām) Mv iii.285.6, 9 (= Pali acchejja, acchijja, same vs, SN i.127.3, 6).

Acchila, n. of a nāga-king: Māy 247.34.

Acyuta, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva cakravartin: Mv i.113.14; (2) n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3292; Māy 247.34; (3) pl., n. of a class of gods (as in Pali accuta): Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 185.18.

Ajakarna, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mv i.76.1.

ajanya (cf. Pali ajañña), prob. ignoble, debased: ajanyasya brāhmaṇasya putro Mv i.319.12; 321.16; 323.7; said of Jyotipāla; since he was a friend of a potter's son, his father may have been an outcaste brahman. Senart assumes mg. noble, on grounds which I find unconvincing. The mg. I assume fits the Pali ajañña, Jāt, ii.437.17. In Mv iii.119.23 prob. read with v.l. anajanyarathā, not ignoble chariots, for ajanya° of text. (Meter is bad in either case.) In Kv 42.10 for na jatyeṣu read perhaps nājanyeṣu, not among ignoble people; see s.v. jata.

ajapadaka-daṇḍa, m. (= Pali ajapada-daṇḍa), staff (cleft) like a goat's hoof: Mvy 9045; ajapādaka-daṇḍaka, id., MSV iv.75.5.

Ajapāla-nyagrodha (= Pali °nigrodha), the Goat-herd's Banyan, under which Buddha spent some time (the 6th week, according to Mv) shortly after enlightenment: Mv iii.302.21; 313.18. Story of how it got its name, Mv iii.301.8 ff. (apparently does not occur in Pali; doubtless a late invention based on the name); ajapālasya nya° iii.302.21; 425.18, 23; 436.19, 22.

Ajaya, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.10.

aja-r-eḡakā (cf. Pali ajaḡaka, Skt. Gr. ajaḡaka), voc. °ke, O female of the goats-and-sheep! (cf. § 4.63): MSV iv.228.16 (vs). Addressed to a ewe; use of the dvandva cpd. is peculiar but hardly questionable; cf. § 23.3. Confirmed by nom. (sā) 'ja-r-eḡikā 228.21 (prose).

ajava, perhaps to be read for java, a high number, in Gv 106.13; see s.v. ayava.

a-jātaka, adj. (=Skt. ajāta), unborn: ajātakās ca (v.l. ajāta sarve) SP 281.9 (vs), m.c.

Ajātaśatru (= Pali Ajātasattu), n. of a king of Magadha, son of Bimbisāra: SP 5.5 (attends the Buddha); Divy 55.17; 279.20 ff.; 369.9; 380.18; 545.8; Av i.54.6 ff.; 83.6; 88.7; 308.5 ff.; ii.182.1 ff.; Śikṣ 274.3-4 (from Tathāgataguhya-sūtra); Mmk 590.2 (in the sequel repeatedly referred to as Ajātākhyā, e.g. ajātākhyo nṛpottamaḥ 592.7); Karmav 45.3; 49.20 (summary of his story), et alibi.

Ajātākhyā, see Ajātaśatru.

ajānanaka, adj., = prec., see jānanaka.

Ajita, (1) (= Pali id.) epithet of Maitreya; mostly voc. in direct address, the name Maitreya being otherwise used in same context; but other forms occur (ajitasya Karmav 40.1): SP 18.4; 308.1, 2; 309.2 ff.; 327.3; 332.6 ff.; 345.7 ff., etc.; Mv i.51.6; Śikṣ 97.8; (an unidentified Bodhisattva, prob. Maitreya) Sukh 64.7 ff.; 92.10; (2) n. of a future Buddha, but seemingly distinguished from Maitreya: Mv iii.330.8; (3) n. of an attendant on the Bodhisattva (Sākyamuni) in a previous birth: Jm 3.4 (query: to be identified with Maitreya?).

Ajita Keśakambala, or °lin (= Pali Ajita Kesakambala, or °li, °lin), n. of one of the six heretical teachers of Buddha's time (see s.v. Pūraṇa Kāśyapa), named with the others: °laḥ Mvy 3548 (Ajita-keś°, as cpd.; so also Mironov); Divy 143.11; Av i.231.4 (ms. Kesa°); °lasya Mv i.253.14; °li, nom. sg. Mv i.256.20; iii.383.16.

Ajitacakra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.12.

Ajitaṃjaya, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mmk 41.17; (2) n. of a locality: Māy 27; 69.

Ajitapuṣya (? Senart with v.l. °puṣyala), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.13; see puṣyala.

ajitavatigandha, a (mythical?) kind of jewel: (-maṅirāja-) Gv 101.8; cf. ajitāvati.

Ajitasena, n. of a householder: Gv 453.18, 26, etc. ? Ajitasenarājan (mss. Ajinasenah Rājā), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.11.

Ajitā, n. of one of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhagīnī: Mmk 537.8; 539.25; 543.9 et alibi; prob. the same, a yakṣiṇī, 573.14.

ajitāvati, a kind of perfume (cf. ajitavatigandha): ajitāvati(gandharāja-) Gv 153.15.

ajinaka (= Skt. °na plus -ka svārthe), deerskin: °kena Mv iii.144.9; 154.11 (both prose).

? ajina-khipa (or, Sktized, °kṣipa; m. or nt.; = Pali °khipa), deerskin dress (of an ascetic): °khipena, so I em. Mv ii.147.7, for mss. jana-kapilena, -karitena. The vs was puṣpitaḅgrā; Senart fails badly on it, but some of my guesses, too, are far from certain: kaṣāyapaṭa-(m.c. for kaṣāyapaṭā-) -valambitaprakarṣi ajinakhipena vistīrṇa aindramārge, bhūrikamalajāvakīrṇagātro śaraṇavare gata eka cakravākāh. See my Reader, Four Sights (Mv), end.

Ajiravati (Skt. Gr.: = Pali Aciravati; see also Āryavati), n. of a river at Śrāvastī: Av i.63.5 ff.; ii.69.3; MSV ii.85.20.

ajīvika: Śikṣ 332.1 (vs), probably only m.c. for āj° (despite note p. 414).

Ajānavidhvamsana, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.12.

a-ñāna (nt.; Pali añāṇa; MIndic for ajñāna, § 2.15), ignorance: jñānaṃ na kalpeti, añānu (n. sg.) no bhavet Madhk 157.1 (vs; no v.l.).

[añja (añjas°), cf. Skt. añjas, quickly; exclamation used in Pali (Jāt. i.192.5, 29) in urging a draft-animal to go (gee! get up! go ahead!), come up! In LV 394.18 (vs) tad añja is Lefm.'s em. for tad-anya of all mss. and Calc. which seems to make no sense. Addressed by Brahmā to the Buddha, urging him to preach the law; presumed to mean perhaps come on! But Tib. seems to have had a quite different reading: kha hbyed pa, mouth open (Foucaux, ouvre la bouche; but the form is not given as impv. by Jā.). Should we read ud-añca, 2 sg. impv., for Skt. ud-añcaya, ertönen lassen (pw)? Graphic confusion of u and t occurs in some Indian alphabets, e. g. in Śāradā.]

añjati (= Pali id., Skt. anakti), anoints, ppp. añjita: añjitehi akṣiḥi Mv ii.234.17.

1 Añjana or °na-ka, n. of a king of Benares, father of Puṇyavant(a): Mv iii.33.12 (°nako, n. sg.), 15 (°nasya, gen.).

(2 añjana: mrgo . . . rakthehi khurehi añjanehi akṣiḥi prabhāsvarehi darśaniyeḥi Mv i.363.18. No v.l.; but there is no authority for añjana as adj. [PTSD quotes 3 Jāt. passages for this, all erroneous.] Senart suggests sāñjanehi or equivalent. But perhaps render: with red hoofs and eyes bright and beautiful (as if?) with collorium.)

añjanīya or °yā (so Senart with one ms.), or añjanaka or °kā (v.l.), acc. to Senart box for holding collorium; cf. Pali añjani, AMG añjanīyā (for °kā), id.: °nīyā (v.l. °nakā; n. pl.) pi Mv ii.473.10, listed among products of a śaṅkha-valayakāra, q.v.

Añjalipriya, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 49.

Añjalimalādhārin, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

? añjiṣṭha: ŚsP 1561.6, 7 nā 'ñjiṣṭham, in a list of color words. Perhaps error (haplogr.) for (na) māñjiṣṭham? Otherwise may be identified with Skt. Gr. (Uṇādi) añjiṣṭha, Pali (according to Maung Tin, cited CPD) añjiṭṭha, the sun (to Vedic añji); in that case perhaps bright-colored.

aññāya, so Senart (with the Pali version, SN i.126.27) for mss. anyāya = Skt. āññāya, ger. of ā-jñā, knowing: °ya dharmam Mv iii.284.4 (vs).

Āṭakāvati (var. Ala°; Mironov Āṭaka°, no v.l.), n. of a place: Mvy 4137; presumably = Aḅakavati, q.v., = Skt. Alakā.

āṭakara, m., apparently pathologically ravenous appetite: Mvy 9515, according to Tib. bkres ṅa ba (ed. suggests rñab, misprinted rñab, ba) and Chin.; in a list of diseases. See āṭakara.

aṭaṭa, m. (= Pali id.), n. of a hell (cold, acc. to Dharmas and Tib. Mvy): Mvy 4931; Dharmas 122; Divy 67.23; 138.7; Av i.4.9 etc.; Mmk 635.22.

aṭanin (Skt. aṭana plus -in), wandering (adj.): paśyathā katham aṭany akhedavān Gv 481.24 (vs), see how, wandering, he is not wearied.

Aṭavaka (cf. Āṭavaka), n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.22.

Aṭavī (= Pali Āṭavī), n. of a town: Māy 15, 90. Lévi identifies the first with the Pali city-name but thinks the second a different locality.

Aṭavisambhāvā, n. of a pond: Suv 184.6 ff. (note especially 188.2).

aṭṭa, m. (v.l. atta; so Mironov), a high number: Mvy 8067; Tib. phyor, which Das gives as = anta (read atta?), n. of a number. Cf. also iṭṭā.

[aṭṭahā(h): Mmk 19.10, read abrhā(h) or avr°, q.v. a class of gods.]

? aṭṭiyānika or °vānika, pl. °kā, so mss. at Mv iii.442.15, corresponding to āgrivaniya at iii.113.10; Senart em. aṭṭavāñijā, which is quite implausible and not really easier to interpret. In a list of designations of various tradesmen or artisans.

Atteśvara, n. of a suparṇin, previous birth of Virūpākṣa: MSV i.260.19 ff.

Aḅakavati (= Skt. Alakā; see Āṭakā°, Ala°), n. of the capital of the yakṣas: LV 202.13; Suv 116.1 °vatyām (Nobel em. Aḅakā°, needlessly); Māy 106; 228.21.

aḅḅhatiya (= Pali id., acc. to CPD by haplolo. for aḅḅhatiya = Skt. ardhatrṭiya, or aḅḅhā°, two and a half. Senart's Index cites only aḅḅhatiya, which is read in text Mv iii.72.12 (mss. āvṛṭtiya) and 13 (mss. aṭṭātiya or aṭṭā°), while aḅḅhatiya is read in text Mv ii.312.10 (mss. aṭṭāti, omitting ya) and iii.75.7 (mss. aṭṭātiya).

Anāla (so Lefm. with some mss.) or Anāla (so Calc. with best mss.), n. of a town: LV 406.20 (prose) °lam, acc. sg.

aṇu, grain of sand (nowhere recorded in this sense): gaṅgaṇubhiḥ saṃmitāḥ LV 360.17.

aṇu-phala, m., lit. having minute fruit, millet (Tib. tsi tsi, tsi tse): Mvy 5657.

aṇḅakāṣṭha: Divy 384.24, acc. to Burnouf Intr. 376 eggshell; doubtful; see s.v. hirodaka.

Aṇḅāyana, pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.19.

aṇvati, rarely °te (derived by Senart, note on Mv i.15.10, from Skt. ṛṇvati), goes: aṇvati LV 192.7 (text 'nveti, unmetr.; cf. vv. ll. atapa, once atapas, the second of the śuddhāvāsa, and (usually pl.) the class-name of the gods who dwell there; in Pali atappa: Mvy 3103; Dharmas 128; LV 150.10; Mv ii.314.9; 319.7; 349.1; 360.22; Divy 68.16; 367.14; Av i.5.3; Mmk 19.10; 43.21 (text anaya); 69.6 (here sg. of an individual member of the class); atapas (s-stem, in comp.) Gv 249.10. Others, see s.v. deva.

ataru (cf. prec.), a high number: Mvy 7906 (°ruḥ; cited from Gv); Gv 133.25 (°rum, n. sg. nt.l.).

a-tarkika, adj. (Pali atakkika, see CPD; cf. tarka), free from (sophistical) ratiocination: °kaṃ sūkṣmam anāsravaṃ ca jñānaṃ . . . SP 62.12 (vs).

atikāla (= Pali id.), too early time; cf. ativikāla; na cātīkale (v.l. °lam) na cātīvikāle (v.l. °lam) Mv iii.255.14, not too early and not too late; iii.414.5 (mss. nānyātikāle).

atīkrānta, adj. (ppp.), surpassing, wonderful, (specifically of appearance) beautiful: atīkrāntā (so mss., Senart abhi°) ca mānuṣāḥ Mv iii.96.19; 100.20; °ta-varṇa, of beautiful appearance, LV 396.17; Mv iii.316.13; 317.11; also Mv ii.257.9; 258.7; iii.197.15; 302.10 (in these four Senart em. abhīkrānta°). The equivalent Pali is regularly abhikkanta (-vaṇṇa), but atikkanta also occurs in the same sense (CPD s.v.). In BHS, in this sense, abhīkrānta occurs, if at all, only in LV 398.11 °ta varṇa, see abhīkrānta 2. Since t and bh are easily confused, it may be that graphic confusion is here concerned. On the other hand, atīkrānta is erroneously read, e.g. in Divy 462.13, for abhīkrānta (1), which is correctly read in the same passage in MSV i.70.3, and elsewhere in that text.

atīkrānta-mānuṣyaka, surpassing human powers or nature: Mv ii.283.15 (caḥṣuṣā viśuddhena) °syakena (transcending human sight).

atīkṣuṇaka, adj. (var. atikhuntannaka-, corrupt; read °kṣuṇaka, broken?), over-small: nāti°kair ālopaiḥ (sc. paribhokṣyāmah) Mvy 857.2; so Tib. ha cañ chuñ ba. See kṣuṇa. (Mironov as text.)

aticirayati (= Pali aticirāyati; cf. Skt. cirayati), delays excessively: Divy 175.20.

atījalpati, talks too much: Mvy 7024 °lpet.

atītti-(ga)-? (= Pali id., Skt. atṛpti); assumed by Senart at Mv i.133.12 (prose) atittigās (no ms. reads quite so, yet the variants seem indeed to tend in this direction), ils ne tendent pas à la satisfaction de leurs sens, ils ne sont pas esclaves de leurs sens. It seems to me, however, that the general use of derivatives of tṛp would suggest just the opposite meaning, which would not fit here (ep. of Bodhisattvas): they never reach satiety.

atināmayati, atināmeti (= Pali atināmeti), causes (time) to pass, spends (time): kumārabhūmim atināmayitvā SP 68.7 (vs), having spent his childhood period (stage); rātriṃdivāny SP 61.1; kālaṃ LV 384.14; Mv i.192.14 (atināmeti); Śiḥṣ 40.5; Bbh 172.7; (saptāhapūraṃ . . .) atināmesi Mv ii.348.16, spent a full week; saptāham Divy 443.6; rātriṃdivasam Divy 82.29; rātriṃdivasāny Suv 113.2; ahorātram Jm 36.4; divasam Divy 304.4; rātrir . . . atināmitā Av ii.153.14; also used absolutely, without a word for (period of) time, yan ny ahaṃ tūṣṇibhāvenātināmāyeyam RP 39.14, suppose I spend (my time) in silence; similarly Dbh 5.26-7 tūṣṇibhāvenātināmāyati; suciram (prob. adv., for a long while) atināmāyām āsa Gv 342.5 (spent the time; or is suciram a noun, object of the verb?). See also abhināmāyati (4), adhinām°, vyatināmāyati (viti°).

atiniryāti, goes all the way thru: (in hell, dhūmo . . . asthīm) bhittvā asthimarjaṃ mānsādy °yāti Mv i.20.2 (some mss. °jāti).

Atipuruṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.13.

atīprathate, spreads abroad exceedingly, becomes very well known: °thante . . . cariteṣv atīkramāḥ Jm 188.21 (mss., Kern em. abhi°, hardly necessarily).

atīprāgas, adv., too early, see under next, and cf. Pali atīppāgo (ending analogical to forms like bhūyas): °gas tāvad . . . piṇḍāya caritum Mv i.54.12; 56.6.

atīprāg eva, adv. (see prec.), too early, very early, cf. Skt. atīprage and prāk (Lex. = prabhāte), Pali atīppageva: °eva . . . piṇḍāya caritum Mv i.34.16, it is too early to go begging food.

Atibalaviryaparākrama, n. of a future Buddha (= Nanda 8, 'the lazy'): Av i.22.3.

atimanyanā (= Pali °maññanā; Vedic atimanyate plus -anā), despising, contempt: an-a° sarvasattveṣu KP 18.3; Tib. mi brñas pa.

atimāna (= Pali id.), self-conceit, excessive pride; see also mānātīmāna: Mv iii.214.9; an-atimāna-tayā, Gv 464.5.

Atimāyā, n. of a sister of Māyā: Mv i.355.17.

atimukta (m. or nt.; Skt. Lex., = Skt. atimuktaka, Pali atimutta beside °taka), a kind of shrub and its flower: SP 342.8 (vs); °ta-kadali- Divy 619.18 (prose).

Atimuktaka (= Pali Atimuttaka-susāna; presumably named from the creeper atim°), n. of a cemetery near Benares: °ke (Senart em. °ka-) śmaśāne Mv ii.168.8; °kaṃ (Senart em. °ka-) śmaśānaṃ id. 11.

Atimuktakamalā (v.l. Abhi°), n. of a village chief's daughter: LV 265.5.

atīyātrā, passage-fee: Divy 92.27. Probably about the same as atīvāhika in Kauṣ. Arth., cited s.v. gulma, q.v.

atīriktaka, adj., completely (miserably?) empty; in this sense (ati plus rikta, empty) nowhere recorded, either with or without suffixal -ka (pejorative?). Otherwise Skt. atirikta, and Pali atiritta(ka), are pples. of ati plus ric- and mean left over, excessive, superfluous or the like: Kāśyapa ca Pūraṇo 'tiriktakena pātreṇa nirdhāvati Mv ii.207.2 (whereas the Bodhisattva received a bowl full of delicacies).

ati-r-iva (= Pali id., Skt. atīva, § 4.61), in excess; noted only in Mv: prose, i.302.19; iii.60.8; 147.3, 11; 258.9; 302.2; 334.2; 341.5; verses, i.129.6 (read tvayā atīrivāpi, with v.l., even in a manner surpassing you; Senart em. wrongly; v.l. atīriccāpi, which would be possible if tvayā were construed as acc.); 266.14; ii.37.10; 227.7; iii.109.17; 246.6.

atīreka-, excess(-ive), as prior member of cpd. (so in Pali, but in Skt. app. only as final member): atīreka-pūjā, exceedingly great respect, Mv i.89.16 (prose); same cpd. in Pali, MN i.220.11-12; read Mv 1.89.15 f., yataś ca bodhisattvacaritaḥbhūmim prāpnuvanti, taṃ (so mss.!). na pūjāyanti atīrekapūjāye (correct punctuation!), and from whom they obtain the stage of Bodhisattva-course-of-conduct, him they do not (as they should) honor with exceeding great respect; atīreka-lābha, extra allowance, Bhik 22b.3-4; 23a. 2, 5; °ka-civara (Pali id.), extra robe, MSV ii.91.11 f.

atīliyate (cf. Pali atilina), becomes slack: nātiliyase MSV i.9.12.

atīvatta, in atīvattākṣa Mvy 8833; Tib. (mig) ha cañ che ba, (having) very large (eyes). There is a v.l. atīvantā°, and Mironov reads atīvatrā° without v.l. Seems to be MIndic, for ati plus either Skt. vṛtta (Pali vatṭa), round, or vyātta (Pali vatta), wide-open (in Skt. and Pali only recorded of the mouth).

atīvākya (= Pali id. [so, ā and ky! Sanskritic]; cf. Skt. ati-vac), blame, abuse: Ud xix.6 (°kyam titīkṣati; = Pali Dh. 321); xxix.31 (°kyam titīkṣāmi); MSV i.11.17.

atīvāha (= Pali id.), guide, conductor; only in sārthātivāha (-sadṛśa) = sārthavāha (and perhaps m.c.), caravan-leader, merchant: Gv 474.14 (vs).

ativikāla (= Pali id.), too late a time: Mv iii.255.14 (see s.v. atikāla); °kāle 414.5.

ati-viśvasta, adj. (Pali ativissattha), exceedingly intimate: me bhagavāṃ . . . ativiśvasto Mv i.327.20; 329.5.

atīṣa (1) adj. (= Pali ativisa), very poisonous: Jm 229.17; (2) nt., a plant, according to Tib. boñ na dkar po, said to mean while wolfsbane; cf. Pali ativisa, a medicinal plant, and Skt. atīṣā, identified as one or more varieties of Aconitum: Mvy 5821.

ativistrta (cf. Pali ativittāra, °ārita), too expanded, too diffuse: Bbh 264.24 (applied to śāstras; opposed to saṃkṣipta).

[(a)ti)samlayana, doubtless error for prati°, privacy: Divy 204.4 sāyāhne 'tisamlayanād vyutthāya; this phrase regularly has pratisamlayanād (q.v.), and there seems little doubt that the syllable pra has been accidentally lost from the text.]

atisamrddha, m., n. of a muhūrta: Divy 643.10 (text here °ddhir; 644.14 (°ddhah).

atisarati, transgresses, goes too far (in Pali also sins; since it follows, and is parallel with, nātijalpet in Mvy, it seems not likely to mean that here; but cf. atisāra): nātisaret Mvy 7025 = Tib. ha can hphro bar mi bya (byed), not make going too far; acc. to Chin., in speech.

atisāra (= Pali id.), sin, in in sātisāra (= Pali id.), sinful, guilty: Mvy 9336 = Tib. ḡgal tshabs can. Here, and seemingly always, used in nom. with bhavati, becomes guilty of a sin. So Divy 275.18; 330.1; Śikṣ 63.8; Bbh 160.24; °rā (fem.) Bhik 10a.3-4.

-atisārīn (to prec.; cf. Pali id.), transgressing: vinay-ātisārīṇe duṣṭhulā āpattīr deśayitvā MSV iii.79.5; similarly 86.12 etc.

? atisvāra, in Divy 304.28 tasyātisvāreṇa gacchato 'nupadaṃ gacchanti. The word seems certainly corrupt; read atitvareṇa, with very great speed? This at least would make good sense, and tvareṇa, with speed, is recorded.

aticchā, excessive desire: Śikṣ 255.16. Cf. Pali aticchā, aticchā, and atricchā.

atitaka = Skt. atita, past (opposed to present and future): RP 6.5; Bhad 13; Gv 384.6. In all may be m.c. a °tārtha (= Pali atitattha, atita-m-attha), having missed one's aim, object, or profit: (na . . .) nirvṛtāḥ puruṣaśreṣṭhā atitārthe (so a. mss.; n. pl.; or loc. abs., when their aim is missed?) jñātmajā Mv i.122.18 (vs), Buddhas and Bodhisattvas never die leaving uncompleted their aims.

atīśaya (m.c. for Skt. atī°), abundance: Mv i.100.10 (vs).

atula (1) (-gandharāja), some kind of perfume: Gv 153.14; (2) m. (Pali id.), n. of a nāga-king, previous incarnation of Śākyamuni: Mv i.249.18; 251.12; [(3) a high number: in Gv 105.25 text sattvatulasya, read certainly sattvā°; but possibly sattvātulyasya (see atulya).]

atulya, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. atulya), incomparable: Mv ii.300.8, 9 (vss); 362.11 (prose).

atulya (cf. atula, 3), nt., a high number: Mvy 7812; 7944 (cited from Gv), 8045; Gv 106.23; 134.12; Sukh 31.2.

atulyapariivarta, m. (in Gv 134.12 nt.), square of atulya: Mvy 7813; 7945 (cited from Gv as °taḥ, n. sg.); Gv 106.24; 134.12 (°tam, n. sg.).

atṛṭiya, adj., with no third (of two individuals); nowhere recorded, but cf. Skt. advitīya: ubhaye atṛṭiyā Mv ii.171.16, the two of them (alone) without a third.

-attamanas, adj. (= Pali id., BHS ātta°), in an-atta° not glad, Gv 411.8. Possibly retention of MIndic short a before consonant cluster; § 3.32; but may be mere corruption for -ātta°.

attātmīya (= Pali attataniya; semi-MIndic for ātmātmiya, § 3.34), the self, and what pertains to the self: -vigatās Dbh.g. 16(352).6. The same cpd. in prose as ātmātmiya-vigata Dbh 43.13; ātmātmiya-rahita Dbh 50.29.

attīyati (Pali atṭīyati), see ar(t)tiyati: attīyate, °yantā.

attīyanā (to prec. plus -anā), aversion, with ablative: dharmebhyo 'tīyanā (so mss., text arti°) jugupsanā MadhK 297.4; see ar(t)tiyati.

atma, semi-MIndic for ātmā, self: LV 419.8 (vs); see § 3.35.

atyatīta, nt., what is beyond death: in cliché of wish for a son (s.v. ādiśati, 2, 3), asmākaṃ cātyatitakālagatānām, Divy 2.15, and when we have died (and so entered) into the postmortal state; same 440.28-29; Av i.14.15; ii.73.10 (so ms. in these); read so Av i.197.2; 277.1; ii.180.13 (Speyer reads always cāpy atīta°, sometimes with ms. support) in same cliché, asmākaṃ cātyatītaṃ kālagatānām uddīśya Divy 99.6, and with reference to the postmortal state of us after we have died.

atyantakāle, adv. (cf. AMg. accantakālassa, Rātnach.), for a very long time: Mv i.103.9, read yadā (mss., Senart omits this) preteṣu, atyantakāle (mss. reported °kāye, Senart em. °kāyeṣu; perh. read °kālena?) nopapadyanti, if (they are born) among pretas, they are not born (so) for a very long time.

Atyantacandramas, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.5.

atyantatā, instr. °tayā, absolutely, with neg., not at all: °tayā hi bhagavan svapnāntare (254.5 svapne) . . . na saṃvidyate Śikṣ 252.8; 254.5.

atyaya, m., (once nt., Av ii.151.3), sin = Pali accaya (hardly in this sense in Skt.; Manu 8.243 is close to it but apparently isolated); with paśyati, drś-, recognize as a sin; with deśayati (rarely pratideśayati, āviṣkaroti) confess as a sin; with pratigṛhṇāti (rarely jānāti), accept (a confession of) a sin = forgive, absolve it; with kṣamāpayati (rare), ask forgiveness for a sin. Often atyayam atyayato instead of the simple atyayam, with all these expressions, in the same meanings. Pali uses accayam accayato, and verbs passati, deseti, paṭiṅgaṇhāti, as in BHS; also khamati, forgives: atyayo me Divy 617.17, I have sinned; atyayam atyayataḥ paśyāmi Divy 617.20; °dṛṣṭvā deśayāmi, °āvīskaromi (so!) id. 20-21; atyayam atyayato dṛṣṭvā pratideśayati LV 379.13; °yam deśayanti LV 409.22; °yo deśito Av i.149.12-13; °yam deśitavān 272.13; °yam °yato deśitam (as if nt.) ii.151.3; °yam °yato deśaya, confess as a sin!, Śikṣ 58.15; Divy 5.5; 55.1; 567.29-30 (read deśayāpy for °yāmy); 570.23; °yam . . . deśayāmo SP 210.1; deśemahe atyayu SP 212.7; °yam °yato deśayāmy Gv 122.8; atyayam no bhagavān pratigṛhṇātu LV 379.6; bhagavān atyayam atyayato jānātu pratigṛhṇātu Divy 617.22-3; atyayam pratigṛhṇantu (subject the Buddhas) Suv 30.8; sā tenātyayam atyayato kṣamāpitā Divy 5.6, he asked her to pardon his offense. Once, atyayam atyayato āgamā(h; aor.) MSV i.43.5, you have arrived at (been guilty of) a sin.

atyaya-deśana, nt., confession of sin: Karmav 49.24; °nā, f., id., RP 34.11; Jm 127.13.

aty-avaśyam, adv., quite certainly: Mv ii.491.7, 8; iii.263.16; 265.7, 10.

-atyastam, ifc. adv. (cf. Pān. 2.1.24), when . . . has passed, after . . .: anekajanmātyastam LanK 251.9.

atyastikā, a certain posture, presumably of the hands: Stein ms. fragments 1.3b, 4a, La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913.844; adjoins vinystikā; cf. also udvyastikā, vyastikā.

[atyākhyāya (tām te gatim gamiṣyanti), by em., LV 88.22 (prose). But Lefm. misedit and misunderstands the passage, and Weller ignores it. Foucaux is practically right. Read with most and best mss. vyākhyāyatām te tām; all mss. have vyā°. not tyā°. Render What is the fate of those who expound the Buddhas past, present, and future, while yet ignoring (or concealing) the enlightenment of the Buddhas, — to that fate will they go.

aty-ārabdhā, (= Pali accāradhā), too greatly exerted, adj. with virya (so in Pali, with viriya): Śiḥs 51.2.

? atyāhata, afflicted (but probably error for Skt. abhyāhata): Divy 460.7, text duḥkhenātyāhato.

Atyuccagāmin, n. of a former Buddha (spelled Abhy° in Gv; in mss. of Mv iii.245.6; 247.6; 248.9; and in v.l. at LV 172.3, where Tib. rab ḥthor gśegs; Foucaux interprets rab = abhi, but it may = ati, see Das s.v. rab-ḥkhrugs; Tib. for LV 5.6 sin tu . . . = aty-): Mv i.137.11; iii.240.2 f.; 243.5, 6; 244.1; 245.6; 247.6; 248.9; LV 5.6; 172.3; Gv (see above) 204.26; 205.2, 10.

Atyuttama, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.239.2. [atyutsāhatā, Divy 547.26, or hanā, Divy 549.7, read abhyut°.]

atyudgacchati, and ppp. atyudgata, sometimes in texts and oftener in mss. (frequently as v.l. for abhyud° in meaning rises (ppp. risen) above. Graphic confusion is certainly concerned here, at least in part; except as under atyudgata, q.v., all occurrences are grouped under abhyud°, q.v. For the most part Pali abhuggacchati and derivatives support this classification. Note however (aside from Pali accuggata, apparently only used as adjective, often with specialized meanings) Pali accuggamma, ger., used of water-plants, having grown out above (the water, acc. or abl.); but BHS uses (only) abhyudgacchati in this sense, according to unanimous tradition, tho perhaps this tradition may be erroneous. Contrariwise, there is even in Pali tradition some confusion between abhugg- and accugg- in this group; see CPD s.v. abhuggata (a var. accuggata occurs with subject yaso).

atyudgata, m.: Mvy 7734, or nt.: Mvy 7862, a high number, = Tib. zañ(s) yag; in 7862 cited from Gv, text of which reads abhyud°, q.v.

atyunnamayya (cf. Skt. unnamayati), ger., raising or stretching up very high: Divy 36.10; 120.5; Av i.276.16; in all pūrva- (or °vam) kāyam aty°, preparatory to expressing an udāna. Perhaps only graphic error for abhyu°; Skt. has abhyunnata, ppp.; and see abhyunnāmya.

atramantrā, a high number: Gv 106.7; seems to be a corrupt substitute for bhramantra, q.v. atrāṇa, adj. defenseless (= Pali atāṇa and attāṇa; only Buddh.; a- plus Skt. trāṇa): Mv i.22.14 (prose) atrāṇā(h). To be read metrically atāṇām, though written atrāṇām, Gv 474.23. Cf. next.

atrāṇya = prec.: °yāḥ Suv 53.1 (vs; v.l. atrāṇāḥ).

atha, followed by khalu, tarhi, or evam (= Pali atha, and atha kho; seems not used in this sense in Skt.), after a negative clause: atha khalu (not . . .) but rather, Ger. sondern Mv ii.161.15, 18; 162.1, 3; atha tarhi, id., LV 19.11, 16, 20; 20.3; atha evam anyatra Mv iii.66.8 and 15 (see s.v. anyatra, 1), but rather, on the contrary. . .

atharvaṇa, nt., Atharvanic practices, sorcery, black magic: Divy 629.16 (mss.; ed. em. āth°). Pali (Sn 927) has v.l. athabbaṇa for edd. āth°; Skt. has atharvaṇa also but apparently not in precisely this sense.

atharvaṇika, a member of a school of the AV: Divy 633.10 ff.

adattādāyika (= Skt. °yin, Manu 8.340; also BHS, Gv 159.13; 228.13), thief: Divy 301.23; 418.28.

adattādāsyatha, 2 pl. fut., mādattā°, do not steal: LV 15.9; see § 28.53.

Adana, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.25.

Adarsamukha, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.36; cf. Ādarśamukha, for which this is probably a misprint or error.

adānta-damaka (= Pali adanta°), tamer of the untamed, epithet of Buddha (cf. puruṣadamyasārathi). Reference lost.

adinna, adj. (= Pali id.), not given: Mv i.346.10 ff.; abbreviated expression for adinnādāna, q.v., Mv i.145.9 = 202.6 = ii.6.3 (vs) viramāmi cāpy adinnā(d), and I abstain also from (taking) what is not given, i. e. from theft.

adinnādāna, nt. or m. (= Pali, nt.; MIndic for Skt. adattādāna, nt., see pw s.v.), theft: °naṃ (n. sg.) Mv i.347.13; adinnādāno adharmo adattādānavairamaṇo dharmo Mv ii.99.6.

Adinakuṣuma, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.2.

Adinagāmin (mss. mostly Adiva°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.12.

Aduka, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.27.

adūṣin, adj., in Divy printed aduṣin, prob. by error, doing no wrong (Skt. -dūṣin); in adūṣy-anapakārin (in Divy wrongly printed -anayakārin), doing no wrong and not offending: °kāri, n. sg. m., Divy 574.11; 581.18; MSV i.215.13; °kāriṇo, n. pl., ii.78.21.

adrśyā (not recorded in this sense), probably to be read for text ādrśyā, n. of a magic herb (which makes invisible): Gv 498.1, 2; in line 2 could be either a- or ā-, in samdhi; but the stem, in composition, is printed as ending in -a, for which probably read -ā; in line 1 text asty ādrśyā nāmauṣadhiḥ.

adekṣiya (hyper Skt. for Pkt. *a-dekhiya, to dekkhai, on which see J. Bloch, Fest. Wackernagel, 143 ff.; blend of dakkhai and pekkhai = prekṣati; cf. adrākṣaṇiya, ugly: (śobhano rājā . . . chattradhāro punar) °yo Mv iii.10.15.

adbhuta (in Mvy Kyoto ed. always adbhūta, 1277, 5043, 7164; but Mironov adbhuta without v.l.), (1) adj. amazed, wonder-struck (in Skt. only astonishing, and so usually Pali abbhuta, but see Ap 109.24, CPD s.v.) āścaryabhūtā sma tathādbhutā ca SP 110.12, we are amazed and astonished; (2) nt., also adbhuta-dharma, m. (Pali abbhuta, °ta-dhamma), one of the divisions or types of literature in the Buddhist canon, marvel(s), itivṛttakam jātakam adbhutaṃ ca SP 45.7; adbhutadharmāḥ Mvy 1277; °dharma, Dharmas 62, one of the nine pravacana. (Not in this sense, adbhūtānām ca dharmānām viśuddhir upalabhyate Mv i.175.17, of marvelous conditions or states.)

adyatve, loc. = adya, today, in the present time (so Skt. Gr., BR 5.968): LV 155.20 (prose); adyatvena, instr., id.: MSV i.89.20; ii.186.15.

adyāgre, Karmav 158.4 (much more commonly adyāgreṇa, see s.v. -agreṇa), and adyād-agre Karmav 158.3, from now on: = Pali ajjatagge, ajjadagge (but not °aggena!), derived by CPD from *ajjato agge, a theory perhaps supported by adyād (abl.?) agre (but *adya-d-agre, with hiatus-bridging d, see § 1.64, might have been secondarily reinterpreted as adyād-).

?adrākṣaṇiya, Senart's em. at Mv ii.152.14; explained in note as hyper-Skt. for Pkt. *a-dakkhaniya, read °ṇiya, ugly, = adekṣiya, q.v.; in description of the sick man as seen by the young Bodhisattva; Senart, °ṇiyo samvegakārako; mss. adrākṣāṇi (v.l. ayakṣāṇi)-ṣoḍaṣa-vegakārako. Uncertain.

advaya, nt., non-duality, as designation of the Buddhist doctrine. In Mvy 1717 advayam (Tib. gñis su med pa, non-duality) is listed among paramārtha-paryāyāḥ, synonyms for the true doctrine; advayasamjñā udapāsi Mv i.237.14, consciousness of non-duality arose in him (so that he resolved to become a Buddha).

Advayavajra, n. of an author: Sādh 48.18, etc.

a-dhandha (see dhandha), not slow: Bbh 9.19; 15.22. adhandhāyamāna, see dhandhāyati, °te.

adha-m-ūrdhva, with 'Hiatus-bridging' m, for *adha-ūrdhva (adhas plus ū°), upside down: adhamūrdhvalokadhātu Gv 518.4 (prose), (follows vyatyasta-lokadhātu-); in Lañk 28.1, text adhamūrdhās ca, read adha-m-ūrdhvās ca (after vyatyastā[h]).

-adharaka, fem. -ikā (= Skt. adhara), in Bhvr. cpd., lower lip, endearing diminutive (§ 22.34): bimbasupakvanibhādhārikā[h], LV 322.14 (vs), of daughters of Māra.

adhara-tas, adv. (Skt. Gr. id.), downward, sinking: asthicarmāvaśeṣaḥ samantād gātreṇādharaṭaḥ MSV ii.32.11.

adharima, adj. (§ 22.15), lowest: ep. of bhūmi, ground, in the cliché on birth of children, avatāraṅti(m) °mām bhūmim Divy 99.15; 167.12; 441.5; Av i.15.6 (elsewhere adhara in same cliché, Speyer, Av Index); °me skandhe MSV ii.6.17 ff.

adhar-diś (-dik) (= Skt. adho-diś, recorded in comm. on Hem. Abhidh., BR; also, without citation, in Apte), the nadir; acc. to Kern, SP Preface vi, in Kashgar rec. of SP, for Nep. adhodik.

adharṣikatā, state of not violating or disturbing: Śikṣ 3.7 (vs).

adhasta, adj. (= Skt. adhastana; cf. Skt. adhastāt adv.), below: adhastāyām diśi, in the nadir: SP 240.12; 243.11 (here Kashgar rec. heṣṭimāyām); Sukh 98.7.

adhikaraṇa (= Pali id., in both senses), nt., (1) matter of contention or dispute, especially among monks: saṃghe kalahabhaṇḍanavīgrahavivādam adhikaraṇam kaukrtyam utpādetuḥ Mv iii.48.(13-14); adhikaraṇa na tasya jātu bhotti Śikṣ 195.10; °na-kuśala MSV i.55.13; adhikaraṇavastu Mvy 9115 = Tib. rtsod pañi gzhī, ground of dispute; adhikaraṇa-samatha Mvy 8630 (= Pali °samatha), the (7 rules for) quieting of disputes, a part of the Prātimokṣa; they are listed 8631-7, mostly as in Pali, saṃmukhavinayaḥ, smṛti-vinayaḥ, amūḍha-vinayaḥ, yadbhūyasikīyaḥ, tatsvabhāvaiśīyaḥ, trṇaprastārakaḥ, pratijñākārakaḥ, qq.v.; (2) -adhikaraṇam, ifc. adv., by reason of: yato-adhikaraṇam, conj. (= Pali yatvādhikaraṇam) Mv iii.52.7, because, lit. by reason of which; also stem in comp., pramādādhikaraṇahetor MPS 4.7 ff., because of negligence (Pali pamādādhikaraṇam, adv.; elsewhere -adhikaraṇa-hetu, CPD).

adhikāra, m., (= Pali id.), service, respectful duty performed towards another, usually a superior (and esp. a Buddha): Senart Mv i.402, note on i.37.11-12, renders offrande, and so Suzuki on Lañk 6.3 offerings. No doubt the 'service' often included or consisted of offerings; but that this was not necessarily so is proved by SP 111.12 bahūhi kāryehi kṛtādhikārāḥ, said of merchants (vāñijāḥ) employed by a wealthy capitalist. who do service (to him) with many business-operations (certainly not offerings, kāryehi!). The cpd. kṛtādhikāra (Pali katā°) is very common and in BHS most often refers to services performed for present or past Buddhas: SP 49.13; Lañk 6.3 (kṛtādhikārā buddheṣu kariṣyanty adhunā ca vai); Mv ii.288.8; iii.263.12; purima-jina-kṛtādhikāra LV 393.6; Mv ii.312.5; sumahantā adhikārā mayā kṛtā (to former Buddhas) Mv iii.241.12; (bhagavato...) adhikāram kartum Mv i.37.12; ... kṛtvā Mv i.44.14; prasannādhikāra, service tendered by one who is kindly disposed, i. e. service of friendship, Divy 305.7; 308.20 ff.

to, concerned with: -pratyaṅgaśirsachedādhikārikās ca duhkḥās Gv 159.21; kimcid evālpam vā prabhūtam vā pūjādhikārikam akṛtvā Bbh 160.19, without doing at least something, be it little or much, that relates to homage; dharmādhikārikī kathā MSV i.162.14. In MPS 45.2 and 6 (prose) yasya vayam pūjādhikārikām autsukyam na samāpannāḥ, I cannot explain the ā in °kām (reported 3 times from 2 mss.); I should expect °kam; a fem. substantive °kā seems implausible.

adhikālam, adv., Sukh 8.1 (vs), (reading uncertain, several vv.ll.) ato 'dhikālam, in reference to time hereafter, i. e. for all future time (? adhi as in adhicittam, governing the noun with which it is compounded).

adhigama, m., also (even after consonants) dhigama (q.v.), spiritual realization; attainment of religious goal; used in senses very close to this in Skt. (BR and pw), as well as in Pali; seems nearly equivalent to abhisamaya, q.v.: (bhagavantam...) adhigamabuddhir yadyoginām yogābhisamayakāle samādhisukhe (so with Tib. for °mukhe, note in ed., and Suzuki) samāptānām adhigamo bhavati, tasya cādhigamād yoginām yogaśabdo nipātyate adhigamaṇeti Lañk 11.17-12.3, of whose (viz. Buddha's) yogins the will to spiritual-realization becomes spiritual-realization when they have attained perfection (samāpta) in the bliss of trance at the time of spiritual-realization (attainment, abhisamaya) of yoga; and thru realization (attainment) of him (tasya = bhagavataḥ) on the part of (his) yogins the word yoga is (rightly) applied, by reason of (this) realization (attainment, that comes thru it); yasyām ca rātryām dhigamo, Lañk 144.10 = 324.5, referring to the night of Buddha's attainment of enlightenment, cf. 142.17; Bbh 81.24; Mvy 134; punar bodhisattvaḥ adhigamajñāne sāradaśī bhavati, na śruta-cintādharmārtha-vijñāna-mātrake Bbh 257.16, referring to Mvy 1548 jñāna-pratisaraṇena bhavitavyam, na vijñāna-pratisaraṇena.

adhigamana = °gama, spiritual realization; so Pali (both forms): ye me bhaṇanti varṇam samādhito ca śīlato ca prajñāto ca adhigamanato ca... Mv i.270.4; for Lañk 12.3 see s.v. adhigama.

adhicitta, nt. (Pali id.), superior mind, intellect; also adj., and °cittam, °citte, adv., relating to intellect; see s.v. śikṣā.

adhitanaya, m., supreme offspring: śākyarājādhitanayaḥ (of Buddha) Mmk 230.1.

adhitiṣṭhati, also adhīṣṭhahati, °ṣṭhīhati (and noun adhīṣṭhāna, q.v.; Pali adhiṭṭhāti, adhiṭṭhāna, in general in same meanings; previous translations of BHS vary widely and are hardly worth systematic quotation; very common is bless, which I think should be deleted, see below): (1) masters, controls, in normal Skt. (BR sthā with adhi 3, 4) and also BHS (exx. La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. vii.119 note 2, b); in BHS particularly takes possession or control of, MSV i.248.20 (sāptāhikam), and ff.; Bhik 15a.1 (the newly initiated nun says to her instructor) samanvāhara upādhyāyike, aham... idam civaram saṃghāṭim adhiṣṭhāmi, I take (formal) possession of my nun's garments (similarly with other implements, below: Ridding p. 124 calls this rite benediction of the garments, etc.; but the nun is the only speaker; she would not 'bless' her own belongings!); in BHS (2) the power or control is usually supernatural or magical: adhiṣṭhantu buddhā bhagavanto idam paṭasūtram Mmk 56.12, let the Lord Buddhas exercise their supernatural power over (assume control of) this thread (Lalou, Iconographic p 20, occupant); in the sequel, favorable sounds show the performer that, adhiṣṭhitam me buddhā... tat paṭasūtram (17); he reflects, buddhānām... adhiṣṭhānam etat (24), this is the controlling power of the B.; Lañk

adhimukti, f. (= Pali adhimutti; to adhimucyate), (1) strong inclination, attachment; earnest, zealous application; Tib. mos pa (Jäschke, to be pleased, la with; to wish, to have a mind; to take pleasure in, to rejoice at; as substantive pleasure, satisfaction, esteem; also to respect, to esteem, to respect with devotion, to revere, to adore); La V-P. AbhidhK. Index = ruci; cf. Bbh 95.12-13 katham ca bodhisattvo 'dhimuktibahulo bhavati? iha bodhisattvo 'ṣṭavidhe 'dhimuktiyadhiṣṭhāne śraddhāprasādāpūrvakeṇa nīcāyena rucyā samanvāgato bhavati. (Other alleged meanings, as croyance Lévi Sūtrāl. i.13 note 1; confidence, Burnouf; good will, Kern, in translation of SP; etc., are not supported by BHS usage, except as under 2, below.) It may be (but rarely is) applied to (a) non-religious objects: sa ca puruṣas (the father) teṣāṃ kumārakāṇām (his ignorant sons) āśayajño bhaved, adhimuktīm ca vijānīyāt, SP 73.14-15, . . . and he understands their inclinations, what they are interested in. But usually the object is related to (b) a religious aim. It may be specified, syntactically (in the loc.), as in yaṃ . . . sugataḥ prabhāṣate, adhimuktisampanna bhavāhi tatra SP 32.15, what the Buddha says, be perfect in zealous application to that. Usually it is not so specifically stated, tho the context is apt to suggest that it is zealous cultivation (study or propagation) of sacred texts or religious instruction that is meant (note-that the object of the verb adhimucyate is commonly something of this sort); cf. e.g. -lokaṃ yathādhimuktyā (according to their [varying types or degrees of] zeal or application) subhāṣitena samtoṣayantam LV 160.17; adhimuktisāro yo syād . . . saḥ, puṇyaṃ labheta yo etaṃ (most mss.) sūtram vācel likheta vā SP 342.3-4. And this is probably meant as a rule when the context gives no special clue, as in many of the following: SP 6.13; 31.6; 93.9; 125.8; 235.10; 274.10; LV 10.11; 182.20; 432.8; Mvy 856; Samādh 22.43; RP 20.5; Bhad 7, 48; Bbh 195.12; anādhimukti, lack of (religious) zeal RP 19.18; 35.4; various gods in Mv ii.309.14 ff. see the bodhi-tree svakāye adhimuktye, according to their tastes, inclinations, interests (Senart suivant l'inclination de chacun) as made of various

The object is generally religious, and most commonly religious knowledge or sacred texts (see especially adhimukta for non-religious applications): eṣāṃ . . . nirvāṇaṃ bhāṣate yad adhimucyante, SP 187.2-3, preaches to them nirvāṇa (the Hīnayāna goal), to which they zealously apply themselves; adhimucyante SP 288.3 (upāyakaūśalyaṃ saṃdhābhāṣitaṃ); (jñāna[m]) 302.7; KP 140.9; °yanti SP 232.9 (dharma-parāyāyaṃ); KP 139.6; adhimucyami Bhad 3, 7 (phāra sarvajñānām); adhimucye (1 sg.) Gv 5.10 (tathāgatajñānaṃ); adhimucyitum KP 39.9; (2) rarely, used in the sense defined by CPD under adhimuccati (d) as to make a (magical) act of volition; but a better definition would be changes (something, acc.) by magic into (something else, acc.), as in Vin. iii.250.25-26 pāsādam suvaṇṇaṃ ti adhimucci, so ahosi sabbasovaṇṇa-mayo (comm. sovaṇṇamayo hotu ti adhiṭṭhāsi). Doubtless the original or literal meaning was, he concentrated his interest on the palace, with the thought — (it is to be) gold! — and it became entirely made of gold. In BHS the word (i)ti is omitted: Bbh 60.5 prthivīm apo 'dhimucyate, changes (magically) earth into water, and a series of like clauses in the sequel. So in the miracle of turning four bowls into one: catvāri śailamayāni pātrāni grahāyaikaṃ pātram adhimuktam Divy 393.17–18, (by the Buddha) taking the four stone bowls, a single bowl was made by magic; cf. pratigṛhya caikam pātram adhiṣṭhāti sma, adhimuktibalena LV 385.4–5, and having accepted (the four bowls) he changed (them) magically (see s.v. adhiṣṭhāti) into a single bowl, by his power of magic transformation.

Does this adhiṣṭhāna mean this exhibition of supernatural power, viz, the making of the stūpa to appear? Or is it this fixed determination, resolution (2, above)? Near synonyms are āveśa, (Skt.) anubhāva, adhimukti; cf. also Lañk 292.13 and 15, where one of the sources of abhijñā is 'from adhiṣṭhāna' (adhiṣṭhānān, so read in 13 for text °nām, abl., before n-), which means from the controlling power of the Buddhas and is paraphrased in 15 by buddhaprasādataḥ, from the grace of the Buddhas. Suzuki, Transl. of Lañk paṣim, renders sustaining power; I think rather controlling power. Even Bodhisattvas are at times dependent on Buddhas and need their control; (4) in architecture, Skt. (see Acharya, Dict. Hindu Arch. s.v.), basement, foundation of building or base of a pillar. Here in Mvy 5591 = Tib. lan kan gyi rten ma, prop (i. e. base) of a railing; so Chin. Whatever it means here is certainly meant also in Divy 221.9, 10 adhiṣṭhānam, and Mv i.195.1 ff.; iii.227.8 ff., adhiṣṭhānakam, where the context is the same as in Mvy 5591; see sūci, sūcikā; (5) see pādādhiṣṭhāna; (6) m., n. of a (mythical) samādhi: Gv 451.26. In this curious passage, 451.25-452.6, the word adhiṣṭhāna is further used predicatively in a series of equational sentences, varying in gender like an adjective with different subjects. Bhaddrottamā says to Sudhana: aham kulaputrā 'nālayamaṇḍalam nāma dharmaparyāyam jānāmi deśayāmy, adhiṣṭhānāc ca me samādhiḥ pratilabdho; na tatra samādhuḥ kasyacid dharmasyā 'dhiṣṭhānam; adhiṣṭhānam tatra sarvajñatācakṣuḥ pravartate, 'dhiṣṭhānam sarvajñatāśrotram, adhiṣṭhānam sarvajñatāghrānam, adhiṣṭhānā sarvajñatājihvā, 'dhiṣṭhānā sarvajñatākāyam, 'dhiṣṭhānam tatra sarvajñatāmanah pravartate, 'dhiṣṭhānā sarvajñatormir, adhiṣṭhānā sarvajñatāvidyud, adhiṣṭhānā sarvajñatāvegāḥ pravartante jagadrocanāmaṇḍalāḥ; etam aham kulaputrā 'nālayamaṇḍalam dharmaparyāyam jānāmi. (Punctuation introduced by me.) There is no further light from the context. I am not sure what meaning the author attributed to the word adhiṣṭhāna: presumably something like either basis or controlling power.

adhiṣṭhāyika, m. (Pali adhiṣṭhāyika, beside °yaka; Skt. °yaka), supervisor, superintendent: MSV i.70.15 ff. (in same passage Divy 462.26 ff. always °yaka); prose.

adhiṣṭhita, ppp. of adhitiṣṭhāti, q.v.

adhiṣṭa (in Skt., e. g. Pāṇ. 5.1.80, but very rare), ppp. of adhyeṣati, requested (for instruction); cf. Pali ajjhīṭṭha, used with ajjhesita as ppp. to ajjhesati: tena adhiṣṭu (= °to) LV 393.14; yais tathāgato 'dhiṣṭo 'bhūḍ asya dharmaparyāyasya samprakāśanāya 438.15; Mv iii.403.14 (prob. read with mss. adhiṣṭo); yādhiṣṭā bhavati tayāsau bhikṣuṇī praṣṭavyā Bhik 10a.3; anadhiṣṭa not requested for instruction, Divy 329.21 ff.

adhyācaraṇa, behavior (but used of good behavior, in contrast with adhyācarati, °cāra, qq.v.): prasādenādhyācaraṇād Bbh 30.11.

adhyācarati (= Pali ajjhāc°, performs, does, only in bad sense (as in Pali), commits (a sin; so adhyācāra; but cf. adhyācaraṇa): °caranti (-duṣcaritam) Bbh 302.7, 8; akuśalaṃ karmādhyācarati Śikṣ 160.7; madyapānaṃ ca nādhyācaranti MSV iii.130.8.

adhyācāra, m. (to prec.; = Pali ajjhācāra, regularly in bad and 'especially in an eretical sense', CPD), performance, commission (of evil, sin), (sinful) behavior (with gen. of the sin, or in comp.): punar anadhyācārāya Bbh 181.12, so as not to sin again; sāvadhyasya ca dānādikasya kuśalasyādhyācāraḥ 289.11; āpatty-anadhyācāra- 289.22; anadhyācāre adhyācāravairamanyāṃ tivraṣā ... yogaḥ karaṇīyaḥ Bhik 27b.4, serious discipline in not sinning, ceasing from sin, must be undertaken, for this, which seems the correct reading, Bhik 24b.5; 28a.1, 4; 28b.2 (by error?) °anadhyācāravairamanyāṃ; but also in MSV iii.8.10 anadhyācāram ācarate, engages in sinful behavior, implies adhyācāra = good behavior; Tib. also has a neg., spyad par bya ba ma yin pa spyod pa; but the text is pretty surely wrong, since in 9.10 the opposite is na adhyācāram ācarate, engages in no sinful behavior.

CPD and PTSD suggest emending the Pali form, also, to ajjhācara. But the two forms confirm each other and must surely be kept, whatever the etymology of this rare and obscure word may be.

adhyāvāsa-gata, adj., in the dwelling: Prāt 517.1 (cf. adhyārāma, and Pali ajjhāvāsathē, adv.).

adhyāviśati, attacks, strikes down: MSV iv.120.12, 18; 121.9; Tib. hbab par byed, make fall.

adhyāśaya, m. (= Pali ajjhāśaya), (1) commonly mental disposition; (strong) purpose, intent, determination (esp. religious); clearly understood as a more intensive near-synonym of āśaya, which is used often in substantially the same sense in BHS as already in Skt. (so far as I can see there is no difference between Skt. and BHS āśaya except for the adverbial uses of forms of the latter, q.v.): adhyāśayaḥ Mvy 7116 = Tib. lhag paḥi bsam pa, superior (adhi) thought, will, inclination or the like (āśaya = Tib. bsam pa Mvy 7117); āśayena adhyāśayena LV 182.18; āśayo LV 34.18, as a dharmalokamukha, immediately followed by adhyāśayo, used in the same way. adhyāśayati (rare; doubtless denom. from adhyāśaya, q.v.); Pali only ppp. ajjhāsita intent upon, rare and only in cpds.), is intent upon, with loc.: bodhisattvo 'dhyāśayati anuttarāyāṃ samyak sambodhau Śikṣ 17.21. In LV 18.8 the good ms. A reads adhyāśayati for text °sayati (mahāpṛthivīm . . . abhinirjityādhyāśayati), is firmly fixed upon, occupies, with acc.; but probably text is right; Skt. adhyāste is used in this sense, and the LV form is only an aya extension of this; the meaning and construction do not fit adhyāśayati.

adhyāhāriṇī-lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.9; so read for Lem. madhyā° (after -lipiṃ), allegedly with all mss.; Calc. adhyā-, supported by Tib. bla (superior) thabs su bsan pa (? augmentation to a higher means?), which suggests a form containing adhi; but I do not understand the meaning of either the Tib. or the BHS form, unless the latter means suppletive script (a term which might conceivably have been applied e.g. to writing of consonants alone, without vowels).

adhyupekṣaṇa (= Pali ajjupekkhaṇa), impartiality: yathākālāvavādānuśāsanādhyupekṣaṇa-guhyam (tathāgātānām) Dbh 87.8, impartiality in the timely imparting of admonition and instruction. See next two.

adhvan, m. (= Pali addha[n], addhāna), time. (Cf. 1 amśa, 1.). The three advhānaḥ listed Dharmas 86

adhva-mārga, Prāt 497.9, and v.l. 519.10; adhvāna-mārga Prāt 510.4; Suv 72.11 (= Pali addhāna-magga), travel-road, highroad: in Prāt 497.9 and Suv 72.11 cpd. with -pratipanna, when on a journey.

adhvāniya (better adhvaniya; Pali addhaniya), fit for a journey: some such form seems clearly intended by mss. at Mv iii.93.19; they read (nātyātiśītaṃ nātyātiṣṇaṃ) ṛtusukhaṃ adhvāniyaṃ (v.l. adhyā°) taṃ bhagavantaṃ (read bhavantaṃ, or bhadanta, m.c.; object of paśyantu, next line, or voc.). They are clearly corrupt, but Senart's emendations are proved wrong by the Pali parallel Therag. 529; divide ṛtu (ṛtup° ṛtū?) sukhaṃ, the season is pleasant and fit for travel.

an-a-, double neg. prefix, = a(n)-, as in Pali (CPD). In Mv i.14.10 (gambhīro) 'nasamuttaro (see samuttara); Senart assumes na used in comp.); anaparāmṛsant (q.v.); and Mmk 53.21 an-a-patnikam, one who has no wife (after this a word has been lost from the text; it must have named the place where the appropriate ceremony, to get a wife, was performed, as in the surrounding parallel phrases).

anagārikā; anagāriya, nt.; anāgāra (nt.); anā-gārikā (= Pali anagāriya or anā°, generally nt.; anagāra nt. only once, Sn 376, otherwise m. and personal, also °rika, adj. and m. subst., personal; °rikā not in Pali), homeless (ascetic) life. In most texts anagārikā (LV 18.8; 101.19; 103.20; Divy 17.17; 37.12; 141.1; Samādh 8.15, etc.; rare in Mv, ii.69.1 with v.l. °riya), or anāgārikā (Av i.136.6, so best ms., text ana°; i.234.1, no v.l.; Bbh 26.12; °kām pravrajyām Bhik 10b.1), are the regular forms, but in Mv it is almost always anagāriya as in Pali; this has not been noted elsewhere. Regularly in acc. sg. °rikāṃ, °riyaṃ (only once anāgāraṃ [mss., Senart ana°] upetasya Mv iii.387.1) depending on a form of pra-vraj (rarely of abhi-niṣ-kram, Mv ii.161.5 ff.), and preceded by abl. (or in Mv gen.) of agāra, retire from the home to the homeless life. In this phrase the preceding form is always agārād in all texts other than Mv, and sometimes there (ii.161.5 ff.; iii.408.2); in Mv also agārato iii.378.4; agārato iii.176.2; agārebhyo i.128.10; read agārasmā, the Pali form, for agārasthā i.104.8; but most commonly the gen. agārasya i.322.15; 323.1; ii.117.18, 20; 140.3; 271.8; iii.50.11-12; 213.2-3.

anaḅgana, (1) adj. (= Pali id.; often written °na), spotless, free from blemish or evil (anaḅga): LV 344.6; 345.19; Mvy 2607 (Tib. ṅon moḅs pa med pa, without evil); Mv i.228.11, 15; 229.6; 316.8; ii.132.14; 359.16; iii.396.6; Sukh 59.13; Dbh 7.6; 35.19; Ud xvi.3; (2) m., n. of a śreṣṭhin in Bandhumati in the time of the Buddha Vipaśyin (later reincarnate as Jyotiṣka): Mv ii.271.13 ff.; Divy 283.1 ff. (here called a gṛhapati).

an-ativara (not in Pali, AMg. aṇaivara, see Sheth, not in Ratnachandra), having no superior; supreme, ep. of Buddha: Mv i.206.8, 10 = ii.10.2, 4; i.220.8, 14, 16;

ii.22.9, 15; iii.110.19. The AMg. form confirms Senart's choice of this reading; the mss. vary between it and anabhivara, °cara, anaticara.

anatisadrśa, who has none superior to him: śīlenāna-tisadrśu LV 164.4 (vs); the only v.l. is °sa for °su.

anātita (= Pali id.), not having got over, not free from, with loc.; in Pali app. with acc. only (and so atīta in Skt.); (jarādharmā) jarādharmatāyāṃ (so both mss.) anātītāḥ Mv ii.151.7, subject to old age, not passed over in reference to old age.

an-anuyukta (= Pali °yutta), neg. of anuy°, not devoted to, experienced or practised in, with acc.: jāgari-kāyogam ananuyuktāye (parṣāye) Mv iii.48.17-18 and 49.4-5; mss. both times anuyuktāye but sense requires neg. (haplography). In Pali also used with jāgariyā.

an-anuyujya, or °yujitvā, neg. ger., without having interrogated (an accused person), or made inquiry (into an accusation), (Skt. anu-yuj-; cf. anuyujjati, b, CPD); in Mv i.96.7, read (aparādham ca) an-anuyujya for °yā; in Mv iii.160.6 text °yujitvā, read doubtless °yujj° (°yujj°) with text in 165.11; 170.7, 8 (in these no expressed object).

anabhilāpyaparivarta, m. (in Gv nt.), square of the preceding (2): Mvy 7819; 7951 (cited from Gv, but m.); Gv 106.26; 134.15. Cf. next.

anabhilāpyānabhilāpya, nt., a still higher number than the preceding: Mvy 7952 (cited from Gv); Gv 106.26; 134.16; quite common in Gv, and occurs elsewhere, e. g. Dbh 2.23; 70.8; read (a) nabhilāpyānabhilāpya- in Bhad Introduction, line 2, with v.l. and Gv 543.6, for Watanabe (a) bhilāpyānabhilāpya-. See next.

anabhilāpyānabhilāpyaparivarta, m. (in text of Gv nt.), square of the preceding: Mvy 7953 (cited from Gv); Gv 107.1; 134.17. Cf. next.

anabhilāpyānabhilāpyaparivartanirdeśa, m., a very high number (cf. the preceding; in its own list follows anabhilāpyaparivarta): Mvy 7820.

Anabhilāpyodgata, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.25.
an-abhisamṣkāra, neg. of abhi°, (1) (m.), non-accumulation (of karman), as Karmadhāraya, Gv 70.7, see s.v. vipratilambha; generally as bahuvrīhi, adj., having or characterized by no accumulation (of karman): LV 422.21 (-cakram, of the dharmacakra); Mvy 173 (°rāḥ sarvadharmāḥ); 799; Śiḱṣ 190.16; LV 428.10 sarvaprasthānālipatvād anabhisamṣkāragocara ity ucyate (tathāgataḥ), he is out of range of the accumulation (of karman), because he is unstained by any setting-out (to do or get anything); anabhisamṣkāragatir bodhisattvānām Gv 525.10, the course of B's is free from accumulation (of karman); (2) adj., without proper mental preparation: Mvy 1018 °ra-parinirvāyī (contrast sābhi° pari° 1017).

and subst. (from °skāra), with or sc. rddhi, (magic potency) of non-accumulation (of karman): °skārikāyā rddhi anubhāvena Gv 70.8; as subst., understood rddhi, Gv 180.6 abhāvapratīṣṭhitayā (which is established in non-becoming, see Gv 70.7, preceding the above, s.v. vipratilambha) 'ryānabhisamṣkārikāyā by the (magic potency of) non-accumulation (of karman).

an-abhisamṣkṛta (neg. of abhi°, q.v.; Pali °saṃkhata, see below), not (specially) prepared, of food: Laṅk 196.12, said of rice offered to infants without proper boiling (and seasoning?); not affected (by some outside influence), avikopitair indriyair anabhisamṣkṛtair gātrair LV 323.16, in description of the Bodhisattva's indifference to the daughters of Māra, with senses undisturbed, with body-members unaffected. So Tib., lus (body) ma bcos pa, lit. not made (up), see Jäschke s.v. bcos-pa, '3. made or contrived by art, artificial (so Pali abhisamṣkṛta is sometimes used, CPD) . . . ma bcos, artless, unaffected, genuine; it also seems to denote an absence of mental activity (see s.v. abhisamṣkāra) or a forbearance of exercising such activity, in short that indifference to the world, which is so highly valued by the Buddhist.'

an-ābhoga (see ābhoga and sābhoga), (1) adj., effortless: crucial is Dbh 67.10 ff., where a boat, before it reaches the open sea, is sābhoga-vāhana, traveling with (human) effort; when it reaches the open sea it is anābhogavāhano vātamaṇḍalipraṇīto, traveling without effort, borne along by a tornado, and goes in a single day farther than it could go in a hundred years by all effortful traveling (sarvasābhogavāhanatayā, i. e. by rowing etc.). So, by the knowledge of the Omniscient (sarvajñajñānena), because this knowledge is effortless (automatic, spontaneous: jñānānābhogatayā), a Bodhisattva gets in a single moment farther than he could get in 100,000 kalpas by his former effortful activity (pūrvakeṇa sābhogakarmanā). Again, in Sūtrālamkāra ix.18-19, a Buddha's activities proceed without ābhoga, effortlessly, spontaneously, like music from instruments that are not being played, or jewels that shine without labor. So understand anābhoga-buddhakāryāpratiprasabdāḥ Mvy 411, (a Tathāgata is) never ceasing from spontaneous (Tib. lhun grub pa, self-created; not contrived by human labor, Jäschke) Buddha-activities, and the same cpd. prefixed to -cakram LV 423.3 (see apratiprasabdha); automatic Śikṣ 7.15; °ga-vāhanaḥ Bbh 260.18, bringing automatically; mahākārunopāyakauśalyānābhogagatena prayogena Lañk 42.8, by praxis that effortlessly (spontaneously) arrives at great compassion and skill in devices; sometimes best rendered by impassive (not involving or subject to any effort), anābhogaprekṣikayā with impassive look Śikṣ 268.1; (see s.v. ābhoga for Dbh 64.16;) prob. impassive in Bbh 317.3, and 350.12 bodhisattvānām anābhogo nirnimitto vihārah, which is contrasted with (and higher than) their sābhoga (effortful) vihāra (346.14); cf. anāyikā: SP 162.1, m.c. for anayikā, see anayaka.

an-āyūha, adj. (Pali id.; see also anāvyūha), effortless; free from exertion or striving; usually cpd. with aniryūha, without abandonment, riddance, giving up; the two terms together seem clearly to be opposites, and to mean about the same as a-pravṛtti, a-nivṛtti, without activity or abstention from it (so Suzuki, 'neither taking birth nor . . . going out', on Lañk 115.11–12; 196.3). However, Tib. (e. g. on LV 423.4 and on Lañk) renders an-āyūha by blañ ba med pa, or the like, and aniryūha by dor ba med pa, which seem most naturally to mean without (intellectual) acceptance or rejection respectively; La Vallée Poussin, note on MadhK 517.20, see avyūhati, gives his Tib. versions as mi len and mi ḥdor (which are equivalent to the above), and equates ā(v)yūha and nir(v)yūha with Skt. samāropa and apavāda. I find no support in BHS texts for this interpretation; whether the Tib. terms must necessarily be so understood I do not venture to say. Without aniryūha the word occurs Gv 17.13 anāyūha-sārvajñatā-bhūmi-gagana-vīryāḥ (of Bodhisattvas); anāyūhān 25.19 (id.), effortless, unstriving (in complementary sense, like anābhoga; substantially unparticipating, impassive); anāyūhaviyūho (read with 2d ed. °viyūha-, cpd. with next, if not niryūha-)gatiḥ bodhisattvānām kāyacittāsampravānatayā (see asampravāna) 525.11, the course of B.'s is free from effort and striving, because they are not interested in (their own) bodies or minds; anāyūhāniryūha- LV 423.4 (-cakram); °ham aniryūham (dharmacakram) LV 436.13; apratiṣṭhānāyūhāniryūha(h) LV 424.7–8 (tathāgataḥ); anāyūhāniryūhāḥ (sarvadharmāḥ) Lañk 115.11–12; °hāniryūha-tā (sc. sarvadharmāṇām) ŚsP 283.3 (text by error °niryūhatā).

anārabdha (cf. Pali an-ārabha, free from damage or trouble, CPD, and cf. BHS and Pali ārabha, slaughter, Pali ārabhāti, slaughters (an animal); but our word has a less drastic mg.): uninjured, said of the womb of the Bodhisattva's mother after his birth (rendered so by his magic power), sampratijāte . . . bodhisattve bodhisattvamātuḥ kuṣī pratipūrnā yeva abhūsi anārabdhā (v.l. °labdhā) ca bodhisattvasyaiva tejana Mv i.221.4–5.

anārja (= Skt. anārya; perhaps semi-Skt. based on MIndic aṇajja [AMG., beside anāriya]; possibly influenced by confusion with ārjava?), (adj., ignoble, base, evil;) subst., wickedness: sarve anārjaṃ parivarjayāmaḥ Mv ii.79.3 (text °jeyāmaḥ, formally possible, § 29.33, but metrically bad, unless e be short, § 3.65); the corresponding Pali has anariyaṃ (Jāt. iv.53.8 °yam parivajjemu sabbam).

But (2) without attachment must surely be the mg. in niṣprapañcān anālayān Gv 25.19 (of Bodhisattvas).

anikṣipta-bhāra = °tā-dhura (1), adj., q.v.: Mv i.95.10.

anigha, adj. (= Pali id., also anīgha), free from evil (? see nīgha, nīgha); occurs chiefly (in Pali literature, aside from commentarial etymologies, only) in the neg. form; ep. of Buddha, or at least of perfected saints. In Pali often rendered calm, unperturbed, but it seems that free from evil (whether sin, pāpa, or misery, duḥkha) will suffice in all Pali and BHS occurrences. Regularly in lists of formulaic epithets which give little clue to a more precise mg.: LV 358.5; Mv ii.397.16; iii.400.2 (same vs in Pali Sn 534 with anigha); 418.14; Ud xxix.34; Gv 284.6.

an-icchantika-tā-(mokṣa), (salvation that consists in) the state of not being icchantika (q.v.): Lañk 65.17.

aniñja = aniñjya, q.v.: sthito 'niñja-prāptena (but Kashgar rec. 'niñjya°) ca cittaṇa SP 5.10; in ŚsP this is the spelling regularly found in ed., e.g. aniñjo nāma samādhiḥ 1418.22.

aniñjana, adj. (see iñjana); Pali id. only as noun, immobility, CPD), immovable: LV 250.16, of the 4th dhyāna (see under aniñjya): °na-cittā (n. sg. f.) Gv 279.9; °na-tā, immobility, AsP 206.2 °tām upādāya (referring to prajñāpāramitā).

an-iñjita, adj. (= Pali id.), without vacillation (see iñjita): °tā manyana-varjitāḥ ca (of dharmas) SP 282.1.

aniñjya: variants āniñja, an°, āniñjya, āniñja, āneñj(y)a, an°, qq.v. The nasalless āniñja occurs without v.l. only once and may be an accidental corruption (anusvāra omitted); but see § 2.73. The omission of y after j is called 'une orthographe prācritisante' by Senart, Mv i.399; at any rate it occurs frequently in the mss. In Pali the same word is written āneñja, ānañja, āneñja, and with short initial a- (stigmatized as wrong reading in CPD); forms with i in the penult are very rare in Pali, but CPD records aniñja-ppatta once; this surely cannot be separated from the common āneñja- (āneñja-, ānañja-)ppatta. BHS has no ānañj- or ānejj-, which are not infrequent in Pali. The wild variety of spellings in Pali itself shows that it early became an obscure word in the tradition. BHS occurrences of the spelling aniñjya include SP 161.10; Mvy 554, Śikṣ 237.1 (and 223.3, 4 in the ms.); perhaps Mv i.133.13 (Senart āniñjya, em., mss. mostly anica [not low?], one animca, perhaps intending aniñj[y]a); either an- or ān- (uncertain because of samdhi) Mv i.228.11, 15; 229.6; ii.132.15 (here v.l. °niñjya-). For examples of the other spellings see s.vv. There seems to be no difference in mg. between the various spellings; any of them may be an adj., immobile, immovable, or a nt. n., immovability. As adj., āniñjehi vihārehi Mv i.34.11; ii.419.11, in immovable conditions; ep. of citta Mv i.133.13 (see above on form); oftener °niñjyaprāpta, of citta, LV 344.6; Mv i.228.11, 15; 229.6; ii.132.15; aniñja-prāpta, of citta, SP 5.10; aniñjya-bhūta, of citta, SP 161.10; āniñyām śāntim Av ii.199.5; aniñjyo (ŚsP aniñjo) nāma samādhiḥ Mvy 554; ŚsP 1418.22; virajasko (a)neñjyaś ca Mmk 476.14; clearly noun, āniñjyam Mvy 6387 = Tib. mi gyo ba, not moving; doubtless noun also in cpds. with -prāpta (Pali -ppatta) and -bhūta, above; apparently primarily adj. as third of a triad, the first two members of which are puñya and apuñya, or kuśala and akuśala; all three are applied to deeds (karman), or the performance or accumulation thereof (abhisamskāra, q.v.), or the underlying conditions (saṃskāra; cf. Śāl 81.5, abhisamskār-thena saṃskārāḥ), or finally the states of existence (dharmāḥ) to which such various acts lead as fruit. The first two, meritorious and demeritorious, relate to good and bad deeds as leading to rebirth in the kāmāvacara and (only good deeds) in the rūpāvacara states, or to these resulting states; the word aniñj(y)a, aneñj(y)a, or ā°, refers to deeds leading to rebirth in the arūpāvacara states, or to those states themselves (the dhyāna states), cf. Bbh 90.16 āniñjya-caturtha-dhyāna-vihārah; on the subject in Pali see Warren, B. in Tr. 179 f. (from Vism.), and in general La Vallée-Poussin, note on MadhK 334.8; a good Pali passage is DN iii.217.25 tayo saṃkhārā, puññābhisamkhārō, apuññā°, ānañjā° (see Comm. iii.998.29). In BHS, Śāl 82.3-4 (cited Śikṣ 222.11-223.1) evam avidyāyām satyām trividhāḥ saṃskārā abhinivartante, puñyopagā apuñyo° āneñjyo° (Śikṣ āniñjyo°); Dbh 48.7 puñyā-puñyāneñjyān abhisamskārān; karmāṇi kuśalakuśalāneñjāni MadhK 334.7-8 (cf. 543.1 with note); (dharmāḥ) kuśalā vā 'kuśalā vā aniñjyā vā Śikṣ 237.1.

aniṣṭhā-pada, apparently intended at Lañk 180.17 (text anadhiṣṭhāpada) and 227.4 (text aṣṭāpada); Tib. thug pa med paḥi gnas. Suzuki transl. inexhaustible vows; rather, unlimited terms; S. uses the same transl. for niṣṭhā-pada, q.v. It seems, indeed, that these two formally opposite expressions, unlimited term and fundamental term, are virtual synonyms. Cf. Dbh 17.9, where each of the 10 niṣṭhā is specifically said to be aniṣṭhā (the trick seems to lie in different uses of niṣṭhā: the fundament, basis is said to be without end or limit, end being also a mg. of niṣṭhā).

a-niḥsaraṇa, adj. and subst. (cf. Pali a-nissaraṇa; see niḥs°), not being (or as Bhvr. not having; sc. a means of) salvation: sarve te bhavā niḥsaraṇā (so mss., Senart ś for s) ti vademi Mv ii.418.8; aniḥsaraṇa-niḥsaraṇa-samjñino Dbh 28.17 imagining what is not (a means of) salvation to be one; similarly, aniḥsaraṇe niḥsaraṇabuddhiḥ Lañk 145.6; °ṇa-tā, state or fact of not being or having (a means of) salvation, LV 244.5.

anujavana, (nt.? cf. anujava, anujavati), pursuit, chasing after, in śvaloṣṭv-anujavana-sadṛṣa, like a dog's chasing a clod (thrown at him, instead of the thrower), KP 105.2 (text °loṣṭvānu°, by error), 3 (here text °loṣṭānu°, which could be kept, with Skt. loṣṭa for loṣṭu); 106.8; 107.1, 5; the simile is clearly explained in KP 105; also (sarvadiksamudra)-prasārānujavaneṇa Gv 242.19.

an-ujjuka, adj. (= Pali id.; cf. ujju, ujjuka), crooked, perverted: read anujjuko in Mv ii.481.1 (mss. antarjuko) = iii.16.9 (mss. anujjako, anurjjako); proved by Pali form of the same vs. Jāt. v.293.22, which reads anujjubhūtena (comm. anujjukena cittena).

-anujñā, in lokānujñā Mv i.78.17, one of the 8 sanudācāra (q.v., 1) of Bodhisattvas in the 1st bhūmi. Senart p. xxvii l'adieu au monde. But if I am right in relating this list to the 10 bhūmipariśodhakā dharmāḥ of Dbh p. 19 (sec. UU), see esp. lines 20-23, it must correspond to lokajñatā, see Dbh 19.12-15; knowledge of (the varying traits of) people. The Mv may even contain a corruption of lokajñatā; equally bad corruptions occur often in its mss. anujñātavin (§ 22.51), having understood: durvijñeyadharmānujñātāvinah SP 29.6.

anutaṭa (in Skt. °ṭam, adv., and °ṭa- in comp., along the bank), pl., parts along the slope (of a mountain): girivarasya (himavataḥ) anutaṭehi gatā Mv ii.107.9 (Senart's reading; conjunctural but fairly plausible).

anutapyana, nt. (= Pali anutappana), or °nā, f., regretting, repenting, in Bhvr. cpd. an-anutapyanākāram Śikṣ 191.2.

anutapyaniya, adj. or nt. subst., (a matter that is) to be regretted or lamented, (a) lamentable (thing); could be considered gdve. of anutapyate; cf. also anutapyana: tato °yaṃ bhavet Mv iii.74.4. anutarṣa (Skt. Lex.), desire, longing: pradānānutarṣa-anutāpya, gdve., to be repented: an-anutāpya-dāyī Bbh 274.20, giving (things) which he is not going to repent.

an-utkarṣaṇa-tā, see utkarṣaṇa.

anuttara, adj. (= Pali id.; cf. sottara; Skt. in this sense only Lex., replaced by anuttama, which has had its ending assimilated to superlatives owing to the mg. of the word), having no superior, highest, supreme: AsP 266.13, of cittāni; Gv 244.7 °rām tathāgatavarnaṇāvisud-dhīm; LV 24.13 °ra-parivāram (kulam); 85.2 anuttaro bhaviṣyāmi sarvasattvānām; Divy 144.5 anuttare-manuṣ-yadharme (see s.v. uttari-, end); esp. epithet of samyak-sambodhi, SP 100.3; AsP 293.10; Vaj 24.2; LV 183.17; Lañk 148.3 etc., etc., extremely common (see under abhisambudhyate); m. as epithet of a Buddha, Mvy 9; as n. of a samādhi, Kv 52.3; f. with ellipsis of samyak-sambodhi (see above), SP 216.8 (prose) °rām samyak-sambuddhaḥ samāno, being enlightened unto supreme (enlightenment); normally the noun samyak-sambodhiṃ follows anuttarām in this common phrase; has it dropped out by haplography? (WT same text).

Anuttararāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.7.

Anuttarasrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8.

[anuttarāyo, LV 219.22 (vs), both edd. without v.l., but can only be corruption for anantarāyo, without obstacle; so Foucaux, with Tib. (bar chad with negative).]

an-uttarika, opposite of uttarika, q.v.

anuttarya, nt. (= Pali °riya; also ān°; CPD regards an° as w.r. for ān°), excellence, supremacy; they number six, Mvy 1573-79: darśana, śravaṇa, lābha, śikṣā, paricarya, anusmr̥ti (each cpd. with anut°). A corresponding list in Pali, see PTSD s.v. anuttariya. A different one is nivāsānuttarya, Mv iii.320.5, see s.v. nivāsa; here ānut° may have been intended.

an-u(t)traṣṭa, neg. ppp. (= Skt. °sta), not frightened: °ṣṭāḥ LV 12.16 (both edd., no v.l.; § 2.61).

an-utrāsa, adj. (= Pali anutrāsa; see utrāsa), without fear, not frightened: Śikṣ 176.5.

an-utrāsita, neg. ppp., not frightened: °sitāsamtrastā Mv i.177.4.

anupattika-dharma-kṣānti, intellectual receptivity (see kṣānti) to the truth that states of existence have no origination (utpatti); also anupāda-kṣānti, q.v.: SP 136.10 (read with v.l. °ttika- for °ttikiṃ dh° of both edd.); 266.1; 327.4; 419.6; 437.1; LV 35.21; 440.21; Dbh 47.21; 64.5; Śikṣ 212.13-14; Bbh 348.18; Sukh 55.13; Lañk 12.9; anupattika-kṣānti, omitting dharma, Gv 525.25; the cpd. is analyzed as anupattikeṣu dharmeṣu kṣānti-(pratīlam-bho 'bhūt) LV 36.9, °tikeṣu dharmeṣu kṣāntir AsP 408.8. The expression was misunderstood by older interpreters, e.g. Burnouf and Kern on SP 136.10.

anupāda (m., Skt., and Pali anuppāda), non-origination: anupāde kṣāntiḥ Lañk 203.11, and cpd. anupāda-kṣānti- LV 33.10, = prec., q.v.; anupāda-jñāna, knowledge of the non-origination (of the states of being), the 10th of the ten jñāna: Mvy. 1243; Dharmas 93.

anutsada, adj., substantially = anutsanna (neg. of Skt. utsanna, lofty; Pali anussada not defined in this sense), not excessive, not over-full: Mv iii.343.4, of Buddha's voice (immediately follows anutsanna); Bbh 252.16-17 niṣkaṣāyānutsadakaṣāya-kāla-tām state of limes that are free from impurities, or have moderate (not excessive) impurities.

anutsanna, neg. ppp. (= Pali anussanna; cf. prec., utsadana 2, and Skt. utsanna, stronger als normal, pw s.v. ud-sad), not excessive (in extent, number, or the like; cf. anutsada): Mv iii.343.4 °naś ca, of the Buddha's voice, not excessive(ly loud), not too full; Mv ii.43.12, read anutsanna-gātrā (mss. quoted anusanta; Senart em. an-usandhi), limbs not excessive (too many), one (29th in my list) of the anuvyañjana, q.v.; corresponding to Pali anussannāsannasabbagattatā (CPD), condition of having all his limbs not too many nor deficient.

anudadhyaṃāna (? v.l. anubadhv°; irregular pres. pple. of pass. of *anu-dadhati = anudadhāti, not recorded in this mg.), being presented (Tib. dus kyis bstabs pa [see Das], which seems to mean given in timely manner): Bbh 163.2. Very doubtful; § 37.37.

anudarśa (? v.l. °śi, i. e., n. sg. of °śin), viewing, consideration, in kāyānu°-smṛtyupasthāna (see this), and vedānānu°, cittānu°, dharmānu°; Dharmas 44 (replacing the usual anupaśyana, or °paśyī to °paśyin).

anudeśana (nt., = Skt. anudeśa, rare), instruction: Mmk 133.2 (vs) dattadharmānudeśanam.

an-uddhata (= Pali id.; not violent or rough, or not agitated, or, as in Skt., not haughty), calm, gentle, particularly of speech, as also in Pali: Mv i.166.3 anuddhatām . . . girā (acc.; Senart em. girām); Mv iii.280.17 acapalā anuddhatā ca, of speech (read so in same line Mv ii.356.11; Pali also associates acapala with this word); Bbh 239.1 anuddhatācapala-kāya-vāñ-manah-karmānta-pracārah. See anuddhṛta.

an-uddhṛta (= prec., q.v., for which this appears to be a hyper-Sktism), (1) adj. calm, gentle, or not proud, not haughty: Gv 484.26 (vs) bodhimārga (acc.) . . . tvam anuddhṛto mārgase dṛḍhamate atandriṭaḥ; (2) nt., n. of a buddhakṣetra: Mv i.124.9 (vs; mss. unmetr. anuddhṛtam).

anudrakṣi, 3 sg. aor., looked at: Mv ii.54.3. See Chap. 43, s.v. dṛś (3).

anudruta(-lipi), v.l. anupadruta-, read perhaps anuddruta-, or adruta-, not hurried (?), a kind of writing: LV 126.6. Tib. riñs med, not hurried, not speedy.

anudhanvana (nt., n. act. in -ana from anu-dhanvati, recorded only RV 2.5.3), pursuit, running after: Śikṣ 33.4 -anudhanvana-tayā.

anudharma (= Pali anudhamma). Acc. to PTSD, Pali dhammānudhamma is used as a distributive or intensive cpd., see under 1 anu, the Law in all its parts; while Childers understands anudh° as lesser or inferior dhamma (against which see Lévi on Sūtrāl. xiii.1 comm.). Acc. to CPD anudhamma means (right) method and is a 'hypostasis of anu-dhammam' (adv., in accordance with dhamma). In BHS (as also in Pali, e.g. Dh. 20) there is some evidence suggesting that dharmānudharma is equivalent to dharmasya anu°, perhaps the true method of the law or the like: Bbh 284.1 na pratipadyante dharmasyānudharmam, they do not attain (? practise) the anudh° of the dh°; 197.16 dharmasyānudharmam pratipadyamānasya (sc. Bodhisattvasya; not agreeing with dharmasya, which depends on anudh°); Gv 383.5 dharmasya cānudharmam pratipadye, and I attain (? practise) the anudh° of the dh°. Without dharma in the context, we find anudharma-cārin Divy 617.16 (°riṇī, f.), anudharma-praticārin Mvy 1123 (°ri). So we should probably interpret all cpds. of dharmānudharma-, which usually parallel the like cpds. in Pali: dharmānudharma-cārin Dbh 32.21; °rma-pratipatti, attainment (? practice) of the anudh° of the dh° Mvy 1801 (mss. erroneously omit dharma after anu; em. Kyoto ed.); Dbh 33.29; Bbh 204.7; KP 9.2; LV 32.16; °rma-pratipanna Bbh 84.4; LV 179.12; 377.14; Mvy 1124. In Mvy 9321 are mentioned ṣaḍ anudharmāḥ, after 9320 ṣaḍ dharmāḥ; so also Bhīk 16b.4 ṣaṭsu dharmeṣu ṣaṭsv anudharmeṣu śikṣā; in neither place do I find any clue to what the six anudharma (or dharmā) are. I have not noted any adv. anudharmam (parallel to Pali anudhammam). Anudharmamati, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8. °anudharmya, adj. (cf. Pkt. anudhammiya; not in Pali), conformable to religion: Bbh 61.23, v.l. anudharmyayā (for text ānudharmyā, see ānudhārma) kathyā, instr. -anudhāra, adj., f. -ī, bearing, holding (in attendance?) anu: Divy 513.25 -vilepanānudhārī (f.).

anudhārayati (cf. Pali °dhāreti), upholds, maintains: Gv 484.11 buddhavaṃsam anudhārayiṣyasi.

-anudhārin, adj., keeping, holding fast to: Gv 222.22 sarvabuddhakathānūdhāriṇām (gen. pl.).

anudhyāpita, ppp. of caus. of Skt. anu-dhyā, lit. caused to think on or long for = made interested in, concerned with, with loc.: Mv iii.119.(18-)19 (na cīvare śayane bhojane vā) anudhyāpitā bhonti jīnā.

anudhvamsana, nt. (= Pali anuddham°), false charge or accusation (see next two): Mvy 9404 = Tib. (b)skur, abuse.

anudhvamsayati, °seti (= Pali anuddhamseti; see prec. and next), falsely accuses (with, on the ground of, instr.): abhūtenābrahmacariyaṃvādena (mss.) with a false charge of unchastity Mv i.36.13 °seti; 37.7 °sito, ppp.; pārājikena dharmeṇa °sayet Prāt 481.7; (amūlakena . . . dharmeṇa) °sayet 519.8. anudhvamsayati (cf. prec. two), (false) accuser: Prāt 481.9 °tā, n. sg.

anunaya, m. (= Pali id.; also Skt. in mg. propitiation, das Geneigtmachen; friendliness, affection, in favorable or at least neutral sense), love, attachment; ingratiating, in BHS almost invariably in a bad sense (a rare exception is Divy 510.4, of innocent attachment, affection). Very often contrasted with pratigha, q.v.; the pair may replace rāga and dveṣa, as feelings to be avoided; so in dvandva cpd. anunaya-pratigha- (Pali also anunaya-paṭigha), LV 10.1; 33.7; 275.6-7; 374.3, (read) ihānunaya-pratighānām kalvahaivādaprahānaparyantaḥ prāpto mayā, here I have got to the end—which consists of abandonment of quarrels and disputes—of attachment and repugnance; 442.5; Divy 240.24; KP 101.1; Mmk 13.22; Dbh 29.6; also, less commonly, pratighānunaya (Pali also paṭi°) Sādh 115.15; Gv 245.24; without pratigha, anunaya (undesirable) attachment or lust is contrasted with maitrī, (desirable) affection, (pure) love in Gv 472.3-4 ye te maitrīvihāriṇāś ca na kvacid anunayavihāriṇaḥ; in Gv 351.24 perhaps contrasted with pratighāta, q.v. (viṣayaraty-anunayo vā pratighātacittatā vā; Divy 257.20 anunaya-vacanair, with words of (impure sexual) love (spoken by a mother to her son with whom she had incestuous relations); LV 319.21 (yadi tāvac chakretyāyam anunayenothāpayitum, (Māra speaks:) whether he can be moved by lust (for women; M. is sending his daughters to tempt the Bodhisattva); anunayāsaṃdhuḥkaṇatā (Mvy °saṃdhuḥk°, v.l. and Mironov °saṃprkṣ°), state of not being inflamed with (sexual) lust Mvy 2594; LV 32.7; anunaya-nimittam SP 277.1 a cause (or motive) for ingratiating oneself (with women; should be avoided by a Bodhisattva); Mvy 2131 = Tib. rjes su chags pa, affection towards; visabhāgasattvānunayāt Śiḥṣ 193.17, see visa-bhāga.

anunāthanā (to anunāthayati, see BR 5.1541; the verb also occurs in Sādh 199.12; 231.3; 493.5), entreaty: Sādh 446.7.

anunāma (m. ?; n. act. from *anu-nāmayati), (lit. bending, bringing under control), training: AsP 54.11 paridamanāya . . . anunāmāya bodhisattvānām.

anunīscara, adj. (to *anu-nīś-carati), coming forth successively: LV 13.4 (vs) saṃgiti-ravānūnīscarā gāthā (so more likely than °ravānu = °ravānām, gen. pl., which would give a forced construction).

anunīya-tā, state of needing to be conciliated (based on gdve. of anu-nī; cf. Whitney 963b.2); SP 128.9 (vs) °tā mahya na kācid asti, and there is no need of conciliating me.

anunīyate, follows upon: . . . vijñānam nānuṣete tan (acc.) nānūiyate Samy. Āg. 1.3.1 (and ff.).

anuparivṛta, ppp. (cf. °vārayati, and Skt. parivṛta beside °vārita, both in same mg.), surrounded, attended: Divy 361.20 (prose). In LV 278.16 (prose) for Lefm. anuparivṛtair read °vṛttair (see anuparivartati).

anupariśoṣita, ppp., continually or gradually dried up: Śikṣ 212.3 vātānu°.

anuparītaka, m., for °parītaka = °parīta, q.v., with specifying -ka (§ 22.39), one that has been handed over: Divy 332.16 (prose); parallel anupradattaka, q.v. for citation). Cf. parīta = °tta, BR s.v. i with pari, 3, end; twice in Mbh. In one of these, i.8437 Calc., Sukthankar i.224.9 reads parītās ca, tho no ms. reads so; N mss. all parītās ca; but S mss. (with a further change) paridattās ca, supporting the em. The other passage has not yet been edited.

anuparīta, ppp. (cf. Skt. parīta, prec., and next two), handed over, delivered: Mv ii.77.16 (so ... tasya) brāhmaṇasya anuparīto, vedān adhyāpēhīti (last word an em., but plausible).

anuparindanā = anuparin°, given in KN (with the colophon of a single ms.; and kept without note in WT) as title of SP chap. 27; but in the text only (anu-)parind°, with short i, occurs.

anuparindāmi (= anuparin°, parin°, parin°), I give over, present: AsP 460.14; 461.12.

anuparyavanaddha (= pariyava°), covered over: kudṛṣṭi-ṣiṣama-jālānu° Dbh 28.15.

anupalabdhi, f. or adj. (Bhvr.), = an-upalambha, q.v.: (the being) not to be grasped or conceived (mentally): °dhi-hetuḥ Mvy 4461 (as term in logic); atyantānupalabdhi-cakram (sc. dharmac°) LV 423.4, completely ungraspable; gambhīram ... dharmacakram ḡrahānupalabdhi-tvāt LV 422.11 profound ... because it cannot be grasped by (mental) grasping; °dhi-tvāt (also) KP 148.3; Laṅk 162.13.

anupalabdhika, adj. (Bhvr.) = °bdhi: yāvad anupalabdhikaṃ kuryāt Sādh 258.16, until he makes it beyond the power of thought to grasp.

anupalambha, m.c. also anopa°, m., or adj. (Bhvr.), inconceivability; inconceivable (see s.v. upalambha); often substantially non-reality or without reality: °bha-dharma-kṣānti RP 12.2; opposed to the heresy (dṛṣṭi) of upalambha; anupalambha dharmā śrutva kāṅkṣa nāśya vidyate, niḥsattva eti sattvadharmā nātra ātma vidyate RP 12.10; °bha-śūnyatā Mvy 948, emptiness that consists in inconceivability (unreality, of everything); śūnyatānupalambheṣu dharmeṣu KP 97.3, in regard to states of being which because of voidness (so Tib., stoṅ pa ṅid kyis) are inconceivable (unreal); śūnyatānupalambhā(m)s (here noun, Tatpur.) ca dharmeṣu śrutvā KP 123.6; of dharmā as the 'law' preached by the Buddha, śūnyatānupalambhas, inconceivable because of voidness LV 395.22 and (Lefm.) 392.16 (here most mss. °tānupachedaḥ, also interpretable); anupalambha-vihāra-vihāriṅḡam Gv 471.8 (parallel: niḥpra-pañca-vih°); anupalambha-yogena bhāvayati Mvy 971 (opp. of upalambha-yogena, s.v. upalambha); anopalambhāṃ āryāna gotram KP 137.11 (vs).

an-upalīpta, (1) adj. (= Pali °līta; also an-ūpa°, an-opa°; Skt. has upalīpta), undefiled: Mv i.134.6; LV 3.2; etc. (common); (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 687; (3) n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.11.

Anupavadya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.14 (mss. anopravadya; cf. upavadyati, and Pali anupavajja).

Anupaśānta, n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 312.16.

anupaśyanā (= Pali °passanā), viewing, considera- tion: Śikṣ 232.7; 236.13; KP 95.2 ff.; Bbh 259.21 ff.; in all these in statements of the smṛtyupasthāna, q.v.

anupaśyin, adj. (= Pali °passin), regarding, looking upon, considering: °paśyī, n. sg., KP 95.2 ff.; cittānupaśyī Lañk 360.15; duḥkhānupaśyīnā . . . anityānupaśyīnā, instr. sg., Mv iii.266.1; in KP in a statement of the smṛtyupasthāna, q.v.; prob. so meant in Lañk and Mv also.

an-upasampanna, adj. (= Pali id.; neg. of upa°, q.v.), unordained: Mvy 8478; yaḥ punar bhikṣur anupa-sampanna pudgalena sārddham padaśo dharmam vācayet pātayantikā Prāt 503.9.

Anupahatamati, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 720.

anupāta (m. ?; cf. next; no cpd. of anu-paṭis recorded), presumably rending or the like, one of the torments of hell, in comp. with utpāta: Divy 301.26.

anupātana (nt.?) = prec., in the same cpd.: Divy 299.2, 20; 303.19.

anupāta, m., perh. trimming around the edge (of the border of a monk's robe): MSV ii.51.2, 3 (Tib. mthaḥ skor, circumference).

anupādā (= Pali id., 'mostly used before nouns . . . while anupādāya . . . is preferred before finite verb forms', CPD), abbreviated form of ger. anupādāya, q.v., not clinging (to existence): Mv ii.293.13 anupādāśravabhyaś cittāni vimuktāni (same phrase with anupādāya, q.v.); in Mv i.69.15 read anupāda (m.c. for °dā; mss. °dāya, unmetr.; Senart em. °dī, wrongly) vimukti, cf. Pali anupādā vimutto (CPD s.v.).

anupādāya, indecl. (ger.; = Pali id.; also °dā, q.v.; formally neg. to upādāya, which however seems not recorded in Pali or BHS in mg. corresponding to this; but cf. upādiyati), not clinging (to existence): anupādāyaśravabhyaś (or °āśrav°) cittāni vimuktāni, not clinging, their thoughts were freed from the depravities, SP 179.17; Mv i.329.19; iii.67.1; 337.4 (cittam vimuktam); 338.20; RP 59.19; KP 138.2; 145.2; (cf. Pali yāva me anupādāya āsavehi cittam vimuccati, Dhṛ. comm. i.86.7.) anupādāya parinirvṛto Mv i.302.12; 357.16 (°vṛtā); cf. Pali °dāya nibbuto, e. g. Dhṛ. 414.

anupāna-pañṭaka, nt. (v.l. anupāra°, so Mironov; v.l. in both edd. antupāra°), °kam Mvy 9030, acc.-to Chin. a dish, bowl or saucer, that has a standard; Tib. phul baḥi btuñ phor (or gtañ phor); this cpd., reading btuñ phor, seems to mean drinking-cup for presentation; it is recorded in Das, s.v. phul ba, transl. by the BHS word here treated and by Eng. a drinking plate.

anupārśva (as adj. in MW without reference; not in BR, pw, or Schmidt, nor in Pali or Pkt.), °śvena, adv., along the sides, with gen.: tasyā anu° Divy 240.5.

anupālānā (= Pali id.; Skt. only °na, nt.), the keeping, maintaining, with loc.: śikṣāpadeṣv anu° Bbh 81.20.

-anupīḍana, f. °ī, as final in cpd. adj. (Bhvr.? cf. next; cf. Pali anupīḍita; no cpd. of anu-pīḍ- in Skt.), oppressing: Mmk 114.15 (vs) parasattvānupīḍanim (sc. pūjām). A possible, but less likely, analysis would be parasattvānu (gen. pl., m.c., = °nām) pi°.

-anupīḍin, adj. (see prec.), oppressing: Mmk 151.1 (vs) parasattvānupīḍinaḥ, with mantrā(h); for a less likely analysis cf. prec.

anupūrva, adj. (cf. Pali anupubba; Skt. anupūrva hardly in the following senses), (1) tapering, Tib. (Mvy 273 etc.) byin gyis phra ba, becoming (gradually) smaller (Jäschke s.v. byin po, by degrees, more and more fine); so in Pali Jāt. v.155.22, of thighs (ūru), tapering (not regularly formed with CPD, PTSḌ): SP 338.8 yāvad brahmalokam uccaistvena, anupūrvapariṇāhena, reaching to Brahmaloḥka in height, tapering in circumference (i. e. each smaller than the next lower); anupūrvāṅguli with tapering (so Burnouf correctly, effilés) fingers, Pali anupubbaṅguli, one of the anuvyañjana, Mvy 273; Dharmas 84; (anupūrvacitrāṅguli) LV 106.12; Mv ii.43.9; anupūrvapāñilekha, with tapering lines of the hand, another anuvyañjana, LV 106.15; Mv ii.43.14 (other versions read āyata long instead of anupūrva); anupūrvadamṣṭra, with tapering (so Tib.) teeth, another anuvyañjana LV 107.6; Mvy 325; Dharmas 84 (not in Pali); anupūrvasujāta-skandho Mv ii.71.16, of a lion, with tapering, well-formed shoulders; anupūrvapraṇāma anupūrvapṛāgbhāram Divy 113.5, of a mountain, with tapering slopes and sides (getting smaller as they rise); in 113.15 same, preceded by anupūrvanimmam; anupūrvonnatāni (padmapuṣpāni) Mmk 62.5 taperingly lofty, i. e. placed one above another, each smaller than the one below; °va-grivā LV 27.6 with tapering neck; here Tib. mgul rim bzhin du ḥḍug pa, neck made in regular stages or the like (not the usual expression); anupūrvasamudgate, of the shanks (jaṅghe) of the mahāpuruṣa, Gv 400.6, in explaining the epithet aiṇeya-jaṅgha; (2) made according to regular order or arrangement, Tib. on Mvy 288 rim par ḥtsham pa, according to regular order: °va-gātra, one of the anuvyañjana, whose limbs are all as they should be in arrangement, LV 106.21; Mv ii.44.3; Mvy 288; Dharmas 84 (Pali anupubba-gatta, and anupubba-rucira-gatta); anupūrvā (so with v.l.) -surucirāṅgo (cf. the Pali just cited) Mv iii.85.9, said of the horse Valāha; (3) noun, m. (cf. Pali anupubba, nt., Skt. ānupūrva, nt., and ānupurvī, f.), regular order; serial process: Śikṣ 108.3 anupūrvā eṣo iha śāsanasya, naikena jaṇmena labheta bodhim, this serial (successive) process applies to the teaching in this world; one cannot get enlightenment in a single birth. See the following entries.

anupūrvam, adv. (= Pali anupubbam; app. not in this sense in Skt.), in the course of time: anupūrvā, m.c. for °vam, SP 203.11; 384.7 (in the last ed. prints as if cpd. with puṇyena, which is less likely than taking it as separate adv.).

anupūrvaka, f. °ikā (= Pali anupubbaka, ānupubbika; also ānupubbī-kathā), graduated, arranged step by step: °vikām kathām kṛtvā Divy 355.17.

anupūrvā-vihāra-samāpatti, f. (= Pali anupubba°; also anupūrvā-(samādhi-)samāpatti, q.v.), the attainments of (nine) successive stages: navānu° (see samāpatti) Mvy 1498; ŚsP 58.8. They consist of the four dhāna, the four ārūpya stages, and (samjñā-vedayita-)nirodhasamā°. So also in Pali, e. g. AN iv.410.1 ff. (list of the nine anupubbavihāra) and 23 ff., list and detailed description of the nine samāpatti; both consist of four jhāna, four formless states, āruppa, and saññāvedayitānirodha (or their 'attainments').

anupūrvāśas, adv. (= Pali °pubbaso), in due course: SP 112.7; Mv ii.240.2 (°saḥ).

anupūrvā-samāpatti (= Pali anupubba°), = anupūrvā-vihāra-samāpatti: Divy 95.21–22 navānu°; also anupūrvā-samādhi-samāpatti, Dharmas 82.

Anupūrvasamudgata-parivarta, m., n. of a (? part of a) work: Śikṣ 313.1. anupūrvī (= Pali °pubbī, beside ānupubbi; Skt. only ānu°), succession, regular series: °vi-bandham Lañk 255.1, cited Śikṣ 135.5 (wrongly em. in ed.).

mentary prajñāpti, Mvy 9214; follows prajñāpti 9213, q.v. Lack of clear context leaves precise mg. uncertain.

anuprañidhi (not in Pali), = prañidhi, vow (to persist towards enlightenment); commoner than the verb anuprañidheti and often object of prañidheti, e. g. Mv i.112.15; 113.7; 114.3; 115.5; 116.12; 117.8; 118.13; used after anuprañidheti Mv i.119.15 (mss., Senart wrongly prañidhi for anu°, presumably m.c., but meter is defensible with anu); °dhih, without either verb, Mv i.336.14.

anu-praṇidheti (not in Pali), = praṇidheti, makes a vow (to persist towards enlightenment); °dheti Mv i.119.15; °dhemi (mss. anuparidēhi) 323.1; °dhesi, aor., 335.11; °hitam, ppp., i.63.3. See anuprañidhi, which is commoner than the verb. If there is any difference between this and praṇi° without anu, it does not appear clearly; anu does not necessarily imply after (a gift or meritorious act), tho this often precedes; in Mv i.323.1 however none is mentioned.

anu-pratipanna (ppp. of anu-prati-padyati*, Aśokan anupaṭipa(j)jati, and in the Pali adj. anu-ṭaṭipajjanaka; cf. next), following after: tathatvānupratipannaḥ Dbh 42.11.

anuvīdiś, f. (blend of Skt. vidīś and Pali anudīśā), supplementary direction, semi-cardinal point, = vidīś, in Bct 328.11 (= Śikṣ 245.18, where text na tu vidīśam); in Śikṣ 252.15 text correctly nānuvidīśam (acc. sg.); in these adhaḥ and ūrdhvaḥ are separately mentioned, as in AsP 481.18–19 mordhvaṃ mādhō mā cānuvidīśam avalokayan gāḥ; but for this fact, Sukh 36.11 could easily be taken to prove that anu° means specifically the nadir and zenith, since, after the 4 cardinal points (°paścimottarāsu dikṣu), it follows with adha ūrdhvaṃ anuvīdiḥsu. But the above passages show that adha ūrdhvaṃ in Sukh must not be taken with anu°, which must apparently mean instead the semicardinal points (not otherwise mentioned here).

Lists are given LV 106.11 ff.; Mv ii.43.8 ff.; Mvy 268 ff.; Dharmas 84; a Pali list cited by Burnouf, Lotus App. VIII, 2, from the Dharmapradīpikā; this I have been able to use only at second-hand, from Burnouf. (In Bbh 376.11 ff. a wholly discordant list which consists simply of 80 parts of the body.) From the five lists above mentioned I have tried to reconstruct, as well as possible, what may have been the original list; some items are conjectural. In order, the Pali list is quite close to Mvy and Dharmas; Mv is not too remote from it; LV is radically shifted in order. In my list I cite adjectival forms (applied to the Buddha), as in Mvy; some texts add -tā, making abstract nouns: 1. anūnaka, adj. (= Pali and Skt. lex. id., Skt. anūna; only noted in vss, may be m.c.), not deficient, not less: SP 44.8 pañc' anūnakāḥ; 83.3 pañcāna anūnakānām; 111.4 pañcāśad anūnakāni; Mv ii.369.11 pañca anūnakā. anūpabṛṃhayati, steadily increases (with object acc.): Bbh 153.16 °hayatā (cittaprasādam), instr. sg. pres. pple.

anūpalīpta (= Pali °litta) m.c. for anupa°, see also anopa°, unstained: SP 313.3 (vs).

anṛtamvada, speaking falsehood: Ud xi.13.

anṛtaka, adj. or subst. m. (= anṛta; in vs, perhaps m.c.), lying or a liar: Ud xx.19 satyenānrtakam jāyet, one should conquer a liar (not le mensonge with Chakravartī; Pālī alikavādinam; all the parallel words in the vs should also be taken as personal) by truth.

aneñja, or ān°, = aniñjya, q.v.; adj.: MadhK 334.8 karmāṇi kuśālakuśalāneñjāni.

aneñjya = aniñjya, q.v.; adj.: Mmk 476.14 virajasko [a]neñjyaś ca (meter requires the a- which is elided in writing); a- or ā- (uncertain because of samdhi) Dbh 48.7 puṇyāpuṇyāneñjyān abhisamskāraṇ; and mss. at MadhK 543.1 kuśālakuśalāneñjyādi-.

aneḍa, anela, nela, adj. (= Pālī aneja, °la, nela, see CPD s.v. anela-gala, of speech or voice; presumed to represent Skt. an-enas; cf. aneḍaka, anel°), pure, perhaps perfect; acc. to Tib. on Mvy 454 mi tsugs pa, not injurious; recorded only in application to sounds, and chiefly to the Buddha's voice: LV 286.9-10, read: aneḍā kalaikavarna-sukhā (i.e. kalā eka°), cf. CPD s.v. anela-gala, and Lévi Sūtrāl. Transl. page 143 n. 2, anelā kalā; of Buddha's voice; the em. is further confirmed by Mvy 454 anelā, of Buddha's voice, foll. in 455 by kalā; also in Mv iii.322.2 prob. read anela-kalāye (for mss. °katāye; Senart em. anelakāye), of Buddha's speech; anelā, of human speech, Mmk 244.20; 330.16; °laḥ, of a sound (nirghoṣa), Sukh 38.5; nelā (vāk) Dbh 24.13 (follows hitakaraṇi); nelavarṇā (buddhasya girā) Mv i.314.14; nelayā pūrṇayā vācā (of Buddha) MSV i.273.7 (vs).

aneḍaka, anelaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= Pālī anelaka, °laka, of honey; cf. aneḍa, °la), pure; (a) of Buddha's voice, like aneḍa etc., Mv i.255.21 (vs) anelikāṃ (with girāṃ, in prec. line; misunderstood by Senart); on Mv iii.322.2, Senart anelakāye (of Buddha's speech), see s.v. aneḍa (read prob. anela-kalāye); (b) of honey: aneḍakam (madhu, or a synonym) Mvy 5729; Mv i.339.8; 340.13 (°ko); Av i.187.7; 243.1; Bbh 75.11; Karmav 45.14; anelakam Dbh 6.8; in Mv i.341.7 Senart anelakam, but mss. °ḍakam or °lakam (of honey); see also niḍaka.

aneyā, adj., hyper-Skt. (or Pkt. dial., Pischel 236) for MIndic (Pālī) aneja (Pkt. aneja), immovable, or free from desire; ep. of Buddha, Mv ii.35.6; iii.93.7; 121.5; (not of Buddha; text fragmentary; app. firm, hard to move) Mahāsamājasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4 p. 159, last line. Interpretation correct in Waldschmidt; Senart thinks = ananyaneyā, q.v., but there is no support for this in Pālī or elsewhere. The Pālī parallel to the Mahāsamāj. verse, DN ii.254.18, actually reads anejā, proving our interpretation.

Aneṣa, m., n. of a samādhi, not seeking: ŚsP 1417.14 f. (defined: yatra samādhau sthitvā na kamcid dharmam eṣate). The Mvy has erroneously Animiṣa, q.v., in place of this.

anairyānika, adj. (cf. Pālī aniyānika; opp. of nairy°) not conducive to deliverance: Bbh 13.14 and Dbh 69.32, see nairy° for both.

anokāśa, adj. Bhvr. (= Pālī anokāśa; for an-ava-kāśa), having no sufficient space, crowded: Mv i.175.12 °śā kṛtā svargā, the heavenly worlds are made crowded (by Buddha's appearance, which leads many to heaven). Most mss. read anākāśā, but there can be little doubt that Senart's text is correct.

Anotaptagātra, n. of two former Buddhas in the same list: Mv i.141.10, 15. (Cf. Anavatapta.)

anotrapa, adj. (see next), shameless, indecent: Mv iii.11.4 °po. The short penultimate vowel may well be m.c.; see otrapa.

anotrāpin, adj. (= Pālī anottāpin; cf. prec., otrapa, otrapya, avatrāpya), shameless, indecent: Mv i.110.8 (prose) °piṇaś ca; in Ud xx.5 prob. read anotrāpi (or °api?) for what ed. doubtfully records as anotrāpū.

an-odaka (= Pālī id., besides an-ud°, an-ūd°; in Pālī usually adj., but also noun), (waterless;) as subst. a waterless place: Mv ii.263.1 °ke in a waterless place. The passage is prose; o cannot be m.c.

anopa (m.? = Skt. anūpa), marsh: Mv iii.326.21; the mss. are corrupt but Senart's em., paunḍarikam yathā varṇam anope na pralipyate, seems plausible; Pālī has anopā, f. (CPD).

an-opapanna, ppp. (m.c. for an-upa°), not born: Gv 334.3.

an-opama, f. °mī, adj. (= Pālī id.; for Skt. an-upama; in BHS prob. only m.c.), matchless: Mv i.166.12 (°mī); 207.18 = ii.12.8; ii.379.19; iii.110.14. All vss; so far as meter and text-readings are clear, m.c.

anopalambha, m.c. for anupa°, q.v.: RP 12.10; KP 137.11.

an-opalīpta, neg. ppp. (= an-upa°; Pālī has an-ūpa° in vss, and so also BHS; in BHS not exclusively m.c., see § 3.71), not defiled: Mv ii.419.4 (prose); Śikṣ 46.16 (so mss.; vs but not m.c.); may be m.c. in Mv iii.118.9 = 326.6; SP 14.6 (vs); LV 224.15; Samādh p. 59 l. 9 f.

Anomiya, nt. (cf. Pālī Anomā, n. of a river, see CPD; plays the same rôle in the Buddha's life-history), n. of a place (adhiṣṭhāna) in the Malla country, south of Kapilavastu, to which the Bodhisattva went first after leaving home: it was near the hermitage of the ṛṣi Vasiṣṭha (2), q.v.: °yaṃ Mv ii.164.18; 207.12; iii.189.9; °yāto, abl., Mv ii.166.11; 189.1. (Mss. corrupt in first occurrences.)

an-osāna (for Skt. an-avasāna), without end: anutpannā °nā(h) Mv i.314.17 (vs), of Buddhas.

anapamya (nt.?), a high number: °yasya Gv 105.21. See s.v. poma for correspondents.

an-aupaśamika, adj. (neg. of aupa°, q.v.), not tending to tranquillity: Jm 181.19 °kam (grhāvāsam; mss. grhā°).

anta, m. (= Pālī id., see CPD 3), contrasting principle or opinion: anta-samudhāraḥ MSV i.221.8 (here, discussion as to whether Buddha and his order were greedy or not).

antaḥ-pūti, adj. (= Pālī anto-pūti), rotten inside: Mvy 9138; ed. antarpūty-avasrutah, as cpd., but Mironov anta-pūti (so Kyoto ed. v.l.) and avasrutah as separate words; in MSV i.50.7 (antaḥpūtir), and in Pālī, where the same cliché of which this word forms a part occurs repeatedly (see CPD), this and avassuta (= BHS avasruta) are separate words. Applied to a bad monk; on the orig. literal meaning see avasruta. Also antaḥpūti-bhāva, m., MSV i.49.3, 11; 50.6.

antaka, adj. (or subst.; = Pālī auj. anta [cf. ānta], Skt. antya; a MIndic form; not destructions with Senart), low, vile (person or thing): Mv iii.186.2-3 na ātapo tāpayati, antakā tāpayanti māṃ; antakāś ca . . . te tāpentī na ātapo. Cf. line 4 itvaram khu ayaṃ tāpo; see itvara, which is the clue to the mg. of antaka.

? antakoṣa, nt. (Senart's em.; mss. amba°, ava°, ata°), n. of some product of the carpenter's craft: Mv ii.465.2 °tāni, 13 °tā.

? Antakośa, see Anantakośa.

Anta-giri (= Antarā-giri; neither form in Pālī; perh. cf. Antargiri, n. of a people, Kirfel, Kosm. 74, 77), n. of a mountain near Rājagṛha, seat of yaṣṭivana: °girimim, loc., Mv iii.441.15 (v.l. Antar-g°); 442.3; 443.14.

anta-grāha-dṛṣṭi, f. (Pālī anta(g)gāhaka-ditṭhi), the heresy of holding extreme views (see CPD): Mvy 1956; Dharmas 68; Gv 469.9; in AbhidhK. LaV-P. v. 17 f. paraphrased by dhruvoccheda(d°), belief in permanence or annihilation.

anta-jana, m.c. for antar-jana, q.v.

antatas, adv. (= antaśas, antamaśas, qq.v.), (even) so much as, Ger. sogar; (once) in fact: LV 72.6 (prose; v.l. antaśo); 257.1; Divy 142.11; 191.3; Av ii.130.4; Kv 27.15; Mmk 74.11; Bbh 39.15 antato yāvan nirvānam iti vā, or, in fact, up to nirvāna; 156.19 even so much as; Prt 519.10 et alibi; Bhik 24b.1.

antamaśato (°sato), adv. (blend of antamaśas and antatas, qq.v.), so much as, Ger. sogar: (Mv i.7.10, Senart °masato, but mss. indicate rather antaśas;) Mv i.211.13 = ii.15.12 °masato (vv.ll. °śato, antamato); iii.92.14 °sato; in Mv i.211.5 Senart antamaśato, mss. corruptly anasato; parallel ii.15.5 antaso.

antamaśas, adv. (= Pali antamaso; BHS also antaśas, antatas, antamaśato, °sato), (even) so much as, Ger. sogar: KP 4.4 (prose; cited Śiks 52.18 as antaśas); 21.3 (prose); Liiders ap. Hoernle MR 146 antamaśas for SP 263.11 antaśas, both edd.

anta-yugika, adj., of the last age: Bbh 14.23.

antara (1) nt. (= Pali id., defined by kāraṇa; see CPD s.v. °antara, A, 3, kim antaram = kim kāraṇam, what's the matter?, not well defined in Diect.), state of the case, circumstance, matter, reason: Mv i.360.11 ko jānāti kim atra antaram, who knows what is the matter (reason, circumstance) in this?; ii.66.15 na paribudhyāmi kim atra antaram, I do not understand what is the matter here; (2) nt. and m. (essentially = Skt. id., nt., noted here as somewhat peculiar idiom), interval, space between: Mv ii.101.13 (janapadasya) antaram nāsti, there was no interval of (space between) people, i. e., they were closely crowded together; Mv ii.113.9 antaro janasya nāsti; (3) see triy-antara.

antara-kalpa, m. (= Pali °kappa), internal (sub-division of a kalpa or aeon, or intermediate kalpa (period between major kalpas). In AbhidhK. iii.181 the var. antaḥkalpa is recorded, along with this; it seems to point to the first definition above, and La Vallée Poussin, ad loc., considers this the only correct definition; there are 80 in a mahākalpa, op. cit. 187 (in Pali 64, CPD). On the other hand Mvy 8281 renders antara-(kalpa) by Tib. bar gyi, intermediate, and similarly śastrāntara-, rogāntara-, durbhikṣāntara-k° 8282-4; these suggest that antara-kalpas are periods of destruction or disaster for people, cf. CPD s.v. °kappa, a (short) intermediate period (of destruction of mankind). CPD recognizes both the above meanings, and this seems provisionally probable. It is often not clear which appears in specific cases; in Gv 325.15 perhaps the second: dvādaśānām antarakalpānām atyayena SP 67.1; prabhāṣate taj jina agradharmān... antarakalpaṣāṣṭim SP 25.8; cf. Dharmas 87 (see s.v. kalpa 4); SP 159.3 ff.; Mmk 295.9 (°paṃ jīvati). In SP 68.10 text manuḥjanam abhyantara-kalpa (= antara°), but prob. read °jān' apī antara° (see WT).

antara-dvīpa (m.; = Pali °dīpa; Skt. *antar-dvīpa). island in the midst (of a body of water): Mv i.221.6 = ii.23.11 (prose).

antara-dhāyati (= Pali id., to Skt. antar-dhatte, -dhīyate; see Chap. 43, s.v. dhā (8); also antara-hāyate and ff.), disappears: °dhāyīṣuḥ (v.l. °su), aor., LV 397.21; ppp. antara-hīta Mv i.50.14 (cf. antarhita in similar phrase 51.10); i.206.6 = ii.9.22; i.340.14; ii.101.8; 179.8; iii.116.2 ff.; Gv 325.16 (prose!) °hiteṣu. Cf. also antardhīta.

antara-hāpayati (sometimes antar-h°; cf. Pali antara-dhāpeti; caus. to °hāyate, °ti, q.v.), causes to disappear: impv. °hāpaya Mv i.75.14, so Senart, app. with 1 inferior ms.; most mss. °hāyanā or °nā; fut. °hāpayīyanti RP 17.15; ger. °hāpayitvā Mv ii.431.1 (and see Mv iii.6.9, under °hāyate); antarhāpayitvā (semi-Skt.) Divy 329.12; ppp., read °hāpitam for antara-hāyitam (v.l. antarhāy°) caused to disappear Mv iii.424.16.

antara-hāyate, °ti, antar-hā° (= antara-dhāyati, q.v.; except the ppp. °hita, for which see antara-dhāyati, no form of this verb with h for dh seems to be recorded outside of BHS), disappears: Mv i.175.9 °hāyate or (un-metr.) °ante (mss., Senart em. °yatu); °hāyati Mv iii.410.12 (prose); impv. °hāyatu Mv iii.346.21; aor. antarhāyetsu, v.l. antarhāyetsuḥ Mv i.231.2 (prose); antarhāye i.339.18; 340.11; °hāyi ii.256.11 (prose); °hāyithā (3 sg.; v.l. °tha) ii.240.17; °hāyetsuḥ (3 pl.; cf. above) ii.258.3; 259.2; iii.93.2; °hāyiṣu (3 pl.) antara-hāyita, caused to disappear, Mv iii.424.16; read °hāpita, see °hāpayati.

antarā (= Skt. and Pali id.; see also antarāt) between, with acc. and gen., once app. nom. (1); repeated (usually with ca after antarā both times) with each of two nouns; so Pali, but not Skt.; Lat. inter may be thus used twice, with each noun; after the double phrase, atrāntarā (°rāt, or °re) is often added: gen., Mv ii.264.5 antarā ca bodhiyaṣṭīye an° ca nadiye, between the Bodhi tree and the river; acc., Jm 19.21 an° ca taṃ bhadantaṃ an° ca dvāradehalīm; foll. by atrānt°, Divy 94.1 an° ca śrāvastīm an° ca rājagṛham atrāntarāt; 151.5, 7 an° bhadanta (in 7 an° ca) śrāvastīm an° ca jetavanam atrāntarāt; 275.26 an° ca rājagṛham an° ca campāṃ atrāntare; Av i.256.6 an° ca rājagṛham an° ca veṇuvanam atrāntare; nom. antarā-kathā (= Pali id.), mutual talk, conversation (CPD thinks antarā should be treated as a separate word, and so Divy 143.14 is printed, but it seems to me difficult to take it otherwise than as a cpd.): Av i.230.12 ānandasya subhadreṇa parivrājakena sārđham antarākathāṃ (mss. °thā) viprakṛtām (mss. °tā; Pali also uses vippakatā with this word, see CPD) āraṣuḥ; antarā-kathā-samudhāra, m., ibid., Divy 143.14; Av i.230.15; Pischel, SBBA 1904 p. 818, fol. 173a; MSV i.37.9.

antarāt (= Skt. Pali antarā; prob. false hyper-Skt. for this, interpreted as MIndic abl.), (1) adv., in the meantime: SP 159.6 (prose); 161.9 (vs; here ed. em. °rā; Nep. mss. quoted 'ntarān (before k-), read doubtless °rāt; Kashgar rec. °re); (2) prep. with gen. and loc., between: atha gayāyāṃ bodhimaṇḍasya cāntarād LV 405.3, between Gayā and the Bodhimaṇḍa; also follows yāvac ca: . . . yāvac ca . . . , from . . . to, Divy 386.9-10, see yāvat (3); repeated, like antarā, with both nouns, and both times followed by ca, antarā ca rājagṛhasyāntarā ca gayāyā(h) LV 246.3 (read, however, gayāyāṃ as in 405.3 above, with all mss. and Calc.); with antare instead of the first antarāt, antare ca muccilindabhavanasyāntarā ca jāpāpāsyā, between M.'s dwelling and A.'s (fig-tree), LV 380.11; (3) after, with gen. (not in Pali; cf. Skt. nīmīṣāntarāt after a moment, pw s.v. antara, 2 g); SP 67.3 (prose), mss. mamāntarād (so read) or °ram, after me; KN em. mamāt-antaram, intending mamānan°; WT em. mamottaram; Tib. cited by WT as (ñahi) ḥog tu, after (me).

antarāntaram (?), °rāt, °rā (?), adverbs (= Skt. °rā, see pw s.v. antarā; Pali antaranarā, in temporal sense), (1) from time to time, now and then: SP 323.3 (prose), text °ram, vv.ll. (apparently) °rā and °ra (or does the note intend °rām?); I would read °rā, possibly with 'hiatus-bridging' -m added; (2) local, here and there: °rāt Divy 155.25. Cf. antarāt (= Skt. antarā).

antar-āpatti, f. (= Pali id.), a (repeated) offense performed during probation (parivāsa) and concealed: MSV iii.34.15 °tiṃ pūrvāpattipratirūpām praticchannāṃ; 35.2, 5 etc. This leads to mūlaparivāsa.

antarā-parinirvāyin, adj. (= Pali °nibbāyī), acc. to Tib. on Mvy 1015 (bar ma dor, for antarā) attaining nirvāṇa in the intermediate state (between death and rebirth; i. e. before the soul can be reborn in a new existence); Dharmas 103; Mv i.33.6. Acc. to CPD, rather entering nirvāṇa before the term, i. e. before having passed the first half of life (in the middle of life). This seems to be the orthodox Pali interpretation, but the Tib. interpretation was also known (cf. CPD s.v. antarābhava); it is refuted in Kathāvatthu viii.2 (Transl. pp. 212-3).

antarā-pūrṇa-tā, state of being full in the middle: Gv 64.12 (mahāsāgarasya).

antarā-bhava, m. (= Pali and Skt. Lex. id.), intermediate state of existence (between death and rebirth; in standard Pali rejected as a heresy, see antarāparinirvāyin): Mvy 7680; Bbh 390.19 ff. (discussion); Lañk 160.5; 177.4; 370.14. See MadhK p. 286 note 1, and next; AbhidhK. LaV-P. Index s.v.; Sūtrāl. xviii.84-88, comm.

antarābhavika, adj., of or belonging to the intermediate state (between death and rebirth; see antarābhava): Lañk 355.13; 370.13. See also antarābhavika, which MadhK 286.9 reads by em., but mss. antar°.

antarā-marśana (nt.), stroking inside (the garments; of a woman, by a man); Bhik 28 a.1 yā . . . adhaś cakṣuṣor ūrdhvaṃ jānvor °naṃ (text °marśaṇaṃ) parāmarśanaṃ (text °marśaṇaṃ) svikuryād. (Perhaps less specifically intimate stroking?).

antarāya, nt. (only m. in Skt. and Pali), hindrance: LV 111.6 (vs) nā cāntarāyam iha. (Could perhaps be analyzed as °rāya-m-iha, with 'hiatus-bridging' m.).

antarāyika, adj. (= Pali id.; also āntar°, and neg. an-antar°, qq.v.), connected with hindrances; causing obstacles or obstruction, regularly with dharma, obstructive conditions (so in Pali with dhamma): °ka-dharma Mvy 133; 9324; °kā dharmās Prāt 514.5 ff.

? antarāvāsa (m.?), interval: Mv i.258.20 (prose), ardhayojanikenāntarāvāseṇa, at intervals of half a yojana (but mss. °antarvās°, °antavās°; em. Senart). Cf. Pali antarāvāsa, Dīp. 5.80 Tambapaṇṇi-antar°, apparently interval of time; interregnum (so Oldenberg, CPD).

antarika, adj. (to Skt. antara), neighboring, situated near: Mvy 8593, 8594.

antarikā (= Pali id.; in Skt. cited from Kauṭ.A., see Schmidt, Nachträge; cf. āntarikā; see also lok-āntarikā, separately), space between, interval, interstice; in some of the following ānt° may be intended, samdhi ambiguous: Mv i.13.12 teṣām (sc. parvatānām) antarikāṃ (all mss.; Senart em. °kaṃ!) . . . praveśitāḥ (so read); i.21.1 parvatāntarikāṃ (all mss., perhaps to be kept as adv. from cpd., in between the mountains; Senart em. °ka-); i.21.3 parvatāntarikāṃ (so Senart with most mss., but C, one of the best, °kā; read °kā or °kāṃ) praviṣanti; ii.300.19 sapta parvatā dvīpāntarikā (cpd. adj.), the 7 mountains between the continents; Dbh 58.13 bodhisattva-caryāntarikā, of the dividing line between the various bhūmi; ŚsP 1442.20 prathamasya dhyānasya dvitīyasya dhyānasyāntarikā, the interval between the 1st and 2nd dhyāna.

antarikṣa, adj. (= Skt. ānt°), of the atmosphere, atmospheric, of a class of gods, see deva; also antarikṣa, and under antarikṣecara, q.v.: LV 367.7 (devās); Av i.109.7 (devāsura . . . mahoragāḥ; Speyer em. ānt°).

antarikṣa, adj. (= antarikṣa; Skt. ānt°), of the atmosphere, a class of gods, see deva: LV 266.1, 4; 396.14; 401.1. As noun, antarikṣa also occurs in Skt., but much more commonly in BHS (= antarikṣa): e. g. SP 23.14; 69.10; LV 75.7; 218.18; Mv i.31.4; 33.5; 179.10; Divy 324.28; 340.5; Suv 84.9; RP 45.20; Gv 117.15.

antarikṣadevalipi, a kind of script: LV 126.4.

antarikṣecara, adj. m. (with deva; cf. Pali antalik-hacara, which seems not to be recorded of any class or category of gods), moving or living in the atmosphere, n. of a class of gods, see deva; = antarikṣa, ikṣa, āntar-ikṣavāsin: Mv i.40.14; 229.15; 240.4; ii.138.12; 348.16; in all after bhūmya deva, and before other classes of kāmāvacara-gods.

K' both times as baddhivottariye, supported by Tib. bla gos, upper garment (Skt. uttariya); doubtless read so.]

-antariyaka, adj. ifc., = antariya, adj.; see jāty-antariyaka.

antare (= Skt., BR s.v. antara, 2e), prep. with gen., between; paralleled by antarāt before the second noun, LV 380.11, see s.v. antarāt.

antareṇa, instr. of n. used as adv. and prep. (in this sense nowhere recorded in Skt. or MIndic), (at a) later time (orig. interval): yena antareṇa ahaṃ prasūtā bhaviṣyam tato gamiṣyam Mv i.365.3, at what later time, after what interval, when (later) . . .; adv., afterwards, after (this) Mv ii.362.8 (with no dependent noun; Senart wrongly in the interval); atrāntareṇa after this Mv i.96.6 (so mss., to be kept, Senart em. wrongly); mamāntareṇa after me SP 26.4 (vs); LV 39.4 (prose); yo (etasya (mss.) mrgīye antareṇa Mv i.362.5, 7, who (comes) after this doe (here Senart correctly recognizes the mg., referring to Burnout on SP 26.4, where the right interpretation is already given). (In Mv ii.209.6 mamāntareṇa means with reference to me; Senart misunderstands. Skt. uses antareṇa in this sense with acc. and also with gen., see BR 5.997.)

antaroddāna, nt. (see uddāna), internal, inserted summary of details of contents (in the midst of a story, referring to an episode), Tib. bar sdom (bar = antarā, °ra-): Mvy 1475; Divy 102.27 (a mark of punctuation should be put before and after °dānam; what follows is a tabulation of the proper names occurring in the following episode); MSV i.69.16 (referring to a minor part of the story).

antar-jana, m. (once antajana, m.c.; = Pali antojana), people of the inside, family, household: LV 135.4 antajanam (m.c.; v.l. antarj°, unmetr.); otherwise always antarj°: LV 157.11, 14; 302.18; Mvy 3916; Divy 301.12; 312.5.

antardhāni (f.?). cf. Skt. °dhāna, Pali antaradhāna; more particularly cf. AMg. antaddhāni, the art of making oneself invisible; and see next), disappearance: Bbh 14.13, 21 saddharmāntardhānim (acc. sg.).

antardhānika, adj. (to prec., q.v.), causing to disappear (by magic), ep. of mantras, cf. Pali antaradhānamanta: Mmk 151.20 °ka-mantrā(h); usually as subst. without expression of mantra, a magic charm having this effect, Mmk 670.2 °kaṃ (sc. mantram) bhavati; 705.29; sarvāntardhānikānām rājā (696.10 prabhur) bhavati, he becomes master of all (charms) that cause invisibility, Mmk 291.24; 295.8, 14; 696.10; 719.2.

antar-dhita, ppp. (hyper-Skt. = Skt. antar-hita, BHS antara-hita; see antara-dhāyati), concealed: Gv 444.13 (prose).

antarmukha, adj. (pendant to Skt. bahirmukha), turned towards (loc.): antarmukho nirvāṇe bahirmukhaḥ saṃsārād MSV iv.22.6; this (perh. with MIndic antemukho or automukho?) was surely the orig. reading in Divy 1.18 (delete na; construe bahirmukhaḥ with the abl. as regularly).

antarvartinī (? possibly cf. Skt. antarvatnī, f. to °vant, Pāṇ. 4.1.32; but the word has the aspect of a cpd. of Skt. antar with -vartin), pregnant: patnī antarvartinī samvṛttā Divy 234.17.

antarvarṣā, or °ṣa, m. (= Pali antaravassa, antovassa), the rainy season: °ṣā Mvy 9424; °ṣa MSV iii.27.16, 17; 28.3, 4.

Mvy 6891; belonging to, related to, connected with, occasioned by (prakramaṇa-, etc.); corresp. to Pali list Vin. i.256.20 ff.) MSV ii.161.16 ff. For other cpds. see s.v. -amśika, and śākhāntika.

antikāt, adv., postpos. (1) than, with gen.: mamāntikād abhirūpatara Divy 75.1, 6; pūrvikānām antikād Divy 115.14; 117.14, 28; tavāntikāt Divy 85.29; (asya . . .) puṇyaskandhasyāntikād asau paurvakaḥ puṇyaskandhaḥ śataṭamam api kalām nopaiti Vaj 35.7, in comparison with this . . .; (2) on the part of, with gen., substantially = by: SP 109.5 tathāgatasyāntikād eṣu dharmeṣv abhiyuktā(h), charged, employed in these (inferior) conditions of life on the part of (i. e. by) the T.; wrongly Burnouf and Kern.

antikāvacara, m. (= Pali santikāvacara, DN i.206.2), (one who lives near, i. e.) companion, close associate: Mv i.67.20 °kaḥ kāśyapas.

antike, adv., postpos., in reference to, with gen.: SP 107.4-5 daridrāpuruṣas tasya gṛhapater antike pitṛ-saṃjñām utpādayet, would conceive the notion of father in reference to that householder, i. e. would think of him as his father; similarly SP 286.1; also LV 244.1 naiṣa mamāntike viśiṣṭasamjño bhaven (see samjñā 5); Mv i.30.9 devānām . . . antike cittāni pradūṣayitvā, because antiṣṭha-, in Mv ii.390.1, Senart antiṣṭha-guptaṃ (but mss. °guptaṃ or °uptaṃ) bahuśālimadhye, apparently epithet of rājadhānīm, capital city. The following word, in the midst of much rice, suggests that a form of upta, sown, may be the true reading, with v.l.; antiṣṭha- could be superl. to Pali anti(m), close by, near (Ved. anti): sown very close (up to the city-limits), in the midst of abundant rice?

ante, adv. (= Pali id., Skt. antar), within (cf. also next), contrasted with bahis; ante nidhiḥ bahir nidhiḥ etc. Mv ii.436.8-9, repeated 437.4 etc.

ante-pura (nt., = Pali id., Skt. antaḥp°; cf. prec.), inner apartments, harem: Mv ii.159.11 °pure (v.l. antaḥ-pure).

antevāsika, m. (= Pali id.; Skt. antevāsin), pupil: Gv 464.19 (prose); Lañk 48.8 (vs).

antogata, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. antargata), turned inward, of the indriyas (so in Pali): Mv i.237.10 antogatehi indriyehi abahirgaṭamānāsena (of a Buddha).

antodaka, adj. (for anta(r) or Pali anto, within, plus (u)daka water, prepos. cpd.), within the water: Mv iii.318.7 (prose) antodakāni (utpalāni etc.); in Mv ii.121.9 antodake, perhaps in (a place that is within the) water; this could be two words, = Skt. antar udake, but the parallel suggests that it too is a cpd.

antra-guṇa, m., nt. (= Pali anta-guṇa, nt.; cf. guṇa 2), intestinal tract, mesentery: Mvy 4025 °guṇa, = Tib. gñe ma the twisted part of the colon or great gut (Jäschke); the coiled intestine (Zam. ap. Das); Mv i.8.8; Divy 375.14 °guṇān; Śikṣ 81.13 (read with mss. antrāny antraguṇaṃ; n. sg.); 209.9 antrāny antraguṇa(h); Gv 328.19 °guṇa-, stem. See also antraguṇa. In BHS seems to be masc. except in Śikṣ 81.13, and sometimes pl.

antrā (1) (Skt. and Pali only nt. antra, anta) intestines: antrāyām, loc., Divy 409.15; (2) a high number: Gv 106.7 (could also intend āntrā).

andhakāra-tamisrā (= Pali °timissā), deep (blind-) darkness, in the passage treated s.v. lokāntarikā, q.v.: SP 163.8; LV 410.14 (in 51.11 andhakārās tamisrā; prob. haplog. for °kāra andhakāra-tamisrā both times); Divy 204.23 (and repetitions); ŚP 102.17.

andhakāra-tamisrita (ppp. denom. from prec.), made completely dark: °taṃ Mv ii.266.9; so I would emend; mss. corrupt; Senart's em. surely wrong.

andhakārāpita-tva, nt. (abstr. from caus. pple. to denom. verb from andhakāra, darkness), state of being darkened; so (or, possibly, andhakārāyita-tva, from non-caus. denom. pple.) I would read at Mv i.41.5; 229.20; 240.9; ii.162.9; iii.334.7; 341.12. The mss. are corrupt in the entire passage (see lokāntarikā) and particularly at this point; Senart reads °kārapitā, but there is no support for the -r- in the mss. The Mv seems to have read andhakārā andhakārāpitatvā (? °yitatvā), tamisrā tamisrā-yitatvā (q.v.), darknesses, darkenednesses, glooms, begloomednesses. Only Mv has the second member of each pair (the derivatives of denom. pples.); the other parallel passages point to something like andhakārā andhakāratamisrāḥ, q.v.

andhakāla (m. or nt.), (1) time of being blind: Kv 59.4, said of a son by his parents, (jārākāle yaṣṭibhūto) andhakāle mārgasyopadarśakaḥ (so read for text °opamardakaḥ; foll. by maraṇakāle piṇḍadātā); (2) n. of a hell: Kv 18.14 (read Andhakāra? but this is not recorded as n. of a hell).

andhala, adj. (to andha; recorded only as Pkt. in Hem. 2.173), blind: Mvy 8873.

andhāra (m. or nt.; § 3.118; = AMg. id., Skt. and Pali andhakāra), darkness: Mmk 61.3 saṃsārāndhāra-cārake, and 66.25 °cāriṇām (both vss, may be m.c.). Cf. next two.

Andhāravāsini, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 567.10. Cf. prec. and next.

Andhārasundarī, n. of a yakṣiṇī (= Tama(h)-sundarī, q.v.): Mmk 567.5. Cf. prec. two.

anyajānmika, adj. (from Skt. anyajanman), belonging to another birth: Bbh 100.19, 25.

anyatama, adj. (1) (in this sense not precisely paralleled; cf. BR 7.1697, with śrī, another, a second Śrī), other, = anya: Av i.95.13 rājā prasenajid anyatamaś ca mahājanakāyaḥ, King P. and the other people, a great multitude; (2) at end of cpd., in (devo vā) devānyatamo vā MSV i.50.5, = Pali devo vā devaññataro vā, acc. to PTSD (a god or) one of the retinue of a god. Neither the context nor the Pali citations give any clue; it would seem to mean lit. some one of the gods.

anyatamaka, adj. (to anyatama), belonging to another: Sukh 58.15 (nāsti teṣām) anyatamaka-saṃjñā nāsti svaka-saṃjñā, they have no notion of what is another's nor of what is their own.

anyatamānyatama, adj., = anyatarānyatara: MSV ii.99.3.

anyatara, adj., like Pali aññatara (and cf. katara, q.v.) is very commonly used without its Skt. limitation to one of two; rather, as equivalent of Skt. anyatama (which is also used in BHS in the same way, notably in Divy and Av), and chiefly (1) in the mg. a certain; (an unspecified) one (of many): Mv i.36.10 (here could be interpreted in mg. 2); 343.4; ii.31.19; 65.1; 96.15; 145.4; 171.9; 461.14; iii.15.7; 53.13; Divy 102.8; 226.19; 227.26; 254.6; Av i.137.11; 208.8; 235.6; 244.3; Suv 214.4; RP 39.16; Śikṣ 39.1 (wrongly rendered another by Bendall and Rouse); Gv 84.17; Karmav 32.12; 35.16; Lañk 176.8; (2) much more rarely, another, any other (of an unlimited number); so possibly (but not probably) Mv i.36.10, above; and RP 56.19 sarvathānapekṣo 'bhūt kāye jivite ca, prāg evānyatarasmin bāhyavastuni, . . . how much less (not to speak of) in regard to any other external matter; (3) some (one or other), one or another, substantially = anyatarānyatara, q.v.: Mmk 304.16 anyataraṇa śucinā celakhaṇḍena.

anyatarānyatara, adj. (= Pali aññataraññatara), one or another (of many, or more than two): Mv ii.362.9 °taraṇa yānena, by one or other of the (three) vehicles; Mv iii.73.2 °tare vā āṅgajāte, or to one or another sort of member (of the horse's body); 74.4 (pañcānām vāñijaka-śatānām) °taro vāñijako; Śikṣ 98.20; Vaj 28.16; MSV ii.199.13.

anya-tīrthika (cf. Pali añña-titthiya), see tīrthika.

anyatra, adv., (1) on the contrary (this mg. seems exclusively peculiar to BHS); always after negative expressions: SP 73.10 anyatra tena tenaiva dhāvanti, (they pay no attention and do not understand;) on the contrary, they run this way and that; 102.9 na kasyacid ācakṣed anyatraika evātmanādhyātmaṃ saṃtapyed, he would not speak of it to anyone; on the contrary, he would all alone be grieving himself by himself; 284.9; 378.4; LV 71.6 (Māyā felt no heaviness of body, gurukāyatām); anyatra laghutām eva, on the contrary, nothing but lightness; 259.16; 260.8; 268.15; Mv iii.66.8 and 15 (there is no soul nor anything resembling a soul;) atha evaṃ anyatra karma caiva karmavipākam ca hetuś (first time; hetuṃ) caiva hetusamutpannā ca dharmā(h), but rather, on the contrary, only action etc. (see under atha); Lañk 9.7 (see s.v. vikalpa; wrongly Suzuki); 39.7 anyatra kāraṇataḥ, on the contrary, from a cause (wrongly Suzuki); 119.6 (place daṇḍa between evam and anyatra); 152.1; RP 42.4; Samādh 22.39

(wrongly Régamey); Śikṣ 147.3 (and several times in Śikṣ followed by yāvad eva, just simply, q.v.); the negative may be repeated just before anyatra, but only as resuming the neg. of the preceding clause, not negating the clause containing anyatra: Bbh 121.(19–)21 (a Bodhisattva does not give a petitioner the trouble of asking repeatedly before he gives him a gift;) nānyatra yācitamātra eva, no; on the contrary, (he gives) the very moment he is asked; (2) except; in Skt. and Pali hardly used except as preposition (with abl. in Skt., Pali aññatra also with instr. and gen.); in Skt. very rarely as adverb, the noun being construed with other words in the sentence (see BR 1.266 and pw 3.251). In BHS I have noted a single case, not wholly certain, of anyatra as preposition with instr. (as in Pali, instead of abl. as in Skt.): RP 40.4 rātrīṃdivaṃ bhavantiḥhir nānyā kathā kāryā, anyatra nṛttagītavād-itenā, you are to say nothing else, except dance, song, and instrumental music (?). But the adverbial use in this mg., so rare in Skt. and not recorded for Pali, is well established in BHS; in the following cases the form and construction of other words in the clause is totally unaffected by anyatra; often it may be translated as if it were a conjunction, except that . . . It almost always follows a negative expression (or interrogative, rhetorically equivalent to neg.); and this is sometimes resumed by an additional na before anyatra (as in the last case under 1, above): Divy 6.28 sārtham na paśyati nānyatra gardabhayānam eva, he didn't see the caravan, not except only a donkey-cart; and with anyatra as quasi-conjunction, MV ii.90.14–15 nāsti anyo upāyo nānyatra etaṃ samudraṃ utsicāmi, there is no other means, not (any) except (that) I bale out (exhaust) this sea. In the next the na before anyatra goes with the main verb (or rather ppp.): SP 318.4 nānyatra sattvānām paripācanārtham avatāraṇārtham ete dharmaparyāyā bhāṣitāḥ, these dharmaparyāya are not spoken except (i.e. are spoken only) to mature creatures and make them arrive at comprehension. Otherwise, after negs.: LV 149.1 (nānyaḥ . . . saṃvidyate ya etaṃ gaṇanām prajānāty) anyatrāham vā yo vā syān mādrśaḥ, except (it be) I or someone like me; SP 276.6–7 na ca taiḥ sārtham saṃstavaṃ karoty anyatropasaṃkrāntānām . . . dharmam bhāṣate, and he has no association with them, except that . . . he preaches the Law to them when they come to him; similarly 276.9–10; 324.8 yūyam ca śabdam na śrṇotha mahyam, anyatra so nirvṛtu lokanāthaḥ, and you do (would) not listen to my words, except (i. e. unless; sc. you believed that) the Lord of the World has entered nirvāṇa; Sukh 42.(10–)11 (na ca . . . nānātmam asty) anyatra . . . saṃkhyāṃ gacchanti, except that . . .; Lañk 19.8 (a passage badly misunderstood by Suzuki; e. g. in 7 read 'dharmā = adharmāḥ) na lakṣaṇataḥ kalpyāḥ (delete daṇḍa) te 'nyatra saṃvyavahārāthā abhidhīyante, they (impossibilities like the son of a barren woman) are not conceivable by way of characteristic marks, except that (? or possibly on the contrary, to 1) they are spoken of as terms of common use (they have existence only as words); Lañk 20.1 anyatra . . . vibhāvyate, except that it is discussed . . . (after neg.); after interrog., Av ii.121.4 kānyā putrasya gatiḥ anyatra mātāpitarāv eva, what other recourse could there be for a son (i. e. there could be none), except his parents; no negative (except by vague implication), Divy 293.(15–)16 (annādyam parikṣiṇam) anyatra . . . ekā mānikā . . . avasiṣṭā, (edible things were destroyed, i. e. there were none), except that . . . one m. was left; Gv 206.5 (see s.v. upād-āya 1d).

anyathibhāva (m.; in Skt. and Pali only anyathābhāva, añña°), alteration, altered state or condition: LV 423.11–12 -ananyathibhāvam (Bhvr. cpd.); Bbh 243.8 °bhāvād; Ud iii.12 °bhāvo (Bhvr. cpd.; v.l. -anyathā°); and in Mv ii.146.14–15 read, na vipariṇāmānyathibhāvohaveyā (mss. °mānyarthi°; Senart em. °mānyārti°).

anyapakṣikām, mss., Mv ii.80.17; Senart em. anyanyapakṣikā (with jñātayo), perhaps rightly (better meter, and a n. pl. seems required); Senart harmonious; better not adhering to other (heretical) sects?

anyamānya, adj. or pron. (= Pali aññamañña, in both mgs.; cf. anyonya), (1) one another; as pron., adj., or adv. (°nyam) or in comp., mutual, reciprocal (= anyonya): SP 209.5 (vs) paramparā eva tathānyamanyam te vyākariṣyanti; 359.2 (vs) ye cānyamanyasya karonti ghoṣān; LV 176.9 (vs) anyamānyopacayena, by mutual assistance; Suv 16.12 (vs) anyamānyānukūlena; RP 38.11 (vs). In prose of most texts replaced by anyonya; but Mv has it often in prose. Note anyonya SP 163.11, 12; LV 51.16; 410.19, 20; while in the same passage (prose) anyamānya is used in Mv i.41.8 = 230.3 = iii.334.11 = 341.15 (but in i.240.13 anyonya). Inflected like anyonya in Skt.: °nyam, acc., Mv i.10.12 (here adv.); 13.8; ii.436.16, 17; iii.453.7; °nyasya i.27.7; 266.1; °nyasmim i.16.10; (2) like Pali aññamañña and like anyonya in BHS, also various, different, with no reciprocal sense: SP 125.14 (vs) °nyehi arthehi; 358.11 (vs) ghoṣāms tatha cānyamānyān; in this mg. also replaced by anyonya in prose generally, but in Mv retained in prose: iii.390.5 °nyāhi parivrājikāhi.

anyavāda- (m.?) ; cf. Pali aññavādaka, adj. and n. nt.), talking about something else, shuffling and evading the question (CPD); in anyavāda-vihethana, nt., (a monk's) causing annoyance (to the community) by doing this, v.l. in Kyoto ed. of Mvy for 8433, text ājñā-vihethanam (so Mironov without v.l.; Tib., Chin. and Jap. violation of commands; for the v.l. the Jap. editor gives the correct interpretation, as above); Prāt 505.1, text anyā-vāda (-vihethanāt), which Finot would em. to anyā°; Chin. 'si un bhikṣu ennue les autres en donnant des réponses à côté' (= anyā°). The corresp. Pali, Vin. iv.36.3, 18, 37 etc., has añña-vādaka, which certainly means what is stated above (the context proves it clearly). Mvy ājñā(-vāda) is evidently an ignorant and secondary hyper-Sktism, based on a MIndic form of anyā- interpreted as = ājñā- (cf. § 2.15). It is, however, very curious that the text of Prāt reads anyā- with long stem-final ā! anyātaka, adj. (§ 2.15; = Pali aññāta, °taka; AMg. aññāya; from Skt. ajñāta, in MIndic stranger), belonging to another or others; the word was historically Skitized by association with anyā, other: Mv i.346.11 ff. (repeatedly), e. g. adinnam anyātakaṃ śālim, rice belonging to others and not given (by them). In MSV iv.107.11 spelled anyā-ḍakam (ed. em. ajñātakaṃ); Tib. (Dutt, 108 n. 1) gzan gi, of another (anyal).

anyāsi (representing Pali aññāsi? quasi-MIndic for semi-MIndic ajñāsi, which Senart reads by em., or āj°), aor. of jñā-, knew: Mv iii.386.18 (vs); § 2.15.

anyena, adv. (1) elsewhere, to another place: Mv iii.425.13 aho punar me āśramāto . . . anyena prakrameyā, but I wish he would depart elsewhere, away from my hermitage; (2) anyena . . . anyena (= Pali aññena . . . aññena), by one way . . . by another: Mv iii.59.18 anyena śāriputro . . . anyena maudgalyāyano.

anyonya, adj. (generally used as in Skt.; but also various, different (= anyamānya, 2, and Pali aññamañña); replaces anyamānya in prose of most texts: SP 132.3 (prose) na santi . . . triṇi yānāni, kevalam anyonyacaritāḥ sattvāḥ, there are not three vehicles, only creatures with different courses of action; 134.6 (prose) anyonya-dravyasamyuktām, mixed with various substances; 137.13 (prose); 221.7 (prose) anyonyāsu lokadhātuṣu; 242.8 (prose) °nyeṣu buddhakṣetreṣu . . . °nya-nāmadheyās (Bhvr., of various names); Mv i.62.8 (vs) sugatānām anyonya-nāmadheyānām (as in SP 242.8); in the prose corresp. to this, i.58.16, we should surely read nānā-nāma° (mss. corruptly nānām-nāma°; one ms. by haplogr. nā-nāma°; Senart em. anyonya-nāma°).

anvardhamāsam, adv. (= Pali anvaddha°, anvaddha°), every half month: Av ii.21.12; Prāt 476.7; Bhik 5a.1; 5b.5, etc.

anvādiṣati (cf. AMg. aññāṭṭha, ppp., Ratnachandra v. 4; otherwise not in this mg.), commands; Jm 117.25 svapṇa puruṣam anvādiṣeṣa; 133.4.

anvāvartayati (caus. of anu-ā-vṛt; not recorded in this sense), converts (so in all the following; wrongly Divy, Index): °yati Divy 128.1; 263.2; °yisyati 128.2 (nānvā°, question, will he not convert?); 164.18; °titaḥ MSV i.211.5.

anvāhiṇḍati, °te, rarely °hiṇḍayati, °hiṇḍyate (= Pali °ti; cf. anuhiṇḍati), roams thru: °ti Divy 249.11; °nti Mmk 139.19 (so read for text andā hi°); 249.10; °date Av ii.116.10; °dyante Divy 175.12, 15; pres. p. °dantā, n. pl. m., Mv i.20.3; °datā, instr. sg., Divy 237.24; °damāna Av i.242.6; ger. °hiṇḍya LV 16.4; Mvy 5116; Divy 68.23; 139.3; Av i.5.10; °hiṇḍayitvā Mvy 6942.

anvodahana, nt. (cf. Pali odahana; to *anv-o(ava)-dahati, as in Pali for -dadhati, -dadhāti; cf. samodahana), penetrating consideration: Mvy 7474 °nam = Tib. rjes su rab tu rtog pa.

? apakāra, false Skt. or (more probably) error for Skt. avakāra, rubbish: Mmk 131.21; see samkāra (1).

-apakarṣaṇa-tā (Skt. °ṇa), state of removing: LV 32.3 (prose).

apakarṣaṇā (Skt. only °ṇa, nt.), removal: Śikṣ 183.5.

apakarṣikā (cf. Pali avakaḍḍhati, is depressed, downcast; perhaps read ava°?), depression, lowering (with implication of grief): LV 227.9 (prose) śiṣopakarṣikayā (rudanti), with bowing of the head (v.l. śiṣo-pa-, more regular), see śiṣas.

apakarṣitaka, adj. (ppp. of Skt. apakarṣayati plus specifying -ka, § 22.39), which had been removed: Mv i.353.15.

-apakarṣin, adj., removing: LV 281.11 (prose) sarvakleśāpakarṣiṇyā (prabhayā).

[? apakṣaṇa, m., acc. to Kyoto ed. °ṇaḥ in Mvy 7069, and alleged (l.c.) to be indicated by Chinese versions instead of apakṣāla(h) Śikṣ 145.6; but Mironov has apakṣālah, with v.l. of Kyoto ed., and this (q.v.) seems prob. the true form.]

apakṣāla, m., fault, defect, failing, sin: Bbh 351.17 (catvāraḥ) °lāḥ, te prahīṇā bhavanti (they are then listed; as a result of the riddance, the vihāra becomes supari-suddha, line 21); 352.23 sarvāpakṣālapagata-; cf. Wogihara, Lex. 17; in Mvy 7069 v.l. for Kyoto ed. apakṣaṇa, q.v. (Mironov reads apakṣālah, with v.l. only avakṣayah);

Tib. skyon, regularly = doṣa; Chin. transgression, evil; Jap. evil, calamity; Śikṣ 145.6 ata evodārakuśalapakṣa-virvarjanatā 'pakṣāla ity ucyate (Bendall and Rouse throwing away, but the above meaning would fit well; Tib. ma bsruṅs pa, could mean non-observance); but acc. to the Kyoto ed. of Mvy (above), Chinese versions of Śikṣ prove that its text had a form of -kṣaṅ- (which is said to be phonetically reproduced in the Chin.). Bendall and Rouse compare Pali khalayati, in Jāt. iv.205.13 (correct their ref.) khalayātha; comm. khalikāraṃ pāpetvā niddhamatha. Cf. also Pali avakkhalita, mistake, offense (CPD), which is connected with Skt. skhal-. Is apakṣāla an unhistorical back-formation from a MIndic word related to this latter? Despite the alleged Chinese support for apakṣaṇa, it seems a questionable reading, and apakṣāla should prob. be read, with Mironov in Mvy (as well as in Śikṣ, for which no v.l. is recorded).

? apakṣya, adj. (cf. Skt. pakṣya, adherent of a party, as deva-p°), having no adherents: doubtful reading, LV 301.4 (vs), Lefm. apakṣyapakṣyo, but many mss. apakṣa-pakṣo; we must read certainly pakṣo, and before it as a separate word apakṣya or apakṣa (n. sg. m.), your (Māra's) party is without adherents. The form apakṣa occurs in Skt. (Mbh. Crit. ed. 1.134.24) and in LV 273.3 saṃsāra-pakṣāpakṣa-karaṇa-gaṭhi, with the gait of one who makes partisanless the party of the saṃsāra; LV 302.13 (Māraḥ) svapakṣaṃ cāpakṣaṃ apaśyat, saw his party without adherents (i.e. annihilated); also in Pali as apakṣha (which however could of course = apakṣya); whereas apakṣya has not been noted elsewhere.

apaḡata-kālaka, adj. (= Pali °kālaka; cf. kālaka 2), having no black spots, of a garment: Divy 617.8 vastram apa° (in Pali also vattham apa°); MSV iii.142.19 id.; also (as in Pali) free from moral guilt (a delinquent monk attains this state when all his penitential rites have been correctly performed), MSV iii.76.18; 79.1.

apacaya (m., = Pali id.), in good sense, diminution (sc. of karmān, or worldliness; in Pali sometimes virtually = nirvāna): Av ii.188.10; 189.6 °yāya, dat.; see saṃcaya.

[apacayati = apacāyati, honors: in Mv iii.138.8 (prose) ger. apacayitvā, so printed without v.l. or note. But elsewhere, as i.44.12, apacāyitvā is printed in the same phrase, and this should probably be read here. Misprint?]

-apacāyaka (to next), honoring, one who honors, in kulajyeṣṭhāpa° Mv i.46.9; 198.6 = ii.2.3; Bbh 252.22; in Divy 293.26 text akulejyeṣṭh°, q.v.

apacāyati (only in Ved. and Br. language and in Pali id.), reverses, honors: °yanti Mv ii.259.10; 260.3; °yet AsP 57.9; °yiṣyanti Mv iii.424.14; °yitvā Mv i.44.12 (= iii.138.8 where text °cay°, q.v.); °yaniyaḥ AsP 57.2; apacāhi Mv ii.335.12 (vs), so mss. (§ 28.54); Senart em. apacinohi, metr. impossible; object smṛtiṃ; addressed to Māra: respect, have regard for (proper) mindfulness (wrongly Senart). For ppp. apacāyita see s.v.; Class. Skt. has apacita.

apacāyanā (= Pali id.), the paying of respect, honoring: SP 144.3; 148.6; 151.5; 161.3; Mvy 1758; AsP 59.3.

apacāyita, ppp. of °cāyati, q.v. (Pali id.; cf. Pāṇ. 7.2.30 and Kāś.), honored: SP 5.8; 22.8; Mv ii.139.10, 12; Śikṣ 147.11 (all prose).

apacitā, honor, respect: Mv ii.259.9 paramāya apacitāya, and 260.3 °māye °tāye, both instr. sg. I do not find the stem (= °citi) so natural as Senart does (ii.544), and it seems to be unrecorded elsewhere; but there seems no doubt of its reality. Cf., perhaps, § 10.142.

apanyi-jāta, adj., Divy 170.1; and -bhūta, 172.20; 174.17: become unmerchandisable (to Skt. apaṇya).

apatāna (m. or nt.; in Skt. apatānaka, m.), cramp (due to famine): na sukaram °ne pragrahaṇe (in the cramp-convulsions of hunger, ed. p. 710) yāpayitum Divy 471.4 (cited by misprint as 171.4 in pw 7.302, and copied as such in Schmidt, Nachträge).

a-pattana (nt.), lit. no (proper) city: Divy 276.14, 16; 277.13 ff. (ghoṣayati), proclaims a disgraceful town.

apatrapitavya, gdv. to apa-trap-, of which one should feel abashed: Bbh 223.12 °vyeṣu (sthāneṣu).

apatrāpya (once, Mv iii.53.1, °trapya, Senart, but v.l. contains -āpya-; if correct, short -a- must be MIndic in nature), nt. (= Pali ottappa, otappa; see under an-apa°, otrappa, an-o°, an-otrāpin), modesty, bashfulness, shame (rarely shame in the other sense which the word now commonly has in English; so Av i.216.10; Śikṣ 12.1); Av ii.167.4 (read °pya-pariḡṛhitam as cpd.); almost always associated with its virtual synonym hri, Mv iii.53.1 hri cāpatrapyaṃ (cf. above) ca; Mvy 1569 (fourth of the dhana, q.v., hri being the third); and usually compounded with it, hry-apatrāpya- LV 25.14; 27.2; 430.1; Gv 146.23; Dbh 13.18; 19.15, etc.; or hrir-apatrāpya (q.v. for explanation of the form) Śikṣ 136.1 (prose; here as a reason for wearing a loin-cloth); 192.1; Karmav 89.3; RP 28.17 (read with ms. hrir-apatrāpya-śīla-). Cf. also vyapatrāpya.

apada, adj. (= Pali id.; not in Skt. in this mg.), trackless, that cannot be traced: Mv iii.91.20 (= Dhp. 179 id.) buddhaṃ . . . apadaṃ; AsP 306.7, of the (Buddha's) dharma.

apadeśa, m. (= Pali °sa; hardly Skt. in this sense), expression: Mvy 7619 kāpa°, 7620 yāpa°, the interrogative (relative) pronoun (-expression); Bbh 403.7, 9 bodhisattvā-padeśaḥ, the expression Bodhisattva. See also kālāpadeśa.

apanāmayati (= Pali apānāmeti), removes, takes off or away: °yati Mv i.181.9; ratnajālikām apānāmya, ger., LV 209.13 (prose), so read with ms. A, proved right by Mv and Pali; both edd. with other mss. avanāmya.

apanāya, nt. (cf. AMg. avaṇaya, censure, abuse), rebuke (?): RP 40.6 (prose) na ca kasyacit sattvayāpanāyaṃ vaktavyam.

apanāta, ppp. of apa-ni, as adj., epithet of dhyāna, prob. removed, remote, abstract: LV 250.16. Tib. sems pa med, rendered by Foucaux sans vitalité, but it seems rather to mean without thought, or possibly without consciousness.

apapa, m., n. of a (cold) hell: Dharmas 122 (replaces hahava, q.v., of other lists.)

apapravrājana (nt.; presumably = Skt. pravrajana; perhaps formed ad hoc, m.c.), banishment: Śikṣ 66.19 (vs) °nena ca (of a member of the order; Bendall and Rouse understand expulsion from the order, but this is supported by nothing in the context and is unlikely; parallel are such things as stealing his robe, beating, and putting him in prison).

AMg. above; in any case some form related to apa-rādh, aor.; disappeared.

aparānta, m. (= Pali aparanta; sometimes contrasted with pūrvānta, q.v.), the future: °ntaḥ, n. sg., Mvy 8307; RP 4.17 aparānta-kalpa-koṭibhir api nāsti buddhānām . . . guṇaparyantaḥ; Śāl 98.2 °ntam, acc. (adv.?), cited Śikṣ 227.8; Gv 37.17, 18; 49.25 (read pūrvāntāparānta-); 242.16 aparānta-kalpa-; 242.19 same, 1st ed. misprinted aparanta°; corr. 2d ed.; Dbh 31.5. See aparānta-koṭi.

aparāntaka, f. °ikā, adj. of the western border, or of the country called Aparānta; used of cloth or garments, also as nt. noun, (cloth or garments) of Aparānta Mvy 9179; °ka- in cpd. Divy 316.26, of garments (adj. or noun?). In Divy 20.22–23 perhaps read aparāntikayā guptikayā in the style of Aparānta (? see guptikā); text asmāt parānti°. In Divy 1.3; 18.6; 19.16, 19, 23; 21.2, 12 the mss. read corruptly, and with much variation, a text discussed by the editors on p. 703; they read asmāt parāntaka- and interpret as a synonym of pratyantima, except in 19.19 where they read asmākam aparāntaka-, interpreting (with privative a-) as the opposite, not distant, near. The forms are troublesome; without much confidence I suggest that forms of aparāntaka may have been found in all, meaning something like of the western border (if not specifically of the country Aparānta). But Tib. (Bailey, JRAS 1950.172) on 19.19 points to Aśmāparāntaka, q.v.; and this seems to have been the regular Tib. form acc. to Schiefner, cited Divy p. 703.

aparānta-koṭi, f., esp. acc. sg. adv. (see koṭi, and cf. pūrva-koṭi, of which this is the opposite; corresp. to Pali pacchima-koṭi, the farthest (future) end, in Pali as here of the samsāra), the future end, the utmost limit (of existence, samsāra); Śikṣ 14.8 aparāntakoṭim (adv., so read with ms.) sthāsyāmi sattvasyaikasya kāraṇāt, I will remain (in existence) to the utmost limit for the sake of a single creature; 167.16 aparāntakoṭiḥ samsaritavyā sattvānām paripācanahetor itī, one must subject himself to the round of existences to the uttermost end in order to bring creatures to maturity; 186.12 sacet punar manāite sarvasattvā aparāntakoṭim chindyur . . ., but if all these creatures should split me, up to the end of time (adv.; Bendall's note on 14.8 and Transl. misunderstand the word); -aparānta-koṭi-niṣṭha, Mvy 372 (ep. of a Tathāgata).

aparāpara, adj., (= Pali id.; cf. Skt. aparāparotpatti, pw), one after another, other and other, various: Mv ii.434.16 sarvaśilpāyatanehi aparāparehi; Mv iii.402.3 aparāpare, n. pl., various, ever other, people; Gv 184.15 aparāparakrimiko (vyādhir), (disease) due to one or another worm, to various worms; 521.10 °rair ākairai, with various forms.

a-parāmrṣṭa (neg. of parā°, q.v.; = Pali °maṭṭha), unaffected (by anything unfavorable), uninfected, untarnished: Mvy 1625; 7032; AsP 292.18 and 293.5 (cited s.v. parāmrṣṭati).

a-parikāṅkṣin, see pari°.

a-parikhinna (neg. of Skt. pari°, ppp. of pari-khid), unwearied: Dbh 19.11 (see next); SP 77.9 °na-mānasaḥ of unwearied mind (wrongly Burnouf and Kern); °tā, state of being..., Gv 464.6 nausamacittena gamanāgama-nāparikhinna-tayā (so read for text °na-pari°), with mind like a ship, because it is unwearied in coming and going.

a-parikheda, m. (neg. of Skt. pari°; cf. prec. and next), non-lassitude: Mv i.78.16 (one of the 8 samudācāra, 1, q.v.); Dbh 19.10 f. aparikheda-cittam (here apari° may, but need not, be a Bhvr. adj.) utpādayati; evam asyā-parikhedaḥ (here certainly n.) sambhavati.

a-parikhedana- (nt.? cf. prec. two; only in comp., and in next), non-lassitude: LV 432.19 (prose; but v.l. a-parikheda-).

a-parikhedana-tā = prec.: ŚsP 1462.8.

? a-parikhamana-(tā), in Gv 463.25 dhātrīsamacittena sarvakleśāparitamanatayā, with mind like a nurse, because of not being oppressed by all impurities. BR record pari-tam once in Suśr. as bekommen werden, which yields a possible sense. Yet I suspect a graphic corruption for a-paritasana-, q.v.

a-paritarṣaṇā (if neg. to BHS paritarṣaṇā, q.v.), not craving (so Bendall and Rouse): Śikṣ 183.5 cittasyānavalinatā 'navamṛdyatā 'paritarṣaṇā. There is no doubt that BHS paritarṣaṇā means desire. But CPD derives Pali (a)paritassanā from root tras (while noting that comms. derive from trṣṣ), and this seems to get some support from the two preceding and parallel nouns in Śikṣ; perhaps, then, after all, the not being wearied, depressed, or anxious. Cf. paritasayati.

a-paritasana- (nt.; = next, q.v.), the not being wearied or exhausted: Bbh 143.21 duḥkhasaḥiṣṇur aparitasana-jāṭiyah; see also s.v. a-paritamana, and paritasana, to which I have (with hesitation) attributed a different mg.

a-paritasayana (or °nā), °na-tā (= prec.; neg. of n. act. to paritasayati, q.v. with discussion and references; cf. Pali aparitassana, °nā), non-exhaustion, lack of discouragement, not being wearied or troubled in spirit: aparitasayanābhimukhenākhedacittotpādena (so ms., ed. em. aparitrasya) Śikṣ 25.7, not turned towards weariness (note a-kheda-); aparitasayanatayā, ms. at Śikṣ 35.6 for aparīmanatayā which ed. reads with Gv 463.21 (the source of the citation; see parīmanama); nausamacittena gamanāgamanāparitasayanatayā (so mss., ed. em. °trasya, without good reason) Śikṣ 35.9, with mind like a ship because unwearied in going and coming; this is cited from Gv 464.6 which reads parikhinnatayā, certainly an error for aparikh°, a synonym of aparitasayana(tā), cf. akheda- above on Śikṣ 25.7, and s.vv. paritasayati, °tras. Wogihara, Lex. 32 note 1, assumes that the original form of these nouns contained °tasya and that (a-)paritasana (prec.) is a 'purism'. This can hardly be assumed in view of Pali paritasati beside °tassati, and BHS paritrasati beside °syati.

Aparitrṣita (cf. paritrṣita), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.13.

a-paripantha-dāyin, adj., not causing fear or danger, not a source of alarm (to anyone? to himself?), said of a successful performer of certain magic rites (cf. Skt. bhaya-dāyin, and BHS paripantha which as in Pali is a near-synonym of bhaya): so read in Mmk 291.13 (text apantha-dāyī, n. sg.); 297.28 (text apatthadāyī); 299.3 (text aparipatthadāyī).

Aparibhinna, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.4.

aparimāṇa, nt. or m., a high number, Mvy 7804 (m.); 7936 (nt., cited from Gv); 8044, (nt.); Gv 106.21 (°nasya); 134.7 (nt.).

aparimāṇa-parivarta, m. or nt., square of prec., Mvy 7937 (m., cited from Gv); 7805 (m.); Gv 106.21 (°tasya); 134.8 (nt.).

aparimita, nt., a high number: Mvy 8043.

Aparimitaguṇadharmā, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.2.

Aparisrotavāhana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.6.

a-parihāniya, adj. (= Pali id.), not connected with loss (CPD): with sapta ... dharma, as in Pali (satta ... dhamma), (seven) conditions of welfare (CPD), MPS 1.14 ff.; listed 2.5 ff., several lists.

aparejjukāto (but v.l. aparajju°, q.v.), adv., on the next day: Mv iii.255.14.

aparokṣa (= Skt.) in °kṣa-vijñāna LV 403.5, 9 (of Rudraka Rāmaputra) and °kṣa-jāṭiya Mv iii.322.11, 14 (of Udraka Rāmaputra) or -jātika Mv iii.415.10, all Bhvr. adj., of manifest, open understanding (LV), or manifest, open (? not obscure? precise mg. not very clear) in nature (Mv). Tib. renders LV nam par śes pa (= vijñāna) lkog tu ma gyur pa, (having) not secret intelligence (wrongly Foucaux). Cf. aparakṣa.

aparyanta, m. or nt., a high number: Mvy (m.) 7806, 7938 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.21; 134.8 (here nt.). (On LV 147.2 see s.v. paryanta 3.)

aparyanta-parivarta, m. or nt., square of prec.: Mvy (m.) 7807, 7939 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.22; 134.9 (here nt.).

Aparyantabhadra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.9.

a-paryāta, a-paryādatta, and a-paryādinna (all ppp. to pary-ā-dā with neg. a-; = Pali aparyādinna; cf. paryādadāti, paryādāna), not overcome, not mastered (by disturbing or hostile elements or entities); not exhausted; in the latter sense (1) Gv 502.15 aparyādatta, said of a light which is not exhausted by the lighting of many other lights from it (see s.v. niryāna); but (2) regularly applied to citta or equivalent (so also in Pali), with mind (thoughts, or the like) not overcome (by deleterious influences): aparyādinnādhyāśaya Mv i.85.6; 86.12 (defined 86.13-14, where in 13 °dinna-citta is included in the definition); °dinna-citta Mv i.133.10; °datta-citta KP 161.2; Gv 202.3; °datta-cetana Gv 151.20; °datta- (with citta in later part of cpd.) Gv 246.19 (1st ed corruptly °danta-; corr. 2d. ed.); aparyāta-vedita-citta Śikṣ 24.11 (see s.v. vedita).

apalakṣaṇa, adj. (Bhvr.; = Pali avalakṣaṇa; not noun, as it is stated to be used in pw), having inauspicious marks: Jm 82.5, 18. Cf. avalakṣaṇa.

Apalāla (= Pali id. or °āla), n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3273; Divy 348.20; 385.3; Mmk 18.12; Āṭanāṭiya Sūtra, Hoernle MR 27.3; Samādḥ p. 42 line 27; Māy 221.24; 247.3, MSV i.2.6.

apavijjhati (MIndic for Skt. apavidhyati), throws away, rejects: ger. apavijjhiyāna Mv ii.104.4 (rājyam). Acc. to Senart, apavijjhati or °vidhyati would also mean disappears; see aparādhyati.

apa-vivāra, adj., not characterized by wide opening of the mouth passage in speech (see vivāra in BR): Gv 401.4 °rah, said of the Buddha as possessing the lakṣaṇa siṃhanuṭ, in the same passage he is called su-niṣpīḍihanuṭ, see niṣpīḍin, which confirms the mg. as stated. Evidently his speech was tight, not loose.

apaścimaka, adj., (1) having no later, last (so Skt. apaścima): Divy 209.1 (vs, but not m.c., in fact -ka spoils meter!), 4 (prose); MSV i.112.18; (2) perhaps = aśeṣa, a-paśyanā (neg. n. act. to paśyati, cf. paśyana, anupaśyanā), the not-seeing: SP 137.12 °naya, by not-seeing; Kern as if he were not seeing, not quite rightly; Burnouf is farther from the truth. 'Sight' is false, illusory; one must not-see to truly see. Confirmed by verse version SP 143.2; and cf. Lañk 9.8 ye paśyanti yathādr̥ṣṭam na te paśyanti nāyakam.

a-paśyaniya, adj. (neg. gḍve. to paśyati), hideous (lit. not to be looked at): Mv ii.447.9; 491.18.

? apaśraya- (m.? cf. Pali apassaya, Skt. apāśraya; Ved. apaśrayaḥ, AV 15.3.8, BR Kopfpolster, but Whitney support?), support: LV 430.20 (prose; in comp.). But good mss. support apaśraya-, which should probably be adopted.

apasamharati, beguiles, seduces: SP 476.8 (prose) na ca nāryo 'pasamharisyanti, and women will not distract (seduce) them (preachers protected by certain dhāraṇīs). But Kashgar rec. na ca nāribhīḥ samhriyate.

apa-savyakam, adv. (= Skt. and Pali °vyam, which in Skt. means to or on the right, also to or on the left, see BR 1.296, 5.1009; in Pali only the latter, except for a lexical citation borrowed from a Skt. lexicon, CPD), in Mmk 125.13 kṛtvā vā apasavyakam, (if I understand the passage rightly, can only mean) keeping on the right, i. e. showing respect, not disrespect. Cf. next.

apasavyī-karoti (cf. prec.; Pali °vyam karoti), keeps on the left, to show disrespect: °ti Mv iii.325.3.

apa-srjati (in Skt. rare and perhaps questionable, possibly to be em. to the usual ava-s°; not in Pali), drops, abandons: Av ii.184.11 apasrjya, text, with supralineal correction in one ms. only, for apasr̥tya, which the other mss. read; perh. read ava-s°.

apasr̥ṣṭa (ppp. of *apa-sr̥ṣ; cf. AMg. avaput̥ṭha touched, by moonbeams), smitten (with affection): Gv 326.7 °ṭāḥ, parallel to upadrutāḥ.

apasphoṭana, nt. (or ava°, see below), apparently shrugging off (an argument or opinion), rejection: Mvy 7560 = Tib. sprugs bsigs, seemingly shrugging or the like; Das gives for this word avasphoṭana, which Mironov reads for apa° in Mvy. See ava°.

apasmāra, m., also °rī, f. (Skt. and Pali °ra, also Pali apamāra, epilepsy, see below), a sort of demon or supernatural evil being: Lañk 261.10 °raḥ and °rī; Mvy 4762 °raḥ = Tib. brjed byed, epilepsy; Māy 219.10 etc., °rā(h). apasmāraka, m. = prec.: SP 401.5 (prose; in a list of demons).

apasvāpana, nt. (no form or derivative of apa-svap is otherwise recorded; perhaps hyper-Skt. for ava-svāpana, see o-svāpana and ava-svāpayati), going to sleep or sleeping: Mvy 6639 = Tib. gñid kyis log pa; LV 217.7 °nam akurutām, (two gods) caused a going-to-sleep (of the people of Kapilavastu). We should expect a caus. mg., putting to sleep; and this may be the mg. in the LV passage (made a putting to sleep); but the Tib. is very definitely non-caus., and Das cites apasvāpana for the same Tib.

apaharaṇa- (nt.?), in Jm 88.10, see s.v. āharaṇa; perhaps piloting (a ship) out (of harbor)?

apaharati (in this sense not recorded), captivates: °hriyante, pass. Divy 443.4; °hṛto 445.12.

apahārakam, adv. (quasi-ger.), in gallāpa° Mvy 8584, not stuffing (the cheeks); so Tib., ḥkhur ba (= mkhur ba) [mi] sbo; same mg. seems assured for Pali ava-gaṇḍa-kāraṇam Vin. iv.196.11 (SBE 13 p. 64 line 16 and n. 2); a Stein fragment of BHS, La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913 p. 846 line 1, has corruptly gr̥ṣma-hārakam.

apahr̥ta-bhāra, adj. (= Pali ohita-bh°; so also in BHS, see s.v., but not in the passages cited PTSD s.v. ohita, which quotes LV apahr̥ta as apahita; Pali also panna-bh°), having laid aside one's burden(s), in Pali said of arahats, and so of arhants in BHS, SP 1.7; also of Buddha, LV 425.20; of śrāvakas, Mvy 1084 (and ohita° of Bodhisattvas). Probably ohita- in this cpd. in Pali (and in BHS) historically represents apahr̥ta, removed (so Tib. on Mvy khur bor ba, having laid off the burden); ava-dhā does not have this mg. in either Skt. or Pali, and apadhā is exclusively Rigvedic and rare even there.

a-pāniya, adj. Bhvr., without water (pāniya; m.c.): °yā ca SP 195.8 (vs).

apāya (= Pali id., also Skt. but not in this technical application), evil state, = durgati, q.v. There are three such (see s.v. gati): in hells, as animals, as ghosts. In Pali this group of three is rare; usually there are four, life as asuras being added: LV 32.12 try-apāya; 89.14 muktāś ca te tribhyo 'pāyebhyo; 92.15 (vs) triṣu apāyi (= °yel); 196.8 triṇy apy apāyāḥ; 300.21 (vs) apāya trayo (acc. pl.); 357.4 (vs) triṇi śāntā apāyāḥ; Mv i.61.4 apāya-pratipūraṇa, filling (= crowding into) the (3) evil states of existence; ii.215.10 apāyeṣu apāyam gamiṣyati, he will go to an evil existence in the (3) evil states; apāyapatha, ibid., LV 46.7; 117.9; °bhūmi, virtually = hell, more specifically (so also apāya in Pali), Suv 23.11 (vs) ye sattva tiṣṭhanti apāyabhūmau, ādīptasamprajvalitāg-nigātrāḥ; LV 178.7 (and 9, read with Tib. ṅan soṅ gsum, tri-apāya-, or tri-r-a°, for nirayāya).

Apāya-jaha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mmk 40.13; 63.5; 111.8; 425.19.

apāya-sthāna, nt., in ṣaḍ bhogānām °nāni Mvy 2504 (Tib. loṅs spyod, enjoyment, ḥbri baḥi, of diminution, gnas, place, drug [lā], six), six occasions for evil on the part of enjoyments. They are listed 2505-10, madyapānam, dyūtam, vikāla-caryā, pāpamitrātā, samājadarśanam, ālasyam.

a-pārājikīya, °kiya, adj. (neg. of *pārājikīya, °kiya, not in Pali, from pārājika, q.v.), not guilty of a pārājika offense: Prāt 481.6 °kiya; 482.2 °kiya.

a-pārīma, adj. (neg. of pārīma, q.v.), not further, i. e. hiltler (bank), always in contrast with pārīma: Mv ii.259.7, 17 °māto (tīrāto) pārīmaṃ tīraṃ; Av i.148.14 °māt tīrāt pārīme tīre; Gv 351.2 °me tīre (contrast pārīme, next line).

apāvaraṇī (to Skt. apavṛṇoti), key (so Tib., lde mig): MSV ii.128.10.

apāvuriyati, is opened, pass. to *apāvurati = Pali apāpurati; see Chap. 43, s.v. 1 vṛ (3); Mv ii.158.1 °yati, and pres. pple. °yantasya. Cf. ii.161.3 apāvṛtam, the regular Skt. ppp.

apāśrayaṇa (nt.), in catur-a°, adj. (= Pali apassena, catur-āpas°), (possessing the four) base(s), support(s), of a Tathāgata (modes of observance, CPD): Mvy 430 catur-apāśrayaṇaḥ. CPD gives the Pali list, which is not found in Mvy.

Apkrtsna, n. of a samādhi: SP 424.8; °snāyatana (= Pali Āpo-kasiṇ°), one of the 10 krtsnāyatanaṇi, q.v., Mvy 1534.

appeti (= Pali id., = Skt. arpayati), delivers: appehi Mv iii.295.2 (vs).

apy-ekatya (properly two words; = Pali app-ekacca), see ekatya (7).

Aprakāra, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 574; ŚsP 1421.10.

apragalbhāyate (or, with one ms., °bhayate; denom. to apragalbha), is not proud, is humble: Divy 615.3 pres. pple., °yamāna-rūpo.

a-praṇidhi, adj. or subst. (= a-praṇihita, q.v.), (the state) that is free from desire, longing, or purpose: LV 296.8 (vs), read: śūnyānimittapraṇidhīraṇa muñcamānāḥ (understand -animitta-apraṇidhi-; m.c. a for ā), emitting a sound (concerning) the void, causeless, purposeless (state, i. e. mokṣa, or nirvāna); cf. Śikṣ 6.15, s.v. apraṇihita.

a-praṇihita, adj. and subst. (= apraṇidhi, q.v., and Pali appaṇihita, CPD aimless, not bent on anything; in Pali as in BHS parallel to suññatā, °ta, the latter being used as adj. in Pali), and animitta (ān°); as epithet of samādhi [suññato... animitto... appaṇihito samādhi SN iv.360.17 = DN iii.219.22] and of vimokkha, nibbāna, also as substitute for the latter), (state that is) free from desire, longing, or purpose; often in cpds. it is hard to say whether it would be better to call it adj. or subst.; śūnyatānimittapraṇihitam SP 101.1 (adj. or subst.?); 136.13 (subst.; with nirvānadvāraṃ as fourth member of cpd., but this is unique; there are four herbs in the preceding parable; in 137.1-2 the three alone are named as vimokṣa-mukhāni); Śikṣ 6.15 -śūnyatānimittapraṇihita-rutam = buddha-rutam (see LV 296.8, s.v. apraṇidhi); LV 374.4, read apraṇihita-samādhim with v.l. for text apratihata-; 422.21 apraṇihita-cakram (Lefm. with all mss. apraṇi°), parallel to preceding śūnyatā-, animitta-c°; 428.9-10 °ta-vihāri, parallel to śūnyatā-, ānimitta-v°; KP 94.5 and 125.3, both parallel to śūnyatā-, ānimitta; AsP 256.13 (subst.) et passim.

a-pratikāṅkṣa-tā (see pratikāṅkṣā), non-expectation: RP 15.11 sarvasvaparityāgino vipākāpratikāṅkṣatā.

a-pratikāṅkṣin, see s.v. parikāṅkṣin.

a-pratipudgala, adj. (= Pali appatipuggala; cf. prati°; in mss. of LV, Mv, Av, and in Lefmann's ed. of LV, written °puṅgala, see pudgala; the var. °puṅgava also occurs in mss. of Mv), matchless, unequalled, ep. of Buddha: SP 69.15; LV 126.22; 313.17; 358.7; Mv i.219.9; ii.141.12; Divy 393.13; Mvy 42; Av ii.199.1.

a-pratiprasārabdha (neg. of prati°, q.v.; also written °srabdha), not quieted, not ceased, not abandoned (regularly with passive force, but also active, that has not ceased): Mvy 411 anābhogabuddhakāryāpratiprasārabdhaḥ, of a Tathāgata, unceasing in the effortless activities of a Buddha; same cpd. in LV 423.3, ending °srabdha-cakram (read with nearly all mss. and Tib. °kāryāpra°, for Lefm. °kārya-pra°); Mvy 815 apratiprasārabdha-mārga, having (keeping) the Way uninterrupted, of Bodhisattvas; Dbh 1.11 °dha-gocara, 45.1 °dha-vīrya, both of Bodhisattvas, of uninterrupted scope, of unabated vigor; Divy 133.19 yāvan mayā prayoga(h) °dha(h), not finished; Gv 246.9 tathāgata - bala - praveśāpratiprasārabdha - tāṃ; 246.20 -adhiṣṭhānāpratiprasārabdham; adv. °dham unceasingly Gv 351.2.

a-pratiprasārabdhi, f. (or °srabdhi; neg. of prati°, q.v.), the non-ceasing; permanence: Dbh 42.13 °srabdhitas; Divy 134.3, read (a)pratiprasārabdhi(r), mss. °bdhi, n. sg.; Śikṣ 214.7 °bdhaye; Gv 175.17-18 sarvabuddhadarśanābhilāṣāpratiprasārabdhaye; 217.22 (paripākavinaya-) prayogāpratiprasārabdhaye, so read with 2d ed. for 1st ed. °yoga-prati°; 245.26 f. °srabdhim.

a-pratiprasārambhaṇa, nt. (neg. of prati°, q.v.), the not ceasing: Gv 371.8 sattvadhātunayāprati°.

Apratimā, n. of a queen, previous incarnation of Yaśodharā: Mv i.128.13 ff.

a-prativacana, adj. (neither this nor its opposite prati° seems recorded in this sense in Skt. or Mindic), not going back on his word, dependable: Mv i.349.5, followed by synonym satyavādī.

apraṭi-varṇanīya, in LV 411.10, incomparably worthy of praise, in a list of complimentary epithets of sounds (śabda), after nirvarṇanīya, praiseworthy. I believe that apraṭi- must be recognized as used in Skt. as prior element in cpds. in this sense, as e. g. in apraṭi-cakra (pw) and apraṭi-karman (commonly analyzed as a-praṭi-karman; but there is no record of any *praṭi-karman in the sense of a corresponding action, and the immediate constituents seem to me clearly apraṭi and karman). Tib. zla med pa, matchless, for apraṭi.

a-prativartiya (semi-MIndic for °tya; = Pali appatīvattiya), not to be turned back (by any creature; said of the dharmacakra, once set in motion by a Buddha): Mv iii.327.7 (vs, no v.l.); in Mv i.330.4 (prose) doubtless read so with 1 ms., the other pravartayam, Senart em. apravartiyam; in Mv i.331.4 Senart with mss. apravartiyam, in 332.7 apravartitam, which is read in the same formula SP 179.1 (prose, no v.l.); in Mv i.332.21 aparivartitam, in 333.12 apravartiyam, v.l. aparivartiya. In Pali apparently only appaṭi° occurs, and I believe this must have been the original reading. No being could turn back the wheel started by the Buddha. But evidently in BHS tradition this became confused with forms (ppp. as well as gdve.) of pra-, pari-vṛt-, which of course also yield a tolerable sense: which had never been set in motion or could not be set in motion by any (other) being.

a-prativāṇi, f. (also nt.? neg. of prati°, q.v.; Pali appaṭivāṇi, °nī, °na, also spelled with ṇ; Pali also has paṭivāna acc. to CPD s.v. appaṭi°, but no paṭivāṇi), non-aversion, non-opposition (to religious teaching or the like): °ṇiḥ, n. sg., Divy 654.27; 655.2 (to understanding, abhisamaya, of the four noble truths; parallel with utsāhanī, ūti, qq.v., and see samprajanya for the rest of the passage); °ṇi Mvy 7649 (so also Mironov, no v.l.) = Tib. phyir mi nur ba, non-aversion; as to the form, see s.v. prativāṇi.

a-prativāṇiya, adj. (to °ṇi; cf. Pali appaṭivāṇiya), not repellent, not causing aversion: Mv iii.343.1, of Buddha's voice.

a-prativinīta (neg. of prati°, q.v.), not removed: Mv ii.121.5, of kāmādhyavasāna and the like.

aprativiryārambha, adj., without energy sufficient for (any) undertaking: SP 100.9 (prose; formed in imitation of apratibala, which precedes).

a-pratiśaraṇa, adj. (= Pali appaṭisaraṇa; Bhvr., from pratiśaraṇa), without resource or refuge, helpless: LV 189.12; Gv 534.16.

apraṭiṣṭhā-dhyāna-vartanin, abiding in a trance (or nirvāṇa?) which is not (permanent) fixation (cf. under apraṭiṣṭhita): °nī, n. sg., Mvy 437, ep. of a Tathāgata; Tib. bsam gtan gyi ḥjug pa la gnas pa mi mñah̄ ba, not being fixed in entrance into trance?

a-praṭiṣṭhita, not permanently fixed: °to nirvāṇe, of a Tathāgata, Mvy 406; °ta-nirvāṇa Mvy 1728, nirvāṇa qui n'est pas l'arrêt, Lévi, Sūtrāl. Divy. iii.3 note 4, which see on this term; it is the Mahāyānistic nirvāṇa in which the Tathāgata returns to worldly life to save creatures, the remaining incapable of personal involvement in it. Cf. apraṭiṣṭhā.

a-pratisamvidita, ppp. (in senses 1 and 2 = Pali appaṭi°; BHS pratisamvidita is not recorded in the first sense), (1) unannounced: Divy 557.16; (2) not known or not (fully) comprehended: Bbh 217.16 °viditāmavṛd-dhikānām sattvānām; (3) °tam, adv., unawares (unknown-wise): Bhik 11a.5.

a-pratisamveda (m.; cf. pratisamvedayati), lack of perception, realization, or recognition: Bbh 175.5 °datāḥ glānaḥ syād apratibalaḥ, (he is not guilty if he does this thing) thru inadvertence, or if he is sick or incapable (of doing his duty); °vedaka, see prati°.

a-pratisamhārya, adj. (cf. pratisamharaṇa, 1), not to be restored (exile; i. e. irrevocable banishment): Bbh 83.22 yā punar apratisamhāryā pravāsānā (ed. wrongly punar-apraṭi°, as if cpd.); so Tib., slar ml dgug par.

a-pratisamkhyā- (= Pali appaṭisamkhā, regarded by CPD as abstracted from the ger. which in Pali occurs as °khā beside °khyā; BHS has the word only in cpds., where it could be understood as ger.; so also pratisamkhyā, q.v., and cf. the parallel forms in °khyāya), no careful consideration, or (if ger.) not after careful consideration: LV 434.18 °khyā-samupekṣaka-tvād from the state of being one that shows indifference without consideration (i. e. without giving careful thought to it); cf. Lévi, Sūtrāl. xx.57 sans calcul respectif; usually in °khyā-nirodha, suppression not as a result of consideration or knowledge, one of the 3 asamskr̥ta (q.v.), Dharmas 32; Mvy 2186; Lañk 177.3; 197.12; see Suzuki, Stud. 264 note 1, and especially La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. i.10.

a-pratisamkhyāya, ger. (cf. prati°, a-prati-samkhyā, and Pali appaṭisamkhāya), without deliberation or reflection: Mvy 141 °khyāyopekṣā; Mv i.160.15 nāsti aprati° upekṣā, he has no unpremeditated (without reflection or deliberation) indifference, one of the 18 āvenika Buddha-dharma.

a-pratisama, adj. Bhvr. (= Pali appaṭi°; neg. of Skt. pratisama), having no equal, incomparable: Mv i.135.13; RP 51.1; Bbh 89.20, 23; Mvy 2530; -tā, state of being . . ., Mv ii.260.14; 261.16.

Apratihatagunakirtivimokṣaprabharāja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 81.25.

Apratihataneṭra, n. of a devaputra, one of the 16 guardians of the bodhimaṇḍa: LV 277.14.

apratihataprabha, m. or nt., a kind of gem: Mv ii.310.18.

Apratihatavega, nt., n. of the disk-jewel of a cakravartin: Gv 418.6.

a-pratiśa, adj. (= Pali appaṭissa, °tissa; etym. obscure; see CPD s.v. and Senart, Mv i note 516, who suggests relation to praṭiḥ; Childers s.v. paṭissā; cf. sa-pra°, su-pra°), disrespectful: Divy 333.23, 27; Bbh 163.24.

a-pratyanīya, adj. (nonce-form, = vipratyanīka or °nīya-ka, qq.v.; based on wrong analysis of the latter as containing negative vi-, for which a- is then substituted; this is all that is implied by Tib. cited in Burnouf, Lotus 323 f.; in Pali a-paccanika is recorded only in the expected sense of not opposed, not hostile, CPD), antipathetic, hostile, unwelcome: SP 95.7 (vs) apratyanīyās ca bhavanti loke, pūti mukhāt teṣa pravāti gandhaḥ. (One ms. °nikāś.)

a-pratyaya (m.; = Pali appaccaya; not in this sense in Skt.; cf. Pali paccaya = pitti, Jāt. ii.241.10), discontent, ill-will: Mv i.30.5 kopam ca roṣam ca apratyayam ca āviṣkaronti.

a-pratyudāvarta, Bhvr. adj. (not in Pali, nor is *paccudāvatta recorded), that does not turn back: °tām pratipadam Bbh 219.12.

a-pratyudāvartana- (nt.; neg. of praty°, q.v.), not turning back: Gv 105.6 bodhisattvamārgāpratyudāvartanā-tayā; in Śikṣ 296.8 read praty°, q.v., instead of apraty°.

a-pratyudāvartaniya = vartya: Mvy 5099; AsP 329.8 pratyekabuddhayānikāś cāpratyudāvartanīyadharmā (bodhisattvaḥ); Dbh 42.15 °ya-manasikāro; 45.19 °yakuśalamūlaprayogo; Gv 402.10 °ya-romā, here in physical sense, of the body-hairs of a mahāpuruṣa.

a-pratyudāvartya (also a-punaḥ-praty°, q.v.; neg. gdve. of pratyudāvartate, q.v.), not to be turned back, regularly from a religiously desirable course: LV 181.15 °tya-smṛtīmān, irreversibly intent upon . . .; 423.6, read -adhiṣṭhānāpratyudāvartya-cakram, for °na-praty° of both edd. with no v.l., but Tib. has neg. (ldog pa med pa) and sense requires this (see adhiṣṭhāna 2); 439.19 °vartya- (one, sc. a Bodhisattva) who is not to be turned back; Mvy 357 °tya-dharma; Dbh 19.17 °tya-balādhānaprāpta; 38.9; Bbh 225.27, of persons under the training of Bodhisattvas; Gv 246.20 °tyādhiṣṭhāna.

a-pradharsya, adj. (= Skt. apradhṛṣya; neg. gdve. of pra-dhṛṣ), not to be violated: Mv ii.2.4 (v.l. °dharṣa).

a-pranihita = a-praṇihita, q.v.

a-prapata, adj., not conducive to falling down: Jm 102.14 deṣeṣv aprapateṣv api prapatito (in a vs; m.c. for a-prapāta?; but see prapata).

apramāṇa, nt. (in mg. 1 = Pali appamaññā, f.; see CPD s.v.), (1) infinitude, as n. for brahmavihāra (q.v.), of which there are four, maītrī (maitrā), karuṇā, muditā, upekṣā: listed as apramāṇāni Sūtrāl. xvii.17, cf. xx-xxi.43; AbhidhK. LaV-P. viii.196; Mvy 1503-7; Bbh 241.15-16; LV 297.12 (vs) maitrī-upekṣa-karuṇā-muditā-pramāṇāḥ (read °nā? hardly Bhvr.); mentioned without list, Gv 471.18 catur-apramāṇa-vihāra; Śikṣ 105.16; LV 45.16 catur-apramāṇa-prabha-teja-dharaḥ; 341.1 catur-apramāṇa (wrongly printed catura pramāṇa); (2) a high number: Mvy 7934 (cited from Gv); 8041; Gv 134.7.

Apramāṇaḡuṇasāgaraprabha, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 81.19.

apramāṇaparivarta, m., square of apramāṇa (2): Mvy 7935; cited from Gv, where it is (certainly by accident) omitted in the text 134.7; by analogy of parallel forms it would be nt. there.

apramāṇa-śubha, m. pl. (= Pali appamaṇa-subha), of limitless magnificence, n. of one (usually the 2d) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods in the 3d dhyāna-bhūmi (see s.v. deva): Mvy 3095; Mv ii.314.8; 349.1; LV 150.7; Av i.5.3; Divy 68.15; 138.22; 367.12; 568.27; Gv 249.13; Bbh 62.4.

apramāṇābha, m. pl. (= Pali appa°), of limitless splendor, n. of one (usually the 2d) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods in the 2d dhyāna-bhūmi (see s.v. deva): Mvy 3091; Dharmas 128; Mv ii.348.19; 360.18; LV 150.6; Av i.5.2; Divy 68.14; 138.21; 367.12; 568.27; Gv 249.14; Bbh 62.3.

apramāṇābhāsvara, m. pl., n. of a class of gods (see deva): Divy 367.12, mss.; text by em. ābhāsvara, q.v.

a-pramādyā (nt.; neither this nor pra° appears to be recorded in Skt., Pali, or Pkt.), non-heedlessness: Divy 426.3 °yena.

aprameya (Skt. as adj.), (1) m. unmeasurable thing (there are five such, all cpds. of -dhātu): Bbh 294.21 ff.; 296.9 ff.; (2) nt., a high number: Mvy 8042; Sukh 31.2.

a-prasāda (m.; = Pali appasāda; neg. of prasāda, q.v.), unbelief: Mv iii.63.10 alam arthikasya (see arthika 2) aprasādena. To be sure, prasāda, faith, is normally accompanied by the loc.; here gen., lack of belief in the Buddha.

a-prasūti, f., a woman who has not borne children; a young but mature woman, contrasted with kumārī, girl, and madhyastrī, q.v.: LV 321.8 (prose) °ti-rūpāni.

? Aprākṣu or Aprāptiṣu, mss., n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.15; what was meant is not clear to me, but Senart's em. Aprākṣṭa is not plausible.

? apragbhāra (see prāg°), adj., Mv iii.343.2 (so Senart; mss. apabhāra, apadbhāra, intending Pali form?), of the Buddha's voice, perhaps level, even, without descents or drops? Pali apabhāra is used of a body of water, having even or smooth banks, without steep slopes.

aprapta-kāya, adj. (nowhere recorded), something like faint, feeble, overcome: Divy 334.2 f.; 571.11; MSV i.i.11; parallel with kṣāluka, durbalaka, mlāna(ka).

a-prāptika, adj. (cf. Pali apattika, Dh. comm. i.270.23, also pattika = prāptika* 271.1), having no share in profit (Skt. prāpti), so, unprofitable: Śikṣ 251.11, of states of being (dharma); Bendall and Rouse powerless.

Aprāptiṣu, see Aprākṣu.

a-prāpya, adj. (neg. of prāpya, q.v.), not easy, difficult: Mv i.89.17 (bhāra; see s.v. prāpya).

a-prāsādika, adj. (= Pali a-pā°; see prā°). in-auspicious, improper: °kam (sc. karma) akārṣṭh MSV iii.53.15; °kam kṛtam 18.

Apriyākhyā, n. of a yakṣa: Divy 41.4.

apriyākhyāyin, m., reporter of bad news: Divy 529.11 f.; 534.29; 535.2.

a-phāṣa, adj. (neg. of phāṣa, q.v.), unpleasant, disagreeable: Prāt 518.4 °saṃ (n. sg., something unpleasant) bhavad.

abaddhpralāpa, m., = sambhinna-pralāpa, q.v.: °po (so read with mss.), Mv i.107.15, in list of the 10 akuśala karmapatha.

Abala, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3254; Māy 246.22. abalamkartar, one who makes powerless: LV 316.16 (vs) °kartā namucipakṣām (= °ān).

a-bahumāna, (1) nt. disesteem, lack of respect: Mv i.309.15 mālinīye brāhmaṇānāṃ mūle abahumānam utpannam; (2) adj. Bhvr. (in Pali only disregarded, CPD.), showing no regard or respect (with loc.): Jm 234.22 (guneṣv, for virtues).

a-bodhi-ka (cf. AMg. abohiya, ignorant, unenlightened), unconscious; fainting: Māy 219.33.

abrajas, nt., a particle of water (as a small unit of measure): Mvy 8193; see truṭi.

abrahmacaryaṃ-vāda, report or accusation of unchastity: Mv i.36.13; 37.6 (mss. both times; Senart em. °carya-vāda).

a-brāhmaṇya, adj. (neg. of brāh°), not devoted to brahmans, regularly after amātrjña, apitrjña, aśrāmaṇya; see s.v. amātrjña for references; in Mvy 2459 °yam, nt., perhaps the group of those not devoted to brahmans, see s.v. aśrāmaṇya Mvy 2460.

Abhaya, m. (1) n. of a king of Kāliṅga, converted by Buddha: Mv i.178.11; 180.6, 9; (2) n. of a sārthavāha: Mv ii.2.11; (3) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.237.1 f.; (4) n. of a people (? cf. Kirfel, Kosm. 76); sc. lipī, the script used by them: Mv i.135.7, read ramaṭhābhaya- for text ramaṭha-bhaya- (v.l. cama°); (5) n. of a son of King Bimbisāra and Āmrapālī (not corresponding exactly to Pali Abhaya, either 2 or 3 in DPPN, but perhaps a confusion of the two): MSV ii.22.20 ff.

Abhayaḡirivāsin, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9098.

Abhayaṃkarā, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 398.20.

Abhayaḡdeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.13.

abhayaṃdada, adj. and subst. m. (cf. -dada), (1) (= Pali id.) giving security: Śikṣ 176.5, ep. of Bodhi-sattvas; (2) n. of a supernatural ray emitted by Bodhi-sattvas: Śikṣ 338.9; (3) ep. of Avalokiteśvara specifically: SP 441.2; etymologically explained 445.9.

Abhayapurā, or °ra, n. of a capital of the former Buddha Supātra: Mv iii.234.8 and 236.2 °rā, n. sg.; 234.20 °rasmim, loc.

abhayā, (1) n. of an herb, presumably Terminalia chebula as in Skt. and Pali: Gv 496.21; (2) n. of a goddess, to whom the infant Śākyamuni is presented to worship: Mv ii.26.4 ff.

Abhayākaraḡgupta, n. of an author: Sādh 579.12.

a-bhavya, adj. (= Pali abhabba; neg. of bhavya; not in this sense Skt.), unable, with inf. or dat., sometimes absolute: (a) inf., LV 19.19; 246.15 (sākṣātkartum; see below), 18; 247.8, 9; Mv i.316.17 (ājānitum); iii.263.12; 318.10; Bbh 291.1; (b) dat., Mv i.292.9 abhavya so tasya nigūhanāya (so Senart em., mss. taṃ nigūhanāpi), he is unable to conceal that (fault); ii.121.6, same passage as LV 246.15, but here datives: abhavyā eva te . . . jñānāye darśanāye sambodhāye (same passage in Pali MN i.241.8 abhabbā va te jñānāya etc.); Bbh 159.5; Ud vi.7 (parihāṇāya, ms. °nāya, incapable of loss); haritatvāya Mvy 9135 (so with v.l. and Mironov, text haritvāya); Bhik 23b.5; (c) absolute, incapable, impotent, LV 407.22 (delete following daṇḍa); Śikṣ 209.12; Mmk 5.26.

abhavya-tā (to prec.), inability, incapacity: Mv i.292.10.

abhājana-bhūta, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. abhājana in same mg.), no proper vessel, unworthy: Mvy 2457 -sattva. Cf. next.

abhājanī-bhavati (cf. prec. and Skt. bhājanī-bhūta), becomes no proper vessel: MSV ii.73.12.

Abhāvasamudgata, n. of a former Buddha: Samādh 8.8, 10 etc.

abhikīraṇa (nt.), bestrewing (to Skt. abhi-kīratī): LV 430.13 suvarṇacūrnābhikīraṇa-.

abhikīrṇikṛta, adj. (to Skt. abhikīrṇa, ppp. of abhikīratī), made to be bestrewn: LV 82.10 divyapuṣpābhikīrṇikṛtam (lumbinīvanam).

abhikīrtana (nt.; to Pali abhikīrteti), recitation: RP 30.17 corakathābhikīrtanaratāś ca.

abhikrānta (= Pali abhikkanta; on confusion with ati°, partly no doubt graphic, see atīkrānta), (1) adj., advanced, eminent, successful: Divy 311.5 f. abhikrānto 'ham bhadanta (note p. 707 would read ati°, but Pali abhikkanta is used in mgs. very close to this; instead, read abhikr° for atīkr° Divy 462.13); MSV i.54.5; 58.16, etc.; (2) adj., fine, beautiful, of color (Pali abhikkanta, also with vaṇṇa): prob. read in LV 398.11 abhikrāntena varṇena; Lefm. em. abhisamkrāntena v°; most mss. abhisamkāreṇa (seems senseless); v.l. atīsamkrāntena; Calc. atīkrāntena, which is the usual BHS form in this mg. and may be right; (3) n., approach: °ta-pratīkrānta, approach and recession, Mv i.301.5 (mss. atī°); iii.60.5; 182.12 (mss. atī°); °tena pratīkrāntena Mv iii.171.2; atīkrāntābhikrāntaḥ Divy 47.16 (? so mss., ed. em. atīkrāntātikrāntaḥ), perhaps having passed over the approach (to the religious goal)?

a-bhikṣuka, adj. (= Pali abhikkhuka; -ka Bhvr.) containing no monks: °ke āvāse (so in Pali) MSV ii.96.10. Cf. sa-bhi°.

abhigīta, in gāthābhigīta, (ppp.) subst. (in Skt. as ppp., rare; Pali only in the same cpd., gāthābhi°, but its meaning is disputed, see CPD; in any case it certainly does not have the mg. it has in BHS), either dvandva, verses and songs (so Burnouf and Kern on SP 191.3), or (more likely) tatpuruṣa, recitation of verses (so apparently B. and K. on SP 303.2, and Régamey on Samādh); only in instr. °gītena (in SP 191.3 v.l. °gītebhi), with recitation of (a) verse(s); in every case except SP 191.3 followed by one or more stanzas, to which this noun clearly refers: SP 191.3 °tena abhistaviṃsu (sc. Buddham); 303.2 °tenaitam evārtham pariṣprechati sma; Gv 275.25 buddhadarśanam °tena samvarṇayām āsa; Divy 83.9; Samādh 8.20; MSV ii.104.14.

? abhigrhṇati (°āti; Pali abhigraṇhāti, overcomes, once, see CPD which suggests em. to adhi°), excels, surpasses: Mv ii.307.6, mss. abhigrhṇanti (buddhā, raśmībhīḥ), Senart em. atī° (but atī-grah- in this sense is rare and doubtful in Skt. and does not occur in Pali); in next line 7 Senart reads atigrhyate with one ms., the other reads abhigrhṇiṣu; a pass. seems required but perhaps abhigrhyate is to be read.

abhigraṣta, ppp. (occurs in Amarak. as gloss for abhipanna; otherwise no abhi-graṣ is recorded), overcome, scorched: agnīnā abhigraṣtā Mv ii.458.3.

abhigrahaṇa (nt.; Skt. Lex.; not in Pali), seizing, grasping: Lañk 18.8 viṣayābhigrahaṇapravṛttānām (vijñānām).

abhighoṣa (m. ? no form of abhi-ghuṣ recorded), renown: Mv ii.1.14 abhighoṣa-ghuṣtam (kulam; not found in parallel passages Mv i.198 and LV 24). Precedes abhidevādighoṣa°, q.v.

abhichāda, nt. (to abhichādayati, q.v.), present, honorarium: Mv iii.193.8 (hiraṇyasya suvarṇasya ca vastrābharāṇānām ca mahāntam rāśim kṛtvā...) idam te abhichādam bhavatu.

abhichādana (nt.), = prec.: Mv iii.127.17 tasya vipulam abhichādānam (a liberal reward) daḍeyam.

abhichādayati (nowhere recorded in this sense; orig., clothes, trans.), presents, with instr. of the thing given, acc.

of recipient; the gift may be garments but very often is not: AsP 518.16–17 °yati (svakena ca kāyena... bodhisattvaṃ); Mv ii.367.17 (vs) daridra sattva paṣyitvā dhanena abhichādaye; pres. pple., Megh 288.16–17 mahatā gurugauravacitrikāreṇa bhagavantam abhichādayantaḥ, presenting... with homage etc. (wrongly Bendall); perf., Gv 332.21–22 sa tān... sarvavastuparityāgair °yām āsa; 415.3–4 mahāmapiratnapadmaśatasahasraih tam bhagavantam °yām āsa; ger. °chādyā LV 108.2–3; 159.14; ppp. °dīta, SP 76.10 jīvitena, presented with life; Mv i.61.1 (with garments); iii.278.13 dhanena; Śikṣ 33.7 guṇajñānābhichāditā(h), presented with knowledge of virtues (wrongly Bendall and Rouse).

abhijānāti (= Pali id.), (1) knows by abhijñā, q.v. The technical Buddhist meaning of the noun is certainly at times associated with the verb, which in Skt. means knows in a very general way. The extent to which the special Buddhist sense is present in the verb is often doubtful; I list a few cases where it seems pretty clear: abhijānāmi SP 200.8 (Burnouf and Kern, remember, I think wrongly); Mv i.57.7, 12; Gv 446.14; Vaj 34.20. The translation remember, also given CPD, is due to the fact that events of the past are often referred to; but I think the Buddha (the usual subject in such cases) knows them by supernatural knowledge or so-called intuition (abhijñā, q.v.), not by memory; (2) recognizes (as a duty), takes upon oneself (a vow or undertaking); so also in Pali, e.g. MN i.80.5 (definitions in Pali dictionaries including CPD hardly do justice to this mg.): LV 254.2 abhijānāmy aham... ekam evādvitīyaṃ kolam āhāram āhartum, I undertake to allow myself to eat only a single kola as food; similarly LV 255.8, 15.

Abhijī(t), (1) n. of a former incarnation of Śākyamuni: Mv i.2.3 °jī, n. sg.; 5 °jī-, stem in comp.; (2) n. of a former Tathāgata: Mv iii.236.13 °jītam, acc. sg.; 14 °jī, n. sg.

abhijīvin (cf. Pali abhijīvati), living: Mmk 614.7 dirghakālābhijīvī, n. sg.

abhijñā (= Pali abhiññā), higher or supernatural knowledge; intuition (CPD). There are 5 or 6, in both Pali and BHS, agreeing in essence tho the order and precise forms of the names vary. In Dharmas 20, five: divyacakṣus, divyaśrotra, paracittajñāna, pūrvanivāsānumṛti, rddhi; in Mvy 201–209 six, same order, with variant forms, (parasya) cetaḥ-(citta)-paryāya-(q.v.)-jñāna, for the third; the sixth is āśravakṣayajñāna, as in Pali and elsewhere when 6 are named; the fifth is rddhividhijñāna in Mvy 208; SP 134.11 lists 5, practically as in Dharmas except that the fifth is rddhivimokṣakriyā, an unusual phrase, for which no v.l. is given in KN or WT; Burnouf (Lotus App. XIV, p. 821) cites his ms. as reading rddhi-sākṣātkriyā, which is much more plausible. Twenty abhijñā-karmāṇi are set forth in detail Mvy 210–230. In Lañk 292.13–16 the abhijñā, collectively, are classified as to their origin in four ways (in l. 16 read with Suzuki Transl. 242 n. 1 te 'bhijñā na vipākajāh). References to five abhijñā: SP 12.4; 141.9; 254.14; Mv i.284.3; ii.33.11; in ii.96.1 attributed to brahmanical, non-Buddhist ṛṣiḥ; Divy 321.3; Śikṣ 243.13 (read pañco, see p. 412, note) etc.; six, SP 90.7; 129.10; 150.2; 155.2; 255.4; 272.6; Mv iii.55.5 ff.; Divy 399.27, etc.; note Mv i.165.12 where 'by abhijñā' (abhijñāye) the Buddha attains knowledge of the Doctrine taught of old by other Buddhas; this certainly does not mean memory, cf. s.v. abhijānāti, which is commonly but wrongly rendered remembers in similar contexts; mahābhijñā- SP 66.8.

Abhijñāketu, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.18.

Abhijñājñānābhībhū, only in vs, = Mahābhi°, n. of a former Buddha: SP 157.11 (vs).

abhijñāta, adj. (= Pali abhiññāta), well-known, celebrated, distinguished: LV 23.11 (kulam) = Mv i.197.15 = ii.1.6; LV 99.8; Mv i.197.17 = ii.1.8 abhijñāta-pūrvaabhijñāvati (once written °vati) is apparently used in same mg. as abhijñā, q.v., in cpds. in Gv 40.5 (text °vati); 44.24 (1st ed. corruptly °jñānāvati; corr. 2d ed.); 25, 26; 45.1, 2; see § 22.50.

abhitunna, and abhitūrṇa (= Pali abhitunna, also written °ṇṇa; etym., see below), afflicted: Mv i.156.10 (vs) tasya . . . vacābhitunno . . . rudanto (subject Chandaka: afflicted by his words); iii.284.13 śokābhitunna (so Pali sokābhi°). The form abhitūrṇa is read by KN in SP 320.9 duḥkhābhir vedanābhir abhi°, with Kashgar rec.; in 321.3 Kashgar rec. also vedanābhitūrṇān, but KN this time °bhībūtān. Kern cites Pān. 6.4.21 for tūrṇa (not recorded in literature) as ppp. of turvati, overcomes. Neither this root nor tud is recorded with abhi, except for the Pali form cited, which CPD derives from tud, but Kern (see PTSD) from turv, doubtless because of BHS abhitūrṇa. The BHS °tunna could be a MIndicism; but contrariwise, perhaps, °tūrṇa could be an unhistoric hyper-Sktism. All that seems certain is that the two belong together and with Pali abhitunna.

abhitvarāṇa-tā (cf. Skt. abhi-tvarati), state of hastening towards, with loc.: Bbh 203.10 (samyaksam-bodhāḥ) °tayā.

abhidakṣiṇati, or °niyati (denom. from Skt. abhidakṣiṇam, Pali abhi-dakṣiṇa), goes around keeping on the right, in homage: Mv ii.416.11 devarājam °netsuḥ, or °niyet-suḥ, aor. 3 pl.; so mss., Senart em. °niyentsuḥ. In vs, but meter obscure to me.

abhidarśaniya, adj. (not recorded, but cf. Skt. abhidarśayati, °darśana), beautiful: SP 89.7; 128.5.

abhidrḍha, adj., firm: LV 278.17 (prthivipradeśaḥ . . .) °dhaḥ.

abhidevaghoṣaghuṣṭa Mv i.198.3, or abhidevādi-ghoṣaghuṣṭa (v.l. °devābhigho°), ii.1.14, °ṭaṃ (kulam), of the family in which the Bodhisattva is born for the last time, renowned in a manner surpassing the renown of the gods (and their like). In the parallel LV 24.11 daśadigvi-ghuṣṭaśabdām, having its renown bruited about all ten directions. Cf. abhighoṣa.

abhidiotana (nt.; to °dyotayati), (intellectual) illumination, making clear, explanation: Lañk 108.13 padasyā- (of a sentence, expression)-bhidyotanārtham; Gv 243.5 -pāramitācāryābhidyotana-meghān.

abhidiotayati, °te (= Pali abhijotayati, with object artham = artham), illuminates, makes clear, explains (in applied, intellectual sense; object artha, a meaning, or the nature of some religious truth etc.): pres. p. °tayanti Gv 371.19 (-artham); °tayamāna Mvy 6372 (artham); Gv 245.13; 543.7 = Bhad, prose Introduction (kalpān kalpapasaraṇ); ppp. °titam (-niryāṇam) Bbh 258.3.

Abhidharma, m. (= Pali Abhidhamma), n. of the third section of the Buddhist canon: Mvy 1413; Lañk 290.8; Karmav 94.7; 102.1; 103.6; 155.1.

Abhidharma-samyukta, pl. (°teṣu, loc.), n. of a text or class of texts (otherwise unknown, Lévi p. 12), in which some schools are said to have included the Karmav: Karmav 167.12.

abhidhārayati (= Pali id. or °reti), supports, upholds, assists: opt. °rayet Mv i.275.13 (rāṣṭram), 15 (parijānam); with aor. mg., Mv i.250.6 (vs; dharmolkām; = Pali Jāt. i.34.15 dhammokkam abhidhārayi; Senart wrongly em. abhijvālayet); inf. °rayitum LV 100.15 (Mahāprajāpati . . . samarthā . . .) rājānam . . . abhidhārayitum.

abhi-dhyāyati (§ 2.14; to dhyāyati, q.v., = Pali jhāyati), burns, intrans.: °yati Mv iii.341.6, three times; subject, the earth; follows kampe and vedhe (portents which followed the dharmacakrapravartana).

abhidhyālu, adj. (= Pali abhijjhālu; to abhidhyā, imitating irṣyālu to irṣyā), covetous: Divy 301.24; Gv 157.4; 228.15; AsP 427.8; an-abhi°, not covetous, Divy 302.9.

ābhinada-tā, condition of resounding, reverberation: Bbh 76.23 (prose) devadundubhinām °tā ābhinadita, ppp. (m.c. for °nādita), made to sound: LV 80.21 (vs).

ābhinandana, nt., °nā, and °na-tā (= Pali °na, °nā), (1) welcome, joyous greeting: Śiḥṣ 183.7; (2) delight (in an evil sense), lust: Av ii.188.10 °nāya, dat.; Dbh 48.15 °nā, n. sg. f., and 16 °na-taḥ, abl.; KP 125.5 traidhātukābhinandanatayā, instr. sg. (Both mgs. in Pali.)

? Abhibhūyayaśa(s), n. of a future Buddha: n. sg. °yaśo Mv iii.330.14 (so mss.; Senart em. °bhūyaśo, perhaps rightly).

abhibhv-āyatana, nt. (= Pali abhibhāyatana), sphere of sovereignty, one of the eight stages of mastery over the senses (in jhāna, CPD); also called abhibhū, q.v., in BHS: Mvy 1519 (listed in 1520-27); Sūtrāl. vii.9, comm.; xx-xxi.44, comm.

abhimanyati, with acc. or dat. (loc.?), in Mv ii.440.15-17, used four times of the attitude of a husband or wife towards a very ugly spouse; perhaps is hostile towards (as in Skt.), but despises, contemns, or perhaps loathes would seem more natural: (14) anyam-anyam (15) °yanti, . . . patiṃ °yati, (16) . . . patiḥ pāparūpāye bhāryāye abhimanyati, (17) . . . yā te putra nābhimanyisyati. Cf. next.

abhimanyanatā (to Skt. °manyate, BHS °ti), injuriousness, seeking to do harm: RP 19.16 jñānenā 'bhi° (prose); could be em. to avamanyati, cf. 20.2 avamanyati, 20.11 mss. atimanyanatā, Finot em. ava°. But cf. LV 32.14 where probably read parānabhimanyanatāyai for Lefm. parābhimanyatāyai (by em.; mss. parābhigaman-yatāyai, parāgamanatāyai; Calc. as Lefm.).

abhimānika, adj. (from Skt. and Pali abhimāna, in two different mgs.; cf. ābhi°), (1) proud, conceited: SP 380.1 (prose); KP 118.2 (prose), 5 (vs); Mvy 2446; (2) holding an erroneous view: Lañk 146.13 (could be interpreted as ābhi°) nāsty-asti-tvābhimānikasya.

abhimānikā (cf. Skt. and Pali °māna), pride: Gv 527.10 jāty-abhimānikā-nirabhimānatāyai, to make prideless their pride of birth.

Abhimukhī, n. of the 6th of the 10 Bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mvy 891; Dharmas 64; Bbh 346.10; Dbh 5.9 etc.

Abhiya, n. of a monk of old (previous incarnation of Śākyamuni): Mv i.35.13 ff. (A transl. of his story, Mv i.34-45, by R. Otto Franke, in Königsberger Beiträge, 1929, pp. 115-124).

abhiyaśa(s), adj., glorious: LV 12.22 (vs) °śā, voc. before k-).

abhiyācanā (to Skt. abhiyācati; cf. Skt. satyābhiyācana, adj., making requests true, BR s.v.), entreaty: Mv iii.318.14 °nām viditvā; in satyābhiyācanayā Divy 154.5 with appeal to truth = satya-vacana, q.v., Pali saccakiriya, solemn declaration by the truth of something (in Divy spoken by Buddha in effecting a miracle; see 154.25).

abhiyuktaka, adj.-ppp. (= Skt. °yukta), zealous, intent, (mentally) applied: RP 10.10 āśayena . . . abhiyuktakā(h). May be m.c.

abhiyujyate (also °ti; orig. pass. of Skt. abhi-yuj), (is yoked;) yokes oneself; fig. applies oneself (to, loc.; or absolutely): SP 79.11 (prose) abhiyujyadhve, you are yoked, harnessed (to the vehicles just mentioned; wrongly Burnouf and Kern); 80.5, 7 (tathāgataśāsane) 'bhiyujyante, apply themselves; LV 203.4 abhiyujyatha (gauraveṇa), apply yourselves!

abhiraktaka, f. ikā, adj. (= Pali abhiratta; Skt. °rakta not in this sense), (very) red: Mmk 156.24 (vs) tālukā cā 'bhiraktikā (perhaps m.c.). abhirāṅga (m.?), of unknown mg.: Mv ii.86.7 yena saptābhiraṅgā ca. The whole passage is obscure.

abhiracita, ppp. of *abhiracayati: prepared, arranged, fixed up: RP 42.13 (vs) mayābhiracitam yad idam tva-dartheb.

Abhirati, n. of a lokadhātu, where dwells the Buddha Akṣobhya: SP 184.7 (located in the east); Gv 82.9; AsP 366.15.

abhiramya (Pali allegedly abhiramma, Maung Tin, see CPD; Ap. ahiramma, Jacobi, Bhav.; see an-, nir-abhi°), pleasing: LV 187.10-11 sarvamanāpāni copa-samhartavyāni viṣayābhiramyāni; Tib. yul ṅams dgaḥ ba thams cad ni sbyor cig, apparently making viṣaya (yul) subject of upasamhartavyāni, and not translating abhi°. The sense must apparently be all-mind-charming and pleasing objects of sense are to be collected (prepared, for the prince to enjoy); yathābhiramyam (= Pali yathābhirantam), adv., as long as is agreeable: MSV ii.87.19.

abhirādhanā (cf. prec. and next; to Skt. °dhana, Pali an-abhirādhanā), winning favor, conciliation: Mvy 2944.

abhirādhyā, adj. (gdve. to Pali abhirādheti = sā-dhayati, see CPD; Skt. abhirādhyati, only propititates, wins the favor of; cf. prec. two), to be won, attained: Jm 119.8 -abhirādhyā guṇavibhūtiṣ.

Abhirāmavartā, n. of a girl attendant on Subhadrā (1): Gv 52.2.

Abhirāmaśrīvaktṛā, n. of an actor's daughter: Gv 283.3.

-abhirucitaka, adj. (= Skt. and Pali °ta), in yathābhirucitakam, adv., as one pleases: Mmk 76.19 (prose; not dimin.).

abhirudati (in Skt. only ppp. °rudita; not in Pali), laments: ger. °rudya Divy 323.25.

Abhirūpa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.14.

abhirūha (so Senart with 1 ms.) or °hana (so v.l.; = Pali abhirūhana; cf. abhirohaṇa; to Skt. abhirohati), mounting, ascent: Mv ii.289.8 abhirūha(na)sampannāḥ (sattvāḥ, sc. Bodhisattvas; in Pali lit. or fig. of mounting as on a ship, esp. by a gangplank; so presumably here, fig. furnishing a gangplank to salvation).

abhirocate (= Pali °ti; not in this sense in Skt.), surpasses (lit. outshines): Śikṣ 43.2 (sumeruḥ parvatarājaḥ sarvaṇ kulaparvatān abhibhavann) abhirocate ca sama-bhirocate coccatvena vipulatvena ca.

abhirocana (nt.; to prec.), surpassing brilliance, splendor: Dbh.g. 20(356).21; Gv 243.4, in adj. cpd. (sarva-)sattvābhirocanaṃ, having the splendor of all beings, or, illuminating all beings (of a divinity); 345.14 (prose) °na-sabhāgatām.

abhirohaṇa (nt.; Sktized form of abhirūhana, see abhirūha), mounting (on a ship or other vehicle): Gv 494.7 yānabhūtam sarvabodhisattvābhirohaṇatayā, because all Bodhisattvas mount upon it.

abhi-lakṣaṇa, adj. (app. cpd. of abhi, intensive, with lakṣaṇa; Bhvr.), having superior appearance, fine looking (of grass growing on the place of bodhi): Mv ii.263.11.

abhilakṣita (orig. ppp. of Skt. abhi-lakṣ-; = Pali abhilakkhita, see CPD), distinguished; in Pali often with abhiññāta renowned, and so in BHS with abhiññāta Mv ii.263.3, of the place of bodhi; Mv ii.441.18, of a king (mss. abhirakṣito, em. Senart); LV 23.16 °ta-puruṣa-, distinguished men; 25.8 °tāyā(h), and Mv ii.9.1 °tāyām (with mss.), of the mother of a Bodhisattva in his last rebirth; Mvy 2887; Jm 188.21 abhilakṣitātmanāṃ, of distinguished persons.

-abhilagna (only in śakrābhi°, q.v.), fixed upon, worn by (Tib. on Mvy 5960 thogs pa, presumably to ḥdgos pa, tie or fasten on).

abhilapanatā, Mvy 2795 = Tib. mñon par brjod pa, full expression, elucidation (Das); not Geschwätzigkeit (pw 7.306).

abhilāpya (rare except in neg. anabhi°, nirabhi°, qq.v.), expressible, that can be put in words: Bbh 265 16 °pya-vastu; 20 °pyāḥ svabhāva dharmānām. In the prose Introduction to Bhad, line 2, Watanabe reads param-parābhillāpyānabhillāpya-buddhakṣetra-, but the true reading is paramparānabhillāpyānabhi° with v.l. and Gv 543.6; see anabhillāpyānabhillāpya.

abhillāṣa, nt. (in Skt. m.), desire: Mv ii.65.13 °sam utpannam.

abhillāṣika, adj. (= Skt. °ṣin, Pali °si), desirous, wishful: Gv 233.4 (prose) °keṇa cittotpādena.

abhillikhati (not elsewhere recorded in this sense), touches lightly, grazes, with acc.: LV 76.19 (elephants abhillikhati the feet of Śuddhodana with the tips of their trunks).

abhillinaka, adj. (= Skt. °līna; cf. abhinilīnaka), lived in (by birds): Divy 83.21 (prose) kākābhi°, of an old house; perhaps pejorative -ka.

abhilliyati (abhi with Skt. dī), flies thither: °yathā (mss., Senart em. °ta) Mv ii.21.5 (= i.219.3, where ni-ī° is read, see niliyati).

-abhillokana, ifc. (adj. ? or n. act., in Bhvr. cpd. ? to Skt. abhi-lokayati), seeing: LV 179.2 (vs) bahudharma-śatābhillokane . . . cakṣuṣi (nt. acc. dual).

abhillvatsala, adj. (abhi, intensive, with Skt. vatsala), very affectionate: Mv ii.206.11.

-abhillvarṣika, adj. (= Skt. °varṣin, Pali °vassi), raining, pouring down: Gv 481.9 (vs) amṛtābhillvarṣikāḥ, n. pl. m. (-ka m.c.?). abhillvadanā (in Skt. and Pali only °na, nt.), salutation: Bbh 139.7 (prose) °nā-vandana-abhillvāhayati (Skt. in this sense only non-caus. °vahati, chiefly Vedic; Pali abhillvāheti, removes, puts away), causes to be brought near: Gv 54.20 (vs), read, śūra bhūta abhillvāhayāmi me, cause true heroes to be brought to me; 56.8 (vs) dharmayānam °yāhi me.

abhi-vicitrita, adj. (abhi, intensive, and Skt. vicitrita), highly embellished: SP 151.9 and 153.12 (prose) ratnavrkṣābhi°; Sukh 54.12 (prose) -ratnavastuśatābhi°.

abhi-vi-jināti (= Pali °jināti, °jinati, °jeti), ger. °jinitvā, conquers: Mv ii.159.2.

abhillvijñāpayati and °jñāpayati (Pali abhillvijñāpeti only Vin iii.18.32, object methunam dhammam, makes manifest = consummates; Skt. only non-caus. abhillvijñāti, perceives), (1) lit. makes perceptible (by sound), and so makes to resound, with acc. object and instr. svareṇa (śabdena); the common mg. in BHS: SP 122.10 (prose) lokam svareṇābhillvijñāpayati; 369.1 (vs) lokadhātum svareṇa . . . abhillvijñāpeyā (opt.); LV 85.9 lokadhātuḥ svareṇābhillvijñāpto °bhūḥ; 155.3 mahānagarām śabdenā-bhillvijñāptam abhūt; Mv ii.160.8 svareṇa abhillvijñāpitam; Mvy 2785 svareṇa abhillvijñāpayati; Samādh 8.9 lokadhātuḥ svareṇābhillvijñāpto (Régamey wrongly instructed); Sukh 64.15 buddhasvareṇābhillvijñāpayantam (pres. pple.); (2) makes perceptible (visually), makes manifest: pres. pass. pple. abhillvijñāpyamānāni, being manifested, Gv 537.5 (sarvārambānāni), 6 (sarvabodhisattvapaṣāṇamaṇḍalāni).

abhillvinayati, °neti (not in Pali; Skt. only ppp. °nīta), trains completely: fut. pple. °neṣyan Jm 216.8; ger. °netvā (mss., Senart em. °neti) Mv i.297.17.

abhillvokanā (to next), close examination: °nā-pūrvamgamehī dharmehi Mv ii.259.8; 260.1.

abhillvokayati, °keti (not in Pali or Pkt.; Skt. once °lokya, ger., Haravijaya 42.31, see Schmidt, Nachtr.), gazes intently at, examines closely (with acc.): °kayati Mv ii.447.5; °keti ii.259.7; 260.1; pres. pple. °kayanto iii.318.1; °kento ii.398.2; °kayan Gv 99.21; ger. °ketvā Mv i.317.8, 10, 14; all prose except Mv ii.398.2. Cf. prec.

abhillvīśrāṇayati (abhi with Skt. viśrā°), gives away in largess: pass. LV 123.19, read abhyavakīryante (best mss.) smābhivīśrāṇyante (certainly intended, tho acc. to Lefm. not supported in mss.; text °śrāṇyante which is nonsense); so Tib., mñon par- (= abhi) byin no (give).

abhillvṛṣṭa, nt. (substantivized ppp. of Skt. abhillvṛṣṭi, what is rained (upon); rain: SP 127.6 meghābhillvṛṣṭena, by reason of the rain of the clouds upon (them).

abhillvedana or °nā (in comp.; to Pali abhillvedeti), experience, suffering (of pain): Bbh 180.11 (prose) duḥ-khābhillvedanābhinunnasya.

(abhillvyūhayati), abhillvyūhita, ppp. (to abhi with denom. *vyūhayati to Skt. vyūha), festively adorned: LV 273.17 (prose) mārgo °bhivvyūhito °bhūt.

abhillvāradadhāti, °dadhati, rarely °dhayati (?), (= Pali abhisaddahati, always with single s, pointing to a new MIndic prefixation of abhi; not in Skt.), believes, with gen. of person, acc. of thing (as in Pali): °dadhāti Mv ii.209.5; 219.15; KP 16.2; °dadhāsi Divy 305.20 (bhagavatāḥ); °dadhāmi Mv ii.184.17 (etaṃ); °dadhati (3 pl.) Sukh 66.6; °dadhasi Divy 538.3 (bhagavatāḥ); °dadhanti SP 80.4 (prose; tathāgatasya); °dhayanti Suv 192.8 (prose; v.l. °dadhanti); opt. °dadheta SP 93.4 (sūtram); impv. °dadhadhvam SP 315.2 (tathāgatasya); fut. °dadhāsyati Divy 7.29; °dadhāsyanti Divy 14.24; Vaj 41.7; Kv 23.14; °dadhāsyē (1 sg. mid.) Divy 8.1; °dadhiṣyanti Mv iii.76.9; ppp. °dadhāta Divy 16.5; gdvē. °dadhitavya Mv iii.76.6. abhillvāradadhāna-tā (n. act. from prec., with suffix ana plūs -tā, § 22.42; not from Sanskrit pres. mid. pple. -dadhāna), state of believing: SP 332.7; ŚsP 615.10 (both prose).

abhillvāṣakta, adj. (ppp. of Skt. abhi-ṣajati, Pali abhiṣajati, both offend, give offense to; afflict; cf. abhillvāṣajyate; wrongly defined in BR s.v. sañj with abhi; Mbh. Crit. ed. 3.30.26 [Nil. tāpito, tāpayet for abhillvāṣakto, abhillvāṣajet] and 4.4.9 [Rāmakṣṇa paraphrases using abhillvāṣaṅga, glossed parābhava], which are the only two passages cited in BR; pw adds one other from Caraka, abhillvāṣakta, defined correctly heimgesucht), (1) lit. offended, hence angered, wrathful (so the cognate Pali abhillvāṣaṅgin is used; Pali abhillvāṣatta, in most occurrences, = Skt. abhillvāṣakta curled, but see below), always followed by synonyms kupita, caṇḍībhūta (or in Prāt caṇḍīkṛta); Divy 622.11; Karmav 26.5 (here krodhābhillvāṣakta); 27.13; Prāt 500.8; 512.9 et alibi; (2) in Mvy 2965 abhillvāṣaktaḥ defined by Tib. (ñan ba) and Chin. as simply bad, wicked; the Jap. has three alternative renderings, all obviously based on etymological guesswork; one means vituperated. Occurs in a section entitled krodhā-kārāḥ, and containing mostly words for anger, angry etc., and perhaps to be interpreted precisely in this sense; in that case belonging with (1). However, Pali abhillvāṣatta-rūpa occurs once (Vv.chap. 84 vs. 5; p. 78 line 8) as ep. of bhūmippadesa, a region, described as desolate, barren wilderness; the comm. and modern interpreters take it as meaning accursed, identifying it with the usual Pali abhillvāṣatta (= °ṣatta, above); but the Vv.context contains no evidence for this; possibly it = Skt. abhillvāṣakta, orig. heimgesucht (as in Caraka, above), afflicted, evil. In that case abhillvāṣakta of Mvy might mean what Tib. and Chin. say, simply wicked, which would be not a difficult development from afflicted.

? abhillvāṣajjana, nt. (to Skt. abhi with saj or sañj, in a sense not recorded in Skt., but cf. Pali abhillvāṣajati, a, CPD), perh. sticking fast (together), said of the teeth during the process of eating: Gv 401.10 (asyāhāram paribhuñjānasya na) . . . paryavanāho (q.v.) vābhillvāṣajjanam abhiṣajyate (pass. of Skt. abhiṣajati, Pali °sajati; = Pali abhisajjati, b, CPD; cf. abhiṣakta and abhisañjani), gets angry (lit. is offended): Av i.286.4.

abhiṣaṇṇa (ppp. of Skt. abhiṣidati, in different mg., only Vedic and Kās. on Pān. 8.3.118 f.), apparently seated: Sukh 67.8 sa tatra tadābhiṣaṇṇo vābhisampanno vā bhavet (Müller, SBE 49, Part 2, 64: there he might then be either sitting or resting).

abhiṣūyate (= Skt. abhyasū°; in vs but not m.c.; § 3.115), complains: na cābhiṣūyase MSV i.10.6; i.12.1.

abhiṣeka, n. of the tenth (bodhisattva-) bhūmi in one list (not the ordinary one, see bhūmi 4; see also next): Mv i.76.18 daśamī tv abhiṣekāto; 124.20 °ka-bhūmi-prāptānām; Gv 472.25 °ka-bhūmi-sthita, said of Maitreya; Gv 514.7 ekajāti-pratibaddhānām abhiṣekaprāptānām.

abhiṣekavati = prec.: °ti nāma daśamā bhūmiḥ Mv i.193.6, in a colophon.

Abhiṣecanī (v.l. °cavati), n. of a Bodhisattva-dhāraṇī: Mvy 747.

abhiṣnam, see abhiṣnam.

abhiṣyaṇṇa (ppp. of Skt. abhi-ṣyandati, overflows), (lit. overflowing); over-exuberant, excessive, of the bodily humors (dhātu); so Pali abhis(s)anna is used, of the bodily humors (dosa): Mv iii.143.16 °ṇa vātātāpā (see this); 144.6 °ṇehi dhātūhi, and same (but with mss. reading abhiṣyandehi, em. Senart) 153.11 and 154.8. See the following entries.

abhiṣyanda, m. (in Skt. used of a pathological eye-condition; cf. prec. and next), flux, ulceration of the teeth: Gv 401.9.

abhiṣyandati (cf. prec. and following entries), (1) overflows with evil emotion, specifically anger or malice: Mv i.30.5 (asurāḥ) kupyanti vyāpadyanti abhiṣyandanti; (2) some form or derivative of this verb is intended in Mv iii.311.1, which Senart misunderstands; the mg. must be becoming inflated (with evil bodily humors), cf. abhiṣyaṇṇa; this condition of the Buddha's body resulted from his first meal after the seven-weeks fast. The next sentence says that Śakra brought haritakī, a purgative medicine, so that his humors might become pacified, restored to ease, dhātūnām sukhaṃ (em. to mukhaṃ by Senart!) bhaviṣyati. The exact reading in 1 is uncertain; possibly tathā abhiṣyanditam, impersonal, inflation, over-exuberance (of humors) was caused.

abhiṣyandayati, °deti (= Pali abhisandeti; caus. to °ṣyandati), drenches, saturates, irrigates, (a) lit. of plants etc., Mv iii.301.17 vāriṇā °deti pariṣyandeti (q.v.); ppp. °dita, SP 122.8 (plants and seeds); Mvy 6584 (= Tib. brlan pa, sbaṅs pa, drenched, wet); fig. of kuśalamūlāni, roots of merit, °dayiṣyati, fut., Gv 457.18; (b) of mental organs or states, °dita-niścita-citto Gv 151.13; -karuṇā-snehābhiṣyandita-samtāno 189.9, in yoga practice, °dayati softens, makes supple (one's own person), as in Pali (CPD), Mvy 1646 = Tib. mñon du mñen par byed pa, makes very supple; here too followed by pariṣyandayati.

abhiṣvakta (ppp. of Skt. abhi-ṣvaj), attached (to, acc.): Suv 209.9 (prose) jīvitaśarīrāny abhiṣvaktānām (Nobel em. °sarīrabhi°).

abhisamyujyate (pass. of Skt. abhi-sam-yuj), applies oneself to (acc.): SP 124.4 ye . . . tathāgatasya dharmam bhāsamāṇasya śṛṇvanti dhārayanty abhisamyujyante, who . . . apply themselves to the law of the T. as he declares it.

abhīṣṇam, adv. (false Skt. for Pali abhiñham = Skt. abhikṣṇam), constantly: LV 397.15; all mss. (a)bhīṣṇam or °bhī; Lefm. and Calc. abhikṣṇam.

a-bhugna, adj. (neg. of Skt. bhugna), in °na-kuṣi, adj., having a belly that is not crooked, one of the anuvyañjana: Mvy 303; Dharmas 84 (°tā); in Mv ii.44.3 doubtless read abhugnodara for abhagno°; cf. the synonym ajihamakuṣi LV 107.4.

a-bhūta, adj. (neg. of bhūta, q.v.; rare in Skt. in this sense), not true, false: Ud viii.1 abhūta-vādi(r) speaking falsehood; Suv 58.1; Karmav 44.12; Bhik 16a.2; Jm 116.3; Mv i.36.13 (abrahmacaryavāda); 44.13 (abhyākhyāna, q.v.).

abhūtvā-śraddhā (cpd.; ed. prints as two words), belief (in coming into existence of something) after not having been: yadi... °ddhā (if one accepts that belief), vijñānānām... utpattir abhaviṣyad Lañk 41.6; in Lañk 40.14 read (ye kecin... śramaṇā vā brāhmaṇā) vā bhūtvā-śraddhā(h), as Bhvr. cpd., who cherish a belief (in existence of something) after having been, i. e. in persistence of (real) existence (text °vābhūtvā śr°, i. e. vā abh°, and so Suzuki).

? a-bhūmi, adj. (or read or understand a-bhūmyam, neg. of bhūmya, q.v.), non-terrestrial, i. e. celestial, supernal: Mv i.72.9 (vs) vartayiṣyī varacakram abhūmi, I shall start turning the celestial excellent wheel (of the Law). So one ms.; the rest abhūsi (which makes no sense); Senart em. abbhutaṃ, which is violent, and metrically impossible. PTSD alleges a Pali abhumma, groundless, unfounded, unsubstantial, Jāt v.178.11; vi.495.23; but CPD rejects this word and reads abhuṃ me in both passages.

abhaisajya, nt. (= Pali abhesajja, Vin. i.270.18, in parallel to MSV ii.28), what is not a medicinal remedy: MSV ii.28.11 ff.

? abhauti, in Lañk 17.5, text abhauti-bhautikānām; Suzuki things created and uncreated; the mss. are very confused; some simply abhautikānām; perhaps read abhautika-bhaut° (and perhaps render rather of things non-elemental and elemental). Surely no stem abhauti should be recognized. See bhautika (2); one possible reading for the above passage might be bhūta-bhautikānām, of gross elements and (subsidiary elements or) sense-objects.

abhyāṅga(yati), °geti (denom. to Skt. abhyaṅga; = AMg. abbhaṅgai, °gei), anoints: tailena °geti Mv iii.154.14; 156.7 (here v.l. °gi, ger. ?); ger. °gitvā or °getvā (mss.); Senart em. abhyaṅcitvā, intending °jitvā? Mv iii.23.16 (tailēhi).

? abhyadbhuta, adj. (abhi plus adbhuta), very wonderful: SP 23.15. No v.l. in KN; but WT atyad° with ms. K'; perhaps read so (Skt. atyadbhuta).

abhy anumodana, nt. (= Pali abbhano°; to Skt. °moda(ya)ti), or °nā, approval, applause, approbation: Jm 49.16; Karmav 37.13; 39.5; fem., MPS 6.11.

abhyantarā, adv.-prep. (cf. Skt. abhyantara, adj., °raṃ, °re, Pali abbha°; and antarā), within, with gen.: Mv iii.57.17 °rā varṣasatasya, in the space of 100 years.

abhyantarāgra, adj., with tips (directed) inward (and roots outward), said of the grass ground-cover spread by the Bodhisattva for himself at the Bodhi-tree: LV 289.12 °gram bahirmūlaṃ... tṛṇasamstaraṇam samstīrya; in the corresponding passages Mv ii.131.14 and 268.2 read abhyantarāgram (in the first Senart anyatarāgra, reportedly with one ms., v.l. °gram; in the second Senart abhyantarāgre, with mss.; in both the following noun is tṛṇasamstaram; has bahirmūlaṃ been accidentally lost in the Mv text?).

abhyantarita, ppp. (cf., in diff. mg., Pali abbha°, acc. to CPD ppp. of abhi plus antar plus i, but rather denom. pple. to abhantara = Skt. abhyantara), located within: (sarṣapasya) ākāśa-m °to parittam (so read KP 78.5 (vs), the space within a mustard-seed is a small thing).

abhyantarima, adj. (= Pali abbha°; § 22.15), interior; that is within: Mv i.308.18 °me catuḥśāle.

abhyantarimaka, adj. (= prec.), that is within: Mv iii.72.15 °makānām vāñijakānām; 73.17 °makehi (mss. °taramakehi) vāñijakehi.

abhyantaribhūta, ppp. (cf. Skt. abhyantari-kr), included, contained (in, with instr.): Gv 524.19, read na kāyena cittenābhyantaribhūtaṃ (1st ed. by error °tyantari°; corr. 2d ed.).

abhyantarosṭha, adj. (or abhy°; samdhi makes ambiguity), lit. having a lip (in between (the two halves of a cleft lip), referring to an extreme form of hare-lip in which a flap hangs down between the two halves of the cleft lip: SP 350.8 nābhyantarosṭho... bhavati).

abhyabhistutya, ger. (with intensive repetition of abhi, not recorded for this preverb; cf. Pān. 8.1.7, adhyadhi etc.), having greatly praised: LV 319.10 (prose), so Lefm. with best mss.; v.l. abhyarcyā stutvā; Tib. bston de, having praised, not rendering even one preverb.

abhyavakāśa (m.? or nt. = Pali abbhokāsa, m.; in Skt. only Kauś. 46.55 °śe), the outdoors, free space, the open air: twice in a formula = Pali sambādhō (°yam) gharāvāso (rajāpatho) abbhokāso (ca) pabbajjā (see CPD), Mv ii.117.16 = iii.50.9-10 sambādhō punar ayam ghrāvāso (ii.117.16 ghrāvāso; iii.50.9-10 adds, rajasām āvāso) abhyavakāśam (in ii.117.16 mss. °śā, prob. intending °śo, but Senart reads °śam both times) pravrajyā, the household life is confinement (PTSD takes sambādhō as adj., but it is prob. a noun), mendicant's life is open space, free room; °kāśe, in the open air, outdoors, Divy 278.10; Av i.228.9;

Śikṣ 65.14; Mmk 88.26; Lañk 308.10; Prāt 508.8; °kāśa-prakṛitās Dbh 64.5 (Tib. nam mkhañi, sky, heaven).

abhyavakāśika, adj. and subst. m. and (?) nt. (from prec.; = Pali abbhokāśika; BHS also ābhy°, q.v.; cf. also Skt. abhrāvakāśika, which in MIndic would have the same form, and which CPD suggests may be the historic original, BHS having hyper-Skt. forms; but cf. abhyavakāśa, for which no Skt. *abhrā° is recorded), (an ascetic) living in the open air, one of the dhūtaguṇa: AsP 387.8; Śikṣ 137.1 (contrasted with one who lives in a monastery); *kam, n. sg. nt., Mvy 7477, the practice of living as a monk in the open air (but see ābhy°, which prob. read).

abhyavakīrati (= Skt. °kīrati; § 28.34; Pali abhikīrati is used not only as pass., cf. Geiger 175.2, but also, by the side of °kīrati, as active, CPD), strews (upon): pres. pple. °kīramāṇā, with active mg., strewing (flowers), Gv 430.3 (prose); ppp. °kīrita, bestrewn, Mmk 63.25 (prose).

abhyavagāhya, ger. (to Skt. abhy-ava-gāh), Divy 130.13 tām parśadam abhya°, perhaps having ripened, matured, cf. abhyavagāha = pariṇata, completed (of time of life; see Schmidt, Nachtr., s.v. gāh with abhy-ava); or possibly having occupied himself with, cf. -avagāhin in pw s.v.

? abhyākīrati (not recorded), strews (upon): Dbh.g. 6(342).5 °ranti. Note also Dbh.g. 14(350).4, where text abhyokīranti with one of Susa's mss. only; the other, and Rahder's text, abhya°. Should abhyo° (= abhyava°) be read in the first passage also?

abhyākhyāna, nt. (in Mv once app. m. (or f.?); = Pali abbhakkhāna, nt.; Skt. Lex. and Jain, Hem. Yogaś., BR 7.1700; the ppp. °khyāta is recorded twice in BR s.v. khyā with abhy-ā, and occurs also in BHS, Śikṣ 95.13; the noun seems to be a Bu., also Jain, term; cf. abhyācīkṣati), false accusation, slander: often modified by abhūta, false, as Mv i.44.13 abhūto abhyākhyāno (v.l. °nā) dinno (v.l. °nā); 45.11 °nam (acc. sg.); abhūtābhy° Karmav 44.12; Lañk 254.1; °na-bahula, given to false accusations, Śikṣ 69.5; °a-tā Dbh 26.22; other passages Mvy 5233; 8494 (amūlakābhy°); Śikṣ 171.16; KP 5.5; Lañk 66.3 (read °nam for °nām).

abhyācīkṣati (= Pali abbhācikkhati, see s.v. ācīkṣati; cf. prec. and Skt. abhyākhyāta), accuses falsely: Mv i.45.1, opt. °ṣeyam, with abhyākhyānena (see prec.), may I accuse him with a false accusation; ppp. °ṣita iii.27.18 (em., but certain).

abhyānandya, ger., having greeted with approval or gratitude: °dyānumodya Divy 147.20; 462.18 (here mss. abhyan°).

abhyāvasati, indulges in (laughter and conversation); cf. Skt. (adhy-)āvasati, enters into (a state or condition). In Mv i.214.10 read mātā (Senart em. mātām) . . . abhyāvasati hāsyam ca kathāṃ (Senart with v.l. abhyābhavati and kathā) ca; in repetition ii.17.8–9 both mss. mātā and kathām, omitting the verb altogether; Senart reads as in the first passage.

abhyāsanna, adj. (orig. ppp. of Skt. abhyāsīdati, reaches, attains, a rare word; cf. next three), near: Śikṣ 349.19.

abhyāsannī-bhavati (from prec.), becomes or comes near (to, with gen.): °bhavati AsP 348.18, and ppp. °bhūta, brought near, SP 232.5, both with anuttarāyāḥ samyaka-sambodheḥ.

abhyāsāda (cf. prec. and next), attainment: Jm 116.5 anekaśāstrābhyāsādā.

abhyāsādeti (°dayati; cf. prec. three), presses (too) close to (? so Senart), with acc.: tathāgataṃ °deti Mv iii.179.12; impv. °dehi 13.

abhyāsi-bhavati (= Skt. Gr. abhyāsi°; to Skt. abhyāsa, °sa), comes near (to, with gen. or comp.): ŚsP 681.11 sarvākārajñatāyā(h) °vati; caus. ppp. LV 9.8 vaiśāradyābhyāsihbhāvitabalasya; see also svabh(y)āsi-bhavati.

Abhyuccagāmin, occurs in mss. of Mv, in Gv, and as v.l. in LV, for Atyucca°, q.v.

Abhyuccadeva, text of Gv, read doubtless Aty°, q.v. abhyutkṣipati, (1) picks up, raises, lifts up or out: LV 67.12 (of Bodhisattva) pāṇim abhyutkṣipya, raising his hand (most mss. aty°); 72.7 (ṛṇagulamakam api dharaṇitalād) °pya, picking up even a handful of grass from the ground; 83.16 °pya (the gods, picking up the new-born Bodhisattva); 305.14 sāgarād °pya (most mss. aty°); Sukh 31.12 (samudrāt . . .) udakabindum °pet; Mv ii.315.9 °peyā, opt.; 329.2 °pitvāna, ger. (mss. corrupt); Śikṣ 306.11 (vs) °pitvā, ger. (nirmālya śuṣkaṃ, so separate); (2) picks out, selects: Dbh 97.26 °ptam, ppp. (of a jewel, picked out in preference to others).

abhyutsāha, m. (= Pali abhussāha; see next two), energy: Mvy 1813; Bbh 200.3, 14; vīryam abhyutsāho Bbh 204.15.

abhyutsāha-tā, or °sāhanā (so read for atyud° of text; to prec. plus -tā, or to next plus -anā; cf. Pali abhussahana, °sahanatā, °sāha), energy, energizing, instigation, encouragement: (iyam abhyupapattir) iyam śikṣā iyam lokasamvṛttir iyam °sāhatā Divy 547.26; similarly, idaṃ kim? °sāhanā 549.7.

abhyutsāhayati (Pali ppp. abhussāhita; see prec. two), encourages: rājānam °sāhayan, pres. pple., Av i.185.9; 191.10.

abhyudīraṇa (nt.; to Skt. abhyudīrayati), lifting up (the voice), uttering: LV 399.20, read sugirābhyudīraṇe for pratilābhy-ud° (supported by Tib. and both parts found in some mss.).

abhyudgacchati (for which atyud° often occurs in the tradition, either as v.l. or in all mss.; see under atyudgacchati; in most meanings Pali abhuggacchati and derivs. support this reading), (1) arises, of the sun: sūrye °bhyudgate Vaj 32.17; rises in the air, often with vaiḥāyasam (as in Pali, vehāsam) or the like, vaiḥāyasam abhyudgāmya Divy 223.12; Mv i.55.2; 239.18 (mss. aty°); iii.425.17, 23; vai° abhyudgacchanti (v.l. aty°) Mv i.21.7; parśanmaṇḍalamadhyād abhyudgamyopary antarikṣe vaiḥāyasam (mss. °se) sthitvā SP 241.15; vihāyasam abhyudgataḥ Divy 223.13; kālo nāgarājā . . . svakāto bhavanāto (i. e. from the nether world) abhyudgamitvā (v.l. aty°) Mv ii.302.14; vihāyasā saptatālamātram abhyudgāmya (both edd. aty°, no v.l.) LV 18.16; so also Samādh 8.9 (antarikṣe saptatālamātram atyudgāmya); yāvad brahmakāyam ghoṣam (n. sg.) abhyudgacchet (preterite; mss. aty°, em. Senart) Mv i.229.16, the sound rose up as far as the company of Brahman; similarly Mv i.240.5 (mss. atyudgame) and 333.7 (yāvad brahmakāyikā devanikāyā, as far as the divine abode of the companions of B., ghoṣam atyudgacchet, Senart em. abhy°); also Mv i.231.4 śāram (mss., see s.v. śāra) abhyudgato (mss. atyudgataṃ); fig. sarvalokābhyudgato LV 60.14, risen above the whole world (of Buddha); fig. advances, prospers, bhogair abhyudgacchati Divy 237.19; (2) of water-plants, which rise above the water (in this sense Pali seems to use only accuggamma = atyudgama! but BHS tradition abhyud°): LV 76.11 -puṇḍarikāny abhyudgatāni (puṣkarīṣu; in next line 12, puṣpaphalavṛkṣā dharanītalād abhyudgama, confirming the reading of all mss.); Mv iii.318.8 udakāto abhyudgatāni (contrasted with other water-plants which are antodakāni or samodakāni, under the water or level with it), parallel to LV 400.5 udakābhyudgatāni (contrasted with udakāntargatāni and udakasamāni); (3) arises = sets out upon an undertaking: lokahitārtham (the welfare of people) abhyudgatasya Divy 102.7, cf. abhyudgama (ger.) 103.11; (4) arrives at, comes to, gets: naivam tṛptim abhyudgacchate Divy 235.21, does not by this means become satiated. See also next.

abhyudgata (1), nt., a high number: Gv 106.1; 133.10; = atyudgata, which is cited from Gv in Mvy 7862. Either might be original; see the two verbs, and cf. Pali accuggata and abhuggata; (2) m., n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.12.

Abhyudgatakarma, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8.

Abhyudgataprabhā(i)rī, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.2 (vs).

Abhyudgatarāja, n. of a kalpa: SP 469.8.

Abhyudgatābha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.10.

Abhyudgatoṣṇiṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇīsarajānaḥ (see Uṣṇīṣa 3): Mmk 41.10.

abhyudgamana, (1) rising in respectful salutation (so Skt. Lex.): kumārasyābhyudgamaṇam kariṣyāmi Mv iii.111.18, I will cause (people) to rise and salute the prince; (2) rising of the sun: Divy 334.28 (sūryasyābhyudgamana-samaye); LV 16.12 (°na-velāyām; here v.l. °tyudgam°).

abhyuddidhīrṣā (from desid. of abhy-ud-dhr, not recorded; cf. Skt. ud-didhīrṣati, and the foll. items), desire of lifting up or rescuing: Sādh 97.6 jagatām abhy°.

Abhyuddhāra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.5.

abhyuddharaṇa (nt., = Pali id.; cf. prec. and next two), pulling out, with implication of rescue: Śīkṣ 6.5–6 (cited from Gv but not in the pertinent passage, Gv 495) baḍisabhūtam (sc. bodhicittam) saṃsārajalacarābhyuddharaṇa-tayā, it is like a fishhook, because it pulls out people moving (like fish) in the water of the round of existences (otherwise Bendall and Rouse Transl. p. 6). See especially abhyuddhāraṇa.

abhyuddhāra, m. (cf. prec. items, and next), rescue, deliverance: °ro Divy 192.6.

abhyuddhāraṇa (nt., cf. prec. items, esp. abhyuddharaṇa), = prec.: Gv 143.22 sarva-sattva-saṃsāra-sāgarābhyuddhāraṇa-tāyai.

abhyunnata (ppp. of abhy-un-nam; Skt. id. and Pali abhunnata, °unnata, as adj.), (risen up, erect), as periphrastic past, arose: Mv i.187.15, mss. abhyunnato or aty°; Senart em. abhyudgato.

abhyunnāmya, ger. (to Pali abhunnāmeti, caus. of Skt. abhy-un-nam; Skt. only abhyunnata, q.v.), having lifted, raised up: LV 319.6 (prose). Cf. atyunnamaya.

? abhyupakāia, adj., apparently something like competent: Mv i.134.3 (prose), mss. kleśavyupasame (vv.ll. °vyayasame, °vyapasame; understand °same) 'bhyupakālās (2 of 6 mss. °tyupa°) ca kuśalās (1 ms. °pakāla-kuśalās) ca bhavanti (Senart reads by em.: kleśavyaya-śamābhyupakāra-kuśalās ca bha°; there is no record of any abhyupakāra, any more than of °kāla).

abhyūhya, ger. (read prob. abhyūhya; to Skt. abhyūh; cf. next), having deduced by reasoning: Bbh 156.4.

abhyūhanā (= Skt. abhyūha; cf. prec.), reasoning, logical deduction, inference: Bbh 83.6.

? abhṛatī (Skt. Dhātup. only, with artificial occurrences in Bhaṭṭikāvya; Pali abhṛati, also only Gr.), goes: perhaps read (a)bhṛitvā, or MIndic (a)bbhitvā, ger., having gone, Mv i.187.7 (vs; after final -o, -ā, or -e); mss. bhyatvā or bhyotvā (one tyotvā, one datvā); Senart em. bhūtivā, which I think is clearly wrong; a verb of motion seems required.

amañku-bhūta, see mañku.

amata, adj. (MIndic for Skt. amṛta), immortal: LV 261.20 (vs), read with mss. naivāham amataṃ (ma-)nye; cf. Mv ii.238.19 (same line) nāham amaro ti manyāmi; so Tib. mi hchi sñam du ña mi sems.

amatsyamāmsaka, adj. or subst., (an ascetic practice) involving eating no fish or meat: LV 248.17 (prose) °kair (sc. ātāpana-paritāpanañh).

a-madḡu, adj. (neg. of madḡu, s.v. mañku), not annoyed: Bbh 125.26 °gur (so mss., one possibly a-maṅgur; ed. wrongly em. a-maṅkur).

a-madhyama, adj. (not recorded in this sense), immoderate, extreme: LV 416.19 °mā pratipad, viz. extreme asceticism, opp. to the middle course, madhyamā pratipad.

a-manasikāra, m. (= Pali id.; neg. of manasi°, q.v.), lack of attention; inattention: Bbh 240.19 (pañca-sthāneṣv) amanasikāram kṛtvā; 20, 25, etc.

a-manāpa (less often a-manaāpa), adj. (= Pali id.; neg. of man°; cf. next), unpleasant: Mv ii.150.6, 10; Gv 157.10 (text amān°, misprint?); Bbh 186.2, 6; LV 71.11; amanaāpa Dbh 24.10.

a-manāpika, adj. (neg. of Pali manāpika = °pa), = prec.: Mv ii.150.5, mss. amanāpikāni, Senart em. amān°; to be sure mānāpikāni (see this) occurs in the same line; but next line has amanāpaṃ, and in view of the Pali form no em. is necessary.

amanuṣya, subst. m. and adj. (cf. next and amānuṣa; as subst. = Pali amanussa; in Skt. only Lex. and Pāṇ. 2.4.23), (1) subst. spirit, demon; SP 83.9; in lists of kinds of creatures, in cpd. SP 169.2 deva-nāga-yakṣa-gandharvasūrā-garuda-kiṃnara-mahoraga-manuṣyāmanuṣyaḥ; SP 69.5–6; same list as separate words Gv 141.24 devān . . . manuṣyān amanuṣyān; Mv ii.107.13, read with mss. anyā kiṃnarañām gatiḥ, amanuṣyāñām, different is the path of the k°, who are demons (or, as adj., superhuman); amanuṣya-vyādhi, disease caused by a demon or spirit, Mv i.253.11 ff.; 284.6 ff.; 287.5; amanuṣya-upasarga (so prob. read, as cpd., with one mss.), id., Mv i.287.17; °śyābhisṛṣṭa Bbh 63.6; (2) adj., superhuman: Mv ii.30.16 °śyāni ca gītavādyaśabdāni (so with mss.; Senart amānu°).

amanuṣyaka, subst. m. = prec.: °kā(h) palānā(h), the demons fled, (or, were put to flight); often with instr. of agent) Mv i.270.11 (bhagavatā); 283.7 ff.; 288.9–12; amanuṣyakāḥ Divy 451.3 (vs, bad meter; in same vs 456.21 amānuṣāḥ, correct meter; of beings who evidently resemble kiṃnaras).

Amanoratha (cf. Manoratha), n. of a piśāca: Mmk 18.5.

amantra, nt., or amantrā, f., a high number: °tram Gv 133.17; Mvy 7880, cited from Gv, Tib. gzal yas, implying amātra, q.v.; amantrā Gv 106.7.

a-manyana-tā (cf. manyana, °nā), the not being proud: Śīkṣ 192.3 svagunair a°.

amama, m. or nt., a high number: °maḥ Mvy 7795; °mam Mvy 7924, cited from Gv 134.3, where text mama-mam (read amamaṃ); Gv 106.18 sattva-mamasya, text, read sattvāmamasya.

Amaradeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.4.

Amaraparvata, nt. (or m.), n. of a town: Māy 18 °te; cf. Lévi p. 66.

Amarā, (1) n. of a smith's daughter (= later Yaśodharā), who married Mahauśadha; heroine of a Jātaka which = the Pali Sūci-j, No. 387: Mv ii.83.19 ff.; colophon 89.11 Amarāye karmārādhītāye jātakam. In the Sūci-j. the characters are unnamed; but (Pali) Mahosadha amūlā (hardly identifiable with Skt. amūlā, BR 1.378; cf. Pali amūlā latā, amūlā(ka)-valli), a kind of tree (?); Gv 508.3 °lā nāma vṛkṣajātiḥ; but the context suggests a parasitic woody vine.

amūlyaka, f. °kā (Skt. °ya plus -ka), priceless: °kayā śraddhayā MSV iv.225.16; so ms., ed. amūlakayā, with Tib., but this gives an impossible mg.

Amṛta, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3319.

Amṛtakundali, n. of a deity: Mvy 4330.

Amṛtaparvataprabhāteja(s), n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.9 °jas, n. sg.

Amṛtaphala, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.3.

Amṛtavindu (= °bindu), n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.11 amṛtāśmaḡarbha (m.; cf. amṛtāśma, Kāś. on Pāṇ. 5.4.94), n. of gem: Mv ii.310.12.

Amṛtodana (= Pali Amito°, brother of Suddhodana and father of Anuruddha and Mahānāma), n. of a Śākyan aristocrat, brother of Suddhodana: Mv i.352.13; 355.20; father of Anuruddha, Mahānāma, and Bhaṭṭika, Mv iii.177.2; mentioned Mvy 3602; Av ii.111.8.

ameya, nt. (Skt. adj. immeasurable), a high number: Mvy 7816.

ameya-parivarta, m., square of the prec.: Mvy 7817.

Amoghacanda, n. of a deity: Sādh 3.4 et alibi.

Amoghadaršana, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3332.

Amoghadarśin, (1) n. of a satpuruṣa, q.v.: SP 3.12; (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 171.9; Śikṣ 169.9; (3) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 717; Samādhi p. 36 line 2.

Amogharāja, (1) n. of a disciple of Buddha: LV 2.1; Sukh 2.10; (2) = Amoghasiddhi: Sādh 16.10.

Amoghasiddhi, n. of the 5th of the ('transcendent') Buddhas of Dharmas 3; Mvy 86; Sādh 13.6 et alibi. Cf. Amogharāja (2).

Amohadharmeśvara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.23 (text Moha°, without avagraha, after -o).

amoham, adv. (= AMG.id., Skt. and Pali amogham; cf. moham), not in vain: Mv iii.254.14 ff.

āmbakā (= Pali id.; cf. Skt. ambā), a (poor, CPD) woman: MPS 11.25, of Āmrāpālī.

ambara, (1) m., garment (recorded only as nt. in Skt. and Pali): LV 92.16 (vs) ambarān, acc. pl.; (2) m., n. of a Buddha: Mv i.124.4. See also dravyāmbara.

? ambāsanaka (or āmb°), in Divy 221.29, mss. prāsādāmbāsanakā; some part, or accompaniment, of a palace; ed. em. prāsādā svāsanakā, which is implausible.

Ambulima (m. or nt.), n. of a locality: Māy 92 (cf. Lévi p. 103).

ambhīrya, v.l. for āmbhīrya, q.v.

Amrapālī, see Āmra°.

ayakva, or ayakka, or apa°, or with stem-final ā, Mv ii.465.2, 13, some product of the carpenter's craft; the mss. vary as indicated; the form ends in -ā and is n. pl.

a-yathāvata, adj. (cf. Skt. a-yathāvat, adv.; Pali yathāva and a-yathāva, adj.), not normal, not 'comme il faut': Gv 436.13 (prose) °vatena rūpeṇa. (Read a-yāth°? Cf. yāthāvatas.)

ayava, m. or nt., a high number, Mvy 7774 (m.; so also Mironov); Gv 133.24 (nt.), cited in Mvy 7903 apparently in mss. as apavah, but Kyoto ed. in paren. adds (as em.?) ayavam, and Tib. rendering is clearly meant to be identical with that for ayava 7774. Altho Mironov reads apavah without v.l. in 7903, further confirmation of stem ayava is prob. furnished by Gv 106.13 where for text sattvajavasya we should doubtless understand sattvāj°, that is -ajava = ayava (or even read sattvāyavasya?).

Ayaskilā, m., n. of a mountain; Ayaskilā, n. of a river: (both) Divy 106.25.

ayas-prapātikā, see prapātikā.

Ayāfi-vana, n. of a forest: Māy 59.

ayukta-yogin, one who has not practised discipline: SP 93.11 (vs) °gīna, gen. pl.; Kern, yogins who are not self-restrained, and similarly Burnouf; this seems to me inaccurate.

ayuta, nt. (m. in Skt. only Mbh. Crit. ed. 3.21.24; in BHS noted as m. Mvy 7998), in Skt. only defined as 10,000; so also Mvy 8054 = Tib. khri; but oftener = 100 koṭis or 1,000,000,000 = Tib. ther ḥbum, so defined LV 147.20 (cited Mvy 7955), also Mvy 7998, and presumably also 7701, 7827 (in these at least higher than koṭi, and between this and niyuta); in Sukh 31.1 a very much higher number, listed between nayuta and akṣobhya.

ayoniśa, adj. (abstracted from ayoniśo-manasikārah, cpd., see next, secondarily analyzed as °śo (n. sg.) manasikārah; hence nonce-form °śena, instr.), not fundamental or thoroughgoing, superficial: LV 419.17 (vs) samkalpakal-pajanitena ayoniśena (so best mss., Lefm. °śena; sc. manasikāreṇa?; no noun expressed, unless samkalpa, q.v., be taken as a separate instr.) bhavate avidyā etc.

a-yoniśas (neg. of yoniśas, and similarly used; = Pali ayoniśo; for usage see yoniśas), not in a fundamental or thoroughgoing way; superficially: (a) adv., Bbh 46.10 °śo vikalpya; (b) in comp., °śo-manasikāra Dbh 48.6 (prose); °manaskāra Divy 445.2; Gv 495.7 (cited Śikṣ 6.4, where read ayoniśo-man°); Śikṣ 157.14; °śaś-citta (so Pali °śo-citta) Suv 61.12; RP 48.10 (here could only be a cpd.); °śo-vikalpena, by superficial (false) imagination, Lañk 265.15.

ayyaka, m. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. āryaka), grandfather: Mv ii.426.16; iii.264.2. Cf. aryaka, payyaka.

Araktapravāda, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.5.

araksya (written also arakṣa, ārakṣa, °śya in mss.), nt. (= Pali arakkheyya or ār°), point that does not need to be guarded; the Tathāgata has three or four, in Pali and BHS; viz., his conduct is completely and automatically pure, so that he does not need to be on guard; in body, speech, and mind (kāya, vāc, manas); when the fourth is added it is manner of livelihood (ājīva). True reading a-rakṣya; Tib. bsruṅ pa med pa (Mvy 191; note on Bbh 375.6), and so Chin. acc. to Lévi, Sūtrāl. Transl. p. 303 note. Three (as in Pali DN iii.217.8 ff.): Sūtrāl. xx.53; Bbh (mss. sometimes corrupt) 89.6; 230.13 (ed. ārakṣyāṇi, ms. ārakṣāṇi); 375.6; 403.23; no number, 408.4; four (as in Pali AN iv.82.15 ff.) Mvy 191–195; in 195 read ājīva for jīva; in 191 Mironov ārakṣāṇi, but Kyoto ed. correctly arakṣyāṇi without v.l.

araṅgaṇa, some kind of flower: Mmk 668.8 (prose) °ṇa-puṣpāṇām.

Arajottariya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.9.

Arajovirajonayayukta, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 616. Not in the list ŚsP 1425.17 (where it should be inserted), but in corresponding list 1414.16 (misprinted °rajonayukto).

a-raṇa, adj. and subst. nt., also araṇā subst. f. (= Pali a-raṇa, adj. and subst. nt.; araṇā not in Pali unless, by em. m.c., in Pv iv.1.33 for text araṇa-vihāri, see CPD s.v.; neg. of Pali, BHS raṇa, q.v., = kleśa, Pali kilesa), (1) adj., free from depravity, passion, impurity, = Tib. ṅon moṅs pa (also = kleśa) med pa: Divy 395.30 parvataguhānilayam araṇaṃ vairaparāṇmukhaṃ praśamayuktaṃ; on Av ii.130.2 see s.v. araṇya; RP 16.3 (vs), text araṇya-vividhāprānta sevamāno, read araṇa (required by meter; for °ṇam) vivi°; in some cpds. seemingly adjectival, as araṇāśaya- (misprinted araṇāśaya), passionless heart, Dbh.g. 7(343).7, which suggests that for the corrupt text maitrapeśi raṇvanāśayo (!) ghaṇaḥ Gv 482.25 (vs) we must read maitra peśir araṇāśayo (°aṇva° is unmetr.!) ghaṇaḥ; prob. also Mvy 617 araṇa-samavasaraṇa, n. of a samādhi, cited from ŚsP 1414.17 where saraṇa is added after araṇa; Mvy 618, cited from same place; also araṇais the hero of the Mahāummagga-j., No. 546, and Amarā is his wife. This has misled both CPD and DPPN into identifying this Pāli Jātaka with the story of Mv. Actually the stories are quite different, and Mv agrees with the Sūci-j., which, to be sure, acc. to the Story of the Present, belongs to the same occasion as the Mahāummagga; hence doubtless the transfer of the names of the hero and heroine from one to the other. Which was the original? (2) n. of a river: Māy 253.6; in a list between Viśvāmitrā and Tāmārā; not in Kirfel; perhaps read Amalā? (but this also is not recorded as a river-name).

Amalā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.26.

a-mātrjñā (neg. of mā°, q.v.), not honoring one's mother, regularly followed by apitrjñā, aśrāmaṇya, abrahmaṇya, not honoring fathers, monks, brahmins: Mv iii.363.8; Divy 293.25; Gv 228.15; 353.3; Bbh 252.21; SP 429.7; amātāpitṛjñā-tā, aśrāmaṇya-tā, abrahmaṇya-tā Karmav 40.10.

amātya-prekṣita, Mv ii.1.9 (mss.), or amātyā-veksita, LV 23.20, watched (guarded) by ministers, nt. adj., epithet of the family in which the Bodhisattva is to be born; and to be taken closely with foil. phrase, Mv tam kulam bhogām bhujāti, LV tat kulam bhavati bhogām paribhūnakti, it eats its meals (or, enjoys its wealth) under the guardianship of ministers; so Tib. blon pos blta zhiñ loñ spyod la spyod pa yin. In Mv the mss. have °preṣitaṃ, which Senart emends rightly; but he also, wrongly, em. amānya for amātya. The parallel Mv i.197.19 is different and doubtless corrupt.

amātra, m., a high number: Mvy 7752a. So read with v.l. for sumātra, m., which is read by Mironov without v.l. But Tib. gzhal yas, without measure. Cf. amantra.

a-mātrajñā, adj. (neg. of mā°; = Pali amattaññu; cf. next), immoderate (in eating): Ud xxix.15.

a-mātrajñā-ta, adj., f. °tā (or, in mss., °jñā°; see under mātrajñātā), Bhvr. cpd., which has no moderation (in eating): Mv iii.48.17; 49.4 (parṣāye...) bhojane amātrajñātāye (so Senart; it seems to me necessary to read °jñātāye, with v.l. 48.17).

amānuṣa, m. (1) = amanuṣya(ka), subst.: Divy 456.21 (see s.v. amanuṣyaka); LV 75.15; (2) n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.26.

amāpya, amāpiya (not in Pali or Skt.; neg. gdve. to caus. of root nā), (1) adj. immeasurable: °pya SP 66.4; Vaj 34.2; °piya Mv ii.362.11 (prose): (2) subst. nt., a high number: Mvy 7948 (cited from Gv); 8046; Gv 106.25; 134.14 (all °pya).

amāpya-parivarta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.14), square of prec. (2): Mvy 7949 °taḡ (cited from Gv); Gv 106.25 (gen.); 134.14 °tam, n. sg.

amita, ppp. (to root am; recorded only in Skt. Gr.), sick: Mv ii.430.3, mss. varaṃ tam amito (Senart em. ramito, implausibly) ahaṃ, sick as I am, I am a better choice for you.

Amitateja(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.16.

Amita-tosala (nt. or m.; cf. Tosala), n. of a country in the south: Gv 179.3 °le.

Amitadhvaḡa, n. of a Buddha in the west: Sukh 97.15.

Amitanātha, another name for Amitābha: Sādh 360.4; 363.13.

Amitaprabha, (1) another name for Amitābha: Sukh 50.6 (vs); 53.15 (vs); 62.13–14 (prose), here one of three names for the same personage, Amitābham Amitaprabham Amitāyuṣam (tathāgatam etc.); (2) n. of a different (future) Buddha: Sukh 70.6.

Amitalocana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.11.

Amitavyūhavatī, n. of the lokadhātu of Amitāyurjñānaviniścayarājendra: Mmk 303.24.

Amitaskandha, n. of a Buddha in the west: Sukh 97.14.

Amitā, n. of a sister of Śuddhodana: Mv i.352.14; 355.20.

Amitābha, (1) n. of the Buddha who presides over the western paradise Sukhāvati (lokadhātu); also known as Amitāyu(s), Amitaprabha, Amitanātha, and doubtless intended by the Mmk names Amitāyu(rjñāna)-viniścayarājendra (or the like), even tho he is once depicted separately in a painting centering about that personage (Mmk 305.12–13, cf. 304.25). See these names separately. The two commonest names are Amitābha and Amitāyus, and they are as a rule quite equivalent and interchangeable; see notably Sukh 62.13–14; 95.15 and 20. Often Sukhāvati is mentioned with him. He is the fourth of the 'transcendent' Buddhas, Dharmas 3; Mvy 85. Other occurrences: Suv 2.5; Bhad 49, 57, 59, 62; Śikṣ 175.6; Kv 18.7; 21.8 etc.; Mmk 42.16; 426.7; Gv 82.5; Lañk 283.7; Sukh 1.6; 28.10 etc.; Sādh 16.10 etc.; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.22 (one of a long list, and hardly to be identified with the Buddha A.).

Amitāyu (or °yus; n. sg. always °yus), another name for Amitābha, q.v.: SP 184.13; 419.3 (one ms. °tābha); Suv 8.2; 120.6; RP 57.21; Sukh 32.13; 49.4; (in the 'Smaller Sukh' mentioned before, and oftener than, Amitābha: 93.3; 95.15 etc.).

Amitāyurjñānaviniścayarāja, Mmk 7.12, or °rājan, id. 301.20, n. of a Tathāgata, presumably = Amitābha (°tāyu); see the following items.

Amitāyurjñānaviniścayarājendra, Mmk 301.15; 303.23; 426.8; or °viniścayendra 365.16, = prec.

Amitāyurvati, n. of the lokadhātu of Amitāyuviniścayarājendra: Mmk 304.21 f.

Amitāyuviniścayarājendra = Amitāyurjñānaviniścayarāja etc.: Mmk 304.25.

Amitāyus, see °yu.

Amitauja(s); n. sg.), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.1.

amitraka (cited for Skt. by Galanos [pw]; = Skt. amitra, with -ka, perh. specifying), (one that is) an enemy: MSV ii.20.7; 21.3.

amila (v.l. āmila, q.v.), m. (AMg. amila, 'a cloth made in the Amila country; a woollen cloth', Ratnach.; there is no country called Amila in Kirfel; cf. also Pali āmilāka, a certain kind of woolen cloth), Mvy 9172 = Tib. beḡu ras yug chen, which seems to mean about what the Chin. means, viz.. large cloth of calf's hair.

a-milāna, see s.v. milāyati.

a-mukhara, adj. (= Pali id.; neg. of Skt. mukhara), either not garrulous, or (acc. to CPD for Pali equivalent, used in parallel formula) not scurrilous (cf. also mukhara): Mv ii.356.12 = iii.280.18, with avikīrṇa-vāca, q.v.

[amuñciyaṃ, Senart's em. at Mv i.184.9, apparently understood as neg. gdve. from muñcati, not to be escaped from. But mss. a-muñciya (one °yaḡ; at end of line of vs), and this is prob. to be kept, as neg. ger.: not having got rid of, i. e. if one does not get rid of (this evil thought).]

amūḡha-vinaya, m. or nt. (= Pali amūḡha°, see CPD; described MN ii.248.5 ff.), disciplinary procedure for one not (any longer) insane (and forgiven sins committed during past insanity), one of the adhikaranaśamatha: Mvy 8633; nt. MSV ii.207.12.

a-mūlaka, f. °ikā (= Pali id., as adj.), groundless, baseless (of an accusation): Mvy 8494 amūlakābhya-khyānam; Prāt 519.7 amūlakena saṃghāvaśeṣena dharme-nānudhvamsayet; MSV iii.108.19 ff.; as subst. nt., groundless accusation: °kam Mvy 8376, a saṃghāvaśeṣa offense, described Prāt 481.6–10 and in Pali Vin. iii.163.21 ff. (a monk falsely accuses another monk of a pārājika sin, then of his own accord repents and confesses); MSV iii.88.1.

samādhi, passionless samādhi, Mv i.164.15, or having . . . (Bhvr.), Mvy 1125 (note that Pali uses araṇa as adj. with samādhi); (2) °ṇa, subst. nt., freedom from passion or depravity, non-passion, etc. Mv i.165.5 (vs) sukham samādhim araṇāni sevato; in cpds., araṇa-bhāvanayā Samādh 19.4 (prose; cf. 3, below), by bringing to pass freedom from kleśas; araṇavihārin (= Pali id.), dwelling in a passionless state, Mvy 6366 (here araṇa-vihārin, below, seems to indicate that araṇa is substantival in force); (3) araṇā, subst. f. (on Pali see above), in BHS seems = araṇa nt.; as separate word, in AbhidhK, see below, and Bbh 89.1 yā ca tathāgatasyāraṇā; in comp., araṇa-vihārin = araṇa-v°, above; sometimes ā could be m.c., as Divy 401.4; but in prose in the rest; Subhūti is the first of araṇavihārin, AsP 20.8; Vaj 26.12; Av ii.131.5–6; AdP, Konow MASI 69, 13.33; other cpds., pratisamvid-araṇā-praṇidhi-jñānādīnām (contains a four-member dvandva) guṇānām Bbh 207.22; araṇa-bhāvanayā Samādh 8.16 (prose, = araṇa-bh°, above, in a closely parallel passage); araṇa-sampannā(h) Mv ii.292.17; in LV 428.13 read with v.l. araṇā-dharma-supratilabdhā for text aranya°. La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK vii.86–88 defines araṇā as le pouvoir d'empêcher la naissance de la passion d'autrui; but in my texts it seems to be much less complicated, a simple equivalent of araṇa. Did it start in verses, m.c. (cf. Pali, above, Pv iv.1.33), and somehow come thence into prose? Or (more likely) was araṇā orig. adj. (to 1, above) with a fem. noun (samāpatti? cf. AbhidhK LaV.-P. iv. 121; or maitrā, Pali mettā?). See also Renou, JA 1939, 369 note 1.

Araṇasamavasaraṇa, m., n. of a samādhi, Mvy 617; cited from ŚsP 1414.17; 1425.17 where saraṇa is added after araṇa-; Tib. supports the BHS in Mvy. See araṇa.
Araṇasaraṇasarvasamavasaraṇa, m., n. of a samādhi, Mvy 618; cited from ŚsP 1414.17; 1425.19 (here °saraṇa).

Araṇemi (°min, °mī?), m. (= Pali id.; also °nemi, q.v.), n. of a brahmanical sage: °nemi-Gautamau, dual dvandva, Divy 632.12; °mī (n. sg.) Gautamo (two words, but the same person) 651.7; °miś ca Gautamo (one person) 653.12. Cf. next. Probably the dual cpd. is a mere error.

Araṇemika, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical school (of the Chandogas): Divy 632.23. Cf. prec.

? araṇya, adj.: in Av ii.130.1–2 ms. so 'raṇyam pratipadam samādāya vartate; Speyer em. 'raṇya-prati° interpreting the rules of forest-life (see his note). But prob. read araṇam pratipadam, the passionless (kleśa-less) course of conduct or path; see s.v. araṇa and pratipad; this would be paleographically close to the reading attributed to the ms.; a similar error in RP 16.3, s.v. araṇa.

araṇyaka, m. (= Pali araṇāka), = ār°, one of the dhātugāna: Divy 141.21.

Aratī (in Mv Aratī), (1) n. of a daughter of Māra: LV 378.4 °tiś ca; Mv iii.281.15 (mss. Aparatī); 284.12, 17; 285.5; 286.6; (2) n. of one of the 'armies' (senā) of Māra: LV 262.14 (see Āratī, which Mv reads in the same vs). See also ārātī.

Aranemi = °nemi, q.v. (= Pali id.), n. of a brahmanical ṛṣi: Mvy 3472.

Arapacana, a name of Mañjuśrī: Sādh 94.15 et alibi.

Aravāḍa (= Pali °vāla, °vāḷa), n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3282; see next.

Aravāla = prec.: Māy 247.29.

araha, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. arha), worthy: nigra-hāraḥam, pragrahāraḥam Mv i.347.18 (prose).

arahant (= Pali id. = Skt. and BHS arhant, q.v.), see § 3.100.

Arāḍa = Ārāḍa, q.v.: Mv ii.200.13 (vs; ā here required by meter), in dvandva cpd. with -udraka; Budhacarita (Johnston) vii.54; xi.69; xii.1 ff. (in 2 kālāma). Pali also has Alāra, but only of a different person.

arāva, nt., Mironov's reading for ārāva, q.v.

Ariḡupta, n. of a Bōdhisattva: Gv 442.11.

ariṇcana (nt.; neg. of riṇcana = Pali id., to riṇcati), the not abandoning: Gv 456.25 sattvaparipākāriṇcana-tāyā, so as not to abandon the maturation of creatures. [aritiyate, read arti°: Bbh 282.7–8.]

Ariṇhantar, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.13.

Ariṇdama (= Pali id.), n. of an ancient king (previous incarnation of Śreṇiya Bimbisāra; but in the Pali version, Jāt. 529, of the Bōdhisattva): Mv iii.449.17 ff. (one or both mss. often cited as reading Anindama).

Arimardana, n. of two former Buddhas: Mv i.137.4; 139.8 (here v.l. avi°).

ariya, adj. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. ārya), noble: Mv iii.400.6 ariyo (both mss., Senart em. āryo) tāyi (so with Senart, mss. tāpi).

Ariṣṭa, (1) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.231.1; (2) perhaps to be read for Rṣṭa, q.v.; (3) n. of a monk (= Pali Ariṭṭha, see Vin. ii.25.12 ff.), punished for heresy by the utkṣepaṇīya: MSV iii.30.4 ff.

Ariṣṭanemi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.5.

Ariṣṭā, n. of a devakumārī in the western quarter: Mv iii.308.8; cf. next.

Ariṣṭikā, n. of a goddess: Mahāsamāj. 185.15, identified by Waldschmidt with prec.; the Pali (DN) correspondent Ariṭṭhakā appears to be m. pl., a class of gods (see CPD s.v.).

Arisūdana, n. of a Buddha, Mv i.124.10 (regarded by Senart as adj. epithet: he takes Mahābhāga as the name, Index).

Aruṇa, n. of a nāga king (note the nāga priest Araṇa Āṭa in PBr, see BR s.v. 2 g): Māy 246.19.

aruṇavati, some kind of perfume: Gv 153.15 (prose) °vati-gandharāja-.

Aruṇā, n. of a devakumārīkā in the western quarter: LV 390.5.

aruṇodghāta- (Mv), or aruṇodghātana- (LV), break of dawn (= Skt. aruṇodaya), cpd. with -kāla-samaye (kāla once omitted): Mv i.229.7 (here Senart em. °nopagh°, wrongly); ii.133.7; 284.16; 415.18; 422.6; 431.11; LV 345.20; 350.8. The stems udghāta and °tana both occur in Skt. in mg. opening, but do not seem to be used of the dawn.

? aruṣya, adj. (to Skt. aruṣ, wound, sore), characterized by sores: LV 189.14 (vs) kiṃ sārathē puruṣa ruṣya-vivarṇa-gātraḥ, where ruṣya could well stand for aruṣya: with limbs full of sores and discolored. Cf. Pali aru-gatta, with limbs full of sores. Tib. rtsub, which otherwise = paruṣa; and accordingly Foucaux rude (rough). But connexion with rūkṣa is scarcely possible, unless by hyper-Sktism (AMg. rukkha).

arūpāvacara, m. (= Pali id.; but in BHS usually ārūpyāv°, q.v., or simply arūpyā(h) devāḥ, see ārūpya), belonging to the sphere of the formless, ep. of a group of (4) classes of gods, Dharmas 129; see also next, and s.v. deva.

arūpin, adj. (= ārūpya, adj., °pyāvacara, arūpāvacara), formless: Mmk 45.7 °piṇaś ca devā(h). (Pali arūpin, not in this sense).

a-rūha, mss. at Mv ii.65.12, Senart em. a-lūha, q.v.

Arka, n. of a king (previous incarnation of Śākya-muni): Mv i.54.5.

argaḍa, m. (= Skt. °la, Pali °ḷa or °ḷa; once in ŚB Mādhy., ŚBK. reading °la, see BR), bolt, bar: Mv ii.115.12 (read) nivātāni sparśitārgaḍāni (kūṭāgārāṇi), see sparśita; Mvy 5581; Prāt 506.11; SP acc. to KN Preface vi, in Nep. (Kashgar rec. °ṭa).

argalaka (nt.? = Pali aggala), patch (on garments, here sandals): MSV iv.203.11.

argalapāśa, m. (= Pali aggaḷa-pāsaka or aggaḷa°, AMg. aggalapāsaga), receptacle or latch in which the bolt fits, a part of a city gate: Mv i.195.19 (prose).

Arciketu, n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.10.

Arcitanama (read Arcitamana, for °manas?), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.6 (prose) °masya, gen.

Arcinetrādhīpati, n. of a yakṣa: Mvy 3371.

Arcimant (°mat, °ma), (1) n. of a legendary cakravartin who became the father of Dīpamkara: Mv i.193.14 °mām (v.l. °mo; n. sg.); 198.16 °mo, etc.; (2) n. of a previous incarnation of Śākyamuni: LV 170.17. See also Arcīmant.

Arcimahendra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.15 (prose) °rasya, gen.

Arciramaṅḍalagātra, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.18 (prose).

Arcīśiri (semi-MIndic = *Arciḥśrī), n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 259.8 (vs) °riś, n. sg.

Arcīścandra (see s.v. Kuṇḍaśriyārcīścandra), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.1.

Arcīṣmati, n. of the 4th (bodhisattva-) bhūmi: Dh 5.8 etc.; Mvy 889; Dharmas 64; Bbh 341.2.

Arcīmant, (1) n. of a Tathāgata: Śiḥṣ 9.3; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.11; (3) n. of an ancient king, a previous incarnation of Amitāyus, and father of Puṅya-raśmi: RP 36.18 ff. Cf. also Arcimant.

Arcīsamudramukhavegāpradīpa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.20.

Arjuna, (1) n. of a king of Hastināpura (= Pali Ajjuna; identified with Arjuna Kārtavīrya of Skt. epic), character in the Śarabhaṅga (q.v.) Jātaka: Mv iii.361.4 ff.; 368.15; (2) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 23; (3) n. of a Śākyan mathematician: LV 146.9 ff.

Arjunāvana (ā for a m.c.), n. of a locality (pertaining to Arjuna 2, above): Māy 23.

ar(t)tiyati or °tiyati, °te; in one doubtful passage perhaps arti°, otherwise always art° when not fused in samdhi with preceding vowel; forms occurring include ar(t)tiyati, °yanti, °tiyate, °tiyante, °tiyanto and °tam (pres. pple.), aritiyeran (! read art°), artita (ppp.); also ārtiyate (? v.l. attī°); attiyantā (and probably attiyate for prec.); ṛtiyate, °yante, °yamāna (pres. pple.; for ṛt° we usually find rit° written); ardiyamāna (pres. pple.); āstīryati; and noun attiyānā. The corresp. Pali (see CPD) is written atṭṭiyati, atṭṭh°, adḍh°, addiyati. Despite all this confusion, there is no doubt that we are dealing with essentially one word, with modifications due to diverse influences, including popular etymology and hyper-Sktism. Wogihara, ZDMG 58.454, gives the 'correct form' as ṛtiyate (which, or rather usually rit°, is customary in Bbh, but I believe occurs nowhere else), and the mg. as er schämt sich; both statements are wrong, I believe. As to mg., Wogihara was evidently influenced by the fact that the word is often associated in Pali with harāyati, jigucchatī, and in BHS with jehriyate, (vi)jugupsati, or equivalents. But it is also often used where shame cannot be involved. Most likely the MIndic word is a denominative from arti (for which arti, with semi-MIndic shortening, is recorded even in Skt.). All forms are included here since the word is clearly a unit, but they are also entered under the several headings: (1) is grieved, perturbed, distressed: Mv i.219.17 = ii.21.19 kecit samsārapāṣena arttiyante (ii.21.19 samsāracāreṇa arttiyanti) yathā aham (said by the infant Bodhisattva), are distressed; Mv ii.161.7 bodhisattvo jātiye arttiyanto, being pained by (or, on account of) birth, 11–12 . . . maraṇena artt°, 13 śokehi artt°; Mv ii.242.13 arttiyati (Senart em. attī°); Mv i.89.18 (ākīrṇavahāreṇa) nārttiyanti; Mv ii.480.7 śokārtita; LV

174.14 jarārtita; Bbh 166.11 ṛtiyamānaḥ (of a Bodhisattva); Bbh 171.9 ritiyamānam. (2) In some transitional cases, leading over to the next group, the additional note of aversion, revulsion seems more or less clearly present: Bbh 282.7–8 tena pūrvakeṇādhimokṣenārītiyeran (read °nārtiyeran; but in same phrase line 23 °mokṣeṇa ritiyante), they would be annoyed by, sick of, disgusted with their former enthusiasm; Bbh 168.23 ritiyate; Mvy 1830 nārtiyate (nō context); (3) like preceding but accompanied by parallel forms of hrī-, jugups-, or the like: SP 108.6 daridraçintayārtiyantam jehriyamānaṃ jugupsamānam, distressed, ashamed, disgusted by the thought of being poor; Mv i.343.1 (tena adharmaṇa) attiyantā (Senart em. arti°) vijigupsantā or °satā (mss. °satām, evidently pres. pple., Senart em. wrongly °sitā) distressed and disgusted by this immorality; Karmav 47.26 āstīryati jihreti viḡarhati vijugupsati, is distressed, ashamed, offended, disgusted (by acts he has done); 49.2; Divy 39.7 ye 'nena pūtikāyen-ārdiyamānā jehriyante vijugupsamānaḥ, being distressed, are ashamed, disgusted; (4) with abl., feels aversion (from): MadhK 297.2, text ārtiyate (ebhyo dharmebhyo), but v.l. attiyate, so prob. read; followed by jehriyate vitarati vijugupsate; in line 4 below (see note 1) mss. dharmebhyo attiyānā (text arti°) vijugupsanā (nouns).

artha, nt. (as in RV generally; in later Skt. only m.), aim, goal, etc.: idam eva cārtham (acc.) SP 97.5 (vs); paramārtham etat (acc.) 8,10 (vss); yad artham sanudāgato tad artham abhisambhāvayitvā Mv i.4.12, formula repeated i.34.1 etc.; in these two occurrences all mss. yad, tad. (As one of the four pratisamvid, see this.)

arthakriyā, action for the benefit (of others), one of the four saṃgraha-vaṣtu (q.v.), but only in LV (instead of the usual arthacaryā, q.v.): LV 38.17; 160.6; 182.6; 429.13.

artha-cara, adj. (= Pali attha°, helpful, rendering service): Jm 2.8. Cf. next.

artha-caryā (= Pali attha-cariyā; cf. prec.), conduct for the benefit or profit (of, gen. or comp.): devānām (Mv iii.91.1, 3 deva-) manusyānām (i.231.6 adds ca) °ryām caramāṇo (or caranto) Mv i.231.6–7; iii.91.1, 3; svāmyārth° Jm 85.1; parārth° Jm 95.8, etc.; technically as one of the saṃgraha-vaṣtu (q.v.; in LV replaced by arthakriyā, q.v.), conduct for the religious benefit of others, viz., inspiring them to act for their own religious profit, as explained Bbh 220.25 ff.; in lists of the 4 saṃgrā°, Mv i.3.12; ii.395.8; Mvy 927; Dharmas 19.

Arthadarśi(n), (1) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.236.9; (2) n. of another former Buddha, in the same list, iii.240.4 f.; 241.15; 243.10; 244.2; 245.12 f.; 247.8; 248.16.

artha-darśimant (= Pali attha-dassima(nt), cf. darśimant), having insight into meanings: Mv iii.345.7 tattvārthadarśimāṃ (v.l. sattvā°).

arthanatā (= Skt. arthanā, Pali atthanā; § 22.41), request, prayer: LV 393.13 (vs).

Arthavacanaśrī, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.2.

Arthavargiya, nt. pl., n. of certain Buddhist sūtras (= Pali āthaka-vaggika, or °iya, = Sn sect. 4, see CPD s.v.; acc. to Lévi, JAs. 1915, I, p. 413, the BHS form points to the true interpretation of the Pali), Divy 20.24; 35.1 (in both, mss. °vadgiya); Bbh 48.23 (citing a vs = Sn 897, in the above section).

artha-vaśa, nt. (? = Pali attha-vaśa, see CPD, 'vaśa . . . little more than a suffix'; called masc. by CPD, but idam, kim, are used with it), reason, motive, purpose (virtually = artha): LV 244.8 idam arthavaśam adhikṛtya; Mv iii.48.5 (kati), 10 (dve) arthavaśām, acc. pl.; kim-arthavaśam samanupaśyanti MSV ii.84.19; 85.3 etc. (same phrase with kim-artham 84.15; Pali uses kim with arthavasam).

Arthaviniścaya, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1405.

Arthasiddhi, n. of a king, former incarnation of Śākyamuni: RP 24.12.

arthika (Pali arthika; very rare in Skt., see BR 5.1048, and pw s.v.; essentially a Buddhist word; cf. anarthika), (1) desirous (of, instr. or in comp.): with instr., LV 111.13 (kāmaguṇebhir); 242.2 (id.); Mv i.327.2 (tehi bhājanehi); ii.354.2, and 355.1, 3 (buddhajñānena); ii.426.8 (striyāya arthiko, wanting a woman); iii.391.14 ahaṃ tvayā arthiko, 15 ahaṃ tvayā arthikā, I am in love with you, I want you; Divy 616.8 arthikāsi . . . ardiyate, pple. °yamāna, see ar(t)tiyati: Divy 39.7.

Ardravalika, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.29.

(ardha-kāya [= Skt. id., recorded only from the Yogayātrā 6.7, I.St. 14.327; Pali aḍḍha-kāya, also rare], half the body; the bust: Gv 519.15 ff.)

ardhakāyika, adj. (from prec.; cf. Pali aḍḍhakāyika), with half the body (visible): LV 124.5 ('kā gaganatalāt . . . abhipralambayanti); 295.2; 367.9 (all prose).

ardhaḡallī (cf. ḡallī), some kind of vehicle: Mv ii.434.8 (prose; v.l. aḡallī).

ardhacandra, m. (? or nt.; in Skt. half-moon, crescent, etc.), (1) a kind of (presumably crescent-shaped) personal ornament (also °draka, q.v.): LV 201.19; Mv ii.317.7 (here hung on the bodhi-tree); (2) as in Skt. acc. to Schmidt, Nachtr., s.v., from Haraviḡaya, a (crescent-shaped) decoration on a building (Schmidt Torbogenschmuck): Gv 167.16 °drā(h), n. pl.; 154.4, 202.23 (all prose).

ardhacandraka (m. or nt.; = °dra, 1), a kind of ornament: LV 367.10 °kaīś.

ardha-cola, m. (Skt. Lex. °colaka; otherwise unrecorded), short jacket: Mvy 5847.

Ardha-nārāyaṇa (m.), a 'half-Nārāyaṇa' (q.v.), whose power is used as a unit of strength: MPS 31.21; I.V 229.14, see s.v. saṃḡhaṭana.

ardha-paryāṅka (m.; = Pali aḍḍha-pallaṅka), half-paryāṅka position (with only one leg bent under): LV 155.1 ('kaṃ kṛtvā).

ardhaparyāṅkin, adj. (from prec. plus -in; cf. paryāṅkin), sitting in the ardha-paryāṅka position: °kinam, acc. sg., Sādh 64.14 et alibi.

ardha-rātri (f. or nt. (= Pali aḍḍha-ratti, f., rarely; usually °ratta, m. = Skt. ardhā-rātra; cf. Skt. rātri), midnight: LV 210.2 (prose) °triṃ ca samayaṃ samprāp-taṃ. drṣṭvā ca . . . (best punctuated so with Lefm.), and the time (of) midnight was arrived. And seeing (all this) . . . (Foucaux takes °triṃ and samayaṃ as objects of drṣṭvā; the two ca's are against it); LV 217.9 (prose) °tri-samayaṃ (acc.).

ardhuṣṭa, see adhyuṣṭa.

arpaṇā (cf. also vyarpaṇā; prob. = Pali appanā; in Skt. only °ṇa, nt., not in this mg.), 'fixing of thought . . . application of mind, esp. in jhāna = complete concentration, ecstasy' (CPD): Mvy 7428; Tib. ḡbul ba, gtoḡ, etymolog. renderings, giving, delivering.

Arbuda, m. (nt. in Ud? = Pali Abbuda), n. of a hell, acc. to Mvy and Dharmas a cold one (so in Pali, CPD): Mvy 4929; Dharmas 122; Divy 67.22; 138.7; Av i.4.9 etc.; Ud viii.5 arbudāni, gender app. influenced by sahasrāni of prec. line, which as Chakravartī assumes may be understood here, i. e. arbudāni short for °da-sahasrāni?

aryaka, m. (= ayyaka, q.v.; semi-MIndic for Skt. āryaka), grandfather: Mv iii.265.9 (Senart em. āry°).

alika, (1) adj. (= Pali id., Skt. alika; see § 3.40), false: LV 174.7 (vs); Mv ii.70.2 (prose); 71.2 (vs); (2) n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3275; Māy 247.22.

alindā, nt. (= AMg. id., rendered by Hindi kūṃṛā and Eng. a round tub-like vessel; cf. also next), a kind of dish (v.l. sometimes aliṇḍa): Mv ii.461.21 mahāntam alindam odanasya (dinnam); similarly 462.3, 12, 13 (in the last two read alindam odanasya instead of Senart's reading). Regularly a receptacle for soft food, esp. odana, gruel.

alindā, (1) = prec. (v.l. °ṇḍā): mahatī ca alindā bhaktasya (q.v.) Mv iii.15.9; (odanasya mahatī) alindā ibid. 13; (2) n. of a queen, wife of Ikṣvāku and mother of Kuśa (in the Pali version named Silavati): Mv ii.425.2ff.; iii.2.20 ff.

Alimanmatha, n. of a form of Mañjuśrī: Sādh 146.1 et alibi.

a-līna, adj. (= Pali id.; neg. of līna, q.v.), not dispirited or faint-hearted; intrepid: Mvy 491 = Tib. ma zhum pa; often assoc. with adīna: LV 23.14, 18 (in 18 adīnālīna); 284.19 alīnā adīnā; 318.12 adīno °līnaḥ (of the Bodhisattva); 415.6 -vīrya alīnu; Mv ii.354.1 °na-kāya-mānasāḥ; alīna-vikrāntam (cognate acc.) vikramanto Mv ii.267.17, or . . . vikrame (aor.) 399.12, marching (striding) an intrepid march (stride), or he marched etc.

a-luḍita (= Pali aluḍita; neg. of luḍita, q.v.), not agitated, unperturbed; calm, imperturbable: LV 318.13 (of the Bodhisattva); 361.16 (of Buddha); °ta-citta LV 181.12; Sukh 59.1; °ta-gati LV 272.12.

a-lūkha, adj. (= Pali id., of the pupil of the eye; neg. of lūkha, q.v., and cf. next), not coarse, of food, Mv iii.120.22; not harsh, i. e. comfortable, of the householder's life (ḡrhāvāsa, q.v.; v.l. ḡrha°), Mv iii.50.12.

a-lūha, adj. (= prec.; neg. of lūha, q.v.), not coarse, of food, Mv ii.65.12, but mss. (a)rūha, q.v.; not harsh, comfortable, of ḡrhāvāsa: Mv ii.69.1; 117.19.

aloka, m., a high number: Mvy 7869 (cited from Gv) = Tib. sugs sbyon, or sugs ḡpḡyo (the latter also renders heluga, q.v.); in Gv 133.13 āloka, m.; but in Gv 106.3 sattva-lokasya, for which certainly read sattvāloka-sya.

alonaka, adj. (= Pali id.; also alavaṇaka, q.v.), unsalted: Mv iii.120.21 °kam (food).

alohinī (f. to Vedic a-lohita; cf. Pali alohitā, same mg.), (a woman) who does not menstruate: Mvy 8929.

alpa-kisareṇa (mss. often ś for s, l for r, n for ṇ; = Pali appa-kasireṇa; Sktized as °kṛcchreṇa, a form not recorded in Skt., Mvy 6370; SP 103.9, and elsewhere, also in Mv, see Senart i note p. 580; no correspondent recorded in Pkt.; the only Pkt. resultant of kṛcchra is kiccha), with little difficulty: Mv i.270.8 (here Senart wrongly em. °kisaram); ii.216.6, 9; 227.5; 286.9; 418.3; iii.31.13; 318.6. See kisara.

alpa-guṇa, adj. (= Pali appa°), insignificant: Mv i.89.18 °na-parituṣṭa, content with insignificant (worldly) things.

alpa-jñāta, adj. (seems = Pali appaññāta, which acc. to CPD = Skt. aprajñāta), little known, not celebrated: MSV ii.124.12; bhikṣur bādḡaglanāḥ alpajñātaḥ sve mūtrapuriṣe nimagno 128.13; yaḥ parsadvinirmukto 'lpajñātaś ca 131.13. Is our form hyper-Skt., or the true orig. of the Pali?

alpataraka, adj. comparative (= °tara; nowhere recorded), less numerous: ASP 430.8, 9. In 430.2 bahutaraka, q.v.; in vicinity alpaka, and alpatama (without ka); the suffix has no special force that I can detect: the whole passage is prose.

alpabhikṣuka, nt. (cf. Pali appabhikkhuka, adj., having few monks), a state of having few monks: (parāntakeṣu) janapadesv °kam, kṛcchreṇa daṣavargo gaṇaḥ paripūryate Divy 18.7.

alpamanyate (= Pali appamaññati, pendant to bahu manyate, two words in Skt., may be one in Pali), thinks little of (gen.): nālpamanyeta puṇyasya Ud xvii.6.

alparajaska, adj. Bhvr. (= Pali apparajakkha), of slight passion, free from passion, in °ka-jātiya (= Pali °jātiika), see -jātiya, Mv iii.322.16 (prose).

alpātānka, adj. (and subst. m.? = Pali appā°, acc. to CPD subst. as well as adj.; see below), (almost) free from illness, following alpābādha, q.v. for occurrences; in Av i.325.13 text °taṅkam (acc. sg.), after alpābādhatām, seemingly subst., (relative) freedom from disease; but in the same cliché ii.90.14; 93.15 °ka-tām is read, matching °bādhatām. See next.

alpātānka-tā (= Pali appā°, state of being (almost) free from illness, abstr. to prec.; usually follows alpābādhatā, q.v. for occurrences (as in Pali). But also without that word, Kv 18.8. In Av i.325.13 read prob. °taṅkatām for °taṅkam, see prec.

alpābādha, adj. (= Pali appā°, acc. to CPD noun, = °dha-tā, as well as adj.), (almost) free from disease, often followed by alpātānka, as in Pali by appātānka: so Mv i.211.6 = ii.15.5; Av i.168.8; but also without this, Divy 396.5; Suv 182.15; Bbh 20.1. See next.

alpābādha-tā (= Pali appā°, state of being (almost) free from disease, abstr. to prec.; usually followed (as in Pali) by alpātānkatā: so Mv i.323.20; Mvy 6284; Divy 156.13; Kv 89.12; Av i.325.13 (see alpātānka); ii.90.13; 93.15; in Divy 21.4 no alpātānkatā occurs but it may have been included in what is understood by the abbreviation yāvāt.

alpāyuska, adj. (= Pali appāyuka; cf. Skt. alpāyus), short-lived: Mv i.199.1 = ii.2.19; i.200.2 = ii.3.18; ii.208.16; Av i.296.4; 316.2 (all prose). Cf. next.

alpāyuska-tā, abstr. to prec.: Dh 26.19 (prose).

alpārtha, adj. (= Pali appaṭṭha), wanting little, undemanding, modest, ep. of proper monks: MSV iii.96.14.

alpāsvāda, adj. (subst.? = Pali appassāda), affording little pleasure, in Mv i.121.4 perhaps subst., a sort of kenning for kāma (the Pali word is often an epithet of kāma, and sometimes seems to be a substitute for it): The Mv line (vs) is corrupt; perhaps alpāsvāda-nibaddho (or read °dhā?) means kāma-nibaddho; in the second half line surely lokā vartenti dāruṇāḥ is intended, rather than Senart's em.; as adj., e. g. Divy 41.26 (mahāsamudro) 'lpāsvādo bahvādīnavas.

alpeśākhyā, adj. (= Pali appesakkha), opp. of the much commoner maheśākhyā (q.v.), with which it is contrasted Mvy 6412; Karmav 29.26, insignificant, petty: of persons Mv i.28.7; Mmk 74.15; of a caitya Divy 243.2, 5.

alpeśākhyā-tva, abstract from prec.: Av ii.177.6.

alpotsuka (= Pali appossuka, °kka), indifferent, unconcerned, undisturbed, unworried: Mv ii.427.4; Divy 41.23 ff.; LV 396.2 °ka-vihāreṇaiva vihareyam (in contrast with preaching the Law; Buddha speaks); Ud xiv.16 (= Pali appossukka Dh 330); Av i.89.1 °kas tvam . . . bhava, don't worry, and similarly 93.10; 331.10 etc.

alpotsuka-tā (= Pali appossukka-tā), abstr. to prec.: LV 393.21–394.1 alpotsukatāyai bhagavataś cittam abhinatam na dharmadeśanāyam, the mind of the Lord inclined to being unconcerned (with the fate of the world), not to teaching the Law; similarly 394.5; 396.7; 398.1; freedom from desires, Bbh 219.24.

alpotsuka-tva, nt., = prec., Mv i.170.10 (in the sense of LV 393.21 etc.).

allāpayati, allīna, allīpayati, see next.

allīyati (only in Mv; Pali id., in different mg.; AMg. allīai, resorts to; to Skt. āliyate; see §§ 3.4a; 38.66, 67), comes (to), approaches, with gen., loc., or acc.: °yati (gen.) Mv ii.210.19; 480.8; °yanti Mv ii.252.6 (with form in -ehi, intended as loc.), 10; 253.12 (with loc. in -eṣu); iii.127.8 (gen.); °yatha, 2 pl. impv., Mv iii.24.5 (acc.); allīsyatha (fut. with mā[atra], don't go there!) Mv ii.253.5, 7 (in 7 v.l. allīsyatha); with caus. mg., bring, put, place, Mv ii.190.5 ff. allīyanti, five times; iii.127.17 mss. allīyeya (-h, or -n), opt., should bring (Senart em. allīpeya); see also Mv iii.144.12 under causative below; ppp. allīna, (a) commonly went to, as periphrasis for past tense, with acc., gen., or loc.: Mv ii.32.1; 48.8, 11 ff.; 64.5, 6; 70.4, 9; 107.8; 172.12; 198.1; 200.8; 463.1; 464.1, 19; 470.6; iii.16.1; 69.9; 362.2; 365.23; (b) attached (in love) to (gen.; Pali id.): kumārasya allīnā (kinnari) Mv ii.100.1; caus. (1) *allāpayati; ppp. allāpita (see § 38.66), brought, caused to come (to, gen.) Mv iii.362.3; (2) allīpayati, usually brings, causes to come, but occasionally causes to be brought, and on the other hand sometimes apparently intrans., approaches (these exceptional meanings will be noted; the former may be based on the trans. use of allīyati, brings): °payati Mv ii.435.14 causes to be brought; (°peti, Senart's em. Mv iii.144.12, mss. °yeti, °yanti, read prob. °yati, as trans., brings;) ppp. °pita i.311.2; ii.107.5 (were caused to be brought); 471.1; 472.11; iii.24.4; 408.4; 421.8; passive °piyanti iii.68.11; 405.15; °piyati iii.127.4; gdve. allīpitavyam, intrans. to be approached, Mv iii.288.9–10 (or em. to allīyitavyam?).

ava, as neg. prefix with nouns (so also in Pali): see ava-kāma-sevā.

ava-kaṭṭati (mss.: Senart em. ava-kaḍḍhati), see o-kaṭṭati.

avakara, m., prob. read with Index and Mironov avakāra, rendered by Tib. ḥgod pa, perhaps arrangement, placement, ordering, or the like: Mvy 571 samākṣarāvakaro (°kāro) nāma samādhiḥ. No v.l. in either ed. But SsP 1421.3 (from which, or an allied text, Mvy cites) reads samākṣarākāro, explaining: sarvasamādhinām samākṣarātām pratilabhate. This seems to fit the reading °kṣarākāra, and definitely does not fit the apparent meaning of avakāra, q.v. Yet in another list ŚsP 1413.15 reads °kṣarāvakāra.

avakarṣati (corresponds to Pali apakassati, used in same passage SN ii.198.1–5, see CPD s.v.), holds back, keeps under control: ger. avakṛṣya (kāyam, cittam), Candropama Sūtra, Hoernle, MR 42.11 (43.5, 9); see s.v. jarodapāna.

avakalpanatā = next, the putting faith or confidence in: abhiśraddadhānatāvakalp° SsP 615.10.

avakalpanā = prec. (= Pali okappanā; to next): Dh 13.17 (substantially = śraddhā, adhimukti, in prec. line); Mvy 7289 = Tib. nes par (also legs par) rtog pa, the former of which is rendered avakalpanā in Das, whose English rendering is not quite in accord with BHS usage; the Tib. could, it seems, mean considering certain.

avakalpayati, °te (= Pali okappati, °peti), has confidence in, puts faith in, synonym of śradd-dhā, as also in Pali, with gen. of person, acc. of thing: SP 44.3 śraddadhādhvam me . . . pattiyatāvakalpayata; 315.1 avakalpayadhvam me . . . abhiśraddadhādhvam tathāgatasya; LV 88.8 (ṛddhiprāthīrnyam api . . .) nāvakalpayiṣyanti; Gv 171.2 °yantam, pres. pple., perhaps putting trust in, relying on, object bodhisattvapariṅgavarasampatpariśuddhim.

ava-kāma-sevā (see ava), no practice of love: LV 28.22 (vs; wrongly divided in ed.) dvātriṃśa māsām (= māsām, acc. pl.) avakāmaseva (= °vā, n. sg.) hi, for she abstained from love-making for 32 months; so Tib. renders. There is a v.l. akāma for avakāma but it is metrically impossible.

avakāra, m. (1) see avakara; (2) okāram acc. sg. (= Pali okāra, in phrase kāmānam ādīnavo okāro samkilesa; cf. Pali anavakāra), perhaps elimination, getting rid (sc. of desires): Mv iii.357.13 kameṣu bhayam okāram (mss. okara-) samkileśam, in regard to desires (he preached) the danger of them, the elimination of them, their impurity. Senart's em. seems confirmed by the Pali.

avakāśa, (1) in Skt. mg., room, space, but nt. instead of m., LV 367.20 (vs) nābhūḍ °śam asmin; RP 31.4 teṣv °śam asti (or assume m as 'Hiatus-bridger?'); see also an-avakāśa; (2) appearance, in akṣudrāvakāśa, q.v.; (3) see an-avakāśa, an-okāśa.

avakāśati (ms. °sati; denom. to avakāśa), gets a chance at, works upon, with loc.: Av ii.183.13 nāgñih kāye °vakāśati; caus. °śayati, gdve. °śayitavyaḥ, to be given a chance to work (in a certain function), MSV ii.154.12, where prob. read a negative before it; this is read by em. in text in line 18, where, it seems to me, the neg. is not wanted.

avakāśayati (caus. to Pali avakassati, apak°, apakāśati; cf. Skt. kas-), removes, dismisses: °yitavyaḥ MSV iv.77.13 ff.

avakīrṇa, confused, mixed up (of speech): LV 158.16 sadānavakīrṇavācaḥ, always of unconfused speech; so Tib., tshig ḥchal med gyur la.

avakīrṇakusuma, n. of a group of (predicted) future Buddhas: AsP 458.9.

avakuṅṭhita, adj. (ppp.; cited in MW as Skt. Lex., but not in BR or pw; cf. Skt. avakuṅṭhana), covered, clothed: Mmk 290.10 śuklavastāvaka°.

avakubja and °jaka, adj. (= Pali avakujja, cf. AMg. avaujjiya, denom. ppp.; from ava and kubja), prone, flat on the face on the ground: in Mv i.213.7 = ii.16.11 na ca avakubjako (ii.16.11 mss. avakubjam, may be kept as adv.; sc. tiṣṭhati; said of the Bodhisattva in his mother's womb); otherwise only with a form of prapatati, falls, and only as adj.: °ja LV 254.21; 256.3; Mv i.28.13; °jaka Mv ii.126.6; 127.11; 128.15; 130.1; 283.1; 412.16. In two of these Senart erroneously apa° with one of his two mss.; read ava° with the other.

avakoṭimaka, adj. (= Pali okoḷ°, deformed, misshapen; so Tib. acc. to Speyer, byad (on i.280.3 byed) ñan po; the precise mg. in Pali is disputed; Av i.280.3 and ii.152.10, in phrase durvarṇo durdarśano ava°; in Pali only in corresp. phrase dubbanna duddas(s)ika oko°. But mss. of Av avahoṭimako or °ḍimako, and in ii.152.10 Speyer adopts the latter, stating that it is also written so in the Ratnāvadānamālā version of the same story. It seems that it should be the same as the Pali word, which is well attested. Yet I think the form with h is supported by Lañk 27.4, mss. uḥātrimā, ed. em. uhoḍimā, and 33.15, text ahoḍimā, most mss. uho°; both initially in anuṣṭubh lines, where avaho° could be read as a standard hypermetric type, or u- could stand for ava- (cf. § 3.55, ukirati); Tib. cited as ñan paḥi mi, miserable man, in Suzuki, Index, which attributes to Wogihara the interpretation ūnendriya (fitting our word).

avakramaṇa, okramaṇa, nt. (= Pali avakkamana, okka°), entrance (into the womb): ava° LV 36.2 = garbhāvākṛānti; garbhokramaṇam, Mv ii.18.1 (vs. = i.215.4 where read so; mss. corrupt, Senart garbhāvākramaṇam).

-avakrāntaka, also ika, f. °ikā, only in tīrthikāv°, one who has gone over to heretics, a renegade Buddhist: Mvy 8759 °takaḥ; Bhik 16b.2 °tikā. The corresp. Pali, Vin. i.89.35, has titthiya-pakkantaka, apparently = prakrānta(ka); but I suspect that the true original of both this and avakr° was *apakrāntaka; Pali apakkamati and apakkanta are used in mgs. very close to this, and neither ava- nor pra-kram- seems so appropriate.

avakrānti, f. (= Skt. id., in garbhāva°, Caraka, pw 2.159; Pali avakkanti, okk°), entrance; common in garbhāva° entrance into the womb (as in Skt.), LV 87.15, 21 etc.; tathāgatadivasāvākṛānti-vijñapti-vyūhānām (bodhisattvānām) Gv 114.18, having supernal manifestations (or, a mass?) of knowledge of the coming in (? occurrence) of the day of the T. (or, the T.'s entrance into the light of day?).

-avakrāntika = °taka: tīrthikāv° MSV ii.204.10.

-avakrāma (to avakrāmati), entrance (into a way or course; so Pali avakkanti, with niyāma): Gv 460.3 dur-avakrāmo bodhisattvanyāmo 'vakramitavyaḥ.

avakrāmati, °kramati, °krāmayati, o-kr°, ukr°, § 3.54 (Pali avakkamati, okk°; in Skt. in this sense only of entering the womb, conception; so Caraka, pw 2.111; so LV 39.8 kuṣāv avakrāmayam; Mv i.205.5 etc.), enters (a condition or state): Gv 460.3 (see s.v. -avakrāma) gdve. avakramitavyaḥ; LV 180.6 sattveṣu ca mahākaraṇām avakrāmati sma; in Mv i.51.3 (prose) okrami (aor.) has as its subject, not goal, mahākaraṇam (sattveṣu), great compassion entered into him (gen.); yakṣagraho ukrami (§ 3.54) teṣa kāye SP 95.8 (vs); enters into, realizes (dharma, true religion; cf. Pali dhammassa avakkanti, see CPD), dharmam avakrāntaḥ MSV iii.62.11; middham (sleep) avakrānto Divy 579.20; avakrāmayati, formally caus., could by a forced interpretation be taken to mean allows (e.g. compassion, or sluggishness) to enter (into himself), but prob. more realistically to be taken as meaning the same as the simplex, enters into (a state): LV 400.14 (prose) mahākaraṇām avakrāmayati, and in same context Mv iii.318.15 °nām okrametvā; RP 56.17 styānamiddham nāvākramitavān, and similarly 57.11; note close resemblance to passages using the simplex, above.

avakṣipta, ppp. (Skt.), (I) °ta-cakṣuṣ(a) = Pali avakkhittacakkhu (or okkhi°), with downcast eyes, of a monk: LV 191.15, read avakṣipta-cakṣuṣam (acc. sg.), for avaga, nt., a high number, Mvy 7713 = Tib. rig(s) sdom; see s.v. ārāva, for which prob. read this; in Mvy 7839 ārāva (Tib. id.) is cited from Gv, but Gv 133.3 reads avagam; avaga should also be read for vaga, q.v., in Gv 105.22.

avagīta, ppp. (lit. sung down), reduced, diminished: °ta-pratanūbhūtāntaḥpura- . . . śokasya (Bhvr.) Jm 11.21. ? avaguṇṭhikā (Skt. avagūhayati (cf. gūhati, gūhayati; perhaps related to Pali ogumpheti; -umph- yielding -ūph-, then -ūh-?), winds (garlands): Mv i.304.15 dīrghamālām (but v.l. °mālā) vagūhayet (aor.); see § 4.7. avacanīkaroti (cf. Skt. and Pali avacana-kara), disobeys, does not agree to (words): tasya vacanam °kṛtya MSV iii.24.1.

-avacara (= Pali id.; orig. noun, cf. Senart Mv i.397, but only used at end of Bhvr. cpds., having . . . as scope; f. °rī; called 'ts.' by CPD, but clearly a Buddhist word, as stated in pw s.v.; found virtually only in Bu. works and Lexx. in Skt.; otherwise occurs once in Rājat.(?)), and, to be sure, yaḥāvācarā in MS., see pw s.v.; despite these rare Skt. occurrences belongs fundamentally to Pali and BHS, where it is very common; scope, sphere, range of activity or existence: antarīkṣāv° who live in the atmosphere-SP 288.10 (devatāḥ); Mv i.33.5 (śuddhāvāsakāyika deva); dakṣiṇāvācara, vāmāv°, having the right (left); viz. part of the womb as his abiding-place LV 55.5, 6; buddha-sāsanāv° Śikṣ 214.10 within the scope of the Buddha's commands (wrongly Bendall); samsāravācarim . . . samyagrṣṭim Śikṣ 316.16, true views regarding the saṃsāra; samskrṭāv° Gv 496.6, things in the realm of the conditioned; traidhātukāv° Bbh 246.25, belonging to the sphere of the trait; caturbhir marāv° Dbh 54.17, with Rahder, citing a Jap. source, things belonging to the four Māra-domains, i. e. the domains of the four Māra, q.v.; atarkāv° Mv iii.314.2, not within the scope of reasoning (of dharma; so Pali atakkāv°, of dhamma); akṣudrāv° Mv ii.9.1 (of the Bodhisattva's mother); ii.1.7 (of the family where the Bodhisattva is born); antaḥpurāv° Jm 185.24, whose business was the harem: turagāv° Buddhac. v. 68, groom; esp. in kāmāv°, rūpāv°, arūpāv° (or ārūpyāv°), of classes of gods, see under these entries. See also tādāvacaraka.

avacaraka (1) m. (= Pali id.), messenger, (secret) agent: Mvy 3807 = Tib. hya ma rta, courier (v.l. apa°, but Mironov ava° without v.l.); Divy 32.25; 127.26; 287.3; (2) (m.?) in Gv 522.1 tac ca grham vā avacarakam vā vipulam paśyet, and he would see (in his dream) that house or locality (? the preceding sentence is our only clue to the mg. and it is so general that it gives little help) as vast. Is it a ka-derivative of avacara (physical) domain? Or an otherwise unrecorded word for some kind of building? Ratnach. records AMg.ōcāra (= avacāra), a granary or store-house of grain, which does not fit our context.

avacarati (cf. avatārāna, nt. Avatāraprekṣin (see s.v. avatāra 4), n. of a son of Māra (ill-disposed to the Bodhisattva): LV 311.16.

avatārayati, otāreti (caus. to avatarati; in mg. 1, associated with avatāra 3), (1) causes to penetrate intellectually, to comprehend; initiates into, introduces to, with acc. or (oftener) loc. of what is taught or explained: SP 49.7 (vs) sarve ca te darśayi ekayānam ekam ca yānam avatārayanti; 182.11 (anuttarāyām samyaksambodhau...) avatāritavān; 347.8 (dharmavinaye) 'vatārayeyam; with (buddha)-śāsane, Bbh 222.26; 261.26 (here buddhaśāsane or nam implied from prec.); Av i.112.8; with tasyām (pratipadi) Bbh 262.17; (2) removes (hair, keśa, or also beard), of a barber's activity, esp. with reference to monks and nuns, cf. avatāraka (2): keśāni otāreti Mv iii.179.10, 11, 12 (in 9 °reṣyati by em.); keśāny otāretvā (mss. otāritā, avat°) iii.268.18; keśān avatārya Bhik 10b.1; Jm 122.11; keśaśmaśruṇy avatārya Divy 35.8; 37.11; 556.6; Samādh 8.15; keśaśmaśru avatārya Av i.136.6; 234.1; an-avatārita-keśā, with hair unshorn Bhik 10a.5; with causative mg., keśaśmaśruṇy avatārayitvā, having had the hair and beard cut, caused it to be cut Mv iii.222.17 (in the same passage in Pali, DN ii.249.20, the form used is ohāretvā); object unexpressed, avatāraya MSV i.280.18; °rayitum id.; °rita, ppp., 281.1, 2.

avatīrṇa, ppp. of avatarati, q.v., that has penetrated (intellectually), comprehended: avatīrṇasya pudgalasya Bbh 81.8 (cf. avatāra 3, q.v., 81.6); avatīrṇanām paripācanāya

Bbh 308.12 (follows madhyasthānām avatāraṇāya, see avatāraṇa); -dharmanayāvatiṇṇaḥ LV 181.21.

avada, nt., a high number: Mvy 7925 (cited from Gv) = Tib. gsal yas, or bsal yas (cf. avānta); Gv 106.19, read sattvāvadasyā°; 134.3 avadam (avadānām), n. sg.

avadadhāti, odhāya (ger.), avahita (ppp.), cf. also under odahana (= Pali avadahati, with sotam, give ear attentively); cf. Skt. avadhīyate attention is paid, avahita attentive, with śrota (q.v.), gives ear attentively: śrotam avadadhata LV 409.10, pay heed closely!; avahita-śrotaḥ LV 442.1-2 (so read with Weller 39; Pali ohita-sota); °śrotā, n. sg. f., Mv i.158.3; in Mv i.10.8 for śrotum ādāya read śrotam odhāya (satkrītya śrothā mama bhāṣataḥ).

? avadarpita, in LV 275.8 sv-avadarpita-vimala-buddhir; textually uncertain; mss. vary greatly on ava°; many omit vimala; Tib. śin tu (= su) dkar baḥi (white, often = avadāta) blo (= buddhi) dañ ldan pa (having), apparently omitting vimala, and suggesting that it is based on avadāta, white, i. e., bright, instead of avadarpita, which is nowhere recorded and seems senseless, as do the alternative readings of the other BHS mss.

Avadātakaśā, n. of a goddess: Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt Kl. Skt. Texte 4.187.3; confirmed by Tib. ibid. 204.20. In the Pali correspondent DN ii.260.23 the name Odātāgahā, v.l. Odātavhayā, is taken as n. pl. masc. by DPPN.

avadāna, nt. (= Pali apadāna), n. of a part, or parts, of the Buddhist canon (and of other Buddhist works): Mvy 1273; colophons of Divy, Av, etc. See also sāvadānam. The word avadāna occurs in Skt.; its exact mg. is much disputed; see e. g. Speyer, Av Preface p. I ff.

avadya-bhīru, dreading (and shunning) reproach (blame, evil, sin), ep. of the family into which a Bodhisattva is born in his last existence: Mv i.198.1; ii.1.11; LV 24.4. All these are forms of the same passage; in LV text anavadya-, with v.l. avadya-; in Mv ii.1.11 Senart reads anavadya, tho he recognizes at i p. 532 that the corrupt mss. point rather to avadya-, which he reads with mss. at i.198.1. The reading avadya- is confirmed by Tib. on LV kha na ma tho bas (= avadya, see Das s.v.) ḥjigs pa (= bhīru). Note the noun avadya-bhī RV 10.107.3 (isolated).

? avadraṅga, m., acc. to N. Dutt's interpretation of Tib., dinner: °go nāsti; tayā vṛṣo darśitaḥ, etaṃ praghā-tayata MSV ii.79.7. Tib. sa (ground, etc.) ḥdzar ba (for which Das gives a mg. taking dinner at midday). Acc. to Skt. Lex. avadraṅga (cf. next) or v.l. avadāṅga = market (BR 1.473); avadraṅga could be an error for avadraṅga, and there was no market (where meat could be bought) would be a possible mg.; I do not understand Tib.

avadraṅga, m. or nt., deposit (on a business transaction); earnest: Divy 32.22 tisro lakṣā avadraṅgam (so one ms.; v.l. draṅgam) grhṇita; 33.1, 2, 6 (no v.l.) avadraṅga dattam, given in (by way of) deposit. Can this be somehow related to Niya Pkt. draṅga, 'taxation depot or office in general', said to be an Iranian loanword (Burrow, BSOS 7.509 f.)?

avadvārāpayati (ava plus caus. to denom. from dvāra), shuts off (a gate): Mv ii.490.1 nagaradvāram avadvārāpayitvā (v.l. avaddhār°), having had the city gate closed.

[avadhārīn? in MSV i.63.20 vṛaṇapūyotkīrṇair aṅga-pratyāṅgāvadhārībhiḥ paṭṭakopanibaddhaiḥ, of a sick man; -avadhārībhiḥ seems to conceal a substantive, perhaps a cpd. of avayava, member of the body; parallels accessible to me have failed to clear up the apparent corruption.]

? avadhika, adv. °kam (cf. Pali -odhika, in yathodh°; from Skt. avadhi, limit), to the limit; in an extreme degree: LV 29.8 paśyeta evāvadhikam guṇānvitā, dayāsutā sā jananī ca māyā. So Lefm.; but the text is uncertain at more than one place; Tib. also apparently confused; Foucaux's text (see his transl. 35 n. 3) reads mchog, superior, modifying yon tan = guṇa. I suspect that originally the text had adhikam, exceedingly.

avadhūta (cf. BR 5.1527, dhū with ava, ppp., glossed malina), in a list of evil (magic) powers and influences: Māy 220.19; 245.19; 259.13. Not in the similar list Mvy 4372-87.

avadhūti, f., n. of an artery, vein, or canal (nāḍī) in the body: Sādh 366.15 °ti-randhrena; 383.13 °ti-mārgena; 448.11 nāḍyo lalanārasanāvadhūtayaḥ; 14 avadhūti madhyadeśe tu mahāsukhādharārūpiṇi; 16 avadhūty amitanāthasya ādhārabhāvinī sadā. Cf. rasanā, lalanā.

-avadhūnakam, adv., accompanied by shaking: Prāt 534.3 na hastāvadhūnakam (piṇḍapāṭam paribhokṣyamaḥ), not with waving of the hands. Corresponds to -samdhunakam, q.v.

? avadhya, adj., ep. of śilpa, art, in LV 23.21 avadhya-śilpa-niveśanam (kulam, in which the Bodhisattva is reborn for the last time); so all Lefm.'s mss., but he translates nützlichen (freien) Künsten zugelan, prob. following Tib. don yod pa (which once renders amogha, unfailing, see Das), useful, successful. Calc. reads abandhya (i. e. avandhya, not barren); I suspect that this should be adopted. But cf. next but one.

ava-dhyati or °dhyāti (cf. Pali avajjhāyati, apa°; to Skt. dhyāti with ava, in Skt. with different mg.), ponders, meditates on: Mv i.9.4 (vs), read with mss. avadhīyanta saphalatām karmaṇām (n. sg. m. pres. pple.; v.l. °ntā; Senart wrongly em. āvajjanto). Skt. pres. dhyāti = dhyāyati; in ava-dhyanto the short a of the penult may be MIndic, before a consonant cluster, cf. § 3.34.

Avadhyaparamabuddhi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.13 (or should Avadhya(h) be taken as a separate name? there is no v.l.; see s.v. avadhya).

avadhyāna, nt. (to Skt. ava-dhyā-; cited once from Bhāg.P. as mg. Geringachtung, BR 5.1059; cf. AMg. avajjhāna, painful and revengeful meditation, Ratnach.), ill-feeling, censoriousness, abusiveness: Mvy 8432, 8594 = ḥphya ba, ḥphyas (by Das rendered avadhīyāna; blame, censure; abuse, deride); Prāt 504.12 avadhīyāna-kṣepaṇāt (Chin. si un bhikṣu blāme irrespectueusement).

avana, nt., a high number: Mvy 7854 (cited from Gv); Gv 105.25 (read sattvāvanasya for text sattvavanasya); 133.8 avanam.

avanatā (cf. Pali avana, free from lust, CPD, and see vanatā), freedom from desire: ŚsP 633.18 °tām upādāya.

avanamana (nt.) and onamana, f. (= Pali onamana), bending: Gv 400.22 an-avanamanena . . . pāṇibhyāṃ jānumaṇḍale parimārjati, he touches his knees with his hands without bending (because his arms are so long); usually of bowing, bending in humility, a sign of absence of pride: Śikṣ 153.18 (here text by error avanama) and 19 avanamana-praṇamanatāyām (sarvasattveṣu, in 19 defines nirmānatā, freedom from pride); LV 182.20 (vs) nirmānatā onamanā gurūṇām; LV 430.22 (prose) -avanamana-praṇamana- (in a long cpd.), bowing and bending (in humility before persons worthy of deference).

avanādayati, onādeti, makes resound: Mv i.237.4 (vs) onādeti (v.l. onādyanti) puravaram (mss. puna, or punaḥ, varam). No ava-nad- recorded. Read unnād°?

avanāma (not in Pali or Pkt.; in Skt. only of (reverential) bowing), depression (of spirits), opposite of unnāma, and only in comp. with that word, q.v. for citations.

avanāmana = prec., LV 33.7; see s.v. unnāma.

avanāha, m. (Pali onāha; cf. Pali Vin. iv.169.28 piṭham veā tūlonaddham kāraṇeṣu), covering, upholstering (of a seat; a sin for a monk): Mvy 8513.

Avantaka, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9087 (v.l. Āv°; so Mironov).

avapāṭana (nt., = AMg. ovāḍaṇa, Sheth; to Skt. ava-pāṭ- plus -ana), rending, tearing: aṅgavapāṭana-samarjana- (q.v.) Kalpanā-maṇḍitikā (Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2) 44 V 1 (p. 143).

avapṛcchati, asks permission (not recorded); neg. ger. an-avapṛcchya (santam bhikṣum) Prāt 521.10; 522.2, without asking permission of; disregarding (corresponds to Pali anāpucchā).

avapṛṣṭhikṛta, adj. (see s.v. pṛṣṭhībhavati), with back turned away (from the world): Divy 326.11, see s.v. Maitriya.

avapravrajati (unrecorded), withdraws from ascetic life: Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā 114 V 2 (Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2 p. 45) °jatu, impv.

avabhā (unrecorded), (illusory) appearance (to Skt. avabhāti; cf. next): Gv 69.26 nāsti me sarvasattva-citta- (so 2d ed.) -caritāvabhāsu saṅgaḥ, I have no attachment to the appearances of thoughts and actions of all creatures.

avabhāna (unrecorded), appearance or sheen (cf. prec.): Gv 29.21 samantāvabhāno loka (buddhakāyāḥ).

avabhāsa, m. (in Skt. sheen; appearance; manifestation, and so also in BHS; in mg. 1 = Pali obhāsa), (1) hint given in words by a monk as to something he desires (a sinful act); cf. Childers 298; Vism. i.23.17 and 41.1 ff., where it as well as nimitta, 3, suggestion, and parikathā, qq.v., are briefly explained: Śikṣ 131.3 nāvabhāsa-kareṇa bhavitavyam, one should not be a maker of hints; 4 katamo 'vabhāsaḥ (in the following example a monk says things designed to get tasty food from donors); 6 avabhāsa-nimittam; see avabhāsa-tā; (2) range, = ābhāsa, q.v., used in similar cpds.: (aham . . .) bālānām śravaṇāvabhāsam āgacchāmi Lañk 192.10; bodhisattvasya . . . dharmasābdā (text °dhā) śrotṛāvabhāsam āgacchanti, Bhadrpadā Sūtra, Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 89.13; rūpaśabdagandharasasparśāvabhāsam āgacchanti KP 105.8 (prose).

avabhāsa-tā, state of (making) hints (see avabhāsa 1): Śikṣ 140.6 °tām ca pratilabdhuḥkāmena, by one who (is sinful in that he) wants to attain this state (misunderstood by Bendall and Rouse, Transl.).

Avabhāsanāśikhin, n. of a nāga, Mvy 3357; of a nāga-king, Megh 308.9 (here with the epithet saptasīrṣa; see Saptasīrṣaka, apparently the same personage).

Avabhāsaprabha, n. of a devaputra: SP 4.4.

Avabhāsaprāptā, n. of the lokadhātu in which Kāśyapa is to appear as a Buddha: SP 144.4.

Avabhāsamakuṭa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 361.7.

Obhāsayanta- (for Avabhāsayat-)-prabharājan, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.7 (vs; n. sg. °jā).

avabhāsayitar, one who makes to shine: Gv 463.8 °tāro dharmalokamukhānām.

Avabhāsarāja-prabhaketuś(i)rī, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.16 (vs). Perhaps two separate names (cf. prec.); see s.v. Citrārtha.

avabhūṣita, adorned: nāgarājānau saptasphaṭāvabhūṣitau Mmk 76.6.

avamanyana-tā = next: RP 20.11 (prose; mss. parātimanyanatā; cf. 20.16).

avamanyanā, and (?) °na, nt. (to avamanyate; = Pali avamaññanā, °na), contempt: Śikṣ 9.7 (prose; text °yatā, see Corr.); 52.9; 271.5; KP 22.3; Bbh 104.20; 145.15. In these always °nā, f.; in RP 21.4 (vs) avamanyana-manyana (acc. sg.) tyaktvā, apparently nt., but could be m.c. for °nā (or °nām).

(avamardita-cittam, SP 108.5, rendered by Kern mentally developed; similarly Burnouf. But Skt. avamardati and Pali omaddati mean only distress or the like. The form means having his spirit depressed, crushed; note that it follows viditvā; it is not parallel with the words preceding viditvā, but is modified by the following udārasamjñayā: the phrase is explained by what follows.)

Avamūrdha, m. (adj., with head downward, upside down; cf. next, and Skt. Gr. avamūrdhaśaya), n. of a lokadhātu, associated with Vyatyasta (lokadhātu), q.v.: °dhaḥ Mvy 3068 (followed by Vyatyastah); Gv 126.2 (after Vyatyasta-lokadhātu-mukham) Avamūrdha-hāra-mukham (hāra seems to be corrupt; should we read lokadhātu for it?); Dbh 15.14 -vyatyastāvamūrdha- (in long cpd., beginning niravaśeṣasarvalokadhātu-); Avamūrdha-lipi, a kind of script, the script of the Avamūrdha lokadhātu, LV 125.22 (cf. Vyatyasta-lipi Mv i.135.6).

avamūrdhaka (also omūrdhaka, omuddhaka, qq.v., and s.v. -mūrdhaka; see preceding), with head downwards, upside down: Mvy 6800; Divy 9.24; 505.16.

avayāna (nt. or m.), retreat (of an army), one of the arts mastered by the Bodhisattva as prince: LV 156.12 °ne, loc. = Tib. bzur ba, giving way.

avara, m., a high number: Mvy 7708, or nt. 7834, in the latter cited from Gv; Gv 105.20, text sattva-varasya, read sattvāvarasya (gen.). In Gv 133.2 the item seems to be omitted (in a list which generally corresponds better to Mvy).

avaraka, adj. (= Pali oraka; -ka prob. pejorative), wretchedly poor, inferior, mean: °keṇa kuśalamūlena SP 456.3; LV 89.22; AsP 79.12 (all prose); °kam, quasi-substantive (?) nt., Mvy 2701 = Tib. nan non sordid, etc. (Das). In some cases the mss. of Divy and Av read avaraka for avavaraka, q.v., which Mironov reads for Mvy 2701.

Avara-godāniya, see Apara°.

avarabhāgiya, adj. (Pali oraṃbhāgiya), (binding) to lower states (viz. to the kāmadhātu), only said of the first five samyojana (q.v.): Mvy 2156 (without mention of samyojana); Divy 533.24; MSV ii.87.7. They cause rebirth in a state of desire (kāma-bhava) = in Pali, MN comm. iii.143.21; in Pugg. 22.11-12 called personal, internal (ajjhatta). See ūrdhvabhāgiya.

avarupta, also orupta, quasi ppp., analogical back-formation to avaropita (ppp. of avaropayati, q.v.), on some model like gopayati (gopita): gupta; planted, literally of a tree: Gv 278.22 taddivasāvaruptasya śālakalyānavṛkṣasya; oftener fig., of (roots of) merit, (kuśala-)mūla; Mv ii.314.11 avarupta-kuśalamūlā(h), v.l. avalupta°; iii.406.11 avarupta-kuśalamūlo, v.l. anavarupta°, which could be interpreted as not cut off (see avaropayati, 2); avarupta (of kuśalamūla) Suv 91.8; 103.7; 113.5; 114.1 etc.; acc. to Kern, SP Preface vi, in Kashgar rec. for Nep. avaropita; orupta (kuśalamūla) Mv iii.104.18; 432.9; orupta-kuśaleṣu Mv iii.155.6.

(avarūpayati), orūpayati, cuts off (hair): Mv i.169.14 (vs) keśam ca orūpayanti. On the form see Chap. 43, s.v. ruh- (5).

avaropāṇa, nt. (to avaropayati; in Skt. in mg. planting), (1) cutting off (hair) (in this sense = Pali oropāṇa): LV 432.15 -keśavaropāṇa-; (2) depositing (of relics, in a stūpa): dhātva-avaropāṇa Kv 20.2 (text dhyānāva°); 40.24; 41.1; 77.3 (in all three text dhātva°); (3) discrediting, lowering in estimation: Śikṣ 126.4 na mukhasākṣy-avaropāṇa-vacano bhavati, he is not one to speak to the discredit of a direct witness.

Avaropānarāja (text has n, not ṅ), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.7.

avaropayati (caus. to ava-ruh; Skt. in sense 1; in sense 2 = Pali oropeti; cf. avarūpayati, orūp°), (1) plants (so Skt., of planting trees); here very commonly of planting roots of meril, kuśalamūla (not in Pali in either literal or fig. sense); cf. avarupta, °ropana: kuśalamūlāny avaropayāmi Divy 95.25; avaropayitum, inf., Sukh 16.4; °lāny avaropitāni Mv i.1.5; 57.7; Suv 81.15 (here most mss. avaropitāni); avaropitakuśalamūla- that has (have) planted r. of m. Mvy 7417; Vaj 22.20; 23.1; Gv 47.12; kuśalam avaropitam Mv i.136.10; avaropitam cittabijam Dbh 48.8; (2) cuts off (hair, beard): -avaropitakeśaśmaśrur Divy 37.2; -avaropitair iva keśair Av i.284.8; (evil conditions) buddhāvaropitānām (so read with mss.) akuśalānām dharmānām Divy 359.26, that are (= are to be, can be) cut off (= obliterated) by a Buddha.

? avarṇa, adj., in Mv iii.343.1 °vaś ca, epithet of the Buddha's voice (svara); hence must be complimentary; but Skt. id. and Pali avañña are normally uncomplimentary. Senart has no v.l. or note and does not list the word in his Index. Perhaps senū-MIndic for Skt. avarṇya (or read this?), indescribable; cf. Pali avaññaniya.

avalakṣaṇa (nt.; cf. apala° and Pali avalakkhaṇa, Bhvr. adj.), evil, inauspicious, bodily mark: aṣṭādaśabhir °ṇaiḥ MSV i.100.9; 106.3.

-avalambaka, m., and °ikā, f., see naḡarāvalambaka, °ikā.

avalambanā (= Skt. °na, nt.), dependence: Divy 199.19 tau Buddha-dharma-saṃghāvalambanayā smṛtyā kālagatau . . . deveṣupapannau.

Avalambā, see Olambā.

avalava, m. (v.l. avalapa; so Mironov), harvest: Mvy 5314 °vaś ca na prajñāyate = Tib. brñas sar (v.l. par) yañ mi mñon.

avalina, see 2 avaliyate.

1 avaliyati, oliyati (= ava-dī°; Skt. avalina, said of birds, BR 6.550; cf. Skt. avaḡina, n., pw 2.292), flies down: gaganapathagatā oliyanti (mss. khagapatha°) Mv i.216.5; in the parallel ii.19.2 gaganapathagatā praliyanti (mss.; better meter; Senart praḡdī°).

2 avaliyate (Skt. avaliyate, not quite in this mg.; = Pali oliyati, ppp. olina; wrongly defined PTSD; cf. CPD v. an-olīna, not shrinking, not downcast, and °vuttika, not sluggish in one's duties, is depressed, downcast: cittam nāvālyate AsP 5.6 etc.; ŚsP 1643.20; ppp. avalina, downcast, despondent: Śiḡs 126.1 nāvālina-vacano, not despondent in his talk; Śiḡs 309.17 na cāvalina-saṃtātayo bhavanti (see s.v. saṃtāti); the opposite is udāra-saṃtātikāś, following.

?avalupta, planted, v.l. for avarupta, q.v.: Mv ii.314.11, Senart avarupta-kuśalamūlā(h), v.l. avaluḡta°. Also elsewhere as v.l.

-avalehakam, adv. (Skt. °ka, adj., one who licks, BR 5.1063; so, hastāvalehakā(h) abudhāḥ, foolish hand-lickers, said of certain ascetics, LV 258.5), in a manner accompanied by licking (of the hands or bowl; said of the eating process): Prāt 533.10 (Mvy 8587) na hastāvalehakam piṇḡapātāṃ paribhokṣyāmaḥ, and Prāt 533.11 (Mvy 8588) na pātrāvalehakam . . . The Pali equivalent (Vin. iv.198.5, 11) is -nillehakam; but hatthāpalekhana also occurs (PTSD).

avalokanaka (gender? = olok°, ullok°, qq.v.), window: Divy 221.29 °nakā (for °kāḡh? or °kāni? followed by s-; n. pl., in a list of structures and their accessories).

Avalokana-sūtra, or Avalokanā-sūtra, nt., n. of a work: Śiḡs 297.10 and 89.15 respectively. It is a variant form of the Avalokitaṃ (nāma sūtram, or vyākaraṇam), q.v., in the second Mv version. On the language and meter see §§ 1.47.48.

avalokaniya, adj., pleasant, of sounds: prasādaniyā avalokaniyāḥ prahlādaniyāḥ (śabdāḥ) LV 52.6; 411.9; of persons, worthy of (admiring) contemplation: Mv i.103.5 ullokaniyāś cāvalokaniyāś cābhivandaniyāś cādeyavākyaś ca. (All prose.) Cf. ullokaniya. avalokayati (= Pali apaloketi), (1) asks permission (acc.): Bhīk 3b.5 yāvad ahaṃ bhagavantam avalokayāmi, until I ask the Lord's permission (for the admission of nuns); Divy 331.18 nāhaṃ svādhīna upādhyāyam avalokayata; 331.23; 511.10 rājānam avalokya; 439.22, 23 mātāpitarāv avalokya, having asked permission of my parents; (2, cf. Pali apaloketi, d, in CPD, consult): bhikṣum avalokayitvā (Tib. bcod nas, entrusted to one's charge) gantavyaṃ yo 'sya lābham grhṇāti MSV ii.97.8 (and ff.); avalokayasi (perh. do you consult? as in Pali) tvaṃ . . . Upanandam MSV ii.119.2 and f. avalokita (1) nt., and once °tā, f. (= Pali °ta, oftener apalokita, nt.), act of looking; a look, gaze: fem. only LV 227.9-10 anyonya-mukhāvalokitayā rudanti sma, they weep with a gazing look at each other's faces; nt. LV 84.5 simhāvalokitaṃ mahāpuruṣāvalokitaṃ vyavalokayati sma; LV 191.17 (prāsādikena) avalokita-vyavalokitena (see s.v. vyavalokita, acc. to Tib., looking forward; Śiḡs 215.10 -prasāritāvalokita-vilokita-supta-jāgarita-svaśariragatopasthānam; elsewhere in a similar cliché ālokita (instead of ava°)-vilokita, q.v.; esp. nāḡāvalokita (= Pali id., oftener °palokita), the gaze of an elephant (turning the whole body), Mv iii.55.18 sarvāvāntena kāyena (so read with v.l. for text kālena) nāḡāvalokitena; Divy 208.16-17 sarvakāyena nāḡāvalokitena; Gv 48.15 nāḡāvalokitena pratyudāvṛtya (q.v.); MSV i.62.17; (2) nt., n. of a work (called a vyākaraṇam Mv ii.257.13; 259.4; but a sūtram in the colophons, 293.15; 397.7) imbedded in the Mv in two forms, following one another, ii.257.6-293.15, and 293.16-397.7. The second of these, under the name Avalokana- (or °nā-sūtra, q.v., was used (in a rather widely variant form) as one of the sources of Śiḡs. (3) m., said to be used for Avalokiteśvara, q.v.: Burnouf, Introd. 224 (and Skt. Lex.).

avalokita-mūrdhī-tā (suffix tā added to stem in -in from *avalokita-mūrdhan), state of having his head gazed upon (revered) by others, said of a Tathāgata: Gv 65.18.

Avalokitalakṣmī, n. of a kiṃnara-maid: Kv 6.3.

Avalokiteśvara (on the name cf. Mironov, JRAS 1927.241 ff., suggesting that the original form was Avalokita-svara), n. of a celebrated Bodhisattva: first in lists of Bodhisattvas, SP 3.4; Mvy 645; cf. also Kv 1.2; lives on Mt. Potalaka Gv 208.8; subject of ch. 24 of SP (named 438.4 ff.), where he has the epithet Samantamukha, q.v.; other occurrences Śiḡs 286.7; Samādh p. 36 l. 1; Kv 1.16; 8.19 etc.; Mmk 62.24 etc.; Sukh 52.4; 56.7-8; Sādh 42.10 etc.

Avalokiteśvaravimokṣa, n. of a work: Śiḡs 296.2.

avavadati, ovadati (= Pali ovadati), admonishes, instructs; regularly followed by parallel anuśās(a)ti, as also in Pali: samyag avavadati samyag anuśāsti Divy 299.10; avavadāmy anuśāsmi, yathā mayā samyag avavaditāḥ samyag avasiṣṭā(h) LV 409.11; tam bhagavāṃ ovadatu anuśāsatu Mv i.321.17; ovadatu me bhavāṃ . . . anuśāsatu me Mv iii.206.2-3; ovadeyaṃ SP 351.6; ppp. avavadita SP 70.13; 101.4; gdve. avavaditavya Divy 492.29; kevarūpeṇa ovādena ovadanti Mv i.104.9.

avavaraka (also avaraka? m. or nt.; = Pali ovaraka, Skt. apavaraka, which is read also in mss. of Divy), a secret apartment or chamber; acc. to Speyer Av ii.158.10 n., a subterranean room. Several times mss. (of Av, Divy) present avaraka, which might be regarded as a case of haplogy or haplography; but twice, at least, Pali seems to read (a)varaka instead of ovaraka: jāto (')varake Jāt. i.391.21 and Vv comm. 158.14 (PTSD would understand jāt' ovarake; both prose): KP 71.1 (prose) gr̥he vā layane vā avavarake vā; Mmk 519.27 (prose) guhye pradese avavarake vā; 534.10 (vs) prachanne . . . svagr̥he vāvavara-ke 'pi ca (meter corrupt); Av ii.54.5 avarakam praviṣṭā udbandhanahetoḥ (to hang herself); here text with ms. avara°; 55.7 avavarakam (so ms., text avara°) avabhāsamānā; 158.10 avavarakam praviṣā, and °kam praviṣṭā; Divy 471.8 apavarakam (no v.l.) praviṣat; avavarake (or avarake) strī prasūtā Divy 471.9 (text apav°, but no ms. has -p-; they point to avarake or avavarake); 479.25 (text apav°, but all mss. avarake), 26–27 (text apav° with 1 ms., 2 mss. (a)varake, actually varake after -e). avavahati (not in Skt.; in Pali only pass. ovuyhati is carried off by a river, Itiv. 114.1, 3), carries, bears (a burden): Śikṣ 13.13 -dhuram avavodhum (inf.).

avavāda, ovāda (so regularly Mv, otherwise ava°; to avavadati) m. (= Pali ovāda), admonition, instruction: SP 202.10 sattvāvavāda-kuśalanām; LV 244.16 datto 'vavādo 'bhūt, the admonition (instruction) was granted; Mv i.104.9 ovādena ovadanti; 307.10; iii.53.8, 10; Mvy 1440; 6534; 7600; 8442–4; Divy 240.17; 281.28; bodhisattvāvavāda, SP 65.1 et alibi, epithet of Mahāvaiṣṭya sūtras such as SP (for this Kashgar rec. regularly reads bodhisattvotpāda, KN note to l. c.); parallel with the virtual synonym anūsāsani, q.v., Mv iii.51.16–17 karaṇiyo ovādo karaṇiṇyā anusāsani; these two often compounded as avavādānūsāsani (Mv ovādānu°), dvandva, but regularly sg. with fem. gender (§ 23.3): LV 244.15 (read with mss. avavādānūsāsani, or °nim, asya; the reading of both edd. is impossible), admonition and instruction: Divy 318.24; 340.28 = 567.9; Mv iii.60.16; 206.4; Bbh 178.17; 224.16; Bhik 5a.1.

avavādaka, adj. (to avavadati; = Pali ovādaka), instructing, admonishing; m., instructor (in religion); nt. also used of a text: Divy 48.26 yas teṣām ṛṣir avavādakāḥ; 385.8 °kānām agro; 493.5 (ko °smākam) avavādaka ājñaptāḥ; 254.10 kulāvavādaka, a family (religious) instructor, of a rich man; Gv 171.14 mahāyānasyāvavādakāni (are instructors in the Mahāyāna) mama kalyāṇami-trāṇi; nt., of a work, Rājāvādakam, see this.

avavād(ay)ati, ovā° = avavadati; noted only in iminā ovādena ovādito Mv iii.53.8 and . . . ovādītvā 10; prob. denom. to ovāda (ava°).

avavāditar (n. ag. to avavadati, or to prec.?), one who instructs or admonishes: Gv 463.3 °tārāḥ pārāmitāsu.

ava-vāyati, see o-vā°.

avaśayati (nowhere recorded), lies down: Divy 559.14 (vs) paryānye 'vaśayitvā (ger.). Cf. avaśāyita.

avaśākha, or ośākha, only in °kha-praśākha, adj., having down-hanging twigs or branches, said of several kinds of trees: ośākha-praśākham (nyagrodhapatam) Mv iii.302.1; °kho (kakubho nāma vṛkṣo) 313.9; avaśākha-praśākḥā (haritakī) 311.4.

avaśāyita, ppp. (cf. avaśayati; this form could be m.c. for avāśayita), lying, resting, bedded: Mv ii.351.19 (vs) dārikā dārikā caiva śāyāsanaśāyitāḥ (Senart; mss. śāyāyām avaś°, śāyāsanaśāyitā, the latter metrically bad).

avaśāvaśam, adv. (āmreḍita cpd.; avaśam, adv. from Skt. avaśa), quite certainly: Mv iii.88.18.

avaśirati, ośirati, °reti (also spelled with ś, s for ś, and mss. sometimes show a for i after the sibilant, ośarati, (2) osarati; see avasarati; cf. Pkt. (read madhusya p°? Senart amptasya p°, bad metrically and otherwise) ... ośīritvā viśasya pātram pibed bāla-buddhih.

avaśeṣa, adj. (= Pali avasesa), left over, remaining: Mv i.7.6 yam teṣāṃ asthīni avāśeṣāni (but so only 1 ms., the other 5 avāśeṣanti) bhūyo 'pi mānsachavi(?) ... upajāyati, when (only) their bones are left, flesh and skin is produced again. See also kalpāvaśeṣam, niravaśeṣa, saṃghāvaśeṣa, sāvaśeṣa.

avaśya, osa (m. or nt.; = AMg. osa; Skt. avāśyāya, once Lex. avāśyā, f.), hoarfrost, as symbol of transitoriness, used of life or worldly things: LV 214.8 (vs) ośavindūpamā ... śūnyasvabhāvā(h), like drops of hoarfrost (fleeting and vain); Samādh 22.6 jivīti svapnanibhe cali 'vaśye (Régamey's note states that Tib. renders hoarfrost, which he unwisely abandons); Śikṣ 18.12 (vs. cited from Candrapradīpa Sūtra = Samādh, but not the same vs) jivite caicāle 'vaśye māyāsvapnanibhopame. In the LV osa could be m.c. for ośā = Skt. (Lex.) avāśyā; but the loc. (a)vaśye in the others points to a m. or nt. stem; AMg. osa is given by Ratnach. as m.

avaśyāya-paṭṭa or -paṭa, m., lit. frost-cloth, a fine silk fabric, allegedly 'used for protection against frost' (Das) = Tib. dar-la (which also renders pattāmsū Mvy 5881 and amśuka 9166); Mvy 5880 °paṭṭaḥ (v.l. °paṭaḥ; Mironov °paṭṭaḥ, no v.l.); LV 162.17 (prose) avāśyāya-paṭa-vitata-vitāne.

avaśruta, f. °tā (= Pali avassuta; cf. an-ava°; derived from Skt. root sru, for which even Skt. texts often read śru), (sexually) lustful: Bhik 27b.5 bhikṣuṇī avāśrutā avāśrutena puruṣeṇa ...; 28a.3 (see s.v. saṃcagghati).

avaśaṅga, m., some part of a building: Mvy 5570 = Tib. ya phubs (? top roof?). Prof. Lo Ch'ang-peī informs me that the Chin. translation now means grand, huge or empty, but that the 'radical' of the sign suggests a possible original meaning roof. In MPS 34.61 acc. to Tib. large beam, gduñ bo che.

avaśabhya, ger. (cf. BR s.v. stabh with ava, 4), embracing, enveloping: Lañk 16.5 bhagavantam bodhisattvaṃ ca ratnajālenāva°, embracing, enclosing in a (? magic) network (? mass) of jewels.

ava-sakkati, o-sa° (= Pali o-sa°; see s.v. -sakkati), withdraws, retreats: Mv i.23.10 (apy ekatyāḥ palāyanti) apy ekatyā na palāyanti apy ekatyā kutrāpi avasakkanti (mss. °sappanti, one °sarpanti) apy ekatyā na avasakkanti (so 2 mss.; others °sarkkanti, °śakyanti, °sappanti); i.353.14 so dāni vyāghro tam ṛṣim dṛṣtvā osakkito (no v.l. in Critical App., but note p. 626 indicates that mss. read osamkito); ii.83.2 (vs) yadi si na maritukāmo, osakka (2 sg. impv.) mama rājyato.

avasarati, (1) osarati, once ośar°(?); on forms with -sār- see below, but also caus. s.v. 1 osarati (cf. Pali avasarati, osarati, to enter, to arrive, CPD), (1) approaches, arrives: Mv i.13.6 (vs) tasmim nara ke osaranti, they arrive at this hell (otherwise Senart); osarantasya Mv ii.108.7, 9, 11, and °nto 10 (pres. pple.), approaching, drawing near; aor. avasāri or °riṃ, 1st or 3d sg., in phrase yena ... tad avasāri(m), arrived at, went to where ... was (on the long ā see § 38.23; the corresponding Pali phrase is tad avasari, e.g. Vin. iii.11.30) Mv i.319.14, 16, 20; 323.13, 16 (in 16 mss. anusāri); ii.117.20; 119.6; 120.17; 123.16; iii.47.12; aor. with short ā, osare Mv ii.222.1 (mṛgābhikumham, approched, went up in the direction of the deer, in hunting); iii.364.19 vanāto so osare rājadhāniḥ; iii.453.3 (= Pali Jāt. v.252.20), read: na te koṣṭhesmim osaranti (go to, resort to; Pali upenti) na kumbhe na kalopiyaṃ (see s.v. kalopi); Gv 241.13 ekaromi sugatasya osari (3 pl. aor.), settled, lodged; osari Śikṣ 336.3 (read) prajānapradīpa ya osari, and 15; 337.3, 17; ośaret (opt.) SP 449.3, see avaśirati 4, WT vajrāmaya-parvato yadi ghatanārthāya hi mūrhdni ośaret, should alight, fall upon his head, which is perhaps possible; (2) osarati and its forms also are written for ośirati (avaśirati, q.v.); in my opinion this set of forms must be wholly unrelated to the above (despite Senart i note 380). Perhaps ośir° (or osir°) should always be read by em. when osar° occurs in the mss. in the meanings of avāśirati. Note especially Mv iii.1.4 osare(yam), mss. (Senart osir°), but in 1.6 and 2.11 mss. ośirati in precisely similar context.

avasavya, adj. (Skt. and Pali apasavya; Pkt. avasavya, cf. AMg. avasavya, a particular kind of the motions of the planets), not left, right (-hand): °vyam Sādh 20.5; °vyena (adv.) on the right 20.10; utsāngasthitāvasavyaha-stam 24.10.

avasādana (to avasādayati), (1) adj., f. °nī, censuring, rebuking: Bbh 220.3 (kuśale sthāne pratiṣṭhāpanārtham ...) -samcodanāvasādani priyavādītā; (2) °nā, subst. f. censure, rebuke: Bbh 83.18 avasādanā madhyame vyatikrame, censure (is appropriate) in case of a transgression (of middling (gravity)); 179.18, see s.v. avasādayati; 295.21 avasādanāsādhyaḥ, to be perfected by censure; Jm 217.8 tām avasādanām amṛṣyamāṇaḥ, impatient of this rebuke; Divy 490.5, 6 avasādanāvineyaḥ, to be converted (substantially = °nā-sādhyaḥ, above) by rebuke (which is applied in 7 in the words tvam tāvac cūḍaḥ etc.; ed. Index discouragement, not quite rightly; the opposite is utsahanā-vineya, see utsahanā); in LV 70.11 (saṃcārya) vicāryāvasādanākāreṇa pāṇim saṃcārayati sma (subject, the Bodhisattva in his mother's womb); Foucaux, 'en l'étendant pour le signal du départ' (sc. for the attendant gods), but avasādanā can hardly mean this. Tib. had a quite different reading, containing smṛtaḥ saṃprajānan as in l. 15 (dran zhiñ śes bzhin du, both times). I cannot solve the passage but think it probably corrupt, despite the lack of variants. Perhaps follow the lead of Tib.

avasādanikā, censure, rebuke: Bbh 150.22, see prec. and s.v. avasādayati; similarly 151.3, 4.

avasādayati (= Pali apasādayati, in both mgs.; cf. prec. two), (1) rejects, repulses: Mv iii.184.11 tāye māṇavikāye ... avasādito, rejected by this girl (with whom he was in love); (2) censures, rebukes: Bbh 150.22 (mṛdvaparādham mṛdu-vyatikramam ...) mṛdvya (text mṛdhvā) avasādanikayā avasādayati; so also 151.3; Bbh 107.16 toṣayatā utsāhayatā anavasādayatā, by him gratifying, enthusing, not reproaching; Bbh 179.18-20 bodhisattvaḥ avasādanārhan ... pravāsanārhan kṣiṣṭacitto nāvasādayati, avasādayati vā na ca daṇḍakarmanā samanūṣāsti; °yitavyaḥ MSV iii.53.11.

avasāraṇa, nt. (seemingly = osāraṇa, q.v.), restitution (of a monk that has been suspended from the order): °nam Mvy 9306 = Tib. bzod par gsol ba, request for forgiveness; so also Chin.

avasrjana, nt. (to Skt. avasrjati), emission, pouring forth: Gv 18.9 (prose) bodhisattvanirmitameghāvasrjanam.

avasevita-vant (no ava-sev is recorded), having cultivated, devoted oneself to: LV 10.5-6 pañcavidhapaṇyākriyāvastv-avasevitavatas (bodhisattvasya); Calc. 11.1 reads upasev° for avasev°, unsupported by any of Lefm.'s mss.

avaskandanā (cf. Skt. avaskandana, nt., accusation, legal attack; to ava-skand-, attack, usually in military sense), (verbal) attack; injurious speech; °skandanā is read for °sphaṇḍanam in a text parallel to Śikṣ 172.1 idam agram pāruṣyāṇam yad utāryāṇam avasphaṇḍanam, see Bendall's note p. 408; Tib. gnod pa, injure.

avaskhalita, adj. (ppp. of Skt. skhal, not cpd. with ava in Skt.; cf. Pali avakkhalita, n., offense), guilty, at fault; having offended: Divy 359.26 (tvam hi) bhagavatya asakṛd-asakṛd avaskhalito.

avastabdha, ppp. (= Pali avatṭhaddha, also with dental ttha; Skt. avastabdha, ppp. to ava-stambh), founded (upon), supported (by), in comp.: Divy 45.4 tirthikāvastabdham tan nagaram.

avasphaṇḍaka (to next but one with -aka), one who addresses contemptuously: bhikṣor gṛhapater °kasya MSV iii.24.10, of a monk who speaks contemptuously to a householder.

avasphaṇḍana, in Bbh °spa°, nt. (n. act. to next, q.v.), ridicule or contemptuous treatment: Bbh 238.8 (kṣamaś) ca bhavati parato 'vamānām avahasānāvāspaṇḍana-durukta-durāgatādīnām . . . vacanapathānām; Śikṣ 172.1, see avaskandanā.

avasphaṇḍayati, in Bbh °spa° (cf. Skt. Dhātup. sphaṇḍ, pariḥāse; see prec. two) ridicules or treats with contempt: Bbh 123.10 (na ca bodhisattvo) yācanakam avahasati nāvāspaṇḍ°; 150.4 (na ca . . . bodhisattvaḥ param avahasati) nāvāspaṇḍ°; 175.16 avahasati avaspaṇḍ°; mayā . . . gṛhapatir °ditaḥ MSV iii.24.7; Tib. brñas thabs gyiso (gyis so?), acted contemptuously (towards).

avasphoṭana, nt. (Skt. id., snapping of the fingers, pw; possibly the same word, applied to 'casual rejection' of an argument?), reading of Mironov in Mvy and of Das s.v. Tib. sphrugs bsigs instead of apasphoṭana, q.v.

avasyandana (? the same word recorded in Pān.'s gaṇa gahādi? cf. Skt. avasyandita), changing the meaning of one's own words: Śikṣ 126.1 nāvāsyandanavacanaḥ.

avasruta, adj. (= Pali avassuta), wet, dripping, and so foul, rotten, orig. of a tree the inside of which is rotten, Pali AN iv.171.9 (rukkhāni) antopūtini avassutāni kasambujātāni; fig., usually in Pali, and in BHS, of evil monks: Mvy 9138 antarpūty (read as separate word, see antaḥpūti) avasrutāḥ; foll. by kaśambaka-jātaḥ (see kaśambaka); MSV i.50.7 antaḥpūtir °taḥ kaśambaka-jātaḥ.

avasvapati, °pana, see osopati, °pana.
avasvāpana, see osvāpana, apa°.

(avasvāpayati), ppp. avasvāpita, osvā° (caus. to ava-svap-, in Skt. recorded only in ppp. avasupta, asleep, Rām.; but see osopati; note also Jain Skt. (Hem.) avasvāpanikā and °pani, pw 2.292), put to sleep, asleep: LV 220.10 (vs) te cāpy avasvāpitāḥ (so Lefm. em., confirmed by Tib. ñal; mss. avasthāpitāḥ, avasamsthitāḥ); 221.5 śayavati (q.v., read prob. yaśavati) osvāpitā devataiḥ, and 10 puravaram osvāpitam devataiḥ, . . . put to sleep by the gods. Cf. also apasvāpana, osvāpana.

avānta, m., a high number: Mvy 7796 = Tib. bsam yas, or bsal yas (cf. avada).

avārṣika, adj. (or subst.?), (1) (an ascetic practice) that consists of not going abroad in the rainy season: LV 248.18 avārṣikair (sc. ātāpanaparitāpanaiḥ, l. 15); Tib. dbyar mi byuñ ba; (2) (a monk) who does not observe the rule for not wandering during the rains: MSV ii.154.12; read so with v.l. and Mironov in Mvy 9426 (Tib. dbyar gnas su ma zhugs pa).

avāśiro, adj. n. sg. m. (or could be adv., acc. sg. nt.; = Pali avamsira(s), avasira(s), Skt. avākśiras), head downwards, headlong: Mv iii.454.6 = 457.4 atha (457.4 mā; so Senart; mss. apparently lack any such word, except that one reads nā in 457.4) ghorarūpam narakam prapatiṣye avāśiro (so clearly the mss. read or intend; vv. ll. avāśiro, avāśiro, unmetr.; Senart em. avākśiro).

avāśruta, ppp. (to Skt. ava-ā-sru-, not recorded; cf. Pali avassuta, taken by CPD as from ava plus Skt. sru-), descending in floods: Divy 608.19 (vs, printed as prose) payomucaḥ . . . avāśrutāmbhāso.

avikampana-tā (cf. vika)° = Pali avikampana, nt.), the not-wavering (from . . . , in comp.): Bbh 251.1 samyakprayogāvikaṃpanatā.

Avikāra, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 575; ŚsP 1413.17; 1421.8.

avikīrṇa-vāca, adj. (= Pali avikiṇṇa-vāca), not loose, not uncontrolled, in speech: Mv ii.356.12 = iii.280.18 (in both read: amukharā (ca?) abhū avikīrṇavācā; in prec. line acapalā, anuddhatā; these four adj. associated formulaically in Pali).

a-vikopana (nt.; = Pali id.), the not disturbing, non-confusion: LV 423.1 bhūtakoty-avikopana-cakram; 3-dharmadhātva-avikopana-cakram; Dbh 71.16 parāvikopana-tvāt, because of the fact that it is not subject to disturbance by others (or, by foes).

a-vikopita (neg. ppp. of vikopayati, q.v.), unperturbed, undisturbed, unmoved: avikopitayā caryā (instr.) LV 259.14; -avikopitajñāna- LV 428.11; avikopita (asthisamghāta, q.v.) Divy 61.22, 24; 76.27; 465.25; replaced by avigopita, Bhagavataḥ śārīram °tam MPS 48.3; 49.15 (Tib. ma ñams pa, undisturbed; but in 49.15 occurs vigopayati, opens, Tib. kha phyē, see vigopita).

Avikṣiptāmsā, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.6. avikhinna, see vikh°.

Avigraha, nt., n. of a Buddhakṣetra: Mv i.124.3.

avijahanatā, see vija°.

avijugupsanatā, see viju°.

avijñaptika, see vijñā°.

avitarka(-dhyāyin), (= Pali avitakka-jhāyī, SN i.126.27), (devoted to the [2d] stage of dhyāna) in which there is no ratiocination: Mv iii.284.4, Senart avitarka- (mss. avitakāyam, avitarkam kāyam)-dhyāyī (mss. -dhyāyino, which is possible in sense and meter and should perhaps be kept, despite the Pali parallel -jhāyī).

avitṛpti, f. (neg. to *vitṛpti, nowhere recorded; to vi-ṛtp-), insatiableness: Dbh 49.15 vedayato 'vitṛptis ṛṣṇā. avidu, see vidu (1).

aviddasu, adj. (= Pali id.; see avidvasu), ignorant: °su, n. sg. (or perhaps °sū, cf. ms. B in l. 16 abhidāśū) is plausibly conjectured by Senart for corrupt readings of mss. Mv ii.369.5 and 16.

avidyatā, ignorance (= avidyā): LV 420.13 (vs) °tāyāḥ.

avidyā, ignorance, occurs in Mv ii.99.10 (text without v.l.) in the place of abhidhyā in a list of the 10 karma-patha; certainly in some sense secondary and perhaps a mere textual corruption for abhidhyā, covetousness.

Avidyāndhakāraavidhvamsanakara, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.1.

avidvasu, adj. (Sktized form of aviddasu, q.v.; Geiger 100.2 records but does not explain the Pali form, which seems to be a curious blend of Pali avidvā = Skt. a-vidvān with a-vidu, the s due to Skt. vidus-, cf. viduṣa-ka), ignorant: °sū, nom. pl., SP 45.9; 55.2 (Kashgar rec. avidvalās); 56.2; 204.6; °sūnām, gen. pl., 57.8 (all vss).

avidham, avidhā, interj. (always repeated; most often followed by (i)ti; = Pkt. avihā, cf. avidā, avida, exclamation of sorrow, Sheth), exclamation of disapproval or dismay; only noted in Mv; mss. sometimes abhi- for avi-, occasionally -dhām for -dham or -dhā: avidhā avidhā ii.450.5; avidhāvidham (ti; so mss.) ii.450.7; avidhāvidhā (usually followed by ti) i.301.19; iii.73.17; 86.16; °dhām (mss.) ii.452.11; °dheti i.303.21 (mss.); °dham or °dhan (ti) i.301.20; 302.1; 303.19; ii.452.8 (mss.); 462.15; iii.15.15; 189.10, 11. Rarely ā- is written in mss. for initial a-. avinipāta-dharman, adj. (= Pali °dhamma), not liable to fall (to evil existences): Sukh 56.16 °dharmāṇaḥ, n. pl. m.

avinipāta-dharmin, adj. = prec.: Divy 534.4 °rmiṇyo, n. pl. f. avinirbhāga (m.; corresponds to Pali avinibbhoga; see also vinirbhāga; note AbhidhK. La V-P. vii.122 avinirbhūta = avinirbhāgena avasthita; acc. to CPD s.v. avinibbhutta, avinirbhūta = this Pali form 'through confusion with a-vinā-bhūta', non-differentiation, non-distinction, confusion: Dbh 18.7; 74.8 (kleśānām...) sahañāvinirbhāga-tām, innate (natural) confusion; Dbh 53.4, see vinirbhāga; Lañk 63.9; Mvy 6569, text avinirbhāva, v.l. °bhāga, which read with Mironov without v.l. (-vartī, abiding in non-discrimination) = Tib. tha (so Tib. Index, misprinted thad in text) dad du mi hjuṅ pa (or, gnas pa), not differing, not admitting of differentiation, Das.

avinivarta (see s.v. °tya), not liable to turning back: Dbh 30.29 °ta-cittāśayamanaskārair, of Bodhisattvas in 3d bhūmi; in vs Dbh.g. 10(346).17 replaced by anivartīya, q.v.

anivartantīya, incapable of turning back (= anivartīya, q.v., etc.), of persons destined for enlightenment, commonly with the word Bodhisattva, often (e.g. SP 260.5; 265.11; Sukh 99.4) with dependent phrase anutarāyām samyaksambodhau: SP 260.5; 265.11; Śikṣ 313.20; Sukh 99.4; AsP 323.1 ff.; Gv 514.6; as subst. m., n. of a Bodhisattva-samādhi: Mvy 740.

anivartin (Skt. not fleeing in battle, Yājñ., see pw s.v.; here = anivartīya, anivartīya, anivartīya, qq.v., etc.), not liable to turning back (religiously): SP 263.5 bodhicittāvinivartinī (of a woman).

anivartīya (= °ta, °tin, °tāniya; also anivartīya, anivartīya, avaivartīka, qq.v.; in Pali only forms of anivatt- seem to be recorded), not liable to turning back: Śikṣ 317.15 (prose).

a-vipañcita, see vip°.

avipratīṣāra, n. (neg. of vi°, q.v.; = Pali avippaṭṭi-sāra), absence of regret or remorse; contentment: Bbh 72.15 °raḥ prāmodyam; Divy 78.7 and 467.3 °ra-samjananārtham (in 467.3 text °samjanārtham). See the next entries.

avipratīṣāri-tā, abstr. to next, state of non-discontent, absence of regrets: Śikṣ 20.3 prītiṃ prāmodyam avipratīṣītām ca janayīṣyati (said of an act of giving).

avipratīṣārin, adj. (= Pali avippaṭṭi°; cf. vīprati° and avipratīṣāra), unregretful (esp. about something one has given away): Śikṣ 21.14 aśocann avipratīṣāri avipāprikāṅkṣī parityakṣyāmi; Bbh 72.2 dattvā cāvīpratisāri; same Bbh 123.1; Dbh 57.7 yā 'vipratīṣāry-avisṭamārga-tā, state of being not regretful and of not turning aside from the Path (lit. having un-turned-aside-from Path, see avisṭa).

Avipraṇaṣṭarāṣṭra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.6. aviprapañca, adj.: n. sg. m. °caḥ Mvy 2926, following aprapañcaḥ and niṣrapapañcaḥ, and evidently substantially a synonym of these; all occur in a list of synonyms of gambhīra, most of which mean something like hard to comprehend. See s.v. prapañca.

a-vipravāsa, m., see vīpra°.

a-vimardana-tā (cf. Skt. vimardana), non-destruction: śradddhabalam °natāyai Śikṣ 3.6 (vs), the power of faith tends to non-destruction (of the indriyas).

Aviraktarāṣṭra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.2.

avi-rajas, nt., = eḍaka-rajas, q.v.: Mvy 8195.

Avirasa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.7.

a-virāgaṇa (nt.; neg. of n. act. to virāgayati, q.v.), non-displeasing: -ārāgaṇāvīrāgaṇa- Gv 529.23.

a-virāgayati, neg. of virāgayati, q.v., is not averse to, does not turn away from: Dbh 52.20 (na cātyantopāśamam...) avirāgayīṣyāmaḥ, and we shall not fail to be averse to complete cessation (of sentient existence, until all creatures are matured).

a-vilomana (nt.; neg. n. act. to vilomayati, q.v.; cf. Pali vilomana), the not going contrary to: Gv 463.23 śīṣyasamacittena, sarvābhijñāvilomana-tayā (i. e. - bhijñā-avil°; better with 2d ed. sarvājñā°, by reason of not going contrary to all the abhijñā (rather, to all commands); Bct 284.5.

Avivarta (see under avivartīya, m., n. of a samādhi: ŚsP 1419.3; cited as Avavarta, q.v., from this list in Mvy 553. Orig. adj., not liable to turning back; see next.

avivarta-caryā (= avaivarta-, anivartana-caryā), course that is not liable to turning back (backsliding): Mv i.63.13. The text explains by vivartanti samsaranti vivartacaryā (cf. vivarta, world-evolution); but I agree with Senart, note on i.1.3, that this is mere fantasy and wholly misleading.

avivartīka = avivartīya, q.v.; see also avaivartīka: of Bodhisattvas SP 32.11; 90.8 (v.l. avaviv°, unmetr.); 93.2; Mv i.83.12 (prose); prob. also Bodhisattvas are meant in Śikṣ 3.16, 17; °ka-tā, state of being..., Mv i.101.2 °katāye (instr. or loc. sg.; of Bodhisattvas).

avīci, m. or f. (in Skt. only m.; rarely also f. in Pali, see CPD s.v.), n. of a hell (= Skt. and Pali id.), a hot hell acc. to Mvy 4927 and Dharmas 121; passim. Fem. e. g. RP 30.16 (vs) dāruṇam (short -a- m.c.) avīcim (end of line). Most forms, of course, are ambiguous as to gender. Cf. āvīci.

avīcika, adj., pertaining to the hell Avīci: Dbh.g. 12(348).18 dukham avīcīkam utsahāmi; Gv 160.2–3 āpārāntikāvīcīkaduḥkheṇa (2d ed. °khe); m., an inhabitant of Avīci, Lañk 138.4 kulaputro vā kuladuhitā vāvīcīko bhavati. In the last two avīcika might be intended; it is clearly read (as adj.) in MSV iv.251.9.

Avekṣita, nt., n. of a Buddhakṣetra: Mv i.123.14 °tam (Senart's em.; mss. °kṣatam).

avetya-prasāda, m. (= Pali avecca-ppasāda), serenity based on trusting faith (cf. Wogihara, Lex. 17): °daḥ Mvy 6823; buddhe °vetya-prasādena AsP 59.20, and similarly in foll. (in Pali also with buddhe etc., loc.); °dalābhī Bbh 161.2, and °da-prāptaḥ 327.2.

a-vyavakīrṇa, aqj. (neg. of vyava°, q.v.; = Pali abbokīṇṇa), uninterrupted: ŚsP 1333.1, 3, etc. °ṇaiḥ . . . manasikārīḥ.

avyavacāra, m., (neg. of vyavacāra, q.v.), non-consideration, contempt, despising (Tib. khyad du gsoḍ pa, despise): Mvy 8510, in śikṣāpadadravyatāvyaavacārah, which I analyze °dravyatā-avyavacārah, as the Tib. and the sense seem to require (the situation is that of Vin. iv.143.16–19; the Pali equivalent is vivaṇṇaka, line 19). It seems hardly possible that vyavacāra, without a neg., should have this mg.

a-vyavahāra, adj., not capable of discussion (mention in words, see BR s.v. vyavahāra 8); followed by syn. anabhilāpya, Vaj 45.6, or anabhilāpya, Śikṣ 251.11.

?avyaṣṭa, in Mmk 51.7 (sarvaṃmantramudrāsādha-neṣu ca) avyaṣṭo bhavati (read abhyaṣṭo, practised, exercised?).

avyākṛta, adj. (= Pali avyākata, indeterminate), indistinct, neutral, median (neither good nor bad): kuśalākūśalāvyaākṛta- good, bad, and indifferent, Dbh 73.18; 74.14; 75.23; kuśalāś ca dharm' akuśalāś ca avyākṛtāś ca Dbh.g. 44(70).7.

a-vyāpāna, adj. (= Pali id.; neg. of vyāpāna, q.v., and cf. next), unmalicious: °na-citta Divy 302.9; Dbh 25.1; Gv 531.14 (with 2d ed. for 1st ed. adhyā°); °nena cittena Divy 105.18; °na-manaskāra SP 339.17; all having unmalicious mind or thoughts.

avyāpāda, m. (= Pali id.; neg. of vyāpāda, q.v.), non-malice: LV 32.22, see s.v. vyāpāda; Mvy 1597, see id.; Ud xv.18, read avyāpāde for text tyāpāde with initial syllable missing. (Tib. ḥchi ba med, non-death or non-killing, is due to false rendering of vyāpāda, in accord with regular Skt. usage.)

a-vyābadhya or °vadhya, adj. and nt. subst. (see next, and cf. Pali avyāpajjha, as mentioned there), (1) adj., that cannot be injured or disturbed, inviolable: Mv ii.259.15 °dhyam (ms.) . . . dharmam deśayiṣyati; 279.9 °dhyam artham prārthayamāno; in both of these spelled avyāvadhyaṃ, and associated with asādhāraṇaṃ; (2) apparently subst., not doing harm (so Tib., gnod pa mi byed): LV 380.17 avyābadhyaṃ (Foucaux la mansuétude) sukham loke. There is a v.l. in mss. usually regarded as the best, adhyāvadhya; one might conjecture a-vyāvadhya, or °bādhya, ger., not committing injury. But the context suggests that a nom. sg. noun is intended, sukham being apparently predicate (Foucaux douce); so Tib. takes it. In all of these forms the root vadh may have been felt to be concerned; or the short a of the root may be semi-MIndic (based on forms of bādḥ which are certainly commoner).

a-vyābādha, also written °vādha, in MSV i.97.19 wrongly °vāda, adj. (cf. prec. and next, also vyābādha etc.; corresponds to Pali avyāpajjha, avyābajjha), apparently usually free from injury, inviolable, secure, but possibly in some passages free from injuriousness, i. e. not given to injuring others, kindly; the Pali equivalent appears to be interpreted in the same two ways, but it is not easy to distinguish them clearly: Mvy 1508 maitrisahagatena cittaṇā 'vairēṇā 'sapatnenā 'vyābādhenā; to this passage corresponds Mv iii.213.13 (cetasā . . .) avaireṇā 'vyābādhenā (so Senart em., mss. 'vyābaddhenā or °rddhenā); also Dbh 34.(18)–19 (maitrisahagatena cittaṇa . . .) avaireṇā 'sapatnenā 'nāvarenaṇā 'vyābādhenā; and in Pali DN ii.242.11 (cetasā . . .) avarena avyāpajjheṇa; the mg.

uninjurious, kindly might be assumed in SP 288.8 (prose) (bodhisattvo . . .) avyāvādhō bhavati, but Kern unmolested, and similarly Burnouf. Cf. avyābādhyā, said of a Bodhisattva, Bbh 73.21.

a-vyābādhyā, adj. (cf. prec.), that cannot be injured, inviolable, undisturbed: said of puṇya Bbh 19.21, 22; 20.24, 26; of sukha, 25.13; 26.9 (there are four avyā^o su^o, listed as naiṣkramyā-, praviveka-, upāsāma-, and sambodhi-su^o); 27.2, 6; of a Bodhisattva, 73.21 (cf. avyābādhyā SP 288.8).

a-vyoṣita, adj., ppp. (neg. of Skt. vyavasita; but actually Sktization of Pali a-v(y)osita, acc. to CPD who has not reached his place of rest, i. e. final emancipation), restless, unsteady, activated by desires (for, loc.): pāpecca (text pāye^o) vyoṣita (read avyo^o) pātra-civare Samādh p. 53 line 4 (vs); kūleṣu (read ku^o) cāvyoṣita lābhakāmāh 5 (vs); bhonti utsukāh, pāneṣu cāvyoṣita teṣu lajjjāh (?doubtless corrupt; lagnāh?) 12 (vs).

(aṣate), aṣate, 1 sg. ase (to Skt. aś-nāti), I eat (cf. Pali *asati, pres. pple. asamāna, etc.): Mv ii.56.10 amṭam pi no ase (so with mss.), I do not eat even nectar; the corresponding Pali vs. Jāt. v.397.29, has udakaṃ pi nāsmiye (asmiye, I [would] eat, see CPD s.v.).

aśabala, adj. (= Pali asabala, in same sense and associated with akammāsa, DN ii.80.24), unspotted, pure, of brahmācārya (together with akalmāsa, q.v.): Mv i.211.11 = ii.15.10; of śīla, MPS 2.34.

aśāta, also aśāta, adj. (and subst. nt.?) (= Pali aśāta; neg. of śāta, q.v.), unpleasant, disagreeable: aśāta vedanā (acc. pl.), disagreeable pains (same phrase in Pali) Mv i.5.9; aśātānubhavanam (Śikṣ aśāt^o) duḥkham Sāl 81.2; Śikṣ 222.9 anandāsātākāntārāpi AsP 367.19; displeased, averse, offended: Mv iii.16.4 sudarśanāpi . . . aśāta vāreti. Cf. also viśāta.

aśāsvatam (after anucchadam) in LV 423.10 (prose), applied to the (dharma-)cakra, is misunderstood by Foucaux (non immobile). Like everything in the universe acc. to the śūnyavāda, it is neither annihilable nor eternal; neither of these attributes, nor any attribute contrastable with an opposite, can be predicated of anything. Tib. rtag pa med pa, not eternal. See śāsvatoccheda and references there to Lañk.

Aśucikuṇapa, (prob.) m., n. of a hell (of impure corpses): °pam, acc. sg., Jm 197.5.

aśubhata-saṃjñā(n), engaging in contemplation of the offensiveness (of corpses; see aśubha-bhāvanā, -saṃjñā), Śikṣ 328.10 (vs). I take aśubhata- as = aśubhatā (m.c.), offensive-ness, so substantially = aśubha (-saṃjñā, with suffix -in). Bendall assumes the adverbial suffix -ta(s). aśubha-bhāvanā, f. pl. °nāh Mvy 1155; Bbh 98.18 (read aśubha-bhāvanā for ed. aśubhā-bh^o); or aśubha-saṃjñā, Bhik 27a.2 (= Pali aśubha-bhāvanā or -saññā), see saṃjñā, contemplation of offensive things, specifically of human corpses in various states of disintegration; there are nine (in Pali, Vism. i.110.29–31 ten) such monkish disciplines, elsewhere called simply nava saṃjñāh, the nine concepts (of offensive things), ŚsP 59.1; 1258.5; a less schematized passage of the same sort in older Pali, MN i.58.9 ff. In Mvy 1156–64 they are listed, each cpd. with -saṃjñā: (1) vinīlaka-, (2) vīpūyaka- (so read), (3) vīpadumaka-, (4) vyādhmātaka-, (5) vīlohitaka-, (6) vīkhādītaka-, (7) vīkṣiptaka-, (8) vidagdhaka-, (9) asthi-saṃjñā (see each of these). Bhik 27a.2–3 agrees except that it transposes Nos. 5 and 6 and accidentally omits 8 (which perhaps should be put after 9; only Mvy has it before 9). There are three lists (one incomplete, one very corrupt) in ŚsP 59.1 ff., 1258.5 ff., 1431.19 ff. (six items only; cited from the last, with only four items one of which is not in this ŚsP list, in Śikṣ 211.1). Barring corruptions, the ŚsP lists agree with Mvy and Bhik except in order of the terms, in which they show some (slight) resemblance to the Pali (Vism.) arrangement. ŚsP 1 (Śikṣ 1) = Vism 1 = Mvy 4; ŚsP³ (= 1431.19 ff.) 2 = Śikṣ 2 = Vism 2 = ŚsP¹ (= 59.1 ff.) and ² (= 1258.5 ff.) 5 = Mvy 1; ŚsP and Śikṣ 3 = Vism 3 = Mvy 2; Śikṣ 4 (not in ŚsP³) = ŚsP¹ and ² 2 = Vism 9 = Mvy 3; ŚsP¹ and ² 4 = ŚsP³ 5 = Vism 8 = Mvy 5 (Bhik 6); ŚsP¹ and ² 6 = ŚsP³ 4 = Vism 5 = Mvy 6 (Bhik 5); ŚsP¹ and ², Mvy 7 = ŚsP³, Vism 6; ŚsP¹ and ² 8 = Vism 10 = Mvy 9; ŚsP¹ and ² 9 = Mvy 8 (omitted in Bhik; Vism 4 has a different term, vicchiddaka, fissured Pe Maung Tin; Vism 7 hata-vikkhittaka is a variation on Vism 7 vikkhittaka = Mvy 7). On the meanings, as well as the variants and corruptions, see the terms as listed above from Mvy.

aśaikṣa, m. Often in cpd. śaikṣāśaikṣa, or bracketed with śaikṣa as separate word; see śaikṣa; its place may be taken by arhant, e. g. Mv i.158.7; Divy 399.24. a-śrāddhya, nt. (= āsṛaddhya, q.v.; Pali assad-dhiya), disbelief, lack of (true) faith: Dharmas 30, 69.

a-śrāmaṅka, adj. (= Pali assām°; cf. śrām°), unseemly for monks: °kāni karmāni MSV iii.16.1.

a-śrāmaṅya, adj. (= Pali asāmañña), not devoted to monks; regularly with amātrjña, apitrjña, and abrahmaṅya, see s.v. amātrjña for references; in Mvy 2460 °yam, nt., following abrahmaṅyam, also nt., but just before apitrjñāḥ, amātrjñāḥ, m. pl.; perhaps collective, the group of those who are not devoted to monks?

aśruka, nt. (= Pali assuka; Skt. aśru), tear: °kāni Mv i.326.4 (prose).

a-śreṇika, adj. (neg. of śreṇika), with parivrājakaḥ ŚsP 615.9, an uncomplimentary epithet of a wandering mendicant, not a śreṇika (q.v.).

aśleṣa, m., non-binding, disconnection, freedom: AsP 294.18-19 yaḥ . . . rūpasyāsambandhaḥ sa rūpasyāśleṣaḥ . . . sa rūpasyānutpādo 'nīrodhaḥ.

aśleṣaka, adj., applied to colors: °kai raṅgaiḥ Mmk 61.14; 68.8; 74.22; °kair varṇaiḥ id. 289.11; 304.15; 699.17; 702.6; °kair varṇakaiḥ 318.7; 322.20; 567.25; perhaps not bound or mixed (with foreign substances), pure; so apparently Lalou, Iconographie p. 30, l. 3, couleurs franches; she cites Tib. (78.24) as chon (read surely tshon) ma ḥdres, unmixed color.

a-śloka (m.; = Pali a-siloka), dispraise, ill-repute, blame: aśloka-bhaya- fear of blame or ill-repute, Śikṣ 296.6; Dbh 13.6.

aśvaka, m., (1) (= Pali assaka) toy-horse: °kāḥ Jm 63.10; (2) n. of one of the Ṣaḍvārgika (q.v.) monks, Mvy 9475; = Pali Assaji, one of the chabbaggiya monks; with Punarvasuka disciplined for immoral conduct, MSV iii.15.21 ff.; cf. Aśvaki(n) = Aśvajit as one of the bhadravargiya monks; Aśvaka was later incarnate as a nāga, MSV i.xviii.5.

Aśvakarna, m. (= Pali Assakappa), n. of one of the 7 mountains surrounding Sumeru (Kirfel, Kosm. 186): Mv ii.300.18; Mvy 4141; Divy 217.6, 7; Dbh 96.4; (with Sumeru eight,) Dharmas 125.

Aśvaki(n), = Aśvajit, q.v., in Mv only: Mv iii.328.20 (°ki, nom.); °ki also iii.139.5; °ki (m.c., nom.) 13; °kinā (instr.) 8; °kisyā (gen.) iii.337.5; 339.1.

Aśvaguṇḍa, n. of a son of Gupta the perfumer: Divy 351.14.

Aśvagoṣa, n. of a teacher (and author): Mvy 3480. Aśvajit (= Pali Assaji, one of the pañcavaggiyā bhikkhū; cf. Aśvaki(n)), n. of one of the five monks (see bhadravargiya, with variants): SP 1.10; LV 1.7; Mvy 1037; Divy 268.6; Sukh 2.3.

Aśvātirthika, var. °aka, n. of a nāga: Divy 184.5 ff. (aśvapṛṣṭha, m., is not exclusively BHS, though not clearly defined in BR (s.v. pṛṣṭha) or pw (s.v. aśvap°); cf. Pali assapitṭha; the art of riding horseback: °thaḥ Mvy 5003 = Tib. rta la gzhon pa, riding on a horse; LV 156.10, in list of arts mastered by Prince Siddhārtha; Divy 58.24; 100.10; 442.6.)

? Aśvara, read prob. Aśvala, n. of a ṛṣi: Mmk 18.18.

Aśvaśīrṣa, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.28.

Aśvastha, n. of a mountain: Māy 253.35.

aṣṭa, ppp. of aśnoti (Vedic -aṣṭa in cpds.), obtained: LV 390.9 (vs) aṣṭam artham. A word-play is clearly intended; see Aṣṭamga. (Calc. reads iṣṭam, without support of any of Lefm.'s mss.)

Aṣṭaka (= Pali Aṭṭhaka), n. of a king: Mv iii.375.7 (vs); he is otherwise in Mv always called Aṣṭamaka, q.v.

aṣṭaka-rātri, in LV 251.6 (prose) haimantikāsv aṣṭakarātrīsu (read aṣṭakā°?), the nights between the eighth days after the full moon of the two winter months, see CPD s.vv. aṭṭhaka, antarāṭṭhaka.

Aṣṭamga, m. (for *Aṣṭamga = Pali Atthaṃga; Skt. Asta; ṣṭ for st seems arbitrarily used for the sake of word-play with aṣṭam in the next line, § 2.61, see aṣṭa), n. of the western (sunset) mountain: LV 390.8 aṣṭamgo nāma parvataḥ . . . aṣṭam artham dadātu vaḥ. (Some mss. aṣṭamo, so Calc.; all have ṣṭ.)

aṣṭamaka, (1) adj. or subst. m. (= Pali aṭṭhamaka, see CPD s.v.), one who is in the eighth (and lowest) stage of (Hīnayāna) religious development, = srotaāpanna-phala-pratīpannaka (Dharmas 102; for the Pali see Childers, cited s.v. śaikṣa): Mv i.120.9 (prose) aṣṭamake dñatavedanāgrddhā bhāvanān (so with all mss.; or read °nām; Senart em. °nā) uttrasanti, said of backsliding Bodhisattvas, being eager for the sensations which are (or should be) destroyed (even) in a person in the lowest stage of religious development, they shrink from self-cultivation (bhāvanā); Senart fails to understand; Mv i.159.8 aṣṭam-kādikā pudgalā yāvad arhatpudgalā (mss. puṃgalā both times), from the srotāpanna to the arhat; aṣṭamaka-bhūmi, here the third of the (seven) bhūmi of a śrāvaka, Mvy 1143; ŚsP 1473.12 et alibi, see bhūmi 4; aṣṭamakadharmā, the conditions (or religious principles) of a person in this stage, ŚsP 1555.11; (2) m., n. of the king otherwise called Aṣṭaka, q.v.: Mv iii.364.7; 365.18; 366.7; 373.23; (3) n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.22; (4) n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.13.

Aṣṭamahābhaya-tārā, Sādh 208.6, or -tārīṇī, 207.1, n. of a goddess, a form of Tārā.

aṣṭamika, nt. (also āṣṭa°, q.v.), food given away on the feast of the eighth lunar day: Mvy 5758.

aṣṭavat-, in cpd., seems = aṣṭa, eight (§ 22.50): prāsādā uccaistvenāṣṭavat-talāḥ SP 341.10 (vs), palaces eight floors in height; so Tib. brgyad brtseg.

Aṣṭasāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā, n. of a work (= AsP): Mvy 1328; referred to Śikṣ 37.13 as Prajñāpāramitā Aṣṭasāhasrikā.

aṣṭāṃsa, adj. (= Pali aṭṭhamṣa; for Skt. aṣṭāśri, perhaps by confusion with Skt. amṣa), eight-edged, of the jewel (maṇi-ratna) of a cakravartin: MSV i.36.5.

aṣṭāṅga (Pali aṭṭhaṅga), (1) having 8 members or parts; so often of the 8-fold way, e. g. Mv iii.332.10 āryā-ṣṭāṅgo mārgo; Gv 521.5 aṣṭāṅga-poṣadhe (see poṣadha; Pali aṭṭhaṅguposatha; = observance of the sabbath maintaining the 8 [first of the 10] precepts, śīla, see CPD s.v.); prob. this is meant by °ga-samanvāgataṃ vratam Av i.170.13 and °ga-samanvāgata upavāsa 339.7 ff.; (2) either alone, as Bhvr., or aṣṭāṅgopeta, having 8 (unspecified good) qualities, substantially = excellent, fine, supreme, so Pali aṭṭhaṅga (-samannāgata, etc.), said of food, fields, men, a voice; in BHS I have recorded it only of water (I with never any indication of any specific 8 qualities): Mv ii.365.7 aṣṭāṅga-jala (mss., confirmed by quotation Śikṣ 299.13); 386.20 (vs) aṣṭāṅgupetām (but prob. read with v.l. °tam, and jala as separate word) jala (text cpds. with next) śobhamānām . . . puṣkirīṇyo; Av ii.84.15 aṣṭāṅgopetaṃ pāṇiyam; Śikṣ 350.8 aṣṭāṅgopetaṃ pāṇiya; aṣṭāṅgopeta-, also of water, Kv 8.1; 60.11; Mmk 105.20; Gv 100.25 (misprinted °pata); 163.10; 193.20; 202.20; AsP 363.5; Sukh 93.16; aṣṭāṅga-vāriparipūrṇā Kv 12.20; aṣṭāṅga-saliladhārābhīḥ Mmk 444.3; aṣṭāṅga sad-vāri Gv 336.7 (vs); °ga-sammitam (mss. °matam, read so?) Mv iii.94.5 (vs), ep. of sopāṇiya(m), q.v.

aṣṭāṅgika, adj. (= Pali aṭṭhaṅgika), of 8 members, said of the way (mārga) to the release from misery (more commonly aṣṭāṅga): LV 183.7; 414.13; Mv iii.456.21; Ud xii.4 (these all vss); Dharmas 50 (here the 8 stages are listed).

Aṣṭādaśavakrikā, n. of a river: Divy 106.28; 107.1. [aṣṭuñcaka, nt., var. for ākañcuka, q.v.]

a-saṃvara (m.; Pali id.; neg. of saṃvara, q.v.), instr. °reṇa KP 130.1-2, 3, 4, 8, or abl. °rato 130.6, not acco. ding to prescription or rule: 130.1-2 bheṣajyam (= bhāi) upayujyāsaṃvarena kālam kuryāt, using medicine not in the way prescribed, he would die. Tib. renders cho ga, usually = vidhi or ācāra, but later sdom pa (= saṃvara, Mvy 1608 etc.); (in the more usual sense of saṃvara) KP 103.3 tatra na saṃvaro (restraint) nāsaṃvarah.

a-saṃvaraṇa, adj. (neg. of Skt. saṃvaraṇa), free from obstruction: Mv i.204.5 = ii.7.20 sarvadiśā (or °śām) kurutha asaṃvaraṇā (or °ṇām), make all directions free from obstruction (for him).

a-saṃvāsika, m., and f. °kā (cf. next, and Pali id. and asaṃvāsa, same mg.), (a monk or nun) that is denied the right of living with the order; one expelled from the monastic community: °kaḥ Mvy 8758; MSV ii.204.11; °kā Bhik 16b.2.

a-saṃvāsiya, and f. °yā (cf. Pali asaṃvāsiya; see PTSD s.v. saṃvāsiya), = prec.: °yaḥ, °yo Prāt 477.2; Bbh 46.19; °yā Bhik 28b.1.

asaṃviditā, perhaps unperceived, not consciously grasped: in Mv i.41.5 and iii.334.8 (both somewhat corrupt, prob. intending) asaṃviditā asaṃviditapūrvā (lokāntarikā, sc. nirayā or narakā); in Mv ii.162.10 Senart also reads asaṃviditapūrvā, mss. (aghā)-saṃvidhipūrvā. The three other Mv versions of this formulaic passage have (aghā) aghasaṃbhūtapūrvā, or (aghā) asaṃbhūta asaṃbhūtapūrvā. All these are corruptions of an original prob. to be reconstructed as aghā aghasaṃvṛtā; the Pali has aghā asaṃvutā (brilliantly corrected by Senart, Mv i n. 405-6, to aghā aghasaṃvutā); LV and ŚsP aghā aghasphuṭā (full of misery, substantially = aghasaṃvṛtā enwrapped in misery). See discussion of the passage s.v. lokāntarikā.

asaṃvṛta, (1) adj. (= Pali asaṃvuta; apparently not in this sense in Skt., tho saṃvṛta restrained occurs), uncontrolled, unrestrained (cf. saṃvara, saṃvṛti): LV 87.13; 138.13; vācā asaṃ° MSV ii.210.14; (2) subst. nt.:

LV 372.7 (vs) ṣoḍaśa asaṃvṛtāni the 16 uncontrolled things (. . . chinnāni mayeha saṃstheṇa; said by the Buddha at the Bodhimaṇḍa). I have no clue to what is meant and have found no parallel. The passage is omitted in Foucaux's Tib.; his transl. of Skt. says omissions. Cf. asaṃvara, 'indiscipline', AbhidhK. LaV-P. iv. 57 (?).

asaṃskṛta, adj. and subst. nt. (= Pali asaṃkhata, ep. of nibbāna, perh. as uncreated by a combination of factors, but see CPD), unconditioned; as nt., one of three unconditioned things. The adj. occurs e.g. Laṅk 189.14. The three asaṃskṛtāni are ākāsa, pratisaṃkhyā-nirodha (which = nirvāṇa), aprati° (see pratisaṃkhyā and apraṭi°), Dharmas 32; in Mvy 2184 °tam, but 2185-6 name only the 2d and 3d, not ākāsa; without mention of the term asaṃskṛta, and with substitution of nirvāṇa-(-dhātu) for pratisaṃkhyā-nirodha, the three are named Laṅk 177.3; 197.12; see also AbhidhK. La V-P. i.7.8.

a-saṃkathya, adj. (neg. gdv. of Skt. saṃkathayati), not fit to be talked with; to be avoided in social relations: Laṅk 61.13; 331.10 °yāḥ.

Asaṃkīrṇa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.1.

asaṃkrānti-tā, condition of not passing (into another state): Dbh 36.25 sa sarvadharmāṇām asaṃkrāntitām cāvināśitām . . . vyavalokayati.

a-saṃkliṣṭa (= Pali asaṃkiliṭṭha), not impure, see saṃkliṣyati.

asaṃkhyā, nt., a high number: Mvy 8040.

? asaṃkhyaya, adj., innumerable, occurs repeatedly (instead of regular asaṃkhyeya) in mss. of LV, and is sometimes adopted by Lefm. in the text: 86.15 (vv. II. asaṃkhyā, asaṃkhyeya); 112.4 (with most mss., v.l. °khyeya). Weller 23 would read asaṃkhyeya always, perhaps rightly; but the frequent occurrence of °khyaya in the mss. is strange. Like Weller I am unable to understand the long ā in asaṃkhyayā-kalpakoṭi- 86.15; probably read °ya- as in 112.4. Instr. of a-saṃkhyā unlikely.

asaṃkhyeya, (1) adj. (= Skt. id., Pali asaṃkheyya), innumerable. In Pali (see Childers s.v. kappo) as an adj. applied to kappa (see BHS kalpa), denotes a world-age of a certain extent; in some definitions at least, of a length intermediate between a mahā- and an antara-k°. Acc. to La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK iii.188, asaṃkhyeya kalpa means here le temps que durent un nombre asaṃkhyeya (10 à la 59me puissance) de mahākālpas. I have not noted the Pali usage in the texts excerpted by me (but see Przulski, Aṣoka, 408). Typical of their use of this adjective with kalpa is SP 17.8 asaṃkhyeyaiḥ kalpair asaṃkhyeyatarair vipulair aprameyair acintyair etc., in which asaṃkhyeya has its normal Skt. mg. of innumerable; (2) nt., a very high number: Mvy 7802; 7932 (cited from Gv); Gv 106.20; 134.5; SP 316.7; Sukh 31.2; Divy 245.11 tribhir asaṃkhyeyair; 246.2; 254.3. asaṃkhyeya-parivarta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.6), square of prec. (2): Mvy 7803; 7933 (cited from Gv): Gv 106.20 (gen.); 134.6 °tam, n. sg.

Mvy 1502 = asaṃjñī-samāpatti, q.v.

asaṃjñīn (= Pali asaṅñī-n), unconscious, only noted in the cpds. which follow; cf. also āsaṃjñīka.

asaṃjñī-sattva (= Pali asaṅñī-satta), having a nature that is free from consciousness, or acc. to CPD Unconscious Beings, n. of a class of gods (see s.v. deva), one (in Dharmas and LV the 4th) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods of the 4th dhyāna-bhūmi (missing in the other standard lists of gods, but required to make up the standard count of 18 classes of gods in BHS or 16 in Pali): Dharmas 128; LV 150.9; Divy 505.23 (see s.v. āsaṃjñika); in Mvy 2297 mentioned as an example of dwellers in the 9th and highest sattvāvāsa, but this is certainly an error; they belong in the 5th sattvāvāsa, see this word. This is confirmed AbhidhK. LaV-P. ii.199. f., where the name is discussed, and it is said that they dwell in (a specially high part of) the brhatphala heaven.

asaṃjñī-samāpatti, f., also asaṃjñā°, q.v., attainment of the state of those who are without consciousness (asaṃjñīn, q.v.), or unconscious state of attainment: Mvy 1987; AbhidhK. LaV-P. ii.200 f., with notes (it is lower than nirodha-samā°). See also āsaṃjñika.

Asaṅṛṣaḡaṇakīrtidhvaja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.22.

a-saddadhāna, pres. m. pple. (MIndic for a-śradda°, which is a v.l. here), not believing: °no Mv ii.338.10.

asaḍha, read asaḍha? (see s.v. śaḍha), not tricky: in Mv ii.63.15 (vs) read prob. asaḍh° (mss. cited as asadh°) rjjubhūto.

Asanī (read Aśanī, devouring one?), n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.6; n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.19.

asantaka, adj. (a-santa-ka, cf. santaka); ka-extension of a-extension of Skt. asa(n)t, unreal: SP 281.9 (vs) asantaka dharmā ime.

a-saṃdhi, in Lañk 160.11 ff. non-attachment = parimocana, release; neg. of saṃdhi, q.v., in the unusual sense of attachment, binding, which it has in this passage.

asamanta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.9), a high number: Mvy 7808; 7940 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.22 (gen.); 134.9 °tam (n. sg.).

asamanta-parivarta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.10), square of prec.: Mvy 7809; 7941 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.22 (gen.); 134.10 °tam (n. sg.).

a-samanvāharitvā (neg. ger. of samanvāharati; cf. °vāhrtya), without giving thought to the matter; negligently: Mv ii.97.10.

a-samanvāhāra, m. (cf. Pali asamannāhāra; neg. of samanvāhāra, q.v.), lack of concentration (with additional connotation of heedlessness, negligence): Divy 190.28 f.

a-samanvāhrtya (neg. ger. of samanvāharati, q.v.; cf. °vāharitvā), without having concentrated the mind (by a special effort); in the phrase asamanvāhrtyā °rhatam (or, °rhaacchrāvakapratyeyakabuddhānam; or, °śrāvakapratyeyakabuddhānam) jñānadarśanam na pravartate, without having concentrated the mind (by a special effort), the insight-into-truth of arhats (etc.) does not operate: Divy 84.6; 190.8; 313.10 etc.; Av i.244.16; 255.5.

asamaya-vimukta, adj. (= Pali °vimutta; opp. of samaya-vi°, q.v., with references), released finally, without term, absolutely: Mvy 1026.

asama-sama, adj. (= Pali id.), without a peer, unequaled, supreme (lit. having no equal like him? Müller, in Transl. of Sukh 9.16, equal to the unequalled): Mvy 6379; usually ep. of Buddhas or Bodhisattvas, LV 100.2; RP 4.12; Śikṣ 139.5; Sukh 9.16; of the five groups (skandha, 3) of factors in the development of dharma, Mvy 103; as n. of a former Buddha, Mv iii.231.3 f.; as n. of a samādhi, Mvy 587 (text asamasamā, but Index °mo, and so Mironov) = ŚsP 1422.13 (°mo).

asamprakampin, adj. (= Pali asampak°; to sampra-kamp-; cf. saṃprakampana), not subject to shaking: Mv i.292.15 caturbhī vātehi asamprakampi.

a-samprakhyaṇa, nt. (neg. of saṃ°, q.v.), lack of clarity, obscurity, confusion: Mvy 2672 (follows saṃ°); 2478 = Tib. mi gsal ba (in a list of vices and faults). Note that saṃprakhyāna, q.v., is equated with a-saṃmoṣa, non-confusion, implying synonymity of saṃmoṣa and asamprakhyāna.

a-saṃprajanya, (1) nt. (neg. of saṃ°, q.v.; = Pali asampajāñña), lack of intelligence or mindfulness (CPD, want of consideration or self-control): Dharmas 69 (one of the upakleśa); Mvy 1978; Śikṣ 82.21 °nyācārin, behaving with . . .; 123.14 °nya-paratantra, subject to . . .; (2) adj. asaṃprajñāna, nt. (neg. to an unrecorded samprajñāna, from Skt. sam-pra-jñā-), lack of perfect knowledge: Mvy 6893 = Tib. śes bzhin ma yin pa.

a-saṃprabhīta, adv. °tam (neg. of ppp. of sampra-bhī-, unrecorded), in an unterrified manner: Mv ii.281.3 °tam ca viloketi (mss. °kesi).

a-saṃpramuṣita (neg. of ppp. of saṃpramuṣyate) (1) not deprived (of what is expressed by preceding member of cpd.): Mvy 803 -cittāsaṃpramuṣitāḥ; LV 275.6 sarva-dharma-dhāraṇyasaṃpramuṣitāḥ; (2) not taken away or not lost: Gv 521.17 asaṃpramuṣitena smṛtibalādhānena.

Asaṃpramoṣa, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 526; ŚsP 1416.22 (misprinted °modho); 1417.2. Cf. Bodhicittāsaṃpramoṣa. As common noun (neg. of Skt. saṃpramoṣa, disappearance, loss, see s.v. saṃpramuṣyate) the word hardly needs recording; it means non-disappearance, non-deprivation, non-loss, e. g. Mvy 785; 961; etc.

a-saṃpramoṣaṇa (nt.; cf. prec. two), the non-loss: Suv 103.6 smṛtyasaṃpramoṣaṇāya, unto non-loss of memory or mindfulness.

a-saṃpravāṇa-tā (? neg. of saṃ plus pravāṇa, Pali poṇa), (state of being) not devoted to, bent upon (in comp.): Gv 525.12 kāyacittāsaṃpravāṇatāyā (see s.v. anāyūha).

a-saṃpravedhana (nt.; to saṃpravedhati, q.v.), non-shaking, non-perturbation: Gv 463.22, cited Śikṣ 35.7 sarvaduḥkhāsaṃpravedhana-tāyā, because of the state of not being subject to perturbation by any sorrow.

a-saṃpravedhin, adj. (= Pali asampa°; as prec.), not subject to shaking or perturbation: Mv ii.300.5 (vs) acalo asaṃpravedhi (n. sg. m.); 383.22 °vedhi (n. sg. m.).

Asaṃbhraṅtavacana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.12.

asamṣoṣa (m.; prob. Sktized from Pali asammosa, neg. of sammōsa, to mussati, historically connected with Skt. mṣyati; but acc. to CPD to Skt. root muṣ), non-confusion (synonym of samprakhyaṇa, clarity, q.v.); asamṣoṣa-dharmāṇo Buddhā Bhagavantāḥ Divy 49.10; 50.21; 154.15; 178.6; 190.11; -jñāna-praveśāsamṣoṣa-smṛti-vyūha-gato (2d ed. °garbho) nāma eṣa vimokṣaḥ Gv 524.12. Cf. next.

a-sahita, adj. (= Pali id.), not sensible, see sahita (1). a-sahya, (1) adj. (in Skt. unendurable, insupportable, irresistible), that cannot be supported, and so in hopeless state, lost, of a ship doomed to destruction: Divy 229.17 asahyam vahanam; 502.14; (2) subst. (nt.), (what is insupportable,) ill-health or bad luck (cf. sahya): Divy 258.16 sahyāsahyam pṛṣṭvā, having asked about good or bad health (fortune); (3) m., n. of a former Buddha (irresistible): Mv iii.237.8.

asahya-sāhin, adj. (only m. as epithet of a Buddha; = Pali asayha-sāhin, also so used), prob. enduring (or sustaining, accomplishing) what cannot be endured (accomplished, sc. by others); so the Pali comms. (e. g. on Pv ii.9.22) seem to take it; cf. Senart i n. 571, suggesting also the possibility conquering the unconquerable (but preferring the other): Mv i.255.16; 256.1 °sāhi (n. sg.), of Buddha; in Mv iii.109.19 read buddhasya asahyasāhino (for text °tāyino), with same verse in Pali Therag. 536 (asayhasā°).

a-sāmpreya, adj. (neg. of sām°, q.v.; = Pali asap-pāya), unfit, improper: Prāt 526.15, as quasi-subst., an improper thing: (garhaṇiyam... sthānam āpanno 'smy) asāmpreyam pratideśaniyam (in a formula of confession).

asāraka, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. asāra), unsubstantial, empty, worthless (see synonyms below): LV 242.15 and Suv 57.14, of the body (kāya); SP 282.1, read with WT asārakā for KN na sārakā, of conditions of existence (dharmāḥ); Mv ii.145.19 (sarvadharmam) riktakam tucchakam asārakam, empty, vain, unsubstantial; AsP 346. In some or all of these pejorative force may reside in the suffix -ka.

Asiccheda, n. of a hell (cf. Asipattra): Kv 50.3 °de mahānarake.

asita, (1) adj. (black, and hence) inauspicious, offensive; so AMg. asiya = aśubha, Sheth, Ratnāch.; not in Skt. or Pali: LV 327.8 (vs) na ca jara asitā, and (while) there is no offensive old age (so Tib, mi śis, normally = aśubha); (2) adj. (= Pali id.; a-sita), unfettered, free: of Buddha, MPS 12.9; MSV i.12.14; (3) m. (= Pali id.), of a well-known sage, 'the Buddhist Simeon': LV 101.1 ff. (his story told); 253.1, 15; Mv ii.30.13 ff. (his story); in 37.13 called Kāla (5), q.v., if Senart is right); 144.8; 151.12; he was the maternal uncle of Nālaka, q.v., Mv iii.382.16; Divy 391.6; (4) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.18; (5) m. or nt., n. of a plant, as var. in mss. for āsītakī, q.v.

Asitabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.5.

Asidharā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 241.33.

(asipattra, occurs as n. of a hell in Skt., see Schmidt's Nachträge, and in Mmk 115.1 °tṛe; presumably = the commoner asipattravana = Skt. id., Pali °patta°, sword-leaf-wood, e. g. Mmk 635.23; in this the trees have swords as leaves, which the wind blows down on those who live in it, Mv i.7.8.)

Asimuśaladharā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.32.

Asurakā, n. of a pool near Nirati, the city of the Kimpnaras: Mv ii.111.5.

Asuradeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.2.

Asuranemin, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.29. Cf. Suranemin.

Asuraprāmbhāra (! read °prāgbhāra?), n. of a mountain: Māy 253.34.

Asura-lipi, n. of a kind of script: LV 126.3 (confirmed by Tib. lha ma yin = asura).

Asurendrā, n. of a kimpnara-maid: Kv 6.21.

asecana, adj. (Pali id., CPD; = next; partly m.c.? § 22.24), delightful, blissful: (of salvation) Mv iii.421.19 adbhigacchati (mss. °anti) padam śāntam asecanam ca mocanam (°nakam would be unmetrical); manāpāsecana-Mv iii.66.4-5 (prose).

asecanaka, adj. (= Pali id.; in BHS also asecaniya, asecana, and āsec°, qq.v.; etym. uncertain, cf. Tib. below), charming, pleasing, almost always, as in Pali, of sights (particularly of the appearance of persons, notably a Buddha) or sounds: Mvy 392 asecanako rūpeṇa (of Tathāgatas) = Tib. sku byad blta bas chog mi śes pa (chog śes pa = content), having beauty of form which one cannot be satiated with looking at, perhaps analyzing a-plus a form of secayati cause to drip, saturate, and so sattiate; but I find no such meaning recorded for secayati or any relative. See CPD on Pali exegesis. Often associated with apratikūla, not repulsive, of both sights and sounds: asecanaka-darśana, of lovely aspect, of Buddhas LV 427.20; Mv iii.259.17; Divy 226.27; 251.21; 547.12; of a stūpa Divy 23.13; of the ocean, as compared to a park Gv 194.21 (mahodyānam... mahāsāgaram iva...) asecanaka-darśanam (1st ed. asevanaka°); foll. by apratikūla, darśanāye (or °ya), fair and lovely to see, of Buddhas Mv iii.64.10; 379.9; 407.8; 425.8; °nako (both edd. °kā-) rūpeṇa, of an emperor Gv 333.19; pañcā 'secanaka darśanena, hastī nāgaś ca rājā ca sāgaraś ca śiloccayo 'secanaka darśanena, Buddhaś ca bhagavatām vara iti Divy 334.15-16; of sounds, (ghoṣo...) manojñāḥ asecanakaḥ apratikūlaḥ śravaṇāya Mv iii.226.17; 229.3; almost the same Sukh 36.1; 38.6; asecanakaś ca... apratikūlaś ca, of Buddha's voice Mv iii.343.1; (mahāpṛthivi... kampe, or kampaṇyati...) ullokaniyam ca asecanakam (so, or asecaniyam, q.v., mss.; Senart sometimes em. āsec°) ca apratikūlam ca (adverbs: in an admirable, charming, unrepellent way) Mv i.207.1 = ii.10.11; iii.341.8 (of the quaking of the earth).

asecaniya, adj. (= asecanaka, q.v.), charming, pleasing, of sounds (śabdāḥ) LV 52.7; 411.10 (here several mss. asecanakā); and v.l. (one ms.) °yam for asecanakam, adv., Mv i.207.1 = ii.10.11.

Askhalitapravarāgra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.8.

astamgama (m.; = Pali atthamgama, used as synonym of nirodha, as in LV; not in Skt., which has astamgamana, setting, of heavenly bodies), disappearance, cessation: LV 263.(12-)13 jātitarāmarāṇasambhavanām astamgemāya (v.l. °gamanāya).

astambhin, adj. (= BHS and Pali acchambhin, q.v.), not paralyzed with fear, not frightened: LV 84.14 asamtrastāḥ, astambhī; 318.12 anuttrasto 'stambhī adino 'linah.

I asti, (there, it) is: (1) alone or with nāma, in strong asseverations: Mv ii.145.15 (also 18, etc.), in response to a question, I hope you don't see any bodily affliction, etc.: asti tāta śarīre pratipīḍam paśyāmi, I do indeed (I certainly do) see affliction in the body! etc.; iii.440.7 (without preceding question) asti nāma tvam mohapurūṣo, you are most certainly a man of delusion!; (in response to a question, as in Mv ii.145.15) Jm 17.12 asti deva kimcid aham apl... samanūsamarāmi, O yes indeed, my lord, I too have some remembrance...; Mv i.346.20 and 347.8

(and i.346.13 where text erroneously api for asti) asti nāma tvam... adinnam anyātakaṃ śālim ādiyasi, you most certainly are taking...!; (2) in Divy 424.27 asti khalu me (printed as a complete sentence): ?perhaps I have it! = I know what I have to do! (followed by: pūrvam rājño 'śokasya grhadvāram anuprāptah); (3) as prior member of noun cpds. (Pali also atthi-dhamma, -bhāva, and natthi^o): asti-dharma, m., condition of being, and asti-nāsti-bhāva, condition of being and not being: LV 393.7 (vs) na ca punar iha kaścid astidharmah, so 'pi na vidyati yasya nāstibhāvāh, (8) ... tasya na bhoh' iha asti-nāsti-bhāvāh.

2 asti, noun (f.?), property, goods, only in comp. with parityāga or °gin: Gv 332.21 sarvāstiparityāgatayā, by the process of giving away all property (to beggars); 333.24 sarvāstiparityāgi; 540.6 sarvāstiparityāgena.

asthāna, nt. (= Pali atthāna), opp. sthāna (4, 5), q.v., (1) an impossibility, generally followed by a clause introduced by yat: LV 232.17 asthānam etad... yat kumāro aprāpya bodhim punar iha āgameyā, it is impossible that the prince should return here without having attained enlightenment; Av ii.4.6; often followed by the synonym anavakāśo (yat...), as in Pali atthānam (etam) anavakāśo: Gv 498.5; Divy 174.1; 207.9; 264.5; 270.13-14; Dbh 25.14; Lañk 198.9 asthānam anavakāśam coktam; in cpd. sthānāsthāna, possibilities and impossibilities, sound and unsound propositions or conclusions, Bbh 4.8; Mv i.134.12 sarvakarmeṣu nānāsthānāsthānakuśalāh clever in regard to various sound and unsound conclusions (or, possibilities and impossibilities) in dealing with all actions; sthānāsthāna-jñāna (Pali thānāsthāna-jñāna, knowledge of..., the first of the 10 bala of a Tathāgata, Mvy 120; Dharmas 76; LV 433.4; (2) impropriety (this is closer to Skt. usage, BR and pw): in Mv i.101.7 read asthānato for mss. asthānanto (Senart em. asthānatāye, unmetr.) from (because of) non-place, non-proprity, impropriety, see s.v. asthānatā.

asthāna-tā, impropriety (cf. asthāna 2): Mv i.101.2 kevattakāni karmāni asthānatāye na samupacaranti, what actions do they refrain from performing, because (such actions) are improper? Senart omits na, which mss. read, and so misunderstands the sentence (pp. xxx and 455). Below in l. 7 read asthānato, see asthāna.

asthi-bheda, m., acc. to pw 7 App., Knochenbruch; but rather pain in the bones, n. of a kind of disease: in lists of diseases, Bhik 17a.2; Mvy 9525 = Tib. rus pa la zug pa, or, rus pa zugs pa; Chin. also bone-pain.

asthi-yantira, skeleton, in phrase asthiyantravad ucchrita-, of pretas: Divy 7.20; 8.19; MSV i.59.20; Av i.243.9 (Féer see dressant comme un squelette).

asthi-śakalā, °śaṅkalā, °samkalikā, °śakalikṛta, °samkalibhūta (Pali atthi-samkhalā, °likā, see CPD), (made, become) a skeleton: °śaṅkalā, thrice in Kalpanāmañḍitikā, see Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2, 42; °samkalikā Mv i.21.9 (°kāh, v.l. sakal°, parivarjyanti nirmānsā snāyu-samyuktāh); 22.2 (°kāyo, mss. °kāyā, n. pl.); 24.9 (nirmānsā °kā); Śikṣ 211.9 (°kāṃ māṃsaṇitramrakṣitām snāyuviniḥaddhām); °śakalā Divy 239.29; 240.3, 11; Divy Index takes śakalā as skin, against which see Lüders, who does not cite the Pali equivalent, which conclusively proves his and my interpretation; °śakalikṛtaḥ, made into a skeleton, Divy 476.20 (preceded by nirmāṃso); °samkalibhūtāni (mṛtaśarirāpi) Śikṣ 211.11, turned to skeletons; CPD cites 'Skt.' asthi-śṛṅghalī, which is a Lex. word said to be n. of a plant, only; but whether Senart is right in separating this (and Pali atthi-samkhalikā) from Skt. śṛṅghalā (also °la), Pali saṅkhalā, °likā, chain, is doubtful; Senart assumes secondary influence in Pali of the latter on an orig. (atthi-)samkalā, °likā; but in AMg. the words for chain, samkala, °lā, °liyā (surely related to Skt.

śṛṅghalā) have k for kh, presumably by influence of AMg. samkalā = Skt. samkalita, united etc. (cf. also Pkt. samkalāna, Skt. °na), and the BHS words here treated might have a like origin. It is significant that BHS, like AMg., seems clearly to have śaṅkalā and samkalā, qq.v., chain.

asthi-samghāta, m. (= Pali atthi-sam^o), heap of bones, skeleton: Divy 61.21 yatira kāsyapasya bhikṣor asthisamghāto 'vikopitas tiṣṭhat; 61.24; 76.27; 465.25.

asthi-samjñā (= Pali atthika-saññā), (contemplation of) the notion of a skeleton; one of the aśubha-bhāvanā or -samjñā, q.v.: Mvy 1164; Bhik 27a.3; ŚsP 59.15; 1258.7 (here corruptly asmi-).

Asthisena (= Pali Atthisena; the 'correct' Skt. form prob. Ārṣṭiṣeṇa, cf. CPD), n. of a purohita's son, previous incarnation of the Buddha: Mv iii.418.19 ff. (called a vanipaka).

Asthisenasya jātakam (colophon), see prec., n. of a jātaka (= Pali Jāt. 403): Mv iii.420.5.

asthikṛtya, ger. (= Pali atthikatvā, °tvāna), paying careful heed to: Mvy 1809. The Pali form is taken by comm. and modern exegetes as for arthikṛtvā. Our form might be a false Sktization of this. But Tib. rus śiñ ltar ḥdzin pa, taking hold in persevering (rus śiñ; but lit. bone-like? rus pa, bone) fashion (alternatively, ched cher ḥdzin pa, taking hold more and more, with intensity). Is the resemblance of rus śiñ to rus (pa) bone a mere coincidence? There is, however, a v.l. āsthi^o, which suggests derivation from a form of ā-sthā-; cf. āsthi.

a-sparśa-vihāra, m. (cf. sparśa-vihāra-tā; = Pali aphāsu-vihāra), discomfort: AsP 253.9 na cāsyā asparśavihāra amanaāpah kāye utpadyeta.

a-spharaṇiya, neg. gđve. (to spharati, q.v.), not to be pervaded or penetrated: Śikṣ 249.5, 8 asphuṭam aspharaṇiyam (in 5, tvaṃmānsaṇitena; of the elements in the body constituting the adhyātmika ākāśadhātuḥ, line 3). asmākina, adj. (see s.v. āsmākina), our: °naṃ karmaplotiṃ Av i.242.9; 257.8 etc.

asmimāna, m. (= Pali id.), self-conceit, egotism: °naḥ Mvy 1949; Karmav 47.6; stem in comp. Mvy 1601; Divy 210.5; 314.21; Dbh 28.26; 48.11.

[asmi-samjñā, ŚsP 1258.7, read asthi-samjñā, q.v.] asya, also sya, apparently particle of emphasis; acc. to Senart on Mv i.45.1, = Skt. svid, Pali su (also assu). (Note that PTSD s.v. su³ derives this not only from Skt. svid but also from Skt. sma, for which it there states that Pali also has sa and assa; but neither of these forms is cited in their proper places in PTSD; Andersen, Reader, Glossary s.v. sudam, also mentions sa and assa as occurring for Skt. sma but does not list them; PTSD s.v. assu cites once assa as v.l. for assu; otherwise I have no record of Pali (as)sa as a particle.) In mss. of Mv anya or anyam is sometimes read for asya: evam asya syāt Mv i.45.1, 5, 9, 12; kim asya nāma i.343.4; tasya sya dharmā i.292.1; kim sya nāma, and kena sya nāma, i.346.8 and 9, 15 and 16; 347.3.

?aha, interj. of grief or objurgation (such a form may have existed in Pali, see PTSD s.v.; cf. Skt. and Pali ahaha and aho), oh! fie!: prob. read aha bhoh' Mv i.8.1 (Senart em. ahaha bhoh').

ahamghāta, m., in Kv 94.23 apparently self-slayer, suicide; text seems corrupt: ye mātipitṛghātākā ahamghāta stūpabhedakā-s (so printed); ahamghāta can hardly be part of the cpd. stūpabhedakā; should we read ahamghātākāh, assuming accidental omission of the syllable kāh?

a-hasita-keśa, adj. Bhvr. (a-hasita, neg. of Pali hasita = Skt. hrṣita, of hair), with hair not standing on end; so read with mss. Mv ii.44.10 (Senart em. sahita-keśa); one of the anuvyañjana of the Buddha.

ahārya-hāriṇī, said of a river, acc. to Speyer carrying away rocks or boulders: Av i.235.11 sā ca nadī ah° śighrasrotās te ca mrgā durbalāh. Perhaps rather, (capa- ble of) carrying away a mountain; in Skt. ahārya (as adj. what cannot be carried away) seems to be used as subst., mountain, not only in Lex. (BR) but in literature (Schmidt, Nachträge).

ahituṅḍika (also °aka?), m. (Skt. Lex. °ika, but in literature only ahituṅḍika recorded; Pali ahi°, see CPD s.v. ahi-guṅṭhika), (1) snake-charmer (the spelling °aka only Mv ii.178.1, and with v.l. °ika 178.11; 179.12): Mv i.92.3; 131.5; ii.178.1, 2, 3, 11, 14; 179.3, 5, 9, 12, 13; 183.14, 18; 188.20; Divy 436.28; 437.3, 9; 497.12; (2) n. of a brahman of Śuśumāragiri: Divy 188.11.

Ahibhānurāga, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.7. ahiri(kā), see ahrīka.

ahu, m.c., rarely for Skt. aho, interj.: ahu vañcīto °smi SP 62.4 (vs), alas! (so Tib., kye ma; and cf. aho 61.12) I am deceived. But in 62.16 ahu = aham, as very commonly (§ 20.7).

? ahr̥svara, m. or nt., or adj., (making) a piteous sound, lament(ing), in Mv iii.43.3, 6; 45.17 the mss. almost unanimously read ahr̥svaraṃ (or °rā; once one ms. ahīśvara) krandamānā(h), crying piteously, of hell-inhabitants. I cannot explain the form (it could be an adverb); but a-heṭhaka, adj. (neg. of heṭhaka, q.v.), not doing harm, or as subst. a non-injurious person: Mv i.364.6 °kā... ṭṭṇāni bhakṣayanti; 365.10 sattvaratnānām aheṭhakānām; ii.213.10 vāyam aheṭhakā adūśakā anaparādhino; 215.11; 217.14; iii.363.9; aheṭhakā(h) Ud xxx.48.

ahoḍima, read prob. uhoḍima or avaho°, see s.v. avakoṭimaka.

Lex. ahrika only = a Buddhist!), shameless: ahirikāś (mss. ahirikāś) ca bhavanti Mv i.110.8 (prose); ahrikeṇa Jm 98.19 (prose); ahiriko anotrāpo Mv iii.11.4 (vs; here used of a very ugly man, without other evident cause for the epithet); in Ud xx.5 oldest ms. ahiri (Bhvr.), later ms. ahriko (Sktizing).

ākañcuka, nt. (v.l. aṣṭuñcaka, nt.; so Mironov), Mvy 8996; context indicates reference to something worn at the waist; Tib. rgya cañ (or rgya lcañ), a kind of girdle, Jā., narrow, long money-bag made of net and securely joined to the sash, Das; Chin. belt or sash. The var. aṣṭuñcaka seems probably a corruption.

ākāṭṭati (cf. ākāḍdhana, and see s.v. kaṭṭati), pulls, draws: Mv ii.429.12 (prose), mss. (incorrectly) devi... brāhmaṇeṇa... ākāṭṭati (passive is required; read ākāṭṭiyati or ākāṭṭiyati? v.l. ākatti, cited with dental tt!) kaṭṭāmkriyati (q.v.); below, line 15, (rājagr̥hāto) kaṭṭiyamāni, confirming the sense and approximate form I assume; draws hither, attracts, summons: Megh 306.17 (in a charm for rain invoking serpent deities, nāgas) (sarvanāgahṛdayāni saṃcodayāmi) ākāṭṭāmi, I incite, I draw hither the hearts of all nāgas; there follow magic formulas (sara 2 hara 2, etc.), then, sarvakṣetrāṇi āpūrayatha sarvaśasyāni varṣatha, etc. Bendall renders āk° I murmur.

ākāḍdhana (cf. ākāṭṭati, and see under kaṭṭati), acc. to KN Preface p. vii read in Kashgar rec. of SP for ākaṣṣaṇa.

Ākampya Mvy 739, see Akampya.

ākarsaṇā, °na-tā, and °ṇī (cf. Skt. ākaṣṣaṇa, nt., attraction), (a Buddha's) power of attraction (of men, to himself and his doctrine): Mv i.314.2-3 (prose) ākaṣṣaṇā eṣā buddhānām; bhagavatā vaineyasattvānām ākaṣṣaṇatāyai (instr. for °ye; here perhaps rather by the exercise of that power)...; Mvy 4315 sarvatathāgatākaṣṣaṇi.

ākālana (not in Pali, very rare in Skt., see pw 5 and 6 App.), in Bbh 251.8 paravātibhir ākalanānuṃyogo, an activity of Bodhisattvas, perhaps regular practice (see anuyogo) of investigation (? careful consideration) by reason of (? under the stimulus of) opposing teachers.

ākaluṣa, adj. somewhat turbid: Jm 145.14 °śā kṛṣā ca (arthasiddhih).

ākāpa (m.), probably = Pali ākappa in sense of behavior, deportment (PTSD): Gv 22.20 (prose) vividhākalpēyāpathānām... manuṣyāṇām, men of various deportment and behavior (see īryāpatha 4); and 22.24 nānēryāpathākalpavihāriṇaṃ (janakāyam). (The meaning adornment attributed to this word in Skt surely does not fit.)

ākāñṣati, °te (cf. kāñṣati, kāñṣā; in Skt. only desires, and so app. Pali ākañṣati), doubts: Mv i.165.3 ākāñṣamāṇā... vipaṇḍitā sattvā na jānanti... sukhaṃ samādhim, creatures that are doubting and ignorant do not know bliss or concentration; perhaps Lañ 14.19 (pracalita-maulin) yad-yad evākāñṣasi ahaṃ te tasya-tasyaiva praśnasya vyākaraṇeṇa, (O chief of confused ones,) whatever you are doubtful about, by explaining every such question to you I (etc.) (otherwise Suzuki); Sukh 99.6 is interpreted by the ed. as mākañṣayatha (i. e. mā āk°) mama ca teṣāṃ ca buddhānām... and have no doubt both of me and of these Buddhas; but it could as well be mā kāñṣayatha (= kāñṣatha). (Also desires as in Skt., e. g. Mv i.158.14.)

Ākāñṣitamukha, m. pl., n. of a group of Bodhisattvas in Sukhāvati: Kv 13.23.

-ākāra, disposition (as in Pali, much more clearly than in Skt.), in svākāra, durāk°, of good (bad) disposition: Mv iii.318.2-3 adraṅṣit sattvā durākārā durvineyā durviśodheyā, adraṅṣit sattvā svākārāṃ suvineyāṃ suviśodheyāṃ; LV 393.16 (vs) santi vijānaka sattva svākārāś (ā m.c.) ca; 394.14 (prose) santi sattvāḥ svākārāḥ suvijñāpakāḥ etc.; 399.22 f. svākārān suviśodhakān durākārān durviśodhakān (sattvān); 403.4, 9 (sattvāḥ) śuddhaḥ svākārāḥ (suvineyāḥ) suvijñāpakāḥ...

ākārāvāṭi (denom. from Skt. ākāra, external sign; so in Pali), makes known by a gesture or sign: Divy 403.10 (tenā ṅgulidvayam utkṣiptam na tu vāg bhāṣitā;) dviguṇaṃ tv ahaṃ pradāsyāmi ty ākāravāṭi.

ākārānavakāra (wrongly °pakāra in Mvy), m., n. of a samādhi (cf. anavakāra), complete or absolute in form: ŚsP 1423.11; Mvy 595, text °pakāro (so also Mironov, but one ms. °vak°).

ākārābhinirhāra, m., n. of a samādhi, visible-accomplishment or effectuation in form: Mvy 593; ŚsP 1423.5. ākālika, adj. (= BHS and Pali akālika; Skt. only adv. akālikam; so in Mbh.Cr. ed. 1.99.42 °kam for Calc. Bomb. °kaḥ), immediate, not dependent on any lapse of time, ep. of dharma: Mvy 1294; Śikṣ 323.6. In a like context ak° occurs.

[ākāleyam, 1 sg. opt., Mv ii.253.17; so Senart; mss. akāleyam, akāreyam; read akāreyam, to Skt. ākārayati, invites, causes to approach (here, birds into a net).]

ākāśa (m.), (1) region, place: Mv ii.49.3-4 kaḥim . . . ākāśe pravṛttajivo ti mṛto ti, in what region (lit. under what sky?) is his life taking place, or is he dead?; (2) in SP 124.11 acc. to Kern voidness: (dharmam) ākāśagatikam, placed in voidness (as if synonym of śūnyatā; but Burnouf qui a pour étendue l'espace); cf. under dhātu 1 b, where it is made clear that ākāśa, as the fifth of six elements (dhātu), means absolutely empty space; (3) short for ākāśānantya, in cpd. ākāśa-vijñānā° (etc.), Bbh 49.17-18, see s.v. naivasamjñānāsamjñāyatana; (4) emptiness, implying vanity (? cf. 2 above): KP 111.1 dvāv imau . . . pravrajita-syākāśapaligodhau (see paligodha, and godha); katamau dvau? lokāyatamantraparyeṣitā ca, utsadapātracīvara-dhāraṇatāyā (read °tā?) ca. In vs. 1. 6: ākāśabodhe (see 2 bodha) imi dve pratīṣṭhite.

Ākāśagarbha, m. (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 647; Śikṣ 64.14 ff.; Kv 1.10; Mmk 312.4; 405.24; (2) n. of a work: Mvy 1342; °sūtra, Śikṣ 10.14; 11.1; 59.10.

Ākāśajñānārthapradīpa, n. of a Buddha: Gv 422.25.

Ākāśadhātuvipula, m., n. of a samādhi: Dbh 82.13.

Ākāśapratīṣṭhita, n. of a Buddha in a southern lokadhātu: SP 184.10.

Ākāśaplavā, n. of a kimnara maid: Kv 5.24.

ākāśamātar(ā), pl., n. of a class of malevolent supernatural beings; also mahākāśa°: Mmk 17.7 ākāśa-mātarā mahākāśamātarāh.

Ākāśarakṣitā, n. of a kimnara maid: Kv 6.8.

Ākāśaspharāṇa, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 528, = Ākāśasphurāṇa: ŚsP 1417.5.

ākāśānantya, m. pl., the gods dwelling in ākāśānantya-tyāyatana: Mmk 19.11.

ākāśānantya-tyāyatana (= Pali ākāśānañcāy°,) (1) nt., stage of the infinity of space; as first of the stages of arūpāvacara gods (see deva), Mvy 3110; Dbh 34.11; as first of four arūpya samāpatti-(q.v.), Mvy 1492; Karmav 47.21; as condition of the 4th vimokṣa, Mvy 1514; as condition of the 7th abhībhvāyatana, Mvy 1526; as fifth sattvāvāsa, Mvy 2293; (2) m. pl., = next: Suv 86.11; cf. ākāśānantya.

ākāśānantya-tyātanopaga, m. pl., the gods dwelling in ākāśānantya-tyāyatana: Dharmaś 129.

Ākāśaṅgavimuktinirupalepa, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 623; ŚsP 1426.12.

ākīmcanya, m. sg., one who is in the stage called ākīmcanyāyatana: Buddhacarita xii.63 (wrongly queried by Johnston); pl., the gods who are in that stage, Mmk 19.10. In Bbh 49.17-18 āyatana, at the end of the cpd. ākāśavijñānākīmcanya-naivasamjñānāsamjñāyatana, is to be taken with each of the four members, including this.

ākīmcanyānantya-tyāyatana, nt. = next: Karmav 47.22 (as 3d of the four arūpya samāpatti). Nonce-form, in which ānantya is carried over from the preceding ākāśānantya-tyāyatana and vijñānānantya-tyāy°.

ākīmcanyāyatana (= Pali ākīmcāññāy°,) nt., stage of nothingness; as 3d stage of the arūpāvacara gods, Mvy 3112; Dbh 34.14; as 3d of the arūpya samāpatti, Mvy 1494; as condition of the 6th vimokṣa, Mvy 1516; as 7th of the sattvāvāsa, Mvy 2295; Arāḍa Kālāma (Kālāpa) taught the goal of association with this stage, LV 238.16 = Mv ii.118.3 °tana- (Mv corrupt, Senart āsaṅkitavya, q.v.) -sahavratāyāi dharmam deśayati.

ākīmcanyātanopaga, m. pl., the gods who are in the stage of the prec.: Dharmas 129.

ākīmcityāyatana, m. pl., the gods who are in the stage (otherwise called) ākīmcanyāyatana: Suv 86.12. Nonce-form, based on a-kīmcit instead of a-kīmcana.

ākīrati (= Pali id.; in Skt. only Vedic, except ppp. ākīrṇa and cpds. with other preverbs), spreads out: pṛthivyaṃ ākirata MSV i.44.9.

ākīrṇa-vihāra, m., dwelling in crowds (opp. to solitary, monastic life): Mv i.89.17 °reṇa ca nārtiyanti (a cause of backsliding with Bodhisattvas). Cf. Pali ākiṇṇo viharāmi, DN ii.30.16.

ākīrṇa-vihārin, adj. (to prec.), dwelling 'in a crowd', not alone: Divy 201.26; MPS 15.17.

ākūṭana (= Skt. ākūta; § 22.7), wish, purpose: Bbh 125.22 yācanakam ākūṭana-nimitta-mātrakeṇaiva jñātvā yathākāmaṃ deyadharmāhi pratīpādayati.

ākṛṣṭimant, adj., quick at learning: Mvy 2908. So Tib. (lobs skyen pa, or llob rkyen pa), confirmed by surrounding words.

ākōṭana, nt. (cf. ākōṭayati), beating (of clothes): Mvy 9257; cf. ākōṭayet 9260. In Kyoto ed. there is a v.l. apakoṭana, but Mironov records no such reading and it is surely to be rejected.

ākōṭayati (= Pali ākoṭeti; cf. koṭayati), beats: a drum, LV 299.10 (ke cāgātā grahiya bheri yathaiva merur, so read) ākōṭyamānu (pres. pass. pple., n. sg. m., with merur) gaganē sumanojñaghoṣam, . . . *taking a drum, as if Mt. -ākramaṇatā = Skt. °na (§ 22.42), the walking upon or according to, moving in: LV 31.20 and 34.10 nyāyākramaṇatāyāi saṃvartate, conduces to observance of the rules (of conduct).

ākramati (in Skt. treads on, tramples, and so Pali akkamati; see ākramayati), buries: Mv iii.365.1 so taṃ ṛṣim pāṃṣunā ākrametsuḥ (mss.; perh. MṀdic ā; Senart em. ākrameti); 369.2 ṛṣī (acc. sg.) yam ca (mss. pañca) vatsā (acc. sg.) ākrāmī . . . daṇḍakī (n. sg.), and since he buried the ṛṣi Vatsa (perhaps em. ṛṣim, Vatsam); in 363.9 tena (sc. daṇḍakinā) so vatso ṛṣi dṛṣtvā pāṃṣunā ākrāmī-yito (or ākrāmāmīpito, mss.; prob. read ākrāmīpito with Senart, or ākrāmāpito, caus.), . . . was caused to be buried with dirt.

ākramyati, °te = Skt. ākramati, °te, or ākrāmati, approaches: Divy 399.25 (prose) ākramyate; LV 163.21 (vs) ākramyā (2 sg. impv., rather than ger.).

ākramayati, Mvy 6914, app. caus. to ākramati; causes to be buried (? or, trodden upon, oppressed?) = Tib. gnor par (may mean press down, cover with earth, overcome, oppress) byed pa.

Bbh 122.22 (na . . .) °nāya . . . dānaṃ dadāti, not in order to rebuke others.)

ākhyāta, see dur-ā°.

ākhyāyati (= Skt. ākhyāti; in Skt. only °yate, as pass., and so regularly Pali akkhāyati, but once akkhāyantassa Jāt. iii.106.6 (comm.), active, gen. sg. pres. pp̄le. In Pkt. Sheth cites gdve. akkhāyavva = *ākhyāyitavya, implying pres. ākhyāyati), tells, relates: Mv ii.437.3 ākhyāyatha relate!, 2 pl. impv.

āgacchati (cf. āgama, āgamayati), (1) is recorded, is handed down by tradition: LV 39.15 yathā brāhmanānām mantravedaśāstrapātheṣv āgacchati, tādṛṣenaiva rūpeṇa etc.; 105.8 yathā hy asmākam . . . mantravedaśāstreṣv āgacchati, nārhati . . . kumāro °gāram adhyāvasitum; (2) seeks, hunts for: Av ii.150.5 paścācchramaṇam (q.v.) āgacchati na ca pratilabhate, seeks . . . and does not find.

āgatika, f. °ikā, adj. (to Skt. and Pali āgata), (one that has) arrived: -ka perhaps m.c., Divy 603.9 (vs) °kasya; endearing dim. (§ 22.34) LV 321.19 suvasantake . . . āgatake; 322.6 °tikā(h); 323.14 read with v.l. °tikām (acc. sg. f.; ed. °tiko) na hi bhūñjasi kāmīnikām; specifying -ka (§ 22.39), Mv i.232.7 yaṃ nūnāhaṃ āgatako yena dīpavatī rājadhānī cakravartipuram . . . paśyeyam ti, suppose I, as a returner (one characterized by having returned) to Dīpavatī, behold the Cakravartin's city; Senart, note 557, assumes wrongly that the suffix has mg. of fut.

āgati-gati, nt. dvandva, coming and going (in successive births): Mv i.4.7 (prose), read sattvānām āgatigati (so one ms., the rest °gami; Senart em. °gatim) vividham (so, or °dha, all mss.; Senart em. °dhām) bhagavām abhijñāsi. Cf. Mv i.9.2 (vs) sattvānām āgatiṃ gatiṃ (here āgatiṃ, rather than °ti, is required by meter). The two words are often collocated in this sense in Pali; this use of each of them individually is, however, not foreign to Skt.

āgama, (1) m. (= Skt., as general term), traditional or canonical text; esp. applied to the four collections called in Pali nikāya, see Ekottarika, Dirghāgama, Madhyamāgama, Saṃyuktāgama; (2) in āgama-vastu Mv i.318.7, mg. obscure; see vastu.

āgamana (nt.; = Skt. and Pali āgama), traditional or authoritative doctrine: Mv i.218.20 = ii.21.2 (vs) atra āgamanam śṛṇu, on this point hear what the doctrine is.

Āgamanagamanā, n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 5.15.

āgamayati = āgacchati, comes: see § 38.21.

āgamika, m., (a monk) that arrives at (or, returns to) a monastery; visitor, guest, arrival. Not in Pali, which uses āgantuka (= Skt.) instead as pendant to gamika (q.v.): Mvy 8748, Tib. ḥoṅs pa, arrival. Note that 8746 also has āgantuka, defined Tib. blo bur du ḥoṅs pa, sudden arrival.

āgamyā (orig. ger. of ā-gam; = Pali āgamma, in both mgs.), with acc., with reference to, patñim ā° Divy 269.16; (much more commonly) owing to, because of, on account of, thanks to, (kalyāṇamitrāny) ā° Mv i.243.13; kalyāṇamitram Av i.210.11; 211.14; Mālinīm Mv i.313.5; Bhagavantam Divy 95.10; 97.18; 309.29; -bodhisattvam Śiḥṣ 91.6; Devadattam SP 259.3, 6; tau śrāmaṇerāv Divy 404.25; tat sarvam imaṃ markaṭam āgamyā Divy 350.17 all that is owing to this ape (so mss., ed. wrongly em. āgamyāt); yam Divy 173.16; 175.25; -svāgatam Divy 188.6; tam Divy 514.23; tvām Divy 129.25; 549.21; tava (as acc.!) āgādha-tara, adj. compv. (to Pali āgālha; cf. next, and samāgādha-tara), more serious (of evils): SP 227.6-7 °taram pāpakaṃ karma; very serious SP 483.2 (same phrase).

āgādhi-karoti, fut. °kariṣyāmi (cf. prec. and Pali āgālha), I will make firm or strong: Mvy 6997 = Tib. dam por (or, sra bar) byed pa; the alternative Tib. renderings daṅ por (or, dra bar) byed pa seem to be corruptions.

āgāmika, adj. (Skt. Lex.; no literary occurrence found, tho not marked * in pw; cf. Skt. āgāmin, future) of or pertaining to the future (opp. to sāmḍṛṣṭika, q.v.): Mv ii.405.16 (vs) mā āgāmike vihanyāhi hitvā sāmḍṛṣṭi-kam phalam, do not be subject to disappointment in regard to future (fruit), abandoning visible (actual, of the present life) fruit (reward). Senart's note is wrong.

āgāra, (1) m., a high number: °raḥ Mvy 7831 = Tib. yid yal; cited from Gv, but Gv 133.1 reads maḡara; see also āgāra; (2) see sṛy-āgāra.

āgārika (m., perh. also adj.; = Pali id., see CPD s.v. āgārika, a form not noted in BHS), householder, one living in worldly life: Divy 275.17 na bhikṣuṇā āgārikasya purastād ṛddhir vidarṣayitavyā; MSV i.248.19; in Bbh 26.13, in comp., pravrajitasya āgārika-vicitra-vyāsaṅga-duḥkha-nirmokṣāt, could be either n., householder, or adj., of the householder's life.

Āgūhyakādhipati, m. = (and prob. wrong reading for) Guhyakādhipati, q.v., ep. of Vajrapāṇi and styled lord of yakṣas (yakṣendra): Mmk 25.12 evam ukta Āgūh° patinā.

āgrhīta (= Pali aggahīta; cf. an-āg° and āgraha), held back = niggardly; āgrhītena cetasā (cf. Pali anaggahīta-citta) Divy 291.3; 298.11; Av i.173.12; 174.7; nāgrhī-tacittatayāvasṛjan Śiḥṣ 28.7, releasing (gifts) without niggardliness of heart; āgrhīta-pariṣkāra, having utensils held back, stingy with objects, Divy 302.3; Av i.250.16; and repeatedly in a cliché with matsarin and kuṭukuñcaka, see the latter for references.

āgneya, (1) nt., fiery (jewel), n. of a kind of gem: Mv ii.296.8 (vs) āgneyamañinām (mss. agneya°) yā ābhā gagane vidyutāna vā; Gv 499.23 (prose) āgneyam nāma mahāmaṇiratnam sarvaṭamo'ndhakāram vidhamati; (2) m., with jaṭila (cf. Pali aggika), fire-worshipping, a kind of ascetic: MPS 40.51 (v.l. ag°).

Āgneyī, so doubtless read for text Agneyī, n. of a mātār, the śakti of Agni: Māy 242.19.

āgrathita, perh. ppp. to Skt. ā with gra(n)th, wrapped up (?): Mmk 145.(22-23) khadirakāṣṭhair agniṃ prajvālya, paṭasyāgrataś caturhastapramāṇam āgrathitaḥ āhutiṃ sahasraṣṭam (read °tām?) juhuyāt (etc.).

āgraha (presumably m.; cf. āgrhīta), niggardliness, holding back (from giving): SP 257.1 (after long description of how the Bodhisattva gave away everything, even his life) na ca me kadācid āgrahacittam utpannam, and I never conceived a thought of holding back (wrongly Burnouf and Kern); Av i.174.5 (vs; after 4 nādattvā paribhuñjīran na syur matsariṇas tathā), na caisām āgrahe cittam utpaḍyeta kadācana, and there would never arise for them a thought of holding back (from giving). As Speyer points out in his Index to Av, KSS 90.22 probably contains the word āgrahaṇa with niggardliness, holding back from giving; but this mg. has not been recognized; the ordinary Skt. usage is not quite the same.

? āgrivaniya, pl. °yā, represents some word for a tradesman or artisan; so Senart with mss. at Mv iii.113.10; corresponds to atṭṭiyānika or °vānika (q.v.) at 442.15.

āglāyati, āgilāy° (= Pali āgilāyati), gets weary: Mv iii.206.3 mā . . . āgilāyatu (mss. āgirā°; Senart em. cīrāyatu, clearly wrongly). See also āvilāyati.

āghātana, equated by Tib. with nimitta, mark, sign, as boundary: teṣāṃ °nānām MSV iv.93.4 ff.

āghaṭṭana (presumably nt.; cf. Skt. āghaṭṭanā), scraping, running aground upon (submarine rocks, of a ship), with gen.: Divy 229.24 antarjalagatānām parvatānām āghaṭṭana-bhayam (said in reference to ships).

āghātana, prob. m.c. for āghātana (= Pali āghātana, in same sense, Skt. id. slaughter-house, so also in Pali), place of execution (of criminals): SP 449.7 (vs) saci āghātane (2 mss. āghātane, unmetr.) upasthīto. In LV 207.3 ed. āghātana, but see s.v. āghātin.

āgharate (Skt. Dhātup. only, gharati; Vedic jigharti, with ā- in different mg.), drips: Śikṣ 82.6 (vs) kakṣāsv āgharate sveto. Tib. cited as ḥdzag, drip.

āghāta, m. (= Pali id.), malicious feeling, anger, hatred: Mvy 2104 (Tib. kun nas mnar sems pa, inaccurately, very tormented spirit); Mv i.79.15 āghāta-bahulās ca bhavanti (a cause of backsliding of Bodhisattvas); Av ii.129.3 yo 'bhūt sattveṣv āghātaḥ sa prativigataḥ (anger had characterized the person referred to); Bbh 161.12 āghāta-cittaḥ pratigha-citto vā; Karmav 27.17 mā te bhaviṣyati āghātaś cākṣāntīś ca.

āghātayati (°teti; denom. from āghāta, q.v.; = Pali āghāteṭi, with cittaṃ and loc.), with cittaṃ, hardens one's heart against, cherishes hatred for, with loc.: Mv iii.56.3 mahākāśyape cittaṃ āghāteṭvā; Śikṣ 188.9–10 cittaṃ nāghātayitavyam (no loc.).

āghātin, adj.-subst. (from āghāta slaying with -in), murderous (person), murderer: LV 207.3 (vs) āghātinā (so read with all mss. but one which omits the syllable ti; Lefm. em. °tana, wrongly) iva vadhyāḥ, like murderers to be executed. In Ud ix.16 ms. āghātināḥ could possibly stand for āghātināḥ, but more likely read āghāvināḥ with Chakravartī.

Āngīrasa (cf. Āngīrasa), ep. of Buddha: Mvy 77 = Tib. űi maḥi rgyud, (of the) family of the sun; MSV i.274.4. ācāriya, m. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. ācārya), teacher; only in vss of most texts, but in prose Mv ii.87.12 °riyo; in vss, m.c., ācāriya(h) LV 125.5; lokācāriyāna (gen. pl.) SP 59.5; °riyāḥ 118.1; °riyehi 374.3 (note below in 374.7, vs, ācārya-bhūmau).

ācāryaka, f. °ikā (as subst. = Pali ācāriyaka, teacher; Skt. ācārya plus -ka), (1) adj. of a teacher: °ryakam padam avāpa, attained the station of a teacher Jm 2.5–6 (sakalāsu kalāsv); 142.16 (teṣv, sc. dharmāśāstreṣu); (2) subst. teacher, esp. in Bhvr. cpds., as SP 81.1 (prose) svayambhujñānam anācāryakam jñānam, . . . that needs no teacher; LV 377.14 svayam-ācāryakam jñānam, that is self-instructing, acts itself as teacher; Av i.193.8 saccāryakāni tāni kulāni; but also as separate word Bhik 10b.3 ācāryike (voc.) and 4 °yikām (acc.), both fem.; ācāryakavtam Bbh 226.16 (prose) teacherhood, state of being a teacher (bodhisattvamārge).

ācārya-muṣṭi, m. or f. (= Pali ācāriya-muṭṭhi), close-fistedness of a teacher, keeping things (particularly instruction) back from pupils: Mvy 6525 = Tib. slob dpon gyi dpe mkhyud (so also Tib. on KP) a teacher's refusing to lend books; LV 179.12 °ti-vigato (preceded by: dharmadānenāmatsarāḥ); KP 1.4 dharmācāryamuṣṭim, cf. 1.11 (vs) ācāryamuṣṭim . . . dharme; Bbh 41.28 na ca pareṣām °ṭim karoti; 106.18 nācāryamuṣṭim dharmeṣu karoti; 363.14.

ācīkṣati (cf. also abhy-ā°); hyper-Skt. based on Pali ācikkhati, AMg āikkhai, under influence of Epic Skt. ācākṣati; the Pali forms are ignored in Geiger's Index; Pischel 492 considers the Pkt. forms redupl. from Skt. root khyā, while Ratnach. derives āikkhai from ā-cakṣ, abhāikkhai from both -khyā and -cakṣ. There is no doubt that BHS abhy-ā-cikṣ- is associated with the noun abhyākhyāna; Pali has equivalents of both; and I believe with Pischel that the whole group is based primarily on khyā; but at least in BHS it is blended with cakṣ; Skt. ā-cakṣ and ā-khyā are synonyms), tells, says, only in Mv: °ati i.243.6; 244.6 (em.); ii.408.7; 463.19; 464.17; 486.14; iii.74.16; 125.17; 132.16; 149.10; 164.15, etc.; °anti ii.132.3; impv. °a ii.57.17; 58.15; °āhi iii.192.13; °atha iii.72.16; fut. °iṣyāmi iii.74.3 (em.), 8; °iṣyam iii.258.13 ff.: °iṣyati iii.256.12; °iṣyanti i.272.5; ppp. °ita i.355.2, 5; ii.73.14; 178.6; iii.40.4; gḍve. °itavya ii.73.13; iii.256.12. Note ācīkṣanti Mv ii.132.3, in a passage where all other texts incl. Mv i.228.7 have ācākṣate; but Pali ācikkhanti.

ācinati (= Pali id.) = Skt. ācinoti, accumulates: Ud xvii.5, pūryati bālo pāpēna stokastokam pi ācinam (= ācinan; text unmetr. ācinam; Pali Dhp. 121 correctly ācinam; n. sg. m. pres. pple.).

ācīrṇa-daṇḍa-tā (v.l. acīrṇa°, so Mironov without v.l., but a- seems impossible), practise (or occupation) of wielding a club: Mvy 3812 = Tib. dbyug pa gcod pa, app. wielding a club; Chin. seems to mean use by a horseback-rider or messenger of a stick in driving his horse. The next word in Mvy is dūtaḥ, messenger.

ācūṣayati (cf. Skt. cūṣayati and ācūṣaṇa), sucks up or in: °yanti Sādh 125.12 (svārān); 149.14 (makarandam).

āchāda, m. (cf. the following items), gift, present (not necessarily a garment!): Mv ii.98.3 lubdhakena vipulo āchādo (a rich reward) labdho; iii.128.10 vipulo āchādo dinno; 162.16 teṣāṃ āchādam dāsyāmi (here gold minted and unminted, and garments, lines 14, 15); food, bhaktāchādena (Speyer em. °chādanena; not food and dress but a gift of food) paripālanam kariṣyati Av ii.112.7; dharmāchāda, a pious or religious gift, SP 445.12 (dāsyāmo . . . avalokiteśvarāya . . .) dharmaprābhṛtam dharmāchādam (note āchāda as synonym of prābhṛta! the gift given was a necklace, muktāhāra, 446.1, again called dharmāchāda 446.2); LV 352.5 f. dharmāchādāmś ca sampreṣayanti sma (by which, yair dharmāchādair, the universe became covered with many jewelled parasols).

āchādāna, nt. = prec. (cf. next), gift, present (not necessarily clothes): LV 58.2 āchādānāni codgrhya; this vs deals with the same events described in prose 58.6 sampravāryāchādānāni ca dattvā (clothes might, but need not necessarily, be meant); Mv iii.177.16 -pauruṣeyā veṣṭatavyā (see veṣṭeti) bhojanāchādānena sarvehi ca utsavehi samanvāharitavyā; Bbh 115.7 kaścit pareṣāṃ bhaktāchādānanahetoḥ dāśabhāvam upagacchet; 269.24 tasyāham ucitam vā bhaktāchādānam samucchetsyāmi . . ., I will deprive him of his customary gift of food; bhaktāchādāna MSV i.51.22. (Some take bhojanāch°, bhaktāch° as dvandvas, food and clothing; while perhaps not impossible, this seems to me unlikely.)

āchādayati (Skt. id. and Pali acchādeti used of presenting with clothes, only, so far as appears; in BHS also used of presents of clothes, but extended to other kinds of gifts; see āchāda, °dāna), presents, with instr., rarely acc., of thing given, which may be garments, Divy 29.6, 9 (vastrair āchādītaḥ); 89.18 (bhikṣuḥ . . . vastreṇāchādītaḥ); 254.23 (navena patenāchādītā); Av i.32.5 (vastreṇāchādya); 43.2 (vastreṇāchādītaḥ); or the price of a garment, Prāt 492.14 (civara-cetanakair . . .) bhikṣum āchādāyīṣyāmi; but also gold, Mv iii.38.12 prabhūtam ca hiranyasuvarṇam āchādāyanti (recipient not mentioned); life, Divy 136.18–19 ko mā . . . aśaranam iṣṭena jīvitēnāchādāyati iti; 137.12, 13 jīvitēnāchādāya, °dayitum; Av i.236.10 jīvitēnāchādītā(h); 309.17 °ditāḥ; a gift of villages, Divy 445.9 (sa ca lubdhic) pañcagrāmavareṇāchādītāḥ.

āchāya, m. (Prakritic for āchāda, q.v.), gift, present: Mv iii.449.12 vipulo (mss. vipulena, but see the same phrase s.v. āchāda) āchāyo dinno.

āchindana(-tā), (cf. Pali acchindana), breaking, violation, in an-ā°, non-violation: Śikṣ 126.15 guruvacanānavamardanatayā paravacanānāchindanatayā cādeya-grāhyavacano bhavati.

āchoḍita (?), ppp. (for āchorita, cf. Skt. āchurita, KSS, scratched, drawn?), set, inlaid (with strings of jewels): SP 151.9 (prose) suvarṇasūtrāchoḍitam (buddhakṣetram). So both edd., but with only 1 ms. (KN); the others °āchāditam covered. However, Tib. bris pa (acc. to WT), scratched, drawn, inscribed (if connected with ḥbri ba), would seem to support this reading.

ājanya, also ājaniya, ājānya, ājāniya, ājāneya, adj. (= Pali ājañña, ājāniya, ājāniya, ājāneyya), of noble race, blooded, primarily of animals, esp. horses; by extension used of men, esp. Buddhas and Bodhisattvas, and very rarely (meaning noble) of other, inanimate entities. Tib. (e.g. Mvy 1080, 4769, etc.) regularly renders cañ śes (pa), omniscient, falsely interpreting the word as derived from jñā know. In composition, the word in all its forms regularly (not always) follows the noun, e.g. aśvājāneya, a blooded horse (orig. perhaps a thoroughbred of a horse?), below. As separate word: of animals, yo aśvavaram damaged ājāneyan (= °yam) va saindhavam Ud xix.7; ājāneyā hayottamāḥ Mv ii.487.20; iii.22.11; cf. yuktāni ājānyarathāni Mv iii.441.10 chariots of (drawn by) blooded (horses), all hitched up; ājāneyau dvau balivardhāv LV 381.7; ājāniyo hastipoto Mv iii.130.7 (prose, no v.l.); of men, ājāneyānām sattvānām Gv 322.8; °neyaḥ Mvy 1080, of śrāvakas; °neya iti ucyate LV 425.19, of the Tathāgata; ājāneyo kahin ti nāma (so Senart em., mss. kāma) bhoṭi Mv iii.397.14, answered by ... ājāneyo (v.l. °ya) tam (Senart em. ti tam) āhu bhūriprajñā (mss. °jñā) 398.12; voc. ājanya, addressed to Buddha, namas te muktāyājanya Mmk 4.22; cf. Divy 617.16 ājāneya-mānā, paying reverence to the Noble One (the Buddha); in KP 9.5 and 10.5 dāntājāneya-prāpta; 9.14; 10.17 and 20 ājanya-prāpta, all of Bodhisattvas (cf. 10.1 ājāneyā bodhisattvāḥ), become noble (steeds), see s.v. prāpta; the figure of a horse is surely intended here, since there is contrast with KP 9.1 bodhisattva-khaḍḍukāḥ, the latter (q.v.) being a term pertaining in its literal sense to horses; here may also belong Mv ii.264.14 ājāneya-vikrāntam vikramantam, said of the Bodhisattva, striding with the stride of a blooded horse, or of a noble person (cf. the next following mahāpuruṣavikr itam vikr°), but possibly striding with a noble stride (cf. the preceding aparājītavikrāntam vikr°), as in the next example; as prior member of karmadhāraya cpds. or bahuvrīhis based on them, occasionally noble, distinguished, in application to other than animate beings: catasra imā ... ājāneya-gatayo bodhisattvenānugantavyāḥ RP 14.13, noble procedures (listed as sugatipratilābha, guruśuśrūṣaṇā, prāntaśayyāsanābhīrati, pratibhānapratilābha; is the literal meaning gaits of a blooded horse?); ājāneya-svaraḥ Mv iii.343.5 could, then, also be taken as having a noble sound (ep. of the Buddha's voice), but in view of the preceding vṛṣabhasvaraḥ and the following krauñcasvaraḥ it probably means having the sound of a blooded (horse) and belongs above; once, at least, this adj. precedes in composition the name of the animal to which it is applied, ājāneya-hasty-upetān Śikṣ 26.14; but regularly this order is reversed (as in such cpds. as nara-śārdūla) and we find aśvājāneya, m. (lit. thoroughbred of a horse) Mvy 4773 (misunderstood pw s.v. ājāneya); Divy 510.21, 22; 511.1 ff.; Mv ii.270.11 (mss.); Gv 400.13; Śikṣ 28.3 (ms. aśvāyāneyān); bhadrāśvājāneya- Sukh 60.8-9; hastyājāneya Mvy 4771; Gv 400.12; Śikṣ 27.21; śiṃhājāneya Mvy 4769; and (cf. above, and Pali puri-sājāneyya) by extension puruṣājāneya (the corruptions puruṣājāneya and °śajāna occur in mss. and sometimes in edd.) LV 350.11, corresponds to Mv i.229.8; Mv ii.133.8; 284.18; in Mv i.316.4 ed. em. puruṣājāniyam, mss. cor-ājavamjava (m. or nt.), coming and going, moving to and fro (in the saṃsāra): Mvy 5393 °va- (Mironov ājāvam°, but v.l. text) samāpannaḥ = Tib. ḥoñ ba dan ḥgro bar (coming and going) gyur ba; LV 205.12 (lokasya, people) ... ājavamjavasamāpannasyāsmāl lokāt param lokam paralokād imam lokam samdhāvataḥ saṃsarataḥ. See next two items. The word contains double forms of java or at least the root ju but its precise formation is not clear to me; is ājava moving swiftly hither, and java hastening away? For the preceding part of this cliché see s.v. guṇāvagunḥhitabhūta; but the Pali correspondent does not contain ājavamjava°, at least in most of its occurrences.

ājavamjava-tā = prec.: Buddhacarita xii.41 °tām hitvā prāpnoti padam akṣaram (Johnston's rushing torrent of birth and death seems to me not quite accurate, but obviously the saṃsāra is meant).

ājavamjavibhāva, m. (see prec. two), state of moving restlessly to and fro (in the saṃsāra): MadhK 218.4 °bhāvena janmamaraṇaparāmaparāyā saṃsaraṇam syāt; 529.1 ya ājavamjavibhāva upādāya pratītya vā.

ānapaka, m. (to ānapeti, with suffix aka), one who orders or gives instructions: Mv i.361.21; 362.4, 6; 363.2, 3, 5, 12. Senart reads ānapaka in each case; the mss. are corrupt but invariably show short -a- in the second syllable (altho Pali has only ānapaka).

ānapeti (for Skt. ājñāpayati, rarely ājñap°(?); § 2.15; Pali only ānapeti, q.v. in BHS; Pkt. ānāvei and ānā°) commands (only noted in Mv; cf. prec. and foll. items); commoner than ānapeti, but sometimes wrongly replaced by the latter in Senart's text: pres. °peti Mv iii.125.21 (mss.); 264.2; °pesi, 2 sg. ii.490.8, 16; impv. °pehi ii.108.15; 247.6 (mss. °yehi); in i.223.4 = ii.25.15

mss. ānayasi (sic) or ānayati (v.l. °tti), 3 sg. orders, Senart em. ānāpesi or °ti, read pres. ānapati or at best ānapeti; in i.362.2, 5 read with mss. ānapēhi (v.l. °yehi) for Senart ānāpehi (impv.); in i.362.17 Senart ānapīyanti, and in 364.20, 365.4 and 5, Senart ānāpyati, all passives, and all to be read with short a, as the mss. clearly indicate tho with more or less corruption; read respectively ānapīyanti and ānāpyati (passives to ānapeti).

āṇā (= Pali id., Skt. ājñā), command: Mv iii.7.16 yā me (so Senart em.; mss. corrupt, one mam, perhaps read mam-) āṇā (so one mās., acc. sg.; v.l. [pr]āṇā; Senart em. āṇām, unnecessarily) pratikrośe...

āṇāpeti (= Pali id., Pkt. ānāvei; see ānapeti, which must be read for Senart's āṇā° in several cases), commands (only noted in Mv): impv. °pehi Mv iii.125.19; 3 sg. impv. pass. ānāpiyatu or °piyatu, be it commanded, i.310.14.

Āṇintra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.4 (text Āṇi°).
Āṇinema, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.3–4 (text Āṇi°).

āṇi-pratyāñi-nirhāra-yoga, instr. °yogena, by homosexual procedure: Mvy 6865 = Tib. khye ḥus khye ḥu ḥbyuṅ baḥi tshul du, by way of the manner (lit. happening, procedure) of boy with boy; similarly Chin. (The Index reads āṇi°.) From āṇi or (Skt.) āṇi, axle-pin, and pratyāñi, otherwise unrecorded, that in which the axle-pin fits (both in obscene sense). For such practices and their punishments cf. Śikṣ 75.13 f.

ātakṣati (recorded only RV and not in this sense), carves, chops in pieces: ger. ātakṣya (... gātrāṇi) Jm 196.3.

ātaṇa, m. or nt., in saṣṭhe kārśāpanānām arthāyātape dhāritāḥ Divy 33.13, and ātaṇe vidhāritāḥ 16, apparently was assessed a fine (in the amount of 60 kārśāpaṇas). Perhaps corrupt; I find it hard to understand connexion with ātaṇa heat (kept on a hot spot?). The Index omits the word.

ātapta-kārin, adj., acting zealously: °ri Mvy 1806 = Tib. brtan ciñ byed pa; °riṇa(s), n. pl., Mahāsamāj. 195.1; Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4 p. 5, regards ātapta as hyper-Skt. for Pali ātappa, nt., zeal, which PTSD derives from Skt. *ātāpya, to (Pali, not Skt.!) ātāpa, a much rarer form than ātappa in Pali; but cf. ātāpin, which is common also in Pali.

? Ātaptarāṣṭra, perh. to be read as n. of a former Buddha, Mv i.139.13–14; closer to mss. (Ātapta° or Attapta°) than Senart's em. Uttapta°, q.v.

ātāna, nt., warp: Mvy 7519 = Tib. rgyu. In Vedic used in a closely related way, e.g. Ait. Br. 8.12, lengthwise ropes (Keith) used in constructing the seat of a throne. Contrasted with vitāna, q.v.

ātāpana-, noted only in cpd. °na-paritāpana, which occurs in Pali too, (self-)castigation and (self-)torture (in ascetic practice): LV 211.12 anekavidhāni kāyasyātāpanapāritāpanāni samutsahante; 248.15 nānāvidhais cātāpanapāritāpanaiḥ kāyasauddhīm paryeṣante; Gv 229.23 śārīrātāpanaparitāpanaprayuktānām.

ātāpin, adj. (= Pali id., from Pali ātāpa, oftener ātappa, zeal, with suffix -in; neither occurs in Skt.), zealous: °pi, n. sg. Mvy 1805; LV 239.4 (apramatta ātāpi); same passage Mv ii.118.11 and 120.3; similar phrase ii.285.1, also Divy 37.10, MSV i.50.14 etc., and fem. ātāla (m. or nt.), prob. watchtower: LV 193.18 (vs) prāsādeṣu gavākṣatoraṇavareṣv ātāla-mañceṣu ca (all parts of a building). Apparently = Skt. atāla (also atā); Tib. LV yañ thog, which Das defines by the highest storey of a house, also . . . a dome, and which in Mvy 5522 renders atā = atāla.

ātiyāntrika? prob. corrupt; Śikṣ 361.7 (vs) vajrapāny-ātiyāntrikaiḥ, adj. with buddhakiṃkaraiḥ (servants of Buddha); acc. to Bendall's note, Tib. choice charms (sel mchog; sc. of) Vajrapāni; but Bendall and Rouse Transl. with Vajrapāni as their supreme chief (p. 317, without note).

ātireka (m.c. for Skt. ati°), excess: aṅga manorama divya-ātirekāḥ LV 49.15 (vs), his members are charming beyond divine ones.

ātikṣṇendriya, adj. (ā-tikṣṇa-indriya; cf. tikṣṇendriya), of rather keen senses or faculties: AsP 387.2 sacet prakṣyati, ātikṣṇendriyo bhaviṣyati, tatas tam evam vakṣyati, pūrvam api tvam tikṣṇendriyo 'bhūh.

āttamana(s), adj. (= Pali attamana(s), which is also, but less often, represented by āptamana(s), q.v., on which cf. CPD s.v. attamanas, which fails to note occurrence of āpta° in BHS), glad at heart, delighted; esp. in certain formulas; applied to the audience at the end of a discourse by Buddha, e. g. Mv i.61.8 idam avocad bhagavān, āttamano (n. sg. m.) āyusmān Mahāmaudgalyāyano bhagavato bhāṣitam abhyanandat; Divy 197.26 idam avocad bhagavān, āttamanasas te bhikṣavo 'bhyanandan; often in a series of synonyms, as tuṣṭa udagra āttamanāḥ pramuditāḥ pritisaumanasyajātāḥ Gv 99.15; Suv 9.7-8; plurals of the same words SP 209.9-10; and variations, as hrṣṭā tuṣṭā āttamanā (n. pl. m.) pramudita-pritisaumanasyajātā Mv i.230.20; more briefly, tuṣṭo āttamano abhūt Mv ii.195.10; tuṣṭo āttamanā (n. sg. m.) imam udānam udānaye (aor.) i.351.13; dātāraṃ ca drṣṭvā āttamanā bhavati sumanaḥ Bbh 4.24; sattvā āttamanaso 'bhūvan RP 37.8-9; Indra āttamanā (n. sg. m.) tasyām velāyān . . . Once printed attamanas, q.v. This word is to be analyzed as a cpd. of Skt. ātta, ppp. of ā-dā, with manas. The alternant āptamanas is analyzable as āpta, ppp. of āp (cf. manaāpa, manāpa) plus manas. Pali attamana(s) could represent both; both may be Sktizations of that Mīdic form.

āttamanaska, adj. = āttamanas: °kaḥ SP 103.13; fem., (pramodāmi) °kā bhavāmi Gv 290.3; comp. °katāro 'bhūn Gv 331.6; abstr. n. °ka-tā state of being delighted Karmav 37.16.

ātmapuruṣa, m., attendant, servant: Divy 223.2 °śā ānyantu bhavanto dhanuḥ.

ātmapūrvāpara, adj., perhaps having continuity with itself: Mv ii.1.13-14 °raṃ ca tam kulam bhavati, of the family in which the Bodhisattva is born. Corresponds to labdha-pūrvāpara Mv i.198.3; not in corresponding passage LV p. 24. Senart keeps the form with mss., but in his note suggests that it is false Sktization of Mīdic atta = ātta- (synonym of labdha-).

ātmabhāva, m. (rarely nt.), (= Pali attabhāva, listed by Pali Lex. among words denoting body, CPD), body, synonym of śarira: SP 11.7 śirāmi kecin nayanāni kecid dadanti kecit pravaraṭmabhāvān; 55.12 darsinsu te mahya tadātmabhāvān; 76.10 ātmabhāvapratilambhenaiva bhagavan sarvakriḍanakāni labdhāni bhavanti, only by rescuing their own bodies . . . ; 95.2 dirghātmabhāvā hi bhavanti, of long bodies; 95.5 puruṣātmabhāvam ca yadā labhante, and when they get a human body; 236.13; 237.9; 240.11 -stūpe tathāgatasyātmabhāvās tiṣṭhaty ekaghanas . . . ; 303.6 mahātmabhāvā rūpeṇa, great-bodied in form; 324.1; 406.13 ātmabhāvaparitāyāgena, by sacrifice of one's body; LV 48.20-21 divyanomayātmabhāvapratilabdhāḥ; 66.16 mātuḥ-kuṣigatasyātmabhāvō 'bhinirvṛtto 'bhūt; 219.19; 306.9 -kākaḡrdhro- (mss. grddho); Lefm. grdho, misprint?)-lūkaḡaruḍādisadrṣātmabhāvāḥ, having bodies like . . . ; Mv i.245.2-3 āyāmato bahuyojanaśatikena ātmabhāvena; ii.297.5-6 abhedyo simhārdhapūrvō bhagavato ātmabhāvō; 326.3 (pūyam yakṛdvṛkkaphuṣ-phasehi) gūṭham ca anyam anugatam ātmabhāve; 326.14 asihi chinnā bahuvidham ātmabhāvā; 343.9 te nirṇipitvā vikṛtātmabhāvāḥ, distorted bodies; 369.7, 8, 10; Divy 62.1; 70.3 °va-pratilambhe, attainment of a body, reincarnation; same 140.20; 230.23 ff. yojanaśatikā ātmabhāvā, and the like; °va-pratilambhe (as above) Av i.162.5; same cpd. The fact has not been recognized sufficiently clearly that this is a quite plain and simple synonym of śarira, body. The same is in general true of Pali, tho I am not prepared to say that it always has that mg. there. The Pali dictionaries (even CPD) do not bring this out clearly.

ātma-vṛṣabhita (see vṛṣa°), lordliness of person: °tām, acc. sg., Mv ii.261.5; 262.6 (in the latter v.l. °bhatām; in the former mss. are corrupt but read °bhī°). This is one of the qualities attained by Bodhisattvas when they have acquired perfection of powers.

Ādityasambhava, n. of a Buddha in the south: Sukh 98.1.

ādīyati, or ādiyati (formally looks like passive to ā-dā; = Pali ādiyati, only with short i; cf. upād°, pariyād°, samād°; all these regularly used with active mg., except pariyādiyante KP 5.2 [and this is uncertain; Śiks 148.9 cites it as parihīyante]; in Pali also active mg., except sometimes pariyādiyati, pass., PTSD; Geiger 175.1 calls these forms 'passive with middle meaning'; I prefer the term 'active'), takes; takes on, assumes: Mv i.346.10 (yaṃ nūnāham) adinnam anyātakam (q.v.) śālim ādiyeyaṃ (v.l. ādi°), opt., and (11) ādiyeya (v.l. °yaṃ, ādi°) 3 sg. pret., also (12) ādiyantam (v.l. ādi°), acc. sg. pres. pple.; iii.93.16 (vs) puṣpam tyajitvā phalam ādiyante (mss. °nta, to be kept as imperf.°); 217.17 (bhavān . . .) dhanam ādiyatu (v.l. ādi°); 218.12 (bhavān . . .) striyaḥ ādiyatu; 447.12 (yo imām saṃskāraṃ) ādiyati (no v.l.) vā nikṣīpati vā. ādisati, (1) (cf. Hindi ādes salutation, late Skt. ādeśa id., Edgerton, JAOS 38.206 f.), salutes, greets: °sitavya, gdv., Mv iii.420.11 (na bhikṣavo) yuṣmābhir ādisītavayam bhikṣāyām labdhāyām, monks, you must not salute (the donor) when you have received alms; (2) (= Pali ādisati, obj. dakṣiṇam, dānam), assigns (the profit from a meritorious act, ordinarily a gift of alms to the Buddha and his monks; object dakṣiṇam, once dakṣiṇādeśanām; this profit is, at the desire of the donor, often assigned by the recipient, ordinarily the Buddha, to the credit of someone else, e. g. a tormented preta, or the deceased father of the donor): Divy 85.28–30 bhagavatābhīhitāḥ mahārāja, kasya nāmnā dakṣiṇām ādisāmi, kiṃ tavāho svid yena tavāntikāt prabhūtatarām puṇyam prasūtam iti (similarly 86.3, 4, 7, etc.), the Lord said: O King, in whose name shall I assign the profit of your gift? yours, or that of one who has produced more merit than you?; Av i.258.13 tato bhagavān... dakṣiṇām ādisati (in a verse, 259.1–2, assigning it to the benefit of pretas); 264.12 bhagavāms ca... dakṣiṇādeśanām ādisati (as prec.); 272.13 tato bhagavatā pretasya nāmnā dakṣiṇā ādiṣtā; but the same ādisati may be used when the subject is the donor, as in a frequent cliché in which a man hopes to have a son who will assign to him after death the profit of gifts and works of merit: Divy 99.6–8 asmākaṃ ca (see atyatīta) ... dānāni dattvā puṇyāni kṛtvā nāmnā dakṣiṇām ādiṣed, ... he would assign the profit (of the gifts and virtuous acts) in my name; virtually the same Divy 440.30 ādeṣyati; Av i.15.1 and 197.3 etc. ādeṣyate; but elsewhere, (3) when the donor (not the Buddha) is the subject, the caus. ādeśayati is used; so in the same cliché yet mentioned, Divy 2.(15–)16 ... dakṣiṇām ādeśayisyati, (my son ...) will cause the profit to be assigned (to me); Av i.264.2–3 putraka... mama nāmnā buddhapramukhaṃ bhikṣusamgham bhojaya dakṣiṇām ādeśaya...; Divy 10.28 (asmākaṃ) ca nāmnā dakṣiṇām ādeśaya (also addressed by a father to his son). See s.v. dakṣiṇādeśanā.

ādīkaroti (see s.v. ādi), starts from (acc.), makes the starting point: ger. °kariyāna, SP 192.1 (vs) avidya (acc.) ādikariyāna cakṣumān, prabhāṣate maraṇam anantaduhkham (so apparently mss., combining the note to KN ed. with that to Kern's Transl. SBE 21.185), starting with ignorance, the Enlightened One expounded death and infinite misery. This reading is perfect in meter and sense. Possibly ādi is to be taken as a separate word, = ādiṃ; certainly it means the same as ādiṃ kṛ-.

ādinava, m. or (rarely) nt., once perh. adj., (= Pali id.; clearly Buddhist word, despite rare occurrences in late Skt., and despite ādinava-darśa in Vedic, see Schmidt Nachtr., s.v. ādinava, and Renou, JA 1939 p. 391), misery, evil, danger, mishap, wretchedness: nt. noted only Mv iii.297.12 taye atra mahādinavam utpāditam; m. In Pali esp. used of one of three influences leading to virtue, attādhī° (q.v. CPD), lokādhī°, dhammādhī°, see Childers s.v. ādhipateyya and Vism. i.14.1 ff. (the influence of oneself, i. e. conscience or self-respect; the influence of the world or public opinion; the influence of dhamma or regard for moral principles as authoritatively laid down). In BHS little evidence is found for the existence of these, tho Speyer (Transl. 114) renders Jm 80.14 (hrīvarṇa-pratisamyuktesu) lokādhipateyeṣu ca (sc. upaneyam) by . . . the regard of public opinion, perhaps rightly. On the other hand, lokādhipateya-prāpta LV 425.5 can only mean arrived at the overlordship of the world; it is one of a long list of epithets of the Buddha as the one that has 'turned the wheel of the Law'; it is preceded by lokagurur . . . lokārthakara . . . lokānuvartaka . . . lokavid ity ucyate, and it would be absurd to interpret it as under the control of public opinion. ān-abhiraṃya, adj., m.c. for an°, q.v.

ānāpāna (= Pali id.), breath (see below): °na-bhāvanā-vidhiḥ Mvy 1165; °na-smṛti (= Pali °na-sati), mind- fulness of breathing, Mvy 1166; Bbh 110.24; 204.26; 396.22; Ud xv.1; °nānusmṛti, id., ŚsP 60.8; on this and ŚsP 1443.8 (where text ānāpā-nusmṛti) see s.v. anusmṛti. The word is an old dvandva; āna (= prāna) plus apāna (cf. Skt. prānāpāna, on which see G. W. Brown, JAOS 39.104 ff.). In Pali commentarial diction replaced by assāsa-passāsa (= āśvāsa-praśvāsa, q.v.). Tib. on Mvy 1166 ānāpāna (-smṛtiḥ) renders dbugs rñub pa dañ ḥbyuñ ba, breathing in and out; the same or related terms are used for āśvāsa and praśvāsa. It is clear that Tib. understands āna = āśvāsa as inbreathing, apāna = praśvāsa as outbreathing. There is BHS evidence supporting this interpretation of āśvāsa-praśvāsa, q.v.

ānāpeti (= Pali id.), caus. to ā-nī, see § 38.55.

ānāha (m.; Skt. Lex. id., not in Pali or Pkt.), height (of a mañ): Divy 546.12 kīḍśas tasya rājño ānāha-pariñāhaḥ. Usually āroha (which read?).

āniya = āniñya, q.v.: adj., Av ii.199.5 āniyaṃ śāntiḥ; in Mv ii.132.15 there is a v.l. āniya- or ān- for °niñya- of text.

āniñja = āniñya, q.v. (Mv i.34.11; ii.419.11).

Aninetra, Āninema, see Āṇi°.

ānimitta, adj. and subst. nt. (from Skt. animitta plus suffix -a), causeless(ness); usually parallel with śūnyatā and aprañihita, qq.v.; as in the case of aprañihita, it is often hard to be sure whether adj. or subst. is intended, but sometimes certainly the latter; sometimes preceded by śūnyatā in comp. so that an- or ān- would be equally possible, see śūnyatā; clearly subst. nt. Dbh.g. 29(55).6 bhavate idam ānimittam; AsP 204.12 (nāpi) ānimittam pravartate; 256.13 na ca . . . ānimittam vā aprañihitam vā anabhisamskāro vā (and other noms. masc.) . . . lujyate; Bbh 317.3 dve ānimitte (the only noun which could be understood is vihāra, masc.); more or less clearly adj. Bbh 276.10 ānimittāḥ samādhiḥ (in 2 śūnyatā-samādhiḥ, 5 aprañihitāḥ sa°); KP 125.3 śūnyatā ānimittā aprañihitāś (all seemingly acc. pl.!) ca dharmāś śrutvā; other cases, LV 428.9 ānimittā-vihāri; KP 94.4 (prose) °tta (read °ttam? prob. subst.) cikitsā; Lañk 274.4 yogī ānimittā-pratiṣṭhitāḥ; AsP 298.6 °tta-gatikā(h) . . . sarvadharmās (cf. parallel 5 śūnyatā-gatikā); Dbh.g. 29(55).14 °tta-varadaṃ; śūnyatam . . . ānimittam (corr. °ttām, which would make the form adj.) RP 16.13 (see s.v. adhimukta).

?āniśada (= Pali āniśada, nt.), sit-down, rump, buttocks: Mv ii.125.13 (prose), mss. evam evā (me) anuśīdana (Senart em., 'desperately' as he says, parśukā) abhūsuh. True approximate reading proved by Pali parallel, MN i.80.14 = 245.29, āniśadam hoti. In Mv pl. verb seems to indicate that the noun was pl. (for dual); the stem may have been āniśīdana, or the like.

ānucchavika, adj. (= Pali anu°), suitable, conformable, appropriate: Mvy 7175; 7019; Bbh 145.22 °kair aupayikaḥ pratrūrūpaiḥ . . . °sambhāraih.

ānudhārma, f. °ī, adj., conformable to religion: Bbh 61.23 ānudhārmyā (v.l. anudharmayā, see anudharmya) kathayā, instr.

ānupathika, adj. or subst. m. (to Skt. anupatham with -ika), (person) along the road: °kair dṛṣṭās MSV i.52.8.

ānupūrvā (= Skt. °va, nt., and °vi, f.; perhaps read °vi here?), regular order: Mv ii.224.(11)–12 (jātena jīvaloke sarveṇa avasyaṃ, for which read °ya m.c., martavyaṃ) eṣā kilānupūrvā.

ānubhāva, m. (= Pali id., Skt. anu°) dignity, power, greatness: SP 175.8 (vs) upapannu tasyo ayam ānubhāvo. Here ā could be m.c., but it is regular in Pali in prose as well as vs (see CPD s.v. anubhāva); the explanations in PTSD s.v. and Geiger 24 do not satisfy me.

ānulomika, adj., f. °kā or (oftener) °kī (= Skt. Gr. id.; rarely anu^o, q.v., the only form recorded in Pali), conformable, suitable: m. and nt. °kaiḥ (padavyaṅjanaiḥ) Mvy 7018; -(bhaisajyāny) °kāni Divy 109.26; °kair bhaisajyair Bbh 283.1; śrūti dharmā nāyākāna śāntam °kam RP 12.8 (vs); °kair . . . aṅgasambhāraiḥ Bbh 145.22; °kena ca kāyavākkarmaṇā Bbh 255.1; °ko . . . upāyaḥ Bbh 264.8, and bodhisattvayānulomika upāyaḥ 10; f. °kā, abhijā pañca . . . labdha °kā (n. pl.) LV 172.20 (vs); °kām api kṣāntim RP 34.13 (prose); f. °kī, with kṣānti (q.v.; cf. prec.) Mvy 6571; Dbh 53.24; °kī (so mss., Lefm. em. °ka-) dharmakṣānti (read °tir) dharmalokamukham LV 35.20 (prose); °kīm dharmadesanām Kv 49.10; °kīm śraddhā Gv 239.12; °kī (no noun) Mvy 2678; with caryā, q.v. (also anuloma-caryā), caryām caritvā tada ānulomikim SP 27.2 (vs), carrying along the true religious course, that which leads to continued religious progress; cīrṇā ca caryā vara ānuomikī SP 27.13 (vs); carisyate carya tadā-nulomikim SP 149.8 (vs).

ānuśāsti, f. (= anu^o; acc. to CPD, Pali also -ānu-satti, ifc.), instruction: Mv ii.323.21 (vs) ānuśāstim; the ā could be m.c.

ānṛśaṃsa = anu^o, ānu^o, see s.v. anuśaṃsa.

āneñja = aniñja, q.v.: Śāl 82.4, 7 °jyopaga (of saṃskāras; cited Śikṣ 223.1 as āniñj^o, 3 and 4 as aniñj^o in ms.); see under aneñja for cases where saṃdhi makes initial quantity obscure.

ānta, adj. (cited in MW without reference; not in BR or pw or Schmidt; Skt. back-formation, or error, based on Pali anta = Skt. antya; cf. antakā), ultimate, final, extreme, supreme: Kv 89.6 āntas tvam kulaputra kṛtas te sattvapariṭākaḥ, you are a supreme one . . . (it would seem more natural, if only tvam were omitted, to make āntas agree with sattvapariṭākaḥ; perhaps the passage is corrupt).

āntaḥpura, f. °rī, adj. or subst. (cf. Skt. āntaḥpurikā), (women) of the harem: LV 211.7 (vs) vijāhya-m-āntaḥpuri (acc. pl.; most mss. °raṃ, unmetr.), abandoning the women of the harem.

āntarābhavika, adj. (= antarā^o, q.v.), of or belonging to (or existing in) the intermediate state (antarābhava, q.v.); °kaḥ Bbh 295.24 one who is living in . . .; in a list, following divyamānuṣyakaḥ; of vipāka, AbhidhK. LaV-P. iv.129; °ka-skandha-sambhavāt MadhK 286.9, so text by em., but read antar^o with mss.

āntarāyika (= ant^o, q.v.), causing obstacles; obstructive: like ant^o and Pali ant^o, regularly of dharma, Bhik 9a.2 °kān dharmān pṛṣṭvā, after inquiring (whether there are) obstructive conditions; LV 434.2 (in saṃdhi, could be ant^o) °ka-dharma-; Bbh 402.11 °kā dharmāḥ; MSV iii.30.6; also with hetu, Bbh 98.6 utpattāv āntarāyiko hetur virodhahetuḥ.

āntarikā (= ant^o, q.v.; some cases there cited may belong here), space between, interval, interstice: LV 254.11 gopānasy-āntarikāś (n. pl.), interstices of the roof-frame; Gv 268.18 ekaiḥkasyāṃ ca nady-āntarikāyām, and in each interval between the rivers.

āntarikṣa-vāsin (so Mironov; Kyoto ed. indicates both this and āntari^o as var. readings), m. pl. °naḥ, dwelling in the atmosphere, n. of a class of gods: Mvy 3077; = antariḥṣa, °riḥṣa, °rikṣecara, qq.v.; see also deva.

ānta-guṇa, m. (pl.), = antra-guṇa, q.v.: ŚsP 1430.21; 1431.11; read in both (āntam) āntraguṇā(h). (In Gv 328.19 could be intended as well as antra^o.)

āpa (= Pali id., thematization of Skt. āp, ap^o), water; clear cases noted only in cpd. āpa-skandha mass of water, SP 126.7 (vs) sa caiva sama muñceta āpaskandham analpakam; with adhaḥ or heṣṭā, heṣṭi, of subterranean mass of water, LV 64.12 adha-āpaskandham; 298.20 (vs) heṣṭāpaskandha (acc. sg.; so divide) caraṇaiḥ pratigrāhyamānāḥ, being caused to receive with their feet the mass of water underneath (the earth); 368.19 (vs) heṣṭi śatasahasram yāvataś cāpaskandho (contrasted with dharāṇitaḥ, next line). In Mv ii.92.5 (vs) āpam, acc. sg., could be referred to this stem, or regarded as belonging to the Skt. stem āp, ap, transferred to the sing. (cf. Wackernagel-Debrunner 3.240 f.).

Āpajura, n. of a grove at Sāmkāśya: Av ii.94.8, 14. -āpanika, in comp. (= Pali id.; rare in Skt., see Schmidt, Nachträge), dealer, shopkeeper: Av i.198.12 pitā te gāndhikāpanika āsīd, perfume-shopkeeper.

āpatti, f. (= Pali and Skt. Lex. id.), sin (see also anāpatti, mūlāpatti): °tiḥ Mvy 9222; naiḥsargikāpattiḥ (so correctly Index and Mironov; see naiḥsargika) Mvy 9309; °tyā codayati, see this; duṣṭhulām (q.v.) āpattim Prāt 504.1; abhikṣṇāpatti-āpadyana-tā KP 119.2 state of constantly committing sins (cf. abhikṣṇāpattika); (bodhisattvasy)āpattir api veditavyā Bbh 160.11; °ty-ana-dhyācāra-vyutthāne Bbh 289.22; (see s.v. anadhyāpatti) ŚsP 56.5; five groups of sins to which monks may be subject, Sūtrāl. xi.4 comm., see Lévi Transl. p. 100 n.1.

āpadā (Pali and Skt. Lex. id., Skt. āpad; cf. § 15.9), disaster: āpadāsu MSV iv.115.14; 116.1, 7.

āpadyana, also °na-tā (from āpadyate, °ti, with suffix ana, n. act.), the getting into, or commission (of a sin): KP 119.2 (prose) abhikṣṇāpatti-āpadyana-tā, see s.v. āpatti; Mmk 202.24 (vs) na te bheje devamukhyānām (bad meter!) tarjanyaṭpadyanālaye (?obscure; app. tarjanī, or a case-form of it, compounded with or followed by cpd. of āpadyana and ālaya).

āpanna, ppp.-adj. (to āpatti), guilty of a sin (is Pali āpanna so used without complement?): yad uta, āpanna iti vā anāpanna iti vā MSV ii.176.6.

Āpannaka, n. of a yakṣa: MSV i.xvii.10.

āparāntika, f. °kī, adj. (from aparānta, q.v., plus ika), future, of the future: Gv 160.2 (prose) āparāntikāvicikaduḥkhena (2d ed. °khe); Dbh 51.3 (cited Śikṣ 228.2) eṣāparāntiky apekṣā.

āpaśyati (recorded once in AV.), beholds: LV 344.18 (prose) sattvān āpaśyati sma (so Lefm. with best mss.); doubtful; in parallel 344.10 all mss. and both edd. paśyati, with v.l. here.

?āpas-kara, m., action of water: Mv ii.366.13 (na tasya caurā rājāno dhanaskandha [so one ms., Senart with v.l. °dham] parāmṛṣe) agnir vā āpaskaro (read °kāro?) vā (one ms. om. vā; Senart em. apaskaroti, very implausibly) pūjām kṛtvā tathāgate.

?āpāya, adj. = āpāyika (apāya with suffix -a), in Śikṣ 46.6 paścaināmś codayisyāmo bhūtam āpāya-gocarān, and afterwards we will incite them who are veritably in a sphere-of-existence characterized by evil fate. So if text be kept; note states that Tib. (sdig med) points to apāpa-, and Bendall and Rouse p. 47 translate with this, so that they may . . . be beyond the sphere of sin.

āpāyaka (cf. āpāyita, āpāyaka), giving to drink, nourishing: °kam poṣakam samvardhakam Bbh 118.28.

āpāyika, f. °kī, adj. and subst. (= Pali id.; from apāya with suffix ika), pertaining or leading to an evil fate (such as existence in hell); subst., one doomed to, or suffering, such an existence: Gv 407.14 °ke karmaṇi ca pravṛttā; Jm 192.21-22 tena dṛṣṭivyaśanonanipātenāpāyikena lokānarthākarabhūtena; Bbh 10.14 tivṛām āpāyikim duḥkhām vedanām; 245.10 āyatyaṃ āpāyikaṃ duḥkhāṃ pratyānubhavati; 356.17 °ka-kleśa-pakṣyasya; 368.1 °kam karma; subst., Mv iii.214.6, 13 (vs) āpāyikā nirvṛtā brahmalokaṃ (cf. Pali DN ii.242.18); Divy 165.19 (vs) āpāyiko nairayiko.

āpāyita, ppp. (cf. āpāyaka; to ā-pā-, caus.), given to drink, nourished: °tā positā samvardhitā MSV ii.17.5. This and āpāyaka together forbid em. to āpyāy-. The same three ppp. stems MSV ii.25.3; 80.6.

āpīḍaka (= Skt. āpīḍa, chaplet, wreath), only in °ka-jāta hung with wreaths, noted only as ep. of trees: °ka-jātam Mvy 6061 (context suggests that it was prob. epithet of a tree, or at least referred to trees); °ka-jātān (vrkṣān) Divy 215.25, 27; 216.1; °ka-jātāḥ (phalavrkṣāḥ) Divy 221.14 (so certainly read as suggested in note; text with mss. āpinaka-).

?āpīrā, in (-hūn)āpīrā (sc. lipi), n. of some kind of writing: Mv i.135.7 (v.l. °āpīrā or °ro). Senart would understand abhīrā (preferably the regular Skt. ābhīrā).

āptamanas (also °nas-ka, MPS 32.29) = āttamanas, q.v.: Hoernle MR 26, Obv. 3 idam avocāt bhagavān, āptamanas (read °manasas) te bhikṣavo . . . ; 39 Rev. 5, same phrase, reading °manasas; cf. 26 n. 2 and 198 (erroneously rendered with receptive mind); Stöner, SBBA 1904 p. 1283, line 30; Ud xiv.13 āptamanā, n. sg. m.; neg. anāptamanā(h), n. sg. m., Prāt 500.8 abhiṣaktaḥ kupitaḥ caṇḍikṛto 'nāpta°; 505.7 abhiṣakta-kupitaś caṇḍikṛto 'nāpta°.

āpya, nt. (gdve. of āp-), what can be received (of food), one's fill: (ghṛtasya madhunaś) cāpyam purayitvā MSV ii.24.10, having given (the infant) all he could eat of ghee and honey; so app. Tib. de ḥdraṅs par bsñod nas.

āpyāyaka, adj. or subst. (m.), nourishing, nourisher: Divy 51.20 putrasya mātāpitarāv āpyāyakau poṣakau . . . Cf. āpāyaka (which perh. read?)

āprānya, adj. (possibly read apr°? corresp. to Pali apanṇa ka, q.v. in CPD; cf. apanṇakaṅga, CPD unique or universal factor; etymology unknown), perfect, in āprānyaṅga, of perfect qualities: Mmk 57.(15-)16 (see Lalou, Iconographie, p. 22) (nīhitam tu tato kṛtvā dhūpayet karpūrādhūpanaiḥ; read with Lalou) āprānyaṅga-samuttham vā (Lalou, ou avec un produit sans parcelles vivantes, etymologizing as from a-prāna) kuṅkumacandanādibhiḥ. The evident correspondence between our word and Pali apanṇa(ka) makes Lalou's interpretation hardly possible. Our word is a secondary hyper-Sktism, but the history of it remains quite unknown.

ābaddhaka, adj. or subst. (Skt. ābaddha, with suffix ka, perhaps specifying, § 22.39), (something that is) tied on (as an ornament): Mv ii.68.5 (prose) tasyāpi rājño śata-sahasramūlo hāro ābaddhako, tasya ca hārasya . . . ; 72.19 (prose) yo kumārasya hāro ābaddhako mahārāho śata-sahasramūlo, so hāro . . . ; ii.352.9 = iii.276.11 (vs) ābaddhakā manuṣyāṅām (apparently agreeing with words in prec. line which Senart reads by em. hārā and niṣkāni [sic, °ni]; the mss. are very corrupt).

ābaddha-parikara, adj., lit. having tied one's girdle, i. e. girded one's loins, or freely, vigorously setting out upon action: °raḥ Mvy 6428; Tib. renders approximately going out without being touched at all; Chin. (walking) without leaning on others (or, without help of others).

ābandhya, adj. (from Skt. ābandha with suffix ya), serving or intended for binding, capturing (animals): Divy 583.1 mamāmī kūṭāḥ pāsālepāś cābandhyāḥ (said by a hunter).

ābādhika, adj. (= Pali id.; from Skt. ābādha with suffix ika), sick, ailing: Mv iii.348.9 tasya pratyekabuddhasya pittābādhikasya (v.l. °dhitasya); Bbh 268.6 ābādhi-kānām sattvānām vyādhitānām; Samy Āg 13 verse 1 bhikṣur ābādhiko duḥkhito; Samādḥ p. 52 line 21, read ābādhiko for text ābōdhiko. See also vāyv-ābādhika.

ābrḥmaṇa (cf. Pali ābhāhana, abbūhana, nom. act.), instrument for extraction (of thorns, splinters, etc.): Gv 495.13 (prose) ābrḥmaṇabhūtām satkāyaśalyasamābrḥmaṇatayā. Said of bodhicitta.

ābrḥmita, see āvṛḥmita.

ābrḍha-, ppp. of ābrhati, in ābrḍha-śalya (= Pali abbūḍha-salla), having the sting (of craving) pulled out: Mvy 7216 (v.l. ābrīḍha°, so Mironov, with v.l. āvrṭa°) = Tib. (zug-rñu) byuñ ba; cf. āvrīḍha, to āvarhati, MSV iii.74.6 ff. This word, in some form, is certainly intended by the corrupt āpraṭṭa-śalya of Samādḥ p. 28 line 14; and by text (vicikitsā-kathamkathā-śalyaḥ samūlā) ārūḍho Divy 84.10, where presumably read ābūḍho, see Pali above; MSV i.83.9 (same passage) āvrḍho.

ābrhati (and āvrhati; see also āvṛḥmita) both occur in Skt. in mg. extracts, draws out, and in Pali as abbahati, abbhuhati, abbū°, abbāheti, id. (as, thorns); both are so used also in BHS; but in BHS they both (oftener, it seems, spelled with v) have also the meaning exclusively noted for āvarhati, restores (a monk to good standing), which in Pali is abbheti (noun, abbhāna), apparently from Skt. ābhavati. I shall record such mgs., even where texts read āb°, under āvarhati; in BHS the two groups are not clearly distinguishable. They may even be identical in origin, as N. Dutt holds, MSV iii.74 n. 3 (withdrawal of offences committed by the monk implies restoration to good standing); so also in essence, tho doubtfully, Finot, Prāt 488 n. 1. But on this theory it is hard to explain Pali abbheti (abbhāna), and I incline to believe that BHS has a secondary and confused blend, in which a form close to the Pali, meaning recall, was adapted to the word meaning extract, remove.

ābha, m. pl. (= Pali id., misprinted once Abha, see CPD s.v. Abhā), n. of a class of rūpāvacara gods of the 2d dhyaṇa-bhūmi, see deva (only in a few lists): Mv ii.314.7 ābhā devā(h); 348.19 ābhā (v.l. ābhās) ca (sc. devāḥ); 360.15 ābhām (acc. pl.; v.l. ābhā) paśyati devatām (v.l. °tāḥ).

ābhakṣaṇa, only in comp. with sambhakṣaṇa, q.v., and associated with other social activities; perhaps feasting (in groups); distinction from sambhakṣaṇa is not clear: Bbh 7.7 āvāha-vivāhābhakṣaṇa-sambhakṣaṇeṣv evambhāgīyeṣu (sc. parakṛtyeṣu, 7.2) sahāyībḥāvam gacchati; 267.13 (after āvāha-vivāhārthikānām) ābhakṣaṇa-sambhakṣaṇārthikānām kṛtyasahāyārthikānām ca sattvānām . . . Neither word is known in this use outside BHS.

ābharāṇa, ornament, as m. (recorded only as nt. in Skt., Pali, and Pkt.): SP 362.12 (vs) ye (so, or ye hy, all mss.; ed. em. yā) ābharāṇā bhavanti . . . vicitrarūpāḥ (so all Nep. mss.; ed. °pā); LV 194.17 (vs) sarve ābharāṇā vikiṛṇa patitā muhyanti te vāriṇā, and 18 (with mss.) bhartuś cābharāṇā (acc. pl.; with adṛśī 15) savastramukutām śayyāgatām vyākulām (Lefm. omits the three anusvāras).

Ābharāṇachattranirghoṣa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.3.

Ābharāṇa-puṣkariṇī, n. of the pool into which the Bodhisattva's ornaments were cast: LV 229.19.

ābhasvara = ābhāsvara, a class of gods: Ud xxx.49.

ābhāṣati, addresses insultingly: (kulastri . . .) ākruṣṭā bhavaty ābhāṣtā(h) parāmṛṣṭā vā MSV iv.119.10; Tib. kha ṅan smras, bad-mouth-speak.

ābhāsa, m. (in Pali only in the Skt. meaning of light, radiance; so also in BHS, e. g. Mv i.83.5), appearance and hence range, scope, of sense organs: Mv iii.66.4 ff., where each of the external (bāhirāṇī) āyatanāni (i. e. the objects of sense) comes into the range of the corresponding internal (ādhyātmiḥ) āyatanāni (i. e. the sense organs or powers), e. g. rūpo ca bāhīraṃ āyatanam cakṣuṣaḥ ābhāsam āgatam bhavati. In a similar Pali passage, MN i.190.21 ff., āpātha takes the place of our ābhāsa. Similarly Mv i.6.3 manuṣyāṅām śrotābhāsam āgacchati, comes within the range of men's hearing; Śikṣ 128.13 cakṣuṣa ābhāsam āgacchanti; ābhāsībhavati (see ābhāsa), comes into range, into play; becomes perceptible: Dbh 64.27 ... nimitta-samudācāro vā nābhāsībhavati.

ābhāsvara, m., generally pl. (= Pali ābhassara; cf. ābhasvara), one (usually the 3d) of the classes of rūpāvacaṛa gods in the 2d dhyāna-bhūmi (see deva): sing. of one of the class, LV 44.12 (see Prabhāvīyūha); Mmk 19.9 mahābrahmā °raḥ prabhāsvaṛaḥ śuddhābhāḥ etc.; in Mmk 69.7 also sg. in a list of sg. deities; ābhāsvara devanikāye Divy 327.21–22, as a place of happy rebirth, in this class of gods (or in their dwelling-place); several times in Mv this place or state of existence is mentioned as the abode of creatures in general, or of a Buddha and his disciples, in interim periods between world aeons, after destruction and before re-creation of the world, so Mv i.52.4 ābhāsvare devanikāye upadyanti, and 6–7 °rād devanikāyato cyavitvā; similarly 63.7; 338.15 ff.; pl. of the class as a whole, Mvy 3092; Dharmas 128; SP 359.1; 365.3; LV 150.7; 315.5; 359.3; 396.15; Mv ii.314.7; 319.4; 348.19; Divy 68.15; 367.12; Av i.5.2, etc.; in Mvy 2291 named as an example of creatures in the third sattvāvāsa (q.v.), characterized as ekatvakāyā nānāvāsamjūnas.

ābhicārūka, adj. and subst., repeatedly in Mmk = Skt. ābhicārika, pertaining to (hostile, black) magic or as subst. (perh. by ellipsis of karman) a performance or practice of (hostile, black) magic: Mmk 25.19; 33.24 °keṣu sarveṣu (subst.); 124.18 °ka-kāṣṭhāni; 174.7 ardhārātre sthite candre kuryāt karmābhicārūkam; 174.11, 17; 178.9; 189.10 °ka-karmāni; 320.10 (aśeṣam karma) karoti, varjayitvā kāmopasamhitam, ābhicārūkam ca; in 465.8–9 contrasted with śāntika, pacifying (performance), as antonym, ābhicārūke mahāmāmsena, śāntike mṛgaromāni ... Many other occurrences, but not noted outside of Mmk. One might be tempted to emend to °rika, were the cases not so numerous.

ābhīprāyika, adj. (from Skt. abhiprāya with suffix ika; once in Skt. in Sāmav. Br., BR 7 App., nach Belieben geschehend, beliebig, with karman), (specially, esoterically) intentional, intended: Bbh 265.5 (gambhīrāṇām tathāgatābhāṣītānām ... sūtrāntānām) °kaṃ tathāgatānām artham aviññāya; 303.26–304.1 °ka-nigūḍha-dharma-samjñārthavibhāvanatā. See s.v. samdhā.

ābhīmānika, adj. (= abhi° 1; once in Skt. in different mg., pw 7.318), proud: SP 38.12 and 39.4 (prose; both times v.l. ādhi° or adhi°); 43.13 (prose, no v.l.); Śikṣ 126.8 (prose) °ka-vyākaraṇa-vacanā; KP 1.6 (prose) °kaś ca bhavaty ātmotkarṣī.

ābhirūpya (nt.; from Skt. abhirūpa, beautiful, with suffix ya; once Lex. in Skt., BR 5 App.), beauty: Bbh 245.21 °pya-kāmasya cākāmam vairūpyataḥ.

ābhisamskārika, f. °kī (cf. an-abhisamskārikā, and Pali abhisamkhārika; Suzuki Index records abhi°, but 211.15 has ā- while 361.17 could intend either ā- or a-), characterized by accumulation (of karman; abhisamskāra): Lañk 211.15 ābhisamskārikī ... nirodhasamāpattiḥ; Lañk 361.17 nābhisamskārikair buddhā lakṣaṇānvitāḥ.

ābhisamkṣepika (adj.), °kam, adv. (to abhisamkṣepa, q.v.), app. in a manner produced by compression, condensation: Mvy 7476 (so also Mironov; pw 7.306 abhi°) = Tib. bsdus pa las gyur pa; but the real meaning of this seemingly technical term escapes me. The next word is abhyavakāśikam (ābhy°), q.v.

ābhikṣṇaka, adj. (from Skt. abhikṣṇam; cf. Skt. Lex. ābhikṣṇa, nt.), recurring, repeated, constant: Bbh 142.1 yam ābhikṣṇakam vipratīṣaram ādinavadarśanam āgamyā ...

ābhujati, or also ābhūñjati, recorded only in ger. forms with object paryāṅkam (= Pali pallaṅkam ābhuj-; Skt. seems to have used badhnāti instead, but BR, pw record only noun cpds. such as paryāṅka-bandha; BHS also uses forms of bandhati, as paryāṅka bandhitvā SP 23.11 (vs); a theory of the orig. mg. in BR which is not repeated in pw; for other theories see PTSD s.vv. ābhujati, pallaṅka), having assumed a sitting posture with the legs doubled under the buttocks; in prose of all texts except Mv, only paryāṅkam ābhujya: Mvy 6283; SP 5.9 (here Kashgar rec. baddhvā, cf. above); 19.13; 409.9; LV 59.22; 244.18; 251.4; 289.16; 410.8; Divy 20.17; 162.12; 294.3, etc.; in vss, °kam ābhujya LV 133.20; °kam ābhujitvā 259.5; in prose of Mv °kam ābhūñjitvā i.144.11; ii.131.15, also v.l. ii.268.4 where Senart ābhujitvā; the latter is a v.l. for text ābhujitvā i.16.12 (= i.213.8, mss. corrupt); ābhujitvāna mss. at iii.245.2 (vs, bad meter).

ābhoga, m. (derived by Leumann, Das nordarische Lehrgedicht des Buddhismus, AKM 20.1, p. 68, from bhuj bend, as Anbiegung = Anlehnung; an-ā°, ohne Anlehnung d.h. ohne Rückhalt oder Stützpunkt. Some Pali interpreters also derive from this root, see PTSD. Whatever the etymology, the primary mg. in BHS is clearly effort; so some Skt. lexx., = yatna. This also fits at least many Pali occurrences of ābhoga, but in Pali the word needs more study; dict. definitions are all unsatisfactory; it is often bracketed or equated with manasikāra, esp. with cetaso or cittassa, DN comm. i.122.6–7, perhaps as (mental) effort, e. g. Miln. 97.10), effort, earnest application (directed towards, loc.): Mvy 2092 = Tib. sgrim pa, hjug pa, bzo (gzo) ba, endeavor; setting about; work; śīle ābhogaṃ kṛtvāna, having made effort for (in regard to) morality Mv ii.358.7; 360.9; ekāntasukleṣv eva karmasv ābhogaḥ karāñiyah, one must strive for ... See anābhoga, sābhoga, both clearly supporting mg. effort.

Āyudhiṣṭhira (?), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.4. Uncertain reading; initial in saṃdhi with preceding -a, permitting analysis as Ayudhī°, which seems scarcely possible; perhaps the long ā is an error or misprint, and we should understand Yudhiṣṭhira.

Āyurdadā (see -dada), n. of a kimnara-maid: Kv 6.12.

-āyūṣika, adj. ifc. (from āyus with suffix ika), aged . . . : Kv 48.13 (prose) (jirṇo vṛddho mahallakaḥ . . .) anekavarṣaśatasahasrāyūṣikah.

āyūṣman, i. e. Skt. āyūṣman, functions like Pali āvuso (see āvusa and āyusmaṃvāda), and like it (see Childers s.v.) may be addressed to more than one person, sirs (usually to equals or inferiors): Mv i.328.16 (prose) (te bhikkhū . . . kumbhakārasya mātāpitarau etad uvāca), yatra āyūṣmaṃ bhikkhū (n. pl., so read with mss., Senart wrongly em. bhikkhūṇāṃ) . . . tṛṇā na sambhūṇanti . . .

āyūṣmaṃvāda (m.; = Pali āvusovāda, DN ii.154.9, 12; cf. āyūṣmaṃ), address using the term āyūṣmaṃ (āyūṣman): Mv iii.329.10 (mā bhikkhavo . . .) tathāgataṃ āyūṣmaṃvādena samudācaratha (in corresponding passage LV 409.6 āyūṣmadvādena, regular Skt.).

Āyustejas, n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.14.

ārājaka, nt. (secondary deriv., with vṛddhi, from arāja or °jaka), state of kinglessness: Mv ii.70.13 (vs, but quantity of initial indifferēt) °kam idam asmākam.

Arāḍa (also Arāḍa, q.v., and see next; = Pali Ālāra), n. of a sage under whom Śākyamuni studied for a time; in a dvandva cpd. Arāḍodraka (-Udraka) Divy 392.1 (see also under Arāḍa and Arāḍaka); generally surnamed Kālāma (= Pali id.): °ḍa-Kāl° as one word Mvy 3515, but regularly two words: Mv ii.118.1 ff.; 198.1; iii.322.15, 17; in LV 238.14, 19 f.; 239.6, 12; 403.20; 404.2–3, 3–4, Lefmann reads the surname always Kālāpa; the mss. generally vary, in 404.3 all have Kālāma. However, there seems to have been some support in northern tradition for the ending -pa, for Tib. on Mvy and LV renders sgyu rtsal śes (byed), knowing arts, which seems to point to analysis into kalā plus a form of root āp-.

Ārāḍaka = prec.: Divy 392.3 (vs), in a dvandva, Udrakārāḍakā (see under prec. and Arāḍa); the -ka is probably m.c.

ārāti, m.c. for arati, displeasure (in this mg. Skt. arati), by em. (required by meter) in LV 325.11, where word-division should be: ārātiya rātiya (both instr. sg.) samvase na ca sārḍham, and I do not dwell together with displeasure or pleasure.

ārāmika, m. (in sense 1 once in Rājāt., pw; in Pali apparently only in sense 2, and so usually in BHS), (1) gardener: Av i.36.10 ff.; 120.14; 124.6, et alibi; (2) an attendant in a Buddhist ārāma, i. e. a grove used by monks: Mvy 3843; Mv i.325.19 °ka-sahasraṇi upasthāpayiṣyanti (in a grove for monks); Divy 43.20 (here Tib. khim pa zhiḡ, Bailey, JRAS 1950.180; āḡārika?); 155.13; 157.25, 27 et alibi; Bbh 166.25; Prāt 494.10; Lañk 308.6.

ārāva, nt., a high number: Mvy 7839 = Tib.rig(s) sdom; cited from Gv; var. agava, q.v. But Gv 133.3 reads avaḡa (nt.), which has the same Tib. rendering Mvy 7713 and is probably to be read for ārāva. Mironov reads arāvam, noting vv.ll. agavam, aravam. In Gv 105.21 replaced by vīpāsa.

ārāvita, ppp. (of denom. to Skt. and Pali ārāva, cry, not to caus. of ā-ru which is unrecorded), made resonant: Mv ii.215.13 (sarvaṃ vanakhaṇḍam . . . nināditam mṛḡapakṣiravehi) ca ārāvitaṃ (mss. °pitam).

(āruta, in Jm 123.18, cry (noun), not ppp. of ā-ru as stated in pw 7.371. The noun is Skt.: BR 6.355, s.v. ā-ru.)

[ārūḍha, Divy 84.10, see s.v. ābṛḍha.]

ārūḍhayati (denom. to ārūḍha, mounted), makes mounted, causes to mount: Mv iii.146.14 aśvarathe ārūḍhayitvā (ger.).

ārūpa, nt. (= ārūpya; cf. ārūpin), formlessness: Lañk 312.8(-9) ārūpya-rūpaṃ hy ārūpair . . . (9) rūpaṃ darśyaṃti sattvānām.

ārūpayati (= Skt. āropayati; for ū cf. Pali rūhati and rūha = āroha; see Chap. 43, s.v. ruh), causes to mount: ppp. ārūpitā Mv iii.68.19; ger. ārūpiya Mv i.352.20; ārūpetvā iii.160.7 (so em. Senart, plausibly); tridaṇḍam ārūpayitvā Mv iii.393.18, having caused (her) to take up (the triple staff, as brahman pupil).

ārūpin, adj. (from ārūpa, q.v., plus -in), (something) characterized by formlessness: catvāra ārūpinaḥ skandhā(h) Lañk 113.9; ŚsP 382.(15)-16 (tat kiṃ manyase) subhūte ārūpi bodhisattva itī, so what think you, S.? is a Bodhisattva something characterized by formlessness?

ārūpya, adj. and subst. nt. (= Pali rūppa, both), formless (state), formlessness; there are, as in Pali, four such, listed s.v. deva, end: °pyā ca samāpattir Lañk 24.10; °pya-samāpatti LV 442.6; Bbh 90.11 (four); Dharmas 82 (four); Karmav 47.21 ff. (four, listed); Gv 471.20 ye te catur-ārūpya-samāpatti-vihāra-vihāriṇaś ca na cārūpya-dhātu-gatiṃ gacchanti, mahākaruṇāparigrhīta-vāt; °pyāś ca samādhyayaḥ Lañk 65.15; ārūpya as adj. with or sc. deva (= ārūpyāvacara, ārūpāv°, qq.v.) Mmk 103.28; 473.24; 474.1 etc.; ārūpye nāvatiṣṭhātī Lañk 355.8; in comp. with dhātu (perhaps as adj., as with samāpatti above, but parallel cpds. with kāma-, rūpa-suggest subst.), parallel or cpd. with kāma-dh°, rūpa-dh°, LV 428.20; Mvy 2149 (here the stem dhātu is omitted); KP 94.5; alone, KP 27.9. In Mv ii.123.18 ārūpyāṇi is an error for sārūpyāṇi, see sārūpya.

ārūpyāvacara, m. (see s.v. ārūpya), = arūpāvacara, q.v.: Mmk 419.8; Karmav 30.14.

ārogyayati (denom. to ārogya), (1) salutes (personally and directly): °yayitvā, ger. Divy 259.11; MSV i.42.1; (2) sends a greeting to, Ger. lässt grüssen (= caus.):

Divy 129.5 and 273.25 °yayati; 273.19 °yaya, impv.; MSV i.42.3 °yayati; (3) caus. ārogyāpayati, = (2): Divy 128.25 °paya, impv. (but MSV i.245.14, same passage, °gyaya).

ārocaka, f. °ikā, adj. (to ārocayati with -aka), announcing, making known: presyadārikayā kālārocikayā MSV ii.83.16; °cakaḥ 84.5.

ārocana, nt., or °na-tā (not recorded in Pali, except CPD an-ārocana; n. act. to ārocayati), saying, statement, declaration: °naṃ Mvy 8424-5; 9295; sarvasattveṣu bodhicittārocanaṭā KP 20.3; anārocanaṭā paraskhaliteṣu Śikṣ 286.3.

ārocayati, (rarely) āroceti (= Pali id., usually °ceti), declares, announces, tells: usually with acc. of thing and gen. or dat. of person, but sometimes with acc. of person, Mv i.226.14 = ii.29.17 rājanam ārocanti; ārocantā, pres. pple., Mv iii.345.4, 12; caus. (kālam) ārocāpitam Mv i.307.13, the time was caused to be announced; otherwise the following are formally standard Skt.; ārocayāmi vo (te) . . . (voc. usually here) pratedayāmi (te, SP 269.8, but usually no repetition of pronoun), in formal pronouncements (usually) by a Buddha, SP 144.1; 259.6; 269.8; 309.2; 395.10; Sukh 71.15-16; LV 90.21 (ca instead of vo or te); kālam ārocayati Av i.9.5 announces (that) the time (has arrived); object prakṛtim, (this) circumstance, LV 137.11; 200.16; 386.6; 407.8; Mv i.246.11; Suv 187.11; 190.8; or artham, the matter, LV 141.6; 404.1; Sukh 3.15; (chandaṃ ca tais tathāḡatair) . . . ārocitaṃ viditvā SP 248.(12)-13, and knowing that these Tathāḡatas had announced their consent; yan nv aham anena saha vādam ārocayeyam Av i.94.1, suppose now I propose a contest (in music) with him; miscellaneous, LV 18.11; Mv i.8.11; 197.1; ii.112.3; 167.10; 178.20; iii.402.15; Divy 2.9; 6.9; 260.6; Av i.14.11; Kv 55.23; etc., common in most texts.

ārodana (nt.; = Pali id.), weeping, lamentation: Mv ii.215.9 mahāntam ārodanam karetsuḥ (Senart karensuḥ); MSV i.64.11 °na-śabdām.

āropayati (unrecorded in this sense; cf. Skt. id. plants?), buries: Divy 484.13 atha kālam karoti, tatraivāropayitavyaḥ, but if he dies, he is to be buried right there; 485.18 atha kālam karoti, tatraivāropayitvāgaccha.

āroha, m. (= Pali id., regularly with pariṇāha; cf. ānāha), height or length (of persons, animals, trees, etc.); usually cpd. or associated with pariṇāha, circumference: āroha-pariṇāham, dvandva, Divy 57.1; °nāho, id. masc. sg., Divy 222.21 (mss.; see s.v. gūpti); °nāhāḥ Bbh 61.19; other cases, °nāhena etc., Samādh 22.20; Gv 45.18; Sukh 40.17; tulyārohapariṇāhau (Bhvr., dual, with nau, pronoun) Jm 136.7; ārohapariṇāha-sampanna Mvy 2684; of the bodhi-tree LV 278.12; of the Bodhisattva's mother, LV 25.9 (analyzed in Mv i.205.7 = ii.9.3 into āroha-sampannāyām pariṇāha-sampannāyām, of the same); ārohaḥ Mvy 2685 (pariṇāhaḥ 2686); without juxtaposition to pariṇāha, Śikṣ 28.4 āroha-sampannān, said of horses, perfect as to height (mistranslated Bendall and Rouse).

ārjanā (to ārjayati), winning, acquisition: Bbh 35.9 (prose) bhogānām ārjanā.

ārjayati, wins: LV 203.7 (vs) puṇyam ārjayāmo (meter requires short penult; °yamo? all mss. ārj°) bahum. Cf. ārjanā, supporting ā (preverb); BR 5.1043 cite samārjita (sam-ā-arj-) once from Mbh 13.5551.

ārjava, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.154.1.

ārṇava, adj. (perh. = Pali aṇṇava as ep. of sarani, see CPD), of the ocean: °vaṃ saraḥ MPS 7.9; Ud xvii.7. [ārṭibhāva, m., state of distress, Senart's em. at Mv ii.146.15; but read anyathibhāva, q.v.]

ārṭiyate, see ar(t)ītyati.

ārdhha(?), Mv i.253.4, Senart rogajātā ārdhdhā, but mss. °jātānāddhe or °nārdhdhe; text and mg. obscure; Senart's note takes ār° as adj. from rddhi, (diseases) produced by magic, which does not seem to me plausible. But I have no interpretation to propose. Followed by maṇḍalako ca adhvāso ca, qq.v.

Ādravallipratirūpa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.5.

Āryaka, n. of a cakravartin: SP 160.14 mahārājñā cakravartināryakeṇa mahākośena. Burnouf and Kern take this word as an adj. and Cakravartin as the king's name, which I think unlikely.

āryakā (= Pali ayyakā), grandmother: MSV ii.70.2 f.

Āryadeva, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3476.

āryapakṣa, m., group of noble persons, designation of a list of 500 Tathāgatas (divided into two halves, and each half into two hundred plus fifty — approximately): Mv i.137.9; 138.8; 140.6; 141.8. See Senart's note, p. 485.

āryapuṅgala, m. (= Pali ariya-puggala), a model human personality: LV 423.13 pariñātam (so read with v.l. for text °nam) āryapuṅgalair (said of the dharmacakra). Prob. refers to persons in the eight stages of (Hīnayāna) religious development, Dharmas 102; see aṣṭama, śaikṣa.

Āryabhṛkūṭī, n. of a goddess, Mvy 4282; certainly the same as Bhṛkūṭī, q.v.

ārya-mahāsimha-ukkāsita, nt. (MIndic for °utkā-sita), Exalted-Great-Lion's-throat-clearing: Mv ii.281.12 (here ārya is accidentally omitted), 14, 16, 18 (bodhisattvo . . . caturvidham) °sitaṃ ukkāsi. Cf. next two. The four ways are listed.

ārya-mahāsimha-vijṛmbhita, nt., Exalted-Great-Lion's-yawn: Mv ii.281.7–11 (bodhisattvo . . . caturvidham) °bhitaṃ vijṛmbheti. Cf. prec. and next. The four ways are listed.

ārya-mahāsimha-vilokita, nt., Exalted-Great-Lion's gaze: Mv ii.281.1–5 (bodhisattvo . . . caturvidham) °kitaṃ viloketi. Cf. prec. two. The four ways are listed.

ārya-māna, m. or nt., exalted pride: Mv ii.279.1 ff. (bodhisattvo . . . dvātriṃśatākārasamanvāgataṃ) °naṃ pragṛhe. The 32 forms are then listed. On dvātriṃśata-see § 19.34.

āryavaṃśa (m.; = Pali ariyavaṃsa, see CPD s.v.), the (fourfold) attitudes (lit. 'stocks', sources) of the Buddhist saint, listed AbhidhK. LaV-P. vi.146 ff.: RP 13.17–18 caturṇam °śānām anuvartanāṭā; 14.7 caturāryavaṃśāniratā; KP 6.17 (vs) ājivaśuddho sthita āryavaṃśe; 123.3 saṃtuṣṭaḥ caturbhīr āryavaṃśair (the first three are contentment with garments, food, seat-and-bed of monks; acc. to AbhidhK. the fourth is devotion to the way to release, by appropriate behavior); 126.7 (vs) °vaṃśehi samanvito 'pi; Śikṣ 105.8 caturāryavaṃśāparivarjanatayā (due to lābhasatkāra; misunderstood by Bendall and Rouse); 191.10 °vaṃśa-saṃtuṣṭi (cf. above).

Āryavaṃśaketu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.6.

Āryavatī, n. of a river: Karmav 162.14; prob. false Sktization for Pali Aciravatī = BHS Ajiravatī, q.v., (thru a MIndic *Ayravai, *Ariyavai); cf. Lévi's note, which states that it is the same river as the Hiranyavatī (q.v.; on what evidence I do not know).

Āryasūra, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3479.

ārya-satya, nt. (= Pali ariya-sacca), (the four) noble truth(s): listed, Mvy 1310 ff.; Dharmas 21 (duḥkham, samudayaḥ, nirodhaḥ, mārgaḥ); SP 179.2–3; Mv ii.138.4; Bbh 38.9 (as in Dharmas); full statements of all four, Mv iii.331.17 ff.; LV 417.2 ff. The standard names are duḥkham, duḥkhasamudayaḥ, duḥkhanirodhaḥ, duḥkhanirodhagāminī pratipat.

Āryasatyaka Parivarta (m.), n. of a work, or part of a work (cf. Bendall 407, note): Śikṣ 165.17.

Āryasaṃmatīya, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9085.

Ārya-sarvāstivāda, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9077 °vādāḥ; Śikṣ 148.13 °vādānām (so ed. with ms.; Bendall's note suggests reading °vādinām) ca paṭhyate (a quotation follows).

Ārya-sthāvira, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9095 (printed °sthaviraḥ, both a's short, but Index °sthāviraḥ, and so Mironov).

Āryasthāviriya Nikāya, n. of a work belonging to that (prec.) school, from which Jm xvi vss 2–3 are quoted: Jm 98.24. The verses occur in the Pali Dhṛp.

ārya-smīta (nt.), Exalted-smile or smile of an Exalted One (or saint): Mv ii.280.15 ff. (Bodhisattvo . . . pañcavi-dham) āryasmitaṃ prādurkare. The five kinds are then listed.

Āryā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Sādh 561.1, 11; 562.5.

Āryākṣa (? mss. Āryakṣa), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.14.

Āryasaṅga, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3477. Cf. Asaṅga.

āryikā (Skt. Gr. and lex.; f. to Skt. āryaka), a venerable woman, used of Buddhist nuns: °kā-saṃghaḥ (read as cpd.) Bhik 17b.1 and ff.

ārṣabha, adj. (= Pali āsabha; °bham, often written °bhañ-, ṭhānam paṭijānāti MN i.69.32; SN ii.27.26 etc., cf. below), of the first rank (esp. religiously), prime, worthy of admiration: udāram ārṣabham sthānam paṭijānāti Dbs 209.10; 211.4 etc.; . . . paṭijānīte Av ii.105.15; . . . pra-jānāmi (read paṭijā°?) ŚsP 1448.12; . . . draṣṭavyam Bbh 386.13; in Bbh 385.17 (after 15 nirvānam udāram ity ucyate, cf. the above phrase), read ārṣabham (text ārṣam; refers to nirvāna; meaning supported by Tib. and Chin.) ity ucyate, of the teeth of a mahāpuruṣa, in a list of the lakṣaṇa, Gv 401.7–8 (aviralā) aviṣamārṣū (read aviṣamārṣabhā, for °mā ārṣabhā; same corruption as in Bbh 385.17 above) asya dantā abhūvan.

Ārṣiṣeṇa, m. pl. (cf. Asthisena), n. of a brahmanical school, of the chandogas: Divy 637.27.

ālakṣya (nt. ? in Skt. as adj., wahrzunehmen, sichtbar), visible sign, emblem: Divy 118.24 (idam . . . maṇiratnam . . .) cihṇabhūtam ālakṣyabhūtam maṇḍanabhūtam ca.

ālapṭaka, m., one with whom one talks familiarly: Mvy 2711. In section entitled mitrakāryam; pw 7.319 gesprächig, leutselig. Tib. gṭam ḥdres pa, defined by Das ālapṭakā (so!), mixed-up stories, garbled accounts, which cannot be the mg.; MSV ii.131.11 ālapṭakenālapṭakasya (sc. upasthānam, waiting on when sick, karaṇīyam), which makes the mg. certain; cf. samlapṭaka.

ālabdha, ppp., in Mv ii.479.10 mālā ca se ālabdhā, and a garland was hung on him. As Senart's note indicates, this seems to require ālambitā, and to imply confusion of roots labh and lamb; note pw 5.217 ālambhe Rājat. 2.212 'fehlerhaft für ālalambe'.

-ālabbaka = Skt. ālamba, support, at end of Bhvr. cpd.: Bbh 242.3 dharmālabbaka-maitrī, love (benevolence) that is based on dharma.

ālabhana, nt. (in mg. 1, essentially = Skt. id.; in mg. 2 = ārambhana, q.v.), (1) basis, ground, reason (= Skt. id.); ālabhana-pratyaya, third of four pratyaya, q.v., cf. ārambhana, 1, end: Mvy 2269; (2) object of sense (= ārambhana, 3): LV 392.15 sarvālabhana-samāti-krāntaḥ (dharmah); Bbh 384.8 (see s.v. samprakhyaṇa); Sūtrāl. iv.1 (see Lévi's note in Transl.; seems restricted to correspondence with citta = manas(?), at least acc. to Tib.); (3) architectural term, part of a railing or balustrade; bar, crossbar (functioning as support), esp. of a vedikā (-jāla), q.v., one of the cross-pieces of a balustrade or railing; = ārambhana, q.v.; associated with adhiṣṭhāna (q.v., 4) or °naka (q.v.); repeatedly a sūcī (sūcīkā) is stated to function as ālabhana to the upright piars (pādaka) of a vedikā-jāla (Mv), or simply to a vedikā (Divy): Mv i.195.1 sūcikā ālambanam adhiṣṭhānam ca abhūsi; iii.227.7 ff. sūcikā ālambanam adhiṣṭhānakam ca (in some repetitions below, abhūsi is added); Divy 221.9 sūci ālambanam adhiṣṭhānam (sc. āsīt); see next.

ālambanaka, nt., = ālambana (3); varies with °bana in repetitions of Mv iii.227.7, above, viz. in 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 (in some v.l. °banam).

? ālambuṣa (m. or nt.?), n. of a plant: Mmk 82.18 ālambuṣa-mūlaṃ ksīreṇa saha piṣayitvā. Prose; perhaps error for alambuṣā, which is the only form recorded in literary Skt. (Lex alambuṣa; no āl° is recorded anywhere).

ālambya, adj. (gdve.) or subst., thing to be supported: Lañk 153.6 ālambālambyavīgatam... samskrtaṃ, free from support and from anything to be supported; 169.5 and 170.9 yadā tv ālambyam arthaṃ nopalabhate jñānam, but when knowledge finds no object which can be supported (by it); see also nir-ālambya.

ālaya, m., rarely nt. (in Skt. 'home', also in BHS; Pali id., same mgs. as BHS): (1) (habitation, hence) firm basis, fundamental base, in an-ālaya, ālaya-vijñāna, qq.v. for Tib.; also Lañk 374.3 mano hī ālayasambhūtam, 4 ālayāt sarvacittāni pravartanti taraṅgavat (in both of these substantially = ālaya-vijñāna); perhaps here also Av ii.175.2-3 tatas tena bhagavato 'ntike cittam prasāditaṃ teṣāṃ ca mahāśrāvakaṅām ālayasampānnānām (arrived at the fundamental basis, the proper mental state?); (2) attachment, clinging: Mvy 5382 kāmālayaḥ, attachment (Tib. zhen pa) to desires (Tib. ḥdod pa la); Mv iii.314.2 (mss. corrupt, ed. incorrect; read) ālayārāmā... ālayaratā ālayasamuditā (prajā), mankind takes pleasure, joy, delight in attachment (to lusts; see samudita, and Pali parallels SN i.136.11 ff.; Vin. i.4.35 ff.); Mv iii.400.3 hitvā ālayāni (em., from Pali Sn 535; mss. ālepati); Ud xii.18 ālayāṃs trin (= the three trṣṇā 2 = Pali taṇhā; cf. Sn 635 ālayā, comm. taṇhā); Mv iii.200.11 ālayasamudghāto, rooting out of attachment, cf. Pali AN ii.34.24; Vism. 293.9, 25 f. See also nirālaya.

ālayana (= Skt. ālaya; Deśin. 1.66 and 8.58 ālayanaṃ, vāsagṛham), or (v.l.) ālayaka, nt., dwelling, nest, lair (of animals): SP 84.3 (vs) niḥśipanti te potakāny ālayānāni (v.l. °kāni) kṛtvā.

ālaya-vijñāna (see ālaya, 1) connaissance-réceptacle (E. Lamotte, L'Ālayavijñāna [Le Réceptacle] dans le Mahāyāna-saṃgraha, Mém. chin. et bud., vol. 3, Brussels, 1935, 169 ff.), or basic, fundamental, underlying vijñāna: Mvy 2017, where ālaya = kun gzhi, ultimate basis, identified sometimes with citta (Lévi, Sūtrāl. i.18, n. 2 in Transl.), and opp. to manas. Frequent in Lañk; notably 2.13 (samudrataraṅgān avaloky) ālaya-vijñānodadhipravṛttivijñānapavanaviṣaye preritāms... cittāny avalokyā, looking on the waves of the sea, stirred in the range (viṣaye) of the wind of the active vijñāna and the ocean of the basal vij., and looking on the minds (of the people there; ālaya-vi° is the ocean, pravṛtti-vi° the wind which stirs it; see under ālaya 1).

āli, f. (m.? nom. ālih), (1) small ditch (for water): Mvy 4177 = Tib. yur phran; cf. the Pali (and Skt. Lex.) meaning dike; (2) a-series (i.e. a plus āli), name for a series of syllables (chiefly vowels and combinations of a or ā with semivowels), used as a magic formula in Sādh, and defined there 478.7 ff. Cf. kālī.

Ālikavendā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: MSV i.17.7. Foll. by Maghā (perh. part of same name?).

ālikhana (nt.°; cf. Skt. likhana and ālekhana), painting, depiction, delineation: Mmk 67.6 (vs) paṭa-m-ālikhanād (cpd.; m is hiatus-bridger); 524.12 (vs) maṅḍalālikhane. āliṅga (m. or nt.; cf. next; = Pali, AMg., Skt. Lex. id.), a kind of drum: Mv ii.159.7 (prose) kācīd āliṅgaṃ (in a series of mus. instruments); iii.70.14 (prose) mṛdaṅga-vādyeṣu āliṅgavādyeṣu; 82.3 (vs; mss. slightly corrupt).

āliṅgikā (to prec.; prob. dim. -ka), a kind of drum: Mv iii.407.20 (prose) kācīd mṛdaṅgaṃ kācīd āliṅgikāṃ (mss. āliṅgikā).

ālīdha, ppp. of ā-lih, in an-ālīdha Lañk 14.13; 172.12 (Suzuki not tasted, prob. rather not 'licked' = not grazed, not (even) lightly touched (by sectarian or heretical theorists); applied to questions or doctrines to be expounded.

ālu, m. (or f.; Skt. Lex. nt., and Skt. āluka, nt.; Pali ālu, nt. acc. to PTSD; but AMg. ālu, m. acc. to Ratnach., Pkt. m. and nt. acc. to Sheth), a certain edible tuber: Mvy 5730 āluḥ.

ālekhyā, or (v.l.) ālekha, m., Mvy 5234, defined Tib. and Chin. as synonym of vipratīsāra, kaukrtya, and vilekha, vilekhyā, qq.v.

āloka, m. (once nt.), light, as in Skt.; (1) fig., see dharmāloka(-mukha); like this, -jñānālokamukha Gv 169.24, introduction to the light of knowledge; -pratibhānālokamukha Gv 174.13-14; (prajñā udapāsi) ālokaṃ (n. sg. nt.) prādur-abhūsi Mv iii.332.15 illumination (of the mind) became manifested (virtually = enlightenment, true knowledge); (2) m., a high number: Gv 133.13 (= aloka, q.v.). See the following items.

Āloka-kara, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 557; ŚsP 1419.11.

ālokati (hardly = ālokatyati or the rare Skt. ālokate, sees, perceives; not even in the 'sens moral' suggested by Senart; rather denom. to āloka, q.v.), furnishes light: Mv i.165.7 (vs, addressed to Buddha) yadā ca ālokasi nāgagāmi, yadā ca āgata maraṇāya pāraṃ, when you provide illumination (for creatures lost in the darkness of ignorance, l. 3 ff.)... and when you have arrived at the shore beyond death (? readings here uncertain), ... (then the earth is shaken etc.)

Ālokamaṅḍalaprabha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.6.

āloka-lābha, m. (so read for edd. °labdha; see Lévi Sūtrāl. n. 1 on xiv.24), attainment of illumination, one of the adhimukti-caryā-bhūmi: Mvy 898.

āloka-vṛddhi, f., increase of illumination, one of the adhimukti-caryā-bhūmi: Mvy 899.

āloka-sampdhi (m. or f.; = Pali id.), light-joint, opening for light, window: Jm 113.23 °dhim divasaṅ karotu. Prob. read this for āloka-samta(-bhūmi), then lacuna), which seems corrupt, in Prāt 506.11; Chin. mentions windows. On the passage see dvāra-koṣa.

Ālokasuvegadhvaṣa, n. of a serpent king: Mvy 3431.

ālokita-vilokita (nt., dvandva; on Pali see below), look and gaze; in a cliché, (prāsādikena...) °kitena Mv i.301.6; iii.60.6; 182.12; in other forms of the same cliché avalokita and vyavalokita are substituted; see these on the Tib. interpretation of the difference of mg. between them, to which I do not attach much importance (it sounds etymologizing). However, acc. to Pali DN comm. i.193.17 these two words mean looking ahead and looking all around, which substantially = Tib.

Ālokinī, acc. to printed text also Lokinī, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 566.13 ālokinyā mantraḥ: om lokinī lokavati svāhā (seeming to use both forms as equivalents). Mmk 564.26 probably contained a form of this name originally, but is hopelessly corrupt and unusable.

ālopa, m. (= Pali id.), mouthful (of food); cf. next: Mv i.339.13 ālopa-kāram (ger., see §§ 22.5; 35.3, 5) āhāram āhāresi (so with v.l.), and 16 ālopa-kārakam (ger.) āhāram āhāretsuh, making a mouthful of it, took food; Mvy 5766; 8572; 8574-6; Prāt 533.1-6 (= Mvy 8572-6); Divy 290.23 carama ālopaḥ; 470.17; 481.9; Av i.341.13 °pam anuprayacchati; Śikṣ 84.3; 138.5; 215.16; Bbh 76.19 (na) cavaśiṣṭam bhavati yāvad dvitīyam ālopaḥ prakṣipati.

-ālopaka, m. or nt. (from prec. plus suffix ka), in ekālopa° and saptālopa°, the practice of eating only (one, or seven) mouthful(s) of almsfood: LV 248.21, 22, ekālopa-kair, and saptālopakaiḥ; so read for °lāp° of both edd., no v.l.; cf. Pali ekālopika, sattālopika, DN i.166.11 and 12, one who adheres to these respective practices. Confirmed by Tib. kham.

āvaḍi (f.; = Skt. āvalī, °li), row, line: SP 340.14 chattrāvaḍibhir anvitāḥ.

Avantaka, m. pl., v.l. (read by Mironov) for Avantaka, q.v.: Mvy 908.7.

āvaraṇa, nt. (= Pali id.; see also an-āv° and āvṛti), hindrance, obstruction (= pratighātaḥ Bbh 38.19; in Tib. standardly rendered sgrub pa, darkness, obscuration, hence sin); Lévi, Sūtrāl. i.6, note. Two kinds, kleśāv° (moral faults) and jñeyāv° (intellectual faults); gotra of śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas free from the former, that of bodhisattvas, only, free also from the latter, Bbh 3.13 ff.; the two kinds mentioned also Bbh 37.6 f.; 88.3; Dharmas 115; āvaraṇa-dvayaḥ Lāṅk 140.16; karmāv°, obstruction due to past actions, Mvy 845; 1383; Av ii.155.9; Śikṣ 68.14; six obstacles to samādhi, samādhy-āv° Dharmas 118 (kausīdyam mānaḥ śāṅghyam auddhatyam anābhogaḥ satyābhogaś ceti); general, Mvy 814; 6512; Bhad 57 āvaraṇām (acc. pl.) vinivartīya sarvām; Mvy 814 sarvāvaraṇa-vivaraṇa; Gv 107.22, 24 -āvaraṇāya (see s.v. vimātratā), etc., common.

āvaraṇīya, adj., pertaining to (causing) obstruction (āvaraṇa, q.v.): of karman Śikṣ 280.3; Gv 20.5; of dharma conditions, states of being LV 424.18; Bbh 193.18; of thoughts (citta) Bhad 19; as quasi-subst., without noun, things that cause obstruction, Gv 462.19 viśodhakāni . . . āvaraṇīyānām.

āvarjana, nt. (to āvarjayati, q.v.; see also āvarjanā); substantially as in Skt., once, das Sich-gewinnt Machen, Gewinnen, BR 5.1123), wrongly defined for LV and Divy in pw; attraction, winning to oneself: LV 250.7-8 (dhyānagocarāṇām ca rūpāvacarāṇām) ca devānām dhyānaviśeṣopadārśanād āvarjanaḥ kuryām (by performing severe austerities; said by the Bodhisattva); 250.22 devānām cāvarjanārtham; Mv ii.423.18 āvarjana-sampanno (Senart doué de bonne grâce, d'affabilité; i. e. gifted with winning ways; followed by mardavasampanno aparūṣo); especially (cf. āvarjayati) conversion: Bbh 180.5-6 āvarjanārhanām sattvānām āvarjanāya (contrasts with preceding uttrāsanārhanām sattvānām uttrāsanāya); often this is accomplished by miracles, because, as Divy 133.9 says, āśu pṛthagjanāvarjanakarī rddhiḥ, magic converts the vulgar quickly; virtually the same words 192.8; 313.15; 539.5; Bbh 80.6 and 82.5 rddhy-āvarjanatā, process of conversion by (exhibitions of) magic; Av i.9.12 tad atyadbhutam devamanuṣyāvarjanakaram prātihāryam dṛṣṭvā; the same ii.4.4-5 etc.

āvarjanā = āvarjana, winning to oneself, the making kindly disposed: in LV 245.14-15--read: bodhisattvo rudrakasya rāmaputrasya saśīyasyāvarjanām (so 2 mss. incl. the best; ed. °janī-) kṛtvā . . . prakrāmād. (The gen. requires noun āvarjanām.) Tib. ḥdun par byas nas, which is wrongly rendered by Foucaux; it appears to mean lit. having made reconciled or desirous, i. e. having made to be, of good will (towards himself, the Bodhisattva).

āvarjayati (Skt., sich Jmd gewinnt machen, für sich gewinnen, BR) in BHS specifically converts; cf. prec. two (Pali āvajjeti not recognized in this sense; but acc. to PTSD often rendered in comms. by pariṇāmeti, which could surely mean brings to religious maturity): Mv i.34.9 (bhagavān . . . nirvāṇe pratiṣṭhāpayanto) āvarjayitvā aṅgamagadhām etc. (long list of peoples), having converted . . . ; closely similar is ii.419.8; Divy 355.14 Vāsavadattā sam-sārād udvignā buddhagauṇānūsmaraṇac cāvarjītaḥrdayo-vāca, . . . her heart converted, turned (to religion); Bbh 180.7 nāvarjayati, does not convert (people); often this is done by miracles, Av i.3.4 yan nv aham Pūrṇa-brāhmaṇam rddhiprātihāryeṇāvarjayeyam; Divy 365.19 prātihāryair āvarjītaḥ; Bbh 82.10 (prātihāryeṇ) āvarjītamānasā(h); Mvy 2429 āvarjītamānasāḥ; see under āvarjana.

āvarta, m., n. of a sea and of a mountain: Divy 102.28; 103.23-104.20. Note: as common noun, āvarta seems to me to have only meanings which it has in Skt., as turn, turning, turning-place (dhāraṇyāvartam . . . dhāraṇīm SP 475.8 etc.); eddy, whirlpool (Mvy 7037); etc.: in LV 126.7, several times, probably of turns (curves, or the like) of alphabetic signs; see utkṣepa-lipi.

āvartana, nt., (1) wandering, straying about (= Pali āvattana; in Skt. not after RV.): Mvy 6868 (= skor ba; followed by parivartanam); Divy 194.6 adrākṣic Chakro . . . tam devaputram atyartham pṛthivyām āvartanam parivartantam; (2) devious winding, with implication of deceptive, wily movements (= Pali āvatṭana): Bbh 72.1 sarvamārapathāvartana-vivartana-jñānānugataḥ, pursuing knowledge of all the devious windings and turnings-back of the paths of Māra.

āvar(t)ti, seems = āvartana, q.v., wandering, (re-)turn, in Gv 37.8 sarvalokāvarty-anupravartana-karuṇāgarbha, n. of samādhi, full of the compassion (born of) following the wanderings (rebirths) of all (the) world(s).

āvarhaṇa, nt. (to next with -ana; cf. Pali abbhāna, abtraction, as of thorns; but the real Pali equivalent is abhāṇa), removal, freeing (of a monk from certain penances): Mvy 8656 = Tib. dbyuṅ ba, removal, also freeing; MSV ii.203.16, 18 ff. (requires a quorum of twenty monks); iii.51.9; 53.4.

āvarhati, ābṛhati, also ābrah- (on origin and Pali relations see s.v. ābṛhati), frees a monk from religious disabilities (cf. prec.): ābrahitavya, gdve., Prāt 488.1; ābṛhyāt, prec., 2; ābṛhita, ppp., 3; āvarhata MSV iii.49.11; °hatu 51.9; °het 53.10; āvarhitavya, gdve., 49.17; °hitum, inf., 57.2; ppp. āvarhitāḥ 57.4; 58.18; āvṛdhaḥ 74.6, 16; 75.10, 20, etc. (cf. ābṛdha to ābṛhati, extracted, s.v. ābṛdha).

āvasānika (from avasāna plus -ika), of the end, final: Bbh 97.24 tatra bījam āvasānikasya svaphalasyākṣepahetuḥ.

āvāra- (m.; rare in Skt. except in cpds., cf. dur-āvāra, BR), guard, in °ra-nibandhana, nt., imprisonment under guard: Mv i.188.17 (vs) kṛtvāvāranibandhanam, making (i. e. applying to his victims) . . . (so mss., possibly intending vāra°, but this word is hardly used except at the end of cpds.; āvāra occurs also in Pali; Senart emends to kāra-nib°).

āvāri (once acc. °riṃ, otherwise all unambiguous forms show ā- and -i; Skt. Lex. āvāri; Deśin. 1.12 avāri and avāra), shop, bazaar, only noted in Divy: °ryām vyāpāram kuru 27.3; 28.7; °ri-samutthitam dravyam 27.8; kāśikavastrāvāri 29.4-5, 7, and other cpds. in °ri 29.7, 12, etc.; °ri-gaṭam kṣetragataḥ ca śasyādīdhana-jātam tad apy agnīnā dagdham 169.28; bhāṇḍāvāriṃ (in 15 °riṃ) gatvā 256.15, 27.

āvāsāśuddha, m. pl., a class of gods, = śuddhāvāsa, q.v.; only in vs, presumably m.c.: Mv ii.346.15 °ddhā upagatā devaputrāḥ.

āvāsika, adj. (= Pali id.), resident? (in a monastery; said of a monk) or possibly servant, see s.v. navakarmika: Av i.286.8-9 sa cāvāsiko bhikṣus tatra nāsīt . . . bhakte sajjikṛte āvāsiko bhikṣur āgataḥ (in 286.4 and 287.1 called naivāsika, q.v.); Jm 113.22 °kaḥ so 'stu mahāvīhāre; āvāsika-naivāsikair bhikṣubhir MSV iv.84.7.

āvāsīn (Skt. ifc.), dweller (with, near, in the confines of;

with gen.): brāhmaṇagrhapatayaḥ (sc. varṣāḥ, see 109.17) upagatakānām (sc. bhikṣūṇām) āvāsī (n. pl.) . . . anupracchanti MSV ii.110.2, and fl., brahmans and householders living (in the confines settled upon) for (the monks) that have entered into residence (for the rains) . . .

āvāha, m. (= Pali id.), taking in marriage, taking to wife; as in Pali, compounded or associated with vivāha (q.v. in PTSD) giving (a girl) in marriage: Mvy 9465 = Tib. bag mar blañ(s) pa (vivāha 9466 = bag mar blañ ba); āvāha-vivāha-, cpd., Bbh 7.7; 267.12, taking and giving in marriage; often rendered, approximately, marriage of a son and of a daughter; āvāho vā vivāho vā MSV ii.119.3; iii.138.9. Skt. vivāha marriage seems usually to have no such limitation of meaning, but perhaps āvāha and vivāha have the BHS mgs. in Mbh 13.3232 (otherwise BR 5.1124).

āvāhaka, f. °ikā, adj. (to Skt. ā-vah-), bringing in, inductive, inductive: Bbh 97.12 āvāhaka-hetuḥ (one of 10 kinds of hetu); 98.1 (tat punar bījanirvṛtṁ) phalam uttarasya bījākṣiptaphalasyāvāhakahetuḥ; 99.26 (. . . tasyāḥ sasyaṣṣṭapattēḥ sasya-)paripākasyāvāhakahetuḥ; AsP 203.10 (sā . . . prajñāpāramitā na kasyacit dharmasyāveśikā) vā . . . āvāhikā vā nirvāhikā vā.

? āvīgalita, perhaps slightly (ā) fallen down (see vīgalita): Mv i.154.12, a corrupt and dubious line of vs: kim dāni āvīgalitā (mss. °to) vara- (mss. vana-)keśa- (so 5 mss., Senart with 1 ms. kośa-)bhārā (mss. °ro) vāspaughasamstaragatā madanābhībhūtā; said of the harem-women's expected reaction to the Bodhisattva's impending departure. If -keśa- be adopted, possibly with their beautiful masses of hair somewhat loosened (dishevelled).

āvīddha, ppp. of ā-vyadh-, in Av i.87.5 vihāraḥ . . . āvīddhaprākārorano, prob. (with walls and arched gateways) fastened on, attached, or possibly pierced. Acc. to Speyer curved, crooked; he refers to LV 207.16, but here the word is applied to a potter's wheel and means whirled, set in motion, made to revolve.]

? āvīddhaka, m., in Mv iii.113.10 (prose) °kā(h), n. pl., n. of some kind of tradesman or artisan; in a long list of such. Senart also reads so by em. at iii.442.15, where mss. ācambika or āvambikā. In both followed by guḍapācakāḥ. Obscure and prob. corrupt.

? āvilāyati, is tired or aches (Tib. mi bde, not well), only . . . prṣṭhī me °ti MPS 30.5 = Pali piṭṭhī me āgilāyati (stock phrase). The seeming denom. from Skt. āvila is prob. a corruption or rationalization for āgilāyati, q.v. (MIndic form, perh. deliberately made over).

āvīci = avīci, n. of a hell: °cim ādim kṛtvā LV 86.11 (prose), so both edd. without v.l.; but Lefm.'s Index reads avīci, referring to this passage.

āvus = āyus, life? (§ 2.31) So acc. to Senart, Mv i.176.7 (prose) samaye ca āvusā (one ms. āyusā, dental s) dayanto (mss. °nte), presumed to mean and on occasion giving alms with their lives. Doubtful.

āvusa, and other forms based on Pali āvuso, brother! (see s.v. āyusmān): āvusa, as if voc. to a stem of that form, is used repeatedly as an address in AdP, e. g. 13.4, 10, 22, etc. In Mv i.91.6 (vs) Senart reads āvuso; meter needs — ×; mss. āyusaḥ (note that no form of āyusmānt is metrically possible), ānuṣaḥ, onuṣaḥ, ānuṣa; in SP 378.1 (prose) Kashgar rec. āvusāho (for ed. āyusmānto), certainly to be read (voc. pl. of a stem āvusa, as in AdP, with ending āho, § 8.88); in Mv i.317.15, 16 (prose) āvusāvo seems to be found in the same sense (mss. unanimous on -vo; see § 8.89; in 16 mss. ānusāvo or anu°, but no v.l. in 15).

āvustam, ppp. of ā-vas (= Pali āvuttha), inhabited: so read for avustam (both edd., no v.l.) LV 388.13 (vs; meter indifferent).

āvṛmhati (see ābrhati, ābrmhaṇa, etc.), removes, tears away: Mv i.18.12 (prose) teṣām āvṛmhitam (v.l. āvṛh°) tac chavimānsalohitam vyavadahyati; in Mv i.13.2 read with mss. āvṛmhato (pres. pple.) chavimānsarudhiraṃ vā prasāraye, tearing off the very skin, flesh, and blood, would remove them.

āvṛta, ppp. (corresp. to Pali ovaṭa, as Vin. ii.255.23), forbidden (also an-ā°, q.v.): Bhik 5a.5 āvṛtam ānanda bhikṣuṇyā bhikṣum codayitum (5b.1) . . . anāvṛtam bhikṣuṇim bhikṣuṇim codayitum . . . , it is forbidden for a nun to warn a monk, not for a monk to warn a nun.

āvṛti, f. = āvarana, q.v.: Gv 32.23 (vs) kṣapayaty āvṛti sarvā(h); cited Śiks 311.3 with āvṛtiḥ; Tib. sgrīb pa, regularly = āvarana.

? āveṭhita, ppp. (= Pali id.; see veṭhayati), put around: Mv iii.225.6 (prose) āveṭhita- (but only by em.; mss. āveṭi-)prākāra, fig. of Buddhas, having encircling (moral) walls. Could āveṭhī be defended, as a noun, from the same root?

āvenika, adj. (= Pali id. or °niya; etym. obscure; see also āveṇiya, āvedanika, and Konow, Avhandl. Norske Viden. Akad. 1941, II. Hist.-Fil. Kl., p. 41), peculiar, individual, particular, special: Divy 2.3 (a cliché, practically identical with Av i.14.7 etc.) pañcāveṇikā dharmā ekatye pañḍitajāṭiye mātṛgrāme, there are five peculiar characteristics in every intelligent woman (listed in the sequel); Divy 302.24 °kā ime svārthā anupṛāpto bhaviṣyāmi, I shall have attained these special purposes of mine (iti sampāṣyatā pañḍitenālam eva pravrajyādhimuktena bhavitum); Mv iii.320.6 ye te sattvā āvenikā bhavanti, evamrūpāḥ sattvā (sc. Buddhas, special creatures) āryadharmacakram pravartenti; there are three āvenika smṛtyupasthāna (q.v.) in a Buddha, Divy 182.20; Av i.7.5; listed Mvy 187–190; (referred to without the adjective āvenika, Sūtrāl. xx.53; AbhidhK. La V-P. vii.76); especially used of the 18 āvenika buddhadharma of a Buddha, listed Mvy 135–153 (Tib. ma ḥḍres pa, unmixed, unadulterated, pure); the list here is, (1) nāsti tathāgatasya skhalitam, (2) nāsti ravitam, (3) nāsti muṣitasmṛtītā (or °tiḥ), (4) nāsty asamāhitaccittam, (5) nāsti nānātvasamjñā, (6) nāsty apratisamkhyāyopekṣā, (7) nāsti chandasya hāniḥ, (8) nāsty vīryasya hāniḥ, (9) nāsty smṛtihanīḥ, (10) nāsty samādhihāniḥ, (11) nāsty prajñāyā hāniḥ, (12) nāsty vimuktihāniḥ, (13) sarva-kāya-karma jñānāpūrvamgamam jñānānuparivartī, (14 and 15) id. with vāk, manāḥ, for kāya, (16–18) atite (17 anāgate, 18 pratyutpanne) 'dhvany asaṅgam apratihataṃ jñānadarsanam pravartate; similarly Mv i.160.8 ff. (here they constitute the 5th caḥ-ṣuḥ, q.v., viz. buddha-°); Mvy 1–6 = Mv 13–16, 18, 17; Mvy 7–12 = Mv 7–12; Mvy 13–15 = Mv 4–6; Mvy 16–18 = Mv 1–3; Dharmas 79 (substantially as in Mvy; two obvious errors); in Sūtrāl. xx.57 comm. (before the vs called āvenika guṇa, but after it āv° buddhadharma) divided into groups, called six cāra-samgrhīta āv° bu° (= Mvy 1–6), six adhigama-samgrhīta (= Mvy 7–12), three jñāna-samgrhīta (= Mvy 16–18), three karma-samgrhīta (= Mvy 13–15); Burnouf, Lotus Appendice IX, cites a late Pali list from the Jinālamkāra, which substantially agrees in order with that of Mv (but the category is unknown to older and genuine Pali Buddhism, cf. Konow, l. c. above); references to the 18 āv°(bu°)dh°, SP 62.4; 259.5; LV 160.15; 275.10–11 (text corrupt, see Weller and Foucaux); 403.2; 428.6; Mv i.38.14; 50.4; 237.9; 335.13; iii.64.4; 138.12; 407.3; āvenika bu° dh° (no number given) SP 77.7; Divy 148.23; Dbh 13.26; 63.22; eighteen āvenika (no noun expressed) LV 438.8; āvenika, without number or noun but obviously meaning the same 18, SP 29.11; LV 343.4; acc. to Bbh 88.27 ff. and 375.3 ff., 140 āvenika buddhadharma, listed (incl. the 32 lakṣaṇa, 80 anuvyañjana, etc., but not the 18 usually recognized); in Mvy 786–804 a totally different list of 18 āvenika bodhisattva-dharma.

āveṇiya, adj. = āvenika, q.v.: Divy 98.22 and 440.16

āvedanika, adj., used in AdP for āveṇika, by false Sktization (Konow MASI 69 p.11, and loc. cit. s.v. āveṇika; for MIndic (Pali) āveṇiya, 'analyzed as āveyaṇiya from āvedanika'): 13.38–39 aṣṭādaśasv āvedanikesu buddhadharmesu; 14.19 etc., regularly; yet in 35.16 āveṇika (still in text of AdP).

āvedha, (1) (m.?, not in this sense Skt. or Pali; not in Pkt.), depth (of a sea or river; lit. penetration? cf. udvedha): Sukh 31.10 mahāsamudrāc caturāṣṭiyojana-sahasrāny āvedhena tiryag-aprameyāt, from the great ocean, 84,000 yojanas in depth and immeasurable across; 37.18 (santi yāvad...) pañcāśadyojanavistārā (sc. mahānadyo) yāvad dvādaśayojanāvedhāḥ, (there are great rivers, up to) 50 yojanas in width, up to 12 yojanas in depth; (2) m., continuing force, as of an arrow that has been shot, or as of the shoot of a plant growing forth, and fig. of the continuative force of life which manifests itself in the skandha, see AbhidhK. LaV-P. ii.217; pūrvāvedhāt = pūrvābhyāsāt iii.118, from the continuing force of past activity: nikāya-sabhāgasyāvedhaḥ Mvy 7004, the continuative force of the common element in the class (of living beings, sattva; see sabhāga 2), which causes rebirth; Tib. ḥphen pa, something like projection. So also āvedhaḥ Mvy 7535 = Tib. ḥphen pa, or ṣugs, inherent power, energy (Jā.). In Mvy 6857 āvedhaḥ (between ākṣepaḥ and prasabham), physical projection, penetration (cf. Pali id.); Tib. also ḥphen pa.

āveśa, in LV 163.14 (vs) āveśād (but best ms. ādeśād)... jñottamānām, equivalent to buddhānām... adhiṣṭhāna (q.v.: by the supernatural power of the Buddhas) in 9–10 above. Our phrase, as in text, could mean because of entrance, possession, on the part of the Buddhas (BR s.v. 2 and 3); or, reading ādeśād, by command of them. Tib. mthu, power (esp. of magic).

āvyūhati = āyūhati, exerts oneself towards, carries out, performs, with acc.: MadhK 298.13; 517.20 sa na kaṃcid dharmam āvyūhati nirvyūhati tasyaivam anāvyūhato 'nirvyūhataḥ traidhātuke cittaṃ na sajjati. Is nirvyūhati a near-synonym of āvyūhati, as nirvyūhati certainly is of āyūhati in Gv? Or is it (as assumed by Tib. and La Vallée-Poussin) an antonym of āvyūhati, as niryūhati is of āyūhati in Lank, and as (a)niryūha is of (an)āyūha? See s.v. anāyūha, anāvyūha, nirvyūha.

āvrīḍha, ppp. to āvarhati, q.v.

[āśāṅkitavya-(sahavratā), Mv ii.118.3 (mss. āśāṅkitavyaṃ or āśakitavyaṃ sahavratāyai), is certainly a corruption for ākimcanyāyatana-(sahavratā), q.v., as in LV 238.16; cf. Mv ii.119.9 f. = LV 243.17.]

āśa-pātri, food-bowl: in Divy 246.18 (cf. note p. 707) read saubarṇāśapātri (= °nā āśa°), for text °nā sapātri.

āśaya, as in Skt., and Pali āśaya, mental disposition, intent (La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. iv.24 intention); common, but not specifically Buddhist, except the adverbs āśayena heartily, earnestly RP 12.9 (ms. āśrayena; cf. adhyāśayena), and āśayataḥ ibid. Mvy 7119; Divy 281.4, 10; Av ii.151.2; Dbh.g. 16(352).11. The mgs. abode, basis etc. are also standard Skt. Cf. adhyāśaya, which is specifically Buddhist. If Senart is right in keeping āśayāni in Mv iii.400.3, it would have to be understood as = āśayāni, (evil) intentions or inclinations; but see āśaya. Often cpd. with anūśaya, q.v.

Āśā, (1) n. of one of four daughters of Indra: Mv ii.58.22 ff.; all four are among eight devakumārīkā in the northern quarter, Mv iii 309.9 = LV 391.4; (2) n. of a female lay-disciple (upāsikā): Gv 99.12 ff. In mg. 1 certainly a personification of āśā hope: the other three are Śraddhā, Śrī, and Hrī, qq.v.

āśāṭikā (dental t; = Pali āśāṭikā), egg of a fly or other insect; nit (Childers compares Marathi āśāṭī); as vermin afflicting cattle, Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā 196.V.2 (Lüders Kl. Skt. Texte 2 p.177, cf. pp. 43, 63, with comparison of corresponding Pali text).

āśāsti, f. (once in Skt., pw 3.256 Gebet; from ā-śās, wish, desire), desire: Ud xxx.29 sarvā hy āśāstaya(ś) chit(t)vā, = Pali (Vin. ii.156.27 et alibi) āśāṭiyo, but this Pali word = Skt. āśakti, attachment, and so substantially the same as longing, desire. Is āśāsti false Skt. for Pali āśatti (used in the Pali form of the same verse where it occurs in Ud)?

[āśivrate, LV 275.20 (vs), Lefm.'s em.; read with most mss. (some āśā-) āśāvrate, in the solemn-undertaking of his aspiration (āśā, proved by Tib. bsm pa). Cf LV 285.15 (vs) prapūrnā ti āśā (= āśā).]

āśitakī, or āś°, also written āśitaka, āśita, āśitaka, āśita, the a-stems being prob. m. (Mv ii.231.13); the Pali equivalent is āśitika, m. (not °kā, f., as stated in PTSD), n. of some plant; occurs, regularly in comp. with -parvāṇi (as in Pali with -pabbāni, MN i.80.11 = 245.27), in the account of the Bodhisattva's emaciated state after his long fast, his members being compared to the joints of this plant. The reading āśita(ka) is prob. due to popular etymology, association with āśita black; kāla, q.v., occurs in the context, and note kālāśitako (perhaps read °ke with v.l.) Mv ii.231.13. Other cases, all in comp. with -parvāṇi: LV 254.7 āśitakī; 255.21 āśitakī (all mss.; Lefm. inexplicably reads āśitakī- here!); Mv ii.126.18 āśitaka- (v.l. āśita-); in 125.12 Senart omits the word with one ms., but the other ms. has āśita-parvāṇi; 128.5 āśitaka- (one ms., the other omits, Senart em. āśitaka-); 129.7 āśita- (v.l. āśita-). The evidence points, on the whole, to āśitaka- or °kī- as the original form.

āśiṣa, m. (in Skt., and Pali-Pkt. āśiṣa, only serpent; so also here, even in LV, e. g. 317.9; 339.2), serpent-venom, repeatedly in LV: °śān vamaṅti sma 305.13, °śān... bhakṣayanti sma 14; °śān niścārayanti sma 306.13, ... vamaṅto 21. In 306.18 āśiṣapariveṣṭitaśarīrāḥ is taken by Foucaux in this sense, le corps enduit de venin de serpent; but surely it is rather having bodies entwined by serpents, despite neighboring passages showing the other mg. See sumbhalikā.

Āśiṣa-nadī, f. pl., n. of certain rivers: Divy 107.23 °nadinām tīre śālmalivanam. See Saptāśiṣa-, and next.

Āśiṣā, n. of a river: °śāyām, loc., Divy 451.6, 10; 456.24, 28. See under prec.

Āśukāri(n), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.16 (n. sg., mss. °rīḥ or °rīḥ, Senart em. °rī; prose, followed by dh-).

Āśuketu, n. of a king, former incarnation of Buddha: RP 24.14.

Āśugandha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 714.

āsraddhya, nt. (also āsrāddhya, q.v.; = Pali assaddhiya), disbelief, lack of (true) faith: Bbh 15.1; Mvy 1973 acc. to text of Kyoto ed. and v.l. of Mironov; text of Mironov āsraddhya; Index to Kyoto ed. cites both.

āśraya, m. (Skt., basis etc.), (1) in Lañk., acc. to Suzuki, the ālaya-vijñāna (q.v.) as basis of all vijñānas; one must make it converted, in reulsion (parāvṛtta, cf. Lañk 9.11 parāvṛttīśraya); Lañk 10.5 anyathā dṛṣṭyamāna ucchedam āśraye (so read with v.l. for °yo, text °yaḥ), if the basis is otherwise regarded (loc. abs.), (there is) destruction (it is fatal to the holder of such a view); (2) acc. to citation in Burnouf introd. 449, six āśraya = the six sense organs (as one of the three groups constituting the 18 dhātu); this is said to be attributed to the Yogācāras in 'le commentaire de L'Abhidharma'; it does not seem to occur in AbhidhK. and I have not noted precisely this usage in any text, but cf. next; (3) acc. to AbhidhK. LaV-P. iii.126, le corps muni d'organes, qui est le point d'appui (āśraya) de ce qui est appuyé (āśrita) sur lui: à savoir de la pensée et des mentaux (cittacaitta). Is the obscure passage Mv ii.153.1–2 somehow concerned here? It reads, in a verse (see my Reader, Four Sights [Mv], n. 40) describing disease (vyādhī): ... śokānām prabhavo rativyupāsamo (i. e. °samo) cittāśrayānām nidhi, dharmasyopaśamaḥ (lacuna of 6 syllables) gātrāśritānām gṛhaṃ, yo lokam pibate vapuś ca grasate etc. I should be inclined to emend to cittāśravānām (cf. LV 345.21, below), but for the phrase gātrāśritānām gṛhaṃ, which implies support for āśraya; Śānart refers to Burnouf (l. c.), but finds it hard to apply āśraya and āśrita as used in that passage; (4) commonly, body (cf. prec.): LV 324.16 (vs) subhato (= śu°) kalpayamāna āśrayam vitathena, falsely imagining the body to be handsome; RP 6.13 lakṣaṇaiś ca pratimaṇḍitāśrayo; 23.1 me jvalita āśrayaḥ, my body was burned; 25.7 me tyakta varāśrayaḥ; 26.8; 27.16; Dbh 16.10; Av i.175.4 pretāśrayasadrśāḥ; 264.9 pretīm vikṛtāśrayām; 272.3; 291.17; 332.9; 356.7; 361.2; ii.172.9; see also cañcitāśraya; [in LV 345.21 āśraya(-kṣaya-jñāna-) without v.l., but Tib. translates āśraya, which must be adopted: knowledge leading to destruction of the impurities, not ... of the body]. See next.

-āśrayaka, at end of Bhvr. cpd. = āśraya, body: LV 153.14 (vs) ko vismayo manuḥ-āśrayake asāre, ... in a weak possessor-of-a-human-body.

āśrava, a very common (perhaps prevalent) reading for āśraya, q.v.

?āśravaṇa-, prob. lesson (so Kern; otherwise Burnouf): SP 6.13 anekavididhāśravaṇārambaṇādhimuktihetukāraṇair upāyakaśālyair, with skillful devices which had as causes and reasons their (Bodhisattvas) zeal for the fundamental bases of many various lessons (in the law). However, WT °vividha-śravaṇā° with ms. K'; perh. read so.

āśravayati (caus. of ā-śru, unrecorded in this sense), plays (a mus. instrument): Av i.96.1 viṇām āśravītavān.

āśrita (ppp. of ā-śri); see s.v. āśraya 2, 3; acc. to Burnouf, there cited, the 6 āśritas are la connaissance produite par la vue et par les autres sens ...; acc. to AbhidhK iii.126, = citta-caitta; what gātrāśritānām gṛhaṃ means (Mv ii.153.2), as applied to vyādhī, is not clear.

āśvāsa, see āśvāsa-prāśvāsa.

āśvāsaka, m. (1) (= Pkt. āśāsa, Sheth; Skt. āśvāsa), chapter, section (in a book): Mvy 1468; (2) (= Pali assāsaka), desire, aspiration: MSV ii.6.8.

Āśvāsani, n. of a kiṃnara maid: Kv 6.16.

āśvāsa-prāśvāsa (Pali assāsa-passāsa), m. dual or pl., breath; usually used without clear indication of difference between the two terms, like ānāpāna, q.v.: LV 251.15–16 nāsikātaś cāśvāsapraśvāsāv uparuddhāv abhūtām; 252.3 °sā ūrdhvam śiraḥkapālam upanighnanti sma; as separate words, 259.7 āśvāsaviprahīnaḥ prāśvāsavajjitu; Mv ii.124.10 (and ff.) mukhato nāsikāśrotrehi ca āśvāsapraśvāsā uparundhi (1 sg. aor.); Mv iii.179.19 °sehi tathāgatam upahanati; Śāl 78.3, 17 kāyasyāśvāsapraśvāsakṛtyam; Sādh 61.19 °sādīkam; the verb uśvasati, q.v., corresponds to āśvāsa in Mv ii.208.3–4 āśvāsapraśvāsā uparuddhā ... no pi uśvasati na prāśvasati (the two verbs repeated twice in lines 8, 9), cf. LV 189.12 ucchvasantaṃ prāśvasantaṃ, rendered by Tib. dbugs dbyuñ zhiñ rñub breathing out and in, but in line 15 below prāśvasantaḥ is rendered dbugs dbyuñ, breathing out (implying that ucchvasantaṃ was understood as breathing in); ucchvāsa-prāśvāso (sg.) also occurs, seemingly = āśvāsa-prā°, Śikṣ 42.5; in Sādh 146.17 ff. it is entirely certain that prāśvāsa is understood as outbreathing and āśvāsa inbreathing, tadanu tan mithunaṃ prāśvāsavāyurathārūḍham nāsikāvivareṇa niḥṣṛtya ... sattvānām kāyavākcittāni viśodhya gṛhītvā ca punar āśvāsavāyum āruhya tenaiva pathā svahr̥tkamalakarmīkāyām praviśet; consistent with this is Amg. ussāsa (and relatives), which BHS usage would clearly have associated with āśvāsa, and which acc. to Ratnach. means breathing in; Pali tradition is indeterminate, see Vism i.272.1 which states that Vin. comm. defines assāsa as outgoing, passāsa as incoming breath, but that in Sutta comms. (Suttantaṭṭhakathāsu) the reverse is taught (the passage is misunderstood by PTSD and Pe Maung Tin; uppaṭipāṭiyā = Pkt. upparivāḍi, inverted, transposed). Tib. regularly āśvasati = dbugs brñubs (or cognate) breathe in Mvy 1173, 1175, etc., prāśvasati = dbugs phyuñ (or cognate) breathe out Mvy 1174, 1176, etc.; it therefore supports Sādh 146.17 ff., and incidentally the equation of āśvāsa with āna and prāśvāsa with apāna (see ānāpāna). How old this interpretation is remains uncertain, esp. in view of the fact that in Pali the comms. differed; Buddhaghosa himself, in the Vism. passage cited, declines to arbitrate between the two opposing views. Whatever may have been the meaning of the two terms, it seems clear that the cpd. (like ānāpāna) was commonly used in the sense of breath, collectively and as a whole.

Āṣāḍha, n. of a householder: Av i.338.6.

āṣṭamika, nt. = aṣṭamika, q.v., Bhik 23a.3 nait-yakam vā nimantraṇakam vā āṣṭamikaṃ vā cātūrdaśīkam vā ...

Āṣṭhiyana, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.11.

āsa, m. (only known in Vedic cpd. sv-āsa-stha), seat: Gv 474.18 (vs) śūrāṇa teṣam ayam āsu (n. sg.) sudurjayānām, this is the seat of those heroes ... Meter does not permit emendation to āvāsa, which is used in parallel lines 2, 10, etc.; other parallels vihāra; all three are virtual synonyms. Prakritic contraction of āvāsa to āsa is improbable. For āsa = amśa see maitrāsa-tā.

āsamjñika, nt. (to asamjñin, q.v.), unconsciousness: Mvy 1989; Dharmas 31; Divy 505.22 sa tatrāsamjñīkam (i. e. tatra-āsamjñīkam; Index wrongly asamj°) utpādyāsamjñīsattveṣu (see asamjñīsattva) deveṣūpapannah; similarly AbhidhK. LaV-P. ii.199. (In Divy, this state is deliberately induced by dhyāna.)

āsattvasthāyin, adj., abiding until (ā) the (coming into) existence of (gen.): ŚsP 300.3–4 ime bodhisattvā mahāsattvāḥ buddhānām bhagavatām āsattvasthāyino (here misprinted °syāyino) bhaviṣyanti, ime nāsattvasthāyinaḥ.

āsannaka, adj. (= Skt. āsanna; perhaps m.c.), near: Śikṣ 305.11 (vs) °ko bhavati tathāgatānām (= Mv ii.388.18 with different and secondary meter, reading āsannaprāpto).

āsannibhavati (āsanna with bhū), comes near, approaches (with gen.): ASp 11.7–8 evaṃ carata(h) . . . bodhisattvasya . . . sarvajñatā āsannibhavati; ŚsP 825.5–6 āsannibhavaty ayaṃ bodhisattvo . . . sarvākārajñatāyā iti; ppp. °bhūtaḥ Mvy 5109.

?āsaya, nt., in Mv iii.400.3 hitvā ālayāni (see ālaya) āsayāni (v.l. āsanāni); the Pali parallel Sn 535 reads āsavāni = BHS āśravāni, ās°, which must probably be read, since āsaya (q.v.) seems not to be used in a pejorative sense, and no other interpretation for āsaya seems possible.

āsarita, nt., and nihsarita, nt.; °taṃ Gv 351.18, 19 respectively: the first two of ten °bodily conditions' (śarīrasthā dharmāḥ), the other 8 being cold, heat, hunger, thirst, delight, anger, birth-old-age-disease-and-death, and pain (piḍā). Context throws no further light. Interpretation of these two terms obscure. Are they somehow related to āsario = sammukhāgataḥ Deśin. 1.69, and nihsariṃ = sraṣtam ibid. 4.40? Something like slack condition, slumped-down state might be intended by nihsarita; would āsarita be its opposite, a state arrived at the right point?

āsādana (nt.) or °nā, n. act. to āsādayati (not in PTSD, but occurs in Pali Vin. iv.84.16 āsādanāpekkho, same passage as Prāt 510.1; could be °na or °nā, annoyance: Prāt 510.1 (bhukṣvety) āsādanaprekṣi, seeking to annoy (him); Jm 199.24 evaṃ āsādanāṃ api . . . pratīnudenti.

?āstopaka, or (v.l.) āstomaka, āstoka (could also be understood as having initial ā-), in LV 249.2–3 ārdrapat-āstopaka-jāla-sayanaiś ca (in list of ascetic practices); this part of cpd. in Tib. rendered stegs buhi steṅ, top surface of a board, which makes sense (lying or sleeping in wet clothes, . . . or in water; read jala for jāla, as Tib. proves). This line occurs iii.454.15, reading kadaryatapanaḥ ghorā, which disproves at least part of Senart's em. and is close enough to the reading of the mss. at i.9.16 to make it acceptable as a whole.]

?āspuṭa, adj., clear, clarified, illumined: LV 17.3 (prose) tenāvabhāsenāspuṭa-samānā(h), being illumined by that light. The mg. is certain, and acc. to Lefm. all mss. read so; but not only is āspuṭa suspicious in itself; composition with samānāḥ is also difficult. The expected reading is °bhāsenā spuṭāḥ samānāḥ.

āsmākina, adj. (prescribed Pāṇ. 4.3.2), our: Av i.327.4; so best ms., v.l. asm°, which is the form regularly recorded in Av (see āsmākina) and which Speyer adopts in the text here; but in ii p. 210 he withdraws that reading in favor of āsm°. There is no record of either form, nor of any MIndic equivalent, elsewhere.

Cf. the phonetic-grammatical use of the root, esp. s.v. iṅgya in BR.

icchatva = (and prob. false reading for) itthatva, q.v. However, if Wogihara were right in his interpretation of icchantika, q.v., this would support derivation of icchatva from itthatva.

icchantika, adj. or subst. m., acc. to Suzuki (Studies, 219 n. 1, and 391), one destitute of Buddha-nature: Mvy 2210, 2223 = Tib. ḥdod chen (po), (subject to) great desire (somehow based on pres. pple. of icchati); Lañk 27.5 katham °ko bhavet; 65.17 °kānām . . . anicchantikāṭā-mokṣam (read as one cpd. word) kena pravartate; and often in Lañk. itihāsaka, nt. (I = Skt. itihāsa, m.), history, story, legend: Mvy 4971 °kam, n. sg. (follows purāṇam; gender influenced by this?).

itthatva, nt. (= Pali itthāta, the being in this world: Mv iii.447.8 (kṣiṇā me jātir . . .) noparim itthatvam iti prajānāti. Recorded as icchatva Mv i.52.7 devanīkāyato cyavitvā icchatvam āgacchanti, and in similar phrases 52.8; 338.18; ii.133.4. Senart allows icchatva to stand, regarding it as a genuine phonetic alternative form (i.417); and all mss. read so in these passages. But in view of iii.447.8 it seems to me likely that icchatva is a mere graphic corruption, § 2.22. See however icchatva.

ityukta (nt.), cited by Burnouf, Intr. 60 f., and Kern, SBE 21.45 n. 4; not noted in texts; = next.

ityuktaka (nt.; cf. prec.; = itivṛttaka, q.v.); a more historical Sktization of Pali itivuttaka, sayings (sc. of the Buddha), n. of a canonical work or type of literature: ŚSp 1460.5 gāthoddānanīdānatyuktaka- (read °nidānetyuktaka-)jātaka-.

itvara, adj. (= Pali ittara; Skt. Lex., rare and late in lit., see pw; cf. itara, which in Pali is commonly treated as the same word but seems to be unrelated in origin; possibly secondary blending has occurred between the two words), slight, small, trivial, unimportant; brief, momentary (of time): Mvy 2699 °ram (n. sg.); Mv iii.186.4 °ram khu ayam tāpo, this (sun's) heat is a trivial thing; LV 123.4 (vs) kim tasyābharanebhīr (so, as one word) itvaraiḥ, what need has he of trivial (ordinary, worthless) ornaments?; RP 39.12 asāram itvaram ca lokam (acc. sg.); Śiḥṣ 167.8 mahākāruṇyacittotpādenetvareṇa kāmapasamhitena, by an impulse of pity, tho vile (? better trivial, slight), and full of desire (Bendall-Rouse); of virtue, merit, etc., Gv 529.9 itvara-guṇa-samtuṣṭair, satisfied with slight virtues; LV 271.3 (vs) itvarapuṇya devamanujā; Gv 508.24 itvara-kuśalamūlānām devamanuṣyānām (of those who do not follow the Mahāyāna); Śiḥṣ 60.14 itvara-kuśalamūlāḥ; of time, Bbh 87.4 itvarakālabhyāsāt (short), contrasted with dīrghakālabhyāsāt line 3; vijñāyate netvaradarśanena Ud xxix.11 = Pali SN i.79.17 (momentary, fleeting glance); of gifts, Divy 317.8 kim punar me itvareṇa dānena pradattena.

idampratyaya, adj. (= Pali idappaccaya, e. g. Vism. 518.30), having this (or that) as its cause: Dh 263 . . . gambhiredampratyayānubodhanena pratyekabuddhāyānam samvartayanti.

idampratyaya-tā (= Pali idappaccayatā; abstr. from prec.), state of having this (or that) as its cause; generally in comp. with pratītya-samutpāda, dependent origination owing to the state of (etc.); so also the Pali equivalent is usually cpd. with paṭīccasamutpāda (or °panna), tho the editions wrongly separate the words, as in Vin. i.5.1: idampratyayatā-pratītyasamutpādam Gv 89.13; Bbh 204.25; 396.21; °pādena Bbh 110.23; °pādānulomāḥ Bbh 303.22.

idāni (MIndic for °nim; cf. dāni), now: Mv i.154.15 (vs, m.c.); 247.20 (vs, m.c.; v.l. idāni, unmetr.)

iddhi (= Pali-Pkt. id.; MIndic for riddhi), magic power: Mv ii.322.1 (vs; read) maruṇa rājā vaśir iddhiprāpto (or perhaps vaśi riddhi°, see this; text divides wrongly, va śiridhi°).

idha, adv. (= Pali id., Skt. iha, § 2.36), here: Mv i.19.10 (all mss. but one); 20.6 (4 of 6 mss.); iii.134.20 (no v.l.).

indra, m. (1) as in Pali (Sakko devānam indo), the deva who in Skt. is named Indra (but frequently also called Śakra) is in BHS often called Śakra, devānam indra, Śakra king of the gods, the word indra being clearly a common, not a proper, noun; so SP 69.8; LV 62.14; 66.4; etc., passim; this is specially clear when the n. pr. Śakra is omitted but the gen. devānam retained, as in LV 62.15, 18 devānam indra, O king of the gods! (2) a high number: Mvy 8022 indraḥ = Tib. dbaṅ po, lord (regularly = indra); (3) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 29; 236.25; (4) n. of a brahman: Divy 74.17 ff.; (5) n. of a king: Mmk 625.21.

-indraka (= Pali -indaka), at end of Bhvr. cpds., = indra (either as n. pr. or in the sense of lord, king): LV 54.13 (vs) devadānavagaṇāḥ sa-indrakāḥ; 391.14 (vs) devāḥ sa-indrakāḥ; Mv ii.260.4 (prose) sendrakā devā.

indrakīla, m. (= Pali inda°, also °khīla; not recorded in this sense in Skt., where it appears to mean bar, bolt to a gate or door; AMg. indakhīla, said to mean a portion of a city gate; a door bolt . . ., Ratnach.; qy: was the 'bolt' fastened under the door, in the pavement? cf. Meyer, Kaut. 71, 689), threshold slab, a stone imbedded in the ground at the entrance to a city gate, or to a palace, house, or apartment: Mvy 5582 °laḥ = Tib. ḥkor gtan, lit. circle bar, or Tib. sgoḥi them pa, threshold of a door; Das cites both these Tib. phrases as synonymous renderings of indrakīla, and defines them as steps at the threshold or at the entrance of a house; cf. Divy 544.7, three indrakīlas, viz. nagare indrakīlo, rājakule . . ., and antahpure . . ., thresholds to a city, a royal palace, and a harem; this passage is a comm. on Divy 543.22 (yaḥ . . . bhikṣur . . .) rājñāḥ . . . indrakīlam vā indrakīla-sāmantam vā samatikrāmed, if any monk crosses a king's threshold or its environs; generally referred to as located at a city gate; in entering the city one steps upon it: Mv i.308.7 samanantaram indrakīlam pādena cōkramati (= ca-avakr°), and as soon as he (Buddha, entering a city) stepped on the i° with his foot; Divy 250.20 (Bhagavatā) sābhisamskāra (q.v.) indrakīle pādo vyavasthāpitaḥ (in entering a city); 365.1 (Buddhā . . .) indrakīle pādau vyavasthāpayanti (in entering a city by the gate); Av i.109.1 yadā ca bhagavatā indrakīle pādo nyastāḥ (in entering a city; the gate is not mentioned); Gv 205.3 rājadhāniṃ praviśata indrakīlam ākrāmataḥ, as (a Buddha) was entering the capital, as he stepped upon the threshold (pres. pples., gen. sg.); Mv ii.396.3 (vs) so indrakīle (mss. °kīlo) sthita, standing on the threshold, apparently of the city (rājadhāni) mentioned line 2; used in comparisons as type of immobility, recommended in religious life: Mv i.292.14 yathendrakīlo pṛthivīsamnīśrito syā . . . asamprakampi, as an i° should be fixed in the earth, (so . . .) immovable; Ud xvii.12 indrakīlopamā; in this sense applied to the mind or thoughts of a Buddha or Bodhisattva, Mv ii.261.3 and 262.5 (Bodhisattvas) indrakīlopamacittatām ca anuprāpnuvanti; iii.225.5 indrakīlopamacittā (of Buddha); Av i.223.12 bhagavān . . . indrakīla iva (here physically and literally motionless, like a threshold-stone) tasmīn pradēse sthitaḥ.

indrakīlaka, m. = prec., q.v.: Mv i.195.16 (prose) teṣāṃ . . . dvārāṇāṃ caturṇāṃ varṇānāṃ indrakīlakā abhunsu, these gates (of a city) had threshold-stones of four colors.

Indrakuśa, n. of a brother of Kuśa: Mv ii.433.16.

Indraketu, (1) n. of a samādhi: Mvy 531 (not in ŚsP); (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.5; (3) n. of a yakṣa: Samādhi p. 43 line 21.

Indraketudhvaṅjarāja, n. of a Buddha: Śiḥṣ 169.13; (the same?) of a Buddha in the zenith: Sukh 98.15.

indragopa, or °paka, in comp. with śiras or śirṣa(n), redhead, said of (miraculous) elephants: LV 55.3-4 (prose) indragopaka-śirāḥ, n. sg., of the Bodhisattva in the form of a small elephant, about to enter his mother's womb (in vs line 7 replaced by surakṣaśirṣaḥ); Mv iii.411.4 (prose) indragopa-śirṣam, of another magically created elephant. The words °pa and °paka denote a red insect in Skt. and Pali; acc. to BR the cochineal insect.

Indracūrṇa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.7.

Indrajālin, n. of a Bodhisattva: LV 291.18.

Indratapanā, n. of a capital of the former Buddha Indradhvaja: Mv iii.226.6 ff.

Indrateja(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.14 °jah, n. sg.

Indradatta, n. of a 'virtuous man' (satpuruṣa, q.v.): SP 3.11.

Indradamana, n. of a former Buddha: Av i.86.8 ff.

Indradeva, n. of a Bodhisattva: ŚsP 6.10.

Indradhvaja, (1) n. of various former Buddhas: Mv i.138.4; iii.226.6 (with capital Indratapanā); Av i.105.3 ff.; 84,000 former Buddhas of this name, Mv i.58.14; 62.4; a Buddha in the southwest quarter, SP 184.11; (2) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3363.

Indradhvajaketu, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 281.7; same as Candradhvajaśriketu 280.12.

indra-ṣaṭa, nt., acc. to pw 2.294, Luftgewand, so v.a. Nacktheit: °ṣaṭam śvetapaṣaṭam dhyuṣitapaṣaṭam Kv 81.6-7; but can indra- have this mg. (= sky, air, as in digambara)? I find no basis for the theory. All the context shows is that persons dressed in these garbs should not be consecrated (dikṣ). What the garb of Indra (? of a prince) means is not clear. It is true that śveta-ṣaṭa is recorded as used of the Jain sect otherwise called śvetāmbara; doubtless this was the reason for Boehlingk's conjecture, based on the assumption that this word equals digambara; but I doubt that this is sufficient to support it. That a real sort of cloth is meant is suggested by nānā-ṣaṭeṣu, line 6.

Indrapura, n. of a town: Māy 29.

Indrabhūti, n. of an author: Sādh 353.11.

Indramaghaśrī, n. of a gandharva-maid: Kv 5.9.

Indramati, n. of a Buddhist monk: Gv 47.10.

indra-yaṣṭi, f. (nowhere recorded in this sense, which = Skt. indra-cāpa etc.), (1) rainbow: LV 296.17 (vs) ke cagatā vimalaketu yathendrayaṣṭyaḥ, bright-colored as rainbows; Śikṣ 258.9 (vs) yatha naru iha indrayaṣṭi (Tib. ḥjaḥ, rainbow) drṣṭvā vimṣṭati aṅgaṣu (= °śas) niḥsvabhāva śūnyam; (2) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3358.

Indraśailaguhā, n. of a locality (cf. prec.): Mvy 4124 °guhā, n. sg.

Indraśrī, (1) m., n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.15 (vs) °śiri, n. sg.; but see s.v. Citrārtha; (2) m., n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.6 °śriyo, gen. sg.; (3) f., n. of a gandharva maid: Kv 5.9.

Indrasena, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3310.

indrahasta, m. (°taḥ, n. sg.), Mvy 5823, or °stā, f. (n. sg.), Suv 104.7; Tib. in both dbaṅ poḥi lag (pa), a literal rendering of the Skt., which Das says means 'a plant the viscid aromatic root of which resembles the human arm in shape'; in both Mvy and Suv one item in lists of herbs, oṣadhi (Suv auṣadhayo, n. pl.). Mvy has other Tib. renderings, apparently foreign words and not in Dict., ḥab ṣāñ tse ḥu (which also renders prativiṣam, Mvy 5822) and ḥa ba ṣa tshe ḥu.

Indrāyudhaśikhin, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3356.

indriya, (1) nt. (Pali also uses the word of this group, see PTSD s.v., B, Nos. 15-19), one of the five moral faculties (śraddhā, vīrya, smṛti, samādhi, prajñā), to which correspond five powers (bala) with the same names: listed Mvy 976-981; Sūtrā. xviii.55 (and cf. xi.12, Transl. 106, n. 10); Dharmas 47; each treated as a dharmāloka-mukha, LV 33.17-20; mentioned, with balas, but not listed, SP 47.2; 80.1; (2) a high number, Gv 106.3 sattven-driyasya.

Indriyeśvara, n. of a boy: Gv 131.5 ff.

imamḥi, loc. sg. of idam, = iha, here; repeatedly in Mv, e. g. ii.107.6; 478.7; see § 21.66.

iyamṭata, adj., of such an extent, so great, or (here) so small: Sukh 32.1 (prose) tad yathā sa ekavindur iyamṭataḥ sa prathamasaṃnipāto (see saṃnipāta) 'bhūt. Could this be an error for iyantaḥ = Skt. iyān, n. sg. m. of iyant? But I have not noted such MIndic morphology in the prose of Sukh. Emendation to iyattakaḥ (Vedic only and rare) is not attractive.

iyamḍuḥkha, adj., having torments to this extent (iyam for Skt. iyat, see § 18.54): Divy 375.15, 21; 376.1, 9 °khā hi bhikṣavo narakāḥ (or narakāḥ).

iranta(h), n. pl. pres. pple. = Skt. irayantaḥ (§ 3.38), setting in motion: Gv 372.13 (vs) paripācayanti jagu dharmaprabhām iranta (imu. . .) Cf. iryati.

iryāpatha, MIndic for iryā, q.v.

iryati (= Pali iriyati; cf. Vedic Irte), wanders: Mv iii.118.18 vanād vanam iriyasi (vs mss., Senart em. ir°) camkramanto. The ya-present formation is doubtless due to influence of the noun iryā (see iryā), commonly in the cpd. iryāpatha or iryā.

iryā, iryāpatha, iryāvanta, iryavanta, semi-MIndic spelling for iry°, q.v.

irṣyā = Skt. irṣyā, jealousy: all mss. at LV 52.13; 372.17. Weller 20 would em. to irṣyā; but this may be only Sktization of semi-MIndic ir°, cf. iryā- etc. As Weller notes, irṣyā is found as v.l. in some mss. of Mv (i.37.6; 44.13, four of six mss.; iii.27.17; 164.19); tho in all these cases at least one ms. has ir°, the form ir° may have been original.

Ilā devī, n. of a devakumārikā in the northern quarter: Mv iii.309.8 = LV 391.3.

Īśādhāra, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3333 (but Mironov Īṣā°); Tib. gśol mdaḥ ḥdzin, plow-holder (implying Īṣā°).

Īṣāmdhara, m., n. of one of the seven mountains (or mountain ranges) surrounding Sumeru, = Īśādhara, q.v.; read so at Mv ii.300.18 where the only ms. reads iyamḍharā (Senart em. iṣāmdharo).

Īṣāna, m., n. of a region, in the south: Gv 115.1 dakṣiṇāpatha °ṇo nāma janapadas; 116.3.

Īśādhāra, v.l. in Mironov for Mvy 4144 Īśādhara, q.v., n. of a mountain. See also Īśādhāra (2).

Īṣāmdhara, see Īṣāmdhara.

iṣika, nt., or iṣikā, f. (perhaps also iṣika, nt.; cf. Pali esika, °kā, interpreted in Dict. as pillar, post), sign-post: Mvy 7048 iṣikā māpitā bhavanti (Tib. śin-rtags, tree (or wood) sign; Chin. app. sign-post or the ilke): Mv i.196.1 and iii.228.12 dvārāṇām purato iṣikāni (iii.228.12 iṣi°, v.l. iṣi°) māpitāni abhūnsuḥ; Śikṣ 173.16 iṣikā-padaṃ vā dadyāt, or should present a sign-post (at the caitya of a past Buddha, marking the holy spot; otherwise but implausibly Bendall and Rouse).

Īṣidatta (= Pali Īṣi°, semi-MIndic for Ṛṣidatta, q.v., also Riṣi°), n. of a sthapati of King Prasenañit of Śrāvastī (Kosala): Divy 77.27; 466.23, in both read, substantially with mss., (gṛhapatir) Īṣidattaḥ Purāṇaḥ sthapatī (dual).

iṣu, nt. (in Skt. only m., f.), arrow: Mv ii.82.4 and 5 iṣu kṣiptaṃ (n. sg.).

iṣṭaka, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.17.

Īṣṭarūpa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.11. iṣṭā (cf. AMg. iṣṭā, with non-aspirate, beside iṣṭayā = Skt. iṣṭakā), brick: SP 50.9 (vs) iṣṭā-mayā (ed. em. °yān) . . . stūpān. Perhaps loss of suffixal ka m.c.; § 22.24.

iṣṭikā (= iṣṭi, istriḥ, istri, iṣṭiyā, all semi-MIndic forms of strī; for i- see § 3.113; cf. Pali itthikā, AMg. itthiyā, etc.; no MIndic *iṣṭhi or *iṣṭhikā, with domal stops, seems recorded), woman: LV 43.5 (vs) puruṣa-iṣṭika- (m.c. for °kā-) dārakāś ca; 79.20 (vs) iṣṭikān (acc.

iṣṭiyā, v.l. for text istriyā and °yo at Mv ii.70.1, see s.v. istri. If iṣṭiyā is correct, it corresponds to iṣṭi, q.v., as striyā (n. sg.), q.v., does to stri. It would be n. sg. (while istriyo, at least, is n. pl.).

iṣṭi, iṣṭi (Pali itthi, itthi), = iṣṭikā, istri, qq.v., woman: LV 74.15 (vs) ye ca iṣṭidārakā suduḥkhitā (Lefm. wrongly °dārakāsu duḥ°), and what women and boys . . . ; LV 235.15 (vs), perhaps read ima iṣṭi°, cf. ms. A imeṣṭikāmaratim (= imām plus iṣṭi°), for Lefm. ima istri°; Mv ii.299.14 (vs) iṣṭibhāvam, state of (existence as) a woman; other instances as v.l. for forms of istri, q.v.

iṣyate, °ti (= Skt. icchati; acc. to Wh. Roots, used in certain cpds. E +), seeks: Divy 476.16 (na) mama . . . kimcid evam iṣye (1 sg.); 560.7–8 (vs) yadi tvam pṛitim iṣyasi.

iryā or iryā (chiefly the latter, semi-MIndic, has been noted; = Pali and AMg. iriyā) = the much commoner iryā-patha (or iryā°), deportment, behavior, particularly good, dignified, proper deportment: Mv i.302.10 iryam (mss., Senart iryām) paṣyitvā (of a Pratyekabuddha); iii.60.9 (kalyāṇā) punar iyaṃ pravrajitasya iryā (Senart iryā); 92.10 iryā (Senart iryā); LV 115.2 (vs) teṣa (gods) yathā ca iryā; 116.7 (vs) yatha irya netra vimalāprabha, since he possesses proper deportment and an eye of pure splendor (so better than taking irya-netra as cpd. with Foucaux); 330.12 (vs) iryām (no v.l. in mss.) caryām ca prekṣate, he (Bodhisattva) regards (considers duly) proper deportment and conduct; MSV ii.186.10 (prose) tayā iryāyā caryayā.

iryā-patha, m. (= Pali iriyā-patha, AMg. iriyā-vaha; in mss., esp. of Mv and LV, often written iryā° or iryyā°, semi-MIndic, which Lefm. usually keeps but Senart emends to iryā°; once, at least, iriyā-patha, as in Pali, Mv ii.157.1, prose, kept by Senart; also airyāpatha, q.v.; see prec. and next), much commoner than the synonymous iryā, (1) movement (of physical movements of any sort): Mv i.22.11 (prose) chinna-iryāpathā (all mss., Sen. em. °iryā°) gacchanti (mss. gacchati), sinner in hell, confined in huts (gharakehi oruddhā), go with (freedom of) movement cut off, i. e. suffer restraint of movement (but possibly more specifically, suffer restraint of posture, see 4 below, e. g. are not allowed to sit or lie down); (2) applied to any particular course of religious, esp. ascetic, performance, and specifically to disapproved ascetic practices of heretics, such as the 'five-fire' practice (mentioned in the prec.): Divy 350.7 (sa) teṣām-teṣām (of heretical ascetics) iryāpathān vikopayitum ārabdhāḥ; (3) generally less specific, behavior, deportment, good or bad, of people in general; but esp. of the approved deportment of pious Buddhists, of monks, or of Bodhisattvas or Buddhas; most commonly with favorable implication; but this may be made clear by an adjective, esp. prāsādika, gracious, (religiously) attractive: Mv iii.27.3–4 prāsādikena iryāpathena (v.l. iryyā°), of a Pratyekabuddha; in Śikṣ 348.6 prāsādika and aprāsādika iryā°, good and bad deportment, contrasted; Divy 82.14 śān-

U

?ukara- (v.l. udakara-, utkara-; cf. uḡra-lipi), in Mv i.135.6 (prose) ukara-madhura-darada-ṇa- (etc.), sc. lipi, a list of various kinds of writing. Senart would em. ukaramadhura to uttara-kuru, very implausibly; the parallel LV passage has uḡra-lipi which surely represents the same original as this word.

ukirati (m.c. for o-k° = ava-k°; § 3.55), scatters, throws down upon (acc.): °ranti naranāyakottamaṃ Sukh 49.7 (all mss. uk°); 50.3 (mss. ok°, unmetr.; Müller ok° both times).

ukkarikā (= Skt. utk°), a kind of sweetmeat: Divy 500.23, 24, 26 ukkarikāpaṇaḥ (and acc. °naṃ). Cf. uk-kārika.

Ukkala, nt. (presumably = Skt. Utkala, Orissa; cf. Pali Ukkalā), n. of a locality (adhīsthāna), where Trapuṣa and Bhallika originated; when they visited Buddha they were journeying from the south (Mv iii.303.6), presumably homeward bound (so also in LV 381.4-6, where they are described as uttarāpathakau): Mv iii.303.4 uttarāpathe ukkalaṃ nāmādhīsthānaṃ. tato ukkalāto . . . trapuṣo ca bhalliko ca . . .

ukkārika, nt. (cf. ukkarikā), some kind of sweetmeat or delicacy: Mv ii.190.6 (prose) anye nānāprakārāṇi khajjakāni alliyanti, anye ukkārikāni alliyanti, anye modakāni alliyanti; iii.158.9, 12 (modakāni ca) ukkārikāni ca. (In line 12 v.l. ukvāritāni.)

ukkāṣati (MIndic for Skt. utkā°; = Pali id.), coughs, clears the throat: Mv ii.281.13, 18 ukkāsi, 14, 15 ukkāse (both aor.). See next two.

ukkāṣana (nt.; = Skt. utkā°; cf. prec. and next), Īśādhāra, (1) n. of a nāga, Mironov's reading for Īśā° Mvy 3333; (2) m. pl., n. of a range of mountains (= Īśā°; see under Īśādhāra): Śikṣ 246.4 °rā(h).

Īśvara, (1) n. of a rich householder's son in Campā: Karmav 66.9; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.9.

Īśvaraḡuṇāparājitadhvaja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 380.22; later, in vs, called Īśvarājitagūṇadhvaja, 383.14.

Īśvaragūpta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.4.

Īśvaradeva, n. of (apparently) two Bodhisattvas (in the same list! is one an error?): Gv 442.8, 10.

Īśvarājitagūṇadhvaja, see Īśvaraḡuṇāparājita-dhvaja.

Īśvariya, nt. (= Pali issariya, AMg. id. or isariya; penultimate ī may be m.c.), sovereignty: Mv ii.395.6 (vs) na tasya ko pi (by em.; one ms. vī) jane īśvariyaṃ The Śikṣ parallel, 308.4, has īśvaratvaṃ.

Īśādhāra, m. (= Pali Īśadhāra), n. of a mountain (one of the seven ranges surrounding Sumeru; Kirfel, Kosm. 186): Mvy 4144 (but Mironov Īśā°, with v.l. Īśādhāra). Cf. next, Īśāmdhāra (Īśam°), Īśādhāra, Īśādhāra. Kyoto ed. text Īśā°, Index 'Īśā° (Īśā°)°.

Īśādhāra, m. (see under prec.), (1) n. of a mountain or mountain-range: Divy 217.12, 14; MSV i.94.6; (2) n. of a deity (giving rain): Śikṣ 247.7 (or may be Īśā°; samdhi ambiguous); (3) implied by Tib. instead of Īśādhāra, q.v.

īṣi, īṣit, adv. (= AMg. isi; Skt. iṣat; form lacking -t noted only in vss, but regularly in metr. indifferent positions, hence not m.c.), a little, slightly; only noted in Mmk, but common there: iṣimitamukhaṃ 133.3; 135.2; °mukhā 236.11; 239.21; iṣitkāyāvanāmitam 133.6; mahātmā . . . iṣi dṛṣyati tatkaṣaṇāt 240.1; iṣit pracoditā 363.25; in prose, iṣitprahasitavadanaḥ 41.22; iṣid avanāmayet 391.2; others 388.3; 390.22; etc.

a cough, or clearing of the throat: Mv ii.418.16 °na-ṣabdena māro . . . bhagno; 419.16, 18.

ukkāṣita (nt.; = Pali id.), = prec.: Mv ii.281.13 (mahāsimha-) ukkāṣitāṃ ukkāṣi (repetitions in sequel); 410.4 (bodhisattvena ca) ukkāṣitaṣabdena bhagno (sc. māro).

ukṣa, m. (false Skt. for Pali, AMg. ukkhā, each recorded once, cf. Pischel 194, or for Skt. ukhā), pot, vessel: LV 324.13 (vs) udaro mūtrapurīṣasamcayo asucokṣaḥ, the belly is a heap of urine and dung, a vessel of impurities. Is the masc. gender due to assimilation to udara, in this isolated occurrence?

Uggata, see Udgata.

uggam-, uggir- (or uggur-), MIndic for Skt. ud-g°, see § 2.9.

Ugra, (1) n. of a nāga king, previous incarnation of Buddha: Mv i.131.5; (2) n. of a householder (grhpati; prob. = Pali Ugga, in DPPN no. 5), character in the Ugrasūtra, q.v.: Karmav 162.6, 10. See Lévi's note, and Pali AN iii.51.

Ugratejas, (1) n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.11 (2) n. of a god (devaputra): LV 39.13 (prose; °tejo, .. sg.); (3) n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 310.9 °tejā(s), n. sg.

Uḡrapariṣcchā, = prec.: Mvy 1396; Śikṣ 11.2;

120.3; 131.10; 315.14; called Ugrapariṣṭhā-sūtra (cf. Ugrasūtra?), Śikṣ 136.1.

Ugra-lipi, a kind of writing: LV 125.22. Tib. drag śul can confirm ugra-; cf. under ukara-.

Ugra-sūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 162.6; see s.v. Ugra (2), and Lévi's note. The passage here cited does not occur among the Śikṣ citations from the Ugrapariṣṭhā(sūtra), which may or may not be a different work.

Ugrasena (= Pali Uggasena), n. of a king of Benares, in story of the nāga Campaka (Pali Campeyya Jātaka): Mv ii.177.9 ff.

ucita, nt., merit: Karmav 26.23 yathā hy ucitam niḥśiptam, evam... gacchanti durgatim, for as their merit has been thrown away (laid down), so they go to an evil fate. Contrasts with duritam, sin, in 29.14 yathā duritam niḥśiptam, evam... gacchanti sadgatim. (This specialized use of ucita seems nowhere recorded.)

uccagghati, also °ghayati (= Pali ujjagghati; cf. samcagghati; sometimes written °caghati, doubtless by mere error; c for j is surely secondary but unexplained, cf. Pischel 190, 191, and Wogihara, Lex. 41), laughs at, mocks, sneers at, derides; often with forms of ul-lap-(-lāp-), q.v.: SP 382.12 ye te taṃ bodhisattvaṃ... ullāpitavanta uccagghatavantaḥ (WT uccaggh°), who yelled derisively and laughed at that B.; Śikṣ 12.15 uccagghantaḥ prakrāmeyuh, would depart sneering (at not receiving promised food); 13.1 devatā uccagghanti vivādayanti (a Bodhisattva who fails in his duty); 49.12 (prose) evaṃ vijṛmbhamānā uccagghanto; AsP 232.(12)-13 (te vijṛmbhamānā) hasanta uccagghayanto likhiṣyanti; 18 parasparam uccagghayamānā (v.l. °yanto) likhiṣyanti; 385.13 anyān... avamaṃsyate uccagghayiṣyati ullāpayiṣyati kut-sayiṣyati pamsayiṣyati; 388.19. uccaṅgama, m. (uccam, adv., = Pali id., see Childers, plus gam, going aloft), a kind of bird: Divy 476.10 ff.; 480.11.

uccataraka, adj. (cf. Pali uccatara, see PTSD s.v. ucca; Skt. uccastara), higher: Mvy 8603 na nicatarake niṣaṇṇa uccatarake āsane niṣaṇṇāyāglānāya dharmam deṣayiṣyāmah.

uccati, MIndic for Skt. ucyate, is said: Mv ii.101.2. Uccadhvajā, nt., n. of a palace in the Tuṣita heaven: LV 29.14 °jaṃ nāma tuṣitālaye mahāvīmānam.

uccandra-bhakta, adj., eating at night (? in the last part of the night, if Skt. Lex. definition of uccandra cited in BR is correct; rather, when the moon has risen?): °tāḥ MSV i.15.1 (as an ādinava).

uccā- (adv., Vedic), as in Pali in cpds., aloft, on high, high(ly): uccā-pragghitān SP 75.6 (most mss.; ed. uccān pra° with 1 ms.).

uccāvaca-tā (to Skt. uccāvaca), state of being greater or less; variation: Mv i.59.5 antarā ca °tā āyuṣaḥ (sc. manuṣyānām), and between them there was variation of (length of) life.

ucchaṅkha-, ucchaṅga-, utsaṅga-, cpd. with -pāda (or -caraṇa), (= Pali ussaṅkha-pāda), ep. of a mahā-puruṣa (esp. Buddha), no. 7 of the 32 lakṣaṇa; orig. form, etym., and mg. obscure; acc. to Pali DN comm. ii.446.28 ff. it means that the soles of the feet can be seen as they walk, because 'the ankles are fixed high'; if from utsaṅga, having feet characterized by a 'lap' (an up-curve under the foot, making the sole visible?). Tib. on Mvy 260 says having the ankle-bone (or, joint of the ankle-bone) not visible (so one Chin. version, and Jap.); but Tib. on Bbh 375.14, cited by Wogihara, having feet not uneven; another Chin. gloss (also cited in Mvy 260, and elsewhere, Burnouf infra) refers the epithet to the knees; Gv 399.24 glosses suvyak-taparamopaśobhitopari-pādacchavikusumagarbhātireka-prabhāsvārā (not very clear or specific). These northern interpretations make the impression of floundering in a morass of ignorance. See Burnouf, Lotus, 573. Forms: utsaṅga-pāda Mvy 260 (but Mironov ucchaṅkha-); LV 106.1; Dharmas 83 (v.l. utsaṅkha-); utsaṅga-caraṇa Bbh 375.14; 378.19; 379.9; 381.10; ucchaṅga-pāda LV 429.13-14; ucchaṅkha-pāda, Mironov Mvy (see above); Mv i.226.16; ii.29.19; 304.19 (the mss. clearly intend this all three times! correct Senart's text); Gv 399.24 (note also v.l. utsaṅkha- in Dharmas 83, above). This form ucchaṅkha is closest to the Pali; the very obscurity of its etymology may argue for its originality.

ucchada- (1) (= Pali ussada; = ucchādāna, q.v.), shampooing, rubbing down: KP 152.2 ucchada-snapanaparamardana-bhedana-vikiraṇa-vidhvamsana-dharmah (of the body); (2) in Śikṣ 208.11 -sāntarocchada-paṭikobhaya-kṛtopadhāneṣu paryaṅkeṣu śayitvā; Bendall and Rouse app. understand ucchada as some kind of cloth (cf. ucchadaka); but the preceding sāntara, which certainly goes closely with what follows it, is hard to interpret on that theory, and suggests em. to sāntarottara (q.v.), a cpd. known to Pali; it might mean here... having cushions made on both sides with woolen cloths inside and outside; (3) in Av i.354.10 Speyer's em. is certainly wrong. The ms. is quoted as prāptaucchadakāyaś ca; certainly ucchada = utsada (1), Pali ussada, elevation on the 7 parts of the body which show this feature in a mahāpuruṣa; Tib. mtho ba confirms this. Acc. to Speyer, Tib. has mdun, fore-part, before that word; but surely Tib. read, or intended, bdun, seven, and we must read saptō- for prāptau-; the cpd. means with a body possessing the 7 high places or protuberances (see under utsada (1), and cf. Bbh 375.20 saptotsadakāyaḥ). — Add to (2); my suggestion on Śikṣ 208.11 is made dubious by sōttarocchada-ṣaṭa (ms.; ed. em. sōttaracch°, adj., MPS 34.68 and 69.

ucchadaka, m. (? cf. ucchada, utsada, Pali ussada), only noted SP 341.14 (vs) bahu-ucchadakāś caiva bahurūpavitritāḥ (dattāḥ, viz. to monasteries); Burnouf cousins; Kern elegant objects; Tib. for the pāda reads kun dgaḥ dag dad ḥchag sa byin, in which I cannot discern a rendering of anything which ucchadaka could represent; ḥchag sa = caṅkrama, place of promenade (for monks); neither high places nor cloths seem to fit here.

uccharkara, adj. (subst.? n. sg. °raḥ; so Mironov; Kyoto ed. ucchagara, ucchakara, var. ucarkara, and in Index ucakara, uccharkara; evidently from ud plus śar-karā), stony (stony ground?): Mvy 9338-9 = (h)gram sa, gram pa; Das cites gram sa, stony, = uccharkara.

ucchava, MIndic (AMg. id., cf. Pali ussava) for utsava, festival, festivity: Śikṣ 365.7. ucchahati, °te, MIndic (cf. Pali ussahati and Pkt. ucchāha = utsāha) for Skt. utsahate, can, is able: °hate Av ii.21.15; °hanti Mv i.27.10, 13.

ucchādaka, m. (cf. next), shampooer, rubber-down: Bbh 379.12 °kaḥ snāpakaś ca.

ucchādāna (= Pali id., also Skt., but see below), in Mv ii.269.15 and 278.1, ucchādana-(in 278.1 Senart em. āchādana-)-parimardana-svapna- (278.1 supana-)-bhedana-vikiraṇa-vidhvamsana-dharma, ep. of the body; corresp. to Pali anicc'ucchādana-parimaddana-bhedana-vidhvamsana-dhammo, e. g. DN i.76.18, of which I believe the true interpretation was given by Rhys Davids, Dialogues 1 (1899), p. 87 and note; ucchādana and parimardana are primarily shampooers' terms, shampooing and rubbing down (so Skt.), but with double entente (not recognized in Pali comms.) also destruction and wiping out; BR suggested that Skt. ucchādana was MIndic for utsādana, which means both rubbing down and destruction; Skt. śātayati, cuts off, destroys (n. act. śātana), and root śad-, fall (n. act. śādana, das Ausfallen), may also be concerned, at least in part; see śātana, used in a cpd. very similar to that of Mv above; parimardana is noted in Skt. and MIndic only of shampooing (so also Mvy 6779), but the verb Skt. parimardati means also crushes, destroys. In KP 152.2 ucchada (q.v.) must have been limited to its shampooers' mg., since snapana follows. But in some BHS texts śātana, q.v., is substituted, eliminating that mg. and bringing in exclusively what I (with Rh.D.) regard as the secondary, punning mg. of the Pali cpd. Rhys Davids renders erosion, abrasion, admitting that the pun is untranslatable. In American gangsters' jargon, to rub out means to obliterate, kill. We might render Mv: (the body) which is characterized by rubbing down ('off'), wiping away ('out'), sleep (or dreams, often symbol of impermanence; here, too, a sort of word-play), breaking up, scattering, destruction.

ucchādita, ppp. (to Pali ucchādeti = Skt. utsādayati, see s.v. ucchādana; ger. ucchādaya recorded in Skt., BR s.v. ucchādana), shampooed, anointed: Mv i.213.10 = ii.16.14 (prose) ucchādita-snāpita-viśada-gātro; i.217.14 °gātram.

ucchādaya, ger. (to *ucchādayati, MIndic for avachād°, § 3.54, cf. AMg. ucchāya, covered, Ratnach., = avachādita), covering: LV 227.11 (prose) svavadanāni vastrair ucchādaya (all mss.; only Calc. āchādaya).

ucchitya? seemingly ger.; so mss., Divy 103.22 ... unmādam api prāpnoty ucchitya vā kālam karoti. Ed. em. ucchritya, which seems to make no sense; it means having lifted, raised up, trans., and there is no object here; even if intrans., having risen, I do not see that it makes sense. There is some corruption, but I see no good em.

(ucchinna, ppp. (Skt.), cut off: SP 43.12 (prose) ucchinno 'smi buddhayanād iti vaded, would say 'I am cut off from the Buddha-vehicle'. Mss. vary and text has been questioned (Kern, Transl., adopts another reading), but it is supported by Tib. na ni saṅs rgyas kyi theg pa bcad pa ḥo.)

ucchiraska, adj. (= Skt. ucchiras; Skt. has -śiraska in other cpds., but this form may have -ka m.c.), with head uplifted: Jm 119.21 (vs) krodhocchiraskān iḥa kṛṣṇa-sarpān.

ucchu (m.; = Pali id., Skt. ikṣu), sugar-cane: Mv i.241.11 (vs) ucchusamavarnam (of Dipamkara), of color like-sugar-cane. So read also with Senart in same vs i.236.17 (mss. corrupt). And in RP 59.5 (vs) jñānam tatra utpādaye cchu ivātra, we may understand utpādaye(t) (u)cchu, or possibly (i)cchu, as in Pkt.

ucchurita, ppp. (to ud plus Skt. churayati), beset, bestrewn: Divy 594.28 (vs) jvālākālāpocchuritormicakram (samudram).

Ucchuṣma, n. of a deity: Mvy 4332.

ucchr̥ta, ppp. (hyper-Skt., if not corruption, for Skt. ucchrita; cf. utsr̥ta), raised: SP 235.14 (vs) śuṣkapāmsur itocchraṭṭaḥ (both edd., no v.l.), for ita(s) ucch°; also Mmk 373.12 (= ucchrita 21), see ucchata.

uccheda, nt. (m. in Skt.), cutting off, destruction: Lañk 10.5 f. (prose) anyathā dr̥ṣyamāna (= °ne) ucchedam (n. sg.; or for uccheda plus m, Hiatusbridge?) āśraye (so read with v.l. for °yah), if the basis (of the universe, or of consciousness) is viewed otherwise, (it is) destruction (acc. to Chin. cited in note, of insight; or, perhaps, simply ruin, fatal consequences?). Suzuki nihilism (see śāśva-toccheda), but this seems hardly appropriate to this context.

ucchedana; f. °nī, adj. (= Pali id.; in Skt. nt. subst.), cutting off, destroying, or destroyer: Jm 103.10 °nī vittavatām kulānām (surā). Same line in Pali Jāt. v.16.27.

[? uccheṣṭum, v.l. uccheṣṭum, infin., to send forth, emit, hurl out: Divy 186.5 (nāgo 'ṅāravarṣam) ucch° ārabdhaḥ (against a monk). But ud plus śiṣ can hardly have the required meaning, and the v.l., tho nonsensical, seems to point in the right direction: read utśraṣṭum, from ud plus srj (or a MIndic or false hyper-Skt. form thereof).]

ucchraya (m.; = samucchraya, q.v.), body, bodily existence: SP 145.12 (vs) sa paścime cocchrayi ... (Also used as in Skt. in sense of height, e. g. SP 159.9, prose.)

ucchrāpayati (= Pali ussāpeti; VS 23.26 ucchrāpaya, isolated; caus. to ud plus śri; see also ucchrāyati, ucchrepayati), raises, sets up: LV 193.6 (vs) prākāra ucchrāpitā(h); Mv i.176.6 (vs) ucchrāpitā-dharmadhvajā; ii.112.18 patākān ucchrāpayanti; 343.22 (vs) (dhvajāna koṭṭinayutāsahasrā) ucchrāpayetsu (aor.); Av i.384.10 patākāḥ ... ucchrāpitā(h).

ucchrāyati (caus. to ud plus śri; = ucchrāpayati, q.v.), raises, sets up: Divy 76.6 (yaṣṭir) ucchrāyitā; 77.20; 466.16, 20 śārīrasamghāta ucchrāyitaḥ (in 76.6; 77.20 ed. em. ucchrāpi°).

ucchrepana (nt.; nom. act. to next), the lifting up: Bbh 379.1 (bhaiṣajyaṃ ca) dattvā vyādhy-avanatocchrepanān mātrāśi ca ...

ucchrepayati, °te (= ucchrāpayati, q.v.; cf. prec.; on form see § 38.65), raises, sets up: LV 213.18 °pitam vaijayantāsamam; 351.7 °pito dharmadhvajā(h); 394.22 (vs) °payasva mahadharmayūpaṃ; 399.19 (vs) °paya ... tathāgatadhvajam; 413.17 (prose) °paya mahādharmadhvajam; Suv 62.8 (vs) °pitam dharmadhvajam (note in prose 90.11 ucchrāyīsyasi, v.l. ucchrāpayīsyasi).

ucchvāsa-prāśvāsa, m., = āśvāsa-prāśvāsa, q.v.: Śikṣ 42.5.

ucyati (only Vedic, and not quite in this sense; here perhaps back-formation from ppp. ucita, the only form known in Skt. and MIndic), suits, is pleasing: Mv i.348.18 (prose) tad yuṣmākaṃ kiṃ varam ucyati, so what boon seems good to you?

ujjaṅkikā, some kind of attitude or behavior which monks must avoid in begging food: Mvy 8546 nojjankikayā (instr.). Tib. ḥjol thabs su (? perhaps with robe dragging, sc. on the ground?); Chin. (here) apparently pulling at clothes while walking; elsewhere, acc. to Wogihara, Lex. 41, Chin. walking on tiptoe, and so Jap. on Mvy. The pw 7.322 says the 'correct' reading would be ujjaṅkikā, and Wogihara, Lex. 41, suggests that the corresponding Pali is ujjhaggikā (or rather, by em. ujjaggikā), Vin. iv.187.16, which means laughing, derision, see uccagghati; this seems indeed quite possible.

ujjaṅgala, ṛdj. (= Pali id.; defined DN comm. ii.586.22 by visana, Vv comm. 335.15 by jaṅgalaṃ, lūkhadhūsaro anudako bhūmippadeso . . . jaṅgalato pi ukkam-sena jaṅgalaṃ, on Vv 84.5), desert, waste (land): SP 233.2 °le prthivipradeśe; AsP 429.4 (prthivipradeśā ya) ūsarā ujaṅgalā(h); Mv ii.207.5, 8 (vss) ujaṅgalo ca jaṅgalo (Senart, Index, treats ujj° as n. pr.).

ujjighrant, pres. pple. (cf. Skt. Gr. ujjighra; otherwise no form of ud plus ghrā seems to be recorded), sniffing, smelling (at food): Prāt 533.8 nojjighrantaḥ piṇḍapātaṃ paribhokṣyāmaḥ. (Same passage cited from a Stein ms. fragment, La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913.846, top.)

Ujjitapara (mss. mostly Ujita°; Senart Ujjhita°, which seems implausible), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.2.

ujju, adj. (= Pali id., beside uju; Skt. rju; cf. next, rjju, and anujjuka), straight, right; usually in vss where jj could be m.c., but once in prose in Mv iii.225.1 ujucittā; the rest in vss: Mv iii.436.3 °gateṣu; LV 133.20 ujjū karitva kāyam; 138.20 ujjū-bhraṣṭā; 295.8 sadojjupraṣṭho (so read; = sadā ujjū°).

ujjuka (= prec., q.v.; also rjuka; Pali id., beside ujuka): SP 125.14 (vs) dṛṣṭim kurvāmi rjjukām; in SP 324.2 ms. K' indicates ujjuka for text -rjuka (rj°).

Ujhebhaka Tōnehāraka, n. of a king: Mv iii.382.10-11 (prose); called Tōnehāra 386.9 (vs).

-ujñā-ka, ifc. Bhvr. (to *ujñā = Pali uññā for Skt. avajñā; see § 3.55), contempt, in a-śaṭh'-ujñākāś ca (ū may be in saṃdhi for a-u), free from deceitfulness and contempt: Dbh.g. 6(342).21.

uṭṭāṅkikā, some kind of attitude or behavior which monks must avoid in begging food: Mvy 8545 noṭṭāṅkikāyā (instr.). Tib. brañ bas (? brañ breast; also dwelling); Chin. (here), perhaps walking with the palm of the foot (? or, with hands touching the feet?); acc. to Wogihara, Lex. 41, another Chin. renders limping (das Hinken); Jap. squatting (at the entrance of a house).

uḍaya (m. or nt.; = AMg. id., Skt. uṭaja), hut: Mmk 37.3 ekānte uḍayaṃ kṛtvā prativastavyam; 83.5; 106.21; 113.18; 121.20; 145.19; 524.19; 573.18.

uḍigalla (or oḍi°?), only in gūthoḍi, q.v. See Lévi's note, Karmav (22-) 25 f., where Dravidian origin is suggested: Telugu oḍagala-vādu (= Hindi -wāla), sweeper (in the Indian sense, cleaner of toilets); Tamil oḍuḡal, conduite d'eau.

uḍḍara-, in °ra-dharma-vihāriṇam (acc. sg.), Thomas, ap. Hoernle MR 119, cf. 121 note 22 (from Ratnarāśi Sūtra), conjecturally rendered (practising) heretical (principles).

Uḍḍiyāna = Oḍḍiyāna: Sādh 361.16.

Uḍḍiyānaka = prec.: Māy 97 (see Lévi p. 105 ff.).

? utacchiyam, Ud xviii.22, is prob. a mere corruption: yo rāgam utacchiyam aśeṣam = Pali Sn 2, yo rāgam udacchidā asesam, who has cut off passion without remainder. If a substitute for ud-acchidat is intended (which should end in a long syllable; °yam?), it would seem to show t for d (by hyper-Skitism? § 2.29) and y for the second d (Pktic). I do not understand Chakravartī's note.

utapta(vant), m.c. for Skt. utta°, glowing etc.: utapta Dbh.g. 41(67).10; °ta-vatī Śikṣ 337.12 (= uttap° 7, where meter also requires uta°).

utittira, onomat., a sound said to be uttered exceptionally by a tittira bird; see MSV i.118.10; 120.18. (Tib. says only a different sound.)

utkaca, adj. (in Skt. rare and doubtful in mg.), with hair standing up: Mvy 9197; Bhik 28b.4; MSV iii.7.14 (see s.v. prakaca).

Utkāṭa, m., nt., or °tā, f., n. of a town (droṇamukha, °khyā, q.v.): Mvy 5285 °to nāma droṇamukham; Divy 620.12 °tām nāma droṇa° (acc.), 28 utkāṭadroṇamukhyam; 621.10 yenotkāṭam droṇamukham (nom., nt.), 19 °tān utkāṭṭati, or (Mndic) ukka° (see s.v. kaṭṭati), takes out: Mv iii.158.13 yamalakāto (see yamalaka) modakam ukkāṭṭevā; 431.7 taṃ bhāṇḍam sarvam ukkāṭṭitaṃ (sc. from a river); in Mv ii.249.11 read mama hṛdayo udumbare utkāṭṭito sṭhapito (Senart with one ms. utkāṅṭhito, v.l. utkarito; in the other two passages above Senart em. ukkāḍḍh-).

(abl.); fem. 620.21 °tām nāma droṇamukham (acc.), °tā 26. From a verbally close Pali parallel DN i.87.6 it appears that the town called in Pali Ukkāṭṭhā (see DPPN) is the same; see Puṣkarasārin.

utkāṅṭhati, and ppp. utkāṅṭhita (cf. next; in Skt. only longs for; longing; but Pali ukkāṅṭhati also is annoyed, °ṭhita annoyed), is annoyed; annoyed; the ppp. in Mv ii.272.7 rājā śrutvā utkāṅṭhito evaṃ jāto, the king, hearing (this), became annoyed, as follows (here certainly not desirous!); similarly ii.274.11 so utkāṅṭhito (context makes desirous impossible). In Bbh 193.6 (tair bodhisattvaḥ lūhaiḥ stokair asatkṛtya dhandham) ca labdhair notkāṅṭhyate na paritasyati, prob. is not made annoyed (pass. of caus.). There may be other cases; many are ambiguous.

utkāṅṭhā (see prec.; Pali ukkāṅṭhā), possibly annoyance, mental distress: AsP 494.8, see s.v. paritasana.

Utkārika, n. of a merchant: Divy 227.26 tatṛṇāyatarāś cotkariko nāma baṇig . . . Cf. Otkarika (the same person as Utk°). There seems to be no reason to connect this n. pr. with aukarika (okkarika), qq.v., as has been assumed by Feer, Speyer (on Av, Index, s.v. okkarika) and Cowell and Neil (Index to Divy). But perhaps we should read cautk° in 227.26 and assume Otk° as the name.

utkarṣaṇa (nt.), °nā, and °nā-tā (= Pali (att-)ukkamsana, °nā; cf. next), praise, laudation, exaltation (regularly of oneself, or one's own): LV 32.14-15 ātmān-utkarṣaṇa-tā (i. e. ātma-an-utk°); KP 1.15 (vs) ātmotkarṣaṇi (loc.); 135.6-7 (prose) ātmaśilotkarṣaṇā; Bbh 158.4 ātmotkarṣaṇā; Śikṣ 126.6 svapakṣotkarṣaṇa-(vacana).

utkarṣayati (cf. prec.; not in this sense Skt.; = Pali ukkamsati, °seti), exalts, i. e. praises: gḍve., Śikṣ 197.10 sacec cañcalendriyo (rājā) bhavati, utkarṣayitavyam (sc. bhikṣuṇā), if (the king) is flighty (unstable), praise must be bestowed (saying: It is very meritorious on your part that your kingdom contains so many worthy monks and brahmans who live undisturbed by thieves etc.). Acc. to Bendall, Tib. has bstan par bya ḥo, and accordingly Transl. renders 'the Brother should admonish him' (more exactly, the Tib. means elucidate, make intelligible). But I do not see how the BHS word can mean this. The mg. of the Pali word is appropriate here; by encouraging flattery the king is to be strengthened in a good course.

utkārika, m., the expression evam: Mvy 7618 = Tib. de bzhin no zhes bya ba (Chin. similarly). There is a var. udgārikaḥ (cf. Skt. udgāra, sound, utterance?), but Mironov utkā° without v.l. I do not understand the etym. (ut-kr, °karoti, or °kirati°).

utkāreti (°rayati, °rati°), ger. °ritvā, having emptied: Mv i.327.3 (prose) (bhājanāni . . .) pūretvā utkāritvā, having filled and emptied the pots. The mg. is clear; etym.? to utkirati? Senart em. utkiritvā, without good reason.

utkāśa, m., see next. Perhaps utkāśaḥ, alone, is to be read in this sense for text utkāśaḥ in Gv 307.23 (prose); after a Tathāgata's parinirvāna, by a follower of his, udvegasaṃjananārtham dhārmika utkāśaḥ (i. e. °śaḥ?) kṛto 'bhūt: aho bateyam . . . mahādharmolkāntardhāsyatīti saṃvegajananiyā kathā kṛtā. But cf. utkāśa.

utkāśana-śabda, m. (ud plus kāś; cf. next), conspicuous, vigorous pronouncement (so Tib. on Mvy): Mvy 2799; Divy 517.25 bhagavatotkāśaśabdaḥ kṛtāḥ . . . parivrājako (26) bhagavata utkāśanaśabdaḥ śuśrāva; also 27.

utkāśa-śabda, m. = prec., q.v.: Divy 517.25. See also utkāśa, m., perhaps used in this same sense.

utkāsa, (1) (m.), clearing of the throat (= Skt. utkāśana): LV 416.11 (vs) utkāśāśabdu napi śrūyati tanmuhūrtaṃ (mss. vary greatly, but Tib. lud paḥi sgra confirms this form and mg.); (2) m. utkāśaḥ, see s.v. utkāśa; if the theory there stated be rejected, the word would have to be classed with (1) and would seem to mean something like hemming and hawing, or rather ominous sound (calling attention to the future disappearance of the dharma), in Gv 307.23.

-utkīra, m. (in Skt. adj., aufhäufend), heap, something thrown or dug up, in mūṣi-utkīra, see s.v. mūṣi.

Utkīlaka, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 450.9, 11; 455.28, 29.

utkuṭa (? reading stated in note to be 'not clear'; cf. utkuṭuka?), seems to designate some kind of entertainer: Śikṣ 330.16 (vs; after naṭa-nartaka jhallaka-mallāḥ) utkuṭa-śobhika-hāraḥ (qq.v.) . . . (Tib. cited as bzhuḡs; not clear to me.)

utkuṭa-sthāyin (cf. prec. and next), lit. remaining in a squatting position (?), designation of certain ascetics, app. Ājivikas (cf. note in ed., and 332.1): °yina ekacarāṇāṃ Śikṣ 332.7.

utkuṭuka, adj. (cf. utkuṭa-; acc. to BR, occurs in Skt. (Sūtrata) only as utkuṭaka or utkuṭaka; the Pali form is app. only ukkuṭika; AMg. usually ukkuṭua, °ḍuga, °ḍuyā, but also ukkaḍuya), squatting on the heels (see PTSD s.v. ukkuṭika for detailed description); as adj. applied to persons, to postures, also in comp. either adjectivally or adverbially; adv. utkuṭukaṃ (?), °kena, in squatting posture: °kā niṣaṇṇā (n. sg. f.) Av i.315.11; °kāṃ niṣādayitvā Bhīk 16a.1 having made her sit squatting, but in 10b.3 °ṭukena niṣadya, sitting in a squatting posture (adv.); in 10a.4 °ṭukāṃ niṣādyā, in sense = 16a.1, °kaṃ either adv., or MIndic (or corruption?) for °kāṃ; °kena adv. also Mv i.144.10 (na . . .) bodhisattvā māṭuḥ kuṣiḡatā utkuṭukena (so read, Senart °ṭakena, mss. utkutumbakeṇa) pārśvena vā yathā kathamcid vā sthitā bhavanti (but paryāṅkaṃ ābhūṃjitvā); in i.213.7; ii.16.11 situation is the same, but adj. is used, na utkuṭuko (so Senart with both mss. ii.16.11; in i.213.7 Senart °ṭiko, but one ms. has -uko); in cpds., Mvy 6709 °kāśanam, Tib. tsog tsog por; 9275 °ka-sthaḥ, Tib. cog (read tsog) bur; see next; °ka-prahāṇam (see this), an ascetic exercise, = Pali ukkuṭika-(p)padhāṇam, Mv iii.412.17 (vs) = Divy 339.24 = Pali Dhṡ. 141; °ka-sthaṇḍila-śayanaiś ca LV 249.4, and by sleeping in a squatting posture or on bare ground; 258.15 (vs) utkuṭuka-dhyāyi (so read with best mss., metr. superior to Lefm.'s reading utkuṭa-dh°), meditating in a squatting posture; °ṭuka-sthiteṇa, adv., while sitting in a squatting posture, Bbh 153.12; 181.20.

utkuṭukikā (to prec.), squatting posture: Mvy 8548 notkutukikayā (instr.); Tib. rtsoḡ (read tsog?) bus ma yin. (Jäschke and Das record tsog pu, squatting; the French Catholic Dict. tsog pu or °bu; see prec.)

utkubjāpayati, caus. (to Pali denom. ukkujjati), causes to be set (right side) up: °yiyatha MSV iv.140.15.

utkumbhati, prob. rears (of a balky horse; so guessed from context): KP 108.2 (yatra . . .) aśva(h) skhalati utkumbhati vā khaḍunka- (q.v.)-kriyā vā karoti, when a horse stumbles or rears or acts viciously. Tib. seems to have no correspondent for this word; the several Chin. versions, likewise, fail to clarify it; they seem to have only two verbal expressions for three of the BHS.

utkūla, adj., high, rising; only with nikūla, low, descending, and usually in cpd. utkūla-nikūla (cf. Pali ukkūla-vikūla, interpreted as high and low, AN comm. ii.35.21), high and low, hence uneven: Mvy 2708 °lam, and 2709 nikūlam (the Tib. definitions, śaṅ nam soṅ 2708, ḥbar ḥbur ram mtho dman 2709, seem to refer confusedly to the pair of words together, and mean uneven, high-and-low); LV 77.17 utkūlanikūlās ca prthivīpradesāḥ samāḥ samavasthitāḥ, and the high-and-low (uneven) places became even; 272.17 utkūla-nikūla-sama-karacaraṇa-gatiḥ (of the Bodhisattva's gait), . . . making even places that were uneven; MSV i.14.19 (as an ādinava). The cpd. utkūla-nikūla occurs VS 30.14, where it is unexplained in comm. and not definable by context; utkūla occurs once or twice besides; nikūla is hardly recorded otherwise, and seems to be unknown in MIndic (Pali has vikūla instead, above).

Utkūlaka, m., n. of a mountain (= Kūlaka, q.v.): Divy 450.10. Cf. preceding.

utkrṣṭataraka, adj. (compv. of utkrṣṭa plus ka), rather superior: Bbh 16.8 (prose) utkrṣṭatarakebhyo guṇebhyo na vicchāndya . . . nihīnatarakeṣu guṇeṣu samādāpayati.

utkrṣṭikā, prob. cocking or throwing back or up (of the head): Mvy 8541 notkrṣṭikayā; Tib. (mgo mi gyog, head not covered; or) mgo mi brdze (= our def.); °kā-kṛta, one who has adopted the above attitude: Mvy 8607 °kṛtāya (Tib. only brdzes, or rdzes, pa, as above); Prāt 536.4 °kṛtasya (but here Chin. is said to mean qui a la poitrine découverte).

utkoṭāna, nt. (see below), or (var. in Kyoto ed.; and Mironov without v.l.) khoṭāna, nt.: °nam Mvy 8423. Both form and mg. obscure; occurs between bhikṣu-paiśunyaṃ and duṣṭhulārocanam. Tib. skyo snogs (var. brnogs) byed pa, causing quarrels; Chin. disturbing the saṃgha; Jap. raising questions about a matter already decided. The last implies derivation from utkoṭayati, q.v. Skt. has nothing helpful on either reading. Pali ukkoṭāna-ka, Vin. ii.94.7, means reopening a settled question (wrongly PTSD), just as the verb ukkoṭeti seems always so used. But ukkoṭāna is defined by DN comm. i.79.30 as taking bribes (to obstruct justice), which finds support in AMg. ukkoḍā, bribery (Ratnach.), and seems to fit better the Pali occurrences; it is always found in a list of instances of trickery and deceit (typical is DN i.5.22 ukkoṭāna-vañcana-nikati-sāciyogā paṭivirato); cf. the Skt. root kuṭ. If khoṭāna (Skt. Gr., limping) is the true reading, I know of no plausible interpretation.

utkoṭayati (= Pali ukkoṭeti; cf. prec.), reopens a question already legally settled: Prāt 503.4 (yaḥ punar bhikṣur jānaṃ saṃghena yathādharmam) nikṣiptam adhi-karaṇam punaḥ karmany utkoṭayet, pātyantikā.

utkrośa, m. (to ut-kruś-; nowhere recorded except as n. of a bird), outcry: LV 230.5 (vs) utkrośu (n. sg.) mukto, and 8 utkrośu (acc. sg.) kṛtvā aho mama ekaputro!; 232.20 (vs) utkrośu (mss. utkrāsu, utkāsu) kṛtvā dharāṇitale niraśto; Gv 326.6 mahāntam ārtasvaram utkrośam akāṛṣuḥ. Uncertain is Divy 453.21 (in a list of five individuals who sleep little at night) utkrośa (v.l. utkoṇa) ṛṇi; possibly a debtor in case of an outcry (made against him by his creditor? understanding utkrośe). But Tib., as translated in the note p. 709, is said to render utkrośaḥ the red duck (see below; in Skt. a bird, Seeadler), and seems to omit ṛṇi; probably read for this prāṇi (below). Divy Index watchman (?); implausible; PTSD compares this word with Pali ukkusa, a bird, apparently osprey (= kurara). Lacuna in this story MSV i.149.10; N. Dutt, on basis of Tib. srog chags (living being) nur pa (red duck), conjectures utkrośa-prāṇi. Should not Tib. be corrected to nu ba, weep(ing), = ut-kruś-?

utkrośate (not recorded in this sense), cries for, demands (alms): Divy 473.11 (Śakro . . .) dvāri sthītivā bhaiḡsyam utkrośate.

utkrošana (nt.; = utkroša, q.v.), outcry: Gv 326.21 mahāntam ārtasvaram utkrošana-śabdām śrutvā.

utkroṣayati (denom. to AMg. ukkosa, see below), exalts, magnifies: AsP 419.4 ātmānam utkroṣayati parān paṃsāyati. The AMg. ukkosa is derived by Sheth and Ratnach. from utkarṣa (or utkṛṣṭa) and defined as adj., highest, supreme, or, as n., pride. If this is the true etym., our word would be a hyper-Sktism, by false etym. Possibly, however, the AMg. word may really represent a Skt. *utkroṣa, which, like Eng. a crying-up, could conceivably have meant glorification. To be sure I find no record, otherwise, of such a mg. in any deriv. of ut-kruṣ.

utkṣipāna (nt.; from ut-kṣip plus -ana, but new MIndic formation, like Pali ukkhipāna; cf. Skt. utkṣepāna), lifting up, nom. act.: LV 114.10 (vs) caraṇotkṣipāne, in the lifting of their feet.

utkṣipati (Skt. in mg. lifts up, etc.), (1) lets up in sense of permits to ascend, opp. nikṣipati: LV 186.(12-)13f. ekaikasya ca prāsādasya sopānāni pañca-pañca puruṣa-śātāny utkṣipanti sma nikṣipanti sma (let go up and down); teṣāṃ tathotkṣipyamānānām nikṣipyamānānām ca śabdo 'rdhayojane śrūyate sma; (2) (= Pali ukkhipati) suspends (from the order of monks); ppp. utkṣipta: Bhik 29b.1 utkṣiptānuvartaka (see anuvartaka); similarly Mvy 8480 utkṣiptānuvṛttih, the following (cleaving to) a suspended (monk), so Tib. spaṅs paḥi . . . ; (3) averts (the senses, particularly the eyes, from forbidden objects): Divy 278.29 indriyāny utkṣipati, and in the following lines; indriyāny utkṣipyāvasthitāḥ MSV iii.18.11, stood averting their eyes (in embarrassment); in this sense = Pali (indriyāni) okkhipati from avakṣipati, see avakṣipta; apparently BHS utkṣ° is false Skt. for MIndic okkh°; acc. to Chin. (eyes not cast to one side), anutkṣiptacakṣuṣo Prāt 529.10 would belong here, but curiously the Pali equivalent, Vin. iv.186.29 okkhittacakkhu (note lack of negative!), appears to mean with downcast eyes, which the old comm. interprets by observing that it is a sin to enter a house or sit down looking around at this or that (tahaṃ tahaṃ olokento), so that okkhitta-, as opposite of this, would mean essentially the same as BHS an-utkṣipta- as interpreted by Chin. But for this evidence, an-utkṣipta- might be interpreted, in accordance with Skt. usage, as not lifted up (thus in another way = okkhitta-).

utkṣiptaka, m. (°pta, see prec. 2, plus specifying -ka; = Pali ukkhittaka), (a monk) that has been suspended: MSV ii.113.12, 15, etc. Read this for utkṣepaka(-tva) MSV iii.67.11, 12; cf. 69.6.

utkṣepaka, m. (= Pali ukkhepaka, Vin. i.338.24 ff.; to utkṣipati 2 with -aka), one who moves suspension (of a monk): MSV ii.177.6 ff.; 191.7 ff. See prec. for MSV iii.67.11, 12.

utkṣepāṇiya, adj. (gdve., to utkṣipati, 2; = Pali ukkhepāṇiya, with kamma), with karman, (ceremony) of suspension (from the order): Mvy 8646 °ṇiyam (doubtless supply karma); Divy 329.10 kurutāsyotkṣepāṇiyam (so text) karma; Bhik 28b.4 yasya bhikṣoḥ samagreṇa bhikṣusamghenotkṣepāṇiyam karma kṛtam; MSV ii.176.4; 201.13; penalty for refusal to recognize or correct sins, MSV iii.28.10 ff. (as in Pali Vin. ii.21.21 ff.), or for heresy, ib. 30.9 ff.

utkṣepa-lipi, n. of a kind of script: LV 126.5; followed by nikṣepa°, vikṣepa°, and (6) prakṣepa-lipi; also, line 7, utkṣepāvarta-lipi, and (in some mss., supported by Tib.) nikṣepāvarta-lipi. All these terms seem to be intended to refer to the shape of the letters, rather than to the countries where they are used. It is hardly possible to guess what the author meant by them, and the woodenly literal Tib. translations give little help; Tib. renders utkṣepa, gdeg pa, elevation (and āvarta, skor ba, turn); nikṣepa, bzhang pa or bzhog pa, putting down; vikṣepa (which Tib. translates to the point in line 6 where Lefm.'s ms. A has it), rnam ḥthor, scattering; prakṣepa, bsnan pa, addition, increase.

Utkhalin, m., n. of one of the 16 devaputra guardians of the Bodhimaṇḍa: LV 277.12. (Tib. ut-ka-li.) Cf. next.

Utkhalī, or (v.l. supported as to vocalism by Tib. u-khu-li) Utkhuri, n. of a goddess, attendant on the Bodhisattva in his mother's womb: LV 66.8. Cf. prec.

utkhāṭayitar, m. (cf. Dhātup. khāḍayati = bhedane?) is there some confused relation to Pali ukkhetta, Vin. iii.97.21, abandoned?, one who causes to depart from (abl.), to abandon: Gv 462.23 (kalyāṇamitrāṇi) . . . °tāro lokaniketāt (sc. for a Bodhisattva).

Utkhurī, see Utkhalī.

[utta, implied in (dukhena) cotto LV 133.16; read either cātto = ca-atto, with ms. A, or cārto = ca-ārto (one ms. cited as cortto); Foucaux affecté par la douleur, which must be substantially the meaning.]

-uttaka, adj. ifc., perhaps made, produced: Mv ii.457.14 (prose) hastiśālāya paṭalāni ghanāni mahantāni bahujana-uttakāni, (when a fire had broken out in the elephant-stables) . . . the thatches of the elephant stable, thick, great, made by many people . . . This assumes a ka-extension of AMg. -utta in deva-utta, bambha-utta, produced (created) by (the) god(s), by Brahmā (see citation in Sheth s.v. utta). The origin of the word is obscure; Sheth and Ratnach. regard it as identical with Skt. upta, sown. Senart has no suggestion as to mg. or etym.

uttanūruha, adj. (ut plus tanū°), with hair erect (thru joy): Jm 204.18 mudottanūruhāḥ. uttapta, ppp. (to Skt. uttapati, cf. BHS uttāpayati), orig. (and in Skt.) purified by fire (of metals; so also BHS, suvarṇam uttaptam Mv i.165.2); here fig., purified, pure, of food: uttaptottaptair upakaraṇa-viśeṣair MSV iii.19.20; 134.10; of mental and abstract qualities, Mv i.106.1 uttapta- (so mss., Senart em. °tam) jñānam teṣāṃ pravartate; LV 8.2 smṛti-mati-gati-dhṛty-uttapta-vipula-buddheh, of vast enlightenment purified by . . .; 11.6 -prāmodyottapta-vipula-smṛti-samjanane; uttapta-kuśalamūlās te Suv 5.4; °ta-kuśalamūlena 159.6; 167.9; 171.12; °tam (mss. uptam, but Tib. and Chin. render uttaptam) kuśalamūlam 172.11; °mūlānām Gv 268.3; uttaptāḥ Mvy 1816, where context suggests earnest, strenuous, and one of three Tib. renderings, sbyaṅs pa, means primarily purified, but also exercised, trained; uttapta-tā, abstr., state of being purified, LV 422.1 (vs) tena hitakareṇa uttaptatā-prāpta (so read, as cpd.) bodhiḥ śivā, . . . attained thru being purified.

? Uttaptarāṣṭra, Senart's em. at Mv i.139.13-14 for mss. Āttapta°, Attapta°, see s.v. Āttapta°. But the em. may be right: having a pure rule or kingdom, see uttapta.

Uttaptavīrya, n. of a previous incarnation of Buddha: RP 22.20.

Uttaptavaiḍūryanirbhāsa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.19.

Uttaptaśrī, n. of a kalpa: Gv 447.3.

uttama (1) (nt.?), top part (of a building), roof or top story: Divy 321.17 (yuvatayo) rodanti veśmottame; (2) (m. or nt.; = Pali id., see PTSD s.v. kāsika), upper garment: kāsikottama-dhāriṇaḥ (mss. °vāriṇaḥ) Mv i.296.4. In Pali also, apparently, only after kāsika; (3) m., n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.27.

Uttara, m. (and nt., see 8) (1) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.239.2 f.; (2) n. of a follower of the Buddha Kāśyapa, who later became Śākyamuni: Av i.239.7; ii.23.5; 51.8; 88.1; referred to MSV i.217.13 as if concerned in the story of (Nandīpāla) Ghaṭikāra; also MSV i.261.20; (3) n. of a maharṣi (perhaps = 1 or 2?): Śikṣ 189.9; (4) n. of a brother of Nālaka Kātyāyana: Mv iii.382.14; 383.1; (5) n. of a youthful (mānava) follower of King Prasenajit (cf. DPPN Uttara 10): Divy 156.10 ff.; (6) n. of a merchant of Rājagṛha who became a Buddhist disciple and whose mother became a preti (cf. DPPN Uttara 7): Av i.261.11; a like story of an Uttara of Śrāvastī, MSV iii.19.18 ff.; (7) n. of a nāga king (cf. Uttaraka): Mvy 3261; (8) nt., n. of the Buddha Maṅgala's city (= DPPN Uttara 19): Mv i.249.2; described in the following.

Uttaraka, n. of a nāga king (cf. Uttara 7): Māy 247.27.

uttarakalā, app. further, higher art: Jm 208.2 sottarakalānām kalānām. No clue has been found as to precisely what is meant.

Uttarakuru, if Senart's text is right, in Mv i.103.10 designates an inferior region or people in which successful Bodhisattvas are not reborn: °ruṣu nopapadyanti (along with pretas, asuras, and animals). But mss. all vary: utte ca kuruṣu, uttame ca kuleṣu, (one only) uttara ca kuruṣu. Doubtful. As n. of one of the dvīpas, see dvīpa.

uttarakuru-dvīpa-lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.4 (Tib. indicates omission of dvīpa).

Uttarakururāja, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

Uttarakaurava, adj. with manuṣya, inhabiting (the dvīpa) Uttarakuru: Divy 215.28 ff.

(uttaraṇa, nt. [as in Skt., e. g. saṃsāra-samudrottaraṇa, BR s.v. uttaraṇa], rescue, salvation: listed Mvy 1751 as one of the synonyms of śaraṇam, esp. as applied to the Buddha [follows tāraḥ, followed by paritrātā].)

uttarika (Pali, see below), in Śiḥ 332.1 (vs) ājīvikadharmā-carāṇāṃ uttarikāṇa anuttarikāṇāṃ, of Ajīvikasectarians, superior and not superior(?); acc. to Bendall and House, Transl., those who have or those who have not the higher aim, which is hardly illuminating. See Bendall's note in Text p. 414 for report of a Chin. interpretation, for which I find no basis in Indic. In Pali uttarika is reported only Nett. 50.10 °kānaṃ phalānaṃ pattiyā; obviously superior or the like. Pali has no anuttarika.

1 uttarya, nt., and °ryā, f. (cf. Skt. and Pali uttariya, AMg. uttariya; perhaps a hyper-Skt. form for the latter?), apparently a covering (for a part of the body: hands, ears, or back), but cf. 2 uttarya: karna-prṣṭhottaryāni stambhāni (!?) maṇiratnakatakekeyurakāni pralambitāni samdṛśyante sma Kv 7.20; in Kv 30.12 in a long cpd. describing ornaments and clothes of girls, keyūra-... kaṭimekhalā-hastottaryā-karna-prṣṭhottaryā-hastānguliya-samāyuktānām (kumārīṇām); in Kv 78.(20-)21 at end of a long cpd., list of ornaments and garments, maullikuṇḍala-... ratnahāra-skandhopariṣvajānika-(corrupt?) -prṣṭhottaryāny anguṣṭha-vibhedikāny (q.v.) anyāni ca vividhāni vastrāṇi.

As a ger. the form seems inexplicable, unless as an extension of the Skt. usage with ut-thā-, ut-tambh-; is a MIndic uttharya intended (to utstarati, see s.v. uttharati, = strṇoti; or to Skt. ava plus str-)? Note that Kv is also the only text where 1 uttarya is recorded; has the noun influenced the form of the gerund?

uttāna, adj. It seems clear that this sattussada in Pali = Skt. *sattvotsada, abounding in living creatures. It seems to have been falsely Sktized in Divy (which, or its source, obviously followed closely a MIndic original very close to the Pali of DN) to saptotsada, because the adapter knew familiarly this cpd. as one of the 32 lakṣaṇa (above, 1). Presumably he thought it meant here containing seven elevations of some sort, but I see no use in speculating further as to his intentions.

utsadana, nt. (= utsīdana; with mg. 1 cf. Skt. utsīdati; with mg. 2 cf. prec. and an-utsanna), (1) coming to grief, ruin: sthale utsadanam MSV i.49.10, 17 (in 2 above read utsatsyati for utpat°); (2) superfluous abundance, excess, in °na-dharmakam (bhaktam) Divy 307.23, 27, of food offered to monks and not fully used by them, of the nature of excess (pw 7.323 zum Wegräumen bestimmt). For Mvy 6781 utsādanam = Tib. dril ba (rolling, in sense of rubbing down, massage; so Skt.), Minayev and Mironov read utsadanam, apparently a faulty reading.

utsaraṇa, nt., ascent, marching up, in Mvy 4485 pipilikotsaraṇam = Tib. grog ma gyen du ḥdzeg pa, ants marching up hill (a term used in logic).

utsarpita, adj. (ppp. of ud plus srp, caus.), app. laid by as balance, left over (from a sum of money): Divy 23.11 aparām utsarpitam; 16 (nāsmābhiḥ kiṃcid uddhārikṛtam) kiṃ tv aparām utsarpitam tiṣṭhati, (we have not incurred any debt), but the rest remains put aside as left over.

utsaryati (semi-MIndic for utsāryate, § 3.34, pass. of utsārayati, also Skt., q.v.), is put aside, is violated: Mv ii.92.18 katham tu utsaryati dharmaśāstram.

utsavika, adj. (Skt. utsava plus ika), pertaining to festivals: Mv ii.84.20 vastrā ca utsavikā, holiday clothes; iii.177.17 vyayakarmeṇa (em.) utsavikena, matters of expense due to festivals.

utsahana-tā (to Skt. utsahati; cf. next), fortitude, persistent energy, endurance: ŚsP 1461.11 (a Bodhisattva resolves to endure infinite torments in hells to bring creatures to enlightenment: evam yāvat sarvasattvānām) kṛte yāty utsahanatā aparikhedaḥ (are the two last words a cpd.? lack of weariness in fortitude, endurance?).

utsahanā (to Skt. utsahati; but perhaps better read utsāhanā, to caus. utsāhayati, encouragement, enthusiasm, energy (?): Divy 490.5 kiṃ nv ayam utsahanā-vineyaḥ āhosvid avasādanā-(q.v.)-vineyaḥ.

utsāraka, m. or f. pl., n. of a class of malevolent superhuman beings: Mmk 17.5; foll. by mahotsārakā(h); in a long list of demons etc.

utsāraṇa, nt. (to next with -ana), acc. to N. Dutt (Introd. xxii) = āvarhaṇa; it seems, at any rate, to mean removal of religious disabilities from a monk, cf. the following osāraṇa (206.16): MSV ii.206.12, 14.

utsārayati (specialized mg. of caus. of Skt. utsarati; see also utsaryati), rees (from religious disabilities), see prec.: MSV ii.206.13–16; Tib. seems to be cited as smoñ (zhig), which I cannot interpret; ib. 113.13 (see Corrigenda), cf. osāray° 115.2 etc. See (v)osārayati.

utsāhana (nt.; cf. utsahanā, and next), inspiration, the making energetic: in title of SP chap. 26, samantabhadrotsāhana-parivarta, SP 483.5, 7.

utsāhanī (cf. prec. and next), in Divy 654.27 either noun, energy, or adj. with ūtir, energetic or inspired, inspiring: °ny ūtir aprativāṇiḥ (qq.v.) smṛtyā samprajānyenāpamādato (see samprajanya) yogaḥ karaṇīyaḥ.

utsāhayati (caus. to utsahati), (1) considers (lit. makes) capable: LV 100.16 (prose) te sarve . . . mahāprajāpatim gautamim utsāhayanti sma, they all considered M.G. capable (of tending the Bodhisattva); (2) tests the capacity of: Bhik 15b.2 karmakārikayā . . . utsāhayitavyā: utsahase tvam, etc., she is to be tested as to her capacity by the karmakārikā (nun, saying): Are you capable . . .

utsicati (Skt. utsīcati not in this sense; = Pali ussiñcati; § 28.12), bares out, exhausts: Mv ii.90.15 (prose) etaṃ samudraṃ utsicāmi (mss., Senart em. utsiñcāmi), 17 (prose) utsicāmi (kept by Senart) mahodadhim; 91.1 (prose) utsicitum (inf.; mss. unsić°, Senart em. utsiñc°); 92.6 (vs) mss. unsići, °cim (opt. 1 sg.; Senart em. utsiñci, which this time seems required by meter) mahāsamudram.

utsiṣṭa, ppp. (hyper-Skt. for ucchiṣṭa, § 2.19), (something) left over: Śikṣ 125.4 raha utsiṣṭam kṛtvān utsiṣṭāhāreṣv adadataḥ pretagatiḥ pathyate; 139.14 utsiṣṭasyāpy asucer na doṣaḥ.

utsīdana (nt., quasi-MIndic formation from utsīdati plus ana; unrecorded; = utsadana 1 and 2; cf. samsīdana), (1) destruction (of a ship, on land, sthale, i. e. by running aground in shipwreck): Divy 229.23 sthala utsīdanabhayaṃ; (2) °na-dharma = (2) utsadana-dharmaka, of the nature of superfluity: MPS 7.2.

?utsukha = Skt. utsuka, longing, desirous: Gv 330.25 ity utsukheṣu (so also 2d ed.). Perhaps error; but cf. Geiger 40.1; Pischel p. 148, middle.

utsūḍhi (f.?), n. sg. °dhiḥ, (1) Mvy 1789 = Tib. spro ba, joy; so Mironov (v.l. both edd. utsṛcitah); (2) Mvy 7683 = Tib. mthan pa (?not in Tib. Dictt.; perhaps = ḥthan pa, firmness, but Chin. obscurity, confusion, hence Mvy Kyoto ed. suggests em. unmūḍhiḥ). Probably = utsōḍhi, q.v.; both firmness and joy are meanings of Skt. utsāha, from the same root.

utsrjana (cf. Skt. utsarjana; semi-MIndic formation in -ana on the pres. Skt. utsrjati), letting loose, letting fly (pennants, in the wind): Gv 163.3 utsrjana-nānāratna-dhvaḥ-patākam, with various . . . pennants for flying (in the wind). See also anutsrjanatā.

utsrjyate = Skt. utsrjati, abandons: Mvy 2558 = Tib. gtoñ ba.

utsrta, adj. (hyper-Skt., § 2.19, for Pali ussita, Skt. ucchrita, for which utsrta is recorded rarely, at least as v.l., in Skt.; cf. ucchrta), high: Mv ii.239.18 °ta-dhvajām (note in 240.8 ucchrita-dhvajā, of the same entity); Mmk 407.9, read dvau-m-utsrtau (text °mṛsrtau), and 419.12 dvi-m-utsrtai(h) . . . tri-m-utsrtaiḥ (in all with hiatus-bridging m).

utsōḍhi, f. (?m.; = Pali ussoḍhi; cf. also utsūḍhi; in mg. = Skt. utsāha), exertion, strenuousity: Gv 109.11 (prose) bodhisattvānām °ḍhir ājāyate.

utskhalati, or (semi-MIndic) utkhalati, trips, stumbles: ppp. °lita, as active, Mv iii.223.19 (prose) brāhmaṇagrhapatikā nigamajānapadā utkhalitā (so Senart with 1 ms.; v.l. uskha°, intending utskha°).

utstīrya (ger. to *ut-str), wiping away (tears): MPS 31.71 (see Waldschmidt's n. 3).

udaka-candra, m., (1) the moon in water, as symbol of deceptive and unsubstantial things: Mvy 2814 (among synonyms for māyā); also uda-candra, daka(-candra), qq.v.; no such form noted elsewhere; (2) n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.1.

Udakaniśrita, m. pl., n. or ep. of a class of nāgas, who are wardens (rakṣa) of the Trayastriṃśa gods: Divy 218.8 ff.

udakaprasāda (nt.? cf. next), a kind of jewel: Gv 495.1 (prose) °da-maṇiratna-.

udakaprasādaka, nt., = prec.: °ka-maṇiratna- Gv 53.2, 3; °kaṃ (n. sg.) mahāmaṇiratnam 498.14.

Udakaplotika, n. of an upāsaka at Kiṭāgiri: MSV iii.18.12 f.

udaka-bhrama, m. (cf. Skt. bhrama, perhaps a conduit, Schmidt, Nachtr.), gutter for waste water (from a bathroom): Mvy 9290 = Tib. gtor (stor) khuñ; Mv ii.167.5 udakabhrameṇa vārāṇasīm nagaraṃ praviṣitvā. Cf. Lévi, Karmav p. 269.

udaka-maṇi, m. (= Pali °maṇika, water-pot: °maṇin pratiṣṭhāpya Divy 64.26; 81.12; 183.16; 284.27; 507.8; MSV i.79.14; °maṇayaḥ pratiṣṭhāpitāḥ Divy 306.23.

udaka-rākṣasa, m. (Pali °rakkhasa), water-ogre, who lives in water and devours bathers: tatra ca udakahrade udakarākṣaso (mss. °sa) prativasati punar-punaḥ janam snapayantaṃ māreti Mv ii.77.17 (and in foll. lines); satkāyadrṣṭy-udakarākṣasa-grhītāḥ Dbh 28.25. Also daka-rākṣasa; see s.v. daka.

udaka-vāha (= Pali °vāhaka), flood: Mv iii.303.10 °ha-bhayam vā, in a list of dangers to a caravan.

udaka-śāṭikā (= Pali °śāṭikā), water-garment, to be worn while bathing (= varṣā-śāṭī): MSV ii.84.11; 85.19 ff.

udaka-saṃvāsa, n. of a gem which keeps people from dying in the water: Gv 498.16 tad yathā kulaputrodakasamvāsamaṇiratnāvabaddhe (read °ddho?) kaivarta udake na mryate (so text).

udaka-hāra, m., °hārī, f.; °hārī(m), see under 2 hāra, -hārī, and cf. uda-hāraka.

udagra, (1) adj. (= Pali udagga; not in this sense in Skt. or Pkt.), joyful, delighted: esp. often in formula, tuṣṭa udagra āttamanāḥ pramuditāḥ prītsaumanasyajātaḥ, SP 60.1; Mvy 2929-33 (udagraḥ 2930); RP 47.18; Suv 9.7; Gv 99.15, etc.; plurals, SP 69.7; also with variations, hr̥ṣṭatuṣṭaḥ udagra etc. Divy 297.15; hr̥ṣṭā abhūṣi udagrā pramuditā prītsaumanasyajātā Mv ii.163.19; in Av (e. g. i.4.1) repeatedly in the form (hr̥ṣṭatuṣṭapramudita) udagraprītsaumanasyajāta; (hr̥ṣṭa)-tuṣṭodgraprītsaumanasyajāta Karmav 28.27; (tuṣṭa) udagraḥ Suv 191.3; hr̥ṣṭā udagraḥ SP 190.8 (vs); miscellaneous, SP 214.4; LV 41.17; 47.15; 271.19; 361.8; Mv i.83.7; 219.7 = ii.21.9; ii.397.18; iii.143.1; Dbh.g. 18(354).3; udagra-citta SP 56.6; 197.3; LV 392.3; Mv i.247.6; (2) noun, prob. nt. (cf. Pali odagya), joy: Mv ii.171.1 na ca te paśyāmi abhiratiṃ (so read with mss.; Senart em. °taṃ) na udagraṃ; Mv ii.147.5 and 148.5 udagram anubhavāhi, experience joy! = farewell!; cf. also udagrī. The adj. also occurs in senses recorded in Skt.; intense, Bbh 11.11 udagra-pratata-vīrya-samanvāgataḥ.

udagrī (cf. udagra), joy, in °grī-bahula Dbh 12.10, preceded by prāmodya-, prasāda-, prīti-, utplāvanā-bahula, and foll. by uśī- (q.v.), utsāha-b°. Is the fem. form due to attraction to the surrounding fem. stems?

uda-candra = udaka-c° and daka-c°, qq.v.: °dra-samā imi kāmagaṇāḥ LV 174.5 (vs), cited Śikṣ 204.15, reading dakacandranibhā.

?ud-añcati (= Skt. °cayati), makes (voice) resound: perh. to be read in LV 394.18, see s.v. añja(s). udapāsi, aor. 3 sg., originated, was produced, for Skt. ud-apādi, Mv i.248.7 etc. (only in Mv; see § 32.60 for list of occurrences; sometimes written udupāsi in mss.).

udaya (m., as in Skt.), (1) with vyaya (cf. Pali khaṇḍhāṇaṃ udayavyaya or udayabbaya, as cpd.; see also samudayāstamgama), arising and passing away (of skandhas): SP 69.16 (vs) (dharmacakram...) skandhāṇāṃ udayaṃ vyayaṃ, (the wheel of the law...) which is (consists of) the (doctrine of the) arising and passing away of the skandhas (wrongly Burnouf, not quite rightly Kern); (2) n. of a mlecccha king: Mmk 622.1.

Udayagāmi(n), n. of a former Buddha: n. sg. °miḥ, Mv i.138.7 (so Index; text Udaya°, apparently misprint).

Udayana, (1) n. of Śuddhodana's purohita (father of Udayin 1): LV 121.1; (2) n. of nāga: Mvy 3324. (Also n. of the well-known king of Vatsa, as in Skt., Mv ii.2.12; cf. next.)

Udayanavatsarājaparipṛcchā, n. of a work: Śikṣ 80.13.

Udayin, see Udāyin.

Udayibhadra (in Pali Udāyibhadda), n. of a son of Ajātaśatru: Divy 369.10. In the same line he is called Udāyin (n. sg. °yī); prob. read Udāyibhadra.

Udayā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: MSV i.xviii.17.

[udaśvin, read udaśvit (Skt., see BR), a mixture of buttermilk and water: MSV ii.34.8; 35.1.]

uda-hāraka, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali id.; Skt. uda-hāra; see s.v. hāraka), carrying (one who carries) water: Av ii.69.10.

Udāgata (v.l. Udāragata) n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.8.

Udāttakīrti (v.l. Udānta°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.11.

Udāttavarṇa (by em.; mss. Udānta°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.15.

Udāttavastra (v.l. Udānta°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.13.

udāna, m. or nt. (= Pali id.; with acc. pron. usually imam, sometimes idam), a solemn but joyous utterance (acc. to PTSD sometimes a sorrowful one in Pali), usually but not always having religious bearings; almost always in modulation of phrase imam (less often idam, as LV 350.21; Mv ii.286.1; or omitted) udānam udānayati (usually with sma after verb), very common: LV 103.13; 159.14; 380.15; Lañk 2.15; Mv iii.254.13; Divy 558.1; 3 pl. udānayanti LV 31.5; Divy 163.28; aor. udānaye Mv i.351.13; ii.417.8, 13; iii.412.14; udānesi ii.286.1; udān' udānayī (3 sg. aor.) Gv 489.11 (vs); perf. udānayāṃ āsa Suv 193.2; °āsuḥ LV 278.8; udānitavān Karmav 155.18; in non-religious connexions, udānam udānayati Divy 2.11; Av i.14.13; udānayetsu (3 pl. aor.) Mv i.340.14; udānesi (3 sg. aor.) iii.162.7; nt. udānam, as n. of a type or class of Buddh. literature, one of the 12 (Mvy) or 9 (Dharmas) pravacanaṇi, Mvy 1271; Dharmas 62; Udāna-varga, n. of a specific work (abbreviated Ud).

udānayati, denom., utters an udāna: used virtually always with object udānam, q.v. for forms and passages; used absolutely, without object, Mv iii.111.8 (vs) trikhuttam udānayati sulabdhā lābhā (so Senart, but mss. lābhā sulabdhā; meter is bad in either case).

[Udānta-, in proper names, see Udānta-]

Udayin (or Udayin? below), (1) = Kālodāyin (also appears as °dayin), q.v. (in Pali he is also called Udāyī): Mvy 1056, in text (also Mironov) printed Udayī, but Index Udāyin; Mv ii.234.8; iii.91.8; 93.3; LV 121.1 (son of the purohita Udayana); (2) one of the ṣaḍvārgika monks: Mvy 9476. (Tho not named in Pali as one of the Chabbaggiya monks, 2. Udāyī in DPPN seems to have had a character deserving this reproach and is doubtless the same person as ours.) Named Divy 543.24 as type of a monk who might commit a sin; subjected to parivāsa and succeeding penances, MSV iii.32.14 ff. (in Divy and MSV not identified with the ṣaḍvārgika); (3) n. of a son of Ajātaśatru and ancestor of Aśoka (= Pali Udāyibhadda): Divy 369.10; in the same line called, acc. to text, Udayibhadra; MSV ii.42.11 ff.

udāra, adj. (= audāra, °rika; neither Skt. udāra nor Pali udāra, uḷāra, seems so used), coarse: Samādh 22.26 (vs) yasya codāra samjñādi nāmarūpasmi vartate, visabhāgāya samjñāya udāram citta jāyate, if in the nāma-rūpa of someone there works a coarse samjñā etc., then, since this samjñā is not homogeneous [with the pure mind], the mind becomes coarse too (Régamey).

Udāragata, v.l. for Udāgata, q.v.

Udāragupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.12.

udārataraka, adj. (compv. of udāra plus ka), more exalted: Asp 373.5.

Udāradeva, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.14.

udārika, adj. = audārika 2 (if reading is correct), exalted, abundant: SP 164.3 mahatāś codārikasyāvabhāsasya (both edd., no v.l., but perhaps read caudār°) loke prādurbhāvo 'bhūt.

[Udālin, error or variant for Upālīn, q.v.]

udāhāra, m. (= Pali id.; Skt. Lex.), lifting up (of the voice); utterance; often in comp. with vacana or another word denoting voice or some form of utterance: ekavacanodāhāreṇa, with one voice (-utterance), Mvy 2792; LV 147.1 (śākyakumārasātāny) ekavacanodāhāreṇāpūrvacaritam sammudisanti sma; Samādh 19.9 (devāh . . .) evam caikodāhārasvareṇa (with the sound of a single utterance) vāco bhāṣante sma; in ŚsP 567.6-7 read ekodāhāreṣu na sthātavyam pṛthagudāhāreṣu (or °hāre) na sthātavyam vyudāhāre na sthātavyam, and in 615.7-8 read ekodāhāro (text °haro) nimittam vyudāhāro (text °haro) nimittam pṛthagudāhāro (text °haro) nimittam (see the several cpds.); ghoṣodāhāre- utterance of sound (in speech), Dbh 56.9 buddhānām bhagavatām ghoṣodāhārasattvasamtoṣanam; Gv 543.2 ghoṣodāhāra-samatām (. . . anuprāptah); Gv 390.22 ayaṃ praśnodāhārah, this utterance of a question; SP 18.4 etena paramparodāhāreṇa by this successive expression (utterance); here substantially the same as word, name; of a succession of Tathāgatas all bearing the same name); an-udāhāra, adj., without utterance, not capable of being spoken, LV 392.15 (a-ruto 'ghoṣo) 'nudāhārah, said of the Buddha's dharma; KP 59.3 (yo 'syānta-dvaya-syānugamo) 'nudāhāro 'pravayhāra(h).

udikṣati (for udikṣ°, § 3.38), looks (up): 3 pl. aor. udikṣiṣu twice, in bah(u) ud° LV 364.11 (vs; Tib. sdod, wait); and sarva udikṣiṣu prāñjalibhūṭāh Śikṣ 343.18 (vs; Bendall wrongly; the Tib. he cites as lha zhiñ must surely be read lta zhiñ).

Udiyāna, n. of a country: Mmk 325.10 °ne, loc. sg. See s.v. Kāviśa.

udu-pāna (= Aśokan id.), m. or nt., for Skt. uda°, well, spring: so repeatedly mss. of Mv, kept by Senart, who suggests (note on i.220.20) assimilation to initial u- (so Hultzsch, Inscr. Aśoka, lxx): i.220.20 (here one ms. uda°; in the rest no v.l.) = ii.23.5; i.308.5; ii.39.5; 438.6, 7; iii.380.13. It may be noted that the Mv mss. often write uaupāsi for udapāsi, q.v.

Udumā, n. of a city, home of Kaineya: MSV i.255.14ff. Identified by N. Dutt with Pālī Ātumā; but the corresponding story is located in Āpaṇa in Pall.

Udumbara (= Pali id., n. of a village? cf. also Lévi p. 94), n. of a town: Māy 51 (°re, loc.).

udūḍha, adj. (ppp.; Skt. Lex. = sthūla, pīvara), coarse, or gross, swollen(?): Divy 83.22 udūḍha-śīraskah śaṇaśāṭikā-nivāsitaḥ (mss. śaṇa°) sphaṭitapāṇipādo; same passage MSV i.82.13 udhūṭa°, which seems not to fit.

udga, adj. (cf. uga, cited as Ap. from Piṅg. in Sheth, = udgata, udita), arising, arisen: Gv 266.16 (vs) tada saukhyam udgu (n. sg. nt.) mam' udāram abhūt.

Udgata, (1) (= Pālī Uggata) n. of a king of Dantapura in Kāliṅga: Mv iii.364.3 (here ed. with one ms. Uggata, v.l. Udg°); 365.19; 366.8; 374.1; (2) n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.23.

udgataka, f. °ikā (§ 22.34) = udgata, high, elevated:

LV 322.17 (vs) kāthinapīnapayodhara-udgatikām, of the daughters of Māra.

udgamayati, with aruṇam, lit. makes the dawn arise: tatra (sc. in or on heresy) cāruṇam °yati MSV iv.53.16; i. e., prob., either (1) and attaches great importance to it (cf. Eng. he thinks the sun rises and sets on . . .), or (2) spends all his nights (in meditating) on it; said of a tīrthikāvākrāntaka (see avakrāntaka). Tib. translates literally.

udgārika, v.l. for utkārīka, q.v.

udgīraṇa (?) see udguraṇa.

udguṇṭhikā (cf. Skt. Lex. avagunṭhikā, and Pali ogunṭheti, °ṭhita), veil, head-covering: nodguṇṭhikayā Mvy 3540; -krta, (one) wearing the head covered (so Tib.), Mvy 8606 nodguṇṭhikākrṭāyāglānāya dharmam deśayīṣyāmāḥ; similarly Bbh 106.12.

udguraṇa, or udgūr°, or udgīr°, nt. (ud plus gr [girati? or gurate?]; Skt. records udgoraṇa once), brandishing (of weapons): Mvy 8472 udguraṇam (Mironov udgūr°, v.l. udgur°) = Tib. gzas pa, brandishing (Das); SP 271.9 (vs) danḍa-udguraṇāni, by em., kept without note in WT; mss. udgīr° (except Kashgar rec. which is altered).

udgrhṇāti (1) (= Pālī ugghāṭi), acquires (knowledge of truth), learns, comprehends: ger. often followed by paryavāpya, Divy 18.12 uddeśayogamanasikārān udgrhya paryavāpya; 77.21 udgrhṇita bhikṣavo nimittam antar-dhāsyati, antarhitah; 207.27 te (dharmāḥ) bhikṣubhir udgrhya paryavāpya . . . dhārayitavyā(h) etc.; Mvy 784 sadodgrhita-dharmāvismarāṇa; Samādh 8.15 imam samādhim udgrhitavān, udgrhya paryavāpya dhārayitvā . . .; 19.4 samādhim śroṣyati śrutvā codgrahīṣyati dhārayiṣyati . . .; 22.39 na sukaram . . . kāyasya pramāṇam udgrahitum; Dbh 80.14 (sarvasattvarutapadavyañjanam) udgrhṇiyād udgrhya ca . . .; Karmav 28.11 atha śuko . . . bhagavatā bhāṣitam udgrhya paryavāpya . . .; RP 42.3, 4 na jātu rūpanimittam udgrhitavān . . . na sparśanimittam udgrhitavān; Kv 28.6, 11; 29.11 udgrhitum (so text each time); (2) holds fast to, keeps hold of, so AMg. ugghāṭi, = dhār rakhnā, Ratnach.): Mv i.52.1 so loko udgrhito sarvehi, all (the monks attendant on the Buddha Samitāvin) held fast to this world (i. e. imitated him in determining to remain until a new Buddha arose).

udgraha (m. or nt.; to prec.; cf. Pālī ugghaha, not in this mg.), taking hold (sc. of a woman's person), a samghāvaśeṣa sin (= kāyasamsarga): MSV iii.87.16.

udgrahaṇa, nt. (= Pālī ugghaṇa; to udgrhṇāti; cf. ograhaka), grasping (intellectually), comprehension: Mvy 908 = Tib. ḥdzin pa (id.); 782; Gv 496.9-10 sarva-buddhadharmodgrahaṇatayā; Dbh 79.21-22 (na tv eva) mahābhūṣṭyapṛāptah śrāvakaḥ śrutodgrahaṇadhāraṇi-pratilabdhaḥ kalpaśatasahasrodgrahaṇādhiṣṭhānena.

udghaṭṭaka, m. (see also udghāṭaka, ghaṭṭaka; twice recorded udghaṭṭaka in mss.), lit. one who opens or reveals, i. e. explains (science or techniques; so Leumann, cited by Wogihara, Lex. 19); in cliché (aṣṭāsu parikṣāsu, not in 100.5) udghaṭṭako vācakah paṇḍitah paṭupracārah (. . .) samvṛtṭah Divy 3.19; 26.14; 58.20; 100.5 (in the last two udghaṭṭakah); same cliché reading ghaṭṭako for udgh° Divy 442.1; 523.25; and with udghāṭako MSV i.133.3; iii.20.2; he became an expounder, explainer, scholar, one of skillful performance (in the 'eight testings' of valuable things).

udghaṭṭa-jña, adj. or subst. m. (= Pālī ugghaṭṭaṭṭāñu; see Wogihara, Lex. 19: 'das Geöffnete kennend' = 'sich auf das Offenliegende d.h. auf eine kurze Darstellung verstehend'), understanding (by) a condensed statement, opp. to vipañcitajña, vyañjitajña, qq.v., understanding (by) a full, detailed explanation: udghaṭṭajñān (so with v.l., for text udghāṭ°) vipañcitajñān LV 400.1 (in a list of creatures, sattvān, of all kinds); same passage Mv iii.318.3 (read as in LV, or possibly °jñā for °jñān, but accs. pl.); Mvy 2384 °jñāḥ (Mironov udghaṭṭita°), 2385 vipañcitajñāḥ (Tib. on 2384 mgo smos pas go pa, understanding by mention of chief points); AsP 243.19 nodghaṭṭajñāḥ (so two mss.; text °ghaṭṭ°) vā na vā vipañcitajñāḥ 'nabhijñā vā bhaviṣyati; Bbh 295.15 vyañjitajñāḥ (q.v.) udghaṭṭajñāḥ; implies high intellectual capacity, Mv iii.382.15 nipuṇo medhāvī udghaṭṭajñāḥ (so read) tikṣṇa-buddhiko; other passages Mv iii.270.9; SP 473.7 (here most mss. udghā°).

udghaṭṭayati (note spelling udghaṭṭaka for udghaṭṭaka, q.v., and cf. sam plus ud plus ghaṭṭ-, BR 5.1400), opens, loosens, undoes: pāsāv udghaṭṭayām āsa Jm 135.2; phuṭṭakavastrāvārī udghaṭṭitā Divy 29.12, mss. (ed. em. udghaṭṭitā with 29.8); for udghaṭṭita-jñāḥ (see this) Mvy 2384, Mironov udghaṭṭita°. Cf. ghaṭṭita.

udghāṭaka, m. (adj.?), = udghaṭṭaka, q.v., one who reveals or expounds: Divy 329.20 śāsanakoṭim udghāṭako, one who explains the height of the religious doctrine; MSV i.133.3; iii.20.2.

udghāṭikā (v.l. °ṭikā; to ud plus han), in vāsodgh°, lit. perh. interruption of, intervals between (or, postponement of) lodging, i. e. spending the nights (on a journey) in different places in succession: Divy 173.20 tvaṃ paścād vāsodghāṭikayā gaccha, ahaṃ tavārhe āhāraṃ sthāpāyāmi; 24 so °pi vāsodghāṭikayā gantum ārabdhāḥ (the other person places caches of food for him at various points).

Uddaka, the Pali form of Udraka, q.v., varies with the latter (and Udaka) in mss. and ed. of Mv ii.120.10, 11; in Mv ii.207.15 ed. prints Udaka (not in Index; by misprint for Udraka?) with v.l. Uddaka; the latter also v.l. in Mv iii.322.11, 13.

uddahati (= Pali uḍḍahati), burns up: ger. uddahitvā Śikṣ 324.15 (vs); ppp. uddagdha daṇḍakavanam LV 316.2 (vs); pass. Mv ii.262.12 (saṃvartamāne . . . loke . . .) prthivīpradeṣo uddahyati, is burnt up. See also Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 3.117, note 2. Cf. uddāha, °hana.

uddāna, nt. (= Pali id.; see also antaroddāna, piṇḍodd°), summary, brief statement, esp. of the contents of a longer literary work or passage: Mvy 1476 = Tib. sdom, summary; Gv 496.10, cited Śikṣ 6.6, uddānabhūtaṃ sarvabodhisattvacaryāpranidhāna-saṃgrahaṇatayā, it is like a summary, because it comprises all . . .; Ud xx.23 uddānam, applied to the following verse, which lists simply the titles of ten chapters of Ud; Karmav 82.8 aṣyoddānam, this is a summary of it (viz. of the results of a certain kind of good action; there follows in 5–6 lines the summary statement); Bbh 22.9 (refers to the following verse summarizing seven points listed just before); similarly 114.1; 137.1; 189.1; 200.1 etc.; MSV i.66.1; catvārimānī dharmoddānāni Bbh 277.5 (and ff.), four summary statements of doctrine, which are then listed: (1) anityāḥ sarvasamskārah, (2) duḥkhāḥ sarva°, (3) anāt-mānaḥ sarva°, (4) śāntam nirvānaṃ; ŚsP 1460.5, here by error for udāna, q.v., and see s.v. ityuktaka.

ud-dāyāda, adj., (one) who has no heir: Mvy 6972 = Tib. rabs chad pa, having lineage cut off; MSV i.99.14.

uddāha (m.; cf. uddahati and next; = AMg. id., also uḍḍāha; not noted in Pali; once in Skt., pw 7.386), consumption by fire, particularly in kalpoddāha, the world-conflagration: Śikṣ 177.14 kalpoddāhāgnibhūtaṃ (sc. bodhicittaṃ) sarvaduṣkṛtanirdahanatayā; 324.15; Lañk 231.18 prthivī kalpoddāhe dahyamānā; Gv 389.4 kalpoddāhe (misprinted kulp°) yathā vahniḥ.

uddāhana (nt.? cf. prec.), in kalpodd°, (world-) conflagration: Gv 494.25 kalpoddāhanabhūtaṃ (sc. bodhicittaṃ) sarvaduṣkṛtanirdahanatayā (cf. Śikṣ 177.14, s.v. uddāha, cited from Maitreyavimokṣa; our passage is from the Maitreya chapter of Gv, extracts from which, not including this one, are cited from Gv by name in Śikṣ 5.20 ff.; the two seem not to be identical).

uddiṣati, poses, proposes (a mathematical problem; Tib. rtsis mgo phogs, set the beginning of a calculation): LV 146.12 tatra bodhisattvaś coddīṣati, ekaś ca śākyakumāro nikṣīpati (figures, works out the problem) sma; na ca pariprāpayati sma bodhisattvasyaikadvau . . . yāvat pañcāpi śākyakumārasātāni yugapatkāle nikṣīpanti sma, na ca pariprāpayanti sma; tato bodhisattva āha: uddiṣata yūyam, ahaṃ nikṣēpsyāmi . . . (19) pañcāpi śākyakumārasātāni yugapad uddiṣanti sma, na ca pariprāpayanti sma bodhisattvasya nikṣīpataḥ; 146.22; in 147.1 samuddiṣanti, same mg. The Tib. renders nikṣīpati by brtsis (brtsi, fut.), rtsis, calculate, figure. In same sense, uddiṣati sma Mvy 6657 = Tib. sbañs (? sbyañs?) pa, or luñ phog pa (?); Chin. uses the word used for BHS vyākaraṇa (3).

uddiṣana (nt.? to uddiṣati), prescription, order: RP 31.11 (vs) śayyāsanoddīṣana (n. sg.) teṣāṃ naiva bhaviṣyate °pi ca kadācit (no order for them is needed; they are provided without it).

uddiṣyati (= uddiṣati; not recorded in this sense), recognizes: Divy 191.3 (mām . . .) śāstāram uddiṣyadbhir madyaṃ apeyam, those who recognize me as teacher must not drink liquor.

uddiṣṭaka (ppp. of uddiṣati plus -ka, perhaps specifying, § 22.39; cf. AMg. uddiṭṭha [food etc.] specialty prepared for an ascetic, Ratnach.), (one who or that which has been) appointed, specified, prescribed; only in saṃghoddiṣṭaka, . . . by the brotherhood: Mmk 291.15 °kāṃ bhikṣāṃ bhojayitvā, having fed them the food prescribed by the brotherhood; same, with bhikṣāṃ understood, 294.7; in 701.20 saṃghoddiṣṭaka-bhikṣavo (monks [as] directed by the assembly) bhojayitavyā(h); 711.24 prabhāte saṃghoddiṣṭakā bhikṣavo (n. pl.) bhojayitavyā(h); °kāṃ bhikṣūn MSV iii.20.14.

(uddeśa, m. [= Pali uddeśa; the Skt. use, see BR s.v. 2, is perhaps close enough to justify calling it the same mg.], exposition, explanation, setting forth (of a doctrine): Bbh 68.15 °śāḥ svādhyāyo vinīscayaḥ . . .; 264.25 °śa-dānena; 297.3 °śa-svādhyāya-saṃpratipatti-pāraṃparya-yogena; 410.3. See śramanoddeśa, °śikā.)

-uddeśaka, m. (= Pali uddeśaka), director, manager: Mvy 9056 vihāroddes°; 9057 bhaktoddes° (= Pali bhat-toddes°).

-uddeśika, adj. (= Pali uddeśika), intended for, in ātmodde° intended for oneself: Prāt 480.8 °kaṃ (kuṭim, hut), in parallel to Pali Vin. iii.149.11, where attuddesaṃ (sc. kuṭim).

uddhara (m.? only in comp.; to Skt. ud with hr; also an-uddhara-tā below), neglect, ignoring: LV 342.8 (vs) evaṃ hi teṣa bhavate guru-uddharāṇaṃ (so best mss. and ed.), for so it happens to those who ignore (the words of) the Master; RP 37.14 na karmakriyoddharena (bhavitavyam), one must not ignore, neglect . . .; an-ud° non-neglect, LV 432.18 -ānuśāsany-anuddhara-, non-neglect of instruction; in LV 440.4 (prose), for ed. anuddhuratayā, read anuddharatayā (anuddhara-tā, abstr.; grāhyavacanātām, sc. pratilapsyate), (he will attain a state of having his words accepted) because (they) will not be ignored, lit. by reason of non-ignored-ness. (Possibly read with some mss. an-uddharaṇa-tayā, which would mean the same.)

uddharati (special mg. of Skt. id.; Pali has ppp. ubbhata, of kathina, Vin. i.255.19, = BHS uddhṛta), suspends, stops, cancels (the kaṭhina ceremony); cf. Pali (kaṭhin)uddhāra: uddhṛte kaṭhine Prāt 490.10 and ff. (Chin. as rendered by Finot otherwise); MSV ii.157.9 (the kaṭhināstāraka speaks, in ending the ceremony) śva āyuṣmantaḥ kaṭhinam uddharīṣyāmi, yūyam svakasvakāni cīvarāny adhiṭiṣṭhata (take possession of . . .); 158.7 (corair muṣitakānām) bhikṣūnām arthāya kaṭhinam (which had been concluded) uddhartavyam (must be suspended); 158.19 uddhṛtam saṃghena coramusitakānām bhikṣūnām

[uddhartya MSV iii.137.8, having lifted up, read prob. uadvartya, cf. parallel ii.129.15 uadvartitaḥ; uddhrtya would also be possible.]

uddhava (m.?) cf. Deśin. i.106 uddhava [comm. uddhavaa] = utksipta), perhaps pride, arrogance (so pw 7.324); or excitement (so pw 6.298; in some passages the context seems more favorable to this): in a verse found twice in Divy (69.13; 72.22) and repeatedly in Av (i.6.8; 12.4 etc.), vigatoddhavā dainyamadaprahiṇā buddhā(h); otherwise recorded only in Jm: 70.22 avinaya-ślāghānuvṛty-uddhavāt; 74.15 yuddhoddhavābhimukhatām; 124.15 darppoddhavād apratisamkhyayā vā; 141.15 amara-darppoddhava-karkaśāni; 200.20 naṣṭa-harṣoddhava-dra-vaḥ; 227.11 vyāvṛtta-pramododdhavana manasā; 233.4 durjanaḥ paṭurāvaleppoddhavaḥ.

uddhānana, or (v.l., and Mironov's text, with v.l. uddhā°) uddhanana, nt., rude behavior: Mvy 5193 = Tib. rgod byed (which probably has this meaning, despite Das); so one Chin. interpretation. Cf. samuddhānana (°dhanana).

uddhāra (m.?), (1) some branch of mathematics, perhaps subtraction (or debts? accounting of debts, cf. 2), in a cliché, list of subjects studied by youths, mudrāyām uddhāre nyāse niksēpe . . . Divy 3.18; 26.12; 58.17; 100.1; 441.28; MSV iii.20.1; seems to be replaced in Mv by dhāraṇa, °nā, q.v.; (2) (= Pali id., and once in Skt., Kāty. Dharmas., acc. to Stenzler cited in pw) debt, in uddhārikṛtam, Divy 23.15 kimcid ud° has anything been incurred as a debt?; (3) kathinoddhāra (see uddharati); Pali uddhāra and ubbhāra), suspension, cancellation: MSV ii.161.14 ff.

uddhāraka (m. or nt.), act of lifting, in pādoddhāra-keṇa, instr., with lifting up of the feet: Divy 211.26 yadā teṣāṃ ṛṣikopena pakṣāṇi śīrṇāni tatas te pādod° prasthātā; 211.27, 28.

[uddhura, in anuddhuratayā LV 440.4, read uddhara, q.v.]

? uddhya (m.? so Skt. Lex., once in literature, BR), perhaps river, stream (suspected by BR of being only n. pr. of a river); in LV 274.12 (prose) (mahatā) puṣpādhyena (pravarṣatā), should mean with a great stream of flowers raining down. Both edd. puṣpādhyena, which can only be understood if a noun for stream or rain is supplied; nearly all mss. puṣpodyena; udyā is recorded as v.l. in a Hindu Lex. for uddhya, see BR; perhaps read puṣpodhyena, or even puṣpodyena with mss.? Tib. me tog mañ poñi char chen po ni hbebs, a great rain of many flowers rained down.

uddhvasyate (pass. to Skt. ud-dhvams-), and caus. °syāpayati, is (causes to be) insulted or mocked; so read in Śikṣ 57.6, 8, see s.v. udvaśyate.

udbilya, udvilya, nt. (= audbilya, q.v.), joy, pleasurable excitement: prabhayā kāyacittodbilyasamjanānyā LV 41.5 (cf. under audbilya, also with prabhā); (prabhayā . . .) kāyacittaprahādodbilyajananyā LV 281.11 (so most mss., Lefm. °daudbilya°); (vāk . . .) kāyacittodbilyakaraṇi LV 286.12; kāyacittodbilyakaraṇatayā (of speech) LV 440.6; udvilya-mss. udvīla, °ra)-harṣā hāhākāram udiretsuḥ Mv i.266.14; cittodbilya-karī (of Buddha's voice; n. sg. f.) Mvy 462; cittodvilyam pratilabhante Sukh 58.3; cittodvilyasamanvāgatāḥ Sukh 61.13.

udbhāvaka, f. °ikā, adj. (cf. next), manifesting, declaring, setting forth: dharmaparyāyodbhāvikā priyavādītā Bbh 219.20, and similarly in foll. lines.

udbhāvana, nt., and °nā, f. (= AMg. °nā; °na recorded in this mg. once in Skt., pw 1.298), (laudatory) manifestation, making known, declaration: LV 5.19 mahāyānodbhāvanārtham; 5.20 sarvabodhisattvānām codbhāvanārtham; otherwise noted only in cpd. guṇodbhāvanā, rarely °na, manifestation or making known, proclamation of virtues: Divy 184.21 Svāgatasya guṇodbhāvanām kartukāmaḥ; 492.23 °nāsyā kartavyā; Kv 14.17 (śrutā . . .) āryāvalokiteśvarasya guṇ°nā; same 14.19, 20; 15.12; 16.2; āryāvalokiteśvarasya guṇ°nām kurute (in words then quoted) 18.10; nt., vikurvītāni śrūyante guṇodbhāvanāni ca 24.10, but 24.13 guṇodbhāvanām ṣṛṇu; 48.17 °nām bhāṣitum ārabdhah.

udbhida, m. (= Pali, in cpd. ubbhidodaka; Skt. udbhid, acc. to pw fem.), spring, fountain: Mvy 4176 = Tib. chu mig.

—udbhuta (m.c. for udbhūta), manifested, appeared: LV 282.2 (vs); read gātrodbhūtā (= gātrā ud°) with mss. and Tib.

udbhūta-vastuka, adj., for which the site (vastu) is visible: (kalpika-śālā . . .) °tukā MSV i.235.5; glossed in 14 by prahiṇa-vastukā, the site for which has been abandoned (i. e. not in use otherwise); seems to correspond to Pali gahapati (°ti?) Vin. i.240.2 (see comm. 1099.17 ff.), one offered by a layman.

? udya, in puṣpodya (mss.), see uddhya.

Udyataka (m.?), n. of an ocean (samudra) in which the nāḍikerī tree grows: Gv 501.26.

udyāna (in Skt. nt., park, and so Pali uyyāna), (1) park, as m. (? with m. form of pron.): udyāna sarve (n. pl.) LV 231.1 (vs); (2) advance (of an army), one of the arts mastered by the young Bodhisattva: LV 156.12 udyāne (Tib. mdun du bsnur ba, moving forward) niryāṇe avayāne . . .; (3) in Dbh.g. 20(356).11 divide, probably, udyāna (for °naṃ) dhāraṇ' (for °nīnām! § 10.207) ita (= itah) pañcamim (sc. bhūmim) ākramanti, for this reason (so Chin.) they enter the fifth (stage), a garden of dhāraṇis (so Chin.). Were it not for the Chin. translation, I should be tempted to understand udyāna-dhāraṇ(am) . . ., they proceed to maintenance of progress (in general; an extension of 2, above) from this point to the fifth (stage). It may, however, be noted that in the prose of Dbh, 5th Bhūmi, the words udyāna (in mg. park) and dhāraṇi occur, not to be sure together, but in 45.24 and 46.12 respectively.

udyāma, m. (cf. Vedic id., the mg. of which in some places, ŚB 8.5.1.13, is not clear), in sūtrodyāmaḥ Divy 643.1 = 644.9, perhaps extension, drawing out (of thread), see s.v. tatkṣaṇa; but the precise meaning of the phrase escapes me. It may mean effort, exertion (Skt. udyama), as in Aśoka u(y)dyāma, Rock Ed. (Kalsi) 13.18. In this sense probably read nir-udyāmā, as suggested by Kashgar rec., SP 100.9 (prose).

udyūthikā, f. subst. (adj.?), (cf. Pali uyyodhika, Vin. iv.107.26, old comm. = yattha saṃpahāro dissati, the correspondent of our word, which seems to have been Sktized by association with yūtha, prob. unhistorically; root yudh is doubtless the true source; but mg. is rather obscure, see Childers, who guesses sham fight), perhaps some sort of military exercise, such as sham battle; in Mvy 847.0 °kā-gamanam = Tib. gyul bśams pa hkrug tu (hgro ba), (going to) an army prepared for battle? or a battle-prepared combat (i. e. a military maneuver)?; in Prāt 512.6 seemingly adj. with senā, udyūthikām senām darśanāya (Chin. regarder les manœuvres, Finot); in accord with this possibly udyūthikā in Mvy may imply senā, meaning (an army) ready for military operations (?).

Udyogapāla, n. of a yakṣa-leader: Māy 235.31.

? udyojayati (see also s.v. udyōtita), acc. to Bendall and Rouse, Śikṣ Transl. 57 note 1, = Pali uyyojeti, dismisses, sends away: Śikṣ 56.2 yāvad dharmasraṇanikāś codyojayitavyāḥ paṣaṇmaṇḍalam paṣaṇmsthāpayitavyam; but Tib. brtson par hgyur, = (to be) made zealous, the regular Skt. mg.; yāvad can be understood as up to the point (in the text where it is said –), thus fitting this mg., and B. and R.'s interpretation seems implausible.

They assume the same mg. for Mv iii.141.12 (bhagavān . . . asuranayutāni . . . samyaksambodhiye vyākāritvā bahūni ca prāṇisahasrāṇi āryadharmeṣu pratīṣṭhāpayitvā rājānaṃ śuddhodanaṃ ca) saporivāraṃ ca udyojaye; but here too this verb (mss. udyojeya or °yam) may well mean aroused, inspired, as regularly in Skt.; this accords well with the preceding parts of the sentence, and seems more natural than dismissed (tho S. and his followers did in fact depart, as the next sentence says).

? udyoṭita, in Prāt 513.7 eṣa bhikṣu(r) muhūrtam apy udyoṭitaḥ syād, acc. to Chin. (Finot) would seem to mean (may this monk be) annoyed (if only for a moment). But for this, I should assume a substitute for udyojitaḥ, dismissed, sent away (ppp. to udyojayati, q.v., in mg. of Pali uyyojeti). Cf. AMg. jōḍiya (= yojita, Ratnach.), united; Hindi jōrnā; Skt. Dhātup. juṭ, juḍ, join.

Udraka Rāmaputra (= Pali Uddaka, which also occurs in mss. of Mv, see s.v., Rāmaputta; see also Rudraka), n. of a teacher with whom the Bodhisattva studied for a time: Mv ii.119.8 ff.; 200.13; iii.322.11, 13; Mvy 3516; Udraka (alone), associated with Ārāḍa, q.v., Divy 392.1, 3; Mv ii.200.8; and with Devadatta (as persons of bad conduct), Śikṣ 105.17. Udraka also Buddhacarita 12.84 ff. Tib. lhag spyod (superior conduct) for Udraka (Mvy) and Rudraka (LV 243.15 ff.).

Udrāyana, (1) n. of a disciple of Śākyamuni (= Pali DPPN 2 Udena?): Mvy 1060; (2) another form of Rudrāyana, q.v., a king of Roruka: Divy 565.30 (prose; mss.); 567.20 (vs; here Rudr° would be metrically impossible; nevertheless the same pāda is repeated 570.4 with the unmetrical reading Rudr°).

udvartayati [= Pali ubbaṭṭeti; in Skt. rare and chiefly ppp. udvartita], rubs down, anoints, or the like: Mv ii.423.7 (kumāram) . . . udvarteti supeti; so 433.12; °teti ca snāpeti ca iii.405.7.)

udvaśyate, Śikṣ 57.8 °yamānas, and caus. Śikṣ 57.6 udvaśyāpayitvā, for which Tib. mtho brtsams la is cited, 57.6, read uddhvasyate, pass. of Skt. ud-dhvaṃs-, is mocked, and caus. uddhvasyāp° (§ 38.13.)

udvahana (nt.; perhaps Sktization of Pali *ubbahana, to ubbahati pluck out, destroy, prob. from Skt. ud-vṛh-), removal, destruction: duḥkḥodvahanacittāś ca Bbh 248.8; samsāre sarva-duḥkḥodvahanāya bhavati 249.6.

? udvighāṭana, opening (?); see vighāṭana.

udviciya, ger. (perhaps to otherwise unrecorded ud-vi-ci-, pluck, gather): Mv ii.244.7 (prose) puspāṇi udviciya, gathering flowers (v.l. uddhiriciya).

udvikṣya, adj. (gdve., to ud-vi-ikṣ-), (worthy to be gazed at), beautiful: Mv iii.69.16 bhavanāni (houses, palaces) . . . udvikṣyāṇi.

udvetana (m. or nt.), a high number: Gv 106.17; corresponds to upavarta, q.v.

udvedha (m.? = Pali ubbedha, defined as height; AMg. uvveha, defined by Ratnach. only as depth; Pkt. uvveha, acc. to Sheth height or depth, also zamin-ka avagāha, penetration of the ground [?]), height (so śūrely in most cases): Śikṣ 246.5 lokadhātuḥ samtīṣṭhate, caturaśītiryojanasahasrāṇy udvedhena; Mv i.196.17; iii.229.14; 332.10 (yaṣṭi, or yaṣṭi . . .) dvādaśayojanāni udvedhena; Mv i.196.2 (iṣikāni, so text . . .) dvādaśapauruṣā udvedhena; here preceded by figures relating to depth (extent of penetration of the ground), see naikhanya, and circumference (? see parigohya); in a close parallel, Mv iii.228.13, (iṣikāni . . .) dvādaśapuruṣa-udvedhena (mss. udvehena, uddehena) is preceded by the statement of depth (naikhanya) and by a form read by Senart tripauruṣocāni, which would refer to height and so be inconsistent with -udvedhena (which, however, if it meant depth, would be inconsistent with the preceding form containing naikhanya); it seems that Senart should have assumed -parigohya (as in i.196.2; or some form relating to circumference) instead of -ucca (mss. read -pauruṣarocāni or -puruṣaroddhā, perhaps showing, in the syllable -ro-, a faint trace of that original). Senart himself saw this in his note on i.196.2, but overlooked it on iii.228.13. Cf. āvedha, pravedha.

udveṣṭayati, tears apart, destroys: (tadāsyā grhāḍ ekaikāṃ) śīlām °yāma iti MSV i.229.5; = Tib. bkogs te gzhig go, pulling apart we will destroy.

udvyastikā, a posture with hands joined at the back of the neck: Mvy 8543; so Tib. (gñāḥ goṅ du [mi = Skt. na] bsnol) and Chin.; = vyastikā (-krta); cf. also vinya-stikā, atyastikā, one of which probably = this.

unnaḍa, adj. (= Pali unnaḍa; doubtless dial. form of next), haughty, arrogant: Śikṣ 120.4 an-un°, foll. by parallel anuddhata.

unnata, (1) adj. (ppp.; cf. prec. and next; not recorded in this evil sense), arrogant: Mv i.305.15 uddhatām unnatām dṛṣṭvā capalām . . .; Śikṣ 158.5 bodhisattvo 'n-unnata-vīro bhavati; (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.8; Mv i.137.12 (here of course in the good sense recorded in Skt. and Pali, lofty).

unnati, f. (not recorded in this evil sense; cf. prec. and unnamana), pride, arrogance: Śikṣ 157.14 °tiṃ varjayet sadā.

Unnatoṣṇiṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇiṣa-rājānaḥ (see uṣṇiṣa 3): Mmk 41.11.

unnamana (nt.), or °nā (= unnati, q.v.), pride, arrogance: Bbh 201.18 (vigatamānaṃ) tena vīryāram-bheṇāunnamanāt (neg. an-un°); Sukh 7.20 (vs) tenonnamānā ca cāsti śāstuḥ.

unnayati (not recorded in this sense), brings up = raises (a child); pass. unniyate (°ti): Mv ii.210.14 tahiṃ āśramapade so māṇavako unniyati, in this hermitage-place the boy was brought up.

(an-)unnaḥana(-tā), (cf. Skt. unnaddha, haughty), (state of absence of) pride: Śikṣ 119.5.

unnāma (AMg. unṇāma, unnāma, pride; in Skt. one doubtful occurrence where, if correct, it means [physical] elevation; not in Pali), elevation (of spirits), elation; usually in comp. with its opposite avanāma or °mana, once with nāma, also of opposite mg.: Gv 244.3 an-unnāmāvanāma-tām, state of not being elated or depressed; Śikṣ 105.5 lābhālābhatayā unnāmāvanāma-karo, causing elation or depression by getting or not getting; Śikṣ 108.12 (vs) unnāma-nāmāni bahūni gacchati, goes to many fits of elation and depression, see s.v. nāma = avanāma; Śikṣ 150.6 nonnāmajāto bhavati; LV 33.7, text an-unnāmāvanāmana-tāyai, unto being not subject to elation or depression (mss. vary greatly).

-unnodana(-tā, in comp.; nom. act. to ud-nud-, no form or deriv. of which is otherwise recorded), thrusting forth (from); driving out (of): Gv 491.19-20 sarvālayanilayonnodanatāyai, said of activities of a candidate for Bodhisattvahood.

unmatti, f. (= Skt. unmāda), madness: Mmk 567.5 (prose) (yadi gacchen) maraṇomattiṃ vā prayacchante.

Unmada, m., n. of a demon that causes madness: Mvy 4760 = Tib. smyo byed. Cf. Unmāda, in similar list of demons.

unmananā, disrespect, contemptuous treatment: Śikṣ 185.1 °nām kutsanām sahate. No *un-man- seems recorded.

unmardana (m.), n. or epithet of some hostile (magic or supernatural) power: Māy 237.27 °nātaḥ, abl.; follows huvanātaḥ, see huvana; followed by bhūtātaḥ vetāḍātaḥ etc.

Unmāda, n. of a class of demons (causing madness), = Unmada, which occurs in a similar list: Māy 219.9 etc.

Unmādayantī, n. of a woman: Jm 81.8. In Pali version of same story called Ummadantī; see DPPN.

unmijitakā (?), a turning sideways: in śīronmijita-kayā, instr., LV 62.21 (prose), with a turning of their heads to one side (they gazed at the Blessed One); of gods. So apparently Tib. mgo byol nas. Is the word somehow related to un-miñj- (see the foll. words)? The only v.l. is A śīrśāmiñjita-kāyā; I have thought of śīrśāniñjita-kāyā(h), with bodies unmov'd as to the heads (see aniñjita). But Tib. clearly had no such reading (and no word for body).

unmiñja, m. (to ud-miñj-, cf. under miñj-; and next), apparently lit. opening, and so starting, initial development, initiation of something; Dh 18.17 sattveṣu mahākaraṇoṇ-miñjaḥ sambhavati, and 19 mahāmaityunmiñjaḥ, of Bodhisattvas; Sukh 4.4 (udāraḥ khalu ta) unmiñjo bhadrīkā mīmāmsā kalyāṇam pratibhānam. Müller (SBE 49 Pt. 2, p. 4) translates question, stating that 'all the Chinese translators' translate so.

unmiñjita, nt. and adj. (see s.v. miñj-, and cf. prec. two), (1) nt. opening, as of the mouth (so Mvy 6303): Mvy 2670; 6303 (in both Tib. phyed ba); AsP 268.19 ff. parapudgalānām unmiñjita-nimiñjitāni, lit. openings and closings of (or, things opened and closed by = beginnings and endings, starts and finishes, of) other individuals; Gv 84.21, of an ascetic, tasya . . . sāntasya nīrunmiñjitasya (without initiation of anything) nirālabasya; (2) adj. opened = initiated, begun: Dh 39.22 °tāni nimiñjitāni vicintitāni vitarkitāni . . . (see kelāyati) nīketasthānāni tāni sarvāni vigatāni bhavanti sma; (3) nt. mouthful (lit. opening, sc. of the mouth, as in Mvy 6303) Śikṣ 215.16 (śvasv api . . .) ekaudanmiñjitam ekālopaṃ vā parityajati, throws even to dogs . . . a single mouthful of porridge or a single bit of food.

unmūḍha, adj. (ppp. to ud-muh-; = Pkt. ummūḍha), infatuated: Śikṣ 185.4 °dha-cittam nighṇāti.

? unmūḍhi, suggested em. for utsūḍhi, q.v.: Mvy 7683.

unmūrdhaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= unmūrdhan, mit aufgerichtem Kopfe, pw 5.250), with head thrown back: Mv ii.452.6 (rājā) kuṣo . . . sudarśanāye deviye unmūrdhikāye (i. e. trying to escape from his violent embrace) āliṅgito (the king, whom the queen did not recognize, was hideously ugly).

(-)upaka, (1) at end of cpds. (= Pali -upaka, -ūpaka, °ikā f.; BHS also has equivalent -upaga, q.v.), pertaining, belonging to . . . ; suitable, appropriate (to) . . . ; fit (for) . . . ; like: Vaj. fragment in Pargiter ap. plus ayu = ayam) śrutāḥ; (2) (= Pali id.) n. of a Ājīvaka, with whom Buddha conversed while going to Benares to deliver his First Sermon: Mv iii.325.12 ff. (note esp. 326.20 tasmād aham upaka jino, a line which elsewhere contains the form Upaga, q.v.); (3) n. of a purohita's son in the Upāli-Gaṅgapāla Jātaka: Mv iii.184.1 ff.; corresponds to the character Aḍḍhamāsaka in the Pali Gaṅgamāla Jāt., see DPPN.

upakaṅṭhaka (nt.? = Skt. °ṭha), vicinity: Divy 174.3 (prose) udapānopakaṅṭhake viśrāntāḥ.

Upakambala, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.9.

upakara, adj. (and subst. m. ?; to Skt. upa-kr), beneficent: Bbh 218.1 vāg upakarā; 218.6, 16 upakarām (in 16 text °kārām, erroneously) vācam; Śakraprasnasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4.113.2-4 upakaras tvam tāta pañcaśikhāsmāka(m) upakaras ca yo hi nāma . . . ; MSV i.287.13.

upakaraṇa, = bhoga, food: Bbh 246.24 upakaraṇa-vaikalya-jaṃ (duḥkham), one of 5 kinds of duḥkha, clearly = 293.10 bhoga-vaikalya-duḥkha-, pain due to defects in food; prob. in this mg. Bbh 11.1 upakaraṇa-vikalasya jivikāpekṣayam caturtha upakleśaḥ; MSV iii.19.20; 134.10. Cf. upakāraṇa.

-upakarṣikā, acc. to Tib. dishevelled state (of the hair of the head): LV 227.9 (prose); of the harem women mourning the loss of the Bodhisattva) kāścic chīrṣopakarṣikayā . . . rudanti sma (Tib. mgo ḥbal lo, had their heads dishevelled).

Upakāṇa, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.24.

? upakāraṇa (cf. AMg. uvagāraṇa = Skt. upakāra? or for Skt. and Pali upakaraṇa?), in Mmk 48.10 evaṃ laḍḍukāgarbhoktārakaviśeṣān (? seems corrupt) pūpopakāraṇān sarvadevabhūtagaṇān sarvasattvāmś ca mantropetān vidhinā niryātayet. We seem to need dat. instead of acc. forms for °gaṇān and °sattvāmś (as in the following parallel sentence); with that change, pūpopakāraṇān might mean benefactions consisting of cakes, or instruments (cf. upakaraṇa) of (making) cakes; or, with a mg. characteristic of upakaraṇa in Pali rather than Skt., commodities consisting of cakes; or finally, if = BHS upakaraṇa in Bbh 246.24 (see s.v.), food consisting of cakes.

Upakāla (= next; associated in both mgs. with Kāla, q.v.), (1) n. of a nāga king: Mvy 325.2; (2) n. of a yakṣa leader: Māy 236.10 (prose).

Upakālaka (= prec.), (1) n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.4 (prose); (2) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 7 (vs; cpd. Kālopa-kālakau).

upakileśa = upakleśa, q.v.

upakīrṇaka (cf. Skt. upakīrṇa, covered, bestreun), in Rājopakīrṇaka (sūtra), q.v.; mg. not clear, but the subject of the story suggests falling, reverting (to the king; of the property of one who dies without heirs), or that which has reverted etc.

Upakuśa, n. of a cakravartin king: Mvy 356.7.

Upakeśinī, n. of a Buddhist deity or yakṣiṇī, always associated with Keśinī, q.v.: Sādh 118.18; 120.4; 121.19; 131.18 (all prose). See next.

Upakeśī, once for Upakeśinī in vs (doubtless m.c.): Sādh 113.19.

upakrama, m. (= Pali upakkama; to upakramati; see also upasaṃkrama), violence, doing violence to . . . , attack (by violence): LV 258.2 (vs) kāyopakrama-karaṇai(r) manyante bālīśāḥ śuddhim; Mv ii.448.12 °meṇa ātmānam māreya; 492.1 ātmānam ca upakramaṇa māritukāmaḥ; similarly 493.20; Divy 235.9 sa evaṃvidha upakramaḥ kṛtāḥ; Bbh 244.6 ātmopakrama-duḥkham, and 7 paropakrama-duḥkham, . . . thru violence by oneself and by others.

upakramaṇa (nt.? = Pali upakkamaṇa), = upakrama, violent attack: Gv 244.1 sarvasattvakāyotpidānopakramaṇadhivāsayaṃānān, enduring . . . violent attacks. upakramati, also °meti (= Pali upakkamati; Skt.

upakrāmati in this sense once, Mbh 13.6716; cf. upakrama, °mana, °mika, aupakramika), attacks, does violence to: Mv ii.459.16 upakramemi ātmānam mārayiṣyam; 492.(7-8) mātmānam (mss.) upakramāhi; iii.25.2 ātmānam upakramiṣyāmi, and 4 °nam upakramitukāmah; Divy 264.12 upakrāntā, ppp., see s.v. upasaṃkrama.

-upakramika, adj. (also auṣa°, q.v.; upakrama plus ika: = Pali opakkamika), due to, caused by violence, violent attack: Gv 152.6 (vyādhin . . .) amanuṣyavaikārikān api viṣayaparopakramikān api (cf. Bbh 63.5 s.v. aupakramika); (ābādho . . .) ātmopakramiko vā paropakramiko vā MSV ii.45.8; otherwise recorded only in a cliché, ātmopakramikāṃ (due to self-inflicted violence) śariropatāpikāṃ duḥkhāṃ tivrāṃ kharāṃ kaṭukāṃ amanāpāṃ (te added once) vedanāṃ vedayanti LV 246.14 (vedayante); 263.7; (in Mv amanāpāṃ omitted) Mv ii.121.5, 10-11; 122.1, 8, 16; 123.5; 130.7-8, 10. A shorter Pali form MN i.241.10 opakkamikā dukkhā tippā kaṭukā vedanā vediyanti (Pali has no *attopakkamika). In Mv vedanā is usually recorded instead of °nām.

upakliṣyate (cf. Pali ppp. upakkiliṭṭha; and upakleśa), is stained: Bbh 10.8 (caturbhīr upakleśair . . .) upakliṣṭo bhavati; Śikṣ 234.8 (prose) āgantukaiḥ kleśair upakliṣyate, in passage cited from 'Ratnakūṭa' = KP 99.2, of which however text reads . . . upakleśe (read °śaiḥ) saṃkliṣyate.

upakleḍa, m. (cf. Skt. upaklinna, rotten), putrefaction: Gv 401.9 nābhūt . . . upakleḍo (of the teeth, of the mahāpuruṣa).

upakleśa, m. (also semi-MIndic °kileśa; cf. upakliṣyate; = Pali upakkileśa, of which 5, 10, or 18 are enumerated; evidently there was no definitively fixed list), (minor, secondary) impurity, stain, depravity; in most texts no very clear distinction is made between them and the kleśa in principle, but AbhidhK. La V-P. v.88 ff. (see esp. 89 of Transl. note 2) insists on the fundamental distinction, and comm. cites a list of 21 upa°; they 'proceed from' kleśa, 91; a list of 24 in Dharmas 69, whereas in 67 the 6 kleśa have been listed; 4 upak° listed Bbh 10.7 (caturbhīr upakleśair . . . upakliṣṭo bhavati) and 22 ff. (no relation to Dharmas list); Mvy 2138, following saṃyojana, bandhana, anuśaya, paryuṭṭhāna, and followed by paryavasthāna (so read); cf. Bbh 202.20 saṃyojana-bandhanānuśayopakleśa-paryavasthānānām; Śikṣ 222.10 (defining upāyāsa; (ye cānya evamādaya) upakleśās ta upāyāsāḥ; cf. KP 93.3 sopadavaḥ sopakleśa(h) sopāyāso; KP 99.2, see s.v. upakliṣyate; Mv i.228.11, 15 vigatopakileśena; SP 318.2 (sattvānām alpakuśalamūlānām) bahūpakleśānām; Lañk 358.11 (vs) upakleśair manāḍibhiḥ (see s.v. mana, app. m.c. for māna, which however is standardly one of the kleśa); 369.4 °śair na lipyate. The word seems likely to have been originally a noun cpd., upa plus kleśa; the rare verb upakliṣyate may be a back-formation from it; yet the ppp. upakkiliṭṭha occurs in canonical Pali.

upakṣetra, nt., subordinate (Buddha-)field: Mv i.121.9, 12, stated to be four times the size of a (Buddha-)kṣetra; the implication seems to be that the environs of the kṣetra constitute the upakṣetra. But no other reference has been noted.

(-) upaga, (1) at end of cpds. = upaka (1); with MIndic g for k, partly induced by secondary association with upa-ga(m)-; cf. Aśokan chāyopagāni, concerned with (i. e. providing) shade; belonging to: Dharmas 129 ākāśānantyāyatanopagāḥ, and three others of the same group incl. navasamjñānāsamjñāyatanopagāḥ (q.v. for other occurrences; see -upaka; Pali has °yatanūpaga); Mvy 6050 hastopagaḥ, 6051 pādopagaḥ, lit. doubtless belonging to the hands or feet, of ornaments placed there (Tib. rgyan = ornament); Pali has hatthupaga and pādupaga, Vv. comm. 12.5, as epithets of ornaments; (2) n. of an Ājīvaka, = Upaka (2), q.v.: Divy 393.20 (so mss., wrongly em.

in ed. to Upagaṇa); LV 406.7 (vs), same as Ud xxi.5, in both Upaga for Upaka of Pali correspondent and Mv iii.326.20 (LV tenopaga jino hy ahaṃ; Ud tato 'ham upaga jino; LV alone corrects the meter by transposing Upaga; Pali Vin. i.8.29 tasmāham upaka jino).

upagāta, also an-upa° (to Skt. °ta with specifying -ka), pl., those that have (or, have not) entered (here, to residence for rains): MSV ii.110.2 ff., see āvāsin; in 114.14 Tib. cited as dam beas pa, entered upon a vow.

upāgama, m., Mvy 7801, or nt., id. 7929, cited from Gv 134.5, a high number (in Gv 106.20 text upāgama-, q.v.)

upagunṭhita, ppp. (of upa-gunṭh-, not noted elsewhere), entwined, encircled: Mmk 63.1 (prose) hārārdhahāropagunṭhitadeham.

Upagūpta, n. of an alakṣaṇaka (q.v.) Buddha: Divy 348.24 ff.; converts Māra, 357.3 ff.; 385.7 ff.; 428.4; Av ii.203.1 (here called Sthavira-Upa°) ff.; MSV i.4.2 ff.; see next.

Upagūptaka = prec.: Divy 359.9 (prose; neither dim. nor pejorative force perceptible).

upagūḍhaka, adj. (Skt. °ḍha plus -ka, pejor.?), embraced (wrongly): pāpamitropa° MSV iv.223.1 (so the repentent Ajātaśatru, of himself; Buddha, repeating his words, uses upagūḍha, 223.6, 224.2).

[upagṛñite, approves, recommends: Jm 143.24 (dayānuvṛṭṭyā ca nāma te kṛtya-pakṣam) āśvāsanavidhinopagṛñite. So ed., but mss. (u)pagṛñite, wins over, which seems better.]

[upaghāta, wrong em. in ed. Mv i.229.7; see aruṇodghāta.]

upaghātika, adj. (cf. Skt. °tin, °taka; Pali °tika but as noun, injury, Vin. ii.13.31, contrary to PTSD), injuring . . . (end of cpd.): Mmk 559.6 atikrūras tvam vajrapāṇeḥ (read °ṇe) yas tvam sarvasattvānām sattvopaghātikam kāmopasaṃhitam ca mantratantṛam (= °trān) bhāṣayase.

upacaraṇa, nt., in piṇḍopacaraṇam Karmav 21.15, begging-round (= Pali piṇḍa-cāra; upacaraṇa not in Pali, in Skt. only in sūpa°, see BR).

upacāyaka, adj. (cf. Skt. upacāyin; to root cāy), revering: kulajyeṣṭhopacāyakaḥ Mvy 2434 (Tib. ri mor byed pa, revering).

upacāra, m. (= Pali id.; see also s.v. tādāvacara), (1) environs, neighborhood: Gv 151.18 deśapradeśopacāreṣu nimnonnata-samaviṣameṣv; Dbh 81.24 (mahābrahmā . . .) lokadhātau gahananimmopacārān avabhāsayati; (2) access (for Pali cf. PTSD s.v. 7, with references): Bbh 44.14 (see prajñapti 4).

Upacāru, n. of a cakravartin king: Mvy 3560. Seems to correspond to Pali Upacara, Mahāv. ii.2. Cf. Cāru.

upacita, adj.-ppp. (Skt., heaped up), (1) technically applied to karman, piled up; aggravé (Lévi): Karmav 30.14 ff.; 47.25 ff. (as explained here, acts may be kṛta, done, or not done, and both kinds may be upacita or not; see AbhidhK. La V-P. iv.114 n., 242); (2) honored (perhaps error for apacita): Mv ii.416.14 tasya (sc. Buddhasya) devamanujopacitasya (read °jāpacitasya?) añjalim kurutha.

Upacitaskandha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.1.

Upacitahanu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.16.

upacitra, °traka, adj. (in Skt. °tra only as n. of a meter), (somewhat) variegated: citropacitro Mv i.363.18 (of the deer-king); citropacitrāṇi pratyāstarāṇāni MSV ii.90.8. The cpd. seems to be intensive. Also, citropacitrako vatso MSV iv.196.15.

Upacelā, n. of a daughter of Siṃha (8): MSV ii.8.12 (cf. Cela).

upaceṣṭita, ppp. (to upa-ceṣṭ-, unrecorded), performed: Mmk 152.21 (vs) kriyā . . . sattvopaceṣṭitā.

upacchinatti (= Pali upacchinatti; Skt. has no cpd. of upa and chid; cf. upaccheda(-na) etc., an-upacchinna), cuts off, interrupts: AsP 177.4 kathāṃ nopacchinatti.

upaccheda, m. (= Pali id.; see upacchinatti, an-upaccheda, etc.), cutting off, severance, destroying: dharmopā the cutting off of the states of existence, of conditioned existence, in a formulaic list, followed usually by ṭṣṇākṣayo virāgo nirodho nirvānaṃ: Mv ii.285.20; iii.200.11; 314.5; LV 392.16 (separate from prec., for which mss. samartha); in LV 395.22 text sarvatamopacchedaḥ, no v.l., read perh. (sarva-?)dharmopā; āhāropā° Mv iii.65.18; -dāri-dryopā° Śikṣ 190.19; yamalokopā° Śikṣ 215.2; vṛṭtyupa° Karmav 41.8; vaiśāradyaopā° Karmav 41.26.

upacchedana (nt.), cutting off: vaṭṭopacchedana° LV 127.17, see vaṭṭa. See also upacchinatti, and an-upacchedana (-tā).

upajanayati, also °jān° (see under janayati, and Senart n. on Mv i.248.2), conceives (lit. produces) a thought or feeling, in oneself: Mv i.248.2 dullabhasamjñām upajanetvā, conceiving the thought that it is hard to get; ii.135.4 (vs) upajānaya tvam sukhāni, rejoice!; in LV 36.20 (vs) Lefm. gauravam upajenitvā (best mss. °janitvā; read °jānitvā, as meter requires long initial syllable?), conceiving veneration.

upajīvita, nt. (to Skt. and Pali upajīvati; cf. Skt. upajīvana), dependence, living a subject life: LV 262.10 (vs) varam mṛtyu (most mss. °yuh) prānaharo dhig grām-yam nopajīvitam, better death that takes away life; fie! is not dependence vulgar?

upa-tarati, ger. °tīrya, having crossed over (the saṃsāra), become saved: LV 329.18 (vs) svām' (see svāmam) upatīrya tāraya jagad, yourself having crossed (being saved), make to cross (i. e. save) the world; Tib. ñid rgal nas . . .

Upatiṣya (= Pali Upatissa; cf. Ṭiṣya 6-9), the given name of Śāriputra: Mv iii.56.11 ff. (story of his conversion); 269.11; 271.7; in Mvy 1047 mentioned in a list of śrāvakas, following Ṭiṣya, but not juxtaposed with Śāriputra (who occurs in 1032 in the same list).

upadarśayati, °ṣeti, (1) exhibits (in words) as a future prospect; promises, predicts (for someone): trīṇi yānāy upadarśayitvā SP 76.6; 79.5-6 (°darśayati); 82.4, 7, having held out a prospect of (promised) three vehicles; kusumāyām (loc., so read with mss.) mahāvīcim upadarśeti nāyakaḥ Mv i.184.4 (vs), the Leader holds out for Kusumā the prospect of (predicts, prophesies) the (hell called) Great Avici (as recompense for sin); (2) as in normal Skt., exhibits, displays (e. g. an art or skill: LV 143.22 śakyasi . . . śilpam upadarśayitum, can you exhibit an art?); in LV 143.20 mayā sārđham samarthaḥ śilpena śilpam upadarśayitum, lit. able to display art for art with me, i. e. to vie with me in such displays.

upadiśyati (semi-MIndic for Skt. °dṛś°), appears, perh. to be read in Mv i.50.15 and 51.11, see § 31.1 s.v. pad.

Upadukura, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.11.

Upadundubhi, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.16.

upadeśa, m., n. of a type of Buddhist literature, one of the pravacana (last in both lists, ninth in Dharmas, twelfth in Mvy), lit. instruction: Dharmas 62; Mvy 1278. App. not so used in Pali. See Burnouf, Intr. 65 f.

upadeśeti (°śayati), exhibits, displays: Mv i.169.16 jarāṃ ca upadeśenti, na caiśāṃ vidyate jarā; and 19, ārabdham (? mss. alabdhi) upadeśenti eṣā lokānuvartanā (see anuvartanā). Similarly 170.2 (they are not born or begotten, yet) mātāpitṛṇ ca deśenti eṣā lokānuvartanā; 170.10 alpotsukatvaṃ pradeśenti eṣā°. The mg. is regular for Skt. deśayati and for upadiśati, pradiśati, but not recorded for the causatives of the two latter. Nevertheless it seems necessary to keep the mss. readings, rather than read (upa-, pra-)darśenti, as Senart in his note was tempted to do (and that altho forms of darśayati are similarly used in the context, e. g. 170.4, 6).

upadrotar (to Skt. upa-dru-), oppressor, aggressor:

Mvy 2959 °tārah (n. pl.? or intended as n. sg.? cf. § 13.19; all other nouns in the section are sg.).

Upadharmā, n. of one of the brothers of Śāriputra: Mv iii.56.11.

upadhāna, (1) nt. (= Pali id., Dh. 291 paraduk-khūpadhānena yo attano sukham icchati, on the basis of, by means of, pain to others . . ., cf. Senart Mv i.464, n. on i.112.3), basis, what causes or is needful for . . ., usually in comp. with sukha-: SP 284.10 (vs), read, evaṃ (or, etan) mamō sarvasukhopadhānaṃ saddharma . . ., the Good Law which is the basis of all happiness for me; 339.4 sarvasukhopadhāna-pratimaṇḍitāḥ; 348.2 sattvānāṃ sarvasukhopadhānaṃ dadyāt; Jm 18.12 dānaṃ naikasukhopadhānaṃsumukhaṃ; Mvy 6140 sukhopadhānaṃ = Tib. bde baḥi yo byad, what is needful for happiness; sarvasukhopadhānena Mv i.302.6; Suv 67.11 (sukhitān kuryāt); 114.3; Kv 28.7; °dhānair Śikṣ 173.14; sukhopadhānāḥ (preceding word missing) KP 159.3; manuṣyasukhopadhānena Suv 113.10; upadhānaṃsaṃpanno Mv ii.259.14, ep. of Buddha, possessed of the basis (sc. of happiness, presumably short for sukhopa°); also cpd. with hita-, Mv i.112.3 (vs) sarvaṃ hitopadhānaṃ, all the basis of well-fare; with duḥkha- (as in Pali, above), Gv 354.16 yat teṣāṃ sattvānāṃ duḥkhopadhānaṃ tad utṣṛjya; Mmk 110.20-21, see s.v. śātana; (2) ifc. Bhvr., base, rest, support (lit. and physical): Karmav 22.3, 5 and 27.9 āsmanta-kopadhānāyām (resting on a stove) kāmasyapātryām (in 22.5 °kopādh°, misprint); (3) piṇḍopadhāna, see this; (4) m., n. pr., in Mv iii.176.14, a cousin of the Buddha, son of Śuklodana and brother of Ānanda and Devadatta; perh. distortion of some other name (Upananda?).

upadhāni, some part of a lute, perhaps bridge (as the support on which the strings rest)?: AsP 515.19 droṇiṃ ca pratīya carma ca pratīya tantriś ca pra° daṇḍam ca pra° upadhāniś ca pra° koṇam ca pra° . . . viṇāyāḥ śabdo niścarati.

upadhi (m.; = Pali upadhi, and also Pali upādi), (1) substratum of continued existence; attachment, bond uniting one to existence. Acc. to Childers upādi means the khandhas alone, while upadhi includes also kilesa (with which PTSD makes it 'almost synonymous'), kāma, and kamma; but acc. to PTSD upadhi is sometimes equated with the pañca-kkhandhā. In Pali, upādi is, acc. to PTSD, used only in comp. with -sesa, in cpds. usually beginning sa- or an- and regularly epithets of nibbāna (-dhātu); these are represented in BHS by anupadhīśeṣa, nirupa°, sopa°, qq.v. But BHS also has upadhi and nir-up° (m.c. niropadhi) = Pali (nir-)upadhi. The passages here listed belong exclusively to this latter class, = Pali upadhi. (But it seems that even in Pali, upadhi and upādi are not always clearly distinguished.) upadhī-kṣiṇā LV 358.18 (vs); sarvopadhi-pratiniḥsarga the getting rid of all up° LV 31.21; Mv ii.285.20; iii.314.4; sarvopadhi-niḥsarga (Bhvr., with dharma) LV 392.11; 395.21; sarvopadhikṣaya-Mv i.115.8; cf. ii.418.10 upadhi (mss., Senart em. °dhim) pratīya duḥkhasya sambhavo sarvaśopadhikṣayatō (mss., Senart em. sarvopā) . . . nāsti duḥkhasya sambhavo; Mv iii.282.6 upadhi-samkṣaye; Divy 224.20 śalyam upadhīm viditvā; Ud ii.20 upadhīm hi loke śalyam iti matvā, P'attachement . . . c'est la misère . . . Others s.v. niropadhi. In Mvy 6499 upadhi has three Tib. definitions; the first, phuṃ po, regularly = skandha (as Pali upādi = khandha); the third, ñon moṅs pa, regularly = kleśa (as Pali upadhi, 'almost syn. with kilesa,' PTSD); while the second, rdzas, thing, substance, matter, belongs to a meaning of the word app. unknown to Pali, viz. (2) material thing, 'chose matérielle' (Lévi, = Tib. dños, which also = Skt. vastu), Sūtrāl. xvii.3 (n. 1 in Transl.); see also LaVallée Poussin, AbhidhK. iv.15 with n. 1: 'Par upadhi, il faut entendre la chose (ārama, vihāra, etc.) donnée à un moine ou au Saṃgha: le mérite qui procède (tadbhava) de cet upadhi s'appelle aupadhika' (q.v.). Hence, (3) in Divy 50.28 bhagavān upadhau vartate, the Lord was acting in regard to material things (of the assembly of monks), i. e. in the function of an upadhi-vārika, q.v. (= aupadhike Divy 542.17). (See also s.v. plotikā.)

upadhika, adj. = aupadhika, q.v.: LV 32.1 (prose) sarvopadhika-puṅyākrīyāvastv-abhibhāvanatāyāi (no v.l.). Weller 18 assumes sarv' opadhika-, MIndic for aup', which seems less plausible than assumption of the form lacking vrddhi.

upadhi-vāra, m., guardianship of material objects, the office of an upadhi-vārika, q.v.: Divy 54.17 anyatamasyārhatā upadhivārah prāptaḥ; 21 kaśya dāsīputrasyopadhivāra iti. (Divy Index wrongly treats this as equivalent to °vārika.)

upadhi-vāraka (only Divy 542.21), regularly °vārika, m. (from prec.; see upadhi 3), lit. guardian of material objects; beadle or provost of a monastery, in charge of physical properties: Mvy 9067 = Tib. dge skos (Jā. dge bskos, Das dge skyos or bskyos), lit. virtue (or welfare, or alms) commissioner; see AbhidhK. LaV-P. iv.237 note 1; Divy 50.27 upadhivārikasya; 81.27 (= MSV i.80.5) °kaḥ prṣṭaḥ; 237.16 (Dharmarucir) vihāre °ko vyavasthāpitāḥ; 237.24; 542.21 °vārakasya, but 543.17, repeating the substance of 542.21, °vārikasya; Av ii.87.2 tata upadhivārikena gaṇḍir ākoṭitā; he announced the day of the half-month to the monks, MSV iii.98.8-9. Acc. to Das, this officer was 'a supervisor or director of monks . . . a sort of provost-sergeant . . . who keeps strict order and punishes transgressors.' This fits well the usual mg. of Tib. dge ba (virtue).

upadhyāyati, blames, finds fault with, thinks (or speaks) ill of: LV 157.11 (prose) te tām upadhyāyanti.

Upananda, (1) n. of a monk, disciple of the Buddha: SP 2.6; one of the ṣaḍvārgika or ṣaḍvārgīya group, Mvy 9472 (with Nanda, 9471; cf. Nandopananda); MSV ii.99.4 ff.; 117.6 ff.; 199.14 ff.; (2) n. of a nāga-king, always associated and almost always compounded with Nanda, 2, q.v. for references.

Upanandaka (= prec., 2), n. of a nāga-king: Suv 162.9; Mmk 437.2 (both vss, prob. m.c.; in cpd. Nandopa°).

Upanara, n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3266. Cf. next (doubtless the same).

Upanala, n. of a nāga-king: Māy 246.18. Cf. prec.

upa-naśyati, perishes: Sukh 4.13 (na ca tathāgata-syendriyāṇy) upanaśyeyur.

(upanahyati = Skt. id., Pali upanayhati; in Dh. 3.4 PTSD defines (ye taṃ) upanayhanti by bear enmity towards; but most interpreters take it in the usual sense, ye taṃ upanayhanti, who are attached to this (thought). The same vss Ud xiv.9, 10; MSV ii.184.2, 4 read atra ye copanahyanti (Ud 10, MSV 4 nopa°; MSV 2 ye upa°); here atra, loc., depends on the verb: who are (not) attached to this (thought). However, note the BHS and Pali upanāha, q.v.) upanāmayati, °te, °nāmeti (= Pali upanāmeti, brings, presents; once in Skt., GobhGS. 2.1.7 (piṇḍān) kumārī upanāmayet, he shall offer [tender, hold out] to the girl); most mgs. classifiable under the two headings brings (to a person or place), and presents, offers; but the two shade into each other, and there are aberrant cases; in practically all, the thing (or person) brought or presented is acc., or nom. in passive expressions; the goal or recipient is sometimes acc., rarely loc., but much more commonly gen., rarely dat., with both act. and pass. expressions; very rarely nom., subject of a pass., the thing presented being then acc., LV 386.17 (vs), read with best mss. āhāram upanāmye 'yaṃ (for °yet-ayam; Lefm. °yeta), let him be tendered food; (1) brings, physically (to): Mv ii.159.13 and 160.2 upanāmehi me (chandaka aśvaṃ) kaṇṭhakam, bring me . . .; Mv i.156.11 (vs); Av i.341.11 upanipātita, ppp. to °pātayati (caus. to Skt. upanipāt, or denom. to upanipāta?), in °ta-tva, state of being made to appear, or the like: Dbh 42.(27-28) (cittaśarīrapra)piḍanopanipātītadvā vastusatyam prajānāti.

upanisā = upaniśā, see upaniśa.

upanisāraya, m. (cf. Pali upanisāya, but the usual Pali mg. does not seem to be quite paralleled here), (1) dependence, reliance: Śikṣ 32.4 sarvasattvā buddhopaniśārayavihāriṇo (dwelling in reliance on the Buddha) bhavantu; Gv 462.17 kalyāṇamitropaniśāraye vihāriṇo bodhisattvā(ḥ); 470.24 ye te sarvakalyāṇamitropaniśāraya-vihāra-vihāriṇaś ca; (2) in Mvy 9194 °yah, residence for a little while, temporary residence, acc. to Tib. re zhig gnas bcaḥ ba, and Chin.

upanis̥rita, ppp. (= Pali upanissita; cf. prec. two and next), dependent on, reliant or based upon, once with instr.: Ud xxx.50 satkāyenopanis̥ritāḥ (text erroneously upaniṣṛitya, ger., postposition (to Skt. upa-ni-śri-, but actually a Sktization of upaniṣṛāya, q.v.; in mss. often written upaniṣṛtya, sometimes °śṛtya, which is undoubtedly an error, Speyer Av Introd. CIX, Weller p. 29), near, with acc.: LV 2.17 śrāvastīm mahānagarīm upaśṛitya viharatī sma; so regularly foll. by viharatī, nagarīm upa° vi° Divy 54.15; Av i.237.13; 248.1 etc.; caityam upa° viharanti Divy 207.11; pūrvām diśam upaniṣṛityāsthāt LV 217.19, took a stand near the eastern quarter, and so 218.3, 8, 14; examples of spelling °śṛtya in mss. upaniṣaṇṇa, ppp. (to upa-ni-śidati, only Vedic and not in this sense; cf. Pali upaniṣidati), seated: Bbh 59.20 sukhopaniṣaṇṇa-, comfortably seated. Cf. next.

upaniṣaṇṇaka, m. (= prec. plus 'specifying ka'), the one that is seated: Mv ii.447.1 kuśādrumam kumārām rājāsena upaniṣaṇṇakam upadarśayati, showed K. the prince, who was seated on the throne (not the real king).

upaniṣad, f., upaniṣā, also written °śā, °sā, °sad (= Pali upaniṣā, in mgs. 1 and 2; on relation to Skt. upaniṣad see Schayer, RO 3.57 (1926), magic correspondence; Renou, in C. Vaj 42.7; Śikṣ, all 3 times) or vistareṇa yāvad (Bbh 236.22) or without any such phrase indicating abbreviation (e. g. Bbh 104.9); on the other hand, additional terms may be added, esp. at the end (before na...), as dhṛtipadam (q.v.) api RP, aupamyam api Vaj 35.10; AsP (both times but before upani°); Dbh. The forms of our word, besides the regular upaniṣadam, are: upaniṣām SP 333.7 (ed., but most mss. °śadam; one °śām api °śadam api); RP; KP; °śām AsP both times, and see SP 333.7 above; °śām Sukh; Gv; Dbh; in AsP (both times), as in one ms. of SP 333.7 (above), the item is duplicated, reading upaniṣām apy upaniṣadam (72.4 °śadam) api; for the verb, na kṣamate (or pl. nte) and nopaiti are equally common, while Sukh has the isolated na gaṇito bhavet. Tib. (on Mvy, and acc. to Bendall on Śikṣ 187.1) renders upaniṣad in this passage by rgyu, cause, but this clearly makes no sense. A sort of modulation of this cliché, with nom. sg. forms, in SP 299.13 na teṣām samkhyā vā gaganā vopamā vopaniṣad vopabhyate; also Dbh 66.8 (yeṣām samkhyā nāsti) gaganā pramaṇam upaniṣad aupamyam nāsti. The mss. read °sattvopari° or °sattva-pari°, unmetr.; Senart em. °sattvā pari° in 57.3, °sattva-prati° in 59.23. But ri for ni is an easy corruption, and the -o- (required by meter), together with the Pali, confirms our reading.

Upariṣṭā, once recorded for Upariṣṭa, q.v.

upariṣṭā, semi-MIndic for Skt. °ṭāt, postp., above, with gen.: Mmk 41.7 teṣām apy upariṣṭā aṣṭau uṣṇīśarā-jānaḥ (in 41.5 note teṣām upariṣṭāt); 63.9 teṣām copariṣṭā . . .; 63.14 āryamañjuśriyasyopariṣṭāḥ (read °ṭā) anekaratnoparicitam . . . vimānamañḍalam . . . abhīlikhet; 68.23 teṣām copariṣṭā . . .; 132.5 (vs) pārvatasypariṣṭā vai kuryād ratnamālakām. (Impossible to construe the form as n. pl. of adj. upariṣṭha = Pali upariṣṭha, n. pr., see prec.)

upariṣṭhima, adj. (= Pali upariṣṭhima; cf. Skt. upariṣṭāt and § 22.15) = uparima, upper, aloft: noted only in ʾimāyām, sc. diśāyām, SP 191.6 (vs), in the zenith.

uparodha-śīla, adj., whose character is subject to importunity: Mvy 2440 = Tib. ño mi chod pa (or, mi zlog pa), defined Das p. 356 one who listens to or does a thing to please another which he would not otherwise have done. The cpd. is not otherwise known, but Skt. uparodha may mean importunity, KSS 54.173 (inaccurately defined Rücksicht in BR 5.1192); Vikramacarita JR 4.2.1.

-uparodhaka, f. ʾikā, adj. (Skt. upa-rudh plus aka), interfering with . . ., in dharmoparodhikāyām vedanāyām vartamānāyām Av 1.234.8.

uparddha, regularly written in Mv for upārdha, q.v.; and see next.

Uparddha-kāśikā (mss., Senart em. Upārdha-), n. of a harlot: Mv iii.375.18, sister of Kāśikā, q.v.; so called because she was worth a fee of half a thousand (kāśi, q.v.), 376.1. Cf. Pali Aḍḍhakāśi, ʾikā (CPD, DPPN).

Upala (prob. represents, m.c., Mīndic Uppala = Skt. Utpala; § 2.88; cf. Utpala 4, Utpalaka 3, and Padma 4, id.), n. of a mythical kalpa, in which lived successively 300 former Buddhas termed Kauṇḍinya-gotra: Mv iii.233.17 (vs) ekatra kalpe upalāhvayasmim.

upala-kunḍaka (m. or nt.), chamber-pot (lit. stone pot): ʾke saśukram prasrāvam kṛtam Mv iii.143.16; 144.7; 153.11; 154.8; tato ʾkāto tam ṛṣisya saśukram prasrāvam pītam 153.12.

upalagna, ppp. (= JM. Ap. uvalagga), attached, clinging: Mmk 62.26 (prose) (daśa)balajaṭāntopalagnopa-ṣiṣṭam.

upalabdha, ppp. (in specialized mg., which I have failed to find elsewhere), won over, persuaded to one's wishes: (tayā ta) upalabdhā uktā ca MSV ii.22.8.

upalabhyate, ʾti (in mg. 1 = Pali upalabbhati, pass. of upa-labh, much commoner than the act.): (1) is found, occurs, like Skt. vidyate. This mg. seems probable in KP 98.1, where for corrupt text read prob. nobhayayor antṛ ile upalabhyate, or perh. with the quotation Śikṣ 234.2 nobhayam antarenopa; and KP 102.1–2 yan na labhyate tan nopalabhyate, what is not found, does not occur (exist?); it must however be noted that Tib. renders mi dmigs pa, is not conceived mentally, fancied (see under upalambha); (2) is upbraided, reproached: Mv iii.291.16 ʾyati; 295.13 ʾyamāno; no v.l., but as Senart notes, this is the regular mg. of Skt. upālabhyate; perhaps read upā°, but note the curious fact that Das cites a Tib. dmigs paḥi (regularly = upa-labh and derivatives!) smra (speech), defined by execration, reviling (apavāda)!

upalambha (cf. Skt. id.; not recorded in Pali; cf. prec., an-upa°, an-upaladdhi, the next items, and aupalambhika), acc. to standard interpretation, mental perception or apprehension, realization by the intellect; Sūtrāl. xviii.92 comm. buddhyā pratipattiḥ; Tib. dmigs (-pa) thought, fancy, imagination; to construe in one's mind, etc.; see also La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. Index s.v. upaladdhi. Were it not for this persistent tradition, some occurrences, esp. of the neg. forms (an-upalambha, ʾlabdhī), could easily be interpreted as related to upalabhyate (1) and mg. (non-)occurrence, (non-)existence. These mgs. are attributed by CPD to an-upaladdhi, ʾlabbhana; and tho not recognized in PTSD, occurrence, existence seems to me the probable mg. of upaladdhi in the two passages cited for it, Miln. 268.7 and Vv. comm. 279.10. In many BHS places inconceivability or non-occurrence, non-reality would make equally good sense for an-upa°. I do not, however, venture to abandon what seems to have been the standard tradition. Reliance on upalambha, mental perception, fancy, is an error, stigmatized as upalambha-drṣṭi, the heresy that relies on upalambha, LV 35.6 (or as Bhvr., one who adheres to that heresy, SP 383.12); see also ʾdrṣṭika. Similarly upalambha-samjñin Śikṣ 315.1, having the (false) notion of upalambha; upalambha-yogena, by the (erroneous) method of upalambha, ŚsP 1042.16, repeated formulaically (cf. anupalambha-yogena s.v. anupalambha).

upalambha-drṣṭika (see prec.) one who holds the heretical view of reliance on mental perception or imagination (see upalambha): RP 18.18 ʾko . . . bodhisattvena na sevityavyaḥ; KP 123.6; 134.14.

upalambhika? see auṣa°, opa°.

upalāḍana (nt., = Skt. upalāna; to next), coddling, amusing, spoiling: Bbh 302.13 ātmopalāḍana-parāḥ, bent on amusing themselves (with shows and other amusements).

upalāḍayati (= Skt. upalāyati), caresses, coddles, treats affectionately: Prāt 516.10 upasthāpayed vā upalāḍayed vā; Divy 114.26 tās tvām atyartham upalāḍayanti; 230.11–12 (see note p. 707); 503.9. Cf. prec.

upalāpana, nt. (= Pali id.; to next), wheedling, cajoling, humbugging: Śikṣ 261.8 bālopalāpanam (. . . of fools, or children) mūrkhasaṃmohanam. The more usual term is bālollāpana, see ullāpana.

upalāpayati (cf. Pali upalāpeti, and prec.), flatters, cheers up: pass. pres. pple., Jm 113.11 strīnṛttagitair upalāpyamānaḥ.

Upalāla, n. of a nāga king: Kv 2.9.

upa-vatsati, or (v.l.) upa-vatsayati (denom. to vatsa; as to preverb, cf. upalāḍayati), treats affectionately: Bbh 362.23 kālena ca kālam vaiśeṣikeṇa lābhena priyavāditayā copavatsati (v.l. ʾtsayati), na caiṣu dāsi-dāsa-samjñām karoti (sc. a bodhisattva, in dealing with servants and dependents).

upavadati (= Pali id.; also Vedic, but not Cl. Skt. in this mg.; cf. Anupavadya, nirupavadya), blames, reproaches: Mv i.70.2 (vs) te hi no upavadeyur (so 4 mss.; Senart with v.l. upadeyur, but this form is bad, it should be ʾpadyeyur) anudagrā (mss.), they would blame us as ignoble (or, if anudagrā is nom., being displeased, distressed; this is perhaps more likely).

upavarga (m. or nt.; cf. JM. uvavajjana = Skt. *upavarjana, abandonment), abandonment: Gv 364.16 (vs) svargopavargair viniveśya sattvān sarvajñābhūmim pravidaṛṣayanti.

upavarta, m. Mvy 7791, or nt. id. 7920; Gv 134.1: a high number. In Mvy 7920 cited from Gv, which in the source of the quotation, 134.1, has the same, but in a corresponding list 106.17 udvetana, q.v.

upavartana (nt.; Pali Upavattana, see below; Skt. upavartana, nt., country, Lex., and once Śukasaptati text. orn. p. 340 (24), line 32, virāḥopavartane), land, country (? in Pali, at least later, n. of a locality in the Malla country or of the śāl-grove there where Buddha entered nirvāṇa); Divy 208.25, 209.3 (tathāgato . . . pari)nirvāṇāya gamiṣyati Mallānām upavartanam Yamakaśālavanam; Av i.227.6 (viharati sma Mallānām) upavartane (ms. ʾtate) Yamakaśālavane; virtually the same Av ii.197.5; Mmk 580.9(–10) (vss) Mallānām upavartane (text ʾte), Yamakaśālakavane madhye nirvāṇam me bhaviṣyati; 580.17 (vs) Yamakaśālakavane tatra Mallānām upavartane (so read for text upadartate!); 598.22–24 (vss) Yamakaśālavanane caitye makuṭabandhe tu (cf. 580.11 caitye makuṭavardhane) Mallānām upavartane, parinirvrṭe (? read ʾto or ʾtaṣ) ca tatrāham . . . Occurs in Pali and BHS only in reference to the place of the Buddha's parinirvāṇa. In the canonical Pali texts, e.g. DN ii.137.3 (cf. comm. ii.572–573) yena Kusinārā upavattanam Mallānām sālavanam ten(a) . . . , and cf. esp. Dpv. 15.70 Kusinārāyam bhagavā Mallānām upavattane, it could be understood as the country (of the Mallas); but the comms. seem to have taken it as a place-name, specifically the name of the śāl-grove where the Buddha died. And this is perhaps confirmed by one passage, Dpv. 6.19 yadā ca parinibbhāyī sambuddho Upavattane, where the gen. Mallānaṃ is not found, and Upa° most naturally would be a n. of a place (but see below). In Akanuma's Dictionary of the Proper Names of Indian Buddhism the word is misquoted as Upavattava = Skt. °vartava (but the Chinese transcriptions quoted end consistently in -tan, supporting °vartana); the Chin. translations seem regularly to interpret it as a common noun, uncultivated land (the word for land usually rendering bhūmi, land, country). This may be interpreted as support for use as a common noun, as it is used (rarely) in Skt. Note that in BHS the name of the grove is clearly Yamakaśāla(kavāna), q.v.; not so in Pali. Modern editors and interpreters seem unanimously to take Pali Upavattana as n. of the grove (see DPPN s.v. for some other references; but the important Dpv. 6.19 is not cited there). On the other hand, Divy ed. prints upavartanam with a small initial letter; it fails to record the word in Index or Notes. I am inclined, with some dubiety, to understand the BHS word as a common noun, country. Even the Pali word may have had that meaning originally, and in the canonical passages still. Later, the Pali comms. seem clearly to have understood it as the n. of the śāl-grove; and in Dpv. 6.19 it looks like a place name. Yet, if the Chin. translation uncultivated (waste, barren) land be accepted, perhaps upavattane might be understood in this sense in that passage.

? upavitarka (m.?), in Mv ii.74.3 °keṣu vā, at the end of a list of arts and exercises (in Mv almost wholly martial; LV p. 156 in corresponding passage includes many non-martial) in which the Bodhisattva challenges the other Śākya youths; preceded by rathasmiṃ vā dhanusmiṃ vā tharusmiṃ vā, which does not fit well with any intellectual exercise (reasoning or the like) such as the apparent etymology suggests.

-upaviśeṣa, adj., at end of cpds., lit. forming a subordinate variety (of . . .), a kind or sort, variety (of . . .): LV 44.3 (vs) devy-upaviśeṣa marutsnuṣeva, a kind of goddess . . . upasaṃhāra, m. (to °harati; Pali cited PTSD only Miln. 298.7, where devatūpasaṃhāro (supinam passati) prob. means not 'being seized or possessed by a god' but thru providing, procurement, causation of, i. e. by, a god), (1) (cf. upasaṃharati 1 and 2) collection or provision, esp. of food and drink: Divy 237.7 (also 9) bhikṣubhir upasaṃhāra ārabdhaḥ kartum; Av i.113.3 (kriyatām asya gṛhāpater) upasaṃhāra iti; Bbh 80.6 and 81.27 āmiṣopasaṃhāra, defined 81.28 as bhojanapānādivikalānāṃ bhojanapānādyupasaṃhārah; Bbh 209.26, 27; also furnishing, providing of other things, Bbh 80.6 and 82.3 dharmopasaṃhāra, defined 82.4 as dharmāṇāṃ anupradānam, q.v.; Bbh 208.4 upakaraṇavikalānāṃ upakaraṇopasaṃhāram karoti; Bbh 19.2 hitasukhopasaṃhāra-prayogaḥ; 23.24 (dharma, as above); 27.20 (hita); 210.8 (naṣṭapratibhānāṇāṃ) sattvānāṃ pratibhānopasaṃhārāya, cf. Suv 102.17, s.v. upasaṃharati 3; Dbh 65.7 (tasya . . . bodhisattvasya . . . buddhā) bhagavantas . . . tathāgatājñānopasaṃhāram kurvanti, the Blessed Buddhas make (for this Bodhisattva) a providing of Tathāgata-knowledge; Gv 144.17 mayaite poṣitāḥ pāramitopasaṃhārair, . . . by providing for them the perfections; Suv 68.14 (sarvasattvānāṃ) sarvahitopasaṃhārābhīyuktāḥ; Av ii.129.14 mayātīva evamvidho dveṣapratyaopasaṃhārah kṛto, by me such an excessive collection of causes of hatred was made; so the ms., Speyer em. to °opasaṃhārah, and in fact in the next line (15) the ms. reads dveṣopasaṃbhāro, but upasaṃbhāra seems otherwise unknown and should prob. be emended to upasaṃhāra, rather than vice versa; one alternative Tib. rendering of upasaṃhārah at Mvy 6395 is ñe bar (near, a lit. rendering of upa) bsgrub pa (make, provide, supply), cf. KP 3.6 s.v. upasaṃharati 3; (2) production, the act or process of producing or causing; in Tib. the usual rendering seems to be ñe bar (= upa) sbyor (or sbyar) ba (produce, compose), as in Mvy 4407 and 4414 (see below), and in one alternative at 6395 (see just above), while at 4457 it is lti bar sbyor ba (I cannot find what lti means); another word meaning produce, bskyed pa, is used in 8487 for kaukrīyopasaṃhārah, the causing of disturbance of mind or conscience, remorse (see kaukrīya and upasaṃharati 3; the corresp. Pali passage, Vin. iv.149.9, has kukkuccam upadaheyya); on Mvy 8502 see below; Dbh 72.12 dharmālokopasaṃhāram pratichati (here the mg. production, viz. of the light of the law, is guaranteed by the verb upasaṃharati just before, see that word, 3); (3) (cf. upasaṃharati 4, 5) specialized as production in words, presentation (orally), statement, declaration, proclamation, esp. of something of religious nature: Mvy 8502 śikṣopasaṃhārapratikṣepaḥ, rejection of a statement of instruction (prob. refers to the case of Pali Vin. iv.143.16, Mīnayeṭṭ, 17.20 ff.); here Tib. ñe bar (= upa) hjoḡ pa (put, place, arrange); Mvy 4407, 4414 -dṛṣṭāntopasaṃhāra-, presentation or statement of a comparison; Śikṣ 2.6 durlabho bhūtanayānuśāsany-upasaṃhārah; 11.8–9 dānakāle śilopasaṃhārasyāpekṣā (acc. to note in Transl. of Bendall and Rouse, read °syopekṣā).

upasaṃhāraṇa (nt.; = prec.), provision, furnishing: Bbh 270.12–13 priyāpriya-samyogaviyogopasaṃhāraṇa-tayā, by the fact of provision (for creatures in need) of association or dissociation with pleasant or unpleasant things (respectively), i. e. by the fact that he (the Bodhisattva) sees to it that creatures are thus looked out for.

upasaṃkrama (m.; to upasaṃkramati), violent attack, = upakrama; Mv ii.492.2 ātmānam upasaṃkrameṇa mārītukāmo (in prec. line same phrase with upakrameṇa); Divy 264.11 na śakyam asyā atopasaṃkramam kartum aranyaṃ nayāmiti; sā tenāraṇyaṃ nītvā tathopākṛāntā yathā kālagatā (otherwise Index and pw 7.325).

upasaṃkramaṇa (nt.; = Pali °kramaṇa; in Skt. only Gr.; to °kramati), (1) act of approaching, approach: Mv i.255.5 (bhagavantaṃ) darśanāya upasaṃkramaṇāya paryupāsanaṇā (quasi-infinitives); LV 36.2 -bodhimaṇḍo-pasaṃkramaṇa-; 430.15 paṇḍitopasaṃkramaṇa-; Gv 44.21 sarvatathāgatopasaṃkramaṇa-, 22 -jagadupasaṃkramaṇa-; 242.5 -kalyāṇamitropasaṃkramaṇam adhyatiṣṭhat; Bbh 31.26 sarvasattva-sarvakālo-pasaṃkramaṇa-sambhāṣaṇa-samvāsa- (etc.); 240.5 upasaṃkramaṇa-paryupāsana- (etc.); (2) approaching (a man, sexually): (girls) nr̥ttakuśalāḥ hasitakuśalāḥ puruṣopasaṃkramaṇa-kuśalā(h) RP 41.17.

upasaṃkramati (cf. upasaṃkrama, °maṇa; in Skt. approaches, and so also BHS, e. g. Mv iii.94.6; Divy 129.10), violently attacks: Mv ii.174.3 and 4 ātmānam (aham) upasaṃkrameyam, I would do violence to (= kill) myself; 492.4 ātmānam upasaṃkramitukāmāḥ; iii.25.15 ātmānam eva upasaṃkramitukāmo; Śikṣ 355.12.

upasaṃjaneti (for °nayati; Skt. upa-saṃ-jaṇ-, mid. intrans., appears, presents oneself, produces, establishes: Mv ii.223.3 karaṇam upasaṃjanetvā (so with mss.) imāṃ girāṃ abhyudīreṃi (mss. °retsuh, °ransuh).

upasaṃdarśayati, manifests: LV 244.4 (prose) tathārūpam upāyam upasaṃdarśayeyam, yenaite ca pratyaṅkā bhaveyuh.

upasamanvāhr̥ta, ppp. (to *upa-sam-anv-ā-har-; note that samanvāhr̥ta (see samanvāharati 3) is used in this same sense, but only once, in the near vicinity of this word, Divy 288.16), collected (of food): Divy 286.18 trailokyaguror anurūpa āhāra upasamanvāhr̥taḥ.

upasamika, see upasamika.

upasaṃpadā, and °padā, f. (cf. the next items; = Pali upasaṃpadā, in both mgs.; the form °padā is regular, perhaps universal, in Mv, but has been noted elsewhere only in Kv 96.7, other texts having °pad), (1) attainment: Mv iii.420.12 (vs, = Pali Dhp. 183) kuśalasyopasaṃpadā (Dhp. kusalassa upasaṃpadā); (2) ordination (as monk or nun): four kinds Mv i.2.15 f., svāma-up°, ehibhik-ṣukāya (instr.) up°, daśavargena (so!) gaṇena up°, pañcavargena gaṇena up° (see the several terms); °padā-bhāvam icchanti Kv 96.7; usually in standing formula preceded by pravrajyā, and followed by bhikṣubhāvaḥ (or bhikṣuṇī-bh°); so (°padā) Mv ii.234.7; iii.65.7; 92.11; 180.16; 329.14; 376.15; 379.17; only pravrajyā and upasaṃpadā Mv ii.271.2; iii.386.16; pravrajyā upasaṃpadā bhikṣubhāvaḥ Bbh 193.2; similarly LV 409.20; and (bhikṣuṇībhāvaḥ) Bhik 4a.2; pravrajyām upasaṃpadam (acc.) bhikṣubhāvam Divy 15.19; 340.(14-)15; 551.11; Av i.233.10; (bhikṣuṇībhāvam) Bhik 3a.1; 4a.1. upasaṃpanna, adj. (ppp.; = Pali id.; cf. an-upa°, and the prec. and foll. items), ordained (as a monk): Mvy 8715; sūpasampannāḥ (of śrāvakas) Mvy 1093; varṣāto-pasaṃpannasya bhikṣusya Mv iii.180.16; °nnānām bhikṣuṇām Mv iii.329.13; 379.16; °nnasya bhikṣor LV 409.19.

upasaṃpannaka, m. (prec. plus specifying -ka). one that has been ordained (with gen. of ordainer): sarvasyopasaṃpannako MSV iii.124.13, . . . by anybody.

upasaṃpādāna, nt. (to next; not in Pali Dictt.), ordination, act of ordaining (a monk): Mvy 8498 unavimśavarṣopasaṃpādānam.

upasaṃpādayati, °deti (= Pali °deti; cf. prec. items), ordains, receives into the order of monks: Kv 96.13 duṣṣīlena bhikṣuṇā nopasaṃpādayitvayam; regularly preceded by a parallel form of pravrajayati, °jeti: Mv i.323.7 pravrajētu upasaṃpādetu, similarly Mv iii.65.1; 180.11; °pādetḥa Mv i.323.8; (pravrajēhi . . .) upasaṃpādehi Mv iii.379.12; ppp. upasaṃpādita, regularly used when the actual ordination ceremony is in mind, thus slightly differing from upasaṃpanna, q.v., which means (one that has been ordained); regularly preceded by pravrajita (in Divy 180.21 text pravrajita); nom. of various numbers, Mv iii.376.14; 377.5; 401.16; Divy 180.21; 331.7; 551.13 (dual); Av i.104.4.

Upasāgara, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.13 (follows Sāgara, q.v.).

Upasimha, n. of a yakṣa leader: Māy 235.18.

?upasr̥ṣṭa, in sopsar̥ṣṭāmbaravasanā MSV ii.23.7, would seem to mean she (a wife whose husband had gone away), abandoning the wearing of (fine) garments (kleśair bādhitum ārabdhā). But Tib. seems to have been different; it is cited as de yañ (should = sāpi) kha zas zhim po dañ (= with well-tasting food).

Upasena (identity of 1, 2, and 3, and of any of them with one of the Pali personages of this name, not certain), (1) n. of a monk who converted Śāriputra: Mv iii.60.3; (2), possibly = 1) n. of a nephew of the three Kāśyapas, who became a follower of Buddha: Mv iii.431.1; doubtless the same iii.103.2 (named after Nadi-Kāśyapa and Gayā-Kāśyapa) and Mvy 1053 (named shortly after Uruvilvā-Kāśyapa and Nadi-K°); (3) Upasena Balāntīputra (perh. = Pali U. Vaṅgantaputta? Instead of Balāntī-Tib., gar mkhan ma, points to Nartakī-), n. of an evidently important Buddhist elder, who had a retinue of 500 monks: MSV iii.21.12 ff.; (4) n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.9.

upaskṛta, ppp. (cf. Skt. an-upaskṛta, nir-upa°; apparently Skt. literature knows no other forms of upa-(s)kar- in this sense), corrupted: Mv i.132.7 deśikena sārthacaaurair upaskṛtena, by a guide who had been corrupted (bribed) by caravan-thieves.

upastabdhā, ppp. (to Skt. upa-stambh-; in BHS, = Pali upathaddha, used in ways apparently not closely paralleled in Skt.), based upon, supported by, resting or relying on, with instr., or in comp.: Mv i.5.9, repeated 12 and 6.6, karmopastabdhatvāt, because of the fact that it (the body, or bodily existence) is based on karmc (kept going by it); ii.255.13-14 paṇḍito buddhimanto sukuśālamūlapuṇya-upastabdhō; ii.280.16-17 pañcavidham āryasmitam prādūr-akare, sayyathidam: chandopastabdham, vīryopastabdham, smṛtyupa°, samādhyupa°, prajñopa° (based on . . .); SP 463.5 paramapuṇyopastabdhā (as a consequence of supreme merit) vāyam iḍṣe pravacana upaṇnāḥ; Gv 392.6 (vs) upastabdha (= °dhāh, n. pl.) ye (text °bdhaye) guṇamahodadhibhiḥ sumedhāḥ; 493.23 tvam . . . sūpastabdhaś ca śukladharmāiḥ (well supported by, firmly based on . . .).

Upasthūṇa or °naka, m., n. of a brahman-village in the west, only in dvandva cpd. with Sthūṇa, q.v.: Mvy 4117 °na-; Divy 22.1 (prose) °naka-.

-upahatya (°tyā°), damage, harm, in Bhvr. cpd. nir-upahatyam nirupadravam bhavet Mmk 57.16 (prose) Cf. Skt. upahati, and (once in AV.) upahatyā.

upahāra, m. (nt. once; = Skt., Pali, Pkt. id.), fundamentally gift, (loving) present, in BHS as elsewhere; e. g. (with change of gender) Av i.378.2 (prose) sarvopahārāni copaḍhaukitāni. In a Mv passage beginning i.177.13 used repeatedly in a somewhat peculiar way which misled Senart, who in two notes (i.518 f., 523 f.) offers three different interpretations, all wrong (the passage cited 519 from SP contains a false reading; the SP ed. 476.5-6 does not contain the word cited by Senart, not even as a v.l.). In this Mv passage, the word applies to various acts by which the Buddha miraculously intervenes to save someone from an intended grievous sin or to convert him from a dangerously false heresy. It should be rendered by something like (kindly or compassionate) favor, gift, beneficial service: Mv i.177.13-15 introduces the detailed stories of specific acts called upahāra thus: paropahārāṃ ca . . . upaharanti (they present beneficial favors to others) samyak-sambuddhāḥ sattvānām anugrahārtham. tad yathā, kaliṅgarājñāḥ kusumāye devyā paropahāraṃ bhagavān vṛttavāṃ, dhruvasya śreṣṭhino vacanopahāraṃ (a benefit by spoken words) bhagavān vṛttavāṃ; the cpd. paropā° also 178.5; 180.12; vacanopā° also 178.2. Other occurrences: 178.7-8 (vs) etāṃ sarvāṃ pravakṣyāmi upahārāṃ manoramāṃ, tasya sattvapradhānasya ṣṇu vikṛḍitam śubham; 184.(17-18) (vs) (koṭīyo dvādaśa muniḥ) mānu-śānām vinayati, upahāro ayam iti; 185.3 upahāro vidhātavyo (to prevent Dhruva from burning his parents); 188.(10-11) (vs) (yat tasya parikarma tat . . .) tam āhur upahāro ti; 192.(10-11) (vs) (ye tatra nirmitā bhikṣūḥ na caite bhikṣuṇo matā,) upahāraṃ vadanty etam jinā śāstravisāradāḥ.

upahārika, adj., in cpd.; Mmk 153.17 (vs) sarva-vighnopahārikaḥ, removing (all obstacles). But since no form or deriv. of upa-har- has any such mg. (BR upa-har-6 vernichten is an error), we must doubtless read °ghnāpahārikaḥ, or perhaps °rakaḥ (i. e. apahār°.)] upahrta, MSV ii.96.11 samghāty °tā, spoiled, destroyed; prob. error, or possibly hyper-Sktism, for upahatā; § 3.95; in Mbh. Calc. 2.861 = Crit. ed. 2.20.7 upahrta = imprisoned, not destroyed (BR).]

upa-hṛdaya, nt., subordinate or secondary 'heart' or core (of a mantra): Mmk 3.9 upahṛdayam cātra vākye hūm (contrasted with 3.8 paramahṛdayam); 26.18; 29.16, etc.; 397.9.

LV 420.4–5, cited under 3 above), prītiṣramodyajato nir-upādāno (free from sorrow) vigata-nivaraṇo (see s.v. nivaraṇa), said of the man whose sons have been brought out of a burning house. Burnouf cites Tib. as rendering upādāna here by mya ṇan, which regularly renders Skt. śoka, grief; and no other interpretation seems possible. It is an outgrowth of (3) as used in religious language.

upekṣā (Skt. id., used in much the same sense, but in BHS like Pali upekkhā, upekhā, technical religious term, while also used in general untechnical sense, indifference (Tib. btañ sñoms), putting up with whatever happens, patience, long-suffering: non-religious, LV 304.11 (vs) śreyo upekṣa ma rane paribhāvu gacchet, (a son of Māra advises him not to fight the Bodhisattva) better is patience (to put up with what can't be helped), lest one arrive at humiliation in battle; religious, as the 7th bodhy-āṅga and as one of the 4 apramāṇa, qq.v.; LV 129.10 (prose) aduḥkhāsukham upekṣāsmṛtipariśuddham caturtham dhyānam; 224.2 (vs) mudito upekṣa-dhyāyī brāhme pathi vidhijñāḥ; 275.18 (yasyā . . . brāhmaṇ patho jñāyate) maītrī vā karuṇā upekṣa muditā (see s.v. apramāṇa); in 442.5 acquisition of upekṣā leads to getting rid of love and hatred, anunayapratighotsargāya; its six āṅga, see this.

Upeṇḍra, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3265; Māy 246.15. upodbala, nt. (cf. Skt. °balana, to °balayati), strengthening, increase of strength: Mvy 7677 = Tib. stobs skyed pa.

upoṣaṇīya, adj. (gdve. to next), in °ya-prabha, ep. of Amitābha: Sukh 29.14; Müller SBE 49.2, p. 29, (possessed of) pleasant (light), the basis of which is obscure to me; either gdve. of next or of Skt. upa-vas as in BR s.v. (5), to which one should devote oneself, or (less likely) to be honored with observances like those of the upoṣatha (°dha). upoṣati (cf. Skt. upavasati, which alone is recorded in Pali too), keeps (the sabbath), observes (upoṣadha, which may well have influenced the form): Mv ii.177.20 upoṣadham upoṣati (no v.l.).

Upoṣatha, n. of a nāga king: MPS 34.132.

upoṣadha, (1) nt. (but see under poṣadha, posatha; = Pali (u)posatha, m.; Jain Skt. pauṣadha, m.; AMg. posaha, m. and nt.; except a single case of posatha, q.v., BHS seems to have only forms ending in -dha, whereas Pali has only -tha; see prec. and foll. items), the Buddhist 'sabbath', four times a month, on which good laymen observed 8 śīla (see aṣṭāṅga), confessed, etc.: Mvy 7137 °dham, n. sg.; Mv i.255.13 °dhe; ii.177.20 (see upoṣati); iii.97.20 and 98.2 (vss), mss. poṣadham (acc.), Senart em. upo° m.c.; Divy 116.22 upoṣadhoṣitaḥ, but 116.21 poṣadhe and 118.27 poṣadhoṣitaḥ (all prose); (2) m., n. of a (cakravartin) king of old, grandson of Kalyāṇa, father of Māndhātara (= Pali Uposatha): Mvy 3556; Mv i.348.8; Divy 210.13 ff.; MSV i.66.7 ff.; 92.16; (3) m., n. of a devaputra who visited Buddha: Av i.336.1 ff.

upoṣadhika, f. °ikā (= Pali (u)posadhika; cf. poṣadhika, °dhin), observing (one who observes) the 'sabbath': masc., Mmk 49.5; 75.12; 304.15; 318.7; fem. °ikāyām, loc., Mv i.205.7 = ii.8.20.

Uppalaka = Utpalaka (1), q.v.; cf. also Upala (for Uppala = Utpala).

uppharitvā or upphāritvā, see utpharati.

ubhayam, in cobhayam (= Pali cūbhayam, PTSD s.v. ubhaya), both, after two coordinates: kṛīḍanti ramanti cobhayam MPS 12.9, they sport and take delight both.

ubhayato-bhāga-vimukta, adj. (= Pali ubhato-bhāga-vimutta), emancipated from both parts: Mvy 1028 (misprinted °bhaga°; corr. Index); Divy 404.24 (read: ubhau hi tau ubhayatobhāgavimuktau); Bhik 27b.1; cf. AbhidhK. LaV-P. ii.205; vi.275–7. Often edd. (Pali and BHS) print ubha(ya)to as separate word, wrongly; it modifies bhāga- directly, as part of the cpd. Tib. on Mvy gñis kaḥi cha las . . . from both parts; Pali MN comm. iii.188.7 = DN comm. ii.514.3 dvihi bhāgehi vimutto, arūpasamāpattiyā rūpakāyato vimutto, maggena nāmakāyato (i. e. from the skhandha other than rūpa) vimutto. The AbhidhK. vi.276 has a different interpretation acc. to LaV-P., delivered from the obstacle of the passions (impurities, kleśāvaraṇa), and from the obstacle to (the 8) vimokṣa (which is stated to be akarmaṇyatā, l'impotence corporelle et mentale). This seems to be a later reinterpretation; the Pali comms. make it simpler, referring to the physical and mental constituents. Which was meant in our texts is not clear from the contexts.

ubhayavyañjana, adj., f. °nā (= Pali ubhato-byañjanaka), having the marks of both (sexes), hermaphrodite: °naḥ Mvy 8775; °nā Bhik 11a.4; 16a.5 (in questioning a candidate for ordination).

umaka-, in comp. with -puṣpa, nt. (from Skt. umā), flower of the flax plant (blue): Mvy 1522 rūpāṇi . . . nilāni . . . tad yathā umakapuṣpaṃ. Tib. zar ma, usually sesame, but also (Das) = kṣauma, linen.

Umeśvara, n. of a future Buddha; as such it is prophesied that the goddess Umā will be reborn: Kv 90.20.

uyate, pass. to Skt. vā, weave (cf. ūyate, B.S. in Wh. Roots), is woven, in uyamāna-(pres. pple.)-vardhanam Mvy 8410 (so Mironov and v.l. Kyoto ed. for text upamāna-), magnification of (a robe that is) being woven (for oneself), a sin for a monk; Tib. ḥthag pa (weave) (b)skyed pa (make increase). The short u is supported by Skt. uta (beside ūta), ppp.

[ura(s)], womb? So acc. to Senart on Mv i.199.10 = ii.3.8 (vs), ed. divasāni sapta māsā ca daśa tasyā uram otaret. The meter is bad even so; mss. in i.199.10 read udare-m-, which suggests a form of udara, the word we should expect; I find no record of ura(s) in the required mg. Perhaps the orig. had something like . . . daśa tasyodar' (for tasyā udaram or udare) otaret.]

uraga-garbha, m. or nt. (= Skt. nāga-garbha, Garbe, Ind. Min. 44, vermilion as originating from lead, nāga; cf. Schmidt, Nachtr. s.v. nāgagarbha), vermilion: Mv ii.311.1 (prose) °bha-ṃṣiratanehi samalaṃkṛtaṃ (mss. uragarbha-, em. Senart).

uragasāra-candana, nt. (not recorded for Pali), a kind of sandalwood: SP 406.8-9; 408.2-3; 411.7; LV 63.18; 64.3; 125.17; 204.11; 215.1; 294.2; Mvy 6255; Gv 123.20; 153.16; 164.18, etc.; Sukh 38.17.

[uratrika], in Kv 42.9 noratrikeṣu, read naurabhri°; see aura°.

urabhra, m. (in Skt. only sheep, and so MIndic equivalents), said to mean goat in Mvy 4824 acc. to Tib. (ra).

urasa, adj. (= AMg. id.; Skt. aurasa, Pali orasa), own (son): Mv iii.278.20 urasā lokanāthasya te khu bheṣyanti harṣitā. Both mss. urasā; same line ii.354.16 orasā (for aur°), MIndic; read 2d half as in iii.278.20, cf. reading of ms. C). The AMg. form prob. justifies Senart in keeping ur°.

Urumuṇḍa, m. (also occurs as Rurumuṇḍa, q.v.), n. of a mountain: Divy 349.19; 350.22 ff.; 385.10, 18, 27; MSV i.3.17.

uruvilvaka, adj., of Uruvilvā: Mv ii.207.19; 208.1 °vake vanaṇḍe, or (208.1 and v.l. of 207.19) °khaṇḍe.

Uruvilvā (= Pali Uruvelā), n. of a village where the Bodhisattva sought enlightenment for a time: called a senāpati-grāma(ka), LV 248.7; 267.13; Mv iii.415.11; 425.17; other occurrences LV 261.3; 269.9; Mv ii.123.16; 200.9 ff.; 207.1, etc.; Divy 202.7.

Uruvilvākappa, m. (nt.? = Pali Uruvelākappa), n. of a town: LV 406.20 °kappaṃ, acc.

Uruvilvā-kāsyapa (in MSV Uruvilvā°; = Pali Uruvelā-kassapa), n. of one of Buddha's disciples: Av i.148.10 (ms. Uparivilvā°, ed. em. Uruvilvā° wrongly); Karmav 157.3; originally a jaṭila ascetic; story of his conversion, Mv iii.424.6 ff.; usually mentioned with his brothers Nadī-kāsyapa and Gayā-k°, qq.v., Mv iii.102.12, 20; 430.12, 18; 432.7; SP 2.1; 207.3; LV 1.10; MSV i.196.5; Mvy 1049 (Nadī-k° 1050, Gayā-k° later, 1064): Sukh 2.4.

ulana, nt., a high number; app. error for tulana, q.v., tho it occurs three times in Gv 133.7.

Uluka, v.l. for Huluka, q.v.

Uluvillikā, n. of a village chief's daughter: LV 265.5.

ulūka-pakṣika- (in comp.; = Pali ulūka-pakkhika, AN i.241.1, 296.1), (a dress or decoration) made of owl's feathers, worn by certain ascetics: Mv iii.412.8 °ka-bhagini (n. pr. acc. to Senart p. xxxvii) śramaṇā. Cf. LV 249.1 grddholūkapakṣadhāraṇaiś ca (ātāpanaparitāpanaiḥ).

Ulkādhārin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.25.

ulkāmukha, (1) (nt., = Pali ukkāmukha) a (goldsmith's) smelting-pot or furnace: LV 405.14 -niṣka ulkāmu-khaprakṣṭo; Sukh 3.5 (-niṣko . . .) ulkāmu-khe (so v.l., better than °khena text) sampraveśya supariṇiṣṭhitāḥ; Śikṣ 182.3 °kham vā hriyamāṇasya (as a form of torture); (2) nt., in Mvy 6900, following dipāḥ, ulkā, followed by pradīpaḥ, = Tib. skar mda-ḥi gdoñ ḥam snañ (read prob. sna with Das), which acc. to Das = one having either his face or his nose (sna; snañ = light) glowing as a meteor; a demon (so Skt.); a meteor-mouthed arrow; a kind of firearm; (3) m. (= Pali Okkāmukha), n. of a son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv i.348.12; 352.9; and of a later descendant, 352.12.

Ulkāmukhī, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.24. Cf. Skt. Ulkāmu-khā, a kind of ghost (preta); n. of a rakṣas (BR); and see prec. (2), Tib. (Das).

ulkin (Skt. ulkā plus -in), perhaps a portent containing a meteor, or some personified power characterized by, carrying, wielding a meteor(?); the passages are obscure and in part clearly corrupt; in verses: Mmk 198.15 °nām (gen. pl.), 25 °naḥ (gen. sg., see prapata); 200.15 ulkino (nom. pl.) bahudhākārā dṛṣyante vividhāśrayā; 204.5 °nām (gen. pl.); 223.2 nirghāta ulkinām (gen. pl.).

ulla, adj. (= AMg. id., for Skt. ārdra, wet; of sorrow, fresh, new (so Skt. ārdra, BR): Mv iii.116.8, read ullenaiva śokena, substantially with mss.; Senart em. wrongly.

ullaṅghikā, act of jumping, springing, leaping: Mvy 8547 nollaṅghikayā. (So Tib. mchoñ, and Chin.)

ullapati, or ullāpayati (see s.v. ullāpana); in Skt. ullapati recorded only in mg. wheedle, flatter, coax; in Pali app. only boast, brag (falsely); noun derivs. show mgs.° pointing to deceive, but no verb forms with this mg. have been noted), shouts or yells derisively at (acc.); associated with uccagghati, q.v.: SP 382.12 (prose) ye te taṃ bodhisattvaṃ . . . ullāpitavanta (but most mss. ullap°) ucca(g)ghitavantaḥ; 482.6 sūtrāntalekhakānām uccagghanam karisyanty ullāpisyanti; AsP 385.13 and 388.19 ullāpayisyati (see uccagghati).

ullāḍayati? perhaps stirs (food, in cooking): Divy 285.25 ārabdhaḥ . . . khādyakāny ullāḍayitum; cf. AMg. ullāḍiḥya, ppp., struck, beaten, tossed or flung up (Ratnach.); note to Divy suggests em. ulloḍayitum (cf. Skt. loḍayati, Pali ullola, commotion); but khādyakāny ullāḍayata MSV i.264.1; iii.138.7 (text here ullāṭṭayata).

ullāpana (to ullapati, q.v.; see also next two), (1) nt., shouting or yelling derisively, abusive derision (this may possibly be the mg. of Skt. ullāpa in khalollāpāḥ Ind. Spr. 2047, for which Boehtl. harte Worte von schlechten Menschen): Mvy 5227 °nam (follows uccagghanam) = Tib. (b)stiñ pa, abuse, also rñiñ pa (? for rñi, snare, trap? then belonging to mg. 2 below?); Chin. disdain, Jap. talking in a loud voice, abusing; Śikṣ 271.6 nāsty uccagghanollāpana-dānam, see uccagghana; acc. to note, Tib. here brid, which means deceitful, (not wheedling, coaxing, with Bendall.) but it seems clear from uccagghana that this is an error; (2) adj., deceitful, deceptive: LV 176.4 (vs) (samskāra . . .) bāla-ullāpana riktamuṣṭivat (so read, see this); 212.14 (kāmāḥ . . .) ullāpanā riktamuṣṭivat (q.v.); Śikṣ 77.3 bāllollāpanāḥ, deceiving fools, said of lusts; 261.8 °nam; RP 39.13 bāllollāpanam, of worldly life, esp. royal pleasures; read so in Dbh 43.6 for bālāllāpanam.

ullāpanaka, adj. or subst. (see prec., next, and ullapati), deceiving, deceiver; or perhaps deception: LV 371.19

(vs) lha te ciram samāyata ullāpanakā (n. pl.) vināśaparyantāḥ, here these (my) deceivers (?deceptions; refers to ignorance, error, and the like) have at long last ended in destruction.

ullāpayati, see ullapati.

ullāpin, adj. (see s.v. ullāpana, 2), deceiving; fem. °inī: Lañk 77.7 mrgatṛṣṇikā mrgollāpini, a mirage that deceives deer.

ullipta, ppp. (= Pali ullitta, chiefly in cpd. ullit-tāvalitta, e.g. Vin. ii.117.23; of kūtāgarāni, AN i.101.10; comm. ii.168.5 on the latter, anto ca bahi ca littāni, and similarly comm. on Vin.), in Mv ii.115.11 kūtāgarāni kārayet ulliptāvaliptāni (mss. ulliptā ca liptāni); if Pali comms. may be trusted the cpd. means smearred inside and out. (PTSD smearred up and down, evidently an etymological rendering.)

Ulluka, v.l. for Huluka, q.v.

ullumpati (= Pali id.; Skt. herausgreifen, °fischen, BR.), saves, rescues: Bhik 19a.3 ullumpatu mām bhadantā ubhayaśamghāḥ (by ordination; said by the candidate); Mvy 8704 °patu mām (same situation; so also in Pali). [Cf. ullopāna.]

ullokanaka (for olok°, q.v.; § 3.54), window: gavākṣa-ullokanakehi (cpd., instr. pl.) SP 85.1 (vs); same form in Nep. mss. SP 114.3 (vs), where Kashgar rec. aulok°, and ed. with Foucaux olok°; WT gavākṣa olokanake 'pi (citing their ms. K' as °olokanakeṣu).

ullokaniya, adj. (gdve. to ullokayati, q.v.), to be looked up to, worthy of admiration, of reverence: of persons, Mv i.103.5, see s.v. avalokaniya; ii.378.8 (vs) °niyo sada punyavanto; 391.17 °niyo bhavati mahānubhāvo; 393.3 °niyo bahujanapūjito; (in Śikṣ 302.10, parallel to Mv 378.8, replaced by udvikṣaṇiya, in 308.4, parallel to 393.3, by vilokaniya;) LV 85.7 ullokaniyo bhaviṣyāmi sarvasattvānām (said by the Bodhisattva); ullokaniyam, adverb, of sounds, Mv i.206.17 = ii.10.10 = iii.341.8 (of sounds of auspicious earthquakes), in a way worthy of admiration, substantially = agreeably, enjoyably, nirvarṇaniyam (see this; iii.341.8 instead nirvāpaniyam, q.v.) ca ullokaniyam ca āsecanakam ca.

ullokayati, °te (see prec. and an-ullokita; = Pali ulloketi), looks up to (in admiration or reverence): SP 54.14 ullokayan pādapam eva tatra (at the tree of enlightenment); 100.6 (bhagavantam) abhimukham ullokayamānāḥ; 215.10 bhagavantam ullokayamāne (dual); Mv i.204.17 = ii.8.12 ullokayanti tuṣiṣṇu jīnam; ppp. ullokita, seems to mean looking up, upturned, of eyes or face, Gv 46.21 ullokita-vadanair devendrair (in reverence or supplication); in Mvy 6635 ullokitaḥ, perhaps also thus used (or perhaps passive, looked up to? lack of context leaves doubt); Tib. gyen du (or, yar; both upward) blta ba (look).

[ullopāna, nt. (ul-lup- not recorded in this mg.; contrast ullumpati), deceit, in bālollopanam Mvy 7312 = Tib. byis pa ḥbrid pa, deceit of children or fools. But read ullāpanam with Mironov, tho against most mss.]

uvyadha, m. (so also Mironov, as separate item, after utphikā), n. of some disease: Mvy 9543; acc. to Tib. mgo glog, perh. head-ulcer (see s.v. utphikā); Chin. dizziness in the head.

uśī (? cf. Skt. Lex. uśī, wish?), perhaps joy, or energy: in uśī-bahula, Dbh 12.10, followed by utsāhabahula, but preceded by udagribahula and synonyms of this, see udagrī.

Uśira-giri, m., n. of a mountain: Mvy 4126; or Uśira-giri, Divy 22.2 (to the north); cf. Pali Uśiraddhaja, a northern mountain range, and Skt. Uśira-bīja (or Uṣ°), n. of a mountain.

uśvasati, false Skt. for ucchvasati, apparently breathes in (see s.v. āśvāsa-praśvāsa): Mv ii.208.4, 8, 9 (paired with praśvasati); correlated with noun āśvāsa.

uṣita (seemingly only Lex. in Skt.), ppp. to uṣ, burnt: jvālūṣitā SP 85.9 (vs), for jvāla-uṣ°, burnt with flames; so WT (Kashgar rec. jalūṣ°, i. e. for jvala-uṣ°; KN sam-lūṣitā); see § 4.31.

uṣitavant, adj. (perf. act. pple. of vas; = Pali vusitavant(a), ep. of arhats), having lived the (proper, right) life, ep. of arhats: Sukh 1.14 arhādbhiḥ . . . uṣitavadbhiḥ.

Uṣidatta, see Rṣi°.

uṣṭradhūmaka (m.?), lit. camel-smoke, a kind of worm, cause of calamities: KP 93.2 yasmim . . . deṣe °ka kṛṣṇaśira uttānaśāyī bhavati, sa deṣa sopadravah . . . Tib. srin bu rīa mo dud ka zhes bya ba, the worm called camel-smoke. See Das s.v. rīa mo ṅud (mistake for dud) ka, where full confirmation of the KP passage is found.

Uṣṭrapāda, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 82.

(uṣṭrikā, camel-shaped vessel, occurs in Skt., Kauṭ. Arth. Sham. 411.14; 416.4; see Meyer, 650 n. 1: Karmav 45.14 yatroṣṭrikāmātrāṇi phalāni; large, rich fruits are compared to it because of its size and bulging shape: see Lévi's note.)

uṣṇi (m. or nt.), app. = uṣṇiṣa in sense 1, q.v.; twice in vss of RP, supported by meter: 46.13 giritatam iva (ms. iha) haima śobhate cāśya coṣṇi (end of line); 50.11 girirājatulya tava coṣṇir iha.

uṣṇiṣa (m.c. for uṣṇiṣa), excrescence on the head: °ṣodgato (= °ṣa udgataḥ) RP 6.18 (vs).

uṣṇibhavati (to Skt. uṣṇa), becomes hot: Divy 68.2 °bhūtvā, ger.

uṣṇiṣa, (1) nt. (in Skt. also m.; = Pali uṣṇiṣa), in Skt. only turban; in cpd. uṣṇiṣa-śīrṣa(n) or -śīrṣa(ka), 32d of the 32 lakṣaṇa, q.v. (Pali uṣṇiṣa-sisa), acc. to Pali DN comm. ii.452.1 ff. having a head the size and shape of which makes it seem turbanned. But in BHS (and Pali) interpreted as having a head surmounted by an excrescence, whether a top-knot of hair, or a growth in the skull. So Tib. regularly (uṣṇiṣa = gtsug tor), e.g. on Mvy 236 uṣṇiṣa-śīraska-tā. Confirmed by Gv 401.26 ff. mūrḍhni cāśyoṣṇiṣam abhinirvṛttam abhūt, sujātām samanta-parimaṇḍalam madhyābhinyastakeśālamkāram koṭīśatasa-hasrapatṭratratnapadmasaṇḍarśitaṃ samantāḥ samabhā-gapraṭiṣṭhitam aparimitamahārgṇhyatāpradhānamadhyam. Cf. also uṣṇi, apparently = uṣṇiṣa in this sense, and uṣṇiṣa. In comp. as one of the lakṣaṇa, LV 105.11; 432.13; Dharmas 83; Mv i.227.3; ii.30.6; 307.4; Bbh 376.7; (2) m., one of ten Krodha: Dharmas 11; (3) in Mmk 41.7 aṣṭau uṣṇiṣarājāṇaḥ are mentioned as to be depicted in a rite; their names, given 41.10–11, are Cakravartin, Uṣṇiṣa, Abhyudgatoṣṇiṣa, Sitātapatra, Jayoṣṇiṣa, Kamaloṣṇiṣa, Tejorāśi, Unnatoṣṇiṣa. They seem not to be related to the Krodha of Dharmas 11, tho the first two names also occur in that list. Nothing significant is said of them.

Uṣṇiṣakośasarvadharmaprabhāmaṇḍalamegha, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 311.16.

[uṣṇiṣa-śobhana, erroneous v.l. for tūṣṇiṣa-śo°, q.v., at Mv i.301.14.]

Uṣṇiṣaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.9.

uṣmagata, or uṣma°, adj., become warm; applied to the first stage of nirvedha-bhāgiya, q.v., or to things (cittāni, kuśalamūlāni, etc.) pertaining to it: Mvy 1212; Divy 80.1 (erroneously uṣṇa-gatāni); 166.15; 240.20; 271.12 (uṣma-gatāni); 469.12; Sūtrāl. xiv.26 comm.; AbhidhK. LaV-P. vi.163 f.; (uṣmagatam) MSV i.224.10.

Uśiragiri = Uśira°, q.v.

uhođima, ed. with v.l. once aho°, n. pl. °māḥ), probably deformed: Lañk 27.4; 33.15; see s.v. avakoṭimaka.

U

ūjñā, ūñā, or ūñā (Skt. avajñā), see s.v. ūjñā-ka-ūti, f., effort (cf. BR s.v. 7: cited once from BhagP.; no other mg. seems possible in Divy) Divy 654.27; 655.2 utsāhany ūtir aprativāṇiḥ . . . yogaḥ karaṇiyāḥ.

uddhata, in Ud xii.2 °taṃ raja(h), raised, for uddhataṃ; note suggests that ū is due to confusion with Pali ūhata; a later var. is uddhṛtam; it may be noted that PTSD associates Pali uddhata with Skt. uddhṛta, from ud-dhr.

ūna-māna, m., pride of (thinking something) too little (i. e. unworthy of oneself): Mvy 1951. So Tib.: chuñ zad sñam paḥi ṅa rgyal, pride of thinking small.

ūna-vāda, m. (corresp. to Pali oṃasa-vāda, Vin. iv.6.5; see Childers; not in PTSD), depreciative language, speaking of defects (of others): Mvy 8421 = Tib. skyon (nas) smra ba.

-ūruṇikā, ifc. Bhvr., fem. (to ūru, thigh; on formation see § 22.45), having . . . thighs: LV 322.21 (vs) gajabhujasaṃnibha-ūruṇikāṃ, having thighs like an elephant's trunk.

Ūrñatejas (v.l. Ūrñī°; read Ūrñā°? Tib. mdzod spu = ūrñā), n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.8 (prose).

ūrñapāśa, see ūrñakośa.

Ūrñāśirprabhāsamati, n. of a former Buddha: Gv 258.10 (vs); ā here may be m.c.

ūrñā (= Pali unñā; very rare in Skt. in this sense, see pw; essentially Buddhist term; cf. ūrñā-kośa, which seems unknown in Skt.), the circle of hair between the eyebrows of a Buddha (or other mahāpuruṣa): LV 316.9; chiefly in the 31st of the 32 lakṣaṇa, q.v. (elsewhere ūrñakośa is generally used); white color is prevailingly mentioned.

ūrñā-kośa, m., = ūrñā, q.v.; usually as place from which a Buddha emits rays of brilliant light (raśmi, prabhā); bhagavāms . . . ūrñakośād raśmim prāmuṇcat SP 243.3; similarly LV 393.17; Mmk 169.4; Lañk 13.4; ūrñā-(m.c.)-kośā LV 116.7 (vs); bhrūvivārāntarād ūrñakośād SP 20.8 (ekā raśmir niścāritā); LV 300.7; rarely in lists of 32 lakṣaṇa, Mvy 239, where erroneously °keśa for °kośa (so also Mironov; Burnouf, Lotus 563, records the same error once); Tib., as regularly for both ūrñā and ūrñakośa, mdzod (= kośa) spu (= hair). In LV 357.9 (vs) na tapati abhibhūtā bhānuvatyornapāśā (v.l. °nakośā), does not shine, being surpassed by the (Buddha's) resplendent hair-curl, I understand bhānuvatyā ūrñā-(m.c. for ūrñā)-pāśā (or -kośā), instr. sg. (pāśa, tie, knot, mass; but in view of the fem. adj. perhaps an otherwise unknown fem. pāśā must be assumed).

ūrdha- (semi-MIndic, or possibly orthographic error) for ūrdhva of Skt., cf. Weller 23, Senart note on Mv i.116.3 (where ūrdhā is said to be the reading of mss., to the Crit. App. omits r; Lefm. regularly ūrdha, usually without note of variant); LV 85.6; 129.19; 208.11; 249.10-11; 258.13 (twice); 306.19; 307.8, 12, 16; 408.10; 413.9.

? ūrdhva, adj. (in fig. sense), exalted, lofty, great, of power: Mv i.116.3 adbhivāsanam viditvā rājāsyā durjayordhva- (mss. °yorddha- or °yoddha-, see prec.) bala (mss. balam) eva. Senart's note suggests em. durjayarddhi-bala. For this mg. of ūrdhva may be compared Pali uddhehi vatthehi Jāt. iv.154.15, in rich, lofty clothes (PTSD, doubtfully); but Dutoit's transl. understands with up-lifted garments (presumably to wipe his eyes; the person is weeping).

ūrdhvaga, ūrdhvamga, see ūrdhvāgra.

Ūrdhvajātā (printed Ūrdhva°), n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.27.

ūrdhvabhāgiya, adj. (Pali uddhambhāgiya), (binding to higher states (viz. rūpa-, arūpa-dhātu), only said of the second group of five saṃyojana (q.v.), cf. avara-bhāgiya: Mvy 2155 (without mention of saṃyojana); this in Pugg. 22.14-15 called external (bahiddhā).

ūrdhva-lokanā, consent (so Tib., gnañ hār): °nā dātavyā MSV iv.98.11.

ūrdhva-virecana (nt.; = Pali uddha-vi°), 'purging upward', emetic treatment (for disease): MSV ii.45.12 °nena.

? Ūrdhvasaṃdhi, see Oddhasaṃdhi.

ūrdhva-srota(s), °srotas (= Pali uddham-sota), going upward in the stream (of transmigration, i.e. to better existences; so comm. on Dhp. 218): Mvy 1019 °srotāḥ; Ud ii.9 (= Dhp. 218) °sroto; both nom. sg.

ūrdhvāgra- (ūrdhvāṅga-, ūrdhvamga-, ūrdhvaga-; also written ūrdhā° without v, see ūrdha-; for other variants see below) -roma(n), adj. (= Pali uddhagga-loma), having (body-)hair standing up, lit. with upright tips, one of the 32 lakṣaṇa, q.v. The form ūrdh(v)āgra-, supported by Pali, is orig. (so Burnouf, Lotus, 571); it is found in Dharmas 83; Mv i.226.18 (mss. kṛtvāgra); ii.305.15 (mss. ūrdhāgramarājino or uddhā°); but in ii.30.2 mss. ūrdhamaṅga, urdham ca (Senart ūrdhvāgra). Mvy 257 has ūrdhva-ga-romaḥ, but Mironov ūrdhvamga° (both going upward; cf. mss. in Mv ii.30.2); and Bbh 375.17; 381.24 also ūrdhvamga-(romā, adj.; romatā, subst.). In Bbh 379.10 the ms. has the further change to ūrdhvāṅga-(romatām; ed. em. ūrdhvamga), as if ūrdhva-āṅga-roma-; so Gv 402.9-10 ūrdhvāṅgaromā (Bhvr.); LV 429.15 ūrdhvāṅga-(dakṣiṇāvarta-)-romakūpa(h). Finally in LV 105.21 there is great confusion; Lefm. (only with B mss.) ūrdhāgrā(bhīpradakṣiṇāvarta)-romāḥ (read °mā, Bhvr.); other mss. u(d)dhāṅgā°, uccāśā° (ucca-āśā); Tib. obscure, yan lag gi spu gyas phyogs nas gyen du ḥkhyil ba, lit. hair of member(s), from (after) right direction (generally = diś or āśā), upward twist (generally = āvarta). As Burnouf points out, Foucaux's transl. is inaccurate. The expression (abhi-pra-)dakṣiṇāvarta is inserted here in the epithet only in LV (both passages); it is attached to the lakṣaṇa ekaikaroma(n) in Mvy 256 and Dharmas 83, and in the commentarial expansion of the latter Gv 402.9; but Pali commentarial expansions of uddhagga-loma have a corresponding term, Burnouf, Lotus, 571.

ūrmi, m. or f. (in this sense AMg. ummi, see Ratnach., but not Skt. ūrmi, Pali ūmi, ummi), crowd, throng (of creatures): Mv i.222.14 = ii.24.22 samantormijātā, forming a crowd all around (here of gods); LV 173.13 (vs) naṭaraṅgasamā jagi-r-ūrmi-cuti, like an actor's stage-set is the passing of the crowd (of people) in the world; so if Lefm.'s text is right, but v.l. janmi for r-ūrmi, which (or rather janma) seems supported by Tib. skye.

ūhata, ppp. (both mgs. = Pali id.; cf. § 3.2 and samūhata; in Skt. uddhṛta has both mgs.; uddhata, to root han, is somewhat dubiously assigned to mg. 2, still more dubiously to mg. 1; but BHS has ūhanati, q.v. in mg. 1), (1) removed, put away, destroyed: Mv i.247.17 rāgadveṣā ca ūhatā (mss. °tam); 354.4 tiṣṭham yathā kāṣṭhagataṃ an-ūhatam (the context resembles Dhp. 338); Ud x.13 tāla-mastur (see mastu) iv' ūhataḥ, like the top of a palm tree destroyed; (2) arisen: Mv ii.58.12 (vs) aruṇasmim (read °smim or °smi, m.c.) ūhate; 415.14 ūhate ca aruṇe; so with mss. both times; Senart em. udgate, but cf. Pali Jāt. v.403.30 aruṇasmim (mss.; ed. em. °smi, m.c.) ūhate (comm. gloss uggate).

ūhate (Vedic o hate, to root ūh- or oh-, see Neisser, Z. Wbch.d.RV., s.v.; not in this sense Skt.), heads, pays attention to: Mv i.163.(3-4) parehi ukto paruṣaṃ punaḥ-punaḥ, prabhuḥ samāno kṣamate na ūhate (v.l. ūhyate, uhy°), . . . he endures it, pays no attention.

ūhanati (= Pali id.; cf. § 3.2; Skt. uddhanti in this sense at most Ved. and BhāgP., hardly Class. Skt.), removes, puts away, destroys, gets rid of: Mv ii.404.14 (adya sarvabhavamūlam aśeṣam) ūhanāmi. Cf. ūhata, the ppp. to this (? or = Skt. uddhṛta).

ūhasati (= Pali id.; whether it represents Skt. ud-, ava-, or upa-has- is a moot question), laughs (in joy):

Mv i.218.18 = ii.20.20 (vs), all mss. mahāhāsaṃ ca ūhati, kept by Senart (see his note); I think we must read ūhasi (or °se), 3 sg. aor.; ii.268.13 ff. mahā-ūhasitaṃ ūhase (repeated several times), laughed a loud laugh; i.221.20 = ii.24.7 (vs) ūhasāsi (seems guaranteed by meter and sense; mss. in ii.24.7 ūhāsasi, ūhasari; in i.221.20 more remote; the laugh is one of joy over the following thought:) ayam dānim eko bhavo paścimo (t)ti.

ūhasita, nt. (orig. ppp. of prec.; cf. Pkt. ūhasiya, used Deśin. 1.140 as gloss on Deśi ūhaṭṭha), a laugh: Mv ii.268.13 ff., see ūhasati.

ṛkta-, hyper-Skt. for rikta-, in tucchata ṛktato 'sārato Śāl 88.14, cited Śikṣ 227.6; ṛkta- LV 212.14 (prose); 214.8; and see riktamuṣṭi.

ṛgava, nt., a high number, corruption for mṛgava, q.v. (but occurs 3 times): Gv 133.3.

ṛg-iti (also rig-iti) = ṛṭ-iti, q.v., instantly: Mvy 8223 (also in Mironov). Cf. Skt. jhag-iti for the more usual jhaṭ-iti.

ṛjī-kṛta-vant, adj. (perf. act. pple.), having made straight: LV 10.11 (prose) adhimuktim ṛjīkṛtavataḥ (gen. sg.). Regular Skt. would be ṛjū°; the only v.l. cited is ms. A ṛjvi°; even Calc. ṛjī°; Tib. also drañ por byas pa, having made straight. Presumably i is due to analog. influence of stem-form in i from stems in a, ā, i, ī before ṛṛjuka, adj. (also ujjuka; = Pali ujuka, ujjuka; Skt. ṛju plus ka), straight, right: SP 324.2 (but see s.v. ujjuka); KP 8.1 (prose) ṛjukasya bodhisattvasya ṛjukalakṣaṇāni; Śikṣ 285.9 (prose) (āśayo . . .) ṛjukah akutilatvāt; MSV i.47.4; adv. °kena, straight out, straightforwardly, honestly (before a daśavarga of monks), Śikṣ 169.1 (prose) āpattir daśavarge ṛjukena deśayitavyā; adv. ṛjukam, id., Bbh 6.17 (prose) arthikeṣu ca sattveṣu ṛjukam pratipadyate, na māyāśāthyenainān vilobhayati; abstr. °ka-tā, Gv 186.8 (prose) mārgakūṭilatām mārgarjukatām anuvilokya (here literally, straightness).

ṛjubhāva, m. (= Pali uju°), uprightness: Mv ii.97.10 °vena.

ṛju, adj. (also ujju; for ṛju, § 2.82; Pali ujju beside uju; AMg. app. only ujju), straight, right, honest: Mv ii.63.15, read asaṭṭh' (or asaḍh' ? mss. asadh') ṛjubhūto (with one ms.); in ii.80.13 mss. ṛjubhūtaḥ or ṛjū°, meter demands ṛju°.

ṛṭ-iti (also ṛḡ-, rig-iti, qq.v.), instantly: Mvy 8224 (also in Mironov); Dbh.g. 51(77).27, repeated 52(78).2. 18; the same line repeated with sapadi instead of ṛṭ-iti 52(78).6, 10, 14. But for the repeated occurrence one might suspect a merely graphic corruption for Skt. jhaṭ-iti (var. jhag-iti).

ṛṇa-dhara or °hara, °hāraka, adj., in cliché said after birth of a son, jāto 'smākam ṛṇaharo (254.11 °dharo; 87.17 °hārako) dhanaharo (om. 498.21; 87.18 °hārakaś ca) Divy 87.17-18; 254.11; 301.10; 498.20-21; MSV i.87.5. After saying this, the father announces his intention of going on a business trip to make money. The situation suggests ṛṇadhara, debt-establisher, and dhanahara, remover of wealth; i. e. a financial liability; cf. AMg. aṇa-dhāraga, rendered debtor (Ratnach., Sheth). But (a) ṛṇahara rather than ṛṇadhara, (or else ṛṇahāraka,) is read every time but once (h MIndic for dh?); and (b) in Divy 5.12 mahāśamudram avatirṇo dhanahārakah, the latter means to get wealth (see hāraka; Index with money, not accurately); similarly, mahāśamudram avatareyam dhanahārikah (read °rakah? but cf. s.v. -hārīka) Divy 100.28. Not clear.

ṛṭiyati, °te, = ar(t)iyati, q.v. Usually written riti°; only in Bbh; °yate 168.23; °yamāna 166.11; 171.9; °yante 282.23 (perhaps also 282.8 °yeran).

ṛtuka, adj. (ifc.) and subst. nt. (Pali -utuka, in sabbotuka), (1) of, belonging to, a season: Divy 167.8 kālartukaiś (of the time and season) copakaranair anuvīdhīyate; Mmk 27.21 yathartukena (text yathā°) vā sugandhapuṣpeṇa; (2) fruit of the season: Divy 531.5 (navaśasyāni navaphalāni) navartukāni; so MSV i.7.6; Divy 531.8 navaiḥ phalaiḥ navaiḥ śasyakair navartukaiḥ.

ṛtu-pariṇāma and ṛtu-vipariṇāma: cf. Pali utu-pariṇāma, change of season, as a source of disease, e. g. AN ii.87.30-31 (vedayitāni . . .) utu-pariṇāma-jāni (comm. iii.114.19 = utu-pariṇāmato atisīta-atiuṇha-ututo jātāni); ṛtupariṇāmāye, Mv ii.15.6 (Senart wrongly), or ṛtuvipari° ii.424.(3-4), perh. adj. subject to change of season; or, prob. reading °nāma-tāye, because of change of season?; in vipā-caniye grahaṇīye samanvāgatā nāpy atisītāye nāpy atiuṣṇāye (424.3 na cāti° both times) ṛtu- (424.4 ṛtu-vi-) pariṇāmāye. A like passage Mv i.211.7 reads, instead of ṛtu(vi)pari°, in the mss. samāye cintamatāye (v.l. vinta°), which is obscure; Senart em. sammāpariṇāmāye, but this seems violent; samāye seems sound, as it occurs just before. Senart understands this as causing good digestion, and infers that ṛtu-pari° means the same. He does not mention ii.424.3-4, which reads vipariṇāma; this, unlike pariṇāma, seems never to be used in Skt., Pali or Pkt. in the sense of digestion; and the established Pali cpd. utu-pariṇāma certainly goes against Senart's view. The only question is, can ṛtupariṇāmāye, fem., be an adj. going with grahaṇīye, or should we take it as a noun? In the latter case an em. to °matāye seems probable.

ṛtupariṇāmika, adj. (to prec. plus -ika), due to change of season (disease): MSV ii.45.9 (ābādha).

ṛddhati = Skt. ṛdhyati, is successful (§ 28.19): Divy 102.9 ṛddhiṣyati te praṇidhir iti.

ṛddhi, f. (= Skt. id., Pali iddhi), supernatural or magic power, hardly significantly different from its Skt. use; ṛddhi-vaśitā Mvy 779, one of the 10 vaśitā of a Bodhisattva; knowledge of ṛ° is the fifth abhijñā, q.v.; ṛddhi-prātihārya, see prāti°; ṛddhi-balatā and -vaśitā, Mv iii.67.2; aiśvarya-ṛ° Mv ii.166.8 simply the magic power of aiśvarya, as in Skt. (otherwise Senart); see ṛddhi-pāda separately.

-ṛddhika, ifc. Bhvr., in maharddhika, q.v.; in Karmav 35.8 Lévi reads nāgena ghoreṇa ṛddhikena, but by em.; ms. marddhikena; read maharddhikena, which gives correct meter and sense. There seems to be no Skt. ṛddhika nor Pali iddhika, uncpd.

[Ṛddhidatta, error of mss. at Av ii.9.7 for Ṛṣidatta, q.v.]

ṛddhi-pāda, m. (= Pali iddhi°), usually pl., the (four) elements or bases of supernatural power, viz. (Mvy 966-970; Dharmas 46) 1 chanda- (2 citta-, 3 vīrya-, 4 mīmāṃsā-)samādhi-prahāṇa- (Dharmas prahāṇāya; see s.v. prahāṇa 1)-saṃskāra-samanvāgata rddhipādaḥ; with number four, Mv ii.324.4; Divy 95.14; 201.9; 208.8; Av i.16.11; KP 95.8; without number, LV 8.5; 183.5; Mv i.74.4; iii.120.12; Divy 264.29; Av i.327.6, 8 (rddhipāda-yāna-yāyin); RP 5.17.

Rddhipāda-nipāta (m. or nt.), n. of a section of the canon: Karmav 161.10; cf. Pali Iddhipāda-vagga (part of AN), and four Iddhipāda-suttas (see DPPN), but it is not clear that any of these contains the passage cited. rddhi-prātihārya, see prātihārya.

Rddhilamātar, n. of a female lay-disciple: Divy 160.6.

Rddhivikrīḍita, n. of a samādhi: SP 424.5.

? rddhyati, perhaps in transitive sense (so Vedic, not Class. Skt.), makes perfect, makes successful: LV 178.10 (vs) (svargāmrta-dvāra muñcahi) rddhyahi (so Lefm., em.; mss. rddhyabhi-, rddho bhi-, rddhyehi, rddhyebhiḥ; Calc. rddhi hi, Foucaux rddhihi as impv.) śilavato cintitam. Tib. is confused in order but if I understand correctly it reads for this phrase: tshul khirms ldan paḥi bsam pa ḥgrub ḥgyur gyis, which seems to support an impv.: make to become accomplished the thought of (the) one endowed with morality.

ṛlla, m. (cf. next), something like prize-fighter: naṭa-nartaka-ṛlla-malla- etc. Mv i.231.12, and in similar cpds. Mv i.259.5; ii.100.10; 150.4; 153.17; 156.9; iii.57.9; 113.3; 141.17; 161.3; 255.11; 266.5; 442.9. Senart on i.231.12, note, was inclined to think the word a graphic error for jhalla, as was Burnouf (see next); but he kept the mss. reading, which seems too common to emend.

ṛllaka, m., = preceding: SP 480.9 (prose) na ṛllakā, all mss. that contain the word (ed. narllakā); in SP 280.6 Burnouf (fol. 150 b) says all his 3 mss. read ṛllakebhīr, which KN report for only one ms. (their text jhall°).

? ṛvratā-(-śabda), onomat., used by Buddha in expelling a snake: bhagavatā °bdena prabodhyābhīhitāḥ, gaṅga . . . MSV ii.126.5.

Ṛṣabha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.2.

Ṛṣabhagāmin, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.2.

Ṛṣabhanetra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.6.

Ṛṣabhendrarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.7.

Ṛṣi, pl., n. of a brahmanical (Yajurvedic) school (1): Divy 633.6, 8 ṛṣayah.

Ṛṣikuśa, n. of a brother of Kuśa: Mv ii.433.16.

Ṛṣigupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.11: LV 5.7 (confirmed Tib.).

ṛṣi-tapas-taptā, sc. lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.10;

Tib. ṛṣi-penance-performed (spyad pa). A v.l. in Lefm. points to prāptā or samprāptā for taptā.

Ṛṣidatta, (1) n. of a sthapati of Śrāvastī, otherwise called (semi-MInd.) Ṛṣi° and Riṣi-datta, qq.v.: Av ii.9.7, by Speyer's em. for mss. Rddhidatta- (-purāṇābhyām); Tib. (drañ sroñ = ṛṣi) supports the em., as well as the parallel texts; MSV i.75.15 text Uṣidatta (same text as Divy 466.23 Ṛṣi°); (2) n. of a monk, associate of Ṛṣila: MSV ii.108.20.

Ṛṣideva, (1) n. of a legendary king: Mv i.92.5; (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.5 (confirmed Tib.); Mv i.137.12.

Ṛṣipātana (in mss. also °paṭana, °paṭṭana, °pattana, °bhavana), or Ṛṣivadana, nt. or (LV) m., n. of the deer-park at Benares where Buddha preached his first sermon. On the forms of the name, see Senart, Mv i.631; Lévi, JA 1912 (vol. 20), 499 f.; Pali Isipātana; this form supported by widely-known etym., Mv i.359.17 ṛṣayo 'tra patitā ṛṣipātanaṃ, similarly LV 19.3, and in Pali; -vadana acc. to Senart and Lévi Prakritic. Both forms Mvy 4130 °patanam, Tib. lhuñ ba, fall, and 4131 °vadanam, Tib. smra ba, speak (Mironov °pattanam for the latter, but he records v.l. °padanam; Tib. supports °vad°). In Mv, mss. usually vary between -vadana and -pattana, Senart always (in these cases) adopting the former: i.43.15 (one ms. °bhavana); 161.4; 174.2; 307.5; 313.16, 19; 323.14, 16 (in 16 -pahana instead of -pattana); 330.4; 331.3; 337.11; iii.330.3, 17. But in i.243.3 Senart reads -bhavanasmim with mss. (v.l. °nesmim), and (besides i.359.17 above) in ii.138.2; iii.323.3; 328.20 -patana (only v.l. -pattana in all three); in i.366.8 mss. °paṭṭane, Senart pattano. Divy has only -vadana, 393.21; 464.16; Av only -patana, i.42.9 etc., passim (in i.237.13 the former Buddha Kāśyapa stays there). SP has -patana, once, 69.12; and LV app. only -patana, 18.20; 19.3; 264.22; 402.3; 404.17; 407.16; 413.1; 421.16 (v.l. -paṭṭana 18.20; 19.3); in 407.16 nom. sg. °no (the only form in LV unambiguous as to gender).

Ṛṣirakṣitika, n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.23.

Ṛṣila (ms. Riṣila), n. of a monk, associate of Ṛṣidatta (2): MSV ii.108.6, 20.

Ṛṣivadana = Ṛṣipātana, q.v.

Ṛṣiśrṅga, n. of a maharṣi (doubtless false form for Rṣyaśrṅga): Māy 256.31. Cf. Ekaśrṅga.

Ṛṣika, n. of a nāga: Māy 221.29.

? Ṛṣṭa, n. of a pratyekabuddha: Mmk 111.10; in a list, followed by Upāriṣṭa; this suggests that Ṛṣṭa may be a corruption for Ariṣṭa = Pali Ariṭṭha, preceding Upariṭṭha in a list, of paccekabuddhas MN iii.69.29.

Eka-kānta-rājan, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 730; var. Ekāntarājan, adopted by Mironov with v.l. in Index, his text Ekakānta°, which is confirmed by Tib. gcig tu mdzēs pa (om. rājan).

eka-ghana, adj. (= Pali id.), in one mass, entire, said of a Tathāgata's body that is not divided into separate relics: SP 240.11 (here Kern condensed, inaccurately); 259.15 (na ca śarīram dhātubhedena bhetsyate,) ekaghanam cāśya śarīram bhaviṣyati saptaratnastūpaṃ praviṣṭam.

eka-ciraka, see ciraka.

Ekachattrā, n. of a Tathāgata: ŚsP 47.16.

Ekajaṭī, (1) n. of a goddess, form of Tārā (= Eka-jaṭī): Sādh 254.1 etc.; (2) n. of a mahāpiśāci (the same?): Māy 242.29.

Ekajaṭī = Ekajaṭā (1): Mvy 4277 (cf. Tārā 4280). eka-janmika (cf. -janmika), adj., in, subject to, a single birth: Divy 422.7 mā tāvat tavaikajanmikasya maraṇabhayāt . . . harṣo notpannaḥ, can it be that you, from fear of death, in a single birth . . . have not conceived joy . . . ; similarly 422.18 (vs) mā tāvad ekajanmikasya . . . ekajātipratibaddha, adj., limited to (or by, only) one (more) birth: LV 10.15 °dhasya (bodhisattvasya); Gv 514.7 °dhānam (bodhisattvānām).

ekapiṇḍayati, denom. to *eka-piṇḍa (not recorded), makes into a single mass, brings together: SP 73.2 sarvāṇi-māni kumārakāny (so read, or °kāny, see KN Crit. note) ekapiṇḍayitvā, collecting all these boys into one bunch.

eka-puta, adj. (cf. AMg. puḍa, perh. used in this sense of fold; Skt. puṭa hardly so used), in a single fold, contrasted with dvipuṭa: MSV ii.90.6 (of a blanket).

Ekapuṇḍarika (= Pali id.), n. of King Prasenajit's elephant: Av ii.114.10.

ekaprasūtā, who has borne once: Mv iii.282.14. Cf. dvi-pra°.

ekamante, adv. (= Pali id., Skt. ekānte; m 'hiatus-bridger'), at one side: (all prose) Mv i.35.9; 323.5 (in 3, just above, ekānte); ii.216.2; 257.11 ekamante asthāsi, resumed in next line by ekānta-samsthitasya.

ekameka, āmreḍita cpd. (= Pali id., Skt. ekaika; m 'hiatus-bridger'), one by one: SP 146.3 (vs) °ke, nom. pl. m. eka-yāna, see yāna.

ekarakṣa, m. (= ekārakṣa, q.v.), having a single protector, ep. of Buddhas (in the plural): Divy 95.13; 124.12; 264.27. Perhaps error of tradition for ekā°.

ekavacanodāhāra, see udāhāra.

ekavicika, m. (corruption of Pali ekabijī(n) plus ka), one who has only one more rebirth before him: Dharmas 103; Mvy 1013 = Tib. bar chad gcig pa, one hindrance, obstruction, interruption. One of the stages of a śrāvaka; context same as that of AN i.233.17 ekabijī hoti, ekam yeva mānussakam bhavam nibbattetvā dukkhassa antam karoti. Cf. kulamkula.

Ekavyūha, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 592; ŚsP 1423.3.

Ekaśīrṣā, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 4.3.

Ekaśrṅga, °gaka, n. of the hero of what the colophon Mv iii.152.19 calls Nalinīye rājakumārīye jātakam; later iii.272.17 it is referred to as Ekaśrṅgajātakam (punaḥ kartavyam); °śrṅga iii.144.17 ff.; °śrṅgaka (prose) 144.18; 145.7 ff. He corresponds to Skt. Rṣyaśrṅga, Pali Isisinga (in the Nalinikā-jātaka, 526), and doubtless is meant by the maharṣi Rṣiśrṅga, q.v.; both occur Māy 256.31.

ekāṃśa, adj. and subst. (m.° cf. the following items; = Pali ekāṃsa, in PTSD defined only as subst., but in every passage cited could be adj., and in some surely is so; not in these mgs. in Skt.), (1) absolute, complete; concentrated: Mv ii.50.3 ekāṃśam (absolute) vindate sukham; iii.23.7 (vs) priya-m-(so with mss., 'hiatus-bridging' m) anumataikāṃśo (so with v.l., ed. °so; mss. °matam ek°; concentrated in being...) kṛtvā añjaliṃ (read °li m.c.) tiṣṭhati; (2) absolute affirmation, absolute assurance: Mvy 1658 ekāṃśa-vyākaraṇa (see vyākaraṇa), elucidation (response to a question) by absolute affirmation, cf. Pali ekāṃsa-vyākaraṇīyam pañham AN i.197.20, explained comm. ii.308.24 cakkhum aniccaṃ ti puṭṭhena, āma aniccaṃ ti ekasmeṃ eva vyākātabbam; Mv iii.374.6 karohi ekāṃśam anugrahāye (mss. anubodhanāye, but) 9 karohi ek° anugrahāye (mss.); in both Senart em. okāśam for ek°, in accord with the Pali corresp. Jāt. v.150.6, 12 okāśam anuggahāya, but make absolute assurance (of a state of grace attained) is exactly what the context seems to require; the sense is much better than with the Pali ekāsam, and I suspect that the latter is a distortion of an original which agreed with Mv. (As noted by Francis and Dutoit, karomi must be read for karohi in Jāt. v.150.12.)

ekāmsika, adj. (= Pali ekāmsika; to prec.), entire, absolute, whole-hearted: RP 45.8 (vs) bodhyarthiko hi vicārāmi 'ha sattvahetoḥ ekāmsiko.

ekāmsikṛta, see ekāmsikṛta.

ekāmsena, adj. (= Pali ekāmsena; instr. of ekāmsā), wholly, exclusively, absolutely: Mv i.102.7 °na śubham karma; ii.33.6 °na vyākāritvā; iii.378.8 °na vyākṛto.

ekāmsam (= Pali ekāmsam), adv., only in phrase °sam uttarāsaṅgam (°gāni, mss. SP 100.4) karoti (usually in ger. kṛtvā), put(ting) the upper robe over one shoulder: SP 100.4; Mv i.98.1; et passim. Cf. next.

ekāmsikṛta, adj. (ppp. of *°sī-karoti = °sam uttarāsaṅgam karoti, as a mark of respect, cf. Childers s.v. ekāmsam), with (his upper robe) put over one shoulder (in token of respect), always followed by prāñjalikṛta, and said of some one paying respects to a Buddha: Mv i.239.18 (mss. ekāśī°; see Senart's note; in fact ś is always written for s in the mss. of Mv in this word); ii.257.11; iii.300.11; 302.13. I have not found this form recorded in Pali; cf. prec.

ekākāra, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 594; ŚsP 1423.8.

Ekāgramati, n. of a son of Māra (favorable to the Bodhisattva): LV 311.13.

ekātmanibhūtvā, ger. (to *°nibhavati; ek-ātmani-based on °na, a-extension of ekātman; regular Skt. would be ekātmī-), becoming of one spirit, concordant: Av i.378.1 (prose) (sarvair ekasamūhībhūtaiḥ prasannacittakaiḥ priti-jāitair) ekātmanibhūtais.

Ekādaśā (by em.), (1) n. of a devakumārikā in the west: LV 390.6; mss. Ekāhamśā-, Ekāndaśā, °daśā; in parallel Mv iii.308.9 mss. Ekānavā (v.l. °nam-vā); Tib. not quoted by Foucaux; (2) a kind of musical instrument, = next: Mv iii.442.11 (prose; mss. ekāśā, em. Senart); read ekādaśām (acc. sg.) also, with one ms. (v.l. °śa), in Mv iii.82.4 (Senart em. °daśim).

ekādaśikā, = °daśā (2): Mv iii.70.15; 407.20.

ekāntaka, adj. (= Skt. ekānta), entire, complete: in pr. r member of cpd. Mv i.6.4 (prose) ekāntaka-duḥkha-vedanā. The form ekantaka is apparently used in Pali as alternative title for the Sedaka and Janapada Suttas; SN v.168 and 169.

Ekāntarājan, see Ekakāntarājan.

Ekānta-raurava (most mss. Ekanta-, MIndic), n. of a hell (cf. Raurava): Mv i.5.13.

ekāntikaroti (to Skt. ekānta), makes all right, makes perfect, completes: Divy 572.1 putra jñānakovidāḥ pra-ṣṭavyāṣ te etad ekāntikariṣyanti; MSV i.55.20.

(ekāyana), adj. with mārga (also in Skt. in literal sense; = Pali ekāyano maggo), narrow (path), traversible only by one at a time: Divy 158.22 (teṣām, sc. ṛṣiṇām, āgacchatām Bhagavatā) ekāyano mārgo 'dhiṣṭhitāḥ; here app. in the literal, physical sense. In Pali it is also applied to the religious 'Path', prob. in the sense of traversible only by One (the Buddha); but several other interpretations are offered in the comms., e. g. MN comm. i.229.)

ekārakṣa, m. (= Pali ekārakkha), having a single guardian or protector, ep. of a Tathāgata: Mvy 428; in Divy ekarakṣa (by error of tradition?), q.v. The 'single guardian' is smṛti, Pali sati: DN iii.269.27 f. . . ekārakkho hoti . . . satārakkhena cetasā sammānāgato . . .; comm. 1051.15 f. sati-ārakkha-kiccaṃ sādheti.

(ekārāma), adj. [= Skt. and Pali id.] delighting in solitude: in Mv iii.201.1 read eko ekārāmo ekārāmanāmatām anuyukto [ed. partly with mss., which have n for r, eko nāma ekanāmanāmatām; my reading is proved by a Pali parallel DN ii.223.20], . . . the state of having [deserving] the name of one who delights in solitude; Śiḥ 191.10 ekārāmatā, abstr., delight in solitude [Bendall and Rouse keeping to one monastery!]

Ekārthadarśin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 441.26.

ekālāpaka, read °lopaka, see ālopaka.

ekāvācāraka, m., perhaps having a unitary or single explanation: Mvy 7615 = Tib. gcig nas rtog(s) pa, explanation (or the like) from one; so Chin. may intend. Das defines gcig nas rtogs pa by ekavicāraka, apparently a corruption; his English, one who deliberates with undivided attention, is evidently based on -vicāra(ka), and does not seem to fit the surroundings of Mvy 7615.

ekāvalikā (= Skt. °li, °lī), an ornament consisting of a single string of pearls: Mv ii.492.6, 8 ff. (prose).

ekāsanika, adj. (= Pali id.; BHS also aikā°), observing the rule of using the same seat (for eating his meal), one of the 12 dhūtaguṇa: Dharmas 63; AsP 387.5; MSV iii.122.5; aikā° Mvy 1132. See Pali Vism. i.69 for explanation.

ekāhatya, adj. (= AMg. egāhacca), to be struck down in a single blow: Mv ii.74.15 (devadattena) so hastināgo . . . ekāhatyaṃ kṛtvā tatraiva . . . nihato.

ekāhika, adj. m. (= Pali id., Skt. aik°), recurring daily, quotidian (of fever): Mvy 9531; SP 401.6 (prose); Bhik 17a.2; Māy 220.19.

ekībhūta, ppp. (cf. ekībhāva, solitude; in Skt. ekībhavati recorded only in mg. becomes united, and so all derivs.), isolated, lonely: LV 227.5 (prose) ekībhūtābhīh kurarībhīr iva.

ekoti-(°tī-)bhāva, m. (= Pali ekodi°, app. not recorded with ī, which is commoner in BHS tho both are written; etym. and lit. mg. much disputed, see refs. in Lévi Sūtrāl. xiv.14n., Renou JA 1939 p. 393 note 1, referring esp. to ŚB 12.2.2.4 prāṇā nānā santa ekotayaḥ samānam (so, not °nām) ūtim anusamcaranti; here ūti surely means web, and it is hard to believe with Eggeling's transl. (note) that the second part of the cpd. ekoti could mean anything else; cf. the next two items), the becoming concentrated, concentration (of mind, cetasaḥ; seems to mean about the same as Skt. ekāgratā manasaḥ); chiefly in formulaic statement of process leading out of the first dhyāna into the second, found (with slight variants) Mvy 1479; LV 129.3; 343.17; Mv i.228.5; ii.131.18; 283.8; iii.213.9 (here, by a strange confusion of formulas, applies to entrance into first dhyāna); Dbh 34.2: sa vitarkavicārāṇām (var., taking sa as associative prefix, savitar-kāṇām savicārāṇām, or the like) vyupaśamād adhyātma-samprasādhāc cetasa ekotībhāvād (once °vā; ekoti° Mvy; Mv i.228.5; iii.213.9; Dbh; and vv.ll. LV 343.17; Mv ii.131.18) avitarkam avicāraṃ samādhijaṃ pritisukhaṃ viharati (or other form of this verb); this passage is prose and the var. in quantity cannot be m.c.; other occurrences, Mvy 1656 ekotībhāvāḥ; Gv 490.15 (prose) sa ekotībhāvagataḥ sarvabuddhadharmaṣu; Gv 305.7 (prose) ekotībhāvagataṃ dharmadhātum avatarāmi.

ekoti-(°tī-)bhūta, adj. (ppp.; = Pali ekodi°; see prec.), concentrated (without dependent modifier, but doubtless implying a form of cetasa, in mind): Mv iii.212.16 (vs; ekoti-, i could be but prob. is not m.c.); 213.10 (prose: Senart ekoti° but mss. °tī°, °ni°).

ekotikaroti (= Pali ekodi°; see prec. two), concentrates: Bbh 109.17 (cittaṃ . . .) ekotikaroti samādhatte.

ekoti-bhāva, -bhūta, see ekoti°.

Ekottara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.18.

Ekottarika, nt. (Karmav 153.12 °ke, loc.), or °kā, i. (Divy 329.1 ff.; 333.13; Karmav 167.2 °kā-sūtraṃ, a sūtra of the Ek°), a section of the canon, corresponding to Pali Aṅuttara-nikāya; forms ambiguous in gender (°ka or °kā), Karmav 157.9; Ekottarikāgama, m., Mvy 1421.

?ekotsava, adj. or subst., n. or epithet of mus. instruments, in a list of such: SP 51.14 (vs) ekotsavā(h), n. pl.; so 3 mss.; v.l. ekonnaḍā; Kashgar rec. ekāvaccārā (for ekotsavā vā). Burnouf, qui ne servent que pour une fête; Kern, who in his Transl. knows only the reading ekonnaḍā, leaves it untranslated.

ekodāhāra, m., united, unified, single utterance, see s.v. udāhāra.

eḍaka-mūka, adj. = eḍa-mūka, q.v.: Śikṣ 188.8 idam mayā naiva vaktavyam, jaḍasamena eḍakamūka-samena mayā kalahavivādeṣu bhavitavyam (so punctuate). Here perhaps the literal idea, speechless, is dominant, tho the parallel jaḍa-samena suggests that overtones of dull, stupid must also be present.

eḍaka-rajās (= avi-rajās, q.v.), lit. sheep-speck, a small unit of matter; like avi-rajās Mvy 8195, it occurs LV 149.6 and Divy 645.11 in tabular lists of very small weights or measures; in all three, seven śāsa-rajāmsi (q.v.) make one eḍaka-(avi-)r° and seven of these make one go-rajās (q.v.). Acc. to St. Julien, cited by Weber IST. 8.436 note, the mg. is said by Hiuen Ts'ang and a Chin. transl. of LV to be a grain of dust on the hide of a hare (sheep, beeve). But Tib. on both Mvy and LV says simply hare- (sheep-, cow-) speck (rdul); to be sure, Das s.v. rdul declares that glañ rdul means a mote in the dung of an ox, a small particle of cowdung. But this, as well as the different guess from Chin., can hardly be anything but implausible guesswork. Why should a speck on the skin, or in the dung, of an animal vary with the size of the animal? The Tib. itself gives no such indication. It seems safe to assume that hare-speck, sheep-speck, and cow-speck mean only three different sizes of small particles.

eḍamūka, adj. (cf. eḍaka-mūka; = Pali eḍamūga), stupid (lit. dumb) as a sheep (this, not deaf and dumb, seems to be the regular mg. in Pali and BHS, see CPD s.v. an-elaṃmūga, an-ela°, and e.g. Miln. 251.1-2 duppaññā jaḷā eḍamūgā mūhā dandhagatikā janā: Mvy 7684 = Tib. lug ltar (sheep-like) lkug pa (dumb, also stupid); Chin. also dumb, dumb like sheep, but Jap. deaf and dumb; it must be admitted the Jap. editor's view gets some support from the next word in Mvy, hasta-samvācakaḥ (see samvācaka); AsP 113.2 eḍamūkajā-tiyā(h) prajñāparihās; *ka-saṃgha MSV iii.116.18, 21; Śikṣ 51.6 dhanva-(= dhandha-, q.v.)-gatim jaḍāḍa-mūka-gatim; 284.1 dha- (erasure, read nva for ndha)-jaḍa-eḍamūka-jātiyāh. Skt. lexicons seem to have abstracted from this cpd. an adj. eḍa, deaf, assuming that the cpd. means deaf and dumb; and in some late texts (see Schmidt, Nachtr.), perhaps by direct borrowing from lexx., this usage is actually found in literature. Did Mvy also know this interpretation? Sheep are proverbially stupid in other countries than India.

eḍākṣi-puṣpa, nt. (presumably = Skt. eḍikākṣi, see pw), n. of a certain flower: Mvy 6177 (Tib. renders lit., sheep's-eye-flower).

eṇi (jaṅgha), see eṇi° and eṇeya°.

Eṇī (= Pali id.), n. of a river: Karmav 34.14, 15.

eṇī-, eṇi- (these appear to belong primarily in prior member of cpds. only; see below eṇi-mṛga and -jaṅgha), and eṇeya, m. (= Pali eṇi-miga, also eṇimiga Jāt. v.416.23; eṇi-jaṅgha, also eṇi° MN ii.136.14, but v.l. eṇi°; and eṇeya, m.; = Skt. eṇa, m., eṇī, f., and aṇeya, regularly adj. but rarely recorded as subst. = eṇa), a kind of deer, the black antelope: (1) eṇi, abbreviation meant to suggest °jaṅgha, as one of the 32 lakṣaṇa: Mv i.226.17 (here mss. vaṇi); ii.30.1; (2) eṇijaṅghā ca te āsi Mv ii.305.3, and thou hadst antelope-legs (one of the lakṣaṇa); this lakṣaṇa = Pali eṇijaṅgha (above); (3) eṇimṛga, m. Etadagra, n. of a work, or section of one, which = or contains the Dakṣiṇāvibhaṅga sūtra: Karmav 156.12 Bhagavataitadagre Dakṣiṇāvibhaṅge sūtra uktam. It is not the Etadagga-vagga AN i.23 ff. (cf. Agradā-sūtra); nor does Lévi's identification with AN Book 4, No. 15 (ii.17) seem certain, since the precise quotation does not occur there.

etarahi (= Pali id.) and etarahim, at this time, Skt. etarhi; see the next two. Only in Mv, but both very common, and that too in prose; mss. often vary in same passage. All the foll. are prose; in few are mss. unanimous; often etarhi or etarahim (or even etarahesi) occurs in same vicinity or in v.l. of same passage: Mv i.39.4, 13; 50.2, 5; 54.12; 56.6; 60.5 ff.; 128.14; 238.16, 19, 20; 239.2 (in 13 etarhi, no v.l.); 262.2; 286.19, 20; 313.2; 330.7, 8; 331.6, 8; 332.9, 10, 11; 335.16 ff.; ii.130.9; iii.67.11; 200.8, 13; 201.2, 7, 10, 14; 202.1; 272.15 etc.

etarahesi, at this time, = prec. and next: Mv i.38.13; 39.1, 3. Speculations on the strange form in Senart's note, i.404.

etarhiṃ = etarahi(m), Skt. etarhi; not infrequent in variants of mss.; esp. Mv i.34.16; 239.15; 331.7.

etādṛśaka, adj. (= Skt. °śa), such: SP 15.13; 87.11 (both vss, -ka may be m.c.).

On Mv iii.277.13 (one ms. ettikā, f. pl.) see s.v. ettiya.

ettāvat-, in cpd. (= Skt. etāvat, cf. prec.); Pali adv. ettāvatā, to this extent, noted only in Mv ii.130.8, 11, where mss. are corrupt but Senart's text and interpretation are certainly wrong; read probably, ettāvatpāram ito imaṃ pi kecit nābhisambhūṇanti. or possibly nāpi sam° (they experience pains) to so great an extent as this, and after this (ito; cf. Pali parallel, MN i.246.22, 25 etāvāparamam na-y-ito bhīyvo; also parallel LV 263.8 etāvatparamam te dukkham anubhavanti) some do not attain even this (degree of success; said of ascetics who practise self-torture). At any rate, divide ettāvātpāram from ito (Senart °pāramite).

ettiya, adj. (= AMg. ettiya, ettia), = ettaka, so many: Mv ii.353.10 (vs) ettiyā (f. pl.; no v.l.) sattvakoṭṭiyo; in same vs iii.277.13 Senart also ettiyā, but one ms. ettikā (f. of ettaka), the other etti, with accidental omission of final syllable.

etto, adv. (= Pali id.; abl.), in yāva(d) etto, up to this point (yāvāt with abl., as in both Skt. and Pali): Mv i.327.20; 329.5; in both read, as clearly indicated by the mss. despite some corruption, yāvād etto pi ativiśvasto, even to such an extent very intimate (wrongly Senart).

ettha, adv. (= Pali id.; see etta and next), here: Mv i.28.11 (three times) ettha vāyam (khādisyāmaḥ etc.); ii.178.6 ettha (v.l. etthaṃ) caturmahāpathe; 248.2 ettha samudrapāre (no v.l.).

etthaṃ, adv. (= ettha; not recorded elsewhere; only in prose, hence not m.c.; Senart em. first two passages to ettha, but keeps etthaṃ iii.316.11; 317.4; 417.6; see below), here: Mv i.24.2; ii.99.3 yattakā ete prāñā etthaṃ yajñe hanisanti; repeatedly etthaṃ etam śrūyati, here the following is recorded, Mv iii.316.11; 317.4; 417.6, and one ms. in 416.8 where Senart reads itthaṃ with v.l. and with 418.7, where both mss. itthaṃ. The mg. seems to be here, not thus; but perhaps the form is blended with itthaṃ.

edānim, adv. (§ 3.59; Pkt. eyānim, acc. to Sheth, from the drama Rambhāmañjari, dialect unspecified; = Skt. idānim), now: Mmk 55.19 (prose) (aham apy) edānim bhāṣiṣye; apy edānim... MSV i.67.2; 226.14; ii.178.3, 8; 180.11.

edṛṣa, f. °śā, °śi, adj. (= Pali edisa, Skt. id°; Pischel 121 has a highly implausible explanation of e-; Geiger 11 a less implausible one), such; very common in Mv but rare elsewhere: SP 70.7 (vs; idṛṣa in same position 70.4); 336.7 (vs); Mv i.225.8 and (°śi, f., by em.) 9, 258.21 and 261.14 (°śāye, inst. f.); 284.9; 289.1; 308.16 (°śāye); 364.8; ii.35.3; 58.10 (°śi); 76.16; 110.1; 144.17; 146.13; 147.15 (°śi); 180.1; 208.16; 215.14, 15; 274.9; 307.18; 433.2; 447.3; iii.130.15; 264.6 f., etc.

em, adv. eraka, m. (Divy.) or nt. (Mvy.), (= Pali eraka, see PTSd, or eragu, see below), a kind of grass, prob. = Skt. erakā, used in making coverlets, or a coverlet made of it; in a list of four such materials, Mvy 9180 erakam (= Tib. mal stan, bed-cover, var. bal stan, woolen cover; Chin. mattress); 9181 merakam (= śiṅ śun gyi stan, coverlet of tree-bark; Chin. mattress of leaves, or of bark); 9182 syandarakaḥ (Mironov v.l. syandu°; = Tib. srin bal gyi stan, coverlet of cotton or silk, and so Chin.); 9183 mandurakam (= Tib. ras bal gyi stan, coverlet of cotton cloth); same passage Divy 19.22 evamrūpam āstaraṇaṃ pratyāstaraṇaṃ, tad yathā, erako merako jandurako mandurakaḥ; and in Pali, Vin.i.196.6 eragu moragu majjhāru (v.l. majjhāru) jantu; see the other words; eraka occurs also Mv i.19.10, where prob. read eraka (°kā?) vārṣikā 'as separate words, grass-coverlets for the rainy season, see s.v. vārṣikā.

Erakakṣa (= Pali Erakaccha, see DPPN), n. of a locality: Māy 51, 69. So all Lévi's mss. in 51 (v.l. Bharukaccha in 69); he em. Ekakakṣa with Chin. versions, not knowing the Pali form. The Chin. doubtless have a rationalization.

Eravaṇa, m. (= Pali, Pkt. Erā°, Skt. Airā°), n. of Indra's elephant: Mv ii.275.7, 8 (prose). The short a may be only an error, tho it is repeated; it is otherwise unknown; v.l. both times ai°; e for ai, § 3.67.

erita, ppp. (= Pali id., to ereti; Skt. irita, to irayati, which takes the preverb ā only in the Veda, and no erita, ppp., seems recorded even there), stirred, moved (by wind), or (of musical instruments) struck: LV 194.10 (vs) vṛkṣā māruta-eritā (cf. Skt. vāyv-irita, Mbh., BR); so Lefm., most mss. -ir°; Mv iii.367.12, 17 (vs) (gandho . . .) upavāyati erito mārutena; Divy 251.3 an-eritāni vāditrabhāṇḍāni madhuraśabdān niścārayanti.

ela, (1) m. or nt., a high number: Mvy 7759 (m.) = Tib. yal ḥdas, ya lad; 7872 (nt.) = Tib. thal thal, cited from Gv, which has elam 133.14; (2) m., n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3263; Māy 247.28; also dual dvandva Elamelau, two nāga kings, Māy 247.33.

?elaka (= Pali eḷaka), threshold, perhaps to be read in Mv i.195.15; see s.v. eluka (1).

elatā, a high number, = next: Gv 106.5.

elada, m. or nt., a high number: Mvy 7746 (m.), 7875 (nt.), both = Tib. thal yas; the latter cited from Gv, the text of which has instead elatā or eluda, qq.v.

elapatra, m., (1) one of four 'great treasures' (mahānidhi; cf. a similar group of four treasures in Pali, DN comm. i.284.8, saṅkha, ela, uppala, puṇḍarika), each presided over by a nāga-king of (presumably) the same name (so definitely stated for Elapatra): Mv iii.383.18-384.1 catvāro mahānidhayo saṅkho vārāṇasyāṃ mithilāyāṃ (19) padumo kalimgeṣu piṅgalo takṣasīlāyāṃ elapatro; vārāṇasyāṃ saṅkhasya māṣiko (20) samājo vartati; tahim nidhānādhipatayo nāgarājāno nimantritakā āgatā; (384.1) tatra ca elapatreṇa nāgarājñā praśnā sthāpitā (see below for Pali equivalent); (2) Elapatra, in Mv iii.384.1, above, n. of a nāga-king presiding over the 'treasure' of the same name; presumably the same as the nāga (or nāga-king) named (without reference to the 'treasure') Mvy 3271 (Kyoto ed. Elāpattra, by error; Mironov Ela° with no v.l.); Suv 162.9; Mmk 452.20; Kv 2.9; Māy 222.3; 247.2; certainly the same as the Elapatra (mss.; ed. wrongly em. Elā°) of Divy 61.4, tho here he is not called a nāga but one of the four 'kings' presiding over the four treasures (cf. Mv iii.383.18 ff. above), (Divy 61.1) atha catvāro mahārājās caturmahānidhisthāḥ, (3-4, vs) Piṅgalāś ca Kalimgeṣu Mithilāyāṃ ca Pāṇḍukaḥ, Elapatraś ca Gāṇḍhāre Saṅkho Vārāṇasipure. Besides the Pali parallel, DN comm. above, cf. the 9 treasures of Kubera which include Saṅkha and Padma (with presiding personages of the same names), and among the Jains the 9 treasures of a cakravartin, which in their AMg. forms include piṅgala, paṇḍua (= pāṇḍuka), and saṅkha; the Skt. forms of these are recorded at least lexically. Note also in Pali the nāga-king Erakapatta, of Dh. comm. iii.231 ff., who however does not seem to be brought into relation to the 'treasure' called in Pali ela (above); but the vss attributed to him, and the replies to them, in Dh. comm. are reproduced in Mv iii.384, see above.

Elabhadra, n. of a nāga: Hoernle, MR 27.3 (Āṭṭānāṭṭiya Sūtra).

[Ela-mela, Mironov Eḍa-meḍa, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3291. But a var. in both edd., supported by Tib., makes Ela-Mela a dvandva cpd.; see Ela and Mela.]

Elavarṇa, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3267; Māy 247.28. elā, a high number: Gv 106.9; corresp. to elu.

elu, m. or f., a high number: Mvy 7888 (eluh, = Tib. yal, or ya lad), cited from Gv which reads elā or delu (nt.) qq.v.

eluka (m. or nt.), (1) (= AMg. eluya, threshold of a door; cf. Pali eḷaka, id., wrongly queried in PTSD; DN comm. ii.355.5, on DN i.166.5, = ummāra; possibly supported by Mv i.195.15), threshold: (teṣām ...) dvārāṇām ... elukā (pl.; Senart elūkā with v.l. iii.228.11; in i.195.15 both mss. valakā, perhaps to be read elakā in agreement with Pali, above) abhūṣi (i.195.15 abhunsuḥ) Mv i.195.15; iii.228.11; (2) (= Skt. eḍuka, m., and Lex. eḍuka), monument for containing the ashes of a dead person (occurs as eḍukān, acc. pl., and eḍuka-, in cpd., Mbh. Cr. ed. 3.188.64, 66, of heretical relic-shrines; prob. Buddhist word); Mv ii.486.5 (prose; refers to the 'bones' of ordinary laymen, not religious persons) asthīni sāhareyevā (so mss., Senart asthīni samharayitvā) tato me elūkām (so text, but v.l. elukām; acc. pl.) kārapayesi. tatra ca elukadvāre (so both mss.; Senart em. elūkā) ...; iii.20.9, 10 (same situation, story told in vss) ekamante dahāpetvā elukaṃ (mss., Senart em. elūkām) mama kāraye, elukaṃ (mss., Senart em. elūkām) me karitvāna ... Since Skt. Lex. record eḍuka, and eḍuka is read only in one ms. in one passage, it seems best to read eluka in both.

eluda, nt., a high number: Gv 133.15; cited Mvy as elada, q.v.

1 eva (as in Pali kociḍ-eva, see PTSD s.v. ka, 2) after kaścid, has extreme indefinitizing force, some ... or other (not only unnamed and unknown, but usually imaginary, as in a parable): kaścid eva puruṣaḥ, some man or other (any one at all), after tad yathāpi nāma, SP 101.11; 320.6 (vaidya-puruṣo); Śikṣ 166.6 (all prose); taṃ kaścid eva puruṣa upasaṃkramya Śikṣ 166.7, to him some (different) man or other approaching ...; kenacid eva karaṇiyena MSV i.62.3.

2 eva in the sense of evam, occurs in the cpd. evarūpa, q.v.; also (in vss, m.c.) as separate word, LV 55.21; 76.2; 216.8. In LV 238.18 (prose) Lefm. reads: te 'bruvan, eva hy etat paśyāmaḥ; Calc. evam for eva (not noted by Lefm.); Weller ignores the passage; the only v.l. is naiva for eva; either this, or evam, must surely be read. Possibly (since the Calc. v.l. evam is not noted) eva is a mere misprint (but it is not corrected).

evamvidhi, adj. (= Skt. °vidha), of such a sort, such: °dhiḥ prābhṛto (q.v.) Divy 36.21.

evamkara, adj. (= Pali id., Jāt. v.148.21), acting thus (correl. to kathamkara): Mv iii.373.5 (vs, = Jāt. above) °ro prajñāvaṃ bhoṭi manye (mss. manyo, read martyo, cf. Pali macco?), 13.

[evata, acc. to Bendall, Śikṣ 343.3 and 7 (vss), taken as a single word, 'connected with evam' and translated even so. On the contrary, it represents two words, eva = evam in 7 but eṣa (with mss.) in 3, followed by (a)ta = ataḥ; eṣ' ata, this (ray) therefore (in 3), ev' ata, so therefore (in 7). See §§ 4.21 ff., esp. 4.29.]

evamdarśana, adj. Bhvr., = next, holding such a view: Mv ii.119.3 evamdarśanaṃ ca samānaṃ samānārthatāye sthāpayet, and (me) being a holder of such an opinion (agreeing with his own, Ārāḍa Kālāma's) ... See also tathādarśana.

evamdr̥ṣṭi, adj. Bhvr. (= Pali evamdiṭṭhi), = prec. and tathādarśana, holding such a view or opinion: Av ii.188.5 ff. eka evamdr̥ṣṭir bhavaty evamvādi, sarvaṃ me kṣamata iti (etc., similar phrases).

evarūpa, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. evarūpa), of such a sort or form: very common in vss, SP 83.14; 86.14; 93.4; 94.1; 95.4, 12; 96.8; 97.6; LV 55.9; Dbh.g. 12(348).16;

Sukh 50.12; but also in prose, esp. of Mv, e.g. i.39.8; 329.7, 21; 330.11; ii.257.12; iii.317.7; 444.6, etc.; also in prose of LV, 13.22 and 307.13 (so all Lefm.'s mss. and Weller's ms., certainly not misprint as suggested by Weller 16), as well as 441.12, eṣām evarūpaṇām dharmāṇām (no v.l. except Calc. evamrū°, cited by Lefm., so that evarū° is not a misprint; not noted by Weller). Pali also uses evarūpa in prose as well as verse. (PTSD cites this cpd. under eva; of course it should be under evam.) Cf. keva-rūpa.

evala, adj. (= Ap. evaḍa = iyat, Hem. 4.408; cf. Jacobi, Bhav. Gloss., evaḍḍa, id.), so many: Mmk 507.14 (vs) evalā mudravarety āhu = mudrā varā(h) ity āhur(?).

eṣaka, adj. (= Pali esaka, Dh. comm. iii.417.10; not in PTSD; to eṣati), seeking, striving: Bbh 204.4 eṣakaṃ vīryam bodhisattvasya, sarvavidyāsthānaparyeṣanatayā.

eṣati, °te (= Pali esati; very rare in Skt., BhāḡP. in pw, which associates this with iṣyati; in mg. it belongs with icchati; cf. adhy°, anv°, pary-eṣati), seeks: SP 54.10 (vs) na buddham eṣanti; LV 242.10 (vs) na ca so tṛpti labheta bhūyu eṣan; 354.2 (vs) bodhi vara eṣatā (inst. pr. pple.); 364.9 (vs) eṣati: 379.11 (vs) agādhe gādham eṣatha (so read with v.l.); RP 5.14 (vs) eṣamāna varabodhim uttamām; 15.14 (vs) na ca punar eṣati kasyacit sa doṣam.

ehipaśyika, adj. (= Pali ehipassika; based on ehi paśya, come see!; also aihi°, q.v.), that invites (every man) to come and see, ep. of the Buddha's dharma (and, in Mv, vinaya; in Pali, of dhamma): Mv iii.200.10 (svā-khyāto ... tathāgatasya ...) dharmavinayaḥ sāmḍṛṣṭika akāliko ehipaśyikaḥ aupanayikaḥ etc. (essentially same formula in Pali and in passages cited s.v. aihipaśyika).

ehibhikṣukā, the act or formula of ordination as monk by pronouncing the words beginning ehi bhikṣu (bhikṣo; Pali ehi bhikkhu; or pl. bhikṣavo); one of the four forms of upasampadā (ā), q.v.: ehibhikṣukāya (inst.) upasampadā Mv i.2.15; often followed by the words of the formula, in Mv regularly ehibhikṣukāye (or °ya, inst.) ābhāṣe (3 sg. aor; rarely abhikhāṣe, iii.379.13), or ābhāṣto, °tā (ppp., subject the initiates): ehi bhikṣu (sometimes followed by the name, as Upāli iii.180.12; or pl. etha bhikṣavo) cara (caratha) tathāgate brahmacaryam Mv ii.234.2 (read etha for Senart's em. eatha); iii.65.2; 92.7; 180.12; 181.3; 379.13; 413.10; in Divy 48.18; 281.22; 341.27; 558.18 ehibhikṣukāyā ābhāṣitaḥ (or °tāḥ; 341.27 mss. ābhāṣya, ger.) ehi bhikṣo cara (eta bhikṣavaḥ carata) brahmacaryam (omitting tathāgate); also used without quotation of the formula, the instr. °kāye or °kāya (in Mv; °kāyā Divy and Av) being followed by ppp. pravrajīto (°taḥ, or °tā = °tāḥ; Mv adds upasampādīto or °tā = °tāḥ) Mv iii. 376.14; 401.16; 430.14; Divy 463.25; Av ii.113.5; (ayaṃ ca me) caramo bhaviṣyati sāksāc-chrāvākāṇām ehibhikṣukāyā pravrajitānām (non-caus.), ... of disciples who have become monks through (my saying) the ehibhikṣukā formula, Av i.230.16.

ehibhikṣuṇī-vāda (m.; cf. Pali ehi bhikkhuni, fem. to ehi bhikkhu), = (the fem. equivalent of) prec., the ordination of a nun by the formula ehi bhikṣuṇi: Divy 616.19 mātaṅgadārikām ehi°vādena pravrajayitvā.

ehisvāgatavādin, adj., and °vādi-tā (Pali ehisāgata-vādi, or °svāgata°), (the state or actions of) one who (habitually) says 'come, welcome! (ehi svāgata): Bbh 254.20 (sattvānām) pūrvābhilāpī ca bhavati ehisvāgatavādi; Bbh 146.6 saṃmodayati °di-tayā; 217.11 °di-tayā ... sattvān pratisaṃmodayati.

aikāsanika, Mvy 1132, = ekās°, q.v.

aiṇeya-jaṅgha(-tā), (state of) having legs like a black antelope (= the more usual eneya°, q.v. under enī-): Mvy 267; Dharmas 83 (text aiṇeya°); Gv 400.6 °gha-tā, glossed in 7 eneyasyeva mṛgarājñō (indicating that aiṇ° is adj., en° noun).

airāvatā (m.), lit. path of Indra = the open air: °ge Mv ii.157.7. See s.v. ajina-khipa.

Airāvata, m., n. of a mountain (= next; occurs as n. of several mountains in Brahmanical and Jain Skt., see Kirfel, Kosm., Index s.v.): Divy 450.11.

Airāvataka, m. = prec., Divy 455.29.

Airāvati, n. of a yogini: Sādh 427.5.

airyāpatha, m., = iryāpatha, q.v., in mg. 3, proper deportment; the form with vṛddhi of first syllable is not recorded elsewhere but seems guaranteed by LV 127.9, in the Bodhisattva's spelling lesson, where the letter ai stands for airyāpathaḥ (so prob. read, Lefm. °patha- with ms. A, other mss. airapathaḥ) śreyān; LV 191.16, text with most mss. prāsādikenaairyāpathena (one ms. °kena iryā) sampannam (bhikṣum); ŚsP 96.7 sarvasattvān airyāpatha-sahagate punyakriyāvastuni pratiṣṭhāpayitukāmena (bodhisattvena).

aiṣika (= Pali esikā; proverbially 'stable, firm', see refs. in PTSD), pillar (as that which makes firm, steadfast): Śikṣ 3.7 (vs) niśraya (separate!) kleśa-adharṣika-tāyai aiṣika (m.c. for °kā; possibly read esika?) śradha svayambhuguṇānām, faith is a support, so as not to be subject to attack by the depravities, a pillar for the excellent qualities of the Self-existent. (Bendall and Rouse wrongly derive from esaka, to esati.)

aihipaśyika, adj., = ehipaśyika, q.v.; ep. of dharma: Mvy 1296; Śikṣ 323.6.

o-: see also ava- for words with this initial. When the form with ava- is normal Skt., the form with o- is sometimes omitted here; cf. § 3.76.

Oka, n. of a rich merchant, father of Yaśoda. ... iii.404.13.

okaṭṭati, once avak° (see s.v. kaṭṭati), (1) draws down (= Pali ava-, o-kaḍḍhati); Mv iii.29.13 to 30.10, always of a water-ogre who draws down into the water creatures who come to drink (Senart always em. °kaḍḍh°): °ati 29.13, 15 'here Senart with ms. ā-k°, but o-k° must be read), 16; °iyā (opt.; Senart em. °eyā) 30.8; °itāni, ppp. 29.17; °iyanti, and pres. pple. °iyanto (pass.), 30.3 & d 4; °itum, inf. 30.10; avakaṭṭitum 30.6; (2) draws out or forth (in this sense = Pali apakaḍḍhati, but in Pali ava- and even o- occur, at least in the mss., in this mg. also): Mv iii.34.8 dāruskandham nadiye . . . oruhyantam okaṭṭitum (inf.); 34.10 okaṭṭitam (mss. °tum by error; ppp.).

okasta, taken by Senart i note p. 556 as ppp. of ava with root kas (see BR), gone down, descended. I cannot improve on this suggestion, altho no form of this cpd. has been recorded elsewhere. Usually with acc. or loc. of that to (sometimes into) which the subject has gone down, the pple. °to or °tā being a periphrasis for a past tense: to the sea, in order to embark, Mv i.245.4; to a river, ii.212.15 (to draw water); iii.313.8; to a pool, ii.450.2 (by a staircase, sopānena), 15; iii.24.19; 29.16; from the Himalayan region into another country Mv i.232.3 (text uncertain), 12; to the bazaar-street iii.35.17; 37.3; from a wagon iii.39.16; a nāga enters into the Buddha's alms-bowl, iii.429.3. Not found outside of Mv.

okkarika, m. (= aukarika, q.v.; acc. to Feer, Transl. of Av, = Tib. yul tsoñ [read tshoñ] pa, see below), some kind of tradesman; Feer, 'country merchant'; but yul, which indeed often means janapada (opp. to town), in comp. with tshoñ pa, merchant, could possibly mean dealer in agricultural products, something like truck-farmer; possibly cf. ogara, oggara, cited by Sheth from Prākṛta-piṅgala as meaning a kind of grain or rice. Certainly not a keeper of a shop in the country, for the story shows that it means a member of an urban tradesman's guild, parallel with perfumers: Av i.198.7 pitā te okkarika āsīd; 10 tenaukkarikāpaṇo vyavasthāpitaḥ; 12 tenaukkarika-tvaṃ tyaktvā. The story is the same as that in which Divy uses aukarika. I see no reason to associate with either of these words the n. pr. Utkarika or Otk°, qq.v.

o-kṣapayati (for ava-kṣ°, caus. to Skt. apa-kṣi), causes to be done away with, orders put away, with 'inner accusative' vadham, to death, i. e. orders executed: Mv i.96.7 (prose), read with 5 of 6 mss. (aparādham ca ananuyujyā, read °jya, q.v.) vadham okṣapayanti (one ms. ākṣap°; Senart em. ākṣep°).

ogamana, nt. (= Pali id.; Skt. ava-ga° not in this sense), going down, setting (of heavenly bodies): Mv ii.163.8 (prose; candrasūryānām . . . ogamanāni).

ogrāhaka, m., one who grasps (intellectually), acquires (knowledge): Mv iii.373.3 (vs) ogrāhako ca pariṣṭhamāno . . . evaṃkaro prajñāvāṃ bhoṭi). Prob. false Sktization of Pali uggāhako (vā paripucchako siyā, same line as above, Jāt. v.148.19). Alternatively, might be false Sktization of a Pali °ogāhaka to ogāhati, °heti (= Skt. ava-gāh-), penetrates (used once with object lokanāthassa sāsanam, Pv. comm. 287.12).

ogha, m. (= Pali id.), flood (of evils, passions, or depravities, 'crossing' of which, tar- or ut-tar-, is necessary for salvation); usually four in number, presumably as in Pali = the 4 āsrava or yoga, qq.v. (cf. Mvy 2141 āsravaḥ, 2142 oghaḥ): catur-ogha-pāra-gāmitābhiprāyasya (bodhisattvasya) LV 8.16 (read so with Tib. pha rol tu ḥgro baḥi bsam pa-can, intending to go to the further shore . . .; best ms. A °pāramitābhi°, Lefm. with others °pāragāminābhi°); LV 195.18 (vs) ogha catvāri tīrtvā; caturoghottīrṇānām (Buddhānām) Divy 95.15; Av i.16.11; sattvānām caturoghottaranatāyai Gv 492.1; five or six ogha, Mv iii.283.18 (vs) pañcoghottīrṇo taratīha saṣṭham (text saṣṭam; = Pali SN i.126.22; cf. Windisch, Māra und Buddha, 122 note 1; it is not clear what these are; for one not very plausible conjecture see PTSD s.v.).

Oghaja, n. of two former Buddhas, in the same list: Mviii.231.5; 237.1 (v.l. both times Oghamjana or Oghajana).

Ojahpratyāhāriṇī, n. of a goddess: Mvy 4285.

? ojas, nt., a high number: Sukh 31.2 (by plausible em.; follows srotas, precedes aprameya). Cf. bala (4). -ojaska = ojas, strength, in Bhvr. cpds.: SP 105.10 (prose) alpaujaskau; Jm 200.20 (vs) anojasko (mss. anau°); 234.2 (vs) svabhāva-saujaska-.

oġā (= Pali id.; derived by Childers and Senart from Skt. ūj, by PTSD from ojas, which seems more plausible), food: Mv i.210.19 = ii.14.20 (prose) (lābhini bhavati divyānām gandhānām . . . mālyānām . . . vilepanānām) divyānām oġānām; ii.131.3 (and 6) (prose) (vayaṃ te roma-kūpa- [mss. °pe] vīvarāntareṣu) divyām oġām adhyohari-ṣyāmaḥ; see s.v. adhyoharati (used in Pali, like its noun ajjohāra, of food). It seems clear that in BHS, at least, oġā means simply food, not essence or the like.

Ojopati (for Ojahpati), n. of one of 4 (masc.) devatās of the Bodhivṛkṣa: LV 278.10 (so all mss.; Lefm. em. Ojāpati). Cf. next.

Ojobalā, n. of one of 8 (fem.) devatās of the Bodhivṛkṣa: LV 331.21. Cf. prec.; but there is otherwise no resemblance between the two lists.

ojovanta-tara, adj. compv. (cf. Pali ojavant(a), Vedic ojasvant; in Skt. only ojasvin), strong-er: Suv 164.8 (vs) ojovantatarā bhonti lakṣmīvīryabalānvitāḥ.

ojohāra, adj. and subst. (f. °rī), lit. strength-robber; ep. of rākṣasas: Divy 295.6 rākṣasa eva ojohāra ihāgacchati; of yakṣas, Jm 41.14 ojohārāḥ pañca yakṣāḥ; subst. m. and f., in a list of evil supernatural beings, ojohāro vaujohāri vā Lañk 261.11; 262.13. Cf. next two. See also s.v. 2 -hāra; in both Divy and Jm the mg. to rob the strength (of people) would be possible.

ojo-hāraka, adj. or subst. m. (cf. prec., but see also s.v. 2 -hāra, hāraka), strength-robbing, -robber; or, as expression of purpose, to rob the strength (of people): Mv i.253.3, said of the 1000 sons of a yakṣiṇī: te 'pi vaiśālīm ojohārakā preṣitā, vaiśālīm gatvā manuṣyānām ojaṃ haranti (so that they all became sick).

Ojohārīnī (cf. prec. two), n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.6. oḍigalla? (see s.v. uḍigalla).

Oḍiyāna, see Oḍḍi°.

Oḍḍiyāna, also Oḍi° (and uḍḍiyāna(ka), q.v.), n. of a locality; see GOS 41 p. xxxvii; Lévi, Māy p. 105 ff.: Sādh 80.18 etc.; Oḍiyāna, Sādh 286.11 etc.; Oḍḍiyāna- (or Oḍiyāna, Sādh 283.10 etc.)-Māricī, a form of Māricī, Sādh 283.10 etc.; 287.10-11.

oḍḍeti (in mg. 2 = Pali id.; in mg. 1 seemingly = Pali uḍḍeti, very rare, only 1 reasonably clear case, Vin. ii.131.16-17 bhikkhu sikkāya pattam uḍḍitvā, text utṭitvā, see PTSD), (1) ties, fastens (on): Mv ii.75.21 (see Crit. App. on 74.8) saptānām tālānām purato bherī oḍḍitā, in front of (each of) the 7 tāl-trees a drum was fastened; (2) specialization of 1, fastens, sets (a snare or trap, esp. for birds); with object (or subject of ppp.) pāsa, or kālapāsa (mss. also bāla°): Mv ii.235.1 pāsā oḍḍitā, 6 pāsō oḍḍito; other forms of ppp. 251.1, 8; 253.11; kālapāśāni ca oḍḍeti 252.16; kālapāśe oḍḍitvā 252.17; tasya kālapāśāni ca oḍḍentasya 253.9.

oḍrapuṣpa (nt.; = Skt. Lex., and in late, artificial literature, Schmidt, Nachtr.), n. of a flower, 'the chin-rose flower': Mmk 213.15 -samākāraṃ, adj., having a form like . . . (of a heavenly portent).

1 otarati, otāreti, see ava-t°.

2 otarati = Skt. uttarati (§ 7.73), conquers, overcomes: pass. otariyati SP 358.12 (vs), without v.l.; WT with their ms. K' otariyati, is overwhelmed (virtual synonym, but prob. rationalizing lect. fac.; KN note calls otariyati 'a mistake for otthar°). Tib. chod pa med, not cut off; Chin. not destroyed.

Otalā, n. of a town: MSV i.17.13 ff.

Otalāyana, n. of a rich brahman in Otalā: MSV i.17.14.

Otaliya, adj., of Otalā: MSV i.17.14.

Otkarika, n. of the merchant also called Utkarika (unless there is a corruption, see s.v.): Divy 228.5, 14 yo 'sāv Otkariko baṇig . . .

ottareṇa, acc. to text Dipamkarasya ott° Mv i.250.5 (vs) postposition = uttareṇa; the latter form may have been intended, see s.v. uttari, but cf. pratyottareṇa.

ottānaka, adj. (= utt°; cf. Pkt. ottāna for utt°, Sheth): Mv ii.16.11 (= i.213.7 uttānako, q.v.).

otrappa, otrapyā (nt.°; cf. an-otrappa, apatrāpya, Pali ottappa; the short vowel in the penult is doubtless of MIndic character, and the single p, when it occurs, doubtless m.c., as in an-otrappa), modesty, shame, decency: Mv ii.357.14, mss. hiri-otrasya (v.l. -otasya)-sammaṇṇo; Senart °ottappa°, but read rather °otrapyā°; LV 329.13 lajji (read as separate word) hirotrapāt tu, Lefm., but most and best mss. end in -patta for -pāt tu, and this may be the orig. form (abl., see § 8.56).

-odaka (as in Pali, e.g. anodaka) = Skt. udaka, water, at end of cpds.; see an-, nir-od°.

odadhāti, see ava-da°, and cf. s.v. odahana.

odanakulmāṣopacaya, adj. (= Pali °kummāsūpacaya, MN ii.17.6; wrong ref. in PTSD; in same formula as Mv), built up or grown by porridge and gruel, ep. of the body (kāya), in a formulaic list of such: Mv ii.269.15; 277.18.

odahana, in Pali, attention, application, from odahati = avadadhāti, q.v.; not noted in BHS, but see anvodahana, 2602°.

odumbara, adj. (= Skt. aud°), of the udumbara: °ram ivā kusumam Mv i.270.3.

? Oddha-samdhī, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.11. So mss.; Senart em. Ūrdhva°; should we understand Oddha- as for MIndic Uddha- (= Ūrdhva-), or emend with Senart?

odhrta- (looks as if = avadhṛta; but ava-dhr is not so used, and it is no doubt really a false Sktization of a MIndic equivalent of Skt. uddhrta, removed, laid down (of a burden): Mv ii.95.4 (rājā Subāhuḥ) rājakṛtyato odhrtabhāro, having laid down the burden of (lit. from) royal duties. Perh. cf. AMg. ohariya, ppp., taken down, placed down (Ratnach.), supposedly for avadhṛta.

opalambhika = aupa°, q.v. (prob. with MIndic o for au, or possibly with o m.c. for u, i. e. upalambhika, without vṛddhi; the first passage might be for ca-u°, and in the others meter requires a long), subject to the upalambha heresy: ye c'opalambhikāḥ SP 335.1; opalambhikā(h) SP 384.5, 9.

opalipyate, m.c. for upa°, is stained: no ca loki kva ci opalipyase LV 53.22 (vs).

Opāsimbha (! nothing like it found recorded), n. of a mountain: Māy 254.9.

(opunati,) caus. opunāpayati (Pali opunāti, opunāpeti; cf. Skt. nakhāvapūta, MS only, pw 7.351), (winnows); caus., causes to be winnowed: Mv iii.178.5 (prose) (dhānya-jātāni . . .) khaladhāneṣu (mss. °hāneṣu, q.v.) samhārāpayitavyāni opunāpayitavyāni (gdve.).

Opura (for Avapura), n. of a son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv i.348.11; 352.9. 11.

Obhāsa- (in cpds.), = Avabhāsa-, q.v.

omāraka, m., n. of a demoniac being (for *ava-mā°?): SP 401.5 stabdho vomārako vostārako, in a list of such creatures (vom° = vā om°, see s.v. ostārako).

omuddhaka, adj. (MIndic for avamūrdhaka, q.v.; cf. also next, and AMg. omuddhaga), with head hanging down: Mv ii.283.1 omuddhakā prapatetsuḥ, of the discomfited party of Māra; cf. Mv ii.412.16, under next.

omūrdhaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= ava-m°), = prec.: Mv ii.412.16 °dhakā prapatetsuḥ (of the discomfited host of Māra, cf. under prec.); Mv ii.172.13–14 omūrdhikāṃ lambāviya (so mss.), having hung her head downwards; LV 213.12 (vs) omūrdhakāś, of ascetics.

ora (= Pali id., Skt. avara), hither, nearer, or lower; in ora-pāra (Pali id.), the nearer and the farther (state of existence), substantially the present life and any future life: Ud xviii.21 so bhikṣu jahāti orapāraṃ = Pali Sn i.(1)–J5 so bhikkhu etc.

oravati (ava plus Skt. ravati; not recorded elsewhere), murmurs, complains: Mv ii.100.17 (prose) (rājñā...) śabdāpito putro (so with mss.): jānapadā oravanti, . . . the people of the country are complaining.

orasa, adj., subst. (= Pali id., Skt. aur°), own, self-begotten (son): SP 88.3; 192.9; Mv ii.354.16.

ovāṭikā (cf. Skt. raṭ-; o- for ava-), howling, loud crying: MSV iv.64.12.

[orāpayi, SP 331.11, doubtless misprint, read orāpayi with WT (for ava-ropayati).]

? oruṇḍa, adj., perhaps for ava-ruṇḍa = ruṇḍa, mulitlated (cf. ava-kubja, ava-koṭimaka): LV 333.16 (vs) chinna-kara-carāṇa ivoruṇḍaḥ, mulitlated, as if having hands and feet cut off. But possibly understand ivo (m.c. for iva, § 3.82) ruṇḍaḥ; in a verse, the meter of which is MIndic and obscure to me.

o-rupta, o-rūp, o-rop-, see ava-r°.

olaṅka, m. (Skt. Gr. udaṅka, Pali uḷṅka), ladle: Mv ii.244.10 śobhano mama ayaṃ adya kacchapo olaṅko bhaviyati.

Olambā (for Avalambā), n. of a piśāci: Māy 238.19 (prose).

olokanaka, nt. (= Pali id.; BHS also avalokanaka, ullok°, qq.v.), window: Mv iii.266.15 (read) olokanakāni dhāvanti, (girls) run to the windows to look at Rāhula as he passes); SP 114.3, see ullokana.

ovaṭṭikā (Pali °ka, nt., id.), girdle: Mv i.321.2 māṇavaṃ ovaṭṭikāyāṃ (mss.; Senart em. kṛkṭikāyāṃ) grhya; in Mv ii.311.11 perhaps read ovaṭṭikāhi (or °kehi, nt. as in Pali?) for mss. ovātakehi (Senart āvāpakehi) ratana-dāmakehi paṭṭadāmakehi . . . samalaṃkṛtaṃ bodhivṛkṣaṃ saṃjānetsuḥ.

o-vadati, o-vāda-, see ava-v°.

ovācu, m.c. for uvāca, said: Gv 212.16 (vs); § 3.71; ending of 3 pl. (cf. § 25.30).

o-vāyati (cf. RV ava-vāti, twice; otherwise no ava-vā blows is recorded), blows (intrans.): Mv ii.275.9–10 (prose; no v.l.) mṛḍukā ca vātā ovāyanti.

ovidhyana-khā (so recorded; n. pl. ? wrongly divided in Kyoto ed. ovidhya-nakhā; ovidhyana is n. act. from Pali ovijjhati shoots down, to Skt. ava-vyadh), parapet, battlement, lit. holes for shooting (arrows) down: Mvy 5524 = Tib. mḍaḥ yab, or, ba gam, both having substantially this mg., but the first seems to mean lit. arrow-shelter.

ovṛṣṭa, ppp. (to Vedic ava-varṣ-; cf. Pali an-ovassa, °ssaka), rained upon: Ud iii.9, old and best ms. ovṛṣṭā (later ms. avāvṛṣṭā, with poorer meter) biraṇā (Skt. vir°) yathā.

ośaṭuka, nt. (var. ośaḍuka), prob. some kind of plaster: Mvy 9364 = Tib. ḥdag rdzas, a kind of clay (Das dry or wet); Chin. a substance for smearing, or sticky stuff.

ośākha-, see avaśākha-.

ośadha (= Skt. auś°), medicine: LV 197.11 (vs).

ośadhi (= Pali ośadhi), n. or epithet of a particular star: n. sg. °dhi or °dhī, Mv ii.56.20 and 58.13 (vs) tāra-varā va ośadhi, by Senart's em., which is proved by the Pali parallel Jāt. v.398.30. In Pali more often called ośadhi-tārakā, star of medicine.

Ośadhirāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.21.

oṣarati, see s.v. avaśirati (oṣaret SP 449.3).

? oṣita, in RP 19.10 (vs) apy oṣitā āmiśapātracivare (so apparently divide), set upon, intent upon worldly things (like) bowl and robe (see āmiśa). Cf. Pali an-ositā, not occupied (of houses; CPD). If correct, oṣita seems = Skt. avasita; used with loc. But api at the beginning is suspicious, and s does not normally become ṣ after MIndic o for ava. I suspect corruption.

osa, see avaśya.

osanna, adj. (= Skt. avasanna; in this sense, of flowers, not recorded), wilted, of flowers: Mv ii.394.5 (vs) osanna-puṣpaṃ jīnacetiyeṣu (equivalent to jīraṃ puṣpaṃ 394.2, puṣpaṃ purimaṃ milānaṃ 393.9, and others in the vicinity).

osaraṇa, nt. (to next; = Pali id.), entrance, approach: Mv ii.37.9 osaraṇe (mss. osakaṇe) ca bharitā addaśi pramadā, at the entrance (to the king's palace) . . . (otherwise Senart); ii.108.8 kasya eṣa osaraṇaśabdaḥ (? mss. te saraṇa°, or te śaraṣa°), whose noise of approach is this? In Mv iii.401.1 osaraṇāni, in a line otherwise hopelessly corrupt, corresponds to the same word in the same vs of Pali Sn 538, the rest of which seems also corrupt (so ed.); the comm. says it means heretical views (ogahanāni tiṭṭhāni, diṭṭhiyo). Senart's em. and interpretation of the line are unconvincing; but the Pali is also dubious, and its comm. questionable. I cannot solve the problem.

1 osarati (= Pali id. or avasarati; cf. prec.; see avasarati 1, and for 2 osarati see s.v. avaśirati), (1) enters, approaches, arrives: Mv ii.108.7 kumāro simhasya va (? mss. ca) osarantasya śabdaṃ śṛṇvati; iii.453.3 (vs) na te koṣṭhesmim (so read with 1 ms.) osaranti (the Pali version, Jāt. v.252.20, has upenti); (2) caus. osārayati = Pali osāreti, restores (a monk to good standing in the order): osārayantu mām āyusmantaḥ MSV ii.115.2, 14; 116.7; 20; 192.15; osāryate 179.12 f. (prose). See also utsārayati, vosārayati.

osāraṇā, also °ṇa (= Pali id.; cf. avasāraṇa; to prec., 2, plus -aṇā), restitution (to good standing, of a monk or nun that has been disciplined): °ṇam yācantaṃ Bhik 28b.5; 29a.4; °ṇam yācasva 29a.1; °ṇā yācitavyā MSV ii.192.6; °ṇam 193.2, 6–7, etc. See also utsāraṇa.

osāraṇiya, adj., with karman (cf. prec.), (rite) of restitution: MSV ii.193.17 ff.

osopati (= Skt. °ava-svapiti; see s.v. avasvāpayati; cf. sopita, and next), sleeps, is asleep (ppp. osupta): Mv ii.31.21 (āgamehi muhūrtaṃ, kumāro samprati) osupto. ṛṣi āha: mahārāja na kumāro osopati; ii.159.4 (bodhisattvo) pratibuddho paśyati antaḥpuram osuptam.

osopana, nt. (to prec.; cf. AMg. osovāṇi, profound sleep acc. to Ratnach.), sleep, or putting to sleep: Mv ii.160.6 devehi sarvasya janasya . . . osopanaṃ kṛtaṃ. Cf. also osvāpana, apasvāpana.

ostarati, pass. ostariyati, see s.v. 2 otarati.

osvāpana, nt. (presumably for ava-sv°, to avasvāpayati with -ana; cf. apa-sv°), going to sleep; sleeping; or perhaps putting to sleep: LV 236.8 (vs; avasvāpanaṃ would be metrically better!) devatābhi osvāpanaṃ kṛtaṃ (in the corresponding prose version 217.7 apasvāpanaṃ); Mv iii.296.16 (prose) sarvasya rājakulasya °naṃ kṛtaṃ. Non-causative mg. would be possible in both cases, t.l.o causative mg. would seem more natural; but see under apasvāpana; see also osopati, °pana.

ohana, nt. (cf. Skt. ūhati, ūha, change, derangement, etc.? or Pali ūhanati disturbs?), acc. to Tib. the making deluded or disturbed: Mvy 4371 °nam = Tib. ḥkhrul byed, or ḥkhrug byed.

ohāra (m.; perh. cf. AMg. oharai, establish, settle, 'sthāpan karnā, pratiṣṭhit karnā'; derived by Ratnach. from upa-har-), domicile, abode: Mv iii.36.19 te . . . svakam ohāraṃ gatā; 37.3 tato ohārāto (mss. °rito) nirgamya; 40.1. ohāraṃ prasthito.

ohita-bhāra, adj. (= Pali id.; but see apahr̥ta-bhāra, which is prob. the true orig. of the Pali; Mv simply keeps the MIndic form), who has laid aside his burdens: Mv iii.262.13, 14 (of Buddha); -tā, state of (such a one), Mv ii.260.17 °tām anuprāpnuvanti (Bodhisattvas).

auttarāpathika, adj. (Skt. uttarāpatha plus -ika), of the north country: MSV i.239.1. autpātika, nt. (v.l. autpatika, which is Mironov's reading but can hardly be right; to utpāta plus -ika, cf. Skt. autpātika, adj., in different mg.), apparently a sudden, offhand invitation (to eat), or food thus offered (follows nimantranakam): Mvy 5764 = Tib. ḥphral ba bos pa, sudden invitation.

So also in Mv ii.131.1 and 8, read with mss. audārikam āhāram (Senart em. audar°); the Pali parallel MN i.247.8 ff. has oḷārika; so Mv ii.241.1, 3 (in 3 mss. app. °dar°); and in Mv ii.277.18 read with mss. kāyo audāriko (Senart em. audar°), of the Buddha's body.]

audariyaka, nt. (cf. Pali udariya, some abdominal organ, said to be the stomach), a presumably abdominal organ, only noted in lists of parts of the body: Mvy 4028 = Tib. sgaṅ pa (? perhaps back?) or lgaṅ pa, bladder; so Chin.; Bcṭ 295.6 (text audaniyakam); and cf. next.

audaryaka, nt., presumably = preç., in a list of parts of the body: Śikṣ 209.9; Bendall assumes bladder, but states that Tib. gives leṅ ga = Skt. liṅga; perhaps error for loṅ ga = intestines, entrails, guts (Jä.).

audāra, adj. (cf. Pali oḷāra, once, Pv. comm. 110.2 in gloss on atulam, = appamāṇaṃ oḷāraṃ paṇitaṃ, but PTSD would read uḷāraṃ with v.l.; = Skt. udāra, or BHS audārika), (1) large, vast, of radiance, avabhāsa: Divy 207.6 audāre avabhāsanimitte prāviṣkr̥te; cf. 63.17 ff. udārāvabhāsaḥ, and 201.22 audārike avabhāsanimitte prāviṣkriyamāṇe; the usual mg. of audārika might suggest material, corporeal, i. e. physically actualized, but the parallels are against this; cf. Mv i.41.3 aprameyasya udārasya ca mahato avabhāsasya . . ., and similarly in parallels (collected s.v. lokāntarikā); (2) gross, unrefined (= audārika): Gv 534.20 audārādhimuktikānāṃ viśuddhaye; this cannot = udāra- (tho this is compounded elsewhere with adhimuktika, q.v.) since that is a complementary term, and this is not (cf. the parallel 534.23 samkṣiṣṭānāṃ sattvānāṃ viśuddhaye, and similarly 534.26).

audārika, adj. (see also °ka-tā; from Skt. udāra plus ika; udāra, audāra, qq.v., also occur rarely, but audarika, q.v., is a false reading for this; = Pali oḷārika), gross; Mvy 2691 in a list of 'synonyms for ḥṛhat', defined in Tib. by a number of terms including rags pa (text la! corr. in Tib. Index), gross, corporeal, substantial; che ba, great; sbom pa, stout, gross, coarse; also che loṅ, loṅ, and raṅ po, the precise lit. mgs. of which are not clear to me; in Mvy the word is nt. and is preceded by udāraḥ, viśālam, vipulam, and followed by pṛthuh. Practically all BHS occurrences may be subsumed under the mg. (1) gross, as opposed to sūkṣma, fine, subtle (so in Pali contrasted with sukhumā), -sūkṣmaudārika- Dbh 15.14; audārikam vā sūkṣmaṃ vā Av ii.169.10 (rūpaṃ); Mv iii.336.15 (id.) and 18 (vijñānam); so of the body, gross, substantial, material, LV 122.10 devatā sā audārikam ātmabhāvam abhisamdarśya; 219.19 (vs) Puṣyaś ca nakṣatra . . . °kaṃ nirmiṇi ātmabhāvam, P. created by magic a corporeal body; Gv 218.20 mahādevo . . . audārikenātmbhāvena sattvānāṃ dharmam deśayati; Dbh 23.11 audārikakāya-viheṭhanayā, by injuring the actual, physical body (of creatures); Bbh 61.7 kāyena vā audārikeṇa cāturmahābhūtikena; Av ii.191.4 ayam . . . kāyo rūpī audārikās cāturmahābhūtika(h); Mv ii.277.18 (Māra says:) mātāpitr̥sambhavo śramaṇagautamasya kāyo audāriko (so mss.) . . . mama punar manomayo kāyo; SP 277.7 (a Bodhisattva in speaking to women) nāntaśo dantāvalim apy upadarśayati, kaḥ punar vāda audārikamukhavikāram, . . . not to speak of (showing) any (emotional) alteration (due to internal feelings) in his corporeal (gross, external) face; of other things, esp. food, āhāra (also in Pali, where oḷārika āhāra, material or substantial food or sustenance, is contrasted with immaterial kinds of sustenance, see Childers): Sukh 41.(2)-3 ff. aupadhika (1) adj. (once also upadhika, q.v.; Pali opadhika, acc. to PTSD always with puñña = puṇya); in Pali opa° = relating to the substratum or basis of rebirth, i. e. leading to rebirth, so e. g. Vv. comm. 154.23 ff.; in BHS the word acquires a new meaning based on upadhi (2), q.v., material, consisting of or relating to material things; chiefly as ep. of puṇyakriyāvastu, q.v., as also upadhika, q.v.: Mvy 1703 °kam puṇyakriyāvastu; Śikṣ 138.7 °kānām °vastūnām; similarly MadhK 487.1 (vs) puṇyam aupadhikam; MSV ii.86.5; (2) subst., what relates to material things: with forms of sthā- (see Lévi, Sūtrāl. xvii.3, note, °dhika-sthiti, refus . . . d'accepter un don matériel), bhagavān °dhike 'sthāt abhinirhṛtapīṇḍapātāḥ (Divy sthitah, om. abhi'), the Lord remained (without partaking of) the material gift (a meal which his monks received) MSV ii.128.3; 180.5 (Tib. bsgrubs pa na bzhugs nas, remained when [the meal] was supplied). Divy 542.17; both texts (Divy in 18, after another sentence) continue, pañcabhiḥ kāraṇair buddhā bhagavantah aupadhike tiṣṭhanty (MSV adds abhinirhṛta-piṇḍapātāḥ, Divy varies, see abhinirharati 1); the five reasons (special things which need attention) are listed in MSV ii.128.5 ff.

aupaśamika, adj. (= Pali opasamika; in Skt. only as technical term of Jainas; from Skt. upaśama plus -ika; cf. an-aupa°, and upa°), tending to tranquillity; usually, as in Pali, ep. of dharma: Mv ii.33.3 dharmam . . . aupaśamikam (so mss. and ed.); 41.9 dharmam tu opasamikam (v.l. aupas°); Av ii.107.7 dharmā ca . . . aupaśamikaḥ; Bbh 24.13 (hitānvayaḥ svaparārtho bodhisattvasya) . . . aupaśamikaś ca.

aurabhrika, m. (= Pali orabbhika; not in this mg. in Skt.; from urabhra plus -ika), mutton-butcher (sometimes perhaps butcher in general): Mvy 3758 = Tib. (b)śan pa, butcher: SP 280.2; 480.9; Lañk 246.7; 253.5 (here text °bhṛaka but v.l. °bhrika, which prob. read); Divy 10.2; 15.22; Bbh 302.9; Kv 42.9 (text noratṛi, read naurabhri° = na-aur°); 94.22.

aurṇāka, adj. (= Skt. Gr. id.; Skt. aurṇa), woolen: °ka-vāsaḥ! Mvy 9159.

auśīka, m., or °kā, f. (cf. Skt. uśira; Sheth cites Pkt. osīra° once), pl. °kāḥ, Mvy 9414 = Tib. myu gu, or zha lu, both (the latter acc. to Dict. Fr. Cath. Miss.; acc. to Jā. cup, bowl) shoots or reeds; Chin. green shoots.

Auśadhi(n), or °dhi(n), n. of a Tathāgata: Mv iii.236.10, 11. Setart reads °dhim, acc., and °dhi, nom.; but v.l. °dham (read °dhim) and °dhi resp., which are surely to be read.

auśarya (nt.; Skt. uśara plus -ya; unrecorded), salty ground: Mmk 113.11 auśarye sikatāstīrṇe tathaiva ca.

kāmsa-kūṭa, see kāmsa.

kāmsa-doha, adj. Bhvr. (= Skt. kāmsya-doha, also °syopadōha and °syopadohana; kāmsa, brass, MIndic for kāmsya, recorded in Skt. only Lex. and once in Lāty., pw; the pre-classical Skt. kāmsa means metal dish; cf. Pali kamsūpadhāra DN ii.192.1, °raṇa AN iv.393.26, kamsupadhāraṇā Jāt. vi.503.17, inaccurately reported PTSD, all same mg.), provided with brass milk-pails, ep. of cows (like the Skt. and Pali equivalents): Gv 164.15 gosahasrāṇi . . . kamsadohāni. See also next two.

kāmsa-pātri (see prec.), brass bowl: Mv ii.282.11; 412.8 (parallels to LV 318.22 kāmsa-pātri, see kāmsa). There are no doubt yet other cpds. of kāmsa-.

kāmsopadohinī, f. adj. Bhvr. (perhaps read °dohani?), = prec. but/one: Mv iii.458.11, read with one ms. ṣaṣṭim dhenusahasrāṇi sarve kamsopadohinī (or °hanī? f. pl. of either °hin = °ha, or °hana, see under prec. but one); Senart em. wrongly.

Kakucchanda, Kakutsanda, °sunda, see s.v. Kra-kucchanda.

Kakuda Kātyāyana (= Pali Kakuda, Kakudha, or Pakudha, Kaccāyana or Kātiyāna; DPPN s.v. Pakudha), n. of one of the six famous heretical teachers of Buddha's day (see s.v. Pūraṇa Kāśyapa), named with the others: Mvy 3549; Mv i.253.13; 256.20; iii.383.16 (v.l. Kakuṭa); Divy 143.12; Av i.231.4.

Kakubha, n. of a deity (devaputra; living in a kakubha tree): Mv iii.313.10 ff.

kakkhaṭa, adj. (also khakkhaṭa, q.v.; both Skt. Lex., hard; = Pali kakkhaḷa, hard, harsh, rough, cruel), cruel, if reading of LaVallée-Poussin, JRAS 1911.1074, krūrāḥ kakkhaṭās (sattvāḥ), be adopted for SP 267.4 śaṭhakāḥ (sattvās). See next.

kakkhaṭa-tva, nt. (see prec. and khakkhaṭatva), hardness: Mvy 1842 v.l. for khak°; Śikṣ 245.2 (associated with pṛthivīdhātu; Bct. 327.12 em. khakka° in parallel); Mv i.339.16 (?) teṣām kāye gurutvaṃ ca kharātvam ca kakkhaṭatvaṃ (em.; mss. kalkaṭa°, q.v., or katk°) ca upanipate.

kakkhaṭī (Skt. Lex., Trik., chalk), prob. chalk: Mvy 5940 (Tib. transliterates Skt.; follows sudhā, plaster, mortar).

kakhorda: Gv 214.6, m.c. for kākhorda, q.v.

kaṅkaṅikā = Skt. kiṅkiṅikā, bell: MPS 34.72, 79, 85.

kaṅkara (once °la, once kiṅkara), m. or nt., a nigh number, acc. to LV 100 niyuṭa, but sometimes 100 bimbara, q.v.: m. (°raḥ) Mvy 7830 (cited from Gv); 8004; nt. (°ram) Mvy 7704; 7957 (cited from LV); Tib. in all gams; LV 147.21; Gv 133.1 (kiṅkaram); Sukh 30.15 kaṅkarāṇi; gender undetermined SP 409.6; LV 151.3 Gv 105.19 (kaṅkala); 206.17.

Kaṅkāli (cf. Skt. Kaṅkālin, n. of a yakṣa; °linī, a form of Durgā), n. of a yoginī: Sādh 584.12; 589.15.

kaca, m., Mvy 5870, acc. to Tib. sriṅ bal = cotton or raw silk (Chin. app. cotton thread); occurs in a list of textile materials.

Kacaṅgalā (= Pali Kajaṅgalā, °la), (1) n. of a town: Jm 113.22 °lāyām, loc.; Av ii.41.5 f., id.; (2) n. of an old woman who lived in this town, who had been the mother of the Bodhisattva in former births and whom the Buddha initiated as a nun: Av ii.41.6 ff. (this is an embroidered form of the Pali story of the nun Kajaṅgalā, AN v.54 ff.); MSV i.20.4 ff.

kaccati (nt.?) cited in this form, without ending; Mironov v.l. kacchati), corslet acc. to Tib., synonym of kavacikā (q.v.) which follows it in text: Mvy 6077.

kaccha (Skt. kakṣa, kakṣā, MIndic and Skt. Lex. kaccha, kacchā, at least in mgs. 1, 2), (1) arm-pit: Mv ii.124.3 kacchehi svedā muktā; (2) hem of (lower) garment: Mv iii.13.3 kacchaṃ bandhivā (Pali id.), girding himself (for action, by tying the undergarment at the waist); (3) in nikkata-kacchā Mv ii.87.17 (see nikkata), possibly edge (of a needle)? One expects the mg. point, but I find no evidence for it. The allegation that Pali kaccha means arrow (PTSD) seems unfounded.

Kacchapā, n. of a river: Māy 253.3. In list of rivers, placed between Narmadā and Payoṣṇī.

kacchāṭikā (Skt. Lex. id.; cf. Pkt. [called Deśi; Rambhāmañjarī] kacchāṭī, id.; deriv. of Skt. kakṣa girdle; end of lower garment tucked in at the waist), in Mvy 5851 = Tib. ske rags, ska rags, defined as girdle, prob. also end of lower garment tucked in at the waist. Next item is baddha-kakṣyah 5852.

kacchāhāra (m. or nt.); cited in stem form, also in Mironov; v.l. in both edd. kacāhāra), acc. to Tib. an ornamental girdle: Mvy 5854 = Tib. ska rags phu (Das pho) gu can (acc. to Das = Skt. kakṣa-hāra).

kacchula, adj. (cf. Skt. Lex. kacchura; AMg. kacchulla, printed kacchulla in Ratnach.), afflicted with itching (kacchū), with a skin-disease: Mv ii.150.9; 152.3; 153.19; 156.12.

? kajāva, m. or nt., a high number: Gv 106.15 (°vasya, gen.); seems to correspond to kaṣaca or kaṣava, q.v.; cf. also kalāpa.

kañcu, perhaps to be read for kāñcu, q.v.

kañcuka, m., or °kā, f. (doubtless = Skt. kañcuka, also fem. °kī, bodice; coat of armor; covering, sheath; skin of a snake, covering, downy coat (of flowers): Mv i.236.9–10 = 241.3–4 (vss; but defective in meter) tāni ca kara-pramuktā surabhīni pañcavarṇo (? °ṛṇe? sc. flowers, strewn over Dīpaṃkara), samsthihi puspakañcuko bhagavato lokanāthasya; Av ii.68.6 (dāraiko jāto...) divyasumanahkañcukayā (so read for °kañcukayā) prāvṛtaḥ; 70.3 divyayā ca sumanasām (mss. °syām) kañcukayā prāvṛto; for kañcuka Speyer cites Tib. ral chuñ, fine hair; Feer, couvert d'un duvet de sumanā (jasmine) divin.

kañcukiya, m. (defined in Skt. as attendant in the harem; see s.v. kāñcukiya), eunuch (?): Mv ii.432.17 varṣavarā kañcukiya ca rājño nivedayanti; 433.3 varṣavarā kañcukiya āha.

kaṭa, m. (also, in mg. 2, kaṭā?), (1) (in specialized application of Skt. kaṭa, matting, possibly paralleled in Skt. itself), matting-screen or partition (cf. late Skt. kaṭa = bhitti, Schmidt, Nachträge, s.v.): SP 72.6 (niveśanam...) samśīrṇa kuḍya-kaṭa-lepanam, the (ruined) house had its walls, matting-screens (or partitions), and plaster destroyed; 83.1 (vs) viśīrṇa kuḍyam kaṭa lepanam ca (of the same house); Lañk 169.(10–)11 (list of things which, by intervening, frustrate knowledge of an object) kuḍya-kaṭa-vapra-prākāra- (etc.)-vyavahita- (Suzuki wrongly renders kaṭa mountain); (2) (= Skt. kaṭaka), some ornament, prob. bracelet: Divy 317.13 harṣa-kaṭa-keyūrāhār-dhahārādīn (all ornaments); 540.26 hastāt kaṭān (so text em., mss. kaṭām, implying acc. sg. of a fem. kaṭā) avatārya.

kaṭaka (nt.?) cf. -kaṭaka, for which Mvy Index suggests reading kaṭaka, a kind of fetter or bond, presumably in form of a ring: Gv 353.12 (sattvān nānā-ḥaḍi-)niḡaḍa-kaṭaka-kuṇḍāla- (q.v.)-śrīkhalā-khalīna-bandhana-baddhān.

Kaṭaṅkaṭa, n. of a yaksa: Māy 68.

kaṭaccha, and kaṭacchaka (m. or nt.), = kaṭacchu(ka), q.v.: °ccha, Divy 165.18; °cchaka, Mmk 322.25.

kaṭacchu, m. or f., °chuka (once nt.) and °chukā (?), also °cha and °chaka (app. = Pali kaṭacchu, spoon, ladle; cf. Deśin. 2.7 kaḍacchū, comm. ayodarvī), in most occurrences could be either spoon or bowl; it seems that Tib. and Chin. sources support mg. bowl, vessel; so Mvy 9013 kaṭacchuḥ, Tib. nal ze, which I do not find in Dictt., but nal may be connected with na li, bowl, basin (of iron or china, Jā.), while Chin. gives (1) pillow (often made of porcelain), or (2) bowl, basin, on Suv 86.3 and Mmk 65.2 Tib. is cited as snod, vessel (Mmk ap. Lalou, Iconographic, p. 84, line 11, who nevertheless translates cuiller, pp. 37, 44); in favor of mg. spoon may be cited (besides the Pali and Deśi words) Megh 310.10 sapta-dhūpa-kaṭacchukām utksiped ākāse (hardly bowl/full if text is right acc. sg. f., but perhaps this represents °kān, acc. pl. m.); most commonly in cpds. preceded by dhūpa-, incense-spoon (? -bowl), generally as held in the hand by a painted image, dhūpa-kaṭacchuka-vyagra-hasta Mmk 65.2; 69.12, etc.; 322.25 (here °kaṭacchaka); eka-dhūpa-kaṭacchu-hasta-parigṛhitān Suv 86.3; dhūpa-kaṭacchukam ādāya Divy 398.28–29; (dakṣiṇahaste) dhūpa-kaṭacchukam (n. sg. nt.!) kartavyam Kv 74.20; dhūpa-°ke dhūpaś copasthāpayitavyaḥ MSV iii.97.16; in Divy 165.18 acc. to Index vessel, but this seems less than certain, (Pūraṇam, q.v., dharmasātapratichannam) kaṭaccha-vrata-bhojanam (might mean eating according to a vow of spoon-fuls, i. e. of limiting his food to a definite number of them, rather than eating by a vow of the begging-bowl). In Divy 475.21 kāṇḍa-kaṭacchu-pūra-kūrca-bhaiṣajya-sthaviḱāś is obscure to me at more than one point; the cpd. evidently lists articles pertaining to children, and either spoon or bowl is conceivable.

kaṭasī (= Pali id., °sim vaddheti), cemetery, place where unburied corpses are left: Mvy 7105 = Tib. dur khrod (id.); 7419 °sī vardhitā; SP 48.4 (vs) kaṭasī ca vardhenti punaḥ-punas te (i. e. they die again and again; Pali also uses the word only with forms of this verb).

kaṭāhaka, m. or nt. (= AMg. kaḍāhaya; Skt. kaṭāha), pot, caldron: kaṭāhaka upasthāpitā(h), nom. pl., Divy 404.28; °kam, nt., in śleṣma-k° Mvy 9019, and khaṭa-k° 9440, spittoon (both = Tib. mchil maḥi snod, vessel for spittle); śīrṣa-k° (= Pali sīsa-kaṭāha), lit. head-caldron, i. e. skull, LV 306.17. 18, °kān (acc. pl.); śroṇi-k°, see s.v. śroṇi-kaṭāha(ka).

kaṭī, nt. (?), perh. straw, = kuṭī (q.v.), for which it is prob. a false reading: Divy 511.19.

kaṭikā, chip, piece of wood (as record): MSV i.4.9 ff. (= Tib. thur ma, = śalākā, Dutt).

kaṭuka (so Index, for text kuṭaka), m. or nt., pool, pond: Śikṣ 249.14 udapānam vā kaṭukam vā kūpaṃ vā puṣkarinim vā khānayet; Tib. renders ka° and puṣkar° both by rdziñ, pond.

kaṭuka-taila, nt., acc. to Tib. = yuñs (d)mar, oil of mustard: Mvy 5786; 9346. (Cf. Skt. kaṭuka, pungent, and n. of various plants.)

kaṭuṅka, var. for khaṭ°, q.v.

kaṭkāra, m. (so also Mironov; vv.ll. in the two edd. kadgara, kaṭkara, kaṅkara), some kind of bird: Mvy 4894, acc. to Tib. (one rendering) and Chin. = the prec. item, krakara, 4893, which in Skt. means a kind of part-ridge; cf. also Pali kakkara, said to mean jungle-cock; Tib. also bya bañ, which acc. to Jā. means night-hawk, goat-sucker; or bat.

kaṭṭati (corresponds to Pali kaḍḍhati, Skt. kṛṣ-; sometimes associated with forms of kṛṣ in BHS, see below; occurs also with cpds., ā-, ut-, o- (ava-), niṣ-, sam-, Senart reads always kaḍḍh-, but his mss. invariably kaṭṭ(except once or twice kaṭṭh-, doubtless a graphic variant); ākaṭṭati occurs also once in Megh; -kaḍḍh-, on the other hand, is recorded in SP, see s.vv. ākaḍḍhana, vikaḍḍhate, draws, pulls; takes away, removes: Mv i.217.7 (deviye nāvāyānena) kaṭṭiyantiye while the queen was being drawn along by a boat; ii.75.3 dvārato sapta padām (acc. pl.) kaṭṭito, cf. line 5 sapta padāni apakarṣitvā; line 11 sapta padāni kaṭṭito; 241.18 tataḥ pamjarehi (abl.) kaṭṭiyanti (birds); 429.15 (rājagṛhāto) kaṭṭiyamāni (see s.v. ākaṭṭati). Note that all these forms are passive.

? kaṭṭāmkriyati (contains a form derived from kaṭṭ-ati, q.v., compounded with kriyati = °te; possibly read kaṭṭikriyati with Senart's text), is dragged, hauled away: Mv ii.429.12, see ākaṭṭati.

kathala, kathalya, kathalla, kadhalya, m. (in Pali only kaṭhala; not in Skt. or Pkt.), gravel, regularly assoc. with śarkara, sand or pebbles; kaṭhala noted only Divy 45.10 and Av i.64.3 (v.l. °lla); kadhalya only LV 39.22 (with all mss.), also v.l. LV 276.21; kaṭhaṇṇa erroneously printed for kaṭhalla Mmk 37.5; 525.20; kaṭhalya SP 144.9; Divy 155.24; LV 301.10; Mv iii.69.11; Av i.139.12; Karmav 79.4; kaṭhalla in the rest below; masc. wherever used as noun with generically distinctive forms, Mvy 5304 °llaḥ = Tib. gyo mo, gravel; Mv i.308.2 aśuci-pāśāṇa-śarkara-kaṭhallā bhūmim praviśanti; Mmk 525.20 kaṭhallāḥ (text °ṇṇaḥ) śarkarāṅgāraḥ; other substantival occurrences, Lañk 268.3 tṛṇa-kāṣṭha-kaṭhalleṣu yathā mayā virajāte (Suzuki transl. bricks, which is another mg. of Tib. gyo mo but surely inappropriate here); Mv i.15.10 macchā kaṭhalla-gatā (mss. kabhalla°) yathā, like fish on gravel; Karmav 79.4 (prthivyaṃ) śarkara-kaṭhalyādini . . . prādurbhavanti; usually in adj. cpds., especially apagata-pāśāṇa-śarkara- (or °sark°) -kaṭh° Mv iii.79.18; 141.16; 255.9; Divy 45.10; 155.23-24; 441.12-13; 460.16; Av i.64.3; 76.2; 97.3-4; 107.10; 139.11-12; 144.11; SP 144.9; apagata-śarkara- (°sark°)-kaṭh° Mv iii.69.11; 266.9; LV 276.21; apagata-pāśāṇa-kaṭh° (printed kaṭhaṇṇa)-bhas-māṅgāra- (etc.) Mmk 37.5; utsanna-śarkarākaṭh° Gv 328.25; ākirṇa-śarkara- (°sark°) -kaṭh° LV 301.10; Gv 166.18-19; -śarkara-kaṭhallākīrṇāyāṃ (. . . dharanyāṃ) Gv 226.6.

kaṭhina, nt., (1) (= Pali id.), the rough cloth from which monks' robes were made: Mvy 8687; 9035; 9104; 9406 (= Tib. sra brkyaḥ); Prāt 490.10 uddhrte (see ud-dharati) kaṭhine; cpds., kaṭhina-cīvara (= Pali id.), a robe made of k. cloth, Av ii.13.6; 18.1; kaṭhināstarāṇa, nt., Mvy 8685; °stāra, m. (not in Mironov), Mvy 9407; °stara, MSV ii.152.9; all = Pali kaṭhinattharaṇa or °tthāra, the ceremony of 'spreading out' or dedicating the kaṭhina; kaṭhināstāraka, m., (the monk) who superintends this ceremony, Mvy 8686 (with Index); MSV ii.154.10 ff.; on the ceremony cf. SBE 17.148 ff. with notes; MSV ii.151 ff. kaḍaṅgara, (1) nt. (= Skt. Lex. and late lit., Schmidt, Nachtr., defined as straw; AMg. id., a kind of grass, Ratnach.; Pali kalingāra, kali°, defined in comms. as stick of wood), stick of wood (? the mg. straw would also be appropriate; something thrown away as worthless): Ud i.35 (kāyo 'yam prthivim ahiśeṣyati) . . . nirastam vā kaḍaṅgaram (same vs in Pali, Dh. 41, kalingaram); (2) (= Pali Kāliṅga, Kal°) n. of an upāsaka in Nādikā: MPS 9.13.

kaḍatra (nt.; Skt. Lex., = kalatra, in its BHS sense, see s.v.), family: Bbh 18.12 sarvasattvāms ca kaḍatra-bhāvena parigrhṇāti, he cherishes (or adopts) . . . as his own family; °tra-bhāvena parigrhṇitā 192.1; (mātā-pitr°)putra-dārādī-kaḍatra- 310.15; sarva-grha-kaḍatra-bhogān (house and family enjoyments) utsrjya . . . pravrajya 331.23; kaḍatra-parṣatparigrahaṃ 349.4.

Kaḍambā (or °bakā? see ed. note), n. of a yakṣiṇi: Mahāsamāj 187.1 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4); corresp. to Pali Karumbhā (Chin. Ka-da-m-ra).

kaḍimṭala, m. (cf. Skt. Lex. kaḍitula, Mvy 6093, = Tib. rāḷ gri dgu po, crooked sword, scimitar. Same form in Mironov; Kyoto ed. Index cites (as variants?) also kaḍitula, kaḍimṭala, but neither ed. records them as variants in text.

kaḍevara, nt. (Divy 234.8; 383.18, the only cases where gender is clear; = Skt. kalevara), cadaver, corpse: Divy 39.11; 234.8; 383.18; Av ii.26.1; Śikṣ 208.12; Gv 157.13; Jm 45.18; 211.3 (here the ed. strangely emends to kale°). Mvy 3933 reads kalevaram without v.l., but Mironov kaḍe°.

kaṇa, m. (= Pali id.; app. not in this sense in Skt., where mg. is kernel etc.), the red coating between the kernel and the husk of rice: Mv i.343.19 tasya śāliśya kaṇa ca tuṣo ca prādurbhavati. See also akaṇa(ka), niṣkaṇa.

kaṇaya or kanaya (m. or nt.; = Pali id.; on Skt. see below), some kind of weapon, said to be a kind of spear or lance; occurs only in long cpds. consisting of lists of weapons of all kinds: -kaṇaya- LV 305.9 (no v.l.); 306.14 (-kan°, v.l. -kanapa-); 317.15 (several good mss. -kanaya-); -kanaya- LV 218.12 (no v.l.). The form kaṇaya is recorded as v.l. for kaṇapa in some Skt. passages, BR 2.30, and twice without record of v.l. in late Skt., see Schmidt, Nachtr. The form kaṇapa is not very common in Skt. itself, see BR l.c. and pw; it is found Mbh.Cr. ed. 1.218.24 (Calc. 1.8257) and 3.83* (after 3.21.32 ab; Calc. 3.810 kaṇapa, Bomb. kanapa); no Mbh. ms. is recorded with ya for pa in either place. Yet it seems probable that the variation between y and p is purely graphic; Pali and BHS clearly support y, which even Skt. sometimes shows as v.l. for p and which may be the original (relatively very few occurrences are noted).

Kaṇima, or Kanima, n. pl., n. of a brahmanical school, of the Yajurveda (mentioned between the Kāthas and Vājasaneyins, and all called adhvaryavaḥ): Divy 633.5 Kaṇimā(h), 6 Kanimā(h) acc. to mss.

kaṇeruka (cf. Pali and Skt. Lex. kaṇeru, Skt. kareṇu), a kind of elephant: MPS 31.21.

kaṅṭhaka, m. (1) as in Pali, alternative spelling for kaṅṭhaka, thorn: SP 420.4; Mv i.91.16; Divy 350.8 °kān uddharati; see also next, and prṣṭhi-kaṅṭhaka; (2) n. of the Bodhisattva's horse (here as in Pali also Kanthaka, but rarely): Kaṅṭh° Mv i.154.6 ff.; ii.114.14; 159.13 ff.; 189.2 ff.; iii.120.4; 262.5; dies mourning for the B.'s departure, ii.190.9, and is reborn as a god of the same name, 11; LV 94.14; 95.11; 217.11; 221.8; 225.8 ff.; 228.17 ff.; spelling Kanthaka noted only Mvy 4772.

kaṅṭhakapāśraya (= Pali kaṅṭhakapassaya; kaṅṭhaka, q.v., for kaṅṭhaka), m. pl., (ascetics) who lie on beds of thorns: Divy 350.5, 7 (Index 'corrects' to kaṅṭha°).

kaṅṭha-guṇa, see kaṅṭhe°.

kaṅṭha-nādyā, see nādyā; cf. next.

kaṅṭhanālikā (= Skt. °nāli, also °nāla; cf. prec.), throat, gullet: Mvy 3961.

kaṅṭhamāṇi (m. or f.; = Skt. Lex. id. only Trik.), Adam's apple: °ṇiḥ Mvy 3962. kaṅṭhikā, embrace: Mv iii.258.10-11 Rāhulo dāni māṭṭkaruṇakaṅṭhikāya (inst., with a pathetic embrace of his mother, i. e. putting his arms around her neck) yācati. In Skt. only necklace; AMg. kaṅṭhiyā (1) necklace, (2) a part of a neck, (3) a cover of a book (Ratnach.).

kaṅṭheguṇa, m., nt.; in MSV i.215.10 kaṅṭha° (= AMg. kaṅṭhe°, a gold necklace, Ratnach.), an ornament for the neck, made of a string of flowers: udārupuspār āsakta- (mss. °puṣpāvāsakta-)kaṅṭheguṇā(h) Av i.163.8; esp. one made of karavīra flowers, placed (as in Pali) around the neck of a condemned criminal, karavīramālā-baddha- (ii.182.6 °lāsakta-)kaṅṭheguṇo (°guṇaḥ; in i.102.8 mss. °kaṅṭhena; em. Speyer) Av i.102.8; ii.182.6 (said of a criminal); kaṅṭheguṇāni Mv ii.463.3 ff., repeatedly, so mss. always, Senart em. kaṅṭha°; kaṅṭheguṇena (mss.) Mv ii.168.9.

? kaṅḍa, m. or nt. (either false reading, as Senart assumes, or MIndic, = Pali id., for Skt. kāṅḍa), arrow: Mv ii.82.14, 15, mss. kaṅṭho, once kantho; 18 v.l. kaṅḍāto; Senart reads kāṅḍ- always, with both mss. ii.82.17; 83.8, and one in 82.18.

kaṅḍita, ppp. (= AMg. kaṅḍiya, pounded; kaṅḍanta, pres. pple.; cf. Skt. kaṅḍīkaroti, pounds, Caraka; ultimately perhaps related to Skt. khaṅḍayati?), pounded, crushed: RP 44.10 (vs) dhik kaṅḍitasya tribhave nṛpa kāmārāgaḥ.

kaṅḍuka, kaṅḍu-kāra, see kanduka.

kaṅḍūsika, m. (so one var. in Mvy, others gaṅḍūsika, °mika; so also Mironov, v.l. °sika; note dental sl; MSV gaṅḍūṣa; cf. Pali kaṅḍusa, Vin. i.254.31; °saka 290.16, a small piece of cloth sewn on as a mark or as a patch), patch (on a monk's robe): Mvy 9193 = Tib. lhan pa klon pa (or gon pa), a patch or patched garment; MSV ii.159.4 gaṅḍūṣam, nt.; 8 °sa-civareṇa.

[kata- in kata-puṇyo Mv i.198.17 is prob. only a misprint for kṛta-, since it is not mentioned in Senart's notes nor listed in his Index. If correct it would be MIndic for kṛta-; cf. Pali katapuṇña.]

katamatra, loc. adv., used instead of loc. sg. fem. of katama, which?: Mv ii.72.17-18 °tra kanyāye kumārasya cakṣu (n. pl.) nipatanti, on which girl...?

katamad-vidha, adj. (katamad- as grammatical stem seems to be unrecorded), of what kinds?: LV 383.5 (prose) °dhaiḥ pātraiḥ ... pratigrhītam.

katara, pron. adj. (see also katira; cf. anyatara; used in this way sometimes in Pali and apparently even in Skt., where however the cases are rare and not always certain, which (of more than two)?: Divy 102.17; 308.8; 371.23 katarah (of several) kumāro ... rājā bhaviṣyati; Śikṣ 75.4; KP 97.4 kataram (cited Śikṣ 233.15 as katarat) cittam; MSV iii.136.10 (read kataram tat), 12. In LV 239.15 (Ārāḍasya dharmo ...) na niryāti tat-katarasya samyagduḥkhakṣayāya, and Mv ii.119.5 (nāyaṃ) Ārāḍasya dharmo niryāti tat-katarasya (so mss.) samyagduḥkhakṣayāye, could at best (but implausibly) be taken to mean A.'s religion does not result in the complete destruction of the misery of anyone. But Senart emended to tat-karasya, of (for) the one who performs it (C. Ā.'s religion), which is confirmed by Tib. on LV de byed pa, one who has done that. It is indeed strange to find the same corruption in both texts; but the em. seems quite certain; it is confirmed by Pali takkarassa DN i.235.17; MN i.68.12, in a quite similar phrase; and in a close parallel Mv ii.120.16 one ms. reads tatkarasya (the other corruptly taktenasya).

katima, adj. (= Pali id., M. kaima; not derived from kati (PTSD), but = Skt. katama modified to -ima, see § 22.16), which (of more than two)?: Kv 80.5, read: katimāḥ ṣaṭ kleśā(h), which are the six impurities? (text kati māṣāḥ kleśā). See next.

katira, adj. (= katara, q.v., but like it used in enise of katama; in form based on atima, q.v. by analogy of tara: tama forms), which (of many)?: Suv 60.4 (vs; read with mss., after 3 paśyāhi ... eta dharmān), katiro °tra sattvas tatha puḍgalo vā, which among these (dharma) is the creature, or the person too? Nobel em. katir atra; kati is, however, not used as sg., and all mss. read -ro.

katīya, adj. (from kati, with suffix iya, cf. dvītiya, ṛṭīya, and tādīya etc.), amounting to how much?: Karmav 70.10 °yaṃ mahārāja gṛhapater dravyaṃ grhītam. (There is a v.l. kevatī; cf. kevatika).

katuṅka, v.l. for khaṭ°, q.v. kathamkathā (= Pali id.), doubt: °thā mahya na bhūya kācī SP 61.7 (vs); °thām āpannāḥ SP 71.3; vicikitsā-k° SP 33.12; Divy 84.9; Mmk 495.17; nirvicikitsās tirṇa-k° Sukh 59.16; avitirṇa- (so Senart em., mss. °cīrṇa-k°, not having got rid of doubt, Mv iii.445.21; krodhō mṛṣāvāda ka° ca Mv iii.214.8 (vs); °vigata-ka°, freed from doubt, SP 70.11-12; Mv iii.61.7; 62.12; 201.12; Divy 617.14; chinna-ka° Gv 30.16. See next.

kathamkathin, adj. (= Pali id.; to prec.), having doubts: ŚsP 1453.2 na °thī bhaviṣyati; SP 35.4 (vs) °thī (n. pl.; v.l. °thā) vicintentā; MSV i.274.3.

kathamkara, adj. (= Pali id.; cf. evamkara), acting how?: Mv i.284.17; iii.212.12 (mss. corrupt); 372.21 kathamkaro prajñāvāṃ bhoti...

kathatva (nt.; to katham, with -tva; cf. Skt. kathamtā, rare), how-ness, manner: Gv 526.23 (prose) dharmadhātu-prakṛti-kathatvāyatana-m-ucitatvān na kṣaṇyante sārvaṣayeṣu (bodhisattvāḥ); -ucitatvān can only be construed as part of preceding cpd. (m̄ 'Hiatus-bridger?); the text seems rather suspicious.

? katha, m. = Skt. kathā, talk: SP 283.13 (vs) upasamhārec citrakathān bahūṃś ca, so all Nep. mss.; Kashgar rec. °kathām bahumvidhām, which perhaps read; both edd. em. °kathā bahūś ca.

kathāpuruṣa, m., narrator, teller of the story (of the dharma or the like): Gv 528.(9-10) (daśadik)sarvaloka-dhātuṣu kathāpuruṣo Mañjuśrīḥ; -tva, state of being a ka°: Gv 417.(23-24) (sa tasya bhagavato dharmacakram) praticchitavān samdhāritavān kathāpuruṣatvaṃ ca kār-ayām āsa.

kathāvastu, nt. (= Pali °vatthu), theme or essence of the story, argument: Mvy 7674 = Tib. gdam gyi gzhī, basis of the story.

kathika (m., = Skt. Lex. id.; Pali id. only at end of cpds., chiefly in dharmakathika = BHS dharmakathika, q.v.), speaker, expounder: RP 28.7 (vs) bahu-śrutaḥ kathika-śreṣṭhaḥ.

-kathin, adj. ifc. (Skt. kathā plus -in; = Pali id., ifc.), speaking, declaring: LV 363.11 (vs) satyāsatyakathī, n. sg.

kathina, adj. (= Skt. kaṭhina, hard: -śilavat °nān-tarātmā LV 158.5, so all mss. acc. to Lefm.; Calc. kaṭh°).

kathīyitta, m. (v.l. kathya°; so Mironov, same v.l.), Mvy 3814, acc. to Chin. messenger; Tib. pho ña (messenger) rañ rta (? see s.v. kāṣṭhikavitta). The preceding word is dūta.

kadarya, adj. (Skt. stingy, and so Pali kadariya), perh. evil, wicked (of persons): °ya-tapanā ghorā Mv iii.454.15 = (so read also) i.9.16; see P. Mus, La Lumière des six voies, 95 f. The mg. assumed by Mus is attributed by Wilson to Skt. kadarya.

? kadākhyā (so Skt. Lex., nt., a name for the kuṣṭha plant), a name of some plant: Mv ii.86.11 (vs) yato yavā kadākhyā (Senart's em., mss. kadāyā, kaṭhāyā) ca kovidārā ca phullitā. Very uncertain.

kadācīkāt, adv. (= kadācī, formed on the model of noun-adj. formations in suffix ka; see Edgerton, JAOS 31.113, § 37), now and then: Mmk 340.12 (vs) bhavet kadācīkāt siddhīh. Is there quasi-diminutive force here, barely now and then, less than frequently? Or possibly the extra syllable only m. c.? kadgara, var. for katkāra, q.v.

kanaka, m. (in Skt. gold, only nt.), (1) gold: LV 165.9 dhana-maṇi-kanakāḥ, acc. pl., all mss. and Calc. (Lefm. em. °kā); (2) = Kanakamuni, q.v.; (3) n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.1.

Kanakajalakāyavibhūṣita, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.9.

kanaka-tāla (m. or nt.; cf. Skt. kāmsya-tāla, a kind of cymbal), a kind of cymbal, gold-cymbal: Mv i.172.12 (vs) jinavācā kanakatāla-patra-(ravā, Senart's em., mss. vadārā or vaddārā).

Kanakanāgarājateja(s), (v.l. om. rāja) n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.9 °jāḥ, nom.

Kanakaparvata, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.114.6.

Kanakaprabha (?), n. of a prince (form uncertain, see Nobel's note): Suv 52.8 (vs).

Kanakabimbābha, n. of a Buddha: Mv i.123.15.

Kanakabhujendra, n. of a prince: Suv 52.8 (vs).

Kanakamaniparvataghoṣa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 311.16.

Kanakamaṇiparvatatejobhadra, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 311.11–12.

Kanakamuni, (Tib. gser thub, gold muni), also Kanaka (Mmk 130.4, prose, Kanakādyaais tathāgatair; Lañk 365.5, with Krakucchanda and Kāśyapa), Kanakāhvaya (the one named Kanaka, LV 281.14; 283.17, with the same two others), in Mmk 68.27 text corruptly Kabakagrani; in Mv Kanakamuni i.294.20; 318.13 (in the former with the prefix Bhāna- or Bhāma-, q.v., acc. to text), but otherwise in Mv only Konākamuni (or Koṇ°; Senart usually gives n, but see his Introd. to i p. xiv f.; also Konāka-nāmo, nom. sg., ii.300.4; 336.8, and Konāka-sāhvayo ii.401.7); this form occasionally in other texts, Mmk 426.9 in a confused list also containing the other form (Kanakamuni, Kāśyapa, Krakutsanda, Śikhin, Viśvabhū, Konākamuni!), also Lañk 29.1 = 142.14; Māy 227.17 (but Kanakamuni Lañk 141.9; Māy 250.10, and Kanaka Lañk 365.5); Konāgamuni Karmav 97.1, 5 (but Kanākamuni 71.21; and so v.l. 97.1, 5; same vs in Pali Therīg. 518, Koṇāgamana) = Pali Koṇāgamana or Konā° (even in late Pali, Buddhavamsa comm. 213.14, acc. to DPPN, the form Kaṇakāgamana is used in a popular etymology of the name; doubtless Koṇāka or Konāga- was original), Aśoka Konākamuni!, n. of a former Buddha, next but one before Śākyamuni, preceding Kāśyapa and following Krakucchanda, qq.v.; often mentioned with these two, see list of passages s.v. Krakucchanda; mentioned alone, besides some passages cited above, Av ii.34.11.

Kanakameghapradīpadvajā, n. of a loka lhātu: Gv 8.20.

Kanakarāśi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.11.

Kanakavatī, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 82.8.

Kanakavarṇa, n. of a king, previous birth of the Buddha: Divy 291.5 ff.; °varṇāvadāna, nt., n. of Divy chap. xx, Divy 298.23.

Kanakavimalaprabha: Gv 297.15, or °vimalaprabhāvīyūha: Gv 296.7 (both prose): n. of a lokadhātu.

Kanakākṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.6.

Kanakāvati, n. of the capital city of Kanakavarṇa: Divy 291.11; 294.28.

Kanakāhvaya = Kanakamuni, q.v.

kanaya, see kanaya.

Kanīma, see Kaṇīma.

(Ḷaṇīṣka, n. of the celebrated emperor; predicted as future incarnation of a boy seen making stūpas: MSV i.2.3.)

kantārika, m., Mvy 9036 = Tib. gzar thag, or bzar thag, peg-cord (cord fastened to pegs on a wall, to hang clothes on, Das); Chin. cord for hanging clothes.

Kantha, see Kaṇṭhaka (2).

kanthā, (1) (= Skt. Lex. id.) wall: MSV iv.74.2; (2) n. of a town: MSV i.xvii.11.

kandaraka (m. or nt.; = Skt. °ra; -ka prob. m.c.), cave: Samādh 19.28 (vs) ye vanakandarake °bhiramanti. kandalī-chinna, adj. (m.), ? Mvy 8797; °nna-ka, id., MSV iv.68.14; Chin. one who is in debt; Tib. gtāḥ (=pledge, pawn) gam(s) pa (? perhaps to ḡgam pa, one mg. of which acc. to Jā. is to threaten, menace). A kind of person who should not be initiated into the order; seems possibly to correspond to Pali kaṇḍara-chinna, Vin. i.91.10, interpreted as one the tendons of whose feet are cut.

kanduka, and kandu-kāra(ka), or (vv.11.) kaṇḍu°, m. (presumably from Skt. kandu, AMg. id. or kaṇḍu, iron pan), an artisan of some sort, presumably maker (seller) of iron pans; only in nom. pl. in long lists of persons of various occupations: Mv iii.113.9 kaṇḍukā(h), v.l. kandrukā; 442.14 mss. kandukā(h), Senart em. kaṇḍu°; 443.2 kandu-kārakā(h), v.l. kaṇḍukāro (intending °rā).

Kandha, n. of a yakṣa: Mv iii.328.2 (lives in Gandhāpura, which suggests the possible emendation Gandha, or vice versa; but no v.l. in mss.).

kanyakubjaka, adj., of (the city) Kanyakubja: Mv ii.460.12 (prose) Mahendrakasya kanyakubjakasya Madrakarājño dhītā.

[kapada-, error for kavāḍa-(chedaka), q.v.]

Kapardin, n. of a nāga: Mmk 454.15.

kapāṭa, in LV 376.13 (vs), to be read approximately: nivaraṇa-kapāṭāś ca pañca mayehā pradāritā sarve, perh. all the five doors (gates, as obstacles) of the hindrances have been cleft by me here. Note however that AMg. kavāḍa = kapāṭa is a homonym of kavāḍa = kapāla; I suspect that the latter is really meant here (falsely Skitized), in some such sense as hard shells.

? kapāpikā (var. kaśāyikā, which is read by Mironov with vv.11. kapāyikā, °vikā), felt: Mvy 5363 (= namata, q.v., Tib. hphyiñ ba).

kapāla-kotani (cf. koṭayati, ā-ko°), with vidyā, the art of knocking on the skull of a dead person and predicting his future fate (in Pali chava-sisa-manta, DPPN): MSV ii.80.8.

kapāla-mocani (once kapālī°) vidyā, a prized aspect of surgical art: MSV ii.26.6 (here kapālī°), 7, 9; 30.17 ff.; it involves opening a man's skull and extracting an insect (prāṇaka), which caused a disease (kapāla-vyādhī, 30.18), see 31.6 ff., also 33.12 (a centipede is thus removed).

Kapālīnī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.6.

kapi-citta, adj. (= Pali id.), 'monkey-minded', fickle: in LV 178.20 (vs) read, kapicittā 'ryapathe sṭhapesya haṃ, I shall establish the fickle ones in the noble path. Not only Tib. but a BHS ms. reported by Foucaux (Notes p. 139 l. 2) supports kapi-, and the Pali form confirms it.

kapittha, m. (Skt. id., the wood-apple tree, and nt. its fruit), in Mvy 5941 in a list of (colors and) articles used in painting, dyeing, etc.; perhaps the fruit, or some other product of the tree, used in some such way. Tib. transliterates.

Kapitthaka, m. or nt., n. of an āsrama on the Godāvarī river where Śarabhaṅga took residence: Mv iii.363.2. In Pali Śarabhaṅga lived in Kapitṭhavana on the Godāvarī.

? Kapīnahya (nt.; v.l. °naptam or °najyam, read °nātyam? cf. Pali Kapīnaccanā, DPPN), n. of a caitya in or near Vaiśālī: Mv i.300.10.

Kapila, n. of a yakṣa (in Skt. of a nāga, inter alia): Suv 161.13 (vs; Piṅgala-Kapilas, text, supported by Tib. acc. to Nobel, but most mss. Piṅgala alone, without K., and the one which has K. reads Piṅdola-Kapilas; one name or two?); Māy 15, 30, 53; 235.12.

Kapilapura, nt.: = next: LV 243.2 (vs).

Kapilavastu (or °vāstu), nt. (= Pali Kapilavattnu); see also prec., and Kapilasāhvaya, Kapilāhvaya; n. of the city in which Śākyamuni Buddha was born: its foundation, with explanation of the name (the Śākya princes founded it on the site of the hermitage of the ṛṣi Kapila with his permission), Mv i.351.19 ff.; spelling °vāstu (rare and dubious) Mvy 4118 (but Mironov °vastu); Divy 67.3 (text, but not repeated thus in Index; °vastu 90.30; 390.26); best ms. of Av °vāstu ii.98.5 ff., several times, and 111.7 (here acc. sg. in ms. °vāstum, Speyer em. °vastu; foll. by vowel, in hiatus-bridge? prose), but usually °vastu in Av, as i.345.6, 12, etc.; °vastu otherwise, SP 311.2; LV 26.13 etc., very common here and in Mv (see Indexes), also in Gv, e. g. 222.26 ff., and elsewhere.

Kapilavāstavya, adj., of Kapilavastu: Mv iii.101.17 sarve °vyāḥ Śākyā; 113.12 sarve ca °vyā śilpāyatanā.

Kapilasāhvaya, = Kapilāhvaya, q.v. (Kapilavastu): LV 54.12 (vs) °yaṃ puraṃ (perh. m.c.).

Kapilā, (1) n. of a kinnara maid: Kv 6.5; (2) n. of a rāksasi: Māy 240.7; 243.8.

Kapilāṅga = Kapila, the 'Sāmkhya' philosopher: Lañk 334.13 °go 'pi durmatih (Suzuki 'the school of Kapila', but I know of no such use of āṅga; the word is clearly an epithet of the man himself, 'tawny-bodied' = 'Tawny').

Kapilāhvaya, usually as adj. with pura or nagara, (the city) named Kapila-(v)astu, cf. Kapilasāhvaya; °ye pure LV 28.3; °ye mahāpuravare LV 48.22; 59.18 (both prose), etc.; without noun accompaniment, e.g. LV 47.19 (vs), read °ya tam (text °yatam); common also elsewhere, as Mv (see Index); also SP 312.15 (vs), and other texts.

Kapiṣṭhālāyana (mss. Kapiṣṭhīl°), m. pl., n. of a brahminical gotra (= Skt. Kapiṣṭhala): Divy 635.22.

kapoṭa-mālā (v.l. °malā; Mironov kapota-malā, but most of his mss. ° malā, no report of kapoṭa-; cf. however AMg. kavoda = kapota, pigeon), Mvy 9345 = Tib. steps bu, stand, board, table, but also 'a turret where sparrows make their nest', Das; Chin. platform-foundation; Jap. place where droppings of doves (qy: reading -malā?) accumulate, also, where doves perch in rows; upper part of a pagoda.

Kappha or °na or other vv.ll., see below (see also Mahā-ka°; = Pali Kappina or Mahā-ka°, the only forms noted DPPN), n. of one of Buddha's disciples: MSV i.266.5 ff. (Brāhmaṇa-K°); Kappha SP 207.4 (vv.ll. °na, Kaphiṇa, Kaphiṇa); Av ii.102.1 ff. (no v.l.); Kapphina, text, SP 2.4 (vv.ll. Kaphiṇa, Kapphina, Kaphiṇa, Kaphiṇa); Kaphiṇa LV 1.14 (no v.l. in Lefm., but Tib. Ka-pi-na); Kaphiṇa Mmk 64.11.

kapyāri, m. or f., °riḥ Mvy 3841, following kalpikāra, q.v., and similarly defined in Tib.; Chin male or female slave. Appears to be Sktization of MIndic form representing kalpikāra or °rin (something like *kappiyāri).

kaphalikā (prob. = kabhalli-, q.v.), Mvy 9012, pot (? in the shape of a skull); Chin. cooking-pot; Tib. = slaḥ, sla ṇa, defined as a large iron pan for roasting grain.

Kaphiṇa, see Kappha.

kaphin (= Skt. Lex. id.), characterized by phlegm, foam (one of the bodily humors): Mmk 146.22; 147.1, 7 etc. °ne, dat.

Kaphina, Kaphila, Kaphilla, see Kappha.

kabhalli- (? last akṣara uncertain; cf. kaphalikā, and AMg. kabhalla, skull, which Pischel 208 connects via *kaphāla with Skt. kapāla), in ka°-tāpa, a form of torture in hell: Śikṣ 80.11 (vs) °tāpān atha dhūmagārān (. . . pādasya cārchantī hi kāmādāsā iti); Bendall and Rouse boiling tortures of the skull; perhaps rather, boiling in pots (so named from their resemblance to a skull in shape). The AMg. suggests em. to kabhalla-.

kama (m.c. for MIndic kamma, Skt. karma-n), action, rite: read veda-kamāpanitam (= vedakarma-apa°) Dbh.g. 29(55).2, with Rahder (see note), for text °karmā° (unmetr.).

Kamaṇḍaluka, n. of a nāga king: Mv iii.327.20; lived at Lohitavastuka; entertained Buddha.

amara (nt.? gen. °rasya), a high number: Gv 106.14 (follows kamala. q.v.); in position corresponds to agava, q.v.

kamaraka, m., purse: MSV i.252.19 (in place of nakulaka 2 of Divy 133.23, same passage, and MSV i.241.8).

kamala, (1) nt., a high number: Mvy 7775; 7904 (the latter cited from Gv); Gv 106.14 (see kamara); 133.24; (2) m., n. of a mleccha king: Mmk 621.25.

Kamaladalavimalanakṣatrarājasamkusumitābhijñā, n. of a Buddha in a distant lokadhātu: SP 423.5 ff.

Kamaladhara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.4.

Kamalākara, name of a certain laudation (stava) of 'all the Buddhas': Suv 45.1, 5 (ch. IV, entitled Kamalākara-parivarta); 51.9 (but here text corrupt); 54.14.

Kamalākṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.7.

Kamaloṣṇiṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇiṣa-rājānaḥ (see uṣṇiṣa 3): Mmk 41.11.

? kaṃbībala, m. or nt., a kind of tree: MSV i.286.10 (so text; but Tib. cited as ka-pi-da-ka; cf. Skt. kapitaka, pw).

? Kampila, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Sukh 2.8; so 1 ms. only; one Karmira; two omit the name; possibly = Pali Kimbila?

Kampilla, nt. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. kāmpilya), n. of a city of the Pañcālas: Mv i.283.11 ff.; iii.26.20; 34.3, 5 etc.; 158.6; 160.8 etc.; 361.16 ff. Cf. s.v. Kāmpillaka (v.l. Kam°).

kambuka, m. or nt. (= Skt. and Pali kambu), a shell-bracelet, forbidden monks to wear: MSV ii.95.7, 15; orig. was prob. kañcuka (as Skt.) with Pali Vin. i.306.27.

Kambugrīvā, n. of a piśāci: May 238.20.

Kamboja (cf. Kāamboji), m. or f. pl., designation of a class of malevolent supernatural beings: Mmk 17.4 (prose) (vetāḍā) mahāvetāḍā kambojā mahākambojā bhaginyo mahābhaginyo etc.

kambojaka, adj., of (the land) Kamboja: Mv ii.185.12, 17 (vs) °kā aśvavarā sudāntā.

kambhākṛta, see skambhā°.

-kara (m. or nt.; apparently related to Skt. and Pali kaṭaka; also karaka; see next), ring on which the alms-bowl is fastened; only in pātra-kara-vyagra-hasta: Divy 48.21; 159.9; 281.24; Av i.347.10.

karaka, (1) = prec., in same cpd.: Divy 37.1-2; 341.29; Av i.3.5; Speyer, Index, takes kara(ka) in this cpd. as = Skt. and Pali karaka, water-pot, but see s.v. kāṭaka, which may be related (in cpd. pātra-k°), and even if not related, seems to disprove Speyer; (2) (= AMg. karaga; in Skt. kāraka, not karaka, is used in this sense, as also in Pali) doer, one who does: LV 340.4 (vs) karaka-vedaka-vitivr̥ttāḥ (most mss. kāraka, unmetr.); Dbh.g. 27(53).11 karak'apeta, without a doer; in view of Dbh 49.6 (prose) kāraka-vedaka-virahita, the short a is prob. m.c. despite the following, all from prose, where to be sure the word is adjectival, making, producing: bodhi-karakair dharmaiḥ Av i.69.12; 75.4 etc.; bodhisattva-karakair dharmaiḥ Av i.86.15.

Karakaṇḍa, °ḍaka, (= Pali id., also Karaṇḍu, Karaṇḍu, etc., DN i.92.18, comm. i.258.21), n. of a son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv i.348.11 (°ḍaka, v.l. °ḍuka); 352.9 (here Senart Karaṇḍaka, with one ms., a form known in Pali mss.; v.l. Kacakaṇḍaka); also of a later descendant, i.352.11, both °ḍa and °ḍaka.

karakandikara, m., ? .p. of Buddha: Mv iii.269.4 (vs) śrāvākayugaṃ daśabalo āmantraye karakandikaro. Senart can do nothing with it; neither can I; I have thought of divaṃkara-karo, corrupted and metathetized, sun-rayed, cf. Pali divaṃkara = divākara, but it does not yield the meter required.

Karakarṇin (cf. Karakaṇḍa, BR s.v.), n. of a man: Mvy 3663.

karakiṇi (cf. Skt. and Pali karaka, water-pot), some kind of vessel or bottle, app. for carrying water: Mvy 9386 (said to be synonym of kuṇḍikā, 9387) = Tib. ril ba spyi (phyi) blugs, gourd-shaped bottle (Das); Chin. bottle for (water for) washing clean hands.

karaṅka, nt. (in Skt. skull; in JM. skeleton, heap of bones, also bone in general), skeleton or heap of bones: Mv iii.297.1 sarvaṃ khāditam, asthikaraṅkāni avāṣeṣikṛtāni; 14 hasti-karaṅkāni cāśvakaraṅkāni ca; 16 karaṅkāny evāṣeṣitāni; 298.1, 2; LV 174.4 (vs; text doubtful, cf. citation Śiḥś 204.14, and Lefm.'s Crit. App.), read probably: yatha śvāna karaṅka (n. pl.) śavair amukhā (?); LV 207.7 (prose) (iha te bālā) adhyaṣatīḥ (read °sitāḥ) kukkurā ivāsthikaraṅkamadhye.

karaṅjaka? (Mv ii.470.8, mss.), see s.v. kalandaka.

karaṅā (cf. karaṅī; both = Skt. Karaṅa, nt.), means, cause: LV 434.2, repeated 3-4, sarva-sāṃkleśikāntarāyika-dharmāntarāya-karaṅā-nirvāṇaśye 'ti (both times one ms., a different one each time, with Calc. °karaṅa-).

karaṅī (cf. karaṅā, q.v., and kāraṅī), means, cause: LV 432.2-3 (twice in one long cpd.) -muditā-prāmodya-karaṅī (only Calc. °karaṅa-; one ms. °karī-) -snigdha-madhura-ślakṣṇa-hṛdayaṃgama-sarvendriya-prahlāda-karaṅī (so all mss., only Calc. °ṅa-) -samyagvākya-samyak-vayogatvād.

karaṅīya (nt.; = Pali id.; rare in Skt., but cf. pw .297), affair, business, duty (thing to be done, fundamentally dve.); deva-karaṅīyeṣu Mv i.32.12 (gods occupied) in affairs, matters of business, of the gods; see sa-karaṅīya; prob. here also cakṣu-karaṅīyā Mv iii.331.8, 10, 15, jñāna-kar° 11 (of the madhyamā pratipadā), having insight (knowledge) as its business, i. e. cause of insight (knowledge); in Pali parallels cakkhu-karaṅī, jñāna-karaṅī.

karaṅḍaka, nt., in cīvara-k° Mvy 9379, would naturally be taken as box (for monk's robe), as in normal Skt. and Pali. So one Tib. version (sprog, or dprog). But another Tib. version is sgrog, cord, and Das cites the cpd. chos gos kyī sgrog ma, strings or bands for fastening a religious robe, giving the Skt. as cīvara-karaṅḍaka. Corruption in Tib.? See Jäschke's Grammar 8: pr = Skt. ṭ, gr = Skt. ḍ. The Chin. rendering of Mvṛ gives cord, with the second Tib. (Note: on Karaṅḍaka-nivāpa see s.v. Kalandaka-n°.) karati, see Chap. 43, s.v. kr.

[? karada, m., small bit: mss. at Divy 290.23 apaści-maḥ karadaś carama ālopaḥ; ed. em. kavaḍaś, doubtless rightly, as in same phrase 298.5 where mss. kavaḍaś. Pali (tiṇa-)karala (°la), perhaps wisp or bundle (of grass), is not likely to be concerned here.]

karanta? (Mv ii.470.9, mss.), see s.v. kalandaka.

Karandaka-nivāpa (m.), = Kalandaka-ni°, q.v.: Av i.107.5 (no v.l.); ed. Divy 143.1, but with only 1 ms., 3 mss. kal°; for other cases of v.l. Karandaka-, and even Karaṅḍaka-, see s.v. Kala°.

karapatṭrikā (= Skt. °pattra and Lex. °patṭraka), saw: Divy 31.4 °patṭrikayā catasraḥ khaṇḍikāḥ kṛtāḥ.

karaphu, m. or f. (nom. °phur), a high number: LV 148.5, cited Mvy 7967 (from LV); = Tib. lag sbyin, hand-giving; acc. to ed. note in Mvy, Chin. points to karabha, q.v.; most LV mss. kalahu.

karabha, m., a high number: Mvy 8020 = Tib. ḥod mdzes, beautiful light.

karama, nt. (= kalama, q.v.), reed (-pen, for writing): Kv 69.16 (bhūrjaṃ na samvidyate na masiṃ na) karamaṃ; 69.17.

karaviṅka, m. (in mg. = Pali karavī, °vika; in form blend of this with kalaviṅka, q.v., which in Skt. = sparrow), the Indian cuckoo, proverbial for its sweet voice; LV 323.19 °ka-rutena svareṇa; 338.3 (vs) °ka-ruta-svareṇa: Mv ii.415.3 (vs) °ka-kokilā; KP 84.1 °ka-potaka(h, n. sg.).

(karavira = Skt. id., oleander-flower; for its use in making garlands for criminals, as in Pali, see s.v. kaṅ-ṭheḡuṇa. Cf. next.)

karavīrikā = prec.: Mmk 720.20 (prose) °kām.

karāḍa (cf. karāla?), a kind of elephant: °ḍa-hastin MPS 31.21.

karāpayati, see § 38.53.

Karāla, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 97.

Karāladantī, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.33.

Karālikā, n. of a yoginī, = Karālī: Sādh 589.15 (vs; prob. m.c. -kā).

Karālī, n. of a yoginī (cf. prec.): Sādh 584.12; name of a piśāci: Māy 238.20; n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.15.

? karikāra (-dharma), ? Mv ii.384.14 (vs) dharmaṃ karitvā karikāradharmaṃ ārogyapṛāpto care sarvalokaṃ (mss., ed. em. °ke); said of one who is thus rewarded for having decorated a caitya. I am as unable to interpret or emend the form as Senart was.

-karīṇa, adj. or subst. ifc., doing or one who does: Mmk 57.2 pañcānantarya-karīṇasyāpi, even of a doer of the five deadly crimes (see ānantarya). (JM. karīṇa = Skt. karin, elephant; MIndic for Skt. karin, which is recorded in this sense only once from Kāś. in pw, and nowhere else in any dialect).

kariya (nt.), MIndic for Skt. kārya, deed: iti-pramukhā kariyā (n.-acc. pl.) LV 168.1, 10; 169.4 (vss). The shortening of ā to a is regular enough, § 3.103, but this form seems, as far as I can find, not to be recorded in the MIndic Dict.; and it may be only m.c. in this phrase.

Karuṇatejas (m.c. for Karuṇā° ?), n. of a Buddha: Gv 257.22 (vs) °tejā(h), n. sg.

? Karuṇā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mahāsamāj 187.1 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4). But Pali Aruṇā, which may be right (reading Kaḍambakā before it for Kaḍambā, q.v., and see ed. note).

Karuṇābhīdhāna, n. of an author: Sādh 391.6, 10; 590.11.

Karuṇāvīcintin, used in vs, Samādh 8.26 for Mahā-karuṇāvīcintin, q.v.

Karuṇāvṛkṣa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.26.

karōṭa (m. or nt.; cf. next; = Skt. and Pali karoti, cup, basin, also skull), lit. cup, basin (so in karōṭa-pāṇi, q.v.); in LV (at least 305.22) fig. skull: LV 258.6 (vs) na ca kumbhamukha-karōṭāṃ (abl. na dhārakuśalāntarāc ca grhṇanti; 305.22 (in description of monsters in Māra's host) kumbhodarāḥ karōṭapādā(h) (Tib. with feet resembling skulls, rkañ pa mgoñi thod pa ltar ḥḍug pa).

karōṭaka (m. or nt.; = prec.), cup, vessel: Sādh 47.21 nānāsugandhikusumaparipūrṇaśukla-karōṭakam (Bhvr.); loha-ka° MPS 26.16.

karōṭa-pāṇi, m. (in Pali karoti, same mg., Jāt. i.204.3), n. of a class of yakṣas who act as guards for the gods, esp. the Trayastriṃśa gods: Divy 218.8 (devānāṃ trayastriṃśānāṃ pañcārakṣāḥ) sthāpitāḥ, . . . karōṭapāṇayo devā(h) . . . (mālādhārāḥ, sadāmattāḥ); 319.24 karōṭa-pāṇibhir yakṣaiḥ; Mvy 3150 = Tib. lag na gzhon thogs, (Cath. Miss. Dict.) qui tient un bassin à la main, un certain génie; Mmk 19.13 sadāmattā mālādhārāḥ karōṭa-pāṇayah viṇātrītyakāḥ; 43.19 (sadāmattāḥ mālādhārīṇo) karotapāṇayah viṇādvītyakā lekhyāḥ; 232.10 (vs) karōṭa-pāṇayo devā sadāmattāś ca viṇakāḥ; Mv i.30.7 °pāṇayo nāma yakṣā (foll. by mālādhārāḥ, sadāmattāḥ); all three also MSV i.95.6.

karoti, makes (idiomatic uses) Mv ii.247.4 (prose) sā dāni śuśumārī glānakaṃ kṛtvā āsati, the she-crocodile now sat pretending to be sick (Senart compares faire le malade). Or is glānakaṃ a MIndic acc. sg. f. for glānakām? Or even a corruption therefor? See further s.v. a-, an-, neg. prefix. For other forms from this root see Chap. 43.

karkaṭaka (m. or nt.; cf. karkaṭa, actually °takāṅghri, a moulding, a kind of joinery resembling the crab's leg, Achary: Dict. Hindu Arch. 115), (1) a kind of moulding on a toraṇa (°ṅā): Mv iii.178.16 tasya nirdhāvantasya torāṅyē karkātakasmiṃ makulaṃ laṅgaṃ, and 20 (uttamāṅgato makuṭaṃ torāṅgrāto) karkātakena utkṣiptaṃ; (2) in Divy 274.23 (and 281.2) °kena, defined Index as hook, but rather tongs, a mg. found in Skt.; (3) °tikā, f., heart of a flower: Mvy 6239 = Tib. sñiṃ po, which also renders karpikā 6238; also in indranila-kark° 6244; of a lotus, Gv 434.14 mahāratnarājapadma-karkāṭikāyām; ifc. Bhvr. 434.13 (pañktivairocana)manirāja-karkāṭikam; (4) °ṭaka (= Pali Kakkāṭa), n. of an upāsaka in Nādikā: MPS 9.12.

Karkarabhadra, n. of a locality of the Śākyas: Mv i.355.12.

karkarava, m., Mvy 6204, and mahā-k°, m., 6205 (cf. Pali kakkaru, a kind of creeper, and see karkārava), a (heavenly) flower; = Tib. mdog dkar, white color.

karkarī (? mss. kakarī both times; Skt. karkarī, AMg. kakkarī, pot), lit. pot, applied to some protuberance on the head of a crocodile (cf. kumbha, applied to a frontal protuberance on an elephant's head): Mv ii.249.2 (śuśumāro āha, ahaṃ te neśyāmi, mama) iha grivāyām āruhya upaśehi, ubhayehi ca hastehi karkarīya lagnehi; 249.5 °riya lagno.

karkārava, nt. (or m.), and mahā-k°, id. (cf. Skt. karkāru, a kind of gourd; Pali kakkāru, id., also a heavenly flower; see also karkarava), a kind of heavenly flower: karkāravehi mahākarkāravehi Mv i.266.18 (prose); °vāṇi mahā°vāṇi ii.160.12; 286.16 (both prose); karkāravāṃ ca (acc. pl.) 413.17 (vs); karkāravāṇi iii.94.24, mahā°vāṇi 95.2 (vss).

-karpaka, m. or nt. (cf. Pali cīvāra-kaṇṇa), edge, border (of a garment): cīvāra-k° Av ii.184.12 and MSV ii.50.6 (prose; °kam, acc. sg.); RP 29.1 (vs, °kā, acc. pl.); Karmav 161.1 (vs, but hypermetric; °kam, acc. sg.); Mmk 68.25 (prose; misprinted -kargakāvasaktā); vastra-karpake Mmk 721.3 (prose; loc sg.). See also karpika.

karnadhāraka, m. (Skt. Lex. id., = Skt. °dhāra, so Mironov), helmsman: Mvy 3853; see s.v. pauruṣeya 2.

Karnadhārā, n. of an aparas: Kv 3.10.

karpika, (1) m. or nt., only in cīvāra-k°, edge, border, (of robe), = -karpaka, q.v.: m. °ko Divy 90.25; 239.27; 577.8; nt. °kāny Divy 350.2; ambiguous as to gender, Divy 90.17, 22; 239.25; 341.3, 4; 345.16; Śikṣ 249.2; (2) nt. (= Skt. karpikā, AMg. karṇiyā), ear-ornament: Mvy 6022 = Tib. rna cha.

? karpikāyā, in °yā-keyūrāṇi (in a list of various ornaments, all noms.) LV 121.7 (prose; printed as cpd. by Lefm.). One ms. (A) omits karpikāyā; another reads °kāyāṃ (loc. of °kā); Calc. karṇikāḥ; Weller 25 states that his ms. reads karṇābharaṇāni muṇḍikābharaṇāni (for karpikāyā-keyūrāṇi? or for the two preceding words? his statement is not clear). Some form or equivalent of karpikā, ear-ornament, is doubtless meant. Tib. ear-ornaments (rna rgyan) and shoulder-ornaments (the latter represents keyūrāṇi).

Karṇesumana(s), n. of an elder (sthavira): °manasya, gen., Karmav 99.14; 101.3 (see Lévi's note 4 for Chin. correspondents); °manahprabhrtinām 154.11. All prose.

kartāti (= Skt. kṛṇatti, AMg. kattai; see Chap. 43, s.v. kṛt), twists, twines; spins (cord): tat karpāsaṃ kartitum Divy 213.2; kartiṣyanti 5; tam picum kartāpayet (caus.), tat sūtram su-kartitam . . . Mmk 57.7. Cf. next.

-kartin, adj., f. °ini, spinning: Divy 643.1 (yathā . . .) striyā nātidirghabhrasvakartinyāḥ sūtrodyāmah. Cf. prec.

kartma (nt.); either false Sktization of a MIndic kattima, which occurs in JM. [cf. Pali kittima], = Skt. kṛtrima, or = Skt. *kārtrima, vṛddhi deriv. of kṛtrima, with semi-MIndic a for ā and hyper-Skt. ṛ for ri), trick: Mv i.129.13 vacana-kartme, verbal trick, trickery in words. (A v.l. °tume is recorded.)

? karthika, cited as 'BSkt.' without reference in PTSD s.v. kattikā (= Skt. kṛttikā; see s.v. kīrtika).

karpataka, nt. (or m.?), a (small, mean) village (= karvatāka, q.v.): Divy 87.13; 191.27; 498.17; 505.4, 5 (in the last °kam, nom. sg. nt.; other forms ambiguous in gender).

karparaka, m. (= Skt. °ra plus -ka), (chamber-)pot: MSV iv.54.15 ff.

karpāsa-picu (m.; = Pali kappāsa-picu; cpd. not noted in Skt., where picu is masc.), cotton (in some form), used as symbol of lightness: Divy 210.15; 388.15, along with tūlapicu, q.v.; both together in Pali in the same way SN v.284.1; there evidently was some difference between the two, but what?

karpāsika, (1) adj. (= Pali kappā°, Skt. kārpā°, made of cotton: Mv ii.375.19 °kānām atha kambalānām; iii.50.15 °kaṃ paṭapilotikaṃ; 53.14; (2) m. (= kārpāsika, q.v.), dealer in cotton goods: Mv iii.113.8 (in list quite like that in which kārp° occurs).

karmakāraka, m., or °ikā, f., the presiding officer at an assembly of monks or nuns before which a jñapti, q.v., is presented; he or she presents the jñapti, and the following karmavācanā, q.v. (if any): °rakaḥ Mvy 8729 (after ācārya and before raho'nuśāsaka, q.v.); °rakasya bhikṣoḥ Bhik 19a.1, °rakena bhikṣuṇā 4; °rikayā bhikṣuṇyā Bhik 15b.1 ff.

karma-kāraṇa, nt., or °nā, f. (= Pali kamma-kāraṇa, °karaṇa, see PTSD s.v. kamma, II.3.A.b), punishment: Mv i.22.14 yehi iha atrāṇā anabhisaraṇā karma-kāraṇā (so mss., Senart om. kāraṇā) kārapitā bhavanti, by whom the helpless and defenceless have been made to undergo punishment.

karmāṇiya (= Pali kammaniya, cf. next; Skt. °nya), effective, useful, clever: °yāni (ābharaṇāni) Mv ii.470.14 (prose; mss. karmāṇ°).

karmaṇiya, adj. (= Pali kammaniya, often epithet of citta), dexterous, capable of work: mṛducitto °yacitto Mv iii.61.8; 62.12; -mṛdū-karmaṇiya-cittāḥ Dbh.g. 6(342). 12. In Pali mudu is similarly used, parallel with kammaniya. Cf. next.

karmānye-sthita, adj. (= Pali kammaniye-ḥṭita; read as cpd., ep. of citta, with mudu-bhūta etc., e. g. DN i.76.14; MN i.22.10; °niya = °niya, see prec.), abiding in a diligent (dexterous, working) condition, ep. of citta; preceded by mṛdū, cf. corresp. Pali phrase above: LV 345.2, read (citta . . .) mṛduni karmānyesthite (Lefm. wrongly °nyupasthite with minority of mss.); 345.19 (cittena . . .) mṛdunā karmānyesthitena.

karmapatha, m. (nt. noted only Kv 46.1-2) daśa kuśalāni karmapathāny; = Pali kammapatha; seems to be a fundamentally Buddhist term, tho recorded once by BR in Mbh. Calc. 13.583, which is followed by a list of the ten items substantially as in Buddhism, belief in the law of fruition of actions taking the place of No. 10, abstinence from heresy), course of action; almost always, as in Pali, of a set of ten good (kuśala) actions consisting in avoidance of ten bad (akuśala) actions, three of body (taking life, theft, fornication or adultery), four of speech (lying, harsh speech, spiteful speech, idle or silly, disconnected speech), and three of mind (covetousness, malevolence, heresy); these are listed without use of the term karmapatha, as daśakuśalāni and/or daśa kuśalāni, in Dharmas 56 and Mvy 1681-4, 1685-1698; but the same list is given in texts as the ten (a)kuśala karmapatha, so Mv i.107.13-15; Divy 301.22-25; 302.7-10; Śikṣ 69.13 ff. and Dbh 23.6 ff., in both of which each item is treated at some length, esp. in Śikṣ which describes the torments suffered in hell by those guilty of each of the 10 sins; in Mv ii.99.5-12 the ten karmapatha are slightly different; a fourth sin of the body (use of liquor) is added, and the number ten is kept by omitting one of the 4 sins of speech (harshness), also avidyā, ignorance, replaces abhidhyā, covetousness (this seems likely to be a mere corruption of tradition); in Mv i.26.12 akuśala karmapatha is used more loosely, of sinful acts in general, specifically exemplified by the five ānantarya, q.v.; in Mv i.282.14 the term ten kuśala karmapatha (in prose) is immediately followed (in verses) by a list of ten vaśitā, apparently implying that they are the same (not the usual 10 karmapatha); in Suv 6.11 the expression is daśakuśalamūlakarmapatha; often a form of the verb sam-ā-dā-, adopt, take to, adhere to, governs the noun, as in Mv ii.77.11 daśa kuśalakarmapathāṃ (acc. pl.) samādāya; Suv 6.11 . . . °tham samādāpayet; in Mv ii.425.10 read with mss. daśa-kuśalakarmapatha-samādānaṃ vartitvā (= vartayitvā, having practised the taking-upon-oneself, the vow, of . . .); cf. samādiyati, °dāpayati, °dāna; other references to the 10 kuśala, or akuśala, karmapatha, without listing, are found Mv i.3.1; 46.10; 101.18; 193.15; iii.357.14; Divy 318.22; Karmav 31.13, 14; Gv 521.4.

Karmavajri, n. of a goddess: Sādh 160.7.

karma-vācanā (= Pali kamma-vācā; PTSD definition does not fit very well Vin. i.317.30 ff., where this Pali word is used exactly like the BHS, the stating of the matter that has been moved in the assembly of monks or nuns, see s.v. jñāpti; it takes the form of a demand that they consent by silence, or oppose by speaking; in the case of jñāpti-caturtha the question is triple, prathamā, dvitīyā and tṛtīyā karma°: Mvy 8663-6; Bhik 18b.4, MSV iii.13.6 f.

Karmavibhaṅga, m. (Pali Kamma°), 'classification of acts', n. of a work (edited by Lévi; our Karmav): Mvy 1372; Karmav 29.31; 105.13 (colophon); 154.10; 163.3; also called Mahā-karmav°, q.v.

Karmavibhaṅga-sūtra, n. of a work, not the same as prec.: Karmav 46.11 (see Lévi's note; corresp. to Pali Mahākammavibhaṅga Sutta, MN iii.207-215).

karmasvaka, adj. (= Pali kammassaka), having (one's own) action as one's property, i.e. subject to the inevitable results of one's own action (and not involved in any other person's): Śikṣ 46.18 (vs) (bhikṣūṇāṃ bhinnavṛttānāṃ parivādāṃ niśamya ca), karmasvakā bhaviṣyāmo . . . (substantially = we will mind our own business).

Karmāvaraṇapratiprasabdhi, n. of a work: Mvy 1383 °dhih.

Karmāvaraṇaviśuddhi-sūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 90.6; 172.10.

karmika, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali kammika; Skt. Gr. id., and Skt. karmin), working, a worker: RP 31.3 na ca karmiko hy ahaṃ vihāre ātmana-hetur eṣa hi kṛto me. For -karmika at end of cpds. see ādi-, tatprathama-sarva-.

? Karmira, v.l. for Kampila, q.v.

karvaṭaka, m. or nt. (= Skt. karvaṭa, nt., and Lex. m.; AMg. kabbāḍa and kavvaḍa, m. and nt.), a (mean, poor) village; acc. to Tib. on Mvy 9356 (°kaḥ, m.) a mountain hamlet (so Das for ri ḥor ba; not Bergabhang as stated in BR); cf. also karpaṭaka: nt. Divy 374.13 (°kam, nom.); masc. Divy 448.7; 451.20 (°kaḥ); ambiguous in gender, Divy 311.24; 541.11; 577.11; 584.22, 27.

karvaṭa-pradeśa, m., Mvy 5283 (var. karvaḍa°), acc. to Tib. ri brag(s), mountain crag, or ri bohi (ri bor gyi) phyogs, mountain region. Cf. s.v. karvaṭaka.

karṣika, m. (cf. Skt. kārṣaka, and tila-kārṣika; perh. semi-MIndic in having a for ā; or Skt. karṣin plus -ka), plowman, farmer: Mv iii.108.20 (vs) punar-punar lābham labhanti karṣikā.

? karha-cid, adv. (cf. Skt. karhi-cid; = Pali karahaci, only after kadā-ci, and in same mg. acc. to DN comm. i.110.3), ever, at any time: in one old ms. of SP inserted after kadācid SP 257.1 (prose), Baruch, Beiträge zum Saddharma-puṇḍarīkasūtra, 23 and 28; omitted in all other mss. The coincidence with Pali usage is so extraordinary that I am inclined with Baruch to regard it as old.

kala, perh. = Skt. kara, hand, in LV 12.11 (vs) kena sa kalagata (Lefm. prints sakalagata) ti bodhi (so read with ms. A m.c., for bodhi); so Foucaux and Tib. (khyed ni byan chub phyag mthil bzhaḡ dañ hdra, enlightenment is the same as put in thy hand-palm; kena is difficult; Foucaux seems to have read tena with ms. H; Tib. has no evident correspondent; does sa go with bodhi?).

Kalaṇḍaka-nivāpa, see Kalandaka°.

kalatra (nt.; in Skt. only wife except once in Harṣac. acc. to Thomas, retinue, see Schmidt, Nachtr.; see kaḍatra), (1) family (in the usual Eng. sense): Bbh 362.7 (bodhi-sattvena sarvaḥ sattvadhātuḥ) kalatrabhāvena parigṛhītaḥ, cherished like or adopted as (one's own) family (oftener kaḍatra, q.v.); (2) servants (familia), esp. perhaps male servants: LV 139.12 (vs) dāsi-kalatra-jani (loc.) yādṛśam ātmaprema (in a description of the qualities of a wife, so that kalatra cannot possibly mean wife); Foucaux, because of preceding dāsi, understands kalatra as referring to males alone, which is possible but hardly necessary.

kalandaka (or °ntaka? karanta? variants in mss. also karañjaka, kalaṇḍaka; = Pali kaḷandaka, Jāt. vl.224.6 mudukābhisiyā mudu-citta-kaḷandake, comm. sukhasam-phassacittattharake), spread, cover for a seat: Mv i.306.9 (vs) kāsīkapratyāstarāṇam (? em.; mss. °tyottaraṇam) suvicitra-kalandakam (so 1 ms., the other °ṇḍakam; Senart em. wrongly) maṇivicitram; ii.38.3 (vs) read essentially with mss.: atha kanaka-m-aṣṭapādā suvicitra-kalandakā (or, with mss., °ntakā-ḥ?) maṇivicitrā (? mss. °tro or °tra); ii.470.8, for Senart's em. kilamjakā (pi kriyanti) mss. seem to intend karamjakā; context fits our word as to mg.; note, however, that in the next line (9) mss. have karantā (Senart em. karaṇḍā) pi kriyanti, which might be meant for kalanta(ka), or be another form of the word here concerned.

Kalandaka-nivāpa, m. (= Pali id., squirrel food-offering), also written in mss. Karandaka°, q.v., and Karaṇḍaka°, Karaṇḍaka°, see below; n. of a place near Rājagṛha where Buddha often dwelt: Mv i.255.4 (v.l. kar°); iii.47.12 (v.l. kalaṇḍaka°); 60.2 (mss. kalaṇḍaka° or kar°); 91.14 (no v.l.); Mvy 4138 kalandaka-nivāsa, but Index with v.l. and Mironov °nivāpa; Divy 143.1 (ed. Kar° but 3 of 4 mss. Kal°); 262.8; 298.24 (here 3 mss. Kalanda-ni°); 364.19 (printed Kalindaka°); 506.7; 544.22; Av i.1.8 etc. (list, Speyer, Index 213); Burnouf, Introd. 456 cites Karaṇḍaka° from Av but the passage (ii.186.5) in Speyer reads Kalandaka° without v.l.

kalapāli (cf. kallavāla), acc. to Tib. (cited as chañ ḥtshoñ ma), a woman liquor-seller: MSV i.117.11 (°ly-āpaṇam), 12; 120.4.

Kalabha (in Pali Kalābu), n. of a wicked king of Benares, character in a Jātaka (Pali Khantivādi Jāt., No. 313; Jm Kṣānti-Jāt., 181 ff.; unnamed in Mv, no colophon): Mv iii.357.4; 359.16; 361.3; 368.15; 369.16. (Not named in Jm.)

kalamā = prec.: Divy 532.11 masinā (= maṣ°) kalamayā tūlena; 535.10 bhūrjāṃ (mss.) kalamā (so divide) tailam tūlam asir (read masir or maṣir?).

(kalambukā [rare in Skt., and only Jain?; once in Pali; perh. = Skt. kalamba, °baka, °bikā, convolvulus repens?], n. of a creeper, to which a vana-latā is compared in a complimentary way: Mv i.341.6; 345.11.)

kalayati (cf. Skt. kālayām āsa Mbh 3.229.5, counted, reckoned up, for which 4 Kashmirian and 3 D mss. read kal°; Pkt id., Sheth), counts, computes: Divy 27.5 tāta kalyatām asmadīyam paṇyam iti. tena kalitām (mss. quoted as kalpitām, intending prob. kalyitām), ekaikasya suvarṇa-lakṣāḥ saṃvṛttāḥ . . . (8) mamāpi kalyatām . . . (10) kalyate... kalyatām... (11) kalitam... (12) lakṣā samvṛttā (mss. °tāh).

kalaviṅka (m.; = karaviṅka, q.v.), the Indian cuckoo: LV 353.6 (vs) °ka-rutāya vācā; 355.3 °ka-mañjughoṣāḥ (Bhvr., of the Buddha); 355.17 °ka-rutasvareṇa; Kv 73.24, corrupt, read kalaviṅka-rutena svareṇa; 89.5 °karutasvarābhīnirghoṣeṇa.

kalaviṅkaka, m., = prec. (-ka prob. m.c.): SP 358.7 (vs) °kā (n. pl.) kokilabarhiṇāś ca.

Kalaśoda, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.10.

Kalaśodara, n. of a yakṣa: Mv 37.

Kalaśodari, (1) n. of a river: Kv 71.15; (2) n. of a piśāci: Māy 238.20; (3) n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 241.15; see next.

Kalasi (= prec. 3), n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.10.

Kalahapriya, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 36.

kalahayati, °hāyati, denom. (Skt. kalahati and kalahāyate; Pkt. has equivalents of both these; not recorded in Pali), quarrels: °hayati Mvy 5228; °hāyati AsP 420.4 (prose).

kalācīkā (so Mironov without v.l.; BR cites °ka, m., which Kyoto ed. cites as v.l.), spoon, ladle: Mvy 8958 = Tib. kha gzar.

kalācī (Skt. Lex. id., and kalācī in late lit., Schmidt, Nachtr.; not in Pali; cf. Pkt. kalācī = Skt. Lex. °cīkā, Sheth), fore-arm: Śiḥṣ 228.14 -hasta-kalācī-bāhv-amśa- (in a long cpd. listing parts of the body).

kalāpa, m., a high number: Mvy 7780 = Tib. cha tshogs (same as kaṣaca or kaṣava, q.v.; cf. kajāva).

kalāpaka, adj. or adv. (as noun, bundle; string of pearls, in Skt. and Pali), perhaps in *fold*s ('bundles, bunches'), applied to a monk's robe: Prāt 528.7 na °kaṁ civaram nivāsayiṣyāmaḥ; Chin. ... des plis fins.

kalāva, m. (= AMg. id., Skt. and Pali kalāya), a kind of pulse: Mvy 5652 (text kulatthaḥ, var. kulāvah, but Index also kalāvah, and so Mironov 228.6); Kv 48.5 (kola-mudga-)māṣā-kalāba- (so printed)-masura- etc.; Divy 499.25, read with mss., tena tasya kalāvānām (ed. em. kalāyānām) añjalipūro dattaḥ.

kali, m. (in this sense = Pali id., but not in Skt.), sin, depravity: Mvy 621, 622, see s.vv. Kāyakali-, Vākkali- (Tib. skyon, normally = dosa); Divy 623.21 (vs, tho printed as prose) pāpakam karma kilviṣam kalir eva ca; Jm 103.24 kali-paddhatim (surām; kali-bala, the power of evil (text °vala), Dbh.g. 52(78).8 °parihāropāya-vidyārdhī-mantaḥ, and 16 vijita-kalivalaughās; kali-mala-paripūrṇa- Kv 90.16; sattva-kali-kalusair Śiḥṣ 279.7; rāga-dosa-moha-kali-kaluṣa-vinodanī LV 286.12; kali-pāsu (read °sa? for °su or °śa, so v.l.) LV 371.17 (vs); kali-puruṣa, man of depravity, said of Devadatta, Mv i.128.14 (mss. kāli°); kali-nṛpa, evil king, LV 165.22; kali-rāja(n), id., Divy 574.10; RP 21.18; MSV i.29.2; (see also s.v. Kaliṅga-rājan); in Ud viii.4 word-play on the other mg. of kali, bad luck at dice (Chakravarti ignores this), alpamātro hy ayam kalir ya ihākṣeṇa dhanam parājayet, ayam atra mahattaraḥ kalir yaḥ sugateṣu manaḥ pradūṣayet (same vs Pali Sn 659); see also Ud viii.3; often regarded as characteristic of Māra the Evil One, and so cpd. with Māra-: SP 481.8 nirjēṣyaty ayam... [Kaliṅga-rājan, Vaj 31.10, is undoubtedly an error of tradition for kali-rājan; see s.v. kali, and cf. SBE 49, Part 2, p. 127, n. 1. The Kashgar version reported in Hoernle MR 184.11 unfortunately has a lacuna where the word occurs, but Chin. and general sense support the em.]

kalina, m., = Skt. kali, the present world age: Lañk 364.5 (vs) kṛtayugaś ca tretā ca dvāpāram kalinas tathā. Meter makes another form out of the question; the word has followed the pattern of in-stems, extended by -a, see § 10.3.

[Kalindaka-nivāpa, error (misprint?) for Kalandaka°: Divy 364.19.]

? kalī = Skt. kalā, part: LV 341.5 (vs). Doubtful; see saṭhaḥ.

kaḷopī (= Pali kaḷopī), some sort of container, vessel or basket: Mv iii.453.3 (read) na te koṣṭhesmiṁ osaranti na kumbhe na kaḷopiyam (loc.); Senart for last word kulopakaṁ, mss. kulopiyam; in same line Jāt. v.252.20 Pali has kaḷopiyā (loc. sg.).

? kalkaṭa-tva, nt. (cf. Skt. karkara, Pali kakkhaḷa, AMg. kakkhaḍa, hard?), perhaps hardness: Mv i.339.16 atha teṣāṁ kāye gurutvam ca kharatvam ca ka'tvam ca upanipate. So acc. to Crit. App. one ms.; v.l. kalkatvam (impurity? cf. Skt. kalka); but Senart's note cites mss. as katka° instead of kalka°; he em. kakkhaṭatvam.

kalpa, m., also nt. (1) (cf. Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā, n. of a work, of which Central Asiatic fragments ed. Lüders 1926, = Kleinere Skt. Texte II; p. 38 'Die Sprache ... ist durchweg das korrekte Sanskrit der Grammatiker.' But a few items of vocabulary, listed pp. 42-45, have been incorporated here so far as they seemed to me pertinent.

kalpam, adv. (from kalpa, q.v.; = Pali kappam), lit. and orig. for a kalpa, = for a long time: SP 227.5 (prose) (yaḥ ... tathāgatasya) saṃmukhaṃ kalpam avarṇam bhāṣet, who should for a long time speak ill before (= towards) a T. (The translators misunderstand.) The verse account has (229.7) yaś caiva ... jinasya saṃmukhaṃ śrāved avarṇam paripūrṇakalpam, ... for a full kalpa, which may therefore be the mg. of 227.5; but the Pali adv. is well established.

kalpayati, with śāyām (= Pali seyyam kappeti), lies down: Mv i.210.13-14 (prose) (sukhaṃ gacchati) tiṣṭhati pi niṣidati pi śāyām api kalpayati; nearly same phrase ii.14.12-13. See also kalpāpayati.

kalpa-vṛnda (nt.), the whole mass of (brahmanical) ritual regulations: °dam prahāya, abandoning (these), said of 'ṛṣis' (pre-Buddhist ascetics): Divy 210.11.

kalpa-sthiti, adj. Bhvr. (cf. also next), abiding for a world-age: LV 200.2 kalpasthitiya (nom. pl.) ṛṣayo.

kalpa-sthitika (= Pali kappaṭṭhika; see sthitika), = prec.: °kenāyuspramāṇa LV 442.20; Dbh.g. 56(82).8 (both prose!); cf. also kalpakoti ... (etc.)-sahasrasthiti-kenāyuspramāṇa Sukh 62.2. kalpāpayati (caus. to Pali kappeti, as in MN ii.155.6 kesamassuṃ kappetvā), causes to be trimmed (hair and beard): Mv ii.489.8 keśaśmaśrūpi kalpāpayitvā. Skt. klpta, ppp. of simplex kalpati, is used in mg. trimmed (of hair).

kalpāvaśeṣam, adv. (= Pali kappāvaśeṣam), more than a kalpa, in the phrase (kalpam) vā ... vā (nirdiśet, he might expound) LV 436.6; (tiṣṭhet, would last) Divy 201.9; 207.1. So Foucaux, apparently supported by Pali DN comm. 554.32 (on DN ii.103.4) appam vā bhīyyo ti, vutta-vassa-satato (= kappam = āyukappam) atirekam vā, a little more, or in excess of the stated 100 years (the extreme life of a man, which Pali exegesis takes as the mg. of kappam here). So also Tib. on MPS 15.10 = Divy 201.9. But CPD and PTSD (for) the rest of a kalpa.

kalpika, adj. (= Pali kappiya; see also akalpika, kalpiya), suitable, proper: Mvy 9196; of a monk's (nun's) robe, cīvara, LV 267.10; Prāt 494.6; Bhk 15a.1; of food, °kam niravaqyam ca māṃsam Lañk 258.15, cited Sikṣ 133.15; meat, when kalpika, when not, MSV i.236.17 ff.; of gifts, dāna, Bbh 123.7; of monkish paraphernalia in general, LV 2.22; even more generally, of all sorts of useful and ornamental objects, Gv 164.14 (bracketed with anavadya). See also next.

kalpika-śālā, also °ka-sthāna, corresp. to Pali kappiya-kuṭṭi (also -bhūmi), which is variously rendered (in SBE 13.304, on Vin. i.139.36, kitchen), in MSV i.235.2, 4 (°śālā), 8 ff. (°sthāna), introduced as a place where broth for a sick monk could be heated, and seems to mean lit. either hall (place) for allowable (proper) perquisites (see prec.), or possibly hall (place) for preparation of such perquisites (?); five are listed (cf. the somewhat diff. list of four in Pali Vin. i.240.1 ff.), ārabhamāṇāntikā (sc. śālā; whose boundaries, anta, are being proposed), ucchriyamāṇāntikā, gonīśādikā, udbhūtavastukā, saṃmatikā; aḷi are 'explained' in 6 ff., but the glosses are not all very clear. In i.234.4 kalpika-sthāna refers to a proper place for preparing (perhaps also storing? see pratijāgarti) food, and ten akalpikāni (sthānāni) are listed 5 ff.

kalpikāra, m. (cf. kapyāri; possibly connected with Pali kappiyakāraka, Vin i.206.12, but the traditional interpretation is different; see also next), Mvy 3840; ? acc. to confused definitions in Tib., Chin., and Jap., would seem to mean some kind of servant of monks in a temple or monastery.

kalpikāraka, m., = prec.: Divy 343.15 (parallel cited with varr. Śikṣ 59.2) te Kāśyapasya samyaksaṃ-buddhasya °kā āsan (Śikṣ inserts bhikṣūṇam upasthā-pakāḥ), te bhikṣūṇam bhaiṣajyāni kvāthayamānāḥ sthālikāṃ bhāñjante (mss.; Śikṣ varies but same general sense).

kalpita, nt. (= kalpa 3, kaipana; also substantively = vikalpita 2), (false) fancy, (vain) imagining: LV 374.6 (vs) (parikṣiṇā) kalpita-vikalpitāni (dvandva cpd.) ca (certainly noui.); LV 178.1 (vs) viparita-abhūta-kalpitaiḥ, by perverted and false imaginings, parallel with rāgadoṣaiḥ (paridāhyate jagat); so better than with Foucaux as adj. modifier of rāgadoṣaiḥ; as ppp., = vikalpita, SP 281.12 (vs), read (cf. WT) anutthitāś cāpi ajāta-dharmā jātā tha bhūta viparita-kalpitāḥ, and the states of being that have never originated or been produced are falsely conceived as produced and real; kalpito, imagined, ŚsP 1534.7.

kalpiya, kalpya, m.c. kalpiya (= Pali kappiya; not recorded in this sense in Skt.), suitable, proper: Mv iii.305.5 (vs) kalpiyam (tarpaṇam, food and drink; v.l. kalpitam); Lañk 250.3 kalpiyam (bhojanam; prose); kalpiyāni (garments) ca saṃnivāsyā (q.v.) LV 271.18 (vs). Cf. kalpika, akalpya.

kalpikaroti, prepares, makes ready: °krtya MSV i.vii.3.

kalmāṣaka, adj. (= Skt. °ṣa; perhaps m.c.), spotted: SP 94.7 (vs) varṇena te kālaka tatra bhonti, kalmāṣakā...

Kalmāśadamya (= Pali Kammāśadamma), n. of a town in the Kuru country, home of Mākaṇḍika (as of Māgandhiya in Pali): Divy 515.13 ff.

Kalmāśapāda, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 9. (Cf. the same as n. of a prince changed into a rākṣasa, in Skt. and in Jm 209.9).

kalyato (°tas), adv. (cf. next; in Skt. kalyam, kalye, kālyam, kālye), early in the morning: Mv iii.177.13 (prose) °to evotthitena.

kalyasya, or kāl°, adv., = prec., q.v.; only in phrase °syaiva nivāsayitvā Mv i.34.14 (Senart kāl° with 3 mss., but 3 mss. incl. the two best kāl°; most mss. lp for ly); iii.60.3 (Senart kāl° with 1 ms., v.l. kāl°); 142.10 (both mss. kāl°); 414.5 (mss. kāl°, Senart strangely em. kāl°).

Kalyāna (= Pali id.), n. of a mythical early king: Mvy 3554; Mv i.348.8. In Mvy son of Roca and grandson of Mahāsammata; in Mv son of the latter; in Pali son of Vararoja, the son of Roja = Roca.

kalyāna-kāma, adj. (= Pali id.); -tā, state of being desirous of pleasant things (a sin in a monk): Prāt 497.1, 7 etc.

Kalyānagarbha, n. of an author: Sādh 471.18.

Kalyāṇabhadrā, n. of a householder of Benares: MSV iii.132.15; called Kalyāṇabhadrīka 132.19; 133.1.

kalyāṇa-mitra, nt., f. °ā (= Pali °mitta; there often tho not always ep. of Buddha), good friend, regularly said of one (not as a rule a Buddha) who helps in conversion or religious progress: Mv i.243.12 °mitrāṇy āgāmya; 313.5 asmākaṃ Mālinī °mitrā (f.; she was the cause of their conversion); Mvy 2380 °tra-parigrhita; Divy 347.17 °tram āgāmya; Av i.240.8 id.; °tra-tā, state of... Av i.240.2. Very common.

kalla, adj. (cf. Skt. kalla-tā acc. to Galanos, and Dhātup. kall-), stammering: Mvy 7156 = Tib. dig pa, lībs pa; AsP 427.1.

kallavāla, m. (cf. kalapāli; Skt. kalyapāla, pw 2.38, 297; AMg. kallāla), liquor-dealer: Mvy 3779.

kavacikā (Skt. kavaca; in AMg. kavaciya defined by Ratnach. as a kind of vessel, pātra), Mvy 6078 = Tib. ḥṥhab ber, war-coat, i. e. corset, battle-garment.

kavacita, denom. pple. (from Skt. kavaca; = Skt. Lex. id., and cf. kavacayaṭi, once, pw 5.251), armored, often in fig. (religious) sense: Mvy 5203; saṃnaddha-k° Mv i.313.16, 18; saṃnaddhavarṃā kavacitavarṃā ii.320.1; (susamnaddha-dṛḥhavarṃa-k° LV 82.2; saṃnaddha-dṛḥhavarṃita-k° 209.19; dṛḥhasamnaddha-varṃita-k° 218.12; armored with the (32) lakṣaṇa, said of Buddha, LV 110.8, 21; 240.13; Mv ii.299.13; 371.14; miscellaneous, LV 181.5; 311.21; 361.5; Mv ii.316.8.

kavaḍa, m. (Skt. id. in sense of mouth-rinsing water; Skt. kavala in both senses), morsel, mouthful (of food): AsP 234.5; Divy 290.23 etc. See next.

[kavaḍaka (m. or nt.) = prec. (in comp., -kavaḍakāhāra-) Gv 145.19 (prose). But 2d ed. kavaḍikāhāra; read °kārāhāra, see kavalikārāhāra.]

kavaḍa-chedakam, adv., (in the manner of) dividing morsels (of food): na ka° Mvy 8585; the complete phrase in LaVallée Poussin JRAS 1913.845, Stein ms. fragm. 1.2.11, na ka° (ms. kapaḍa°) piṇḍapātaṃ pari-bhokṣyāma iti. The Pali is kabaḷāvacchedakam, Vin. iv.196.1.

kavalikāra (-bhojana), see next.

kavalikārāhāra, m. (cf. Skt. kavalikāra, pw 4.297; = Pali kabalimkāra° or °likārā°, so Mvy (Kyoto) and Dharmas (text), or kavaḍi° (Bbh; so read in Gv 145.19, see kavaḍaka; also AbhidhK, see LaVallée Poussin's Index) or kavaḍimk° (Mvy v.l., and Mironov text), food making a lump or morsel, i. e. real, material food: Bbh 99.18; the first of four 'foods' (with sparśāhāra, manāḥ-saṃcetanāḥ, vijñānāḥ, qq.v.; Pali has same list); Mvy 2284; in Dharmas 70 five kinds, see s.vv. pratyāhāra and dhyānāhāra; Mmk 103.25 (vs) seems to contain this word, tho the metrical structure is monstrous and some words besides this are corrupt, audārika-m-ākāra-kavaḍikā(rā, not in text!)-hāraś ca kirtitāḥ, (26) sūks-māhārikasattvā vai ity uvāca tathāgataḥ; in Mmk 104.3 (vs) read kavalikāra-bhojanāḥ (= °kārāhārāḥ) for corrupt and unmetr. kavalikāhārābhojanāḥ.

kavita, denom. pple. from Skt. kavi, fanciful, thought up, invented: RP 28.15; AdP, Konow MASI 69.17.23 kavitāḥ kāveyāś (q.v.) caitāḥ (sc. pāramitās), they are fanciful, the product of poetic invention (preceded by naitā bhoṇ pāramitās tathāgatair... bhāsitāḥ, they were not spoken by the T's).

kaśambaka-jāta (also written kaś°, kas°; = Pali kasambu-jāta, with var. kasambuka-j°), acc. to Tib. on Mvy, rotten; this is consistent with the lit. mg. in Pali, applied to a tree the inside of which is rotten, see s.v. avasruta; the orig. mg. was forgotten in Pali at an early time, as the vague and inconsistent Pali commns. show; e. g. Vin. ii.236.26, comm. 1287.5 = ākiṇṇadosataya saṃkiliṭṭhajātaṃ; Pugg.p. 27.10, comm. 207.25 either kasambu = kacavara, rubbish, or = tinta-kunapa-gatam kaṣaṭa-udakam (evidently guessing): Mvy 9139 kaś° (but Mironov kaś°) = Tib. ślīn rul ba (rotten) lta bur gyur pa; follows antarpūty avasrutaḥ (all part of a longer cliché found repeatedly in Pali, e. g. in Vin. and Pugg.p., ll.cc.); MSV i.50.7 kaś°; Śikṣ 67.20 kaśambakajāto āsramaṇaḥ etc. (as in Mvy 9143-4); AsP 181.20 kas°. Could this word be related to kasavva Deśin. 2.53, said to have four mgs., (1) stokam, (2) ārdram, wet, (3) pracuram, (4) bāṣpaḥ? By the 'law of morae' kasamba could be related to Deśi kasavva.

kaśāhata, adj. (= Pali kaśā°, Vin. i.75.29), (marked by being) beaten with a whip (as punishment): MSV iv.68.6.

kaśmala, m. pl., apparently n. of a class of evil supernatural beings: Mmk 538.26 (et alibi) sarve ḍākinyāḥ sarve bhūtagrahāḥ sarve ca kaśmalāḥ vaśā bhavanti.

Kāśyapiya, see s.v. Kāśyapiya.

kaśaca, or (with v.l., and Mironov without v.l.) kaśava, nt., a high number: Mvy 7908 (cited from Gv) = Tib. cha tshogs; cf. kajāva, kalāpa.

kaśaṭa (m. or nt.; cf. kaśaṭṭa, and Pali kaśaṭa, which PTSD takes to mean dregs in Vv.comm. 288.21, but both form and mg. are doubtful), prob. dregs, in fig. sense, i. e. lowest part: parṣat-kaśaṭu (WT's ms. K' °ṭa) tāñ jñātvā SP 44.11' (vs), knowing them (to be) the dregs of the assembly (WT em. kaśāya-tām, but this is unnecessary).

kaśaṭṭa, m. (= AMg. kaśaṭṭa, refuse, dross, and cf. kaśaṭa, dregs, sediment, impurity: °ṭaḥ (Mironov °ṭāḥ, m. pl.) Mvy 7638 = Tib. snīgs ma, or tshigs ma, sediment, impurity).

kaśambaka-jāta, see kaśam°.

kaśava, see kaśaca.

kaśāya, m. (= Skt. id., BR s.v. 2c; Pali kaśāya), sediment, and so impurity, degradation, etc.: five such, āyuh-, dṛṣṭi-, kleśa-, sattva-, kalpa-k° Mvy 2335-40; (order varies) Dharmas 91; SP 43.4-5; Bbh 252.17-19; pañca-kaśāya-kāle SP 58.11; LV 248.13; pañcasu kaśāya-kāle LV 257.21 (vs); pañcakaśāye loka Śikṣ 60.14; pañcakaśāye kāle buddho... śākyamunir utpannaḥ Mmk 5.23; kaśāya-kālaḥ Bbh 15.3; ahaṃ (sc. the Buddha)... utpanna sattvāna kaśāyamadhya SP 56.8 (vs); see also s.v. kalpa-kaśāya; in vs m.c. for kāśāya, q.v., KP 117.5 (twice, once in text, the other time required by meter for text kaśāya); five k° in a different sense, stringent substances (as Skt.), products of five plants, MSV i.iv.5.

kaśāyikā, var. for kapāpikā, q.v. Seems most likely secondary (influenced by the familiar word kaśāya).

kaśmilita, acc. to Tib. distorted, in °litākṣa, adj.: Mvy 8926 = Tib. mig sle ho, (having) distorted eyes.

kasambaka-jāta, see kaśam°.

? kasina (Pali kaṣiṇa) for Skt. kṛtsna; śubha-k° seems to be the intention of the corrupt mss. at Mv ii.319.5 for śubha-kṛtsna, q.v., which Senart adopts by em.; see §§ 3.90, 111.

kasulā, v.l. °rā, adj. fem. (Senart's text prints kasulā, but he cites all mss. with u), sc. lipi, some kind of script: Mv i.135.7. Etym. and mg. unknown.

kastūrikāṇḍa, nt. (or kastur°, Mironov; cpd. of Skt. °ikā and aṇḍa; Wilson recorded °ikāṇḍaja in same mg., BR), musk: Mvy 5932 = Tib. gla rtsi.

[Kasphila, a disciple of Buddha; so both edd. LV 1.16, no v.l. It could be understood as intended for Kaphina or °la, who however occurs shortly before in the same list as Kaphila, or acc. to Tib. °na. And Tib. here reads ḥug pa, = Kausika, which I believe is the true reading; and which see.]

kahāpaṇa (= Pali id., for Skt. kārṣāpaṇa, a coin), only in °ṇa-māmsika, nt., or °kā, f., or °kaṃ, adv. (so read for Senart's text °māsikam, see esp. the ms. reading at iii.260.14), cutting from the body pieces of flesh the size of a small coin, a form of torture, called in Pali kahāpaṇaka: Mv iii.258.18 (kāmaṃ) khalu me śākyā kāyaṃ tikṣṇena śastreṇa kahāpaṇa-māmsikam (°kāṃ?) pi chin-detsuḥ; in Pali lists of tortures, e. g. MN i.87.16, kahā-paṇakam is regularly preceded by balisa-mamsikam (bal°), see s.v. bilīṣa-; in Mv iii.260.14, verse version of the same passage, Senart reads kahāpaṇa-, but the single ms. obviously read kārsāpaṇa-māmsikam (°kām°), i. e. the Skitzed form; see this, and kārsāpaṇa-chedikam, another expression for the same.

kahi, kahiṃ (cit), as loc. of ka-, see § 21.22; sometimes varies in mss. with karhi.

kāmsa- (false Skt., instead of kāmsya, for MIndic kāmsa-, q.v.), brass; brazen: LV 318.22 kāmsa-pātrī (in Mv kāmsa-pātrī, q.v.); Bbh 28.25 kāmsa-kūṭa (v.l. kāmsa°), = Pali kāmsa-kūṭa-, one who cheats by (substituting) brass (for gold; followed by -tulā-kūṭāḍibhiḥ, see tulākūṭa).

kāmsika, adj. (from kāmsa or kāmsa, qq.v., plus -ika), made of brass: SP 50.15 kāmsikā... (sugatāna bimbā).

kāmsikā (AMg. kamsiā, also kamsia; see Sheth), prob. a musical instrument (so AMg.; so pw 7.331; Divy Index vessel) made of brass: Divy 529.23 tadā tvaṃ sopānake °kām pātayisyasiti; 24 °kā pātītā.

kāka-cañcuka, nt., a knife shaped like a crow's beak: Mvy 8976; so Tib. gri bya rog gi mchu lta bu.

Kāka-jātaka, nt., Crow-Jātaka: Mv iii.129.17, colophon to story beginning 125.10, = Pali Supatta-Jāt., No. 292.

kākaṇi (nt.?), f. °ñī (Pali °ṇa, nt., and °ṇikā; Skt. kākiṇī, °ṇī, °ṇikā, and acc. to Galanos kākaṇi), a small weight (of a valuable substance): ekaratnakākaṇiḥ pratipādītā Gv 205.9; a small coin: Mvy 9375, in both edd. printed °ṇi without ending (nt.?): Divy 396.6 °ṇih, 8 °ṇī (nom. sg.).

Kākavarṇin, n. of an ancestor of Aśoka: Divy 369.10 f.

kāka-vāñī, lit. crow's speech, n. of a kind of magic: Divy 636.28 °ṇī ca mantram ca indrajālam ca bhañjani. (Qy: ventriloquism, as sounding non-human?).

kāka-śankin, adj., lit. afraid of crows, i. e. easily frightened or suspicious: °kino hi rājānaḥ MSV ii.5.2; 72.6.

kāka-śira(s), adj. (Pali kākasīsa, ep. of the horse Valāha(ka), Jāt ii.129.9), crow-headed, ep. of the horse Valāha: Mv iii.85.11 °śiro, nom. sg.

kākāsyaka, adj., in full bloom (of a flower): Mvy 6231 = Tib. me tog (flower) kha phyē ba, or kha bye ba, both = phullita, vikāsita; ed. implausibly suggests em. prakāsyaka; Minayev is cited in ed. note as having explained 'become open like a crow's mouth' (kāka-āsyā).

? Kāki, n. of a piśāci: Māy 238.20.

kākhorda, m. (Iranian loanword, Burrow, BSOS 7.781), a kind of evil spirit, often associated with vetālas (vetādas): Mvy 4375 = Tib. byad, an evil demon: Suv 3.2 (vs) °da-dāruṇa-grahe; 157.8 (vs) °da-graha-dāruṇā; 104.4 and 107.8 sarva-kākhorda-vetāḍāḥ (107.8 °ḍān); Śikṣ 192.8 (daṇḍantiśāstrāṇi) kākhorda-śāstrāṇi vādavidyā-śā° (transl. charms for procuring death, but better devil-lore); Gv 214.6 (vs) vetālamāntra tha kakhorda (m.c. ka-) sadā prayuktā; 450.25 kākhorda-vetāda-pratiḡhāteṣu; Sādh 309.11; 406.10; Māy 220.18 etc.

kāñkṣati (= Pali kañkhati; cf. kāñkṣa, and ff.; in Skt. only desires; see also ākāñkṣati), doubts: Mv i.85.12 buddhe dharme ca samghe ca na kāñkṣanti...; worries, Mv ii.55.21, read bhujjāhi mā (so v.l.) kāñkṣiṣu (see § 30.16) bhojam (read bhojyam? Senart bhogam) uttamam; cf. corresponding Pali vs Jāt. v.397.5 mā vicārayi = mā kāñkṣiṣu, don't worry; Sukh 99.6, read prob. mā kāñkṣayatha, don't doubt, see s.v. ākāñkṣati; dvaḡoḥ kāñkṣati MSV i.274.2, he was troubled regarding two (which he didn't find).

kāñkṣā (also °ṣa-, m. or nt.? = Pali kañkhā; in Skt. only mg. desire; cf. prec. and next; this word and relatives are also used as in Skt., tho much less commonly, cf. dharmakāñkṣā, desire for dh°, SP 258.6; kāñkṣiṇo, desirous, LV 399.8), doubt: °ṣam tatha samśayam ca SP 49.1 (vs); very common, e.g. SP 61.8 (°ṣam ca śokam ca jahāti); 125.12; 223.1; 337.2; LV 87.13; 370.16; Mvy 2129 (foll. by vimati; so also Divy 297.28; 328.1; RP 57.19; Gv 4.26; 32.25; Sukh 37.12 etc.; so often Pali kañkhā with vimati); Mv i.162.7 (here v.l. kāñkhā); ii.308.19; 374.11; 390.23; iii.55.11; 394.16 (misprinted ka°); Divy 573.5; RP 12.10; Bhad 54; niḡkāñkṣa (niḡk°), free from doubt, Mvy 364; SP 63.8; 70.11; 71.5; tirṇa-kāñkṣa, id., Mv iii.61.7; 62.12; Divy 617.14; Av i.233.5; apparently a-stem, m. or nt. (if not misprint or error of tradition), RP 8.10 (prose!) kāñkṣa-prahāṇam, riddance of doubt.

kāñkṣāyita-tā, f., and -tva, nt. (= Pali kañkhāyitatta, nt.; abstract from denom. pple. derived from kāñkṣā, Pali kañkhā; cf. prec. two and next), state of doubt: -tā, AsP 454.10; -tva, Av i.228.6 ff.; AsP 454.9.

kāñkṣita, adj. (= Pali kañkhita; ppp. to kāñkṣati), affected by doubt: Divy 69.18 (śrotṭṇam...) °tānām (... vyapanaya samśayam).

Kāṅgi, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.18.

kāca (1) m. or nt. (Pali, and Skt. Lex., id.; acc. to BR strictly the cord used on a carrying-pole for suspending burdens), carrying-pole, pingo (for carrying burdens at each end): Jm 137.4 (vs) svasthāvabaddhāv adhiropya kācam; 8 (prose) tau... kācenādāya; (2) see s.v. Kāci.

kācaka, m. (acc. to Wilson, glass; stone; Skt., Pali kāca), Mvy 5971, acc. to one Tib. definition = ḡchiñ bu, spurious, glass jewel.

Kācaṅgaliya, adj., of (the town) Kacaṅgalā: Av ii.41.5 °ye vanaṣaṇḍe.

kācamaṇika, m. (= Skt. °ṇi; pejorative -ka), (cheap crystal, (worthless) quartz-gem): Gv 52.37; KP 85.2 (prose; vaiḍūryam...) °ṇikān abhibhavati; 91.1, 2 (prose). In verses, 85.6; 91.7, kācamaṇi.

Kācarā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.23.

kācilindika = kācilindika, q.v.

kācākṣa, adj., Mvy 8836, lit. glass-eyed; Tib. śel mig, glass-eye, acc. to Das used for spectacles. Does it orig. mean having a glass eye, literally? Or glassy-eyed, perh. = staring-eyed (so Chin.)? Occurs in a list of monstrous or deformed characteristics; followed by skandhākṣa, q.v.

kācilindika, nt. (also kāca°, Mvy 5879, both edd.; Mv i.152.16; ii.29.13; 262.4 (mss.); and v.l. i.226.10; the readings kākaciñcika, kāciñ°, cited by BR from LV, are worthless corruptions found once each in Calc. but in no mss.), n. of some kind of very soft textile stuff: Mvy 5879 °kam (Tib. transliterates, adding gos, general word for cloth, clothing); mṛḍu(ka)-kācilindika-praveṇi- Mv i.152.16 = 226.10 (kāci°, v.l. kāca° = ii.29.13; Mv i.235.19 (text troublesome, but has kācilindika without v.l., clearly applied to clothes); °dika-mṛḍu-sama-cittatām Mv ii.261.2; 262.4 (so with mss., except that in 261.2 they read pama for sama); mṛḍukā keṣā kācilindika-sāḍṛṣā (m.c. for sāḍṛṣā) Mv ii.307.2 (vs); °dika-mṛḍu-sparśopama-cittā Mv iii.225.5; °dika-prāvaraṇa- Śikṣ 208.11; very often in cpd. kācilindika-sukha-samsparśa (Bhvr.) ? Kāci, pl., adopted by Lévi Māy 68 (Kāciṣu, loc.) as n. of a people or region, but apparently by his own em.; if I understand him, all his mss. and Chin. and Tib. transl. vary (Kāca, Kāsi, Kāñci, etc.). Since this form seems unrecorded, it would seem better to have adopted some form supported by at least one authority.

kāñcana, m. (1) gold (in Skt. only nt.): LV 122.16 (vs) nā bhāsi itaraḡ sa kāñcana (read °ṇaḡ, m.c.) prabhāsirahitah; (2) n. of a kind of tree (in Skt. Lexx. applied to several trees; Pkt. kañcana, m., acc. to Sheth a kind

kāñcana-cakra, nt., gold-orb, under the earth (see La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK iii.138 ff., esp. kāñcanamayī bhūmi 140): Divy 197.8 (yāvati bhūmir ākrāntā adho 'śitiyojanasahasrāni) yāvāt kāñcana-cakram . . . ; same passage, with a few slight variants, cited Śikṣ 148.(14)–15, from some unnamed work of the Sarvāstivāda school, doubtless MSV, tho not found there in i-iii; cf. Winternitz, Hist. Ind. Lit., 2 (1933).284–5. The same is called Kāñcanamayī bhūmi, q.v., in Kv.

Kāñcanaparvata, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.1.

Kāñcanamayī bhūmi = Kāñcana-cakra, q.v., where AbhidhK. is cited: Kv 24.22 f. sā Kāñcanamayī nāma bhūmir asti yad uttarayām Kāñcanamayām bhūmyām gatvā Avalokiteśvaro . . . 'dhomukhānām sat-tvānām dharmam desayati sma.

Kāñcanamālā, (1) n. of the wife of Kunāla: Divy 406.19; 413.3, 22; (2) n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.14.

Kāñcanavarṇa, n. of a king, previous incarnation of the Buddha: RP 24.2. (Not the same as Kanakavarṇa, q.v.)

? kāñcu (cf. Pkt., acc. to Sheth, kañcu as well as kañcu = Skt. kañcuca, woman's bodice; perhaps read kañcu, but not kāñci, girdle, with Senart's em.), woman's bodice: Mv ii.59.15 (vs) (kā dṛṣṭāsi . . .) sihāṅgadā (v.l. siṃh°, q.v.) kāñcu (so mss.) pramṛṣṭa (or prasṛṣṭa with v.l.?) dhāraṇī (prob. divide so).

kāñcukiya, m. (occurs in Skt., see pw, which calls it a false reading for kañc°, q.v.; acc. to Tib. on LV, e. g. 186.2, = ñuñ rum, more specifically eunuch), eunuch (? Skt. kañc°, usually defined less specifically as attendant in a harem): LV 42.17; 135.3; 186.2; 198.7, 8; Mv ii.422.4 kubja-vāmana-kirāta-varṣavara-kāñcukiyeḥi; 426.9, 10; 427.13–14 rājā varṣavarām kāñcukiyaṃś ca pṛcchati; 427.15.

-kāṭaka, nt., in pātra-kāṭakam Mvy 8952, ring or which the almsbowl is fastened, = Tib. lhuñ gzed (bzed, gzhag paḥi gdu bu, ring for putting almsbowl. BR cite the passage with kaṭaka (as in Skt. and Pali), but Mironov also kā°; no v.l. in either ed. (but Index to Kyoto ed. cites both forms). However a form found with the same mg. in Divy and Av is -karaka or -kara, qq.v. On the other hand, Divy likewise has a form kaṭṭaka, q.v., clearly meaning the same thing, which raises doubts as to the etym. Cf. kaṭaka.

kāḍa, adj. (= Pali kāḷa, Skt. kāla), black: Prāt 496.6. See next.

kāḍisāma, read prob. kāḍa°, adj. (= Pali kāḷasāma; cf. prec.; Skt. kāla plus śyāma), some kind of dark color, acc. to Chin. version of Prāt reported as black; acc. to PTSD on the Pali, dark gray: Prāt 517.7 (a monk must make the color of a new robe either) nilām vā kardamo vā kā°mo vā; same passage in Pali, Vin iv.120.22 nilām vā kaddamaṃ vā kāḷasāmaṃ vā; old comm. glosses yaṃ kiñci kāḷasāmakam (!).

Kāṇa, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.24.

kāṇaka, adj. (= Skt. kāṇa; pejorative ka; or m.c.?), one-eyed: SP 113.11 (vs) vañkāś ca ye kāṇaka kuñṭhakāś ca; in SP 94.13 (vs) KN bibhatsakāḥ kāṇaku (nom. pl.) kañḍakāś ca, but read with WT for the last kuñṭhakāś ca, and possibly before it kāṇa ku-(kuñṭh°), see kuñṭhaka. -kāṇḍaka (= AMg. kaṇḍaka, kaṇḍaya; Skt. kāṇḍa, perh. with dim. ka?), small ptece, in trikāṇḍakaḥ Mvy 6716 (lit. rendering in Tib.; real mg. unknown).

kāṇḍa-kāṇḍi or °dī, in °dim kṛtvā, perh. making an accumulation of injuries (lit. darts, Skt. kāṇḍa in mg. arrow): MSV ii.6.11; Tib. mdaḥ dañ mdaḥ dag hdres par byas nas, making darts with darts in mixture, i. e. adding one injury to another.

kāṇḍarika, m. (v.l. kaṇḍ°, but no v.l. in Mironov), Mvy 8783, defined by Tib. smad ḥchal, which is reported to mean prostitution, dissoluteness (and Jap. one who frequents prostitutes); MSV iv.68.11. But Chin. one who is defective in the lower parts; and the surrounding terms in Mvy and MSV (khañja, khela, kāṇa, etc.) are all adjectives referring to physical deformities, thus supporting the Chin. The Tib. word smad means lower, and may be used of the lower limbs; ḥchol (ḥchal) ba may mean to be confused, deranged.

Kāṇḍyāyana, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.33.

Kātyāyana (= Pali Kaccāyana, Kaccāna; occurs Mv iii.382.13 and Divy 635.15 as n. of a brahmanical gotra, as in Skt.; perhaps the same is that mentioned Lañk 361.1 as the gotra of the Buddha Viraja 2, q.v.), n. of an important disciple of the Buddha (Sākyamuni): Mv i.76.5 ff. (here he is made to deliver a discourse on the ten bhūmi); SP 152.3; Divy 11.29; 550.2; identical with Mahākātyāyana, which is commoner; in Divy 573.8 he appears to have the epithet (Ārya-) Kāśyapa, q.v. (or are they different persons?); Kātyāyanāvavāda MPS 29.15 (see Waldschmidt, p. 284 n. 6).

kāntāra, m. or nt. (see Gray, ZDMG 60.360, citing this word from Vāsavadattā, expl. in comm. by durbhikṣā; Pali kantāra, cpd. with prec. dubbhikkna; said by PTSD to mean hardship, trouble in general): famine: Av ii.83.8 tena khalu samayena durbhikṣam abhūt kṛcchram, kāntāra-duriambhaḥ piṇḍako yācanakena; Kv 47.15 nāyaiva māmsabhakṣaṇam viṃṣati-varṣāni paripūrṇāni kāntārasya ca pratipannasya ca nātra kiñcid annapānaṃ samvidyate; 47.20; MSV i.237.15; in SP 81.11 perhaps in more general sense of troubles, difficulty, disaster: parimukṭāḥ sarvabhayopadrava-kāntārebhyo nirvṛtisukhaprāptāḥ.

Kāpiñjaleya, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical school (of the Chandogas): Divy 637.27. (Cf. Kāpiñjalāda, pw.)

Kāpilavastava, adj. (= Pali °vatthava), of Kapilavastu: Mahāsamāj., Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4.167.14 vanam °vam; 169.2 id.

kāpileya (cf. Skt. kapila), adj. ? drawn by tawny oxen ? or subst., tawny cattle?: Mv iii.50.14 (in description of luxurious state abandoned by Kāśyapa on taking up religious life), ekūnaṃ ca hālasahasraṃ bhadrām kāpileyaṃ (could be acc. pl. m. or sg. f.) suvarṇasirikām (so Senart em., cf. hala-sira; but mss. suvarṇasamikā or (?) °samvikā) avahāya.

Kāpiśi, n. of a locality: Māy 83; 94; cf. Lévi p. 102; the name occurs in Pāṇ. 4.2.99, which Lévi fails to note.

kāpuruṣa, m. (= Pali kāpurisa; in Skt. apparently used only in sense of coward, contemptible person), evil, wicked man: Mv i.131.7 prāpyo (mss. °ya) khalv ayam mama kāpuruṣo bhasmikartum (said by a nāga-king of a snake-charmer who was at his mercy).

kāpotaka, m., acc. to Tib. (phug ron) = Skt. kapota(ka), pigeon: LV 248.20 (prose) sāsarikāpotaka-saṃdam-śikotsṛṣṭasamprākṣalakaiḥ (of a certain type of ascetics, or their practices, in a list of such types). The ā is strange, and I am not sure that we should not divide sāsarikā-potaka, the young of female cranes; but Tib. is very clear. (AMg. kāvoya, a type of ascetics, and kāvoya, 'taking food with great care, like pigeons,' Ratnach., seem not to be relevant here.) Foucaux: qui mangent, après l'avoir lavé, ce qui, mordu par les grues et les pigeons, en a été refeté; so Tib kāma, nt. (so cited Skt. Lexe. object of desire, BR; acc. to PTSD nt. as well as m. in Pali), (object of desire): LV 215.7 (vs) bhukta kāmāni (so Lefm. with only ms. A, the best; the others kāmān imāṃ which is bad in meter and sense and seems an attempt to 'correct' the form) rūpās ca śabdās ca . . . nānāvīdha.

kāmākārika-tā, condition (or power) of making at will: Mv iii.335.14 (repeated 16, 18, etc.) (idaṃ rūpaṃ ce, v.l. ced, bhikṣavaḥ ātmā bhaviṣyat,) na ca (so read with mss., Senart va) rūpam ābādhāya duḥkhāya samvarteta, r̥dhīac ca rūpe kāmākārikatā, evam me rūpam bhavatu evam mā bhavatu (etc.), ... one could make what he pleased in regard to his form ... See in Pali Vin. i.13.19 ff., essentially the same passage (but without this word).

kāma-guṇa, m. pl. (= Pali id., defined as the objects of the five senses, e. g. AN iii.411.4 ff.), qualities of desire, regularly five in number, in some passages clearly understood as the objects of the five senses as in Pali; so Mv iii.417.2 pañca kāmāguṇe (n. pl.; read °nā?) loke manah-ṣaṣṭhā praveditā (so read with mss.), tatra me vigato chando ...; SP 79.8 (mā . . . 'bhiramadhvam hīneṣu) rūpa-śabda-gandha-rasa-sparśeṣu; atra hi yūyam traidhātuke 'bhiratāḥ pañca-kāmāguṇa-sahagatayā tṛṣṇayā dahyatha; yet in Mv ii.116.17 pañca kāmāguṇām (acc. pl.), specifically listed as nātyam gītām vāditam tūryam striyo; the fact seems to be that the phrase became a stock formula or cliché, often used without definite association with any list; so Mvy 5378, 7373 mentions the 5 kāmāguṇa, but never lists them (in 871 even the number 5 is lacking). The old tradition that they are the objects of the 5 senses never died out, however; see LaVallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. iii.86 note 2. With the number 5 they are mentioned SP 78.12; 111.6; 213.6; LV 186.19; 215.3; Mv i.31.5; ii.170.13, etc.; without the number e. g. LV 45.4; 173.19 and 22 (cited Śikṣ 204.7 and 10); Mv ii.142.5, 12. kāmāṅgama, adj. or subst. m. and f. °mā (= Pali id., Childers, without reference; cf. Skt. kāmaga and Lex. kāmāgāmin, kāmāṅgāmin; all these in mg. 1), (1) going at will, freely, where one lists: Śikṣ 32.15 (sarvasattvā) kāmāṅgamā bhavantu sarvatragāminibuddhabhūmipratilabdhaḥ; (2) going according to the desire (of someone else, sc. a master); a servant: Divy 302.26 yeṣāṃ ahaṃ deśaḥ preṣyo nirdēśyo bhujīśyo nayena kāmāṅgamaṃ deśam pūjyaś ca bhaviṣyāmi; Gv 412.7 (aham te . . .) yathecchā-paribhogyā yena kāmāṅgamā sarvatratyāntānugāminī . . . sarvakāryotsukā.

kāmācchanda, m. (= Pali id.), desire for lusts, one of the 5 nīvaraṇa, q.v. (as in Pali): Mvy 2218.

Kāmada, m. or nt., n. of a locality: Māy 93.

Kāmadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.14.

kāma-dhātu, m. (= Pali id.), the world (region, sphere) of desire, including all states of existence up to and including that of the paranirmitavaśavartin gods; the gods who live in this region are called kāmāvacara (see deva): very common, e. g. Mv ii.314.12; LV 45.15; 48.17; 299.20; Jm 192.11; esp. contrasting with rūpa-dhātu and arūpya-dhātu, qq.v., LV 428.19; Mvy 3072; KP 94.4.

kāmādhātuka, adj., of the kāma-dhātu, q.v.: Gv 203.8 (sarva-) kāmādhātuka-deva-manuṣyātīkrānta-.

kāmāmdada, adj. (cf. -dada), desire-giving; with vr̥kṣa, = Skt. kalpavrkṣa: Gv 495.3 °dada-vrkṣa-bhūtam (bodhicittam). See also kāma-dada, s.v. -dada.

Kāmarūpin, n. of a mountain: °pī Divy 450.10; 455.29.

Kāmarūpiṇī, n. of a kind of magic: Divy 636.27.

kāma-vitaraka, m. (= Pali °vitakka), (sinful) thinking on lusts: Mv i.145.16 = 202.13 = ii.6.10.

Kāmaśreṣṭha (cf. Pali Kāmaseṭṭha, n. of a yakṣa), (1) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 236.27; (2) n. of a gandharva: Suv 162.4.

Kāmāpavādakasūtra, nt., n. of a work: Śikṣ 76.16.

kāmāvacara, m. (rarely f., see below; = Pali id.; cf. -avācara), dwelling in the kāma-dhātu or the realm of desire, ep. of a group (regularly six; ṣaṭ-kāmāvacarā devāḥ Dharmas 127; LV 290.2) of classes of gods (for list see s.v. deva): LV 30.5; 59.17 (they are kāmādhātu-stha 59.11); 83.6 (read °cara-deve°); 99.8; 273.16; 290.2; 300.3; 302.5 (here a list of some of their 'overlords'); 369.12; 413.5; Divy 140.18; 203.11; 327.29; Mv i.159.6; 209.6 = ii.11.13; i.265.18; ii.2.8; iii.223.8; Mvy 6895; Suv 10.3; Mmk 69.8; Gv 121.22; Bbh 295.23; Karmav 30.13; °vacarā aparaso LV 353.9; seemingly used in a broader sense (as also in Pali) to refer to any beings 'subject to desires' Mvy 2154.

kāminikā (= Skt. kāmīnī), a loving woman (endearing dim., § 22.34); applied to daughters of Māra: LV 322.20 (vs) prekṣasu nātha (perhaps read prekṣa sunātha, § 30.16) su-kāminikām; 323.14 (vs) na hi bhūjasi kāmīnikām.

The apparent composition, kāya-uddharṣaṇa, should mean something like enlivener of the body!

1 kāra, m. sg. or (oftener) pl. (= Pali id.; pw 7.331 identifies with Vedic kāra, hymn of praise, but BHS always makes it object of a form of karoti), homage, act of worship: sg. kārah kṛto Divy 133.17; (blend-form in mss.) kārāḥ kṛto (!) 134.1, 6, 10; otherwise only pl., kārāḥ kṛtā(h) Divy 133.12, 22 (mss.); 192.19; 539.10; Av i.349.13; te kārāḥ kṛtās (note masc. pronoun) ii.108.1; kārā (for °rāḥ) kṛtā a- Divy 289.6; 583.29; kārā na kṛtā yena Divy 82.15; 88.18; kārāḥ kartavyā iti Av i.308.7; kārān, acc. pl. rences may be corruptions; standardly the word is m. pl.

2 kāra = Skt. kāla, time (cf. -kārika and vikāra for vikāla, q.v.): LV 79.18 (vs) kāru (only one inferior ms. kālu) deva pratikṣa, await the (proper) time, sire!

-kāraaka, see puruṣa-k°.

-kārakam, adv., quasi-gerund, ifc., making . . .; see §§ 22.5; 35.5: ālopa-kārakam, making a morsel of it, Mv i.339.16; 344.14 etc. (prose); na cuccu-k°, not making the noise cuccu, Mvy 8577 (similar onomatopoeic forms 8578–8580); na sikhapṛthak-kārakam 8582; nāvānakārakam, not making dispraise, not complaining(ly), 8583. So also in Pali, e.g. capucapu-kār° Vin. ii.221.35.

kāraṇa, cause (as in Skt.); a few special uses: (1) Lañk 9.18 f. sarva-kāraṇa-tirṭhya-vyapeta-buddheḥ (Lañkādhipateḥ), prob. having his intellect turned away from the heretics (who are characterized by the view that) all things are caused (Suzuki's version is impossible); (2) acc. adv., for the sake (of, gen.): SP 74.8 (prose) āgacchata (read prob. °tha with most mss.) śighram teṣām kāraṇam nirdhāvata (°tha), come, run forth quickly for the sake of (getting) these (toys)!; (3) loc., quasi-adv., used in a way resembling Skt. sthāne, with good reason: Jm 223.20 (vs) jagad idam avakīrṇam kāraṇe tvadyaśobhiḥ.

kāraṇā (= Pali id.; essentially Buddhist word, tho cited in Skt. Lexx. and once from Daśak., BR s.v.), torture, torment, esp. applied to torments of hell: with kārayati, causes to undergo, inflicts, °ṇām kārayanti Divy 376.12; °ṇāḥ (so with mss.) sattvānām ārabdhāḥ kārayitum id. 16; kāraṇāvīṣeṣāḥ (in hell) pratiprasrabhyante, are allayed, quieted, Divy 68.3; 138.10; 265.23 (°srabdhāḥ); 568.15; Av i.4.10–11; 10.10–11, etc.; kāraṇābhiḥ kārīto, tortured with torments (in hell and elsewhere) Śikṣ 186.11; of earthly torments, kāraṇāś ca kārenti LV 259.19 (vs), they make him (the Bodhisattva, practising austerities) undergo (physical) torments; ātmanāḥ kāraṇām kārayasi Śikṣ 39.3; you inflict torture on yourself.

-kāraṇika, adj. or subst. m. (not recorded in this mg.; from Skt. kāraṇa plus -ika), one who holds . . . to be the cause (of existence, etc.): Jm 149.24 īśvara-k°, one who holds God to be the Cause.

? kāraṇī, adj. f. or subst. assimilated in gender to f. subject, cause, thing that gives rise to (gen.): Lañk 109.4 yadī . . . māyāprakhya bhrāntis tenānyasyā bhrānteh (read bhrāntiḥ with all mss. except one bhrāntyāḥ) kāraṇī bhaviṣyati. But kāraṇībhaviṣyati (one word) may be intended; not however stem kāraṇin* with Suzuki, Index. Cf. kāraṇī.

kāraṇḍava, m. (in Pali chaff, rubbish; cf. next), a kind of grain: Mvy 5669 = Tib. sre da, a kind of corn; confirmed by context (list of cereals).

kāraṇḍavaka, m. (cf. prec.; Pali °va, chaff, rubbish), chaff as symbol of worthlessness, fig. bodhisattva-k°, a worthless B.: AsP 394.17 °ko veditavyaś cauraḥ śramaṇa-veṣeṇa.

Kāraṇḍavyūha, n. of a work: Kv 13.20; 23.6 °hamahāyāna-sūtra-ratna-rāja-, etc.; Sādh 30.21.

kārayati, with object kāraṇām or °ṇāḥ, causes to undergo (torments), inflicts; hence once with instr. vividhābhiś ca kāraṇābhiḥ kārīto Śikṣ 186.11 (prose), inflicted with various tortures (see s.v. kāraṇā). Cf. kāritaka, kāritakāraṇa.

kāravālika, m. (Skt. karavāla plus -ika), (royal) sword-bearer: Mvy 3729 (in list of royal officers).

kārasūtra, see kāla°.

kārākāra, m., n. of a samādhī, see kāryakara.

Kārā-dvīpa (m. or nt.), n. of a dvīpa: Jm 34.16.

kārānusāri(n) = kālānu°, q.v. (with r for l in kāla, black; cf. kārasūtra, and kāra = kāla, time), a kind of sandalwood: -ri- (in comp.) LV 274.7 (all mss., both edd.); Mv iii.261.4 (so mss., Senart em. kāl°).

kārāpaka, m. (cf. Pali id.; to kārāpayati, with -aka), he who causes to act, used in a formulaic list of terms applied to the (heretically alleged) ātman, and as such rejected: Mvy 4678 (follows kāraka); Mv iii.447.11, 16 (kārako vā) °pako vā utthāpako vā . . . ; ŚP 120.18 °pakah °paka iti vyavahriyate sa ca yathābhūtam parigaveṣyamāno nopalābhyate.

kārāpaṇa, nt. (= Pali id.; to next, with suffix -ana), the causing to be built: Karmav 39.10 caityastūpa-kārāpaṇam.

kārāpayati, and °peti (Pali id.), see Chap. 43, s.v. kṛ (4).

kārāhva (Skt. kārā-āhvā), what is called a prison: Mv iii.105.9 (vs), read with mss. bandhasya katham mukto vacanena kārāhvam abhikrameya, how, having been freed from a bond by a word, would one enter into what is called a prison (viz. sensual life)? Meter is to be sure bad, but the sense is perfect; Senart em. wrongly.

-kārīka, adj. (= Skt. kālīka; cf. 2 kāra), ifc., belonging to a . . . time: LV 40.11 (prose) nānāpuṣpaphalavṛkṣā nānartukārīkās (only one inferior ms. °kālīkās), . . . trees belonging to the time of various seasons, or to various seasons and times.

Kārīṇī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.9.

kāritaka, adj. (kārīta, ppp. of kārayati in sense of karoti, § 38.6, plus -ka, perhaps specifying, § 22.39, or perhaps m.c.), (the one that had been) constructed: Mmk 640.7 (vs) paśyate . . . caityam kāritakam hi taiḥ, saw the caitya that had been constructed by them.

kārīta-kāraṇa, adj. (on kārīta, ppp. of kārayati = karoti, cf. prec.), having performed his duties, done what he had to do, said of a Buddha (or a disciple, iii.60.7, or Pratyekabuddha, i.301.7) compared to an elephant: nāgo viya (iii.64.6 yathā) kāritakāraṇo Mv i.237.10; 301.7; iii.60.7; 64.6. Senart, i note p. 560, aptly compares SP 1.7 (arhadbhīḥ . . .) mahānāgaḥ kṛtakṛtyaiḥ kṛtakāraṇayair.

kāritra, nt. (apparently based on Skt. cāritra, blended with forms of kar-, kār-), action, operation: Mvy 6698; 7250 (Tib. byed pa, action); Bṛ 261.4; 372.5, 10; repeatedly in AbhidhK, see LaVallée Poussin's Index; repeatedly in Abhisamayālamkāraloka (GOS 62), e. g. 276.18 kāritraduṣkaratā; 362.4 (vs) paścīmaṃ gatīkāritram idaṃ kāritralakṣaṇam.

[kārīṣi? form and mg. doubtful, in refrain pāda: kārīṣi (so the mss. seem clearly to indicate; sometimes they read °ṣu, and other vv.ll.) dattvā jīnacetiyeṣu Mv ii.384.17, repeated 21, 385.3, 7, 11, 19, 23. A parallel vs occurring in the midst of these, 385.15, has (na) tailavindum jīnastūpe dattvā; and in a following vs 386.1 tailasya vindum jīnacetiyeṣu occurs. This suggests that possibly tālīśa (°ṣu, for °śam?) should be read, = Pali tālīśa, tālīśa, a 'powder or ointment' (PTSD) made from the plant named in Skt. tālīśa; tālīśa occurs, perhaps in this mg. (associated with tailam), in Mvy 5787, see s.v. It seems at any rate appropriate; some oily substance used in decorating a caitya is indicated.]

kāruṇa (nowhere recorded), (1) adj. (= Skt. kāruṇika), compassionate: Mv i.179.6 (vs, metr. indifferent) tato lokānukampārtham kāruṇo (mss. °nā) mahadvīśāradaḥ; (2) subst. nt. (= Skt. kāruṇya), compassion: Mv i.51.2-3 . . . samyaksambuddhasya mahatā kāruṇena (no v.l.) samānvāgatasya sattveṣu mahākāruṇam (no v.l.) okrami.

Kāruṇika, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.15.

kāruṇyatā (= Pali kāruṇātā; Skt. °nya plus tā, § 22.43), compassion: Divy 194.16.

kārpāsaka, nt. (= Skt. °sa), cotton cloth: Mvy 9164 °kam.

kārpāsika, m. (= AMg. kappāsia; one doubtful Skt. occurrence, pw 6.300), dealer in cotton goods: Mv iii.442.14 °kā, n. pl., in a list of merchants and artisans. Cf. karpāsika, used in very similar list.

Kāryakara, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 558. In same list ŚP 1419.14 kārākāra; read kārākāra? or kārya° as in Mvy? Explained by yatra samādhau sthītvā sarvasamādhinām kāragatām kriyām karoti.

Kāryatāvicāra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.6. kārvaṭika, m. (Skt. karvaṭa plus -ika; cf. karvaṭaka), chief of a village (mountain hamlet?): Divy 445.23; 446.5, 20; 531.11; in MSV i.102.13 read nyatamaḥ kārvāṭiko vyutthitāḥ (text has nt. forms), cf. 17 taṃ kārvāṭikam nirjitya.

kārṣa, m. (Skt. Gr.), plowman: Divy 463.8 (prose) (pañca). kārṣa-śātāny, prob. error; in the sequel, 463.11 ff., repeatedly replaced by kārṣaka (Skt.); same passage MSV i.71.3 ff. kārṣika (Skt., KSS.) thruout.

kārṣāpaṇa-chedikam, adv. (or acc. sg. of °ka or °kā?), in °kam vā chidyamānasya Śiḥs 182.5, or being cut up into small pieces the size of a coin, a form of torture; = next, and see kahāpaṇa (-māṃsika).

kārṣāpaṇa-māṃsika, see kahāpaṇa (-mā°).

kārṣikā (or °ka; cf. Skt. karṣa), a small weight, app. = karṣa: Lañk 31.9 (vs) karṣo hi dharaṇāḥ kyantaḥ, palam vai kati kārṣikā (one ms. °kam; must be n. pl.), how many dharaṇas make a karṣa, how many kārṣikās (°kas?) a pala? (Tib. however is reported to render kārṣikā by zho, which is one-tenth of a sraṇ, the word used for karṣa in the same line.)

-kārṣi, see gomaya-k°.

1 kāla (adj., black, as in Skt.), (1) (m.? = kālaka 3, which is more usual in this sense and which see), black-head, pimple: Mvy 309 vyapagata-tilaka-kāla-gātra, one of the anuyyañjana; so Kyōtō ed., but Mironov °kālaka; (2) n. of some plant: sayyathāpi nāma kālaparvāṇi vā (v.l. adds aṣītaparvāṇi vā) evam eva me aṅgāni abhūnsuḥ Mv ii.125.12, and similarly 126.17; 128.5; 129.7; see discussion s.v. āṣītakā; in parallel LV 254.8 kālaparvāṇi (but most mss. omit), which agrees with the corresp. Pali text kālapabbāni MN i.80.12; 245.27, but the comm. on the former reads kāla-pabbāni (as in Mv) and repeats the same form in its gloss (kālavalliyā vā samdhīṭṭhānesu); it may mean the same plant designated as kālā in Skt. (and Pali); (3) (= Pali Kāla, Mahākāla; cf. Kālaka 4 and Kālīka) n. of a nāga king, who came in contact with the Bodhisattva shortly before he reached the bodhi-tree: Mv ii.265.7 ff.; 302.14; 304.5; 308.4; 397.9 ff.; 400.10 ff.; after the enlightenment he saluted the Buddha and invited him to his home, where B. spent the fourth week after the enlightenment, Mv iii.300.10 ff.; mentioned Mvy 3251; Māy 221.29; (4) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 7; 236.10; (5) apparently n. of Asita, or epithet given him (synonym in literal mg.), see Asita (2): Mv ii.37.13; (6) n. of a disciple of Buddha (doubtless intends one of the several disciples named Kāla in Pali): SP 207.3; (7) n. of a minister of Māra: Mv ii.409.19; (8) n. of a brother of King Prasenajit (cf. Gaṇḍaka 3): Divy 153.21 ff.; 160.5; (9) n. of a mountain, perhaps = Kāla-parvata (?), q.v.: Kv 91.13 Kāla-mahākālau parvatarājānu.

2 kāla, m. (as in Skt. time, death, etc.) (1) day, opp. to night, see s.v. akāla; cf. Pali kāla, PTSD s.v. 2(a), kāle jṇhe, by day and by night; (2) kālena kālam, adverbial phrase, (a) from time to time (so Pali, see Childers s.v. kālo): SP 225.5 (or under b?); 276.7, 10; Mv iii.154.14 (or under b?); Av i.241.9; Divy 10.27 (or under b?); Suv 94.3 (or under b?); (b) day in and day out, continuously: LV 100.13; Divy 62.10; 71.5; 298.25; Kv 28.14; Bbh 239.21, 23; 362.16, 19, 23; and perhaps in some cases noted under a, above; (3) time for functioning: Mv iii.222.12 āryo khalv asmākaṃ govindo bhartā bhartṛ-kāle (? mss. sakha°, bhartta°) sakhā sakhi-kāle (? mss. sakha°, sakhi°), to us, you see, G. (our husband) is a husband at the time for (functioning as) a husband, a friend at the time for a friend (said by his wives in proposing to follow him into the ascetic life); see also Mv ii.131.11 cited s.v. nāganādi; (4) yaṃ kālaṃ, adverbial phrase, quasi-conj., what time, when (relative): Mv ii.210.14; iii.144.13, 15; 145.7; 272.9 (v.l. yat k°); yatra kālaṃ, id., Mv iii.295.13, 15, 16; (5) phrase, yasya kālaṃ manyasi, or manyatha (= Pali yassa kālaṃ maññasi), as you think fit, in assenting to a proposal: Mv iii.210.9 (yasya ca k°, with mss.); 222.15 (yasya dāni k°); yasyedāniṃ kālaṃ manyase, id., Mmk 2.17-8; 73.19.

kālaka, (1) adj. (= Pali kālaka; Skt. very rarely for kāla, see BR s.v.), black: Mvy 8397 śuddhaka-kāla-kānām (Kyōtō text °nam; Mironov °nām), sc. ḍakalom-nām (same passage in Pali śuddha-kālākānām, Vin. iii.225.28); varṇena te kālaka tatra bhonti SP 94.7 (vs; here ka could be pejorative, or m.c.); kālako vata bhoḥ śramaṇo gautamaḥ LV 255.4; 256.7 (prose; could be pejorative ka); (2) black spot on a garment, and also moral defilement (= Pali kālaka, id.), see s.vv. apagata-kālaka and sarvakālaka; (3) (m.?) blackhead, pimple on skin (= Skt. Lex., perh. once lit., id.; Pali kālaka; = BHS 1 kāla 1, q.v., rare): vyapagata-tila-kālaka-gātra, one of the anuvyañjana, Mironov's Mvy for Kyōtō °kāla° 309, and similarly LV 107.5; Mv ii.43.13; (4) (cf. 1 Kāla 3 and Kālīka) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3327 (here definitely distinguished as a 'commoner' of the nāgas from Kāla, who is a 'nāga-king'); Māy 221.24; 247.3; however, in Māy 247.13 dvau Kālakau nāgarājānau. See next.

kālaka-prṣṭha (ms. thrice kālaka-p°), adj., acc. to Tib. (quite literally) having a black back (rgyab nag po), applied to a man suffering for past misdeeds: MSV ii.89.7, 8, 12; in 89.13, 90.1 ff. text kālaka° without note.

kālakarṇin, adj. or subst. m. (Skt. Lex., allegedly °ṇi f.; in Pali and BHS clearly °ṇin, cf. Jāt. ii.153.23, prose, kālakarṇi-sakuṇena), omen of bad luck; 'Jonah': Mv i.257.6 (prose) (tatra), sarve iti- (mss. iti) -kali-kālakarṇi (Senart em. °ṇi; n. pl.) praśamyanti; Divy 40.16, 17, 19, asau (. . .) kālakarṇi-prakhyah, said of a man, Pūrṇaka; 19 śrīr vā bhavatu kālakarṇi (surely n. sg. m.) vāgacchaikadhye prativasāmah. The lit. mg. is doubtless black-eared.

kāla-kriyā (= Pali °kiriya; cf. Skt. kāla-karman, once in Rām., BR), death: SP 102.11 (prose) mā haiva mama °yā bhavet; 112.2; 347.7 (prose) abhyāśibhūtās caite kālakriyāyāḥ; Mv ii.32.10 (prose) nacireṇa kālena °yām kariṣyāmi.

kāla-(v.l. kāra)-patṭrika, m. pl., some sort of artisan or trader, in a list of such: Mv iii.113.16; 443.3; follows vardhakirūpakarakā(h), carpenters and carvers (sculptors), and followed by śelālakā(h) or pela°, q.v. (masons?). Senart em. to kālapāṭrika, q.v., but this obviously does not fit here.

Kāla-parvata (= Pali Kāla-pabbata; cf. also 1 Kāla 9 and Mahākāla), n. of a mountain range, always m. pl. when not in comp.; cf. Burnouf, Lotus, 842 ff.: SP 244.10 (in comp.); m. pl. Mv ii.300.19; Śikṣ 246.4; LV 277.9 (prose) na ca kālaparvatā(h).

kāla-pāṭrika, adj. or subst. m., (a monk) with black (alms-) bowl: Mvy 8749; rendered lit. in Tib. and Chin.; the Kyōtō ed. suggests that it means a bad, unworthy monk, noting that it is followed by saṃjñā-bhikṣu and pratiññā-(bh°), qq.v.; this is confirmed MSV iv.67.2, 3 (term of abuse). See kālapāṭrika.

Kālarātri, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.25.

? kāla-valla-: Mv ii.288.13 evaṃrūpāḥ sattvāḥ (sc., like the Bodhisattva) kālavalla-saṃpannāḥ, perfect in . . . (?); in a series of like formulas, preceded by varṇa-saṃpannāḥ, followed by adhyāśaya-saṃpannāḥ, Senart em. kāra-varṇa-saṃ°, which inspires no confidence; but I have found no light on the word. There is a v.l. kālavallabha, which seems no better.

kālavastu, nt., abode of death (i. e. place of desolation; so Senart): Mv iii.360.1 (vs) uddahyatu imaṃ nagaraṃ kālavastuṃ (n. sg.) kariyatu. But possibly, as suggested by PTSD s.v. tāla-vattu, a corruption for tāla-vastu (or tālāvastu); the Pali word means destroyed utterly.

[? kāla-vesin, n. sg. °veṣi, said of the Bodhisattva: LV 160.22 and 161.11 (prose), parallel and evidently equivalent to kālākālājña or kālājña, respectively. One ms. in 160.22 (H, generally a poor one) and three (H and B) in 161.11 read kāla-gaveṣi, and this seems the only possible reading: seeking the right occasions. So Tib., dus la lta zhiñ, considering (having regard for, caring for) time(s).]

kālasūtra, m.; Pali kālasutta, m.; occurs in Skt. but there regularly nt.; n. of a hell: Dharmas 121 (a hot hell); Mvy 4921; etc.; Mv i.5.7 °trena sūtrītāṅgā (? em.), here taken by Senart as an 'instrument' of torture, better 'an accessory', blackened cord (for marking bodies to be cut), see P. Mus, La Lumière des six voies 79, referring to F.W.K. Müller, Ethnologisches Notizblatt 1.3 (1896), p. 23 ff.; in Kv 35.10 text kāra°, cf. kārānusāri(n); common in BHS. Cf. sūtrayati.

kālākāle, loc. quasi-adv. (kāla plus akāla), in and out of season: Śikṣ 167.1: °le punar anenopekṣā karaṇiyeti. [kālākṣuṇṇadharmavedhī LV 181.7, read vālākṣaṇa-dh°; see vālavedhin and akṣanavedhin.]

kālāñjanikā (cf. Skt. Lex. °janī), n. of some plant: Mmk 317.28 (prose) °kā-kusumānām aṣṭasahasraṃ juhuyāt. kālānukālam, adv. Kāśyapa (= Pali Kassapa; Tib. ḥod sruṅs, light-guard, e.g. on Mvy 93), (1) n. of a former Buddha, the one immediately preceding Śākyamuni: often mentioned as having predicted the latter, and esp. as one of a group of three, the others being Krakucchanda and Kanaka-muni, or equivalents; see the former for list of such references; also alone (it being not always certain that this particular Buddha is meant, cf. Mv i.58.8, ref. to 90,000 Buddhas of this name), Mv i.307.4 ff.; 312.2; 318.7 ff.;

Pali AN i.23.19 where Mahākassapa is dhutavādānaṃ (v.l. dhutaṅgadharānaṃ) agga; mentioned in Candropama Sūtra, Hoernle MR 40 ff., = Pali SN ii.197 ff. where (Mahā) Kassapa corresponds; among mahāśrāvakas, Divy 182.22; 268.6; in Divy 573.8 it appears, strangely, that ārya-kāśyapasya is an epithet of (the next word) Kātyāyanasya (pañcaśataparivārasya; in the story which follows only Mahākātyāyana appears); it is not clear whether the same person is meant by āyusmān daśabalaḥ Kāśyapaḥ Divy 275.5, and 7 daśabala-Kāś°; *no monk of this title is recorded in Pali; in Vv. comm. 148.24 Kassapassa dasaballa kāle refers to the Buddha Kāś°, tho I find no evidence to support PTSD and DPPN in stating that dasabala was 'especially' an epithet of his, 'to distinguish him from other Kassapas' as DPPN says; dasabala (BHS daśa°) of course usually refers to a Buddha, and in Pali generally to the B. Gotama; there are at least four other disciples of his having this name, see Uruvilvā-k°, Kumāra-k°, Gayā-k°, Nadī-k°; (3) n. of an ascetic (ṛṣi) who once lived in the Himālaya: Mv ii.106.16, a previous birth of Mahākāśyapa, q.v., 114.12; (4) n. of another (?) ascetic (ṛṣi) who lived in the hermitage sāhamjanī (q.v.); this is not mentioned in connection with the prec. Kā°, and the stories told of them are different: Mv iii.143.13 ff. (in story of Ekaśṛṅga and Nalinī; = Pali Kassapa 9 in DPPN); prob. the same (at least also living in Sāhamjanī) Mv iii.362.14; 363.19. See also Pūraṇa Kāśyapa; Jaṅghā-k°; Vṛddha-k°. — *Correction in proof: MPS 49.16 names four mahāsthavirāḥ in the world (pṛthivyām) at the time of Buddha's death; two of them were Daśabala-Kāśyapa (one word) and Mahā-Kāśyapa. This settles the above question; D.K. is a separate person.

Kāśyapa-parivarta, n. of a work (our KP); see Stael-Holstein, Intr., XIV note 4; generally called Ratnakūṭā or Mahā-r°, in itself, and in Śikṣ. (The text, even in its prose parts, contains an exceptional number of MIndic forms.)

(śri-) Kimnari-jātaka, nt., n. of a jātaka-tale: (colophon) Mv ii.115.5.

kimarthyia, adj. (= Pali kimatthiya; Skt. *kimarthyā, from kimartha), having what as its purpose?: Mv iii.373.22 (vs), read with mss. kimarthyiaṃ āgamanam abhūṣi.

kimi (m.; § 2.6; = Pali id., glow-worm, as well as worm in general; in this specialized sense Skt. kṛmi, kṛmi is not recorded, glow-worm: Mv i.73.20 (vs) udgate dinakare yathā kimi niṣprabho bhavati.

kimpaka (also mahā-ki°), m. pl., a class of malvolent superhuman beings: Mmk 17.6.

kimpala (once kimpala), m. (or nt.), a kind of musical instrument; pw suggests loan from Gk. κύμβλον: LV 163.6 (here ed. kipala, without v.l.; Calc. lacks the word; doubtless misprint, or error); 206.14; 212.4 (all prose, in cpd. lists of instruments of music); Mv ii.322.14 (vs) nakulaka-kimpalāṃ ca (with false etym. adaptation to phala?).

kimpila (m. or nt.?), acc. to Tib. owl, in kimpilākṣaḥ Mvy 8910 = Tib. ḥug mig po, owl-eyed.

[kimpuruṣa, Mv i.23.2, or °ṣaka, i.20.6; Senart reads °ṣakānām (all mss. dental n) in 20.6, °ṣānām (but mss. again end in -kānām!) in 23.2, assuming mg. monkey; but only by violent em. of mss., which, combining the two passages, point rather to something like tampuruka or tamb°; in any case, monkey is implausible in mg., since reference seems to be made to animals living in holes; see s.v. gutti. I cannot solve this word.]

kimpratya, adj. Bhvr. (Childers records adv.

kimpaccayā in Pali), having what as cause?: LV 346.6 (so also 8, etc.) kimpratyaṃ (Lefm. prints as two words) ca punar jāramaraṇam, and what further is the cause of old age and death?

kimprāptin, adj. (Skt. kim plus prāpta plus -in; = Pali kimpattin, Sn 513, 518, etc.), having obtained what?: Mv iii.395.6 (here text kimprāptam, to be em.); 396.10; 397.12 (kimprāptinam āhu vedako ti, the others similarly), in vss corresp. to Sn (in the Sabhiya Sutta; see Sabhika).

kimbhūta, adj., lit. become what? = destroyed, obliterated: Mv iii.347.2, read with mss. apāyā tatra kimbhūtā (v.l. ki-bh°) svayambhū tava tejaśā, evils there are obliterated, Self-existent, by thy glory. (In this sense not recorded; misunderstood and emended by Senart.)

kiyat- in comp., in interrogative-exclamatory function (in Skt. only with pejorative connotation, = very little), with complimentary, or at least (when prefixed to a word in itself uncomplimentary) augmentative force, = exceedingly, in high degree: LV 158.2 (vs) kiyad-vibhūṣito bālāḥ pāpacāri na śobhate, (even) highly adorned, a foolish evil-doer does not shine; foll. by api, Śikṣ 130.1 kiyatpraṇītam api bhojanam, even very fine (? however fine) food; 130.11 kiyāl-lūhenāpi bhojanena, even with very poor food; 151.5 kiyad-dhīnānām api sattvānām, even of extremely low creatures. Foucaux takes the LV passage as having indefinite kiyat-; even when the cpd. beginning with kiyat- is followed by api, as in the Śikṣ passages, it can hardly be taken as the indefinitizing api. PTSD interprets Pali kivat as indefinite in Sn 959, but this is an error; it is interrogative (-exclamatory). Cf. next.

kiyattama, adj. (superl. of kiyat), very few: °mair divasair āgata eva MSV ii.23.20.

kirama, m., a kind of evil spirit (associated with kākhorā, vetāla or °ḍa): Mvy 4374; Māy 220.18. Tib. on Mvy gyeṅs byed, which acc. to Das = Skt. kiṭi, 'fig. a pig'. For Skt. kiṭi, wild hog, Lexx. give also kira, kiri. But our word certainly means a demon (possibly supposed to resemble a swine?).

kirāta-lipi, a kind of script: LV 125.21. Tib. transliterates ki-ra-ṭa, with domal ṭ; Pali has Kirāta beside °ta for Skt. °ta. No ms. of LV is reported with °ṭa, but some have °ri, instead. See kuta-lipi.

Kiriṭaka, n. of a nāga: MSV i.145.5 = 153.1. The Divy (450.17; 456.6) version of this story has corruptly kiṭibhakaś ca; the rest of the line is also corrupt; read as in MSV.

Kiriṭavatsa (Pali Tiriṭavaccha or Tiriṭi°), n. of the father of Unmādayanti: Jm 83.12.

kirttiya (semi-Sktized from MIndic kittiyā = Skt. kṛttikā; see kirtika), n. of a nakṣatra: Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 122.7.

[? kilañjaka, mat (note Skt. kilañja, BR 5.1297, beside kiliñja), read by Senart Mv ii.38.3; 470.8; but see s.v. kalandaka.]

kilamati (MIndic for Skt. klam-), ppp. kilānta, kilanta, etc., is wearied, see § 3.109 and Chap. 43, s.v. klam. Cf. klāmati.

kilāsa, m., Mvy 6650 = Tib. sñoms las, indolence (Jā. and Das; but sñoms (pa), weariness). This noun is probably a back-formation from the adj. kilāsin.

kilāsita, indolence (see next): SP 128.12; 129.4; 284.3 (cited Śikṣ 353.5).

kilāsin, wearied, indolent, faint-hearted. Certainly = Pali kilāsu, which Geiger 39.1 derives with Trenckner from Skt. glāṣnu; perhaps rightly; change of g to k may be due to confusion with forms of klam- (Pali kilam-), or even with Skt. kilāsin, leprous; in this sense in Mv ii.383.16-17 na jātu gilāno (note this form of glā!) bhava paṇḍurāgo, na cāpi kuṣṭhī nāpi ca kilāsī (clearly leprous). Defined ālayopeta, vīryarahita, in Abhisamayālamkāra-loka (GOS 62) 320.15: °sī, n. sg. m., Śiṅṅ 49.16; AsP 243.10. See also kilāsītā, akilāsīn, °sītā; and kilāsa.

kilikila, nt., and °lā, f. (cf. Skt. kilakilā, and kilakīlāyate, °layati, also Pali kilikīlayati), a loud noise (onomatopoeic): nt. Mv ii.410.7 °lā- (acc. to text in comp.; but read °lā with mss.; perh. fem.), of noises made by the army of Māra, in attacking the Bodhisattva; °lāni Mv iii.312.13, of applause; fem. Mvy 2800; Divy 459.16, of astonishment; Samādh 19.8 of joy, applause; AsP 203.12 (read kilikīlā with most mss. for text kilā°), of joy, applause. Usually associated or cpd. with hāhākāra and prakṣveḍita. See next.

kilikilate, makes a loud noise (of Māra's army): pres. pple. °lamānā(h), n. pl., seems the probable reading at Mv ii.339.6 (vs), as suggested by mss. (which have hyper-Skt. kriḍ- for kil- and meter; Senart reads kilikīlayamānā, which gives the meaning required (see s.v. kilikila), but is hypermetric by one short syllable.

kileśa, see kileśa.

kilviṣa (nt.; in Skt., and Pali kibbisa, apparently only of moral evils), (physical) filth (cf. bībhatsa, given by Ratnach. as one rendering of AMg. kibbisa): LV 208.15 (vs) vastī-pūya-vasā-samastaka-rasaiḥ pūrṇam tathā kilviṣaiḥ, nityaprasravitaṃ . . . (said of the body).

kiśala, m. or nt. (= Skt. kiśalaya, kis°, Skt. Lex. kisala, so also Pkt., Hem. 1.269), leaf-bud, young sprout (of a tree): LV 166.21 (vs) suvidita sugaṇita yatha tahi (sc. tarau) kiśalā (n. pl.).

kisara, (1) adj. and subst. (= Pali kasira, Skt. kṛcchra), difficultly, only in akisara-lābhin and alpa-kisarena, qq.v. The use of the former, beside akṛcchra-1°, proves that the two forms were not felt as identical. In Pali also (Geiger 59.2) kicchena kasirena are used together, and evidently taken as 'different words'. Pkt. only kiccha; our kisara (perhaps influenced by Pali-Pkt. kisa = kṛṣa) has no recorded parallel in MIndic; (2) m. or nt., 'eine Art wohlriechender Stoff': Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā, Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2.43.

kīṭa (m. or nt.; = Skt. Lex. id., BR 5.1298), excrement: Śiṅṅ 81.5 (vs) kīṭakumbho (chamber-pot) yathā . . . pūrṇo mūtrapariṣeṇa. So with Tib.; Bendall and Rouse very implausibly pot of worms.

kīrtana (nt.?), some kind of building; Speyer, temple; pw 7, App., Denkmal, Monument: Jm 219.14 śrīmantī kīrtanaśatāni niveśitāni, sattrājīrāśramapadāni sabhāḥ prapāś ca.

Kīrtaniya (mss. Kīrti°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.14.

Kīrti, m., (1) n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.24; (2) n. of one of the oxen of Traṇuṣa and Bhallika: LV 381.7, 17.

kīrtika (m. or nt.; hyper-Skt. for AMg. kittiā = Skt. kṛttikā; Pali only kattikā, °ka, n. of a nakṣatra (Skt. kṛttikā): Mv iii.303.7 eko sujātāye nakṣatre jātako, aparo kīrtike. Cf. kīrttiya, karthika.

Kīrtimant, n. of a disciple of the Buddha: Mv i.182.18.

kīlayate, °ti (denom. to kīla; Skt. has ppp. kīlita only), fastens, binds, fixes: Mmk 476.1 (vs) punaḥ kīlayate mudrāṃ bandhanorundhanādibhiḥ kriyaiḥ; Sādh 171.4 (kaṇṭakena) tu tasyā mukhaṃ kīlayet, prativādimukhaṃ kīlitaṃ bhavati.

kumṣana, m. or nt. (also written kunsana; by 'Morengesetz', § 3.4, for *kussana = Skt. kutsana; so Tib., smod pa; Pali and Pkt. record only kucch- for Skt. kuts-, but cf. e. g. Pali ussava = utsava), blame, abuse:

KP 8.6 (prose) ākrośa-paribhāṣaṇa-kumsana-pamsana- (etc.); 8.16 (vs) ākrośanā-kunsana-pamsanāsu; 23.6 (prose) pāreṣaṃ jñānākunsanātā (jñāna-ak°) niradhimānatayā. Cf. kucchati.

kukuṭa-sampāta-mātra (read kukkuṭa°?), adj. (cf. Pali kukkuṭa-sampāta, °pātika, °pāda, Vin. iv.63.28, see comm. 806.2 ff.; DN iii.75.9, comm. iii.855.27; AN i.159.30, comm. ii.256 infra; wrong interpretation Morris JPTS 1885. 38, adopted PTSD s.v. kukkuṭa), lit. cock's-alighting (or flight)-measured, i. e. so close together that a cock could fly from one to another: Divy 316.11 (saumyā janapadā) babbhūvuṣ °mātrāś ca grāma-nigama-rāṣṭra-rājadhānyo babbhūvuḥ (in a kind of golden age in the past; the population was so large that inhabited places were close together).

Kukustā (Pali Kukuṭṭhā, Ka°, Kakutthā), n. of a river: MPS 27.12 (Tib. Ka-kus-sta; Chin. both Ka- and Ku-).

kukūla, nt. (in Skt. chaff; a fire made of chaff), n. of a hell (acc. to Tib. heading, a cold hell): Mvy 4937; v.l. kukkula, q.v.; Tib. me ma mur, apparently coals in a pit or the like.

kukkuṭa-pakṣaka, nt., a knife shaped like a cock's wing: Mvy 8977; so Tib., except that there is some question of the specific bird meant by bya gag = kukkuṭa (acc. to Jā. a kind of duck); in Mvy 4904 kukkuṭa is rendered khyim bya.

Kukkuṭāgāra (m. or nt.) = Kurkuṭārāma, q.v.: Av ii.203.1 °raṃ, acc. sg.

Kukkuṭārāma (m.) = Kurku°, q.v.: Svay 19.8.

kukkura-vratika, adj. (= Pali °vatika), applied to certain non-Buddhist ascetics who took a vow to live like dogs (cf. Pali MN i.387.18 chamā-nikkhittaṃ bhujjati, and comm. iii.100.25; DN comm. iii.819.17 sunakho viya ghāyitvā khādati, uddhana-vāre nipajjati, aññaṃ pi sunakhakiriyam eva karoti): Karmav 44.19 govratika- (q.v.)-kukkuravratika-prabhṛtinām; Śiṅṅ 332.3 kukkura-govratika; cf. LV 248.21 govraṭa-mṛga-śva-varāha-vānara-hasti-vratāś ca; AbhidhK. LaV-P. iii.86 n. 3.

Kukkuri(n), n. of an author: Sādh 468.13 (°ri-pādānām, in colophon).

kukkula (nt. or m.; = kukūla, q.v.; = Pali kukkuṭa), n. of a hell: Mv i.6.16; i.11.1, 5 = iii.455.13, 17; iii.185.16; 369.4. In Pali the word is recorded as meaning also hot ashes, embers.

kuṅṣi (and kuṅṣimatī; in Skt. only m., except acc. to one Lex. f., and mg. only belly or womb; so also Pali, Pkt. kucchi), as fem., LV 75.6 (vs) kuṅṣiye (loc. sg.) pratīṣṭhitam; (like garbha) with mg. embryo (and hence kuṅṣimatī, pregnant): Mv ii.432.11 devīye kuṅṣiḥ pratilabdā (the queen conceived); evaṃ dāni pañca devīśatāni kuṅṣimantāni (so Senart; mss. °matīni, °matīnām; read °matīni?) samvṛttāni; Divy 264.10 kuṅṣimaty eṣā nūnam asyēḥ prasavakāla iti.

ku-gaṇin, m., bad teacher (inaccurately BR): °ṇi-pratāpakāḥ LV 4.3 (vs); °ṇi-pramathī RP 51.11 (vs); °ṇi-gaṇa- LV 273.2 (prose); Mv i.117.11 (vs; so all mss., Senart °gaṇi°). See gaṇin.

ku-celaka, adj. (= Skt. ku-cela), having bad clothes: SP 113.12 (vs) °kā, n. pl. m. (so read with most mss., ed. ku-cai° with 1 ms.).

kucchati (MIndic, § 2.18, for kutsati, or more regularly kutsayati; cf. Pali ppp. kucchita; AMg. kucchai), contemns: Mv i.106.9 kucchanti. Cf. kumsana.

Kuñjaragati, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.1.

[kuṭaka, acc. to Index read kaṭuka, q.v.]

kuṭakuñcaka = kuṭu°, q.v.

kuṭi or kuṭī, f. (m. or nt. modifiers, in -am, acc. sg., Prāt 480.8-9; or MIndic for -ām?), (1) as in Skt., hut, cell, esp. of a monk: Divy 338.22 (tasya) kuṭiḥ śūnyāvatiṣṭhati; Av i.136.8; of leaves, a temporary shelter, parṇikāṃ kuṭiṃ abhinirmāya Divy 574.6; parṇa-kuṭiṃ kṛtvā Av i.262.14; in Mvy 5678 kuṭi- (v.l. kuṭī°, also v.l. in Mironov)-mahaḥ, cell-festival or acc. to Tib. vihāra-(monastery-) festival (gtsug lag khañ gi dus ston; var. gtsug log gi etc.); similarly Chin., sūtra-hall feast; acc. to Jap., a feast or ceremony celebrating completion of a new temple-building; tasya dharmabhāṇakasya caṅkramakuṭim upasamkramiṣyāmi SP 475.1-2, I will go to that preacher's hall of promenade (?); (2) in maśaka-kuṭi, Mvy 9002, acc. to Tib. sbrañ skyabs, insect-protection (BR conjecture, a whisk to brush off flies; but Chin. mosquito-netting); (3) straw or the like, as fodder for a horse (see Turner, Nep. Dict. s.v. kuṭuro): Divy 510.18 tuṣān kuṭim cānuprayacchati (to a horse); 511.19 tuṣās ca kaṭī (q.v.) sakaṅgam bhakṣitavyam.

kuṭikā (= Pali id.; see kuṭī), hut, usually as habitation of a monk, whether Buddhist or brahmanical: kuṭi-kāya (loc.) SP 115.1 (vs); °kāye (loc.) Mv i.328.1; parṇa-kuṭikā Mvy 5556; Divy 631.10, 13; °kā-dvāre Av ii.156.5; others Divy 338.22; 442.22; 538.20 ff. Prāt 506.5-6; in Mvy 8374, MSV iii.87.19, abbreviated designation of one of the saṃghāvaśeṣa sins, consisting in a monk's building a hut for himself in an improper place or manner, in violation of Prāt 480.8 ff.

Kuṭigrāmaka, Gv 525.16, MPS 8.4 (here = Pali Koṭigāma, but not in Gv), or Kūṭagrāmaka, Gv 527.9, n, of two villages.

kuṭira (m. or nt.; Skt. Lex.; Skt. kuṭīra), hut: Kv 60.9 (prose) parṇa-kuṭīra-, cf. (parṇa-kuṭī, -kuṭikā).

Kuṭilā, n. of a kiṃnara maid: Kv 6.4.

kuṭukuṇḍaka, kuṭa°, var. kuṭku°, adj., f. °ikā (cf. Pali kaṭukaṇḍuka-tā, kaṭa°, kaṭakuṇḍa°), niggardly: Mvy 2491 (var. kurukuci; acc. to Tib. hypocrite, ṇan gyo ḥam tshul ḥchos pa, but this seems clearly an error); Divy 8.3 (with matsarin); Śikṣ 149.13 (so read, see p. 279, n. 3); in a cliché with matsarin and āgrhitaparīṣkāra, see āgrhita, Divy 302.3; Av i.257.4; 289.9; ii.158.3; fem. °ikā, same cliché, Av i.248.2; 262.3; MSV iii.20.17 (kuṭa°); Bbh 124.16 (kuṭa°).

kuṭṭana (m. or nt.), in ayo-kuṭṭanehi kuṭṭiyantā Mv i.6.5 (prose), being pounded with iron hammers. Cf. Pali ayo-kūta, and Skt. kūta, iron hammer (once, Mbh.); the word kuṭṭana is found in Skt. as noun of action, pounding (cf. kuṭṭ-ayati); our form looks like an etymological blending, with influence of the 'Morengesetz' (§ 3.4a).

kuṭṭ(ayati), as in Skt. pounds, crushes: Mv i.6.5 kuṭṭiyantā, pres. pple. pass., being pounded; also reviles (Dhātup.), see prec., anukuṭṭaka, parikuṭṭaka, and kuṭṭī.

kuṭṭā and kuṭṭāvītā, two large numbers or ways of calculation (gaṇanā), Mvy 7983 and 7984 (cited from LV), for Lefmann's kuṛuṭu and kuṛuṭāvi, qq.v.; Tib. gcod rtogs (Das = kuṭṭa-cinta) and gcod rtogs ldan, which should render °vati, as suggested in note to Mvy 7984 (for °vītā).

kuṭṭitika, see ikṣu-kuṭṭitikam.

kuṭṭī, reviling? (see s.v. kuṭṭ-ayati): SP 274.2 (vs) bahukuṭṭī bahūvidhā, with Nep. mss.; but Kashgar rec. upakrośā for bahuk° (confirmed La Vallée-Poussin, JRAS 1911, 1076); WT read bandha- (citing Tib. as bciñ, binding)-kuṭṭī, imprisonment and reviling.

kuṭmalibhūta, adj., budded (of flowers): LV 76.11 (prose). Skt. kutmala occurs beside the more usual kuḍmala.

kuṭhāri (= Pali and Skt. Lex. id.; in Skt. lit. only °ra, m., whereas Pali records only the f.), axe, hatchet: Mv i.16.14 vāsīhi paraśūhi kuṭhārihi; ii.35.13 (vs) kuṭhāri-hastā (short i m.c.); Ud viii.2 kuṭhāri (v.l. °ri; metr. indifferently) jāyate mukhe (same vs, with kuṭhāri, in Pali, Sn 657 et al.).

kuḍḍa (Pali id., = Skt. kuḍya), wall: Mv i.25.14 ff. kuḍmalaka(-jātam), (= Skt. kuḍmala), bud: Mvy 6229.

kuḍya-mūla (nt.; = Pali kuḍḍa-mūla, Vin. iii.15.38, wrongly defined PTSD), base of a wall: AsP 498.(2-)-3, cited Śikṣ 38.(15-)-16 dakṣiṇam coru (Śikṣ corum) viddhvā nirmāmsam (Śikṣ adds ca) kṛtvāsthi bhettuṃ ku°lam upasamkrāmati (sma, Śikṣ om.); kuḍyamūlaṃ niśritya paribhuktam Divy 82.25.

kuḍyā (or kuḍya, m.? in Skt. nt., except f. Gr. and once BhāgP., see BR; acc. to Sheth m. or nt. in Pkt.), wall: SP 83.5 (vs) kuḍyās (WT em. °yā) ca bhittī ca (influence of the gender of bhittī?); n. pl.

kuṇapa, nt. (cited pw 7, App., as m. in Mvy; but Mironov as well as Kyōtō ed. nt.), n. of a hell, acc. to Mv i.7.3 a narakotsada (see utsada 2) or supplementary hell, acc. to Tib. on Mvy a cold hell: Mvy 4938; Mv i.7.1, 3; 11.5, 9 = iii.455.17, 21.

kuṇāla, or kunāla; see also koṇāla; m., (1) (= Pali kuṇāla; not in Pkt. or Skt. in this sense), a kind of bird, in Pali apparently the Indian cuckoo, Skt. kokila: kuṇ° Mvy 4880; LV 40.5; 286.13; 301.14; Av ii.201.2, 4; RP 26.15; Śikṣ 329.6; Gv 100.26; 194.12; kuṇ° LV 162.19-20 (most mss. kuṇ°) and in a passage found only in ms. H but confirmed by Tib. (ku na la; ms. H kunāra), see Crī. App. on LV 11.3; RP 41.9; Divy 406.6 ff.; (2) (in this sense not recorded in Pali or Skt., but Amg. Kuṇāla), n. of a son of King Aśoka, so named because his eyes were like those of the bird acc. to Av ii.201.4 ff. (Kuṇ°) and Divy 406.14 ff.; other occurrences Divy 403.8 ff.; 405.14 (in Divy always Kun°); Kunālavādāna, colophon to Divy chap. 27, Divy 419.13.

kuṇṭha, adj. (in Skt. only blunt, dull; in Pali also (a) mutilated (person), Jāt. ii.117.18, also koṇṭha in same context; cf. Skt. Dhātup. kuṇṭ-, vikalikaraṇe; and cf. the following items), probably mutilated, maimed (or possibly deformed): AsP 426.18 (prose) na kāṇo bhavati na kuṇṭho bhavati na kubjo . . .

kuṇṭhaka, adj., = prec., q.v.; see also kuṇḍa(ka): SP 94.13 (vs), for KN kāṇaku kaṇḍakās ca, read with WT (and their ms. K') kā° kuṇṭhakās ca, or perhaps kāṇa ku-kuṇṭhakās ca (see s.v. kāṇaka); SP 113.11 (vs) ye kāṇaka kuṇṭhakās ca.

Kuṇṭhā (to kuṇṭha, q.v.), n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.6.

kuṇḍa, adj., (1) in the sense of Skt. (and Pali) kuṇṭha, dull, blunt: LV 252.2 (prose) kuṇḍayā śaktyā śiraḥka-pālam upahanyād; Tib. rtul pos, dull, blunt; despite this, and on no apparent ground, Foucaux translates both the Skt. and even the Tib. (!) by aiguë!; no v.l. reported by Lefm.; (2) in Mvy 7363 and 8875 acc. to Tib. lag rdum, maimed in the hand; so also Chin. and Jap.; same mg. perh. in Pali, Pv. comm. 181.9 catūhi aṅgehi kuṇḍo (bent, PTSD); pw 7.332 krüppelicht, lahm; cf. Dhātup. kuṇḍ-, vaikalaye, and the use of kuṇṭha (Skt. blunt, a mg. which BHS kuṇḍa has) in BHS and Pali in the additional sense of mutilated, maimed. See also next.

kuṇḍaka, adj., presumably = kuṇḍa 2, maimed (in the hand?): SP 95.5 (vs) te kuṇḍakā (Kashgar rec. kuḍ-ḍakā) laṅgaka (q.v.) bhonti tatra; WT keep kuṇḍakā, altho their ms. K' reads kuṇṭhakā (see s.v.), because Kumārajiva's Chinese, they say, this time is different and suggests kuṇḍa of Mvy.

kuṇḍana (to the root of kuṇḍa, q.v.; but the Skt. Dhātup. assigns to this root the mg. burn as well as mutilate), prob. mutilation (barely possibly, burning), in a list of tortures in hell: ŚsP 1461.9 tatra (sc. niraṇḍa) chedana-bhedana-kuṇḍana-snedana- (! see s.v.)-pacanāny anubhaveyam.

kuṇḍala (1) (nt.) coil (of rope): Jm 23.11 anyatra rajju-kuṇḍalād dātrāc caikasmāt; see next (1); (2) in LV 276.22 nīla-mṛdu-kuṇḍala-jāta-pradakṣiṇa-nandyā-varta-kācilindika-sukhasamsparśaiś ca tṛṇair, the word kuṇḍala (vv.ll. kuntala, kuṇṭaka) is obscure; it is omitted from the cpd. in Foucaux's Tib.; a late Skt. Lex. records the meaning thick for kuṇṭaka; this mg. would fit here but there is no other support for a word kuṇṭaka. On the other hand, perhaps kuṇḍala-jāta- means simply curling (of blades of grass, tṛṇa); cf. kuṇḍalaka (2) -jāta, of hair; Foucaux's Note p.167, bottom, actually cites this form of the cpd. as the reading of one ms., but adds that Tib. indicates a reading kuṣa-jāta (of this his Tib. text and its transl. contain no trace); curling seems to me a curious epithet to be applied to grass; (3) (cf. Skt. Lex. id. = pāṣa), a ring as a kind of fetter: Gv 353.12, see s.v. kaṭaka; (4) m., n. of a form of a mendicant, created magically by Māra to obstruct Buddha: Mv i.270.13.

kuṇḍalaka, nt., (1) (= prec.; Pali id., Vv. comm. 212.13 rajju-kuṇḍalaka-), coil (of rope): Jm 23.14-15 tad rajju-kuṇḍalakam . . . ; 24.4 id.; (2) (perhaps adj.?) curl, or curling (of hair), in °ka-jātam (roma; said of a mahā-puruṣa): Bbh 375.18 (ekaiḥkam asya) roma kāye jātam nilam kuṇḍalaka-jātam . . . ; (3) (cf. kuṇḍalikā) in Mvy 9007 °kam, acc. to Tib. zañs bum, copper vessel; Chin. cooking vessel; Mvy 9443 °kam, acc. to Tib. bkru bśal gyi snod, wash-basin, so also Chin.

kuṇḍala-varadhana, nt., Mv iii.263.16 and 18, a name for some brahmanical saṃskāra or similar rite performed for a boy (here Rāhula); bracketed with jātikarma (or in 15 jāta-) and cūḍākaraṇa (or in 16 jaṭākaraṇakarma). Could vardhana here mean cutting (as in nābhi-var°), and kuṇḍala curls (of hair, cf. kuṇḍalaka, 2)? Then cutting of the (infant's) locks of hair?

Kuṇḍalā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mv i.253.1.

kuṇḍalikā (cf. °laka, 3), water-jar: Av ii.87.5 udakapūrṇā °kā dattā; so mss., to be kept; confirmed by °laka (3) and Tib. spyi blugs, vase (Das); Speyer em. unnecessarily to kuṇḍikā.

[Kuṇḍaśrīyārciscandra(sya), n. of a Bodhisattva, Gv 442.26, 1st ed.; read with 2d ed. Kuṇḍaśrīyo 'rciśc°, two names.]

Kuṇḍaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.26 (see prec.). kuṇḍika (m. or nt.; cf. AMg. kuṇḍiya, water-pot, acc. to Ratnach. m.; Skt. kuṇḍaka, kuṇḍikā), water-pot: LV 249.9 (prose; no v.l.) (aṅgāradhātu-kaśāya-tridaṇḍamuṇḍika)-kuṇḍika-kapāla-kaṭvaṅga-dhāraṇaiś ca (all ascetics' paraphernalia).

? kuṇḍiraka (m. or nt.), some article used to cover a lamp and keep its light unseen: tayā pradīpam prajvālyā °rakeṇa pracchādyā sthāpitaḥ MSV i.102.9. (Related to Skt. kuṇḍī, pot?).

Kuṇḍopadhāniyaka, lit. app. using a water-jar for a pillow (so BR), ep. of Pūrṇa (4), q.v.: Divy 44.8; 45.1, where he is declared by the Buddha to be the first of receivers of food-tickets (śalākā, 3, q.v.) among his disciples. This identifies him with Pali Kuṇḍa-dhāna (see DPPN s.v.), a name also applied in DPPN to 1 Puṇṇa; Kuṇ° seems to be his regular name, but it is said to have been originally Dhāna, and the prefixation of Kuṇḍa- is explained in a way which would not fit the BHS epithet.

? Kutarārkaka, n. of a yakṣa in Kurukṣetra: Māy 57; dual dvandva, Tarārkakutarārkakau; division between the two names uncertain, but Tarārkaku-tarārkakau seems implausible. Lévi, p. 97, refers to Tarantukārantukayor (loc. du.) Mbh. 3.81.178 (Calc. 3.7078), which he calls the name of two yakṣas; but it is obviously the name of two localities (acc. to BR, tīrthas) in Kurukṣetra.

kuta-lipi (or, with v.l., kutana-lipi), some kind of script: Mv i.135.6. Senart thinks of reading kuṭa, referring to Kuṭaka as n. of a people, but this is recorded only once from the BhāgP., and seems implausible here. The word seems to correspond to kirāta-lipi of LV 125.21.

kutupa, m., nt. (Skt. Gr.-Lex. and AMg. id., m.), oil-flask: °pam, nt., Mvy 9016; taila-°pāḥ, m. pl. (ms. °kutapāḥ) MSV ii.141.16.

kuṭūhala-śālā (= Pali °sālā; expl. DN comm. 369.6 ff. etc.), hall of discussion, in which various opinions are expressed and questions disputed; ordinarily used of gatherings of non-Buddhists: Divy 143.13; MSV i.221.7. -kuttam, see -kṛtvā for Skt. kṛtvas.

-kutsaka, ifc. (to Skt. kutsayati), adj. or subst., blaming, contemning; one who contemns: apamārgaka- (q.v.)-kutsakā(h) Mv i.176.8 (prose).

kutsaniya, adj. (cf. prec., and AMg. kucchaṇijja), offensive: LV 189.17 (vs) mūtre puriṣi svaki tiṣṭhati kutsaniye.

ku-daṇḍa, m. (= Pali ku-daṇḍaka, Jāt. iii.204.16 °ka-baddhā, bound by an unmerited punishment; misinterpreted in translations and PTSD), unjust punishment: Mvy 5355 °ḍaḥ; LV 43.7 (vs) na tathā kudaṇḍā not-piḍanā . . . ; Gv 213.24 (vs) haḍi-daṇḍa-bandha-nigaḍāś ca tathā kudaṇḍāḥ).

kuṇāla, see kuṇāla.

Kunikaṇṭha (cf. Pali Kinnughaṇḍu, n. of a yakṣa?), n. of a yakṣa: Māy 236.27.

kunta (1) m. (Skt. Lex.; see kunta-pipilikā), a small insect (ant?): Mvy 4851 °taḥ = Tib. sṛin bu phre-ḥu, small insect; followed by 4852 pipilikā; (2) nt., tax, tribute: Mvy 7301 °tam = Tib. dpya.

Kuntadamṣṭrā (text °dāmṣṭrā), n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 241.14.

kunta-palaka, m., spear-point: Mvy 9350 = Tib. mdnū rtse.

kunta-pipilika, also °laka, m., a small insect, presumably a kind of ant (see also s.v. kunta, m.): Bhik 25b.1 antataḥ °ko 'pi prāpi jīvitān na vyaparopitavyaḥ; corresp. to Pali kuntha-kippilaka (°ika, °ikā?), acc. to note in Bhik. also kunda-kimṇṇaka (! cited without reference from Kammavākya; not in Dict.); °likasya Divy 51.4; Gv 160.4; °liko 'pi Divy 161.24; °likā api (n. pl.) Divy 77.15; °likādayo Divy 466.12; °lako 'pi (mss.) Av ii.130.4; °lakam MSV ii.43.12.

kuntala, nt. (in Skt. and Pkt. only m.), hair (of the head): LV 49.20 (vs) kuntalāni (-ī m.c.).

Kuntī, or °tī (cf. Pali Kuntī, n. of a kimṇarī?), (1) n. of a rākṣasi: °tī SP 400.6; °tī, voc., 403.6; °tī-, stem in comp., 402.12 (all prose); (2) n. of a yakṣiṇī: Suv 163.2; MSV i.xviii.18 ff.

Kuntinagara, n. of a city: MSV i.xviii.18 ff.

Kundapuṣpaṅgandha, n. of two former Buddhas: Mv i.141.5, 9 (in the same list).

kundasaka, m., acc. to Dutt = Tib. pho loñ, 'a kind of jasmine': MSV iv.76.6.

kupina, nt., and °nī, f. (= Skt. Lex. °nī; Pali kumina, nt.), fish-net: Śikṣ 77.4 (matsyānām) bandhanāya kupinam (Tib. dol, fish-net); Ud iii.3 baddhā matsyā vā (read va) kupinimukhe (Pali parallel vs Ud vii.4 kumināmukhe, with ā m.c.). kupyaka, m. or nt., n. of some unknown tree: Mv ii.203.6 °ka-vana-śākhā; iii.80.5 °ka-vāṣika-mallika- etc. (names of plants).

kupsara, nt., some unknown part of a chariot: Mv ii.62.8 (vs) heṣṭā manesī upariṃ ca kupsaram, suvarnacandrā ca rathe upāgatā. Mg. of this word and manesī both unknown. The vs should correspond to Jāt. v.408.32-409.2, but shows no resemblance to it; there is, however, some resemblance to 407.22 navamhi kocchamhi yadā upāvisi(ti), and kupsara might correspond to koccha, seat (comm. kañcanapiṭhasamkhāte kocche), the etym. of which is unknown.

Kubera, as one of the four mahārāja(n), see this.

Kubela = Skt. Kubera, n. of a god: LV 130.13 (vs; but several mss. °ra).

Kubjottarā (= Pali Khujjuttarā), n. of a servant of Śyāmavati (1): Divy 533.5; 538.10; 539.16; 541.4; Jm 115.24 (identified with a slave-girl in a Jātaka, as also in the same Jāt. in Pali).

Kumāra-kāśyapa (= Pali °kassapa), n. of a disciple of the Buddha: Sukh 2.6; Karmav 80.4.

Kumāradarśana, n. of a gandharva-king: Kv 2.20.
kumāra-bhūta, adj., while still a youth; remaining a youth; a stock epithet of Mañjuśrī, q.v., who is perennially young: SP 7.8–9; 260.16; 275.1 ff.; Mvy 650; but also of others, esp. Bodhisattvas, Mvy 693–5, 698–9, and cf. 883 te ca bodhisattvā . . . bhūyastvena sarve kumārabhūtāḥ; also of Buddhas, with reference to the period before their enlightenment, SP 19.2; 160.9; 311.2 (here of Śākyamuni); and even of an ordinary human being, Jīvaka, Divy 270.12, 20; 506.8 ff.; but this is probably based on a misunderstanding and consequent re-formation of next, q.v.

Kumāra-bhṛta (Pali Komārabhacca), ep. of Jīvaka; interpreted here, as in Pali, as meaning raised by the prince (Abhaya 5); cf. under prec.: MSV i.25.5 ff.

Kumāravardhana, nt., n. of a city: MSV i.66.2, 6 ff.

Kumārakaragupta, n. of an author: Sādh 574.9.

Kumārīkā, see s.v. Kumārī (2).

Kumārī, (1), n. of four female deities (mahāyākṣiṇyaḥ Mmk 575.10), also called Bhagini, q.v., and noted only in Mmk; they have a brother called Kumāra (but apparently not = Kārttikeya), 45.17; 518.14; but his real name seems to have been Tumburu (otherwise known in Skt. as a gandharva), 537.7; 538.1, et alibi; 575.10; in 538.1; 542.9 he is called sārthavāha; otherwise they may be simply bhrātṛ-pañcamāḥ, 44.25; they are to be portrayed standing on ships and living in the ocean, 44.25; 45.17; 575.11; they are called Kumārī 45.17; 518.14; 575.10, but Bhagini 17.4; 44.25; 519.8 ff. The last begins a long passage dealing with them, extending to p. 546, in which repeatedly their names appear as Jayā, Vijayā, Ajitā, and Aparājitā (523.6 ff.; 528.2, 9 ff.; 537.7 ff.; 539.7, 25; 540.5; 543.3 ff.); (2) n. of one specific yakṣiṇī (hardly one of the above-mentioned four): Mmk 567.11; 569.5; also called (yakṣa-) Kumārīkā Mmk 569.4.

Kumudagandha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.12.

Kumudapuspā, n. of a gandharva maid: Kv 5.5.

Kumudākaramati, n. of an author: Sādh 14.10.

kumbhaka, m., the base of a pillar or column: Mvy 5574 = Tib. ka rten. Not recorded in any Dict., but in Acharya, Dict. Hindu Architecture s.v., from inscriptions at Mathurā (Sanskrit?).

kumbhakāraka, m. (not recorded in any Dict. except by Wilson; fem. °rikā occurs in Kathās.), potter (= °kāra): LV 207.16 (prose) °ka-cakram (ms. A °kāra-ca°).

Kumbhakārī, (1) n. of the daughter of a village chief (grāmika): LV 265.5; (2) in Divy 348.20 taken by ed. as n. pr., of a caṇḍālī cowherdess: Apalāla-nāgaṃ viniya Kumbhakārīm caṇḍālīm gopālīm ca teṣāṃ Mathurām anuprāptaḥ. But in 385.(3–4) text has (Apalālaṃ nāgaṃ damayitvā) kumbhakālām (1) caṇḍālī-gopālīm ca nāgaṃ ca Mathurām anuprāptas . . . Burnouf, Intr. 377, understands Gopālī as the n. pr., and takes Kumbh° as meaning potter's wife.

kumbhatūṇa, m. or nt. (Pali °thūṇa; see the derivs. following; sometimes spelled with n for ṇ, but never with th for t, which should always be kept, as Senart belatedly recognized, iii.472; cf. also tūna(ka), and tuṇa), some musical instrument, in Pali acc. to Dictt. a kind of drum (Skt. tūṇava said to be a flute): Mv ii.52.15 (the corrupt mss. clearly indicate °tūṇam, acc. sg., as the true reading); followed by mṛdaṅga-.

kumbhatūṇin, m. (= next; cf. under prec.), a player on the kumbhatūṇa: Mv ii.150.4–5 (prose) °ṇī, acc. pl.

kumbhatūṇika, m., = prec.: Mv ii.100.10; 153.17;

156.9; iii.57.10; 113.3; 141.18; 255.11; 442.9 (regularly prose).

(kumbhadāsī, once in Harṣac., pw; = Pali id., misdefined PTSD; harlot: Mv ii.58.3, read °dāsīye, = Jāt. v.403.6 °dāsīyā; °dāsīye Mv iii.264.10 [text °vāsīye, but see note]; 270.1.)

kumbhāṇḍa, °aṇḍa, m. (= Pali kumbhāṇḍa, which is recorded in BHS Gv 46.18; 102.25; 119.23, all prose, tho the Sktized ā is printed later in Gv, see below; = Skt. kuṣmāṇḍa, kūṣ°; in all verse passages where meter determines the quantity of the first syllable, it is short, except only in Gv 214.11; note that in Mv ii.203.16 it is necessary to read with mss. kumbhāṇḍa-su (mss. śu)-bhairava-rutān, Senart erroneously em. by omitting su, the syllable kum° being short metrically), a kind of evil spirit, commonly mentioned with yakṣas, piśācas, bhūtas, etc., and esp. rākṣasas; Virūḍhaka is standardly their lord: LV 217.21; 389.2; SP 399.6; cf. Mvy 3436–7; but in LV 130.9 Rudra is called their overlord (adhipati); in LV 302.3 mentioned among Māra's followers, along with yakṣas, rākṣasas, and gandharvas; occurrences in verses where first syllable is short, LV 50.6; 54.13; 307.18; 341.16; Mv ii.203.16 (see above); Bhad 18; Śikṣ 333.9; in verses where meter is indecisive or in prose, SP 86.11; 401.5; LV 249.17; Mv i.257.5; 350.9; ii.106.13; 212.10; 296.10; 351.17; 410.5; iii.71.20; Mvy 3225; 4755; Divy 105.28; 119.9; Av i.67.10; 108.9; Kv 76.10 (in Kv 11.20 the Skt. form kuṣmāṇḍa is printed, prob. by misprint or graphic corruption); Gv (cf. above) 120.2; 169.10; 190.23; Lañk 261.8; Sādh 411.2; Bhik 26a.5. Cf. next two.

kumbhāṇḍaka, m. (ka may be m.c.), = prec.: SP 84.7; 85.9; 86.1 (all vss; quantity of first syllable indifferent).

kumbhāṇḍī (= Pali °bhaṇḍī), (1) a female kumbhāṇḍa: Lañk 261.8; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 241.14; 243.17.

Kumbhīra, (1) (= Pali id.) n. of a yakṣa: Suv 161.13; Māy 101; Mahāsamāj. 169.9 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4); (2) n. of a nāga: Māy 221.28 (misprinted °ira).

Kumbhodara, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 98.

kuraṇṭa (m.; = Skt. Lex.; cf. Skt. and Pali kuraṇḍaka), a kind of tree: Mv iii.80.2, so read with 1 ms., v.l. kulamba, Senart em. kulattha.

Kuru, m. = Uttara-kuru; see s.v. dvīpa.

kuru, nt. (= Skt. Lex. id.), boiled rice: Mv i.28.10 (prose) asti kuru (v.l. kurum; n. sg.) asti yvāgū. Senart em. to kūrām, which is Skt.; in i.29.3 he reads kūro ti loke pretasmim paśya yāva sudurlabham (note nt. adj.), but mss. all kuro (except one karo); perh. read kurū, kurum, or even kuro with mss. (o for final u, favored by meter).

kurukuci, var. for kuṭukuñcaka, q.v.

Kurukulla(-parvata), n. of a mountain: Sādh 343.11 etc.

Kurukullakā (in a vs, Sādh 354.13, prob. m.c.), or Kurukullā, Sādh 343.3 etc., n. of a goddess.

kuruṭu, nt., and kuruṭāvi (vv.ll. °ṭuvi, °ṭāvi, °ṭāpi), nt., two large numbers or ways of calculation (gapaṇā): LV 148.16 (in Calc. only kuruṭā; only A, Lefm.'s best ms., has both; most mss. om. kuruṭu). In the list cited from this LV passage in Mvy the two forms are kuṭṭā and kuṭṭāvitā, qq.v.

kuruvinda, m. (Pali °vindaka, a powder for the bath, made from a 'stone', -pāsāna-, acc. to Vin. Comm. 1200.1), a sort of bath-powder, acc. to Tib. made of ground lead (zha ñe brdar): Mvy 9291. In Mvy 5981 the same word (m.) certainly means ruby as in Skt.; it follows words for gold and silver. Tib. transliterates, or alternatively renders by zha ñe, lead (base metals are named in the sequel); Chin. tin.

Kurkuṭārāma (m.; also Kukku°, Kukkuṭāgāra, qq.v.; = Pali Kukku°), n. of a grove and monastery at Pāṭaliputra: Divy 375.7; 381.12; 384.28; 406.20; 423.11; 430.14 ff. (here one ms., D, has Kukku° several times); 434.5 (here text is found only in D, which writes Kukku°).

kurvati, see Chap. 43, s.v. kr.

kulaṃkula, m. (= Pali kolaṃkola), one destined to be reborn in several families before liberation: Mvy 1011 = Tib. rigs nas rigs su skye ba; Dharmas 103 deva-k° manuṣya-k°. One of the stages of a śrāvaka; cf. ekavīcika. In corresp. Pali passage AN i.233.15 kolamkolo hoti dve vā tīṇi vā kulāni saṃdhāvitvā saṃsāritvā dukkhassa antaṃ karoti. See also kuḷākula.

[kuḷaccha, is surely only a graphic corruption for kulattha, not a genuine variant for it as Senart assumes on Mv ii.131.9 (-yūṣaṃ, cf. Pali kulatthayūṣaṃ MN i.245.19) and 204.19.]

kuḷajyeṣṭhāpacāyaka, see apacāyaka.

kula-dūśaka, m. (= Pali °śaka), in MSV iii.88.4 written °śika, injurer or spoiler of families (this is a saṃghavaśeṣa sin): Mvy 8380; Prāt 485.1; MSV iii.15.22. Corresp. to Pali Vin. iii.184.9 ff.; acc. to 185.1 ff. the 'injurer' or 'spoiling' consists in the erring monk's imposing on lay families improper services.

Kulanandana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.7.

kula-puruṣakeṇa, adv., at the rate of one man per family: Mv iii.176.10 (°keṇa tatra śalākāni cāriyanti), 11, 12 (in the first occurrence, only, v.l. °seṇa).

? kula-baddha, consort, wife (?): (Māyā . . .) Śuddhodaṇasya °ddha-kalpna (as Ś.'s wife?) Siddhārthaṃ bodhisattvaṃ janitravati (q.v.) Gv 439.1.

kuḷala, m. (n. pl. °lā; = Pali id.), some bird of prey, associated with grdhra and kāka (as in Pali with gijjha and kāka): Mv i.7.4 °lā ca grdhra ca kākolūkā ca; 11.11. One might identify it with Skt. and Pali kurara, osprey; but the latter is not used in Pali in close association with gijjha and kāka. In AMg. defined as a vulture, or (another) kind of bird.

kuḷavaka, m. = Skt. kuravaka, a kind of tree: Mv iii.80.1 (vs), with only 1 ms. (the other omits the word).

kula-sulka, nt.: acc. to pw and Jap., betrothal-price, paid for a bride to her father: Mvy 6797; no Chin. given; Tib. gñod, strength (! but also, in Dict. Cath. Miss., gñod ka, priv. vateur).

kula-sāmpreya, adj., substantially = sāmpreya, q.v., appropriate to (your?, or, a good?) family, or wholesome in (for) a (good) family; of food: Av i.255.2 °yena bhojanena (sc. me prayojanam; said by a pratyekabuddha). Speyer (Index) would em. to kila sām°, very implausibly.

kuḷākula, nt., the state of a kulamkula, q.v.: SP 27.8 (vs) kuḷakulaṃ ca pratipannaṃ (WT °na with ms. K') āsit, and he had attained the stage of one destined to be reborn in several families (before enlightenment). (ā = am, § 3.3.)

ku-lābha, m., slight acquisition (so Tib.): MSV ii.97. 14 ff.

kuḷāyaka, adj., m., confined to worldly existence: Divy 562.9 (vs) etac ca drṣṭveha parivrajanti, kuḷāyakās te na bhavanti santaḥ; te sarvasaṅgān abhisamprahāya, na garbhāśayyāṃ punar āvasanti. Prob. from kuḷāya, cage, and lit. caged, confined; less likely cpd. of kula plus āyaka (Skt. gr.) or *āyaka (cf. Skt. aya).

kuḷika, adj. (not in Pali, except in aggakulika; see agra°), of good family: Divy 366.6 eko 'grakulikapatro dvtiyāḥ kulikaputraś ca.

[kuḷina, misprint or corruption for Skt. kuḷina, adj.: Gv 526.16 (prose) (sarvajāter adōṣaḥ . . .) prajāyāṃ kulino (read °no) bhavati.]

Kuḷisika, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.11 (prose).

Kuḷiśeṣvarī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 598.17.

kuḷopaka, see upaka (1).

kuḷopagata, m., = kuḷopaka (cf. upaḡa = upaka, with etymologizing adaptation to root upa-gam-, further adapted here to ppp. -gata), family associate, see -upaka 1: Av ii.67.9 tasmimś ca grhe sthaviro 'niruddhaḥ kulopagataḥ.

[kuḷopi(yaṃ), Mv iii.453.3, mss., see kalopī.]

Kuvalayā, n. of a daughter of a dancing-teacher: Av ii.24.8 ff.

Kuvera, as one of the four mahārāja(n), see this.

Kuśa, (1) n. of a king, previous incarnation of the Buddha (in the 7th bhūmi): Mv i.128.13 ff.; (2) = Pali Kusa (hero of Kusa Jātaka); his story is told in Mv twice at great length, Mv ii.433.19 ff. and iii.8.3 ff.; (kuśajātakam samāptam iii.27.21;) also MSV i.100.11 ff.; probably referred to (rather than 1 above) in Mvy 3566, in list of cakravartin kings.

kuśaṅḍikā (see BR 5.1313; BHS goes against Aufrecht's em. reported pw 6.300, kuśa-kaṅḍikā), something used for a seat, prob. some kind of reed or grass, or a seat made thereof: Sādh 11.18 pallavopaviṣṭaḥ kuśaṅḍikopaviṣṭo vā.

Kuśadruma, n. of a brother of Kuśa (2), q.v.: Mv ii.446.12 ff.; 460.18; iii.10.10; 15.4.

Kuśanagara, nt., = Kuśinagarī, q.v.

Kuśamālin, m. (= Pali Kusamāli), n. of a mythical sea: Jm 91.24 °hī samudro 'yaṃ.

kuśala, nt. (= Pali kusala, synonym of puñña; in Skt. Lex. only, also syn. of puṇya), good in a moral sense (not so in Skt. literature), merit, righteous action; there are 10 kuśala (= Pali 10 kusala or sīla), Mvy 1685, listed 1686–98, = (kuśala) karmapatha, q.v. for list. See the next items.

kuśala-pakṣa (m., = Pali kusala-pakkha), the side of virtue, good morals: °kṣam pratijāgrhīti Av ii.145.2; °kṣam pratijāgrhethi MSV i.237.8; in Śikṣ 128.1 (prose) atisaṃlikhito hi kuśalapakṣa-parāṇmukho bhavati, too severely restricted (in food), he becomes averse to the virtuous life (wrongly Bendall and Rouse). See saṃlikhita.

kuśalapuṇya, meritorious deed of virtue, in Mv i.81.1–2 contrasted with kuśalamūla, but whether the former marks a higher, more developed stage of religious advancement than the latter (as Senart seems to believe), is not clear to me: (ye punar . . .) bodhisattvā avaiartikāṭāyā pariṇāṃenti, kin tu khalu teṣāṃ upacita-kuśala-puṇyāṇāṃ prathamā prañidhir utpadyati, āho svid upacita-kuśalamūlāṇāṃ iti. The reply, in vss, first says that worship of Buddhas etc. does not suffice. Then (81.16) te yadā vipula-puṇya-saṃcayā, bhonti bhāvita-śarira-mānasāḥ; te . . . bodhaye upaṇanti mānasam; yaṃ mayā kuśalamūlam arjitaṃ, tena me bhavatu sarvadarśitā; . . . (82.3) yaś ca me kuśalamūla-saṃcayo, so mahā bhavatu sarvaprāṇibhiḥ . . . Is puṇya of 81.16 something else than kuśala-puṇya of 81.1–2? Both it and kuśala-mūla seem, as far as I can tell, to have the same effect in the verses; no clear answer to the question in the prose has been discovered by me.

kuśala-mūla, nt., usually pl. (= Pali kus°), root(s) of merit; Pali has three, alobha, adosa, amoha; the same, with adveṣa = Pali adosa, in Mvy 1936–8; Dharmas 138; two other kinds named separately Mvy 1208–9, abhisamayāntikam ku°, and kṣayajñānalābhikam ku°, a different list of three in Dharmas 15, bodhicittotpāda, āśayaviśuddhi, ahamkāra-mamakāra-parityāga; Mvy 7417 avaropita-kuśalamūla, one who has planted (see avaropayati) roots of merit; very many other occurrences, e. g. LV 429.14; Mv (see kuśala-puṇya) i.134.3; 142.11; Divy 23.18; 65.10; 95.25; Av i.4.2, et passim; often referred to in prañidhāna as basis for making the 'earnest wish'.

kuśala-varta, m., prob. auspicious procedure or functioning: Mvy 2738, introductory to Chap. 138 kuśalādayaḥ; no Tib., Chin., or Jap. translation; cf. s.v. varta, and Pali vatta. Here kuśala has its normal Skt. mg., not that peculiar to Buddh. language.

-kuśalin, in daśa-kuśalī, n. sg. m.: LV 169.11 (vs), possessing the ten kuśala (q.v.), i. e. living a moral life.

Kuśākṣī, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.23.

Kuśāvati, (1) name given to Kuśa's city: MSV i.106.18: (2) (= Pali Kusā°) former name of Kuśinagarī: MPS 34.1 ff.

Kuśi-grāmaka (? text with 1 ms.; vv.ll. Kuśilagrā°, Kuśala°, nt., = Kuṣṭha-grāmaka, q.v.: Divy 208.14. (Not = next.)

Kuśinagarī (also Kuśanagaram, Mvy 4125; Kuśinagarī, Karmav 36.11), = Pali Kusinārā, n. of a town of the Mallas, where the Buddha entered nirvāṇa: Divy 394.6; Av i.227.5; ii.197.5; MPS 30.4 and 32.4 (which together guarantee the form).

kuśida, see kuśida.

Kuśinagarī = Kuśi°, q.v.

Kuṣṭha-grāmaka, m., n. of a Vṛjī village near Vaiśālī: MPS 20.2; 21.6. Not in Pali; Tib. first ku-sti, later ru-rta ('a spicy root', Jā., = kuṣṭha); on Divy equivalent see Kuśi-grāmaka (not = Kuśinagarī).

kuṣṭhila, adj. (cf. Skt. kuṣṭha, kuṣṭhin; on the suffix § 22.17), leprous: RP 30.7 (vs) kuṣṭhilās, n. pl.

kuśida, kuś°, (1) adj. (cf. kuśida, TS 7.3.11.1, rendered inert, Keith; = Pali kusita; cf. akuśida-, kauśīdya), sloughful. The mg. of this essentially Pali-BHS word is made clear by collocations like Mv iii.436.6 kuśido hinaviryavān; Bbh 182.26 na kuśido... na hinavīryo; Gv 220.7 kuśida-nyasta-prayogān sattvān; and see s.v. kauśīdya. The spelling with ś seems to be always found in Mv (i.79.11; ii.93.5, 16; 220.16), and occurs also LV 35.4; Av ii.107.3 (mss., Speyer em. to s); RP 18.7; 34.8; Śikṣ 52.6; so also most mss. Sukh 74.3 (ed. s); otherwise with s, SP 27.7; 203.11 hīnādhimuktās ca kuśidarūpā; Av i.15.15 ff.; 216.1; Śikṣ 50.17; 275.4; Mmk 73.12; (2) noun, m. or nt., slough (not so recorded in Pali; = kauśīdya), clearly in RP 35.13 (vs) lābhābhībūtasya kuśida (n. sg.) vardhate, kuśidabhūtasya prapaṣṭa śraddhā; perhaps also in Gv 220.7, above.

kusuma, (1) lit. flower, used in comp. Lañk 43.15, -kusuma-dharma-paryāya, lit. flower (of a) dharma-p°, i. e. supreme, beautiful, noble one? Tib. renders literally; Suzuki most subtle doctrine (does 'most subtle' represent kusuma?); (2) n. of two future Buddhas: dvau buddhau kusumanāmau ('nāmānau) Mv ii.355.8 = iii.279.13; n. of a future Buddha, Gv 441.25; followed by Kusumaśrī, the two corresponding to Mv's two Kusumas (on the passage see s.v. Maitreya); (3) n. of a king, former incarnation of Śākyamuni: RP 24.10.

Kusumakuśa, n. of a brother of Kuśa (2): Mv ii.433.17.

Kusumaketu, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.19.

Kusumaketumaṇḍalin, n. of a kiṃnara: Mvy 3416.

Kusumaḡarbha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 256.8.

Kusumagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.17.

Kusumacūḍa, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.153.16.

Kusumadhvaḡa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 2.18.

Kusumaprabha, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.7.

Kusumarāśi, n. of a Buddha: Gv 258.26.

Kusumavṛṣṭyabhiprakīrṇa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.7.

Kusumaśayana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.8.

Kusumaśrī, n. of a future Buddha: Gv 441.25 (see Kusuma); one of 'the 35 Buddhas', Śikṣ 169.12.

Kusumaśrīgarbha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Dbh 2.10.

Kusumasambhava, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.5.

? Kusumahestha (so Senart; 6 mss. vary greatly; a better guess might be °hemastha, with one good ms.), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.11.

Kusumā, n. of a legendary queen, instructed and saved by Buddha (wife of Kusumbha): Mv i.177.14; 180.14, 17; 181.7 ff.

Kusumābhijña, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.12.

Kusumārcisāgarapradīpa, n. of a Buddha: Gv 256.18.

Kusumāvati, n. of a lokadhātu, presided over by Saṃkusumitarāja (°rājendra): Mmk 2.5; 5.11; 79.27.

Kusumottama, n. of a Buddha: Mmk 426.7.

Kusumottarājñānin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 2.14.

Kusumottariya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.7.

Kusumotpala (mss. °para), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

Kusumbha, n. of a king, husband of Kusumā: devī Kusumbharājasya Mv i.180.14, 15.

kusulaka, nt. (also kuśulaka, q.v.), a woman's breast-covering: Mvy 9000. So apparently Tib.: śiñ ṅa (d)puñ chad, cf. Jā. dpuñ pa bead, the part of a woman's dress covering the chest.

? kusuvā, sc. lipi, a kind of writing: Mv i.135.8 (but v.l. kumuvā).

? ku-sūtra, in Mv i.144.5 (prose), mss. kusūtre; Senart em. kusūtram, rendering a very fine thread (hardly plausible, since ku- is regularly pejorative). The passage is extremely corrupt and its mg. obscure; Senart makes sweeping emendations.

kuśulaka, (1) nt., = kusulaka, q.v.: Bhik 15a.2 evam uttarāsaṅgam antarvāsaḡ kuśulakam saṃkākṣikā adhiṣṭhātavyā; (2) m., a man's garment: Rāhulasya °kaḡ MSV ii.48.15.

kuha, adv. (so Pkt. id., Saptasatakam, ed. Weber, 507; more usual Pkt. kaḡam, kaḡa), how?: Mv iii.264.14 (prose) taṃ kuha (mss.; Senart em. kuḡam!) nāma saṃbhūṣiyasī (mss. °ti, em. Senart), how will you get that? (or perhaps with °ti of mss., how will that be got?).

kuhaka, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali id.; see next), hypocritical, or a hypocrite (in the sense explained s.v. kuhana): Śikṣ 20.16 kuhako vatāyam, lapako vatāyam, naṣṭadharmo...

kuhana, nt., or °nā (Skt. both Lex.; Pali °nā, in same technical sense as BHS), lit. trickery; as one of the 5 mithyājīva, q.v., for a monk, see Wogihara, Lex. 21 ff., hypocrisy, specifically display of behavior designed to stimulate laymen to give gifts: Mvy 2493 °nā; na lapanā na kuhanā kartavyā Śikṣ 131.3; citta-kuhanā, 131.6; 268.3; kāya-, vāk-kuhanā 268.1; °nām lapanām naimittikatām naiṣpeṣikatām lābhena lābhām (read lābha-) niścikīrṣutām (the 5 mithyājīva) Bbh 168.21-22; a-kuhanatā a-naiṣpeṣikatā (so read), in a list of virtues, Śikṣ 183.15; na ca pareṣaṃ kuhanārtham dānam dadāti Bbh 122.1 (of a Bodhisattva); kuhanārtham, also Bbh 234.20; kuhana-lapana-, in lists of vices, Jm 110.20; LV 372.17; Śikṣ 268.6; kuhana-lapana-tayā KP 123.4; RP 17.5 (so read for text °lepana°; prose); kuhana-lapana- (text °lepana)-niṣpeṣaṇaparivarjitasya RP 15.10. Cf. further LaVallée Poussin, AbhidhK. iv.165, n. 4; and Pali and Chin. parallels, with general discussion, Wogihara l.c.

1 kuhā (or kuha, with ā m.c.? Skt. and Pali kuha, only adj. or nom. ag., deceitful, deceiver; cf. kuhana), deceit: RP 13.9 (vs) māyā-kuhā-varjitāh.

[2 Kuhā, n. of a river: Māy 252.35; prob. error for Skt. Kuhū.]

? Kūjaka, n. of a mountain: MSV i.152.12. But Divy here Kūlaka, q.v., and earlier Utkūlaka, q.v. (for the latter MSV i.144.16 is said to read Kulako in ms., ed. em. Kūjako) and since the ms. has a lacuna covering i.152 (see i.149, note 1), I presume Kūjaka must be based on Tib. (sgra can? see i.144, n. 2).

Kūṭagrāmaka, see Kuṭigrāmaka.

Kūṭadamṣṭra, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 27.

Kūṭadantī, (1) n. of a rākṣasi: SP 400.4; (2) n. of a yakṣiṇī: Suv 163.2.

kūṭanā (ana-formation to kūṭa, § 22.7), trickery: SP

Kūṭāgāra, nt., n. of a city (in the south): Gv 185.24 etc.

Kūṭāgāra-śālā (= Pali °śālā), n. of a hall or house near Vaiśālī where the Buddha often stayed: Divy 136.7; 200.21 (Bhagavān . . . Vaiśālyam) viharati . . . °śālāyām; similarly Av i.8.5; 279.5; MSV i.224.14; Mv i.299.20 idam mahāvanam kūṭāgāraśālam or °lām, mss.; Senart em. sa-kūṭāgāraśālam. See Markaṭahrada-tīra (same place?).

kūrparaka, nt. (= Skt. °ra, m.), elbow: Mvy 3973.

Kūlaka, m., n. of a mountain (= Utkūlaka, q.v.): Divy 455.28 (= Kūjaka MSV i.152.12).

(a-)kūhaka, adj., (not) deceiving: Dbh.g. 16(352).18 sumanāś ca akūhakaś ca; prob. m.c. for Skt. kuhaka. Cf. next.

kūhanā (so Skt. Lex. once; but prob. m.c. for Skt. kuhanā), trickery: Samādh p. 49 line 22 (vs). Cf. prec.

Kṛkin (= Pali Kiki(n); chiefly Skt. in-stem forms have been noted outside of Mv), n. of a legendary king of Benares in the time of the Buddha Kāśyapa (Mv and Av), father of Mālinī: Mv i.303.5, 7 kṛkisyā, gen.; kṛkī, n., Mv i.313.3; 323.14, 17; 325.13, etc.; kṛkīm, v.l. kṛkī (Senart em. kṛkim), acc. sg., Mv i.324.3; tried to seduce Padmāvati (1) after she became a wandering nun, Mv iii.168.18 (gen. kṛkisyā); other references, Mvy 3651; Divy 22.10 ff.; Av i.338.1 ff.; ii.39.5 f.; 76.14; 80.6; 124.14; MSV i.200.16 (vs; kṛker, gen.); ii.77.12 (kṛkir).

-kṛta, (1) in drṣṭi-kṛta, q.v., lit. perh. (what has) become . . ., or (subst.) matter of . . .; seems = (drṣṭi-)gata; (2) acc. to Senart = kṛtya (q.v. 2) as equivalent of adj. formation or gen. case-form, in Mv ii.274.4 udyānakṛtā āsanā, allegedly les sièges du jardin. But does it not mean quite literally and simply seats made in the park? In Mv ii.245.5 read with mss. karaṇḍe mālakṛto, in the garland-maker's basket (stem māla-kṛt).

-kṛtam, see -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvas.

kṛtaka, adj. (perhaps essentially identical with Skt. kṛtaka, but with peculiar tinge of mg. as opp. of akṛtaka, q.v.): created (person or thing), fashioned, material or langible (person or thing): Lañk 60.14; 61.1, 9, etc.; 176.11; 187.9. Mistranslated 'creator' (1) by Suzuki e. g. at 61.9.

Kṛtājña, n. of a previous incarnation of Śākyamuni, hero of Avadāna-kalpalatā ch 45, and, acc. to Finot, of Kalpadrumāvadānamālā ch. 34; referred to RP 25.5-6; cf. Finot p. viii.

kṛtaśas, postposition with prec. gen. (used like Skt. kṛtena, kṛte, but this form is nowhere recorded), for the sake (of): Mvy 5461 = Tib. phyir; sarvasattvānām k° Śikṣ 282.12; 350.9; evaṃrūpānām dharmānām k° Śikṣ 37.19; (vratasamādānasya) k° 98.13; -karmakarāṇām k° Suv 190.4; pāramitānām k° AsP 229.12; saddharmaparigrahasya k° AsP 339.7, et alibi (sometimes printed with s for ś).

Kṛtāgada, n. of a Buddhakṣetra in the east: Mv i.123.8.

kṛtādhikāra, see adhi°.

kṛtāvin, adj. (§ 22.51; = Pali katāvin, acc. to PTSD applied to arhats; so only in the first BHS citation), skilled, skillful: °vi-bhūmi, n. of the 7th and last of the śrāvaka-bhūmi, i. e. that of the arhat, Mvy 1147; ŚsP 1473.14 et alibi, see bhūmi 4; but otherwise regularly of worldly skills, and with loc. of the subject of the skill: pañcasu (Divy 442.9 pañca-jsthānesu kṛtāvī samvṛttaḥ Mvy 4996; Divy 58.28; 100.13; 442.9 (see vidyā-sthāna); dāruparīkṣāyām k° Divy 31.1; gaṇitre 263.9; līpy-akṣareṣu 301.17; śabde 496.6; in comp., kauśala-kṛtāvinaḥ (gen. sg.) Bbh 75.2; absolute, kṛtāvī (n. pl.; of tuṣṭa gods) Dbh.g. 22(358).24.

kṛtin, adj., acc. to Suzuki belonging to the kṛta age: Lañk 365.6 aham ca virajo 'nye vai sarve te kṛtino jināḥ; the interpretation is supported by Tib. byañ dus, perfect time, and by 364.6 aham cānye kṛtayuge . . .

-kṛto, see -kṛtvā for Skt. kṛtvas.

? kṛttas, kṛtto, also written kṛntas, kṛnto, n. pl., how many? Lañk 31.2 (vs) kṣetre kṣetre rajāḥ kṛtto, dhanvo (read °ve) dhanve bhavet kati; Suzuki, Index, says 'kṛtta for kyanta', but the same appears 32.3 (vs) in virtually all mss. (ed. kyanto), and in 31.5, 7, 9 (vss) all mss. kṛntaḥ, kṛnto (ed. em. kyantaḥ, kyanto). We seem to be dealing with a hyper-Skt. substitute for a MIndic form related to Pali kittaka, how many? (minus -ka, which is metr. impossible).

kṛtīma, adj. (semi-MIndic for Skt. kṛtīma), artificial, unreal: °mā-bhūṣaṇa- LV 123.6 (vs).

kṛtya, (1) m., a kind of demon (cf. Skt. kṛtyā, of which this may be a masc. correspondent created for the nonce, in this passage which is a list of masc. evil spirits): SP 401.5-6 kṛtyo vā vetādo vā . . . (6) yakṣakṛtyo vāmanuṣyakṛtyo vā manuṣyakṛtyo vā; (2) nt., or at end of adj. cpds., business etc., in some cases apparently transcending normal Skt. usage; bhakta-kṛtya (= Pali bhatta-kicca), lit. business of food, so a meal: Divy 185.22 °tyam kartum ārabdhah; āhāra-kṛtya, id., Divy 82.26 nānenāhāreṇāhāra-kṛtyam kariṣyati, he will not make his meal(s) on this food, i. e. live on this alone; Divy 236.6, text āhāram (read °ra-?) kṛtyam kuru, get your sustenance; acc. to Senart, note on Mv i.349.18 (p. 622), used like the Pkt. quasi-suffix -kera(ka) as substantial equivalent of gen. case-ending (Pkt. -kera is to be derived from Skt. kārya with Pischel 176; see -keraka); Senart's Index further interprets -kṛtye ii.97.13 as 'periphrasis for instrumental', but this is certainly wrong, since there gitakṛtye pramattā jaladardarake ca clearly means careless in their occupation with singing and the (musical instrument) jaladardaraka; the cases where -kṛtya is alleged to be a 'periphrasis for the gen.' are also, in some cases, doubtful; in Mv i.349.18 and 350.1 Senart rāja-kṛtyā koṣāto, supposedly = from the king's treasury, but the mss. read rāja-kṛto or (v.l. in 349.18) °kṛtāto, and the latter, at least, could be interpreted (the treasury made by the king); ii.95.4 rājakṛtyato (abl.; v.l. °tām) odhṛtabhāro, having laid down the burden of (lit. from, away from) royal duty; in ii.446.14 rājakṛtye simhāsane rājeti kṛtva (°tvā?) upaviśāpito, he (who was actually not the king) was caused to sit upon the throne which was appropriate (really belonged) to the king; ii.478.10 rājakṛtye (v.l. °kṛte) mahānase, and 12 rājakṛtyehi sūpehi, as in prec.; Senart's interpretation may however be substantially correct in the last three, and in ii.113.9 rājakṛtyam udyānam, the park that belonged to the king. Since Skt. kṛtya is in fact a synonym of kārya in some of its uses, the comparison with Pkt. -kera(ka), from Skt. kārya, is apposite. But the two alleged parallels from LV cited by Senart in his note, above, are not sound; one rests on a false reading of the Calcutta ed., and the other is to be interpreted otherwise. kṛtyānuṣṭhāna-jñāna, nt., knowledge of the carrying out of duty, one of the 5 jñāna (q.v.) of a Tathāgata: Mvy 114; Dharmas 94.

-kṛtyo = -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvas, q.v.

kṛtrimaka, adj. (= Skt. kṛtrima, prob. with dim. or pejorative connotation), imitation-, false-, toy-, perhaps with added sense of little: Bbh 281.13 (prose) (tasya dahrasyaiva...) kṛtrimakā mṛgarathakā... upasamhṛtā bhaveyuh; in 16 below, teṣv eva kṛtrimeṣu mṛgeṣu.

1 -kṛtvā (also -kṛtva, -kṛtvam), for Skt. -kṛtvas, adv., ... time(s), after numerals in comp.; kṛtvā is the only non-Skt. form noted outside of Mv, viz. in Suv 115.4; 116.7 (only v.l. triḥ° for triṣ-kṛtvā); Divy 95.24 and 124.20 ṣaṅkṛtvā (mss., ed. em. °tvo); Śikṣ 290.10, 12 triṣkṛtvā. In the mss. of Mv this form is found, along with many others (partial list Senart, note on i.212.5); Senart's text is highly arbitrary and inconsistent, paying often little attention to the mss., but also not attempting to standardize. In the following list the readings of the mss. as given by Senart are cited. Forms showing u in the penult of course are related to AMg. khutto, M. huttam (Pischel 451); those with final nasal, to the latter and to Pali khattum; the vowel u seems not to occur in the final syllable except when preceded by a single t, in which case -tu- is apparently only a misreading or miswriting for -tta- (Senart, l.c.). Forms in -tya, -tyā, -tyo, -tyam seem to be unparalleled in other dialects but are quite common in Mv, which shows (in mss.) the following: -kṛtvā, -kṛtva, -kṛtvam, and very rarely -kṛto, -kṛtam; -kṛtya, -kṛtyā, -kṛtyo, -kṛtyam; -khuttam (cf. the Pkt. forms above), -khutta, -kṣuttam (hyper-Skt.), -kṣunto; -khattam (cf. Pali, above), -kṣattam, -kṣatto, -kuttam, and a few other readings too obviously corrupt to be worth listing (but noted below): Mv (S = Senart's text) i.212.5 S trikhattam, mss. triṣuttam, triṣkṛtvā; 212.13 S triṣkhattam, mss. °khatum, °kṛtya; 213.5 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. °tvā, °tya; 231.1 S triṣkṛtyo, mss. °tya, °tvā; 246.5 S trikhattum, mss. trikṣunto, trikhattam; 246.8 S trikhatto, mss. trikṣunto, °kṣuttam; 256.15 S triṣkhuttam, mss. triṣkṛtya, triṣtūbhyam (?); ii.16.1 triṣkṛtyo, v.l. °tya; 16.8 triṣkṛtyo without v.l., so also 268.3 and iii.302.19 (mss.); ii.131.14 and 313.13 triṣkṛtyo, v.l. °tya; 177.19 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. triṣkṛtya, triṣkṛtvā (dental s); 258.2 triṣkṛtyo, v.l. °tya (passage repeated 259.1 where mss. °kṛtya, Senart em. °tyo); 282.6 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. °tvā, °tyā; ii.45.2 ṣatakhatto, no v.l.; 412.5, twice, first triṣkṛto in mss. (S em. °tyo), then °tyo, v.l. °to; 424.20 S trikṣutto, mss. trikṣatto, triṣkṛtya; 425.3 trikṣuttam, v.l. triṣkṛtyam; 425.15 S trikṣuttam, mss. triṣkṣattam, triṣkṛtyam; 426.7 S trikṣuttam, mss. triṣkuttam, triṣkṛtyam; iii.76.2 triṣkṛtyam, no v.l.; 111.8 trikhattam, v.l. triṣkṛtyam; 76.11 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. °tvā, °ttyā; 139.4 S trikhattam, mss. triṣkṛtyam, trittam; 139.9 trikṣuttam, v.l. triṣkṛtyam; 255.6 S triṣkṛtvam, mss. °tva, °tam; 298.16 and 311.12 triṣkuttam, 301.2 saptakuttam (twice with v.l. °kṛtyam); 410.16 S trikhattam, mss. trikṣustam, triṣkṛtyam; 446.6 S trikhattam, mss. trkṣuttam, triṣkṛtyam.

keṣoṇḍu, m. (or f.), = next, only in Lañk 327.6 (vs; dropping of -ka m.c.? § 22.24) yathā hi darpaṇe bimbam keṣoṇḍus . . .

keṣoṇḍuka, m. and nt. (recorded once, erroneously, as °ndraka, in Skt., pw, defined as ringförmige Lichterschneidungen vor geschlossenen Augen), also °ḍu, and v.l. °ḍaka, apparently primarily hair-net or the like; this lit. mg. apparently in Bṛ 245.3 °ka-maṇḍitam; standardly used as a symbol of unreality, prob. with mg. as cited from pw above: °ḍukaḥ (so also Mironov; v.l. in both °ḍakam) Mvy 2836, among synonyms for māyā; frequent in Lañk, e. g. 168.5 (cited MadhK 262.2) keṣoṇḍukam yathā mithyā gr̥hyate taimirair (MadhK °rikair, unmetr.) janaiḥ (vs); 96.5 skandhāḥ keṣoṇḍukākārāḥ; 17.6 °ka-svabhāvāvasthitānām; 72.6 and 82.1 °ka-prakhyā(h), etc. Suzuki regularly renders hair-net, but this in its literal sense does not fit.

kesarin, Kesari-rāja, see s.v. Keśarin.

kaiñjalka, adj. (Skt. kiñjalka plus -a), derived from filaments (of flowers): Jm 102.10 °kasya . . . madhunaḥ.

kaiṭabha, (once in LV) kaiṭubha, m. (= Pali keṭubha), ritual science (of the Veda; = Skt. kalpa, as a Vedāṅga; so Buddhaghosa on the Pali, see PTSD): for the corrupt text of LV 156.18 (in list of sciences) ajalakṣaṇe miślakṣaṇe kauṭubheśvaralakṣaṇe nirghaṇṭe, read, with each word confirmed by Tib. and supported by good mss. (except mss. śvara for śva), but order correct only in Tib., all Skt. mss. kaiṭ° before śva°: ajalakṣaṇe miṇḍhalakṣaṇe śvalakṣaṇe kaiṭubhe nirghaṇṭe; Mvy 5052 kaiṭabhāḥ, following 5051 nighaṇṭuḥ; otherwise only in Bhvr. cpd. sa-nighaṇṭa- (or nirghaṇṭa-)kaiṭabha, epithet of veda, along with etymology and ritual science: (vedānām . . .) sa° °bhānām Mv i.231.18; ii.77.9; 89.17; iii.450.7; Av ii.19.7; (vedān . . .) sa° °bhān Divy 619.22.

Kaineya (= Pali Keniya), n. of a jāta ascetic, converted by Buddha, living at Udumā: MSV i.255.14 ff.; 262.10 ff. Cf. Koṭu.

kaivarta, m., some member (officer?) of a ship's crew; in Av i.200.5 and ii.61.9 named with āhāra, nāvika, and karnadhāra, in ii.61.9 constituting five sorts of members of the crew (the fifth, not named in text, may be raṇadhara of Mvy 3854; essentially the same list is found in Mvy 3850–55, kaivarta being named in 3855; here Jap. and alternatively Tib. and Chin. interpret by fisherman (as in Skt.), but the first Tib. rendering is rgyal chen, normally = mahārāja; prob. a ship's officer.

Kokadatta, n. of an author: Sādh 426.15.

Kokanada, m., (1) (= Pali id. or °nuda), n. of a parivrājaka: Pischel, SBBA 1904, p. 813, fol. 158a; (2) n. of a palace belonging to King Kṛkin: Mv i.325.1 ff. (In Pali n. of a palace belonging to a wholly different prince called Bodhi; see DPPP).

Kokanāda, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.11.

Kokālika (= Pali id.), n. of a monk, a partisan of Devadatta: Karmav 49.4 yathā Devadatta-Kokālikā-dayaḥ; MSV iv.239.5 ff.

kocava, m. (cf. Pali kojava, PTSD rug or cover with long hair, Childers a goat's-hair coverlet . . .), a woolen blanket (so Tib.): Mvy 5861 = Tib. bal la ba; so read, in general with mss., at Divy 40.11; 550.16; 553.2, 9; nt., °vam, as material unsuitable for making monks' robes, MSV ii.52.10. Cf. next.

kocavaka, nt., = prec.: Mvy 8982 = Tib. la ba.

[koccaka, w.r. for kocava, q.v.]

kotika, m., Mvy 9423, acc. to Tib. and Chin. iron-rust. Ed. suggests em. kiṭṭakam, = Skt. (lauha)kiṭṭa and Lex. kiṭṭaka, nt., iron-rust; cf. kiṭāla-.

koṭanaka, nt. (to koṭayati), striker, clapper (of a gong): gaṇḍi-ko° Mvy 9156.

koṭani, see kapāla-k°.

koṭambaka, nt., a kind of fine cloth: Mvy 9163 (transliterated in Tib., Chin., and Jap.); SP 89.6 (vs), read with WT and some mss. pratyāstrtāḥ koṭiṣahas-ramūlyair varaiś ca koṭambaka- (KN by em. koccair baka-)haṃsalakṣaṇaiḥ (see hamsalakṣaṇa); Chin on SP indicates a fine woolen cloth; °ka-sūksma, nt., a fine garment of this cloth, Bhik 22b.5.

koṭayati (cf. ākoṭayati; simplex app. not otherwise recorded, cf. koṭanaka), (1) strikes: Divy 114.22 nagaradvāram triḥ (text tri-, here and in all the following) koṭayitavyam; tri(h) koṭite dvāre Divy 115.27; 117.4, 13; (dvāramūlam . . .) tri(h) koṭayati Divy 115.27 (note 117.26 dvāram trir ākoṭayati); (2) ppp. covered (with gold, silver, and jewels; perh. orig. studded, from struck), so Tib., gyogs pa: LV 236.9 (vs) svarṇarūpya-maṇi-koṭitā mahi kaṇṭhakasya caraṇai parāhatā, the earth, covered with gold, silver, and gems, was struck by the feet of Kaṇṭhaka. (Or could it mean the earth, as it was struck by the feet of K., was hit with gold, silver, and gems, with which the gods had magically shod the horse's feet? Tib. favors the other.)

koṭara-yava, m., should be a depreciative epithet of barley (intended for horses, but eaten by Buddha), wretched or coarse barley (lit. barley gathered from tree-hollows?): MSV i.38.9, 13; 42.9; 44.13; 216.14 ff. Pali allusion to this incident Ap i.301.1 says only yava.

koṭi (f.), in Pali often = anta (q.v. in CPD), end, limit, esp. in time; this use is illustrated by aparānta- and pūrva-koṭi, qq.v., and by koṭi alone in LV 242.13 (vs) na vidyati koṭi (so divide; Lefm. as cpd.) samskr̥tasya, there is no end (sc. in either direction of time) of composite substance (i. e. of material existence). See also s.v. bhūta-koṭi; and (with a different mg. of koṭi) tri-koṭi. For akoṭi or °ḥi see s.v. bhūta-koṭi.

koṭitama, f. °mī, ord. num., the ten-millionth: Vaj 35.8 °mim api (sc. kalām).

(Koṭivarṣa, m. or nt., n. of a locality: Māy 62. Occurs in Skt. Lex., see Lévi, p. 97 f., but also in Varāh. Brh.S., see BR 5.1329, a fact not mentioned by Lévi; and see Kirfel, Kosmographie 226, Koṭivarṣa, capital of the Lāṭa people.)

Koṭikarṇa, see Śroṇa Ko°.

Koṭivimsā (= Śroṇa-ko°, q.v.), n. of a Buddhist elder, called ārabdhaviryāṇām agryo: MSV i.181.12 ff., 15.

Koṭu (or Koṭṭa? corresp. to Pali Keniya or Keniya, see Kaineya, a jaṭila), n. of an ascetic (maharṣi): Karmav 155.1. Koṭusya, text with ms., but Lévi suggests em. Koṭṭasya; see his note.

koṭṭamalla, Av ii.116.15, MSV i.85.12, 16; or koṭṭa-mallaka, m., Av ii.116.9 ff., MSV i.84.19; 85.10; = kroḍamalla(ka), q.v., beggar.

koṭṭa-rājan or °rāja, lit. fort-ruler; precise mg. not clear; sometimes clearly an independent potentate (tho perhaps a minor one, cf. Mvy 3677 °rājā = Tib. khams kyi rgyal po, king of a realm, region, or rgyal phran, petty ruler); so, °rāja iva mantriṅaparivṛtaḥ Divy 126.4; 148.15; 182.9; Av i.108.7; sarvakotṭarājānām cāturdvīpakānām ca sattvānām Dbh 81.17; mānitās ca bhaviṣyāmo 'navadyās ca sarvakotṭarājābhiḥ (so read with several mss. for Lefm. °koṭa°), and we shall be honored and not contemned by all k° (surely foreign princes) LV 137.3; vimśati ca sahasra paryantakāḥ koṭṭarājās tathā... LV 94.16 (vs), here they approach Śuddhodana submissively, possibly they may be vassals of his, but it seems more likely that they are foreign princes; but in other cases they seem clearly to be part of the king's own retinue or at least direct dependents, apparently officers; so in LV 118.10 (Śuddhodana gives orders to the people of his city) samnipātyantām sarvakotṭarājānāḥ, ekibhavantu śreṣṭhi-grhapatya-amātya-dauvārika-pāriṣadyāḥ; Mv i.231.15 rājā aṣṭīthi koṭṭarājasahasreḥi sār-dham anyāye ca janatāye; 234.16 rājñā ca arcimena aṣṭīthi ca koṭṭarājāna-sahasreḥi (one cpd. word!); Divy 61.16 Śaṅkho 'pi rājā aṣṭīkoṭṭarājasahasraparivāro; KP 84.8 (kumāram) sarvasreṣṭhinaigamajānapatayah (read °padāḥ) koṭṭarājānaś ca namasyanti; Sukh 68.1 (amātyān stryāgārāñ śreṣṭhino) grhapatīn koṭṭarājāms ca paryesayed. It is, however, perhaps possible to take the word in all these latter cases as meaning vassal prince. The context gives no clue to the mg. in SP 433.4; Suv 153.9.

koḍa, MIndic for kroḍa, breast: koḍa-sakkino SP 95.3 (vs), so both edd. and most mss. (v.l. kroḍa°). See also s.v. kola (2).

Koḍya, Kroḍya, Krauḍya, m. pl. (= Pali and BHS Koliya), n. of a people, neighbors of the Śākya: LV 225.6, Koḍyān (Calc.; Lefm. Kro°, semi-Sktized, no v.l.)

atikramya; in MPS 51.13 fully Sktized as Krauḍya, living at Rāmagrāmaka, q.v.

[koḍhaka, read khoṭaka, q.v., or khoḍaka.]

Koṅākamuni = Kanakamuni, q.v.

koṅāla, some kind of bird. RP 43.3 (vs), in a list of birds, kokilās ca koṅāla (n. pl.); prob. = kuṅāla, with o for u m.c. (this is suggested by the preceding kokilās); cf. however Skt. koṅālaka, acc. to BR some sort of water-bird.

(? kotha, Finot's em. for ms. kutha, m.c., RP 14.6 (vs; meter requires length of first syllable) ṛṇa-kāṣṭha-kotha- (mss. kutha)-sama paśyati sattvarūpaḥ; perhaps = Skt. kotha, rottenness or a foul abscess: he regards the form of beings as like (worthless, vile) grass, wood, or rottenness (?).)

koḍravaka (m. or nt.; = Skt. °va), a cheap kind of grain: Mv ii.210.9 (prose) °kaṃ vā śyāmākam vā (acc. sg.; no special reason for suffix -ka perceptible).

Koṅāka(-nāma), Koṅākamuni, Koṅāka-sāhvaya, Koṅāgamuni, = Kanakamuni, q.v.

koṇīna (= Pali id., Skt. kau°), lit. the immodest bodily parts; fig. shame: Mv i.134.2 parakopīnachādaneṣu aparikhinnās ca bhavanti, and they are unwearied in covering the shame of others, i. e. concealing their disgraceful actions (Senart).

kopya, adj., gdve. (= Paii kuppā; also a-k°), challengeable, open to valid objection: °ya-tvāt karmaṇaḥ MSV iii.64.2; others, see s.v. sthāpana.

koraṇḍaka (m. or nt.; = Pali id., cf. Skt. kuraṇṭaka, Lex. kuraṇḍaka, and see BR 5.1330 koraṇḍaka, n. pr., and °ṭaka-grāma), n. of a certain shrub and its flower: Mmk 711.6 (prose) raktaśālituṣāgirikarṇikā-koraṇḍakabijam.

Koravya, see Kaur°.

korpara, kaurpara, m. (= AMg. koppara, Skt. kūrpara; Skt. kaurpara only adj.; not recorded in Pali, where the equivalent word is kappara), elbow: kaurparau, dual, Mmk 157.4; in cpds. kaurpara Mmk 69.12; kor° 76.12; 305.10; 436.3.

kola (m.), (1) (= Skt. Lex. id.; see also kaula; cf. Pali kulla), boat, raft: kolopamaḥ dharmaparyāyam Vaj 23.16 like a (rescuing) raft; kolaḥ janāḥ prabandhitā uttīrṇā... Divy 56.9 (vs); same vs begins in same way in oldest (fragmentary) ms. Ud xvii.7 (same vs in Pali, Ud viii.6, kullaḥ); kolaḥ badhnanti śrāvakāḥ Divy 56.11 (same vs Ud xvii.8 contains kolaḥ); Samādh p. 6 line 12; (2) (Skt. Lex. and M. kola = utsaṅga; see s.v. koḍa), breast, or lap: Mmk 371.13 (vs) kṛtvā nābhidēṣe vai kolastham nimnam udbhavam; (3) n. of a rājarṣi: Mv i.353.9; 355.13 (see Koliya).

kolaka (1) (nt.? = Skt. kola; possibly dim. -ka; but same phrase repeated next line with kolam), jujube berry: Mv ii.125.9 (prose) ekaṃ kolakam advitīyam āhāram āhāreyaḥ; (2) m., n. of a nāga: Māy 222.2.

kolāhala-, acc. to Tib. = ras ma, rag (e.p. of cotton), in °la-sthāvika, m. (see sthāvika), Mvy 9004, app. rag bag, or bag made of rags? Jap. bag for miscellaneous things; one Chin. rendering is cloth bag.

Kolika, n. pr., see Kolita.

Kolita (or Kolika; = Pali, both; in Mv i.27.4 and 28.4 most mss. Kolika, Senart always °ta), the given name of Maudgalyāyana: Mv i.5.2; 27.4; 28.4; 30.3; 62.10, 12; story of his conversion, iii.56.16 ff.; in Mvy 1048 Kolita is named in a list of śrāvakas, not juxtaposed with Maudgalyāyana, who is named earlier in the same list. Cf. next.

Kolita-grāmaka, nt., (Pali °gāma) name of the village (half a yojana from Rājagṛha) where Maudgal-yāyana was born: Mv iii.56.13. Cf. prec.

Koliya (= Pali id.; cf. Koḍya), n. of a tribe, neighbors of the Śākya: Mv i.355.13 (story of their origin 352.15–355.13; they were descendants of a Śākya girl and the ṛṣi Kola, q.v.; Pali has a similar story, but the father is a king of Benares, there is no personage named Kola, and the mother is not a Śākya); Mv ii.76.7; iii.93.20 (koliyā śākiyā ca). Cf. Vyāghrapadya.

Kolisovā (v.l. Koliśovā), n. of a sister of Māyā: Mv i.355.17.

kovidāra, m. (in Skt. n. of a tree, and also, in Hariv., of a heavenly tree, equated by BR with pārijāta; same two mgs. belong to Pali koviḷāra), in Mv i.32.4 and ii.452.1, at least, n. of one of the groves of the Trāyastriṃśa gods; elsewhere it is regularly equated or associated with pārijāta(ka), which seems as a rule to have its Skt. mg., or pāriyātra(ka), q.v.; cf. DPPN 'The pāricchattaka (= *pārijāta*ka, °yātraka; called a tree, but 100 leagues in circumference) is generally described as a koviḷāra'; it is certainly sometimes a (heavenly) tree, e. g. Gv 193.9 *-pārijāta*ka-kovidāra-sadṛśān (vrkṣān), but at other times it is hard to be sure whether it is conceived as a tree or a grove; e. g. Mvy 4199 (after *pāriyātra*h 4198, which is preceded by names of groves, but with 4200 ff. come words for individual trees); Divy 219.20 pāriyātrako (mss.) nāma kovidāro, 27 *pārijāta*ko kovidāro; SP 360.13–14 pārijātakasya kovidārasya, and same Av ii.89.6 (°jātasya); Gv 501.11 (here pāriyātrakasya). Perhaps the explanation is that, like the Pali pāricchattaka, it was a single tree of such size as to be equivalent to a grove.

kośamba (m. or nt.; semi-MIndic for Skt. kośāmbra), n. of a plant: °ba-kaśāya (one of five ka°): MSV i.iv.6. (Or is the Skt. form popular etymology, as if for kośāmbra? Cf. AMg. kosamba.)

? kośāvika, m. (pl.), some sort of tradesman or artisan, possibly a corruption of some form or deriv. of Skt. kaśīkāra, see BR, sheath-maker or box-maker: Mv iii.113.7 (here mss. koṇāvikā or nāvīkā); 442.13; both prose; in both °kā stands between gandhikā and tailikā.

kośikāra (m. or nt.; = AMg. kośiyāra; cf. Skt. kaśīka, silken, silk cloth), silk cloth: (read) dukūlapat-ṭoṇa-kośikārehi Mv i.149.5 = 216.1 = ii.18.16 (vs).

koṣṭha(ka), see carāṇa°, dvāra-k°.

Koṣṭhaka, m. or nt., n. of a town: Divy 434.15.

koṣṭhikā (to Skt. koṣṭha; cf. Pkt. koṭṭhiyā), storehouse, in dhāraṇa-k°, a place for storing and keeping (sacred books): MSV ii.143.6.

Koṣṭhila, also Mahā-k° and (Mahā-)Kauṣṭhila, qq.v. (= Pali Koṭṭhita or °ika or Mahā-k°, who was declared 'first of the *paṭisaṃbhida*patta' among Buddha's disciples, cf. below), a disciple of Buddha: in Av ii.195.4 declared first of the pratisaṃvitprāpta; here and in 195.7, 196.9 (also called Mahā-k° 195.5) he is evidently identified with Dirghanakha, q.v.; this identification not recorded in Pali but confirmed MSV iv.15.14 ff.; it should be noted that in Pali (Mahā-)Kotṭhita is intimately associated with Sāriputta, who in Av, MSV is a nephew of Dir- ghanakha, and who was present on the occasion of the Dighanakha-sutta even in Pali (MN i.497 ff.).

kaukṛtika, adj. (cf. next), (over-)scrupulous, worried in one's conscience: MSV ii.107.19.

kaukrṭya, nt. (Skt. Lex.; cf. prec.; = Pali kukkucca, of which or of a MIndic antecedent this is surely a Sktization, usually regret, remorse, worry, mental disturbance, 'difficulties of conscience' (SBE 13.51 for Pali kukkucca). This is the usual mg. in Pali; but sometimes the etymological mg., seemingly wickedness, evil deeds, must apparently be assumed (as in Jāt. i.119.29 hattha-kukkuccam vā pāda-kukkuccam vā). Cf. LaVallée Poussin, trnsl. of AbhidhK. ii.166: 'le regret (kaukrṭya) . . . au propre . . . est la nature de ce qui est méfait (kukṛtabhāva); mais on entend par kaukrṭya au sens propre, à savoir le regret (vipratīṣāra) relatif au méfait . . . Le kaukrṭya au sens propre est le point d'appui, la raison d'être du regret; donc le regret est nommé kaukrṭya'. Kausika, (1) (presumably = Skt. id. as gotra-name), n. of a brahmanical gotra: Mv ii.48.16 ff., and of an ascetic belonging to it, ii.49.3 ff.; in ii.63.18 he is called Nārada by personal name, which is due to a confusion in the story, the true form of which is told in Pali, Jāt. 535, where the ascetic is called (Macchari-)Kosiya (Kosika), and Nārada (= Skt. id.) appears as a quite different character; many vss of the Jāt. are paralleled in Mv, including one giving (in Mv, not in the Jāt.) the name Nārada, apparently, to the ascetic (Mv ii.55.3 = Jāt. v.395.12); (2) n. of a disciple of Śākyamuni, to be read in LV 1.16 instead of Kasphila, q.v., as proved by Tib. ḥug pa = owl; he may be the same as Pali 3 Kosiya in DPPN; (3) n. of a locality: Māy 81; see Lévi, p. 101.

Krimila, (1) n. of a mountain: Māy 253.32; (2) n. of a maharṣi: Māy 257.5.

kriyā (not in this sense in Skt., nor so far as I have found in Pali; the definition promise, vow, given PTSD s.v. kriyā 1(b), is not supported by a careful study of the few passages cited), decision, determination: Mv i.310.6 (cf. line 8 and Senart's note p. 602) eṣa brāhmaṇapariṣāya kriyā anuparivartitavyā, this decision of the brahman-assembly must be followed (observed, concurred in); SP 186.6-7 etām kriyām śroṣyanti, they will hear this decision (determination, viz. what is then stated, that there is only one nirvāṇa). Sometimes a corresponding Pali passage proves the emendation right, e. g. Mv iii.214.4 = DN ii.242.16 brūhi; Mv ii.50.2 = Jāt. v.387.21 vadāmi (Mv brūmi). In my opinion Senart should have made a clean sweep of these erroneous forms and adopted brūmi in i.280.14 and ii.405.15.]

klomaka, m. (= Pali kilomaka; to Skt. kloman plus -ka), lung, or pleura (seemingly the latter in Pali, cf. Buddhaghosa as quoted by Childers): Mvy 4018 °kaḥ = Tib. glo ba, lung; Śiḥ 70.1; 209.9 °kaḥ (in list of bodily parts).

kvātha (m.; in this mg. Skt. Lex.), misery, sorrow: asmābhir anena kvātha-kāyena prāptavyam prāptam (so punctuate) MSV i.5.17, by this body of misery we have got all we could get.

kṣaṇa, m. (= Pali khaṇa), birth under favorable conditions. There are 8 akṣaṇa (q.v.) but only 1 kṣaṇa, viz., birth as a man in the 'middle region', where a Buddha is to be expected, at a time when he is born, and with the mental capacity to assimilate his doctrine (Pali AN iv.227.8 ff.): Mv ii.363.4 kṣaṇam (acc.) ekaṃ buddhotpādām suśobhanam; Suv 41.(13-)-14(-15) (bhavantu aṣṭākṣaṇavīrtitāḥ, so read) āśādayantu kṣaṇarājam (the supreme favorable birth) uttamam, (labhantu buddhehi samāgamam sadā); Śiḥ 2.4; 114.15 kṣaṇasampad, the good luck of (this) favorable birth; 282.1 kṣaṇa-gati-pratilabdheṇa having obtained the lot of . . . ; Kv 18.19 sarvakṣaṇopapannāḥ sattvā(h), all creatures born under (the described) favorable conditions, cf. Sūtrā. xiii.10 kṣaṇopapatti. (In Mv ii.378.1 Senart kṣaṇāms ca, but keep kṣaṇac ca with mss., and instantly.) Once, however, kṣaṇa in this sense seems to be pluralized: Mv ii.392.5-6 so akṣaṇāni parivarjayitvā, kṣaṇa ca tasya bhavanti viśiṣṭā (but mss. bhavati viśiṣṭo, taking kṣaṇa as n. sg., § 8.24); the same vs Śiḥ 306.1 even makes 8 kṣaṇa, obviously as mechanical pendant to the 8 akṣaṇa: so akṣaṇam vai vijahāti sarvam, aṣṭākṣaṇāś cāśya viśiṣṭa bhonti. This is a secondary distortion. In LV 327.12 dullabho 'dya labhitaḥ kṣaṇavaro amṛto, today has been obtained the immortal (nectar-like?) excellent favorable birth that is hard to obtain, followed by 13 . . . varjitā (a)kṣaṇaduḥkhā asurasurapure, avoided the pains of unfavorable births in the cities of asuras and gods; evidently both kṣaṇa and akṣaṇa (the latter includes birth as a god!) are used in their standard meanings; but here the use of kṣaṇa is not strictly logical, since the Bodhisattva himself is speaking! [In Divy 76.25; 465.23 read kṣūṇa, q.v.]

kṣaṇika, adj., empty (of the hands): read in Mv ii.252.14 kṣaṇikena (Senart °tena with 1 ms., v.l. kṣami-kena) hastaṇa grham gacchati, hato bhavati, went home empty-handed and was depressed (of a fowler who caught no birds); iii.171.6, read svakaṃ ca hastam kṣaṇikam (so 1 ms., v.l. kṣeṇikam; Senart em. implausibly) paśyati (having given away a beautiful lotus, and now regretting the gift); repeated 171.9. Is this an extension of the mg. of JM. khaṇika, idle, unemployed, out of work (which is itself derived from Skt. kṣaṇin, at leisure)? In any case the two Mv passages confirm each other; kṣaṇika is certainly the true form in both, and the mg. is certain.

kṣaṇe-kṣaṇā, adv. (? perh. for °nāc = °nāt, before c-) moment by moment, from moment to moment: LV 321.5 (prose) kāścid (daughters of Māra) avagunthikayā (? see this) vadanāni chādayanti sma, kṣaṇe-kṣaṇā copadarśayanti sma. So Lefm. with best mss., supported by Weller's ms. 1; Calc. with some mss. kṣaṇena.

-kṣattam, -kṣatto = -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvas, q.v.

kṣatra (nt.) = kṣetra, field. Cf. Pali DN 3.93.13 khettānam paṭi ti . . . khattiyō (in an etymology), which shows that a popular association of kṣatriya with kṣetra (or of their MIndic equivalents) existed. Doubtless as a result of this, the secondary etymological blend-form kṣatra occurs often in LV, as in 208.13; 283.8; 352.18; 354.14, 22; 355.16; 357.4; 366.8; in all these all mss. and Lefm. kṣa°; in LV 290.8, 15; 353.1 Lefm. kṣe° but most mss. kṣa°. The mss. of Mv also—sometimes nearly all of them—read kṣa°, as in v.l. for kṣe° at i.121.9, 11, 12; 122.1, 2. In all these cases there is no doubt of the mg. field; it seems to me that Lefm. was right in recognizing the existence in BHS of kṣatra in this sense, because of its frequent occurrence, which the etym. in DN supports.

kṣatriyāni (= Skt. Lex. and Gr. only; § 22.10; Pali Lex. khattiyāni, only cited by Childers from Abhidhānapadīpikā 236; AMg. khattiyāni), kṣatriya-woman: Mv iii.21.1 (vs). In literary Skt. only kṣatriyā; Lex. also kṣatriyī = literary Pali khattiyī (also °yā and khattī).

kṣapaṇa, m., a member of some heretical (not Buddhist as BR state) sect: Mvy 3530. Perh. a Jaina; AMg. has khavaṇa, seemingly applied to Jains; the word is not recorded in Pali.

kṣamam, nt. impersonal adj. (or adv.), it is fitting, construed with gdve. (cf. Speyer, VSS §§ 221, 222): LV 315.14 (vs) vāyasa-gardabha-ruḍitam nivartitavyam kṣa-mam śighram, . . . it is fitting that one turn back quickly; 315.20 (vs) nivartitavyam kṣamam prājñaiḥ.

kṣamaṇa (nt.; = Pali khamana, with dental n; not in Skt., tho normal formation from kṣam with -ana), tolerance, patience: Bbh 171.7 paraṃ kṣamaṇam anā-ghātaśīlam ca sambhāvayet; a-kṣa°, intolerance, 171.14 akṣamaṇa-śīlatayā; in Lañk 237.17 seems = kṣānti, q.v., prob. in sense of intellectual receptivity, vikalpasyā-pravṛtti-kṣamaṇa-tā grāhyagrāhakaparijñayā sā kṣānti-pāramitā.

kṣamaṇīya, adj. or subst. nt. (= Pali khamanīya, Vin. i.59.10, also with yāpanīya, tolerable, endurable (condition): SP 429.4, see s.v. yāpanīya. Both this form and kṣemaṇīya(-tara, q.v.) are used in what is clearly the same locution, bracketed with yāpanīya; kṣam° is supported by Pali khamanīya, but kṣemaṇīya-prccha, q.v., supports kṣem°. Etymologically both forms can be justified in a way, but kṣemaṇīya looks strange as a derivative of kṣema (premaṇīya is not a perfect parallel) and may be a blend of kṣamaṇīya with kṣema. Or is it a direct imitation of premaṇīya, a near-synonym?

kṣamati, oftener °te (in mgs. 2, 3 = Pali khamati), (1) is worthy: LV 383.17 (vs) (sa bhājanam...) pratigrahitum kṣamate, na cānyaḥ; (2) is worth, with acc. mūlyam price, or another word naming the price or value; so in Pali, Vin. i.281.24 upaddha-kāsinam khamamāno, being worth half a thousand: Mv iii.375.18 sarvām kāsībhūmim kṣamati, and 376.1 upārdha-kāśim kṣamati, see s.v. kāśi, 2; mūlyam kṣamate LV 63.19; SP 264.15; 406.10 (all prose); in the last, text imām sahālokadhātum mūlyena kṣamati, but read with most mss. mūlyam kṣamate, is worth this whole sahā-world as a price; the other passages similarly; (3) impersonally, seems good, pleases: yathā te kṣamate, as seems good to you, as you think best, Divy 70.18; AsP 16.7; MSV ii.74.11; sarvam me bho Gautama na kṣamata iti Av ii.187.10 (and ff.); yam (= yad) vā vo kṣamati taṃ karotha Mv i.311.10-11.

kṣamāpayati (in mg. 1 = Skt. id., tho semi-MIndic in form; in both mgs. = Pali khamāpeti), (1) asks pardon, with acc.: °payanti LV 379.6; °penti Mv iii.359.10; °payed Sādh 108.7; °payām āsa Mmk 640.19; (2) takes leave of, says farewell to, with acc.: °payitvā LV 38.14; Divy 556.25. kṣamuda, m., a high number: Mvy 7745 = Tib. bzod yas (cf. kṣepu).

Kṣamottara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.233.1. kṣampana, nt., Mvy 8965, some article of a monk's equipment; acc. to Tib. ḥur rdo, lit. noise-stone, but as a cpd. sling (for throwing stones; so also Jap. and one Chin. rendering, the other cannon, perh. orig. catapult?). But what would a monk use a sling for? In a wholly different direction leads AMg. khampaṇaya, winding-sheet (Ratnach.); if our word is related to this it might mean sheet or large piece of cloth of some kind. Uncertain.

kṣaya, m. (as in Skt., and Pali khaya), exhaustion, perishing, decay; (special uses, 1) āyuh-kṣayāya Mv i.52.6, āyuhkṣayāya ca karmakṣayāya ca i.338.17, (beings fall from heaven to earth) in order to 'exhaust' (work out, finish) their (destined) life (and the force of their past deeds); so, I agree with Senart, the text seems to mean; but in the Pali form of the same passage DN i.17.27 we find ablatives, āyukkṣayā vā puññakkṣayā vā, because of the exhaustion of their lives (in heaven) or of their merits (entitling them to live there, they fall to earth); (2) kṣaya-jñāna (= Pali khayañāna), knowledge of (the fact of) decay, perishability, in °na-lābhikaṃ kuśalamūlam Mvy 1209; a-suddha-kṣayajñāna-ṣayayinām Lañk 17.6-7, that do not belong to the sphere of pure knowledge of perishability? [(3) in Gv 106.5 and 18 read akṣaya, q.v., for kṣaya, a high number.]

Kṣayāpagata, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 550; ŚsP 1418.20.

kṣara (m.? = Pali khara, said by Jāt. comm. to mean a saw, twice in Jāt. vss.; used for cutting ivory or an elephant's tusk), a sharp cutting tool, perhaps a saw: Divy 417.10 (vs) kṣareṇa jihvām atha kartayāmi (cf. in prec. line, chinnāmi!) nāsām krakacena vāsyāḥ; krakaca, saw, in its Pali form kakaca, is the Jāt. comm.'s def. of khara).

kṣānti, f. (= Pali khanti, used in this sense but not properly defined in Dict., see AbhidhK. La V-P. vi.165, n. 2, et alibi, see Index; good statement Lévi, Sūtrāl. Transl. p. 123, cf. text xi.52 and comm.; Suzuki, Studies in Lañk., 125-7 et alibi), intellectual receptivity; the being ready in advance to accept knowledge; a preliminary stage leading to jñāna but distinguished from jñāna by the fact that it is still characterized by doubt, AbhidhK. vii.1-2; the 8 kṣānti there referred to are paired with 8 corresponding jñāna to make up the 16 citta-kṣaṇāḥ Mvy 1217 ff., = caturāryasatyeṣu soḍaśa kṣānti-jñāna-lakṣaṇāḥ Dharmas 96; in this list are 8 pairs of jñāna-kṣānti and jñāna, e. g., first, duḥkhe dharmajñāna-kṣānti, receptivity to knowledge of the truth in respect to misery, then duḥkhe dharmajñāna, du° 'nvayajñāna-kṣānti, du° 'nvayajñāna; and so with samudaye, nirodhe, and mārge instead of duḥkhe. So anutpattika-dharma-kṣānti, q.v., receptivity to the fact that states-of-being have no origination; dharmanidhyāna-kṣānti, receptivity to reflection on the states of being, Sūtrāl. xiv.26 comm., see transl. n. 3; similarly, sarvadharmasvabhāvanidhyāna-kṣāntiḥ Gv 248.4; dharmanidhyānadhimukti-kṣāntiḥ Bbh 195.10; samyaksamtirāṇa-kṣāntiḥ Bbh 81.22; avaiartika-kṣānti-pratilabdhas ca bhaviṣyanti SP 259.13, and will become possessed of the intellectual receptivity of non-returners (see avaiartika); ānulomikī kṣāntiḥ Mvy 6571; Dbh 53.24; ānulomika-dharma-kṣānti-dharmālokaṃkham LV 35.20; nāham... teṣām... ānulomikām api kṣāntim vadāmi, kutaḥ punar buddhajñānam RP 34.13-14, I do not attribute to them even the intellectual receptivity that conforms (to continued religious development), still less Buddha-knowledge!; ghoṣānugā kṣānti, see ghoṣānuga; this with ānulomikī (or equivalent) and anutpattika-dharma- (or equivalent) form a triad of kṣānti, Samādḥ p. 22 l. 4 ff.; Sukh 55.13 (see Régamey, cited s.v. ghoṣānuga); anutpāda- (and °de) kṣāntiḥ, q.v., and anupalambhadharma-kṣ° RP 12.2, both = anutpattika-dharma-kṣ°; a different triad of kṣānti, Dharmas 107 (dharmanidhyāna-, duḥkhādhivāsana-, paropakāradha(r)-ma-); kṣānti is the 3d of the nirvedha-bhaga, q.v., Mvy 1214 (Sūtrāl. xiv.26, comm.).

-kṣāntika, ifc. Bhvr. (= kṣānti, q.v.; cf. Pali -khantika), characterized by intellectual receptivity: gambhīra-kṣ° Śikṣ 67.9; apratilabdha-kṣ° 270.6; mṛdu-kṣāntikenāpi jñānena Bbh 236.13; pratilambha-kṣ° Sukh 56.13 (pratilambha, acceptance, sc. of truth; not patience under censure, SBE 49 pt. 2, 52).

Kṣāntipradīpa(ī)ri, n. of a former Buddha: Gv 285.18 (vs).

Kṣāntipriyā, n. of a gandharva maid: Kv 5.7

Kṣāntimaṇḍalapradīpa, n. of a former Buddha: Gv 257.23.

Kṣāntivādin, or (once) °vāda (= Pali Khantivādin), n. or epithet of an ascetic, previous incarnation of Śākyamuni; in Pali (Jāt. 313) his original name was Kuṇḍaka, but he is commonly referred to as Khantivādin; in Jm 182.1 ff. Kṣā° is an epithet, his name not being given; no other name for him is recorded in BHS; the story is told in Jm, and in Mv, where he is called Kṣāntivāda iii.357.9, °vādin 20 ff. and 369.15; referred to Kv 24.18; Vaj 31.17; and presumably Māy 256.23 (a maharṣi).

kṣāmodara, Mvy 304, or kṣāma-kukṣi(-tā), Dharmas 84, slender-bellied, one of the anuvyañjana, q.v. (No. 36); LV instead cāpodara, q.v.; Mv ii.44.3 mss. corruptly chādoradā, chāto°, Senart em. cāpodarā, but chā- may represent a MIndic form of kṣāma-. Tib. renders Mvy 304 by phyal phyañ ñe ba, slender-belly.

kṣāraka- (= khāraya, nt., = mukula, Deśin. 2.73; chāraya, nt., id., ib. 3.34, and Pkt. Lex. acc. to Sheth), bud, in °ka-jāta, budded, in bud: LV 76.13 (prose) (puṣpa-phalavrkṣā . . .)kṣārakajātā na phalanti sma (Tib. kha ḥbus nas rgyas par, cf. Das kha ḥbu ba, the opening of buds of flowers); Mvy 6227 °ka-jātam = Tib. sbal mig (= bud, Jā.) bye-ba (open), or che-ba (great).

Kṣitigarbha, n. of a well-known Bodhisattva: Mvy 652; Dbh 2.7; Sādh 49.12; Mmk 406.1; 425.19; one of a list of eight, Dharmas 12; Mmk 62.13; one of sixteen, Mmk 40.13. Cf. next.

Kṣitigarbha-sūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 13.7 et alibi. Cf. prec.

kṣitiśa (m.c. for Skt. kṣitiśa), king: RP 45.7 (vs). ? kṣiyati (= Pali khīyati), is vexed; so Senart at Mv ii.480.2, 4; text in 2 (sā . . .) tāsām antaḥpurikānām ruṣyati kṣiyati (but v.l. kṣipati) paribhāṣati, in 4 kiṃ tuvaṃ asmākam ruṣyasi kṣiyasi (but both mss. kṣipasi or °pesi) paribhāṣasi (mss. °ṣesi). Since one ms. in 2, and both in 4, have forms of kṣip, which in normal Skt. means scold, revile, it seems at least likely that we should read kṣipati, °si. See, however, s.vv. vivācayati, dhriyati.

kṣiraka, in form nt., = kṣirikā (1), q.v., a kind of (probably) date-tree: Mv ii.248.4 °kāni ca, in a list of trees, all nt. in form and even introduced by the formally nt. vrkṣāṇi; hence, doubtless, our form. In line 16 below the list is repeated in inst. forms, and here the mss. read kṣirikāhi, which should doubtless be kept, since kṣirikā is recorded.

kṣira-dhātṛī, wet-nurse (in Divy 475.13, 16 replaced by stana-dh°, q.v.), one of four kinds of nurses regularly provided for princes and rich men's sons: Mvy 947.9; the others are standardly aṅka-dh° (aṃsa-dh°), mala-dh°, and kṛīdanikā (dh°), qq.v. As a rule two of each sort, or eight in all, are provided, in a cliché common in Divy and Av: kṣira° Divy 3.14; 58.12; 99.25; 271.19; 441.22; Av i.15.11 etc. But in Divy 475.12 only four, one of each kind, are provided; their functions are precisely defined 475.13 ff.

kṣirapaka, adj. (= Pali khī°, only with vaccha; Skt. kṣirapa is recorded only of humans; °paka not in Skt.), suckling, only with vatsa, calf: Mv iii.259.9 vatso iva kṣirapako; Ud iii.3 and xviii.4 vatsaḥ kṣirapaka iva (these vss correspond to Pali Ud vii.4 and Dh. 284 respectively, which have khī°).

Kṣirapūrṇāmbha(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.9 °bhah, n. sg.

kṣirikā, °ka (nt.), °kā recorded as n. of a tree Skt. Lex., and once in Var.Brṅh.S., BR 5.1350; the one occurrence cited from Mbh. in BR, pw, is shown by Crit. ed. 3.155.42d to be a false reading for kṣirīṇas, acc. pl.; cf. Skt. kṣirin, n. of one or more trees, and kṣirīṇī, n. of various plants; AMg. khiriṇī, n. of a creeper; cf. s.v. kṣiraka, (1) °kā, n. of a tree, perhaps date, but context gives no clue in LV 381.12 (prose) kṣirikā-vana-nivāsinī-devatā; Tib. śin ḥo ma can, milky tree; in Mv ii.248.16 read prob. °kāhi with mss., see s.v. kṣiraka; (2) °kā, n. of a kind of grass or herb: Mv ii.137.1, 19 kṣirikā (v.l. both times sthīnikā) nāma tṛṇajāti; medicinal, brought by Śakra from Mt. Gandhamādana, Av i.31.16 kṣirikām ośadhīm; (3) nt. kṣirikāni (so; no v.l.), fruits, apparently of the date: Mv ii.475.16, in a list of names of fruits, all nt. pl.

Kṣiroda, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.12.

kṣudḍika, v.l. for khudrāka, q.v.

kṣuṇa (so mss.), adj., failing, unsuccessful or mistaken, in error: Divy 213.28 kṣuṇā (ed. em. kṣuṇā) bhavanto, you have made a mistake or you have failed or you are wrong; kṣuṇo (ed. em. haṃ bho, wrongly) bhikṣavo rājā . . . MSV ii.73.18, the king made a mistake. Cf. kṣūṇa (perh. to be read for this?).

kṣuṇṇa, adj. (ppp. of Skt. kṣud-, in peculiar use), injured (in spirit), insulted, crushed (fig.), or angry: (Vaiśālako gaṇaḥ) kṣuṇṇo dvāre tiṣṭhāti MSV i.229.20.

-kṣuttam, -kṣutto = -kṛtvā for Skt. kṛtvas, q.v. kṣudra (= kṣaudra, q.v.; cf. Pali Lex. khudda, honey, Abhidh., see Childers), (1) ep. of madhu, = kṣaudra(m) madhu, (a kind of) honey: kṣudramadhusadrāṇī phalāni Mv ii.107.4; 108.4, 13; kṣudra-madhu (°dhv, °dhum) aneḍakam (once °ko; or anel°) Mv i.339.8; 340.13; 341.7 (vv.ll. kṣaudra-, kṣudro, kṣudram; at least 1 ms. each time kṣudra-); (2) adj., honey-like, honeyed, honey-sweet: with yvāgu, gruel, Mv ii.84.9–10 (prose) kṣudrāye ca yvāgūye ghaṭikā haste; 13, 16 yvāgu (°gū) kṣudrā (n. sg.); kṣudra-kṣudrāṇī phalāni Mv iii.145.2, see s.v. kṣudra-pāka, in which kṣudra- seems to = Skt. svādu-. kṣudrakānuḥkṣudra = kṣudrānuḥkṣudra, q.v.: °kaiḥ śikṣāpadair Prāt 564.8; Chin. quoted as 'les préceptes mineurs'.

kṣudra-pāka, adj., very ripe, of fruits in the last month of summer: Mv iii.143.(14–)15 (grīṣmāṇām) paścime māse kṣudrapākāni phalāni bhuktāni, whereupon he was thirsty, drank much cold water, and got indigestion; substantially the same, 144.5; 153.10; the mg. seems guaranteed by 154.6 where pakva-supakvāni replaces kṣudrapākāni, in what is otherwise virtually the same phrase. Cf. Skt. svādūpāka, defined BR as was sich süß, angenehm kocht, d. h. verdaut; kṣudra here means honey-like = sweet (see s.v.). In Mv iii.154.14 the ṛṣi who had the above adventure squeezes such fruits (so that the juice falls) into the mouth of the infant born to the doe who drank his seed: ṛṣi kṣudrapākāni phalāni mukhe piḍeti. The interpretation is further confirmed by Mv iii.145.2 kṣudra-kṣudrāṇī phalāni (on which see kṣudra), of the fruits fed by the ṛṣi to the young Ekaśṛṅga(ka). It seems that the ṛṣi's indigestion was caused by the excessive amount of cold water he drank, not by the fruits.

kṣudraputrā, poor wretch (f.): Divy 525.24 °putrāham; 26 °putreyam tapasvanī (read °svinī). Cannot mean literally daughter of a mean person, since the speaker in 24 claims to be a king's daughter.

kṣudrānuḥkṣudra (Pali khuddānuḥkuddaka, recorded only with sikkhāpada; cf. kṣudrakānuḥkṣudra): °drāṇī śikṣāpadāni, perhaps very minor (usually rendered small and minor): MSV i.59.13; Divy 465.4; °drā . . . ośadhiyo SP 129.7, acc. to Kern of different size, but perhaps very minute (?); followed successively by kṣudrika, madhyā, mahatī, small, middling, large ones. See under 1 anu.

kṣudrikā, SP 129.10, and kṣudrika, 129.7, small; both vss, quantities metrically required; both f., with ośadhi; in both Kashgar rec. cited as khuḍḍika, which would be unmetrical in 10. Related to Skt. kṣudra(ka); see s.v. khudrāka. For kṣudrika Burnouf cites his mss. as reading khuḍḍāka or khuḍḍika.

-kṣunto = -kṛtvā for Skt. kṛtvas, q.v.

kṣuraka, m. (cf. Skt. kṣura, kṣurikā, Pali khura, churikā, knife), knife, applied in pl. to certain 'winds' in the body, in a list of them: Śikṣ 248.13 (kuṣṣigamāḥ śastrakāḥ) kṣurakāḥ sūcakāḥ . . .

kṣurapra-vārin, wearing a guard against arrows, having defensive armor (kṣurapra and khurapra both found in Skt.; see s.v. khurapra-vāra): Mv ii.339.14 (vs) kṣurapravārī (so read; n. pl.; Senart °cārī; v.l. kṣurasampravārī) . . . mārasya sainyā sthita bodhimūle.

kṣūṇa, adj. (also kṣuṇa, perh. by error; see references s.v. in Schmidt, Nachtr.; JM. khūṇa, said to be only a noun, = doṣa; blend of Skt. kṣiṇa and kṣuṇṇa?), at fault, in error, wrong: kṣūṇa (Tib. ñes) Ānanda eṣa brāhmaṇaḥ MSV i.74.9; in same text Divy reads kṣaṇa, erroneously, at 76.25 (one ms. kṣūṇa) and 465.23; in Śikṣ kṣeṭa, nt. (hyper-Skt. for kheṭa), phlegm: MSV iv.120.10.

kṣetra (field), always nt. in Skt., and so khetta in Pali acc. to PTSD), rather often has masc. endings and modifiers: SP 9.4 (end of vs) kṣetrāḥ; 24.3 (vs) kṣetra (n. pl.) tathātra kecid . . . tathaiṅva kecit; Lañk 12.17–13.1 (prose) te ca kṣetrāḥ sanāyakaḥ; LV 280.9 (vs) sphuṭāḥ kṣetrā hy acintiyāḥ; 280.12 (vs) sarve te . . . kṣetrāḥ (most mss. kṣa°, see s.v. kṣatra); this substitute kṣatra with masc. endings LV 354.22; 357.4. See buddha-kṣetra.

kṣeṣaṇa (nt.; not recorded in this sense, but cf. Skt. kṣeṣa, and kṣīpati in corresp. mgs.), abuse, reviling: Prāt 504.12 (see s.v. avadhyāna).

kṣepayati, (1) spends, passes (time, with acc. kālam or some expression of time), is found in Skt. (BR 5.1349), and the simple kṣīpati is commoner in that sense (ibidem). It is strange that Senart, Mv i. n. 492, PTSD on khepeti (s.v. khipati), and others have overlooked that fact, regarded the usage as specifically Pali-ḌHS, and assumed confusion with kṣī, destroy. I have, to be sure, found no record of kṣepayati used absolutely in this sense in Skt., as it is in LV 276.11 (vs) brahmaśakrabhavane nityam sukham kṣepitum, to spend (time) happily forever in the home of B. and Ś. (2) exhausts, brings to an end, obliterates; here influence of kṣī, destroy, might more reasonably be suspected, yet Skt. kṣīp is sometimes used in nearly or quite the same sense, BR s.v. kṣīp 7 (2.549); but as BR suspected, Mbh. Calc. 3.1094 should be read kṣīyeran, not kṣīperan, see Crit. ed. 3.30.30; it prob. is an extension of the meaning spend (time). So Divy 367.8 (narakavedāniyāni karmāṇi kṣepayitvā, having spent (exhausted) their deeds that had to be suffered-for in hells, which may illustrate the transition from spend (time) to exhaust; the change is complete in LV 237.13 (vs) saptarātra bhanamānu . . . sā viyūha na pi śakya kṣepitum, tho described for a week, this splendor could not be exhausted ('spent'). But it is doubtful whether any of these uses are strictly non-Skt.

kṣepu, m. or f. (nom. kṣepuḥ; but Mironov kṣepu, as if nt.), a high number: Mvy 7874 = Tib. bzod yas (cf. kṣamuda); cited from Gv, which however reads kṣemu, q.v.

kṣema, (1, as in Skt., adj. causing peace and comfort, or n. comfort: Mv i.302.1 kiṃ kṣemaṃ, what (can we do that) will cause you peace and comfort? In the verse form 303.21 replaced by kiṃ karoma. Response to a cry of distress; foll. by kiṃ avidhāvidham ti krandasi. Senart fails to understand.) (2) n. of a king of old (= Pali Khema, oftener Khemamkara, q.v. DPPN): Divy 242.5 (his capital was Kṣemāvati, q.v.); (3) n. of a Buddha: Mmk 365.17 (vs, but submetrical; one syllable short).

Kṣemaka, m. pl. (corresp. to Pali Khemiya), a class of gods: Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, Mahāsamāj. 189.1.

Kṣemamkara, (1) n. of a former Buddha: Divy 242.1 ff.; he lived in Kṣemāvati; in the same story in Pali Khemamkara is the n. of the king of the city, who in Divy (242.5) is Kṣema (in Pali also alternatively Khema); in Pali the Buddha Kakusaṃdha is born under this king (in Divy Krakucchanda appears in a sequel to the story, 254.3); (2) n. of an apparently different former Buddha: Av i.110.10 ff.; (3) n. of a son of King Brahmadatta of Benares: Av ii.46.6; 49.8; (4) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.16; (5) n. of a nāga: Mvy 333.6.

kṣemamgama, adj. (formed on the pattern of the commonplace kṣemamkara, attaining comfort (peace, weal); ep. of a Buddha: Mmk 131.11; of a mudra, °gamo mudraḥ 476.9; mahā-kṣemamgamaiṃ (mudram) 475.11.

kṣemaniya-tara, adj. (§ 22.20), more healthy: Divy 110.2 (tato Maghasya . . .) °taram cābhūd yāpaniyataram ca. Cf. next; and see kṣamaniya on the etymology.

kṣemaniya-prccha, adj. (cf. prec.), asking after the welfare (with gen. of person): Mv iii.347.19 tasya . . . kṣemaniyaprcchā āgatā, they came inquiring about his health.

Kṣemā, (1) (= Pali Khemā) n. of Śākyamuni's chief female disciple: Mv i.251.21 (agrā . . . śrāvikā); (2) n. of a daughter of King Prasenajit, who also became a nun in the Buddha's order: Av ii.46.7 ff.; in 50.9 she is, in fact, declared by Buddha to be agrā me . . . bhikṣuṇīnām mama śrāvikānām, so that she is actually identified with (1); her story, however (Av no. 79) is wholly different from the story of Khemā in Pali. (Mv gives no story about Kṣemā 1.).

Kṣemāvati (= Pali Khemāvati), n. of an ancient city, where dwelt King Kṣema and the Buddha Kṣemamkara, qq.v.: Divy 242.4 ff.

kṣemu, m. or f. (nom. °muḥ), a high number: Gv 133.15 (represented in Mvy by kṣepu, q.v.).

kṣoḍaka (= the commoner khofaka, khodaka, q.v.), prob. wall-coping or enclosure on a wall, at any rate some part of a wall: Gv 161.24 (sarve ca vajratnamahāprākārah) . . . jāmbūnada-kanaka-kṣoḍaka-rucira-dantamālā-racitā(h).

kṣomaka, (adj. or) nt. (= kṣaumaka, q.v.), (garment of) linen: Divy 316.27, in a long cpd. listing various garments or textiles, -prāvarakā-kāśikāmsu-kṣomakā-dyāḥ; Bhik 22b.4, in a series of materials usable for robes, . . . kāśisūksmāṃ vā kṣomaka-sūksmāṃ (fine linen garment) vā dukūlakasūksmāṃ vā.

(kṣaudra = Skt. honey, or a kind of honey; here possibly adj., of or made by bees? cf. s.v. kṣudra: kṣaudram madhu Mvy 5728; Av i.187.7; 243.1; kṣaudramadhu Karmav 45.14; in all cases immediately foll. by aneḍakam. Also occurs, as in Skt., as subst. without madhu, e. g. Dbh 6.8; 8.11; Divy 221.11; 551.27.)

kṣaumaka, (adj. or) nt. (= Skt. kṣauma; Pkt. khomaga beside khoma), linen garment: Mvy 9161 = Tib. zar maḥi ras, acc. to Dict. of French Cath. Miss. cloth made of fibre from nettles (!); Das muslin. See kṣomaka.

khakkhaṭa, adj. (= kakkhaṭa, q.v.; cited by Thomas JRAS 1899.494 from Harṣac; see next), hard: Śikṣ 342.3 (so ms.); MSV iv.75.8; harsh (of sounds), Divy 518.2 (vs) (dvīṣṭo nara bhavati hi) khakkhaṭā-svaraḥ (ā m.c.? MIndic pron. -saraḥ).

khakkhaṭatva, nt., also spelled khakkhaṭa° (to prec.), hardness: Mvv 1842 (v.l. kakkh°; opp. to dravatvam) =

Tib. sra ba ṅid; (= kakkha° Śikṣ 245.2;) Bcṭ 328.6 (and with var. 327.12); spelled khakhaṭatvam Mmk 265.20 (gātre).

khakkhara, nt. (= khakhara-ka, khākhara-ka, qq.v.), monk's staff: Mvy 8955 = Tib. ḥkhar bsil (or gsil), id.

khakkhala, adj. (doubtless onomat.), stammering (so Tib., dig pa): Mvy 8887.

khakhara, nt. (m. ? f. °rā?) = khakkhara, khañkhara(ka), and next: Mmk 356.18 (vs) kumbhaḥ... khakharam (n. sg.) text, but meter requires khakkharam or khañkh°; 368.15 kuryāt khakharākāram (meter demands °rakākāram), 16 etan mudram samākhyātām khakharety (f. ?) arisūdanā, 17 tad eva khakhara (masc. ?) iṣad...; 386.6 khakharam, n. sg. (all vs; meter indifferent as to quantity of first syllable in all these except 356.18).

khakharaka (where gender is clear only m. noted; = prec. and khakkhara, monk's staff: Mmk 42.26 (prose) °ka-kamaṇḍalum, cf. daṇḍa-kamaṇḍalum 43.8; 91.15 (prose), in a list of monk's belongings, -civara-khakharaka-sūci (read sūci); khakharaka-mudrā 418.11 and 422.4 (both prose); in 471.16 text tadahanantare khakhavarakaḥ, read khakharakaḥ (hypermetric even then!); 472.8 (vs) khakharakaś ca mahāmudraḥ; in both the last khakharakaḥ (or khakharakaḥ) would be metr. better.

Khaḡarbha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Sādh 49.14; one of 'the eight Bodhisattvas' (cf. Kṣitigarbha, Maitreya, etc.), Dharmas 12.

Khaḡānanā, n. of a yogini: Sādh 427.6.

khañkhaṭa- (in cpd.), acc. to Tib. (re śig) a little: -svaro MSV ii.80.10, a little sound. (MW quotes from Wilson khañkhaṇā, a tinkling sound.) khakkhaṭa would not be a likely reading here since the omen is favorable, indicating rebirth as a god.

khañkhaṭika, nt., some kind of dye-stuff: MSV ii.142.10 (with gairikam).

khañkhara, m. (or nt.; Skt. Lex. m., lock of hair), = next: Mmk 392.4 (iyam ca) bhagavato buddhasya khañkharamudrā.

khañkharaka, m., also °kā, f. ? (= prec.): °ko MSV iv.67.16; Mmk 392.5 eṣa... buddhānām khañkharaka-mudrāmantraḥ...; (tāḥ) °kāḥ kṛtvā in MSV ii.142.3 (and 8) certainly means monk's staff (= khakkhara, khakhara-ka; Tib. khar sil, cf. Tib. on Mvy 8955); in view of this, prob. this is the mg. (rather than lock of hair) in Mmk, here and in prec.; parallel are sarvatathāgatoṣṇiṣāṇām mahāmudrā 391.18, and sarvatathāgatānām pātra-mudrā 392.9-10.

khacana (nt.; to root khac, cf. Skt. khacita), studding, inlay: LV 430.13 (prose) suvarṇa-khacana-suvarṇa-puṣpa-suva... acūrṇābhikiraṇa-...

(khaja, as in Skt., churning-stick, stirring stick; Skt. Lex. also spoon, ladle: Lañk 340.8 (vs), repeating 203.15: khaja- (203.15 kheja, mere corruption)-mṛd-daṇḍa- (203.15 bhāṇḍa)-cakrādi bijabhūtādi (i. e. all material things) bāhiraṃ (sc. constituent of the saṃkalā or śam°, q.v.). Ed. note on 203.15 seems to indicate support in northern translations for mantha = khaja. No need to em. to dhvaja as suggested in ed. on 340.8 and Suzuki's Index.)

khajja (nt.; = Pali id., MIndic for khādyā), hard food (as in Pali, hardly in Skt., contrasting with bhojya, or also bhakta, q.v., soft food): Mv iii.39.4 bhakta-khajjam upaviṣṭo, sat down to soft and hard food; 405.1 -khajja-bhojya-gandha-mālyā-vilepanam viśrāñiyati; ii.462.10, read with mss. khajja-rūpaṃ, thing of the nature of hard food.

khajjaka, nt. (= Pali id., MIndic for khādyāka), = khādyāka, q.v.: Mv ii.190.6 nānāprakārāni khajjakāni (v.l. khādyā°) alliyanti; 461.21 khajjakasya pūraṃ gopitakam (q.v.)... alindaṃ (q.v.) odanasya; similarly 462.3, 7, 9, 11; iii.15.9, 12 (in all these a basket, gopitakam, of khajjaka is contrasted with an alindaṃ or °dā, q.v., of soft food); iii.127.5 khajjakam vā.

khajjati (= Pali id.; MIndic from Skt. khādyate, pass. of khād), is eaten: khajjāmi Mv ii.450.6, 8; 452.8, 11; khajje, opt., iii.252.15; fut. khajjisyasi Mv ii.78.4; °syatha iii.290.17; note khajjanti Mv i.360.1, repeated as khādyanti 3.

khañjāhva, m., some sort of bird; acc. to pw 7, App., the water-wagtail (assuming identity of mg. with Skt. khañjana): Mvy 4911. But Tib. ba mo byi lu; acc. to Das, this—or rather ba moḥi byi lu—means the Skt. cātaka, Cuculus melanoleucus.

khaṭa (m. or nt.; Skt. Lex. m.; cf. Deśin. 2.72 khaḍaia = saṃkucita), fisticuff, blow with the fist (cf. next): Śikṣ 56.17 khaṭa-capeta-caṇḍa-prahārāṇām; Karmav 37.5, 6 khaṭa- (by em., ms. śata; Tib. confirms em.) -capeta-pradāna; Lañk 119.14 khaṭa-capeta-.

khaṭaka, m. (Skt. Lex.) = prec.: Mvy 3984 (foll. by capeta).

khaṭakā = prec.: Divy 372.18 °kā mūrḍhni pātita; 19 °kāṃ nipātayati.

khaṭayati, acc. to Tib. (skyoṅs śig) guards, protects (cattle): MSV ii.5.17 (go-mahiṣiḥ...) °yata.

khaṭu (1) = khaṭa: Divy 173.10 khaṭu-capetādibhis; (2) khaṭv-ākārān (sattvān) Divy 338.8 (here Dutt, MSV iv.38.17 note, cites Tib. as gtun, pestle); 342.11 (here Dutt, ib. 44.19, cites Tib. as phar [read phor] pa, said to mean saraka, a drinking vessel); but 342.26, 343.5 replaces this by what is meant for taṭṭv-āk°, see s.v. taṭṭu; so read each time.

khaṭuka, oftener khaṭuṅka (also abstr. °ka-tā), in KP khaṭuṅka, adj. or subst. m. (Pali and AMg. khaluṅka; cf. Skt. Lex. kaṭuṅka-tā, and see Schmidt, Nachtr. s.v. khaṭuṅka), unruly, unmanageable, in BHS and Pali only of horses (in AMg. said to be used of bullocks too) and figuratively of men: Mvy 2450 (in a list of evil qualities) khaṭuṅkaḥ, v.l. kaṭ° (cf. Skt. Lex. above), Mironov khaṭuka; in Śikṣ always of sattva, creatures, and always khaṭuṅka, Śikṣ 149.13 (see note on 279.5); sattvair evam khaṭuṅkair evam durdāntair 283.14; rjūtā kuṭileṣu, spaṣṭatā khaṭuṅkeṣu (sc. sattveṣu) 285.16; khaṭuṅka-tā Śikṣ 279.5 (see note; Tib. shows the word was in text); 283.13; Jm 5.20; (aśvaḥ...) khaṭuṅka-kriyā vā karoti KP 108.2 (see s.v. utkumbhati); kuhakāḥ khaṭukāḥ kuṣilāḥ (sattvāḥ) Mmk 666.13; (sa āghātacittāḥ syāt...) khaṭuṅka-jāṭiyāḥ Bbh 177.7; mūḍha-śaṭha-khaṭuṅkeṣu sattveṣu Bbh 365.15; (subst.) bodhisattva-khaṭuṅkāḥ, unruly horses of Bodhisattvas (i. e. untrained, unruly ones; contrasted with ājāneya in KP 10, as Pali khaluṅka with ājāniya, PTSD), KP 9.1, 7, and khaṭuṅka alone (referring to Bodhisattvas) 16, 18; similarly, bodhisattva-khaṭukāḥ RP 58.6. See also khāduka-tā.

khaṭṭika, m. (= Skt. Lex. id. = māmsa-vikrayin; not in Pali; AMg. khaṭṭia, °iya), butcher: Mvy 3759 = Tib. bśan pa. Ultimately, of course, based on a theoretical Skt. *kṣatṭr-ka.

khaḍga, (1) nt., a high number (cf. khaḍgin): Mmk 262.15 adhikā daśa tare (?) tasya (sc. vivāhasya, cf. line 14) khaḍgam ity āhu vāñijāḥ; 343.14 daśārūḍaḥ nirbudaḥ uktaḥ taddaśaṃ khaḍgam iṣyate; (2) m., n. of a mountain: Māy 254.6.

Khaḍgajvalanā, n. of a kīṃṇara maid: Kv 6.18.

khaḍga-viṣāṇa, rhinoceros; -kalpa, adj. (= Pali khagga-visāṇa-kappa), like a rhinoceros, i. e. living a lonely life; esp. (as in Pali) ep. of a Pratyekabuddha: Mvy 1006; Divy 582.8; ekacarā °kalpā Mv i.301.4, and in a vs 357.15, otherwise eko care °kalpo 21 ff., or ekaś caret °kalpaḥ Divy 294.15, refrain of the stanzas of Pali Sn i.3 (vss 35-75: eko care khagga-visāṇakappo), a number of which are reproduced in Mv i.357.12-359.15, and one in Divy 1.c.; they are designated khaḍgaviṣāṇa-gāthāḥ Mv i.359.16. Since Skt. khaḍga and Pali khagga mean rhinoceros, the Pali comm. on Sn paraphrases kh°-visāṇa by rhinoceros-horn. But actually the cpd. means rhinoceros, = Skt. khaḍgin, originally having a sword-(like) horn. The comparison is to the animal, not to its horn. Cf. Samādh 19.29 khaḍga-samā; RP 13.7 khaḍga-vimalāḥ khaḍḍika, m., a royal officer of some kind, acc. to Tib. sword-bearer (from Skt. khaḍga): Mvy 3730 = Tib. ral gri pa. Cf. however Deśin. 2.69 khaggia = grāmeśa.

khaḍḍin, (1) m., or khaḍḍina, nt. (cf. khaḍga, a high number: Mmk 262.16 (vs) nikhaḍgaṃ (q.v.) tad vidur mantri nikhaḍgaṃ cāpi khaḍginam (follows line 15 cited s.v. khaḍga, and seems to mean that khaḍga, nikhaḍga, and khaḍgin(a) are interchangeable terms); (2) m., a Pratyekabuddha (because he is often compared to a rhinoceros, Skt. khaḍgin; see s.v. khaḍgaviśāṇa): Mmk 67.9, 14; 122.7; 156.7; 238.5; also pratyeka-khaḍḍin, 108.23; 112.20; 114.21; 169.26.

khaṇapita, read khaṇāpita, ppp. of MIndic caus. to Pali khaṇati = Skt. khaṇati, caused to be dug (for cultivation): Divy 71.5 (vijam ca) navasaram su-khaṇapitaṃ (so mss.; ed. em. sukhāropitaṃ, very violently), kālena ca kalam devo vṛṣyate . . .

khaṇḍa, (1) m., seems to be used not at the end of cpds. in the sense of quantity, mass, large number (as in Skt.), but in apposition to the noun, as separate word, if we may trust the reading: ye cānye parvatāḥ khaṇḍāḥ (2 mss. cited as puṣṭāḥ, ghuṣṇāḥ) SP 355.6, and whatever other mountains there are, quantities of them (?); (2) n. of the chief minister of a king of Videha: MSV ii.3.17 ff.

khaṇḍaka, (1) adj. or subst. m., evil, false: Mmk 73.13 (sattvā bhaviṣyanti kusidā . . .) aśradhāḥ khaṇḍakā (?) akalyānamitraparighitāḥ . . .; Lalou, Iconographie 51, renders divisés; 94 she cites Tib. as mi sruṇ pa, which perhaps could mean careless, disobedient, not on guard, but is more likely a misprint for mi srun pa, evil (= Skt. khala, evil, mischievous; perhaps therefore, em. to khalakā); Gv 116.22 (mārakāyiko vā kalyānamitrapratiripako vā) bodhisattvakhaṇḍako vā, a rascal of a Bodhisattva, or a false, fake B.; (2) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 41.

khaṇḍa-kāra, m. (Skt. °kāra, id., plus -ka), maker of candied sugar: °kā(h) Mv iii.113.8; 442.14, in closely parallel lists of occupations; in both foll. by modakakāra(h). khaṇḍa-khaṇḍam, adv. (Pali khaṇḍākhaṇḍam, id.), broken to bits: Mv ii.173.14 (prose) tad ahaṃ khaḥ chindisyam, then I shall be cut up into little pieces. Cf. next.

khaṇḍakhaṇḍīkṛta (see under prec.), ppp. of °ḍīkaroti, smashed to bits: Mv ii.82.16 (tasya rājño . . . pādaphalakaṃ) khaṇḍakhaṇḍīkṛtam.

khaṇḍa-mallaka (cf. koṭṭa-, krōḍa-m°), broken pot, fragment of a pot, potsherd: °kena MSV i.89.13; i.90.2; in same passage Divy 90.2 °mallake, but 89.21 krōḍa-mallakena, see this; Tib. on MSV rdzaḥi chag dum, fragment of a pot, and so Tib. on Divy 89.21 (letter from Mr. D. R. S. Bailey).

khaṇḍara (cf. Skt. Gr. and Lex. id. and khaṇḍala = khaṇḍa; in other mgs. literary Skt. has khaṇḍara, pw, and khaṇḍalaka, Schmidt, Nachträge, as equivalents of khaṇḍa), = khaṇḍa, part, portion, in vana-khaṇḍara- (v.l. khaṇḍa-, metr. bad)-gatā, who were present in the grove: Mv i.236.5 (vs).

Khaṇḍarohā, n. of a yoginī or similar demoness: Sādh 425.13; 427.7; 439.10.

khaṇḍikā (= Pali id.; in Skt. khaṇḍaka is, but °ḍikā apparently is not, used in this precise sense), piece, fragment: Divy 31.5 catasraḥ khaṇḍikāḥ kṛtāḥ.

-khatam = -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvās, q.v.

-khadā, pit; see agnikhadā; also aṅgārakhadā, pit of coals, Av i.221.8 eṣāṅgārakhadā mahābhayakarī. See Wogihara, Lex. 26, where however it is said that the Buddhists use khadā only in agnikhadā (ignoring the above).

Khadiraka, m. (seems to correspond to Pali Karavika), n. of one of the seven mountains surrounding Sumeru (Kirfel, Kosm. 186): Mvy 4143; Dharmas 125; Mv ii.300.18 (mss. corrupt); Māy 253.27; Divy 217.10, 12; n. of what seems to be a different mythical mountain, at any rate one of an otherwise different list of names of mountains, Divy 450.12; 455.29; 456.1.

Khadirakovidā, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 236.29.

Khadiravaṇī-tārā, n. of a form of Tārā: Sādh 176.8.

Khadiravanika (cf. Pali Khadiravaniya, there another name for Revata, q.v., who in both LV and Sukh is mentioned as a distinct personage immediately before Kha° in the same list), n. of a disciple of the Buddha: LV 2.1 (v.l. °vadika, but Tib. confirms text); Sukh 2.9; Mvy 1066. Is it significant that Mvy does not mention Revata?

[khadukatā, misprint or error for khād°, q.v.]

khadyotaka, m. (= Skt. khadyota plus -ka; in BHS recorded only in vss, could be m.c., could also be diminutive; cf. AMg. khajjoyaga and Pali khajjopanaka), firefly: LV 120.11, 13; 304.20; 334.4 (all vss).

khandhāvāra (= Pali id., MIndic for Skt. skandh°), army-encampment: Mv ii.485.14 khandhāvārehi (so read for Senart khandha°; mss. khandhyā°, khandya°) kanyakubjam nagaram samantena vethiyāna sthitāḥ.

(khanya, mineral, cited once from late Skt. in khanya-vāda-vid = BHS °vādin, below, see Schmidt, Nachträge; cf. Skt. khani, mine: khanya-vādin, mineralogist, Mvy 3753; khanya-dhātu-kriyā, the working of minerals, Mmk 346.9.)

khambhīra-pati, Mvy 3702, or khambhara-pati, 3703 (evidently a v.l.; not in Mironov, who cites a v.l. khambhāra-pati; for 3703 Tib. miñ dan, which I do not understand but presume means idem), some sort of royal officer, acc. to Tib. either mñan bdag, master of imprecations (i. e. royal sorcerer?), or rñan bdag, lord of salaries (i. e. controller, bursar?). The prior element is quite unknown.

Khara, nt., n. of a hamlet: Divy 577.11.

Kharakarna, n. of yakṣa, associated with Sūciroma: Samādh p. 43 line 19; cf. Pali Khara, associate of the yakṣa Sūciloma.

khara-grha, nt. (Skt. Lex.; see Schmidt, Nachträge), tent: Mvy 5542 = Tib. gur.

Kharapostā, n. sg., n. of a yakṣa: Māy 33. See Lévi 74, who thinks -postā preserves a relative of Skt. pustaka, which acc. to Gauthiot, MSL 19 (1915).130, was borrowed from Iranian pōst, skin; ass-skin is what at least one Chin. transl. renders; but there is some suggestion of a reading -lomā (Skt. loman) instead of -postā.

Kharaskandha, n. of an asura: SP 5.3; Suv 162.13. Tib. on SP reads phrag rtsub, rough shoulder, proving this reading as against Burnouf's (and v.l. of KN) Sura-sk°.

kharukharā-, °khur-, see khurakharūyate, khurukhura- (°rā-).

Kharuṣṭa, n. of a ṛṣi: Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 123.11. (Cf. Lévi BÉFEO. iv. 543-79, esp. 565.)

kharoṣṭī, kharoṣṭrī (AMg. kharoṭṭhī; doubtless Skt. but not in dict.), n. of an alphabet: LV 125.19 °ṣṭī (Tib. kha ro stī); Mv i.135.5 °ṣṭrī (mss., Senart em. °ṣṭī).

kharjuraka, nt. (Skt. Lex. kharjura; otherwise recorded only with ū), fruit of the date: °kāni Mv ii.475.16, so read; in a list of various fruits; so 1 ms., v.l. kharjuralatikā (prob. corruption); Senart kharjaralatikā (ja for ju misprint?).

Kharjūrikā, n. of a town: MSV i.1.20 f.

kharta, ? in Mmk 157.4 (vs) ūrū cāsyā vartulakau, kaurparau kharta-varjitau, and the elbows free from . . . ? Prob. corrupt, but I can think of no plausible em.; kharva- would be paleographically close, if only it made reasonable sense.

kharpara, nt. (= Pkt. khappara, see Sheth; Skt. Lex. kharpara and karpara; in Skt. lit. karpara, bow, and once in late Skt. kharpara, said to mean shell of a tortoise, Schmidt, Nachträge; cf. next), (skull), head: Divy 324.11 kharparam (so read with v.l., ed. kharparam) idam grhāna (referring to uttamāṅgam in prec. line).

kharparikā (cf. under prec.); Skt. id. said by Galanos to mean umbrella, bowl or bowl-shaped object: ghaṭa-khar°, n. of a mudrā: Mmk 505.13 (vs) °kā jñeyā anāmikāgrasunāmītau (hypermetr.).

Kharvarī, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 427.4.

khalaka, (1) m. or nt. (= Skt. khala), threshing-floor or granary: Kv 28.18 (prose) mahā-khalake mahāntam rāṣim kuryāt; (2) m. (= Skt. khala; AMg. khalaya, app. in this sense, Ratnach.), rogue, or adj. roguish, evil, bad: perhaps read khakalā(h) for text khaṇḍakā(h) Mmk 73.13; see s.v. khaṇḍaka.

(khalakhalāyati = Skt. °te, see pw, onomat., rattles: see s.v. vikhala.)

khalati (= Pali id., MIndic for Skt. skhalati, cf. 2 khalita), stumbles, wavers: khali, aor. 2 sg., LV 362.11 (vs).

khala-hāna (nt.; MIndic for Skt. khala-dhāna, see Schmidt, Nachträge), granary: °hāneṣu Mv iii.178.5, mss., Senart em. °dhāneṣu; see s.v. samhārāpayitavya.

khalābhīdhāna (nt.; = prec.), granary: °dhāne Divy 577.12, 13, 14–15 °dhāne dhānyam vardhitum ārabdhām, 17, 18, 20, and 26 °dhāne dhānyam vardhate (or °ta iti), the grain in the granary increased. Ed. takes the word as a n. pr., which is clearly impossible.

(khali = Skt. id., m., see Schmidt, Nachträge, also Pali id., (paste made of) oil-cake: Divy 343.9, 12, read khaleḥ (mss. khale) stokam, or with Śikṣ 58.7, 9, citation of this Divy passage, khali-stokam, a little bit of oil-cake paste. Divy ed. khala-.)

1 khalita, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. khalati, but note Skt. khālitya, baldness, bald (?): Mv ii.367.15 (vs) na so kubjo ca khaṃjo vā khalito vā vicakramo (so mss., Senart em. vicamkramo). However, it is possible (and this would come closer to the mg. of the surrounding terms) that it belongs to Skt. skhalita (see next) and means stumbling, unsteady in gait.

2 khalita, nt. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. skhalita, cf. khalati), error, false step: Mv i.160.14 (nāsti) khalitām (one of the 18 āveṇika buddhadharma); Bhvr. cpd. a-kt'ita (= Pali id., free from false steps, CPD), unwavering: RP 47.6 (vs) svarāṅgā akhalita-m-anavadyā sarva-arthānubodhā. See also 1 khalita, which may belong here.

khalu-paścād-bhaktika, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali khalupacchābhattika: see Childers s.v. pacchābhattiko, where the word is fully explained with Buddhaghosa's gloss, not (khalu, as in Pali) eating after (the time when one should cease): Mvy 1133 (Tib. zas phyis mi len pa, not taking food after) and Dharmas 63 (as one of the 12 dhūtaguṇa); Śikṣ 135.15 yadi punaḥ khalupaścādbhaktiko (one word) bodhisattvo vā glāno bhavati; AsP 387.5 sacet khalu° bhaviṣyati; MSV iii.122.6.

khalu-bhakta, adj., = prec. (doubtless due to metrical convenience): Lañk 373.9 (vs) utthitaḥ khalubhaktaś ca . . . śuddham bhaktam samācāret, and arising without eating (beyond the proper point) . . . he shall carry on his eating pure . . . (Misunderstood by Suzuki.)

khallaka, nt., Mvy 9021, acc. to Tib. chu tshags gum, lit. triangular water-filter; to the lit. mg. of the Tib. Das adds '(a leather water-bag)'. Cf. Skt. khalla, acc. to Apt., leather, also a leather bag (so Skt. Lex., BR); acc. to BR Düte, cucullus. In Pali khalla- (and khallaka-)-baddha, only ep. of sandals (upāhanā), perhaps bound with leather (?). In Mvy prec. by parisrāvaṇam, q.v., and foll. by kuṇḍikā, water-pot; all monkish utensils.

Khallāṭaka, n. of a minister of Bindusāra: Divy 372.17.

[? khalli(n), obscure and corrupt: SP 351.5 (vs) so drṣṭva teṣām ca jarām upasthitām, valī ca khalli (so KN em., mss. khali, unmetr.; WT khaṇḍam with their ms. K') ca śiraś ca paṇḍaram, seeing . . . their wrinkles . . . and gray head(s). Tib. seems to have no equivalent of the crucial word: mgo 'la skra dkar gñer ma kun byuñ ste, (them) having become all with white hair on the head and wrinkles. A noun seems to be required for this word; if khaṇḍam is the true reading, perhaps it could mean something like decrepitude.]

[khallu, corruption for khāṇu, q.v., Gv 482.7.]

Khalvavāhana, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.21.

? Khaṣa, m. pl., cf. Khaṣya-, prob. = Skt. Khasa, or Khaśa (cf. Svaśa), n. of a barbarian people in the north: MSV ii.31.17 (ff.) Puṣkarasāriṇo rājñāḥ Pāṇḍavā nāma Khaśā viruddhāḥ; acc. to N. Dutt's note, khaṣa = pratyantika; Tib. cited as mthaḥ ḥkhob = barbarian border country, often applied to Tibet itself, and fitting Skt. Khasa. I assume that the Pāṇḍavāḥ are meant for the well-known people of the Skt. epic.

Khasarpaṇa, (1) n. of a Buddha: namaḥ Khasarpaṇāya (or śrī-Kha°) Sādh 36.9; 38.1; 42.8; (2) n. of a village: Sādh 42.11.

[khāḍa, error for khōḍa, q.v.: Mv ii.150.9, and (ed., without ms. authority) 152.3.]

khāṇu, m. (= Pali id., associated with kaṇṭaka, thorn; Skt. sthānu; a theoretical *skhāṇu is implied), stump (as a worthless and impeding element): Mvy 6970 °ṇuḥ; LV 39.22 (prose) vyapagata-tṛṇa-khāṇu-kaṇṭaka- . . .; Mv ii.350.18 (vs) khāṇu ca kaṇṭa- . . . (corrupt); Gv 482.7 (vs), cited Śikṣ 102.1, rāga-doṣa-tṛṇa-khāṇu- (Gv 1 ed. corruptly khallu-, 2d ed. and Śikṣ khāṇu-)kaṇṭakam. Furthermore read khāṇu for khāṇḍa, q.v., reported as mss. reading Mv i.215.14 = ii.18.10.

[khāṇḍa, read khāṇu, q.v.; cf. Senart Mv i p. xii: Mv i.215.14 = ii.18.10 (vs), read, apagata-tṛṇa-khāṇu (mss. reported khāṇḍa; in i.215.14 Senart em. khaṇḍa)-patra-samkāraṃ (see s.v. samkāra). For Skt. khaṇḍa a corruption khāṇḍa is scarcely likely.]

khāta-rūpa-kāra, m., carver, sculptor (lit. maker of carved or engraved forms): Mvy 3799 = Tib. rko mkhan, or, tshud mo mkhan, both digger or engraver; Jap. carver, sculptor. (BR potter, perhaps because the next word is kumbhakāra.)

khādāti (= Pali id., e.g. dantakaṭṭham khādītivā Jāt. i.80.14–15), uses (lit. chews on), a toothpick: Śikṣ 125.5 na purato dantakāṣṭham khādītavyam.

khādanikā (cf. Skt. and Pali °na), eating, feast: guḍa-khā° MSV i.221.17; 222.1.

khādāniya, nt. (= Pali id.), = khādya, hard food, regularly paired with bhojāniya, soft food: cpd. °ya-bhojāniya Mv ii.98.18; iii.272.1; Divy 85.19; 262.22; also triple cpd. with āsvādāniya or svādāniya, qq.v., as the third member: LV 58.5; 123.17; Mv i.38.7; Śikṣ 208.2; °ya and bhojāniya as separate, juxtaposed words, Mv iii.255.8; Divy 50.14; 85.25; Av i.64.9, etc.

khādītaka (Skt. khādita plus specifying ka, § 22.39), in ardhā-khādītako (a corpse) that has been half eaten: Mv ii.78.11 (prose) udakahrade ardhakhādītako plavanto . . . drṣṭo, was seen, floating, a half-eaten thing (corpse), in the pool of water; 11–12 tena . . . ārocitam, Dharmapālo udakarākṣasena khāyito ti, he reported, Dh. has been eaten (khāyito, no -ka! simple fact) by a water-ogre; but again 13–14 paśyati ca taṃ . . . udakarākṣasena ardhakhādītakaṃ plavantam, he saw him floating, in the state of having been half-eaten by the water-ogre. One ms. in this last passage has khāyitaṃ instead of ardhakhādītakaṃ; then simply eaten.

? khāduka-tā (cf. Skt. Lex. khāduka, bissig, boshafft), seemingly snappiness, inclination to bite, bad temper (of a horse): Gv 464.1-2 ājāneyāśvasamacittena sarva-khādūkatā-(1st ed. °khad°; corr. 2d ed.)-vivarjanatayā; 494.17 ājāneyāśvabhūtam sarva-khādūkatā-vigatatayā. But despite the single Skt. Lex. citation, khād- means eat, not bite; it is not a synonym of daś-. Our word contrasts with ājāneya, like khaṭu(ñ)ka, khaḍḍuka, and I believe it is only a rationalizing replacement of some form of that word, q.v. The reading khādūkatā, once in 1st ed., may preserve the original short a of the first syllable.

khādyā, nt. (also khajja; = Pali khajja; in Skt. seems to mean food in general), hard food (as in Pali); regularly associated with bhojya, soft food: °ya-bhojyam Mv i.352.21; ii.171.10; 189.17, 18; 462.1; khādyā-bhojya-svādāniya (see this last), LV 96.21. Cf. khādāniya.

khādyāka, (usually) nt. (m. Divy 404.16 f.; see also khajjaka, MIndic for this), some sort of cake or delicacy, confection; associated with modaka; (apparently never used like khādyā or khajja, hard food, in association with bhojya, soft food); as v.l. for khajjaka, q.v., Mv ii.190.6; Divy 130.21, see akāla-khādyāka; 285.25, see s.v. ullādayati; 404.16 f. khādyakā(h), n. pl., with modakā(h) 17; °kāny MSV i.238.6; Mmk 48.7 aśoka-varitti-khaṇḍa-khādyakādyām; and see next.

khādyāka-cāraka, m. (see prec.), dispenser of cakes (?), a certain kind of monastery official or servant: Mvy 9059 (prec. by yavāgū-cāraka, and foll. by phala-cāraka).

khānta-samācāra, adj. m., of vile conduct; synonym of, or variant for, śaṅkhasvara-samācāra, q.v.: Mvy 9141 (not in Mironov).

khāyati (Pali khāyita, ppp., only, Vin. iii.213.8; = Skt. khādāti, khādita; § 2.32), eats: aor. 3 sg. Mv iii.299.11 na sānam khāyī rākṣasi; otherwise only ppp. khāyita; Mv ii.78.12 udakarākṣasena khāyito; in 14 khāyitaṃ is v.l. for ardhakhādītakam; khāyitā(h) iii.72.13 (and 12 where Senart ākhāyitā with one ms., read either khādītā with v.l. or khāyitā; ā-khād- is Vedic only); iii.84.17, 19; 166.7.

khāraka (m. or nt.; perh. related to Skt. khāra, khāri, a measure of capacity), apparently a (large) number: Gv 396.20 lokadhātu-khārakeṣu, in (large numbers of) world-systems. Occurs in a long series of terms, 396.17 ff., all cpd. with lokadhātu and app. denoting large numbers.

Khāranādi (Skt. Gr. id. and Kharanādin, also cf. Skt. Kharanāda), n. of a ṛṣi: Mvy 3460 °dih.

Khāṣya-(līpi), (from Khaṣa, q.v., Skt. Khaṣa or Khasa, n. of a people), a kind of script, writing of the Khaṣa or Khasa people: LV 126.1 (all mss. reported with ṣ; Calc. Khāṣya; Tib. kha ṣa).

khikkhira, nt., presumably staff (cf. next and Deśin. 2.73 khikkhira = ḍumbādīnām sparṣaparīhārtham cihnaṣṭiḥ): Divy 570.7 Rudrāyaṣya pātracivaram khikkhiraṃ (mss. corrupt, pointing rather to khikkhira-kam, see next) cādāya . . . ; 16 idam pātracivaram khikkhiraṃ ceti.

khikkhiraika, see prec.; khikkhilikā, °likā, with various corrupt vv. ll., = prec.: Svay 101.8; 210.1; 219.11.

khijjati, °te (cf. AMg. khijjamāna, etc.; in Pali cited by Childers only from Clough, not in PTSD; MIndic for Skt. khidyate), is tormented, wearied, or the like: khijjivā Mv ii.252.14, a-khijjantaṃ (pres. pple.) 15; khijjantasya 253.9, 13; khijjante (3 pl. pres.) 457.13.

khila, nt. (rarely m.; = Pali id., hardness or harshness of mind, produced by the passions [rāga, dosa, moha], or the five hindrances [pañca nīvaraṇāni, = pañca cetokhilā], CPD s.v. a-khila), harshness, hardness of heart, unkind or unfriendly attitude; in Tib. regularly rendered tha ba, defined by Jā. as bad, by Das as (1) rigid, hard, compact, firm, (2) bad, (3) anger. Usually in lists of vices of all sorts; context often does not suggest precise mg., but note esp. Bbh 8.2 na ca khilaṃ dhārayati, na cirakālikam vairāśayām vaṇati; AbhidhK. LaV-P. iv.20 cetakhila-mrakṣa-vastu, la cause des endurcissements de la pensée et de l'hypocrisie (cf. Pali cetokhila, above); RP 48.9 citta-khila, Bhvr., by a person having hardness of heart (citta = cetas); Śikṣ 14.3 (vs) vyāpāda-khila-cittaṃ, a mind (full) of malice and harshness; 16.17 na khila-doṣa-cittam utpādayati, does not produce a mind (thought) characterized by harshness and hatred (doṣa = dveṣa); SP 94.2 (vs) bhikṣūṣu vā teṣu khilāni kṛtvā, or having shown a harsh (unfriendly) attitude to these monks; LV 56.20 (vs) na ca mama khila-doṣo (= dveṣa) naiva roṣo; 162.5 (vs) krodhāviṣṭā khila-mala-bahulā; RP 15.14 (vs) na khila mala na cāpi roṣacittam; Dbh 25.3 krodhohanāha-khila-mala- (see upanāha); in more miscellaneous lists of vices, LV 35.2 vyāpāda-khila-doṣa (= dveṣa)-māna-mada-darpa-prahāṇāya; 42.5 (vs) vyāpāda-doṣa-khila-mohamada-; in LV 138.19 Lefm. khilo (m.), with ms. A (other mss. and Calc. khilā, less plausible); 279.8 (prose) Lefm. khilo (m.) but most mss. khilam (nom. nt.) and in corresponding vs 280.5 all mss. khilam; 325.15 khilam (nom.); 357.6 khila-mada-doṣā; 365.17 trimala-khila-praṇiḥa; Mv ii.295.9 khila- (Senart as separate word!) -doṣa-moham; RP 10.11 khilam (nom.); Gv 54.7 (vs) māyā-śāṭhiya-khilaḥ khilikṛtāḥ, devastated or made powerless by trickery, deceit, and hardheartedness; Dbh.g. 42(68).13 khila-malavigatā.

khu, indecl. (also kho, hu, which are much less common; Pali only kṛho, except khv before vowels; AMg. khu and hu; all by the side of khalu = Skt. khalu), of course, obviously, as everyone knows; clearly, certainly, you may be sure; rarely in prose, Mv i.348.16; ii.165.15; sometimes khu is written in vss when a long syllable is required, e.g. Mv ii.199.19; 200.4 (Senart em. kho); but in e.g. Mv i.69.15 (vs) khalu is written, Senart em. khu, m.c.; other cases of khu in vss, consistent with meter, are SP 113.8; 229.13; 295.2; LV 91.17; 342.4; 366.2; Sukh 22.4, 15; Mv i.11.3 (em.); 126.13; 142.15; 150.3 = 218.4; 204.18; ii.6.10; 141.7-10 (em.); 143.2; 194.14; 201.4; 316.6; iii.77.14 (v.l. kho); 82.12; 134.20; 186.4; 259.17; 386.12; 452.14, et alibi. Cf. khu-ssa.

khuṭkhuṭā-(śabda), onomat., imitation of a sound (apparently of something being cooked or heated, cf. Mmk 318.24-319.5, in the latter yāvaj jvalati): Mmk 319.(6-7) (manahsilām haritālam ājanam) vā śrīparṇisamudgake prakṣipya tāvaj japed yāvāt khuṭkhuṭāśabdam karoti.

khuddāka, adj., small (see s.v. khudrāka): SP 460.4 (prose; twice); v.l. Kashgar rec. for SP 95.5 (vs), text kuṇḍaka, q.v.

khuddāka, adj., small (see s.v. khudrāka): Mv i.302.13 na cāti- (mss. cāpi) khuddākam na cātimahantam.

khuddika, cited as v.l. for ksudrikā, ksudrika, q.v.

[khuddulaka, adj., Kashgar rec. v.l. on SP 94.7. see s.v. vrāṇika; may contain a corruption of some form of khudda-(la?), see khuddāka.]

khura (m.; = Pali and Skt. Lex. id.; MIndic for Skt. kṣura), razor: Mv iii.179.15; 270.11.

khurakhura- or khurukh- or °rā-, or kharukh-, kharukhar-, onomat. (Skt. has khurukhurāyate, makes a rattling noise in the throat; see next; cf. also Skt. ghurughurā-, Pali ghurughuru-, and ghurughurāyati snores; the next is evidently a var. of this), imitation of a hoarse or rattling sound made in the throat, characteristic of an old man: Mvy 4092 kharukharāvāsaktakāṅṭhaḥ (so Mironov; v.l. in Kyoto ed. khurukharā°), = Tib. nar nar po, hoarse, husky; the same cpd., in same context, LV 188.2, all mss. but A khurukhurāv°; A kharukhurov°; Calc. khurakhurāv°; (Lefm. kharakharāv°); Tib. as for Mvy. Is the form beginning khar° influenced by reminiscence of khara, harsh?

khurakhurāyate (onomat. denom., to prec., q.v.), pres. pple. °yamānāḥ, snoring: LV 206.12 (so nearly all mss., v.l. kharukharāv°; Calc. khurukhurāv°, as once in Skt., Caraka).

khurapra-vāra, commonly written -vāla in mss. (see also ksurapra-vārin), a guard against arrows, defensive armor (cf. Skt. bāṇa-vāra); only noted in sa-khura°, Bhvr., provided with . . ., said of chariots (yāna or ratha), Mv i.261.12 (mss. sa-khurapra-vāsehi or -mānehi, with rathehi, read -vārehi; Senart em. wrongly); ii.154.4 (°vāla); 156.16 (mss. °vāra); 420.13 (°vāla, v.l. °vāra); 456.11 (id.); 461.5 (°vāla); of elephants, Mv ii.420.10 (°vāla); 453.17 (mss. °bāla); 461.2 (text °vāla, v.l. °vāra).

Khuramālin (= Pali id.), n. of a mythical sea: °li, n. sg., Jm 90.20.

khurdāti (prob. = Skt. kūrdati, for which Dhātup. records also kurdati, khūrdati, khurdati; and gūrdati, gurdāti are surely variants of the same), leaps, dances, or the like: in a mantra addressed to a Buddha, Mmk 28.15 khurda khurda avalokaya avalokaya (impvs.).

khusta, and khustaka, f. °ikā, adj. (? cf. kuṭṭa = truṭita, Deśin. 2.74; kuṭṭa(a), Ap., Jacobi, Bhav. 42.13; 76.4), ? in Divy 426.28 app. balā (of the head), (tasya tena vyādhiṇā sprṣṭasya) śiraḥ khustam abhavat, yadā ca vyādhir vigatas tasya virūdhāni śiraśi romāni (so, °ni); in Divy 173.3 of a garment, app. old, worn, (tena tau kārṣāṇau) khusta-vastrānte baddhvā; khustikā, Divy 329.1, 6, of a religious text, in deprecatory sense, app. poor, unsatisfactory, perh. lit. old, worn-out, stale, out-of-date (fem. °ikā): ayam tāvat khustikayā ekottarikayā dharmam deśayati, amī bhikṣavaḥ tripiṭā dharmakathikā yuktamuktapratibhānāḥ, kasmān naitān adhyeṣayasi (read °ti?); similarly in 6; pw 7.336, mediating between these three occurrences, conjectures abgeschabl for the mg.; Tib. acc. to Dutt, MSV iv.27.1, note, rjub (rdzub?) pa '=imperfect'.

khū-ssa, cpd. particle, acc. to Senart = Skt. khalu svid: Mv ii.184.8 (vs) mā khū-ssa me nāga kṛtam na jāne, do not, O nāga, fail to recognize (gratefully) what I have done (for you). In Pali -ssu, -su, -si occur for svid (Geiger 22; 111.1); PTSD s.v. su⁸ states that sa and assa occur, allegedly for Skt. sma, but no such forms are cited in their alphabetic positions in PTSD, nor have I found any other record of them. Cf. sva (?).

khelata, m. or nt., a high number: Gv 106.13. Cf. next, and kheluda, °du.

khelu, m. or f., a high number: Gv 133.21; cited Mvy 7891 as śvelu (n. °uḥ), q.v.; note that the variant svela, m., occurs with the same Tib. rendering, and that khelu would be an easy graphic corruption for svelu* (which could also easily be corrupted to śvelu). But cf. also prec., and rolā.

kheluka, m. (cf. AMg. khela, acrobat, tightrope-walker; Skt. khelati, khelana, °naka), prob. acrobat, tightrope-walker, in a list of entertainers of many kinds: Mv iii.255.12. Some such word may be represented by the corrupt mss. reading cited as kelukam- at Mv iii.442.9, in a similar list.

kheluda, m., a high number (= next): Mvy 7771 = Tib. rdzi phyod phyod.

kheludu, m. (or f.), a high number (= prec.): Mvy 7900 = Tib. rdzi phyod khyod, or rji phyod phyod; cited from Gv 133.23 °duḥ.

kho = khu (Skt. khalu), q.v.; this, which is the Pali form, is rare in BHS: in vss, where meter requires a long syllable, Samādḥ 8.25; Mv ii.57.22; but in Mv iii.79.12 prob. read khu with v.l., and keep kadācit with mss.; in prose, Mv i.144.10, 12; Thomās ap. Hoernle MR 133 for SP 327.3 (ed. khalu).

khoṭaka (see also kṣoḍaka), khōḍaka, (khola?), m. (or nt.; perh. cf. AMg. khōḍa, log of wood? JM. khodī, box? or Deśi khōḍa(ga), peg, nail?), some part or appendage of a wall or rampart; acc. to pw 7.336 copying of a wall, a mg. said to be that of Skt. Lex. khōḍaka-śīrṣaka, in Mvy 5529 text erroneously koḍhakah, but vv.ll. khōṭ°, khōḍ°, one of which must be read; Mironov khōṭakah, v.l. khōḍh°; Tib. lcog, turret, or śiṅ thags skabs dañ sbyar; the last three words seem to mean fit for, adapted to (Das, s.v. skabs), and śiṅ thags = wooden enclosure; this cpd. is used for khōṭaka LV 193.6 in Tib.; khōṭaka occurs: LV 193.6 (vs) parikhā-khōṭaka-toraṇās ca mahatā prakāra ucchrāpitā; Mv ii.193.14, read, aṭṭāla-khōṭaka-racite dṛḍha-prākāra-toraṇe (see Senart's note on iii.19.17, p. 468); Gv 162.20 (mahānagaraṃ . . . aneka-) ratna-khōṭaka-pratimaṇḍitam, 21 sarve ca te ratnakhoṭakā . . .; 167.17 ratna-khōṭakāni; 202.26 sarva-ratna-khōṭaka-racita-prākāraṃ; khōḍaka, in Mv ii.484.16 = iii.19.17 (vs) ete udviddha- (ii.484.16 mss. oviddha)-prākārā aṭṭāṭṭālakhaḍḍakā (in iii.19.17 Senart °*khola*kā with 1 ms., the other quoted as °ṣoḍakā, doubtless misprint for °ṣoḍakā = °kho°); Divy 220.21, read (teṣu prākāreṣu caturvidhāḥ) khōḍakā (mss. ṣo°) māpitāḥ; AsP 486.1 (teṣām . . . prākārāṇām) . . . suvarṇasya khōḍaka-śīrṣāṇi (cf. the Skt. khōḍaka, see knotaka.

? khodaka, m. (so text; cited pw 7.336 as khōṭaka, without annotation; cf. next), acc. to Divy, Index, and pw, pot: tena śarkarā-ko labdhaḥ Divy 29.14. This may be right; but if reading of text is correct, the word could be related to AMg. khoda (in khododaga), khoya, sugarcane; or even to Skt. kṣoda, piece (pw s.v. 5); any of these mgs. would make possible sense. Uncertain.

khora (m. or nt.; cf. prec. and next), alms-bowl (so Tib., slōṅ phor): MSV iv.52.15.

khorakā (cf. AMg. khora, nt., a kind of round shaped pot, Ratnach.; cf. prec. two, and JM. khodī, wooden box; Skt. Lex. kholaka = pāka, cooking-pot?), pot: °kām pūrayitvā (with guda, candy or sweets, solid or liquid) MSV i.222.14.

[kholaka? so Senart, Mv iii.19.17; but prob. read khod°, see s.v. khotaka.]

? kholā (Skt. khola, m. or nt.), some sort of head-covering, hat or cap, or perhaps helmet (Tib. zhva, any kind of headcovering): Mvy 8612 na kholā-sīrase (but Mironov kholā°) dharmam deśayīṣyāmi.

Gaṅga, n. of a merchant: Av ii.53.3 ff.

Gaṅgadevī bhagīnī, AsP 352.1 (in title of chapter), or Gaṅgadevā bhagīnī, 366.8, 13; 367.2 (v.l. in each of the three last Gaṅgadevā); 368.7 and 9 (here in both inst. Gaṅgadevayā, v.l. Gaṅgā°, bhagīnyā), n. of a woman for whom Buddhahood was predicted.

Gaṅgapāla (= Pali Gaṅgamāla, in Jāt. 421, but there not an incarnation of Upāli; rather, he becomes a Pratyekabuddha), n. of a barber, previous incarnation of Upāli: Mv iii.191.8 ff. (prose). Cf. next.

Gaṅgapālaka = prec.: Mv iii.191.10 (prose).

Gaṅgarasthā, n. given to Virūpā, q.v., after her marriage to Gaṅga (see Speyer's note): Av ii.53.6 ff.

Gaṅgādevā, v.l. for Gaṅga°, see s.v. Gaṅgadevī.

Gaṅgā-nāgarājan, n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3304; Māy 247.8.

Gaṅgika, n. of a householder's son of Benares: Av ii.181.6.

gaṅgeyaka, adj. (cf. Pali gaṅgeyya, Skt. gaṅgeya), khosayati (cf. AMg. khosiya = jirṇa?), perh. wears away, wears off: marditvā mama lāṅgūlaṃ khosayitvā ca vāladhmi MSV iv.228.4; spoken by a wolf; Tib. yañ phyis (to hphyi ba, wipe, blot out?) nas.

khyāti-vijñāna, nt. (Skt. khyāti, appearance, becoming known), pure perception, reflection 'as the mirror reflects all forms before it' but with no differentiation even of subject and object (see Suzuki, Studies, 189 f.); function of the ālaya; opp. to vastuprativikalpavijñāna: Lañk 37.15 ff.

of the Ganges: Mv iii.423.10 evaṃ āyuṣmato gaṅgeyakasya nāvīkasya pravrajyā upasampadā bhikṣubhāvo, . . . of the Ganges-boatman (who took the Buddha in his boat across the Ganges). Or is this meant to be the boatman's name?

gacchati, seems to be used in the sense of Skt. tiṣṭhati, vartate, exists, carries on, or substantially this, in Mv i.22.11 (gharakehi) oruddhā chinna-iryāpāthā (mss. oruddha chinna-ir°) gacchanti, (sinners in hell) shut up in huts, get along with their freedom of action cut off. So Senart's note. PTSD s.v. 5 gives a similar definition, but the passages it cites obviously do not support it. Here perhaps gacchanti Mv i.17.11, 12.

gacchantaka = Skt. gacchant(-a), walking: Mv iii.330.2 (prose) (kiṃ nu khalu purimakāḥ samyaksambuddhāḥ) gacchantakā dharmacakram pravartenti (the only mss. °tanti) tiṣṭhanto vā niṣaṇṇā vā sayantakā vā. No apparent reason for -ka. Cf. next.

gacchamānaka, = °māna = prec.: LV 235.8 (vs; here -ka may be m.c.).

gaja-karṇa, 'elephant's ear', as symbol of impermanence (for some reason which is obscure to me as it was to Feer and Speyer): Av i.144.9 (ime bhogā) jalacandrasvabhāvā gajakarṇa-saḍṣā anityā(h) . . .

Gajadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.1.

gaṇḍī, only Divy 335.13 °ḍir, n. sg., usually gaṇḍī, q.v., gong.

gaṇḍikā, (1) stalk (= gaṇḍa, 1; = Pali gaṇḍikā, gaṇḍhikā): ikṣu-g° (= Pali ucchu-g°) Mv i.17.11, 12; (2) piece (cf. gaṇḍa, 2) or block of wood (also Pali id., more often spelled gaṇḍhikā): goṣīrśacandanasya tisro gaṇḍikā vastreṇa pidhāya Divy 31.27; (tisro) gaṇḍikā darśitāḥ 32.2; (3) = gaṇḍī, gaṇḍī, gong: Kv 13.8, read, dharmagaṇḍikām ākoṭayanti (see ākoṭayati).

gaṇḍī (= Pali id.; cf. gaṇḍī, °ḍikā), gong; very often with a form of ākoṭayati, q.v.: Mvy 9155; gaṇḍy ākoṭitā Divy 336.11; 337.9 (cf. gaṇḍir āk° 335.13); Av i.258.9; 272.1, etc.; in ii.87.2 read with ms. gaṇḍī-m-ākoṭyatām, cf. Kv 36.17 na ca tvayā dharmagaṇḍī-m-ākoṭyamānā śrutā (fig., the gong of the dharmā); esp. as a sign of meal-time, gaṇḍī-kāle Av i.264.8; gaṇḍī-deśanā-kāle Av ii.95.1, app. at the time of the manifestation of the gong, i. e. at dinner-time, see Speyer's note; in Av i.258.1 and ii.10.8 is printed instead of this gaṇḍī-deśa-kāle, but Speyer on ii.95.1 would emend deśa to deśanā, prob. rightly.

gaṇḍīraka, m. (= Skt. °ra), a kind of pot-herb, growing in water: candana-°kaḥ MSV ii.64.11 (cf. candana 1).

gaṇḍūsika, °mika, °ṣa, see kaṇḍūsika.

gata, adj., ppp., (1) understood, grasped (hardly a Skt. usage; cf. however BR s.v. gam, ppp. gata, 1, 1): gatam etad Divy 301.27, I have understood this (which you have said); etad api gatam 302.1, 5, 12; (2) extensions of the quasi-suffixal use of gata noted for Skt. by Whitney, Gr. 1273c; very close to the Skt. is perhaps Divy 29.21 ekasya grhagatam kṣetratgam ca, ekasyā-vāriगतam deśāntaratgam ca, to one went (in a division of property) what was in the house and in the field (? or possibly the house(s) and field(s)?) as in drṣṭigata, rūpagata, see below), etc.; Śikṣ 246.16 (tatra katamo °bdhātuḥ?) yad idam asmin kāye °dhyātmaṃ pratyātmaṃ āpaḥ, abgatam; aptvaṃ snehaḥ (abgatam perhaps what is water), snehagatam snehatvaṃ...; on drṣṭi-gata and rūpagata, which seem hardly distinguishable in mg. from drṣṭi and rūpa, see s.vv. (the former is found in Pali, the latter in AMg.).

gataka, adj. (gata plus specifying -ka), the one who has gone: Mv ii.216.18 udakahāri gatako.

gata-pratyāgatikā, Bbh 122.18-19, or °tika-tā (v.l. gati-pratyāgatikā) 121.20 (cf. Skt. gata-pratyāgata, gone and come back), the coming back again after having gone: instr., (na ca bodhisattvo yācanakam) punaḥ-punar-yācanatayā gata° °tayā (or, gati° °kayā)... parikliṣya dānam dadāti.

gati, f., (1) (= Pali id.) state of existence into which rebirth is possible; destiny, (future) state. As in Pali, there are normally five: hell (naraka, niraya; nairayika), animals (tiryaq, tiryagyonī, tiryagata), ghosts (preta, yamaloka, °kika), gods, men; or six, with addition of asuras. The first three are evil, durgati (tisṛṇām durgatinām SP 260.8, listed 9), or apāya, q.v. A brief summary of the 5 or 6 gati in LaVallée Poussin, AbhidhK. iii.11. Lists of 5, Mv i.42.17 (vs); ṣaṣṭu gatiṣu 337.5 (prose); six also Mv ii.368.12 (text uncertain); existence even in the relatively favorable states is still evil, cf. SP 48.3 ṣaṣṭu gatiṣū parikhidyamānāḥ; in Śikṣ 147.14 a totally different list of four (evil) gati is given, viz. (1) akṣaṇa-gati (see s.v. akṣaṇa), (2) going to a Buddha-field which contains no Buddha, (3) birth in a heretical family, (4) sarvadurgati-gati; (2) a high number: Mvy 7800; 7930 (cited from Gv); 8026; Gv 106.20; 134.5; (3) in gatiṃ-gata, q.v., perhaps to be taken in the sense of understanding, comprehension, knowledge; Tib. in this cpd. renders rtogs pa, understanding, and uses the same translation when gati is associated with such words as smṛti, mati, as in LV 8.2 smṛti-mati-gati-dhrty-uttapta-; see s.v. gatima(nt). See next two.

gatika, (1) m., a recourse, refuge: Kv 53.21 (prose) agatikānām gatiko bhava, advipānām dvīpo bhava, be a refuge for (us, women) who have no refuge; (2) at end of Bhvr. cpds., = gati in various senses; recourse, refuge, agatikānām Kv 53.21, above; state of (future) existence, destiny (see gati), saṃsārasya pañca-gatikasya Kv 69.10 (prose), of the saṃsāra which is characterized by the five states of existence, cf. (pañca-)gandaka; agatikā hi te tathāgataḥ sarvalokagati-niruddhatvāt Gv 238.6, for Buddhas are not subject to (rebirth in) the states of existence . . .; ṣaḍgatikāt (v.l. pañca-ga°) traidhātukāt SP 137.6 (prose); śūnyatā-gatikā . . . sarvadharmās AsP 298.5; passing away, vanishing, perishing, vicinanti saṃskṛta-gatikam an-āgatikam (ī twice m.c.) gatikā = gati (1), state of existence, destiny, in Tatpuruṣa (not Bhvr.) cpd.: RP 34.16 (prose) nīcakulopapattir durvarnatāndhatva-gatikāḥ pāpamitrasamavadhānam etc., (evil) states of existence such as . . .

gatigata, adj. = next (unless misprint or corruption?): Mv ii.434.14 (prose) sarvatra niścītā gatigatāḥ (no v.l.).

gatiṃgata, adj. (cf. gati 3, prec. and next; nowhere recorded in this sense), skilled, experienced, adept; perh. lit. gone to understanding, so Tib. regularly, rtogs par khoṅ du chud pa, entered within understanding; some editors print gatiṃ gata- as two words, certainly wrongly; with loc. of the field of skill, or in comp.: loc., SP 26.5 (vs) gatiṃgato jñāni (most mss. jñāna; certainly loc.) anāśravessimī (mss.); SP 131.3 (vs) sarvatra traidhātuki ye g°; 313.2 (vs) prajñabale; Mv ii.73.9; 76.14 sarvatra; iii.184.8 (series of locs.) . . . iṣvastrajñāneṣu sarvatra; 386.10 nakṣatreṣu; 393.9 sarvasāstreṣu; 419.2 parivrājakaśāstreṣu; RP 5.18 sarvasattvacarite; 10.16 śūnyatāsu; Suv 175.6 sarvasāstreṣu; in cpds., Mvy 356 anāvarana-; SP 3.2 prajñāpāramitā-; Laṅk 2.2; LV 2.8, read with v.l. sarvabodhisattvapratīsamvid-gatiṃgataiḥ; 179.15 upāya-kauśalya-; Gv 25.11 bodhicaryā-; 31.11, etc.; Sukh 59.4–5; alone, no dependent, Mvy 866; 2888; Sādh 15.17.

gatiṃgatvā, ger., to prec., q.v., having thoroughly comprehended, at end of cpd. in Laṅk 72.13 (prose) -pañca-dharmasvabhāvanairātmyalakṣaṇadvaya-gatiṃgatvā, cf. 2.2 pañcadharmasvabhāvavijñānanairātmyādvaya-gatiṃgataiḥ; with acc. object, Sukh 36.12 aprameyāsaṃkhyeyāml lokadhātūn gatiṃgatvā (here perhaps in physical sense, having penetrated, permeated?) sattvebhyo dharmam deśayanti.

Gaticandranetanayana, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.20.

Gatipravara, n. of a kalpa: Gv 398.21.

gatima(nt), adj., possessing gati (perhaps in the sense of knowledge, intelligence, see s.v. gati, 3): Mv i.229.9 (prose) gatimena smṛtīmena dhrīṭīmena matimena (of the Bodhisattva); cf. Pali MN i.82.37 adhimatta-satimanto, °tta-gatimanto, °tta-dhitimanto.

-gatika, m.c. for gatika, q.v.

Gadgadasvara, n. of a Bodhisattva: SP 423.10 ff. [gantra, said to mean cart, in Śikṣ 28.1, ms. ṣaḍ-gantopetān (hasty-ājāneyān), ed. em. °gantrop°; but Tib. clearly had ṣaḍdantopetān, see Bendall and Rouse, Transl. 30 n. 4, and this should be adopted.]

gandha-kuṭī (= Pali id.), name given to a special private cell of the Buddha (and a similar one of earlier Buddhas, so in Pali, and in Divy 333.4–5); esp. one at the Jetavana at Śrāvastī: Mvy 9151; Av i.96.4; ii.40.1; 153.11; Divy 46.5 and 13 (in both text with mss. °kūṭī); 333.4 (one ms. °kūṭī) and 6. (Divy., Index, wrongly °kūṭī). MSV ii.142.10 seems to imply that any monastery might be provided with one; in iii.133.6 ff. directions for its location (in general, in the center of a vihāra).

gandhatailaka, Mv iii.442.15, or °lika, Mv iii.113.10 (from Skt. gandhataila plus ka or ika), dealer in perfumed oil.

Gandhapura n. of a town: Mv iii.328.2. See s.v. Kandha.

Gandhaprabhāsa, n. of a Buddha in the zenith: Sukh 98.16.

? Gandhamādana, n. of a mountain, = Gandhamādāna: Māy 253.26. Occurs in Skt (pw), allegedly only m.c.; prose in Māy! Perh. corruption for °mādāna.

Gandhamādāna, (1) n. of a park in the city Ratana-kholaka: Mv i.186.18; (2) n. of a pratyekabuddha: Mmk 40.22; 64.12 (here, acc. to Lalou Iconographie 35 n. 7, taken by Tib. and Chin. as two names; she follows them, but the interpretation is impossible in the other passages and must certainly be rejected); 111.10; Av i.156.20 (here a future pr. b.); (3) = Skt. and Pali id., n. of a mountain, which in Pali is persistently associated with pacceka-buddhas, cf. 2 above: Mvy 4151; Mv ii.53.17; 55.4; Divy 157.27 etc.)

Gandhameghavyūhadhvajā, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 12.14(13).

gandharva, m. (cf. Pali gandhabbā, f., and Skt. gāndharva, nt., id.), music: Mvy 4954 (so also Mironov; short a may be MIndic, but note gender!) = Tib. rol mo.

gandharva-kanyā, a gandharva-maid (distinguished from Apsaras!): Kv 4.13 ff.; 62.5, 6. Cf. Gv 88.13 (gandharvendrān) asaṃkhyeya-gandharvendra-kanyā-śatasahasra-parivārān.

Gandharva-kāyika, adj., a class of devaputras: SP 4.15 °kāyikair (mss. °kañh; ed. °ka-) devaputrāḥ sārddham.

Gandharvakāyu-prabharāja, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.21 (vs). Read °kāya°? In a list of Buddhas. Or possibly, with different division of words, read Maṇisumeru-śīrī-gandharvakāyu (one cpd. word, n. sg.), followed by Prabharāja?

Gandharvagīta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.2.

Gandharvamādāna, n. of a mountain: RP 43.4 (vs; meter correct). Does it refer to the well-known Gandhamādāna, q.v.?

Gandharvarāja, n. of a Buddha: Gv 257.10.

gandharva-lipi (= AMg. gandhavva-livi), a kind of script: LV 126.2 (confirmed Tib., dri za).

gandharvika (= Skt. gā°; ā MIndic?), musician: Mv iii.111.20 (here Senart em. gā°); 113.2; 442.8 (all prose).

Gandhavatī, (1) n. of a goddess: Mvy 4324; (2) n. of a city: AsP 485.13; (3) n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 82.6.

Gandhasugandhā, n. of a lokadhātu: Lañk 105.9. ? gandha-hasta, in sa-gandhahastam LV 415.12, in a list of epithets of the dharmacakra; Tib. spos kyī lag ris dan bcas pa, having perfumed lines-on-the-hand. I do not understand the term. There is no v.l.

Gandhahastin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 704; AsP 474.2; Sukh 92.11; Samādh p. 36, line 1. The word occurs in Skt. and AmG. (*hattī) in the sense of an elephant in the climax of must, i. e. in the fourth stage of must, described in Mātāṅgalīlā ix.15; this mg. is also found Mvy 8209, where °hasti-balam is contrasted with 8208 prākṛta-hasti-balam, strength of an ordinary elephant.

Gandhā, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 157.13 etc.; 324.6.

gandhāra, m. (1) (= Skt. Lex. id.; MIndic for Skt. gāndhāra), the third note of the gamut: Mvy 5030 (v.l. gān°, but Mironov gan°); (2) n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3298; Māy 247.37.

Gandhārī, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.17.

gamyate (pass. of gam, cf. BR s.v. gam 5; but I find no record of the pass. in this use), it is possible, there is opportunity (with infin.): Mv ii.248.(17–)18 yadi tava abhiprāyo, āgaccha; nānāprakāraṇi phalāni paribhoktum tahiṃ gamyate.

Gayā-kāśyapa (= Pali Gayā-kassapa), n. of one of Buddha's disciples, mentioned with his brothers Uruvilvā-kāśyapa and Nadī-k°, qq.v.: Mv iii.102.13; 103.2; 430.13, 18; 432.8; SP 2.2; 207.3; LV 1.11; Mvy 1064 (Uru° and Nadī° 1049, 1050); Sukh 2.5.

Gayāśīrṣa, m. (= Pali Gayāsisa, Skt. Gayāsīras, Gaya°), n. of a mountain near Gayā: Mvy 4116; LV 246.8; 248.7; Mv ii.121.1; 200.9.

gara-dattaka, adj. (specifying ka, § 22.39), one that has been poisoned, given poison: Mmk 53.26 (prose) °kam (sc. ālikhet) ekākṣareṇaiva mantreṇaiva udakam saptā-bhimantritam kṛtvā tatraiva maṇḍalamadhye pātayitavyaḥ, mucyate. On the construction (poison-given = poisoned) cf. pw s.v. dā 10, garaṃ or viṣam dā with acc. (as well as gen.); this is the passive equivalent of that syntax. Cf. also -garādi-pradattam Mmk 82.13.

garahati (= Pali id., Skt. garhati), censures: Mv ii.376.4 (vs; metr. required).

Garuḍa, n. of a yakṣa on (Mt.) Vipula: Māy 5. Occurs as n. of a yakṣa also in AmG. (Ratnach.)

garuḍa-lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.3 (confirmed Tib., nam mkhaḥ ldiā).

gargari (in Skt. churn; = Pali gaggari, regularly kammāra-ga°), usually karmāra-ga°, blacksmith's bellows: LV 251.17 tad yathāpi nāma karmāragargaryām (pw with only Calc. °rāyām, rendered churn) mathyamānāyām uccaśabdo . . . niścarati; same figure Mv ii.124.12 karmāragargari dhāmyamānā; 232.2 gambhīram sya (mss. °rasya) tad āśvāsam karmārāṇam va (mss. ca) gargari.

Garḡā (corresp. to Pali Gaggarā), n. of a pool at Campā where Buddha stayed: MSV ii.202.12; 203.1.

Garjanī, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.23.

Gardabha(ka) (cf. Pali Gadabha, a yakṣha), n. of a yakṣa: °bha MSV i.15.4 ff.; °bhaka i.16.15; Māy 37; Samādh p. 43, line 20.

Gardabhakātyāyani, n. of the gotra of the nakṣatra Pūrvaśāḍha: Divy 640.20.

gardula, gardūra, gardūla (m. or nt.; = Pali gaddula, °ūla, thong), (1) thong, bond: LV 207.17 (prose) iha te bālā vipariyantane kurkurā iva gardūla-(so read with some mss., v.l. gandūla, gadūla, etc.; Lefm. em. śardūla-)-baddhāḥ, . . . like dogs tied to a thong; MadhK 218.6 (sattvānām . . .) tṛṣṇā-gardūra-baddhānām (so mss., ed. em. wrongly °gaṇḍura; cf. Pali taṇhā-gaddūla-); (2) some kind of forest plant (perhaps one used in making thongs?): as fuel for fire, parallel with araṇī, Śikṣ 248.6–7, text garbhala- (corrected in ms. to gardūla, which read) -sahagatebhyo vā; eaten by ascetics, LV 213.12 (vs) śāka-syāmāka-gardūla-bhākṣāś ca; 258.10 (vs) syāmāka-sāka-bhākṣā mṛṇāla-gardūla-kaṇā-bhākṣāḥ (here short u could be m.c., but it occurs also in Pali gaddula).

Garbha, n. of an author: Sādh 295.18.

Garbhāhāriṇī, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.19.

? garbholika, in upari-garbholikam (to be read as one word; sc. āsanam) AsP 488.20, having (some sort of) cover on top; parallel to goṇikāstīrṇam, kāśikavastrapratyā-staraṇam (read kāśī°), etc. The word is otherwise unknown, obscure in etymology, and perhaps corrupt. Possibly read for the cpd. a word containing ubhayato-lohita-(upadhānam, or the like), cf. Sukh 67.8; Mv ii.115.16–17; iii.70.2 (all similar passages).

galita, of Buddha's voice, perhaps fluent: Mv i.315.3

°tam (so or °tam mss.; Senart em. gaditam, but his note retracts the em.) āviṣṭam bhāṣati, metr. dubious; i.171.11 galita-pada-samcayavati, of Buddha's voice. It would perhaps be rash to read agalita, which is used in Pali in the sense of (not dropping,) fluent, distinct, agreeable (CPD). Relation of the two forms obscure.

gallī (v.l. gallikā; unrecorded; cf. ardha-gallī), some sort of vehicle: Mv ii.434.8 (prose). Doubtless = AMg. (etc.) gaḍḍī, cart.

gava, m. (Skt. only in cpds., = go), bull, ox: SP 363.10 (vs) mahiṣā gavā ye.

Gavayaśirṣa, n. of a nāga-king: Māy 246.28.

Gavā, n. of a naḡarāvalambikā (q.v.) at Senāpatī-grāma who gave a rag garment to the Bodhisattva: Mv iii.311.18; 312.12.

Gavāmpati (= Pali Gavampati), (1) n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mvy 1051; SP 2.4; LV 1.10 (see s.v. Yaśodeva); Mmk 111.12; Sukh 92.8; Karmav 62.3; (2) n. of a nāga-king: Kv 2.10 (cf. 2 Gavampati, in DPPN, who had once been born to a nāga girl).

-gaveṣaka, adj. (= Pali -gavesaka), seeking: Sukh 8.13 (vs) śiva-vara-bodhi-gaveṣako.

gaveṣanā (= AMg. gavesanā; Skt. Lex. id., and Skt. °ṇa, nt.), search, inquiring, inquiry: LV 182.21 (vs; final metr. indifferent) pariṣṛchātā kiṃ kuśalaṃ gaveṣanā.

gavya-dṛḡha, m. (Skt. Lex. = goročanā), a yellow dye made from the bile of cattle: Mvy 5929, in a list of dye-stuffs (Tib. spyin, defined in Dictt. only as paste, glue).

gaha, nt., possibly MIndic for Skt. ḡha, house, but acc. to Chin. a shrine, pagoda, or the lower part of one; see § 3.90: Bbh 231.11, 26; 232.7. Cf., however, gahastha.

gahana (nt., or adj.), is sometimes, apparently, involved in word-plays with grahaṇa, q.v. (on the basis of MIndic pronunciation of the latter). In Śikṣ 286.1 (aśaṭhatā śaṭheṣu) amāyāvītā gahanacariteṣu (this is the clear intention of the ms., see ed. note, and must be read), kṛtajñātā akṛtajñeṣu, etc., the Tib. is said to render guilelessness among the guileful, which is supported by the parallel phrases surrounding this. The transl. of Bendall and Rouse renders gahana-carita overreaching; it seems more likely to mean of obscure, hidden (or perhaps tangled) conduct, and so tricky. See next (apparently a quite unrelated confusion).

gahanatā (app. = Pali gahaṇa, below; cf. prec.), designates some sort of heresy: Śikṣ 172.3 (prose) idam agraṃ mithyādṛṣṭinam, yad uta gahanatā-dṛṣṭih. Ed. note refers to Dh. comm. iii.494.1 (on Dh. 318 micchādītṭhi-samādānā) gahaṇa-samkhātāya micchādītṭhiyā samādinattā, from being taken by the heresy called gahaṇa; the domal ṇ suggests connexion with Skt. and BHS grahaṇa, which Bendall says is also shown by the Tib. rendering, which he quotes as gziṃs pa (connecting it with ḡdzin pa). The Dh. context suggests that it consists in taking what is sinful for no sin, and vice versa; perh. then lit. holding (perverse views on morals)? Unfortunately I find no other evidence for the heresy referred to, in either Pali or BHS. Bendall and Rouse: the chiefest of all false doctrine, that is, the heresy of clinging to the world (would this be called a false doctrine, dṛṣṭi?).

gāḍha (m.? = Skt. and Pali gādha; see also gāha), firm ground, solid basis: in alabdha-gāḍha (Senart °dhā, mss. °ḍham, which could stand as adv., °ḍhe, or once °gāho) Mv iii.284.2, 11 paribāhīro (q.v.) bhavati alabdha-g°, . . . not finding any basis (support). Cf. Skt. agādhe gādham icchatām Mbh. (Calc.) 7.91; gādha in Pali often with esati, vindati, labhati. In Mv iii.285.13 mss. agāhe gāham eṣatha, which may be kept, see gāha; Senart em. agāḍhe gāḍham, which is read by some mss. in the same vs LV 379.11 (Lefm. with v.l. agādhe gādham, also eṣata). Cf. also next.

gāḍham, adv. (to Skt. gādha, adj., firm), certainly, assuredly; in this sense modelled on bādham, which is used in the same way in Skt.: LV 121.4 (prose) bādham gāḍham kriyatām, certainly, decidedly let it be done.

gādha (m.; in mg. ford, solid ground, firm basis, in Skt. and Pali, see s.vv. gādha, gāha), basis, in the sense of occasion, opportunity, (to do something, dat., quasi-infinitive): AsP 472.3 (avatāraṃ na labhate grahaṇāya) gādham na labhate.

Gāndharva, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.153.16.

Gāndhāra, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.31.

gābhīra-tā, deepness, depth: Mv ii.148.3 (prose) (kleśaśatānām) gābhīratā. Skt. Gr. records gāmbhīra, adj. acc. to BR, pw 7.338; but gābhīra-, if not a corruption, is most likely a replacement of gambhīra by the 'Morengesetz' (§ 3.3).

(-gāmika as in Skt. = -gāmin: in LV 397.16, vs, read with all mss. and Mv iii.316.20 pratisrotagāmiko mārgo, which Lefm. wrongly em.)

-gāminikā (to gāminī, f. of gāmin, § 22.34), going: °kāṃ LV 323.3 (vs), of a daughter of Māra.

gāyanaka, m. (= Skt. gāyana), singer: in lists of entertainers of all kinds, Mv iii.113.4 (here mss. śāya°); 255.12; 442.10.

gāyita (nt.), song: LV 194.4 (vs) no nṛtte na ca gāyite (Calc. gāyane, most mss. gāyate, ms. A text) na ramite.

gārava, nt. (= Pali id., for Skt. gaurava; vṛddhi to MIndic garu, Geiger 34), reverence, respect: Mv ii.230.7; 373.3; iii.345.18; 372.5; 430.11 (in the last three v.l. gaur°).

gārdha, nt. (so Mironov without v.l.) or gārdhā, f., desire: Mvy 2227 = Tib. zhen pa. In pw 7.338 this is called an error for gārdhya; but the latter is recorded only once in Skt. (BR 7.1738), and a vṛddhi formation in suffixal -a is as natural as one in -ya.

gārhapatika, adj. (to ḡrhapati plus -ika; cf. Pali gahapatika), of a householder: MSV ii.161.6.

gāvi (Pali and Skt. Gr. id.), cow: Mv ii.125.4 (prose) gāvīye, gen. sg.; Sādh 182.4 and 187.17 (prose) raktavarṇa-gāvi-(text em. go)-ḡrṭena.

gāha (m.; MIndic for gādha, q.v.), = gādha and (Skt., Pali) gādha: Mv iii.285.13, mss. agāhe gāham eṣatha.

girā (= Pali, Skt. Lex. id.; Skt. gir, f.), voice, speech: SP 152.2 girām, acc. sg.; Mv i.163.16 -girāhi, inst. pl.; ii.143.23 girām acc. sg.; LV 360.15 girā, n. sg. (all vss). See also next, -giri-.

Giri, n. of a nāga-king (cf. next): Māy 246.32. In LV 393.3 (vs) I am doubtful of -giri-, which seems to stand for a form of gir(ā), speech, words, and suggest em. to -gira-, m.c. for -girā, see prec. Text apagata-giri-vākpatho hy alipto, said of the Buddha: unstained, because beyond the range of speech in words; in Skt. (atīta-)vākpatha (not well defined in BR) means (beyond) the range of words, inexpressible, indescribable; some such meaning must be involved here. Mss. vākpatho, but Tib., otherwise not clear, confirms a form of -path(a): tshig bral dag gi lam (= way) gis (inst.; does this point to a reading -pathā?) ml gos pa, which seems to mean not stained by the way of those deprived of speech. But Calc. and Foucaux understand apagatagiri as a separate word (loc. absolute), which may be right.

Girika, (1) n. of a jackal, in the Vṛṣabha-jātaka: Mv iii.28.8 ff. Cf. Pali Giriya, n. of a jackal, Jāt. iii.322.1; but the story is not the same; (2) n. of a nāga-king (cf. Giri): Mvy 3253; Māy 246.33; (3) n. of a weaver's son: Divy 374.14 (also Caṇḍa-girika, q.v.).

Girikūta, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 24.

Giripradīpa, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.18.

Girimāṇḍa, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 38.

Giriya-gra-samāja (v.l. Giri-m-agra°; MIndic for Giryagra°; = Pali Giragga-samajja), nt., mountain-top festival, n. of a festival held at Rājagṛha (see Hardy, Album Kern, 61 ff.): Mv iii.57.6 Rājagṛhe . . . Gir°samajjam nāma parvam; also 12. Also called Girivalgusamāgama, q.v. Cf. samajja.

Girirāja, n. of a Buddha: Gv 258.17.

Girirājaghoṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.12.

Girirājaghoṣeśvara, n. of a former Buddha (in same list as prec.): Sukh 6.7.

Girivalgu-samāgama, m. (doubtless corruption for Giryagra-) = Giriyagra-samāja, q.v.: Av ii.24.6 Rājagṛhe . . . Giri°gamo nāma parva (mss. °vata[m]). girisāra-candana (cf. Skt. Lex. girisāra, n. of Mount Malaya, noted as home of sandalwood), sandalwood from Mt. Malaya: Mv ii.310.4.

Giryagra-samāja, see Giriyagra°.

glāna, °naka (= Pak, both; Skt. glāna, BHS glāna and glānaka), weak, exhausted, sick: °na LV 189.19; Mv i.117.7; ii.153.19 (prose); °na-bhaisajya SP 13.12; 119.10; 284.8; Mv ii.221.5 °naka-tva, see glānaka.

gillapeṭṭa, adj., pot-bellied: Mvy 8889 = Tib. gsus hphyañ, lit. with belly hanging down, same as lambodara 8890; spelled gillapeṭṭa MSV iv.194.8 (here as term of abuse).

Gītā, Song, personified as one of eight deities or (324.6) yoginis: Sādh 157.12 and 324.6 Lāsya-Mālyā (324.6 Mālā)-Gītā-Nṛtyā-Puṣpā-Dhūpā-Dīpā-Gandhās ca (324.6 °Gandhādy-aṣṭayoginībhir . . .); et alibi.

Girghoṣākṣaravimukta, m., n. of a samādhi: ŚsP 1423.19. This form, which also occurs in other lists of samādhis in ŚsP, is corrupted in Mvy to Nirghoṣ°, q.v.

guḍa, nt. (in Skt. m.), ball: LV 339.11 (vs) kecit sumerusadṛśān (note m. form) ayasā (v.l. °so) guḍāni . . . nikṣipanti.

guḍāguṇjika-bhūta, adj., Mvy 5391; so also Mi-ronov; but guṇjika seems impossible; see s.v. guṇāva-guṇṭhita-bhūta; the mg. of these two cpds. is substantially identical and both go back to one original.

guḍāyati (cf. s.v. guḍugudāyate), thunders, roars (of the noise of a thunder-storm): LV 308.4 (vs) deva guḍāyati (v.l. gud°).

guḍikā (cf. Skt. guḍa), in mālā-guḍikā (nānāpuṣpā-nām) Mv i.302.16, cluster (of garlands); cf. (mālā-)guṇa (2), and Pali mālā-guḷa, -guṇa, id.

guḍugudāyate (onomat., cf. guḍāyati, and gulu-gula and following; also Skt. guḍugudāyana, noise of rumbling in the belly), makes a kind of noise, said of serpents: Megh 288.15 °ḍāyamānā(h).

guṇa, (1) m. (Skt. and Pali id., not recorded in this use), advantage: Mv i.155.7 (vs) kam vā guṇam karoti, or what good does it do? what use is it?; (2) m. (= Pali guṇa), cluster, bouquet, garland: LV 214.19 (vs) sugandhamālām guṇapūṣpasamcayām (acc. pl.), bunches of flowers in clusters, of garlanded flowers; kaṇṭhe-guṇa, see this; mālā-guṇa-parikṣiptaḥ Mvy 9463. See also antra-guṇa (in which guṇa may perhaps mean lit. garland, chain, i. e. of the intestines).

guṇaka, m. (= Skt. guṇa, in vallaki-guṇa, BR; perhaps -ka m.c.), string (of a musical instrument): Mv iii.82.4 (vs) ekādaśim ca viṇām vādentī vallaki-(so Senart em., mss. vallīhi, vallakīhi)-guṇakām ca.

Guṇākara, was prob. n. of a former Buddha in orig. text of LV 5.5, after Mahākara (lost by haplography), as indicated by Tib. yon tan (= guṇa) hbyuñ gnas (= ākara). Is the same personage referred to in LV 73.22 (vs) udāgato Guṇākarasya padma ojavinduko?

Guṇākaragupta, n. of a teacher and author: Sādh 541.14.

Guṇākarā, n. of a lokadhātu in the southeast: LV 292.19.

Guṇāgradhārin, n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.9.

guṇā-bhūta, adj. (for Skt. guṇa°, with ā m.c.), dependent: Mv i.182.4 (vs) tasya sarvaṃ guṇābhūtaṃ atitānāgatasthitaṃ.

guṇāvaguṇṭhita-bhūta, adj. (see below for Pali), LV 205.11, entangled in (or like; a maze or tangle of) cords (threads). Corresp. to Mvy 5391 guḍā-guṇjika-bhūta, q.v., = Tib. dru gu (ball or skein of thread) ḥdzins pa (implicatus, embrouillé, Dict. Fr. Cath. Miss.) Ita bu, become as it were mixed up in a skein of thread. Parts of this old cliché in Mvy 5390-93 and in LV l.c., and repeatedly in Pali, see PTSD s.v. guḷā, which misinterprets; an approximation to the Tib. transl. of this word (with jāta for bhūta) is given in Pali comms., e. g. DN comm. ii.495.24 ff. LV: aho vatāhaṃ . . . lokasya tantrākulajā-tasya (q.v.; so mss.) guṇāvaguṇṭhitabhūtasā- (here Mvy adds muñja-balabajāta, q.v., with Pali) -javamjava-samāpannasyāsmāt etc. (for the rest see s.v. ājavamjava; Pali lacks this part, at least in most occurrences). The tradition, both Pali and BHS, is confused on the form of this word, but there seems no doubt of the essential meaning, as stated above. Instead of guṇa, thread, Mvy has guḍā, ball (sc. of thread); both Tib. dru gu and Pali comms. prove this mg., against PTSD). In Pali the mss. in different occurrences show guḷā, guḷi, guṇa, kuḷā, kula, etc.; I suspect the orig. may have been guḡā (Pali guḡā), as in Mvy, but note the Pali v.l. guṇa as in LV; the mg. of the two is practically identical here. The second member appears in Pali as guṇḡhita, guṇḡhika, guṇḡdika, guṇḡka, guṇḡhita, gandhika, etc.; in LV avagunḡhita, in Mvy guṇḡjika which seems to be unparalleled and uninterpretable. The orig. was most likely guṇḡhita; but possibly guṇḡhika (Pali, prob. based on a MIndic guṇḡhiya, really = guṇḡhita), or guṇḡdita (AMg. guṇḡdia, °ya).

Guṇāsaha (? m.c. for Guṇasaha), apparently n. of a nāga: Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 177.4 (vs); text printed guṇā saha; Chin. transliteration Yü-nang-so-ho = gu-na-sa-ha, acc. to W.

? guṇḡha, m. or nt., covering?, in LV 284.15 (prose) (divya-mānuṣyaka-mālya-vilepana)-guṇḡha-parighitābhīh (nāgakanyābhīh). Tib. lacks vilepana, and for guṇḡha (most mss. and Calc. guṇa) has bryus pa, acc. to Das = grathita, make a string of, stitch together. If correct, the cpd. would seem to mean enveloped in a covering of . . .

guṇya, adj. (cf. AMg. guṇṇa; adj. from guṇa), apparently relating to virtues (guṇa, in some sense, not precisely clear owing to lack of context), the fifth sort of puṇyakriyāvastu, q.v.: Mvy 1704 guṇyam (without puṇyakriyāvastu, which is added to the first four sorts; possibly then as substantive?) = Tib. yon tan (regularly = guṇa).

gutti (MIndic for gupti, which is recorded in Skt. Lex. in this sense, and similarly AMg. gutta), hole or cave, used as lair by animals: Mv i.20.6 and 23.1 randhreṣu (? mss. corrupt) vā guttiṣu vā kārāsu vā bandheṣu vā sāhikānām vā kimpuruṣ(ak)āṇām (? see s.v.) vā undurūnām vā bidālānām vā aḡarānām vā bile(ṣu) . . . However, the whole passage is doubtful; mss. very corrupt.

Gupta, n. of a perfumer: Divy 348.23; 351.5 ff.; 385.6; MSV i.4.2. On gupta see also s.v. gupti.

Guptakāma, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mv i.182.20.

Guptā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Sādh 561.2; 562.4.

gupti, f., in Mv nt. in form (n. sg. °tim), in Mv sometimes written gupta, nt., seems to be false Sktization of the word which appears in Pali as kutti, apparently = Skt. klpti, form, formation, fashion: note esp. svāra-gupti = Pali sara-kutti (Jāt. vi.293.19; Vin. ii.108.18, comm. 1202.6 = sara-kiriya), form (timbre)? so Lévi, JAS. 1915, I, 404 n.) of voice, Bbh 61.1(18-20) (yādrśi teṣām varṇa-puṣkalatā bhavati, tādrśi tasya; yādrśa āroha-pariṇāhā, tādrśas tasya bhavati); yādrśi svāra-guptis teṣām, tādrśi tasya bhavati (Chin. acc. to Wogihara sound, i. e. perhaps timbre, of words); very similarly Divy 222.21 (Indra made Mūrdhāta like himself; there was no difference between them, na . . . nānākaraṇam vā yad utāroha-)pariṇāho (so read with mss., as in Bbh; ed. em. °hau) varṇa-puṣkalatā svāra-guptyā svaragupter nānyatra . . .; see also s.v. guptikā; in Mv a dozen times in a cliché where gupti (sometimes written gupta) is parallel and synonymous with liṅga, dhvaja, and kalpa (sometimes ākalpa; cf. Jāt. vi.293.19 ākappaṃ sara-kuttiṃ vā na rañño sadisam ācare); with minor variants the cliché reads yaṃ (yat) kimcī(d) gr̥hi- (or ṛṣi-, parivrājaka-, tīrthika-)liṅgam gr̥hi-(etc.)-guptiṃ (mss. sometimes guptaṃ, very rarely guptih; Senart sometimes em. gupti) gr̥hi-(etc.)-dhvajam gr̥hi-(etc.)-kalpaṃ (mss. sometimes ākalpaṃ) sarvaṃ (sam-)jantar(a)hitam (antarāhāye), describing sudden and miraculous changes in heretics upon their conversion — they suddenly appear like Buddhist monks: Mv ii.234.(3-4); iii.65.(3-4); 92.(8-9); 180.14; 181.5; 329.11; 379.14; 413.(11-12); 423.8; 430.16; 432.2; here prob. belongs also ācāra-gupti-kuhaka(h) śramaṇaḡ KP 121.3; 123.1, 8; ācāraguptyih kuhako 126.12; here Tib. renders literally, (hypocritical) while guarding (propriety of conduct); as KP 123 makes clear in detail, it refers to a monk who goes thru all the external proper forms of behavior but for interested, selfish motives (hence kuhaka); 2d and 3d Chin. translations render ācāra-gupti by (having) dignity of demeanor, and prob. gupti really meant external form, as very clearly in Mv. See next but one, and cf. gutti (for Skt. gupti, in a different sense).

Guptika, n. of a householder's son of Saupāraka: Av ii.167.5 ff.

guptikā = gupti, q.v., form, fashion (of voice): Divy 20.23, text parāntikayā (read prob. aparān°, see aparāntaka) guptikayā; certainly refers to the voice in which verses were recited. (Index depth of voice, certainly wrongly.) Same passage MSV iv.188.8 svāra-guptyikayā.

gumugumunti, 3 pl. (cf. Skt. gumagumāyita; AMg. gumagumanta, etc.), onomat., they make a (pleasant) noise (subject, lutes): Mv iii.267.3 vallaki-parivādiniyo (so Senart em., mss. °vādaniyo, °vāniyo) madhuram gu° koṇa-parighaṭitā.

Gurujanapūjita, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.1.

Gurudeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.12.

gurudharma, m. (= Pali garudhamma), important rule of conduct: Bhik 4b.2; 6a.3. There are eight such for nuns, listed Bhik 4b.5-6a.2; they correspond approximately, but with some variation and in a different order, to the Pali list Vin. ii.255.5 ff.

Gurupādaka, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 61.20, 22 (prose).

guruputraka, some kind of heretical ascetic or sectarian, in a cpd. containing a list of them: Mv iii.412.7 tre-(Senart trai-, em.) daṇḡdika-m-ānandika-gu°-gautama-dharmacintikavṛddhaśrāvaka-(tr̥ṭiyā ulūkapakṣika-bhagini śramaṇā).

gulmalā, sc. lipi, a kind of writing: Mv i.135.7.

Guhagupta, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Kv 1.9; Mvy 716 (so also Mironov) = Tib. phug sbas; (2) so doubtless read in SP 3.11 for Guhyagupta of both edd., Tib. printed phug spas (both Burnouf's and Kern's transl. Guhagupta), here as one of 'sixteen virtuous men' (satpuruṣa, q.v.).

guhāti? prob. error for gūhati, q.v.

guhā, cave as a residence for Buddhas (or monks): Mv i.54.5 (prose) sapta-ratanamayānām guhānām aśīti sahasraṇi Arko rājā adāsi Parvata-nāmasya (sc. Budhasya).

Guhāvāsini, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 567.11, 21 (here Guhya°); 568.2 (here Guha°); the last two are prose and should certainly be read Guhā°).

guhmiṭa, ppp. (falsely Sktized. form based on Pkt. gumhadi, Śaur., see Sheth, = Skt. gumphayati), strung together: RP 47.3 °tā dharmamālā.

guhya = guhyaka, see next.

Guhyakādhipati (and see Āguhyakā°), Guhyakendra, also twice Guhyādhipati (otherwise guhya for Skt. guhyaka seems unrecorded; the cpds. in Skt. refer to Kubera), epithets of Vajrapāni, q.v.: LV 66.5 . . . mahāyakṣasenāpatayo Guhyakādhipatiś ca nāma yakṣakulam yato Vajrapāṇer utpattiś, te . . . ; plainly stated as ep. of Vajrapāni, Guhyakādhi° Mmk 36.2 etc.; Guhyādhi° Mmk 36.6, 21 (both prose; in 21 misprinted Guhyādhi°); Guhyakendra Mmk 548.7. Note that Vajrapāni is also called Yakṣendra (Mmk 25.12) and the like.

Guhyagupta, see Guhagupta.

Guhyasamājantra, n. of a work publ. as GOS 53 (1931), ed. Bhattacharya; with alternative title Tathāgataguhyaka; but clearly not the work cited in Śiḥs as Tathāgataguhyasūtra, q.v.; see Winternitz, Hist. Ind. Lit. 2.635.

gūthodīgalla (m. or nt.; gūtha plus uḍi°, q.v. or oḍi°?), cesspool: SP 144.10 (prose; cited s.v. syandanikā); 148.12 apagatagūthodīgallam (of a Buddhakṣetra), free of cesspools; here ed. says mss. all read gūthodillam or gūthodiyam, but Kern, note to Transl., SBE 21.146, quotes the mss. as gūthodīgalla or °gilla; in SP 425.10 (prose) all mss. are said to read gūthodilla (except one °ila-) paripūrnā. A form of the same word is surely intended by MSV iv.230.8 gūthodiram (n. sg. nt.; so ms.; ed. em. gūthādhāram).

gūhati, gūhayati (perhaps connected with Skt. Gr. gumpha(ya)ti, Pali ogumpheti; see avagūhayati), winds (garlands): Mv ii.426.19 mālām gūhayati; 427.4 (prose) mālām guhāhi (impv.; short ul); iii.4.1. mālām . . . gūhasi (impv. in mg.), v.l. guhasi (unmetrical; cf. preceding citation; the short u is prob. erroneous).

grddha (AMg. giddha; semi-MIndic for Skt. grdhra; in Pali aberrantly gijjha), vulture: LV 77.15 (prose), text grdha, prob. intending grddha, the reading of Weller's ms. 1; 249.1 (prose, no v.l.); Mv iii.456.1 (no v.l.); also in the mountain name Grddha-kūṭa (by the side of Grdhra-, also recorded Mv, see Index), Mv i.193.8; ii.257.6; iii.197.12, 15; 224.1.

grddhi, f. (= Pali giddhi), greed, eager desire: Mvy 2226; Śiḥs 39.15 (not 'for grdhyam' as Bendall's note suggests); 137.4; Bbh 129.19; AsP 92.2; Jm 136.9.

grdhrinī (for Skt. grdhri; formed to grdhra as yakṣiṇī to yakṣa), female vulture: MSV ii.35.7 (prose).

grhatara, nt. (compv. to Skt. grha; cf. Renou, Gr. scete. 237), superior house, the comp. suffix prob. complimentary; or possibly something like a house (like aśvatara, mule): LV 59.19 śuddhodanena manuṣyātīkrantaṃ divyāsamprāptaṃ (surpassing human but not equalling divine workmanship) grhataraṃ pratisaṃskāritam abhūt (for Māyā).

grhapati (= Pali gahapati), lit. householder, in °ti-ratna, as one of the 7 'jewels' of a cakravartin: LV 14.5; Mv i.49.4; 193.17, etc., see the lists s.v. ratna (3). The function of the grhapati-ratna is to discern the location of hidden treasures by means of the divya-caḥsus which he possesses, and bring those of them which are ownerless (asvāmika) into the possession of the king: LV 17.17–22; substantially the same statement in Pali, DN ii.176.7 ff. For this reason, no doubt, PTSD s.v. ratna translates gahapati by treasurer; but there is no clear evidence that he had precisely the functions which we should associate with that title. In Pali a gahapati (see PTSD s.v.) is, to be sure, often associated with seṭṭhi = śreṣṭhin; the Pali word is often rendered treasurer, but perhaps capitalist would be better (orig. guild-leader).

grhapatika (= °pati, plus -ka; = Pali gaha°), householder, in cpd. brāhmaṇa-gr° (= Pali brāhmaṇa-ga°), brahmans and . . .: Mv iii.317.6, 10; 318.13; 441.21; Śiḥs 38.2.

grhāvāsa, m. (= Pali gharāvāsa; cf. Skt. grha-vāsa), living at home, in the householder's state, contrasted with ascetic life: RP 12.16 (prose), 'where Finot em. grha°; Jm 181.21 (mss.; Kern em. grha°); Mv iii.50.12, text grhā°, to be sure with v.l. grha°. Pali seems to support grhā° adequately, tho elsewhere (e. g. Mv ii.69.1; 117.19) the regular Skt. grha° occurs.

[grhīṇa, RP 29.11 (vs), taken by Finot, p. X, line 5, as n. sg. = Skt. grhī; I think we should emend to grhī na. Read: grddho grhī na tathā kāmair yādṛse pravrajitva te grddhāḥ, a householder is not so eager for pleasures as they are eager, after becoming monks (said of wicked and degenerate monks).]

grhītaka (Skt. grhīta plus specifying ka, § 22.39), the one that has been caught, taken: Mv ii.179.9; Mmk 82.25–26.

grhṇana (nt.; nom. act. to grhṇati with suffix ana), act of taking, grasping: Mmk 118.17 śodhana-vedhana-grhṇana-virecanādīni karmāṇi.

geya, nt. (= Pali geyya), the second in the traditional Pali-BHS list of nine (in Mvy twelve) types of Buddhist sacred literature, classified by form and content; mingled prose and verse: (sūtram) geyam (Mvy gey(y)am, but Mironov only geyam) (vyākaraṇam...) Mvy 1268; Dharmas 62; (sūtrāni) ..gāthā itivṛttakam jātakam adbhutam ca.) nidāna... geyam ca bhāṣāmi tathopadeśān SP 45.(7-8) (vss). Tib. on Mvy dbyaṅs kyis bśiād pa, app. narration with verses.

Geya-rājan, n. or title of a cakravartin: Mvy 3593; first element confirmed by Tib. glu dbyaṅs, song. The adjoining parallel names, all ending in -rājan, suggest that Geya- was a locality; perh. cf. Geyamālava or -marthaka (?), Kirfel, Kosm. 74 (from Purānas).

gela, m., a high number: Mvy 7762 = Tib. phyag phyig (= next).

gelu, m. (or f.), a high number: geluḥ Mvy 7890, cited from Gv 133.20; = Tib. phyag phyig (= prec.).

gailānya, nt. (or m.? = Pali gelaṅṅa; § 3.70; cf. glānya), sickness: Mv iii.165.1 (prose, em., but certain; mss. glainānyam); KP 65.6 (prose, text gelānyam); 118.3 (prose) dvau... gailānyo (read °nyau, dual; as if masc.); in 1 above glānyau, in 7 below dve... glānye, nt. dual); 119.1 (prose) dvau... gailānyau (in 2-3 dvau... glānyo, read °yau); Samādh p. 52 line 25 (vs) gailānyu (for °yam); acc. to Kern, Preface vii, viii, SP Kashgar rec. has (manda-) gailānya for (manda-)glānya of Nep.

go-kaṅṭaka (Skt. Lex., of ground, roads; cf. Pali gokaṅṭaka-hata, of ground, bhūmi; alleged in Skt. Lex. also to mean the hoofs of cattle, lit. apparently having cattle as 'thorns' = enemies, afflictions; trampled by cattle, of grain: Divy 19.19 kharā bhūmī, gokaṅṭakā dhānā (so mss., ed. em. dhānāh). The Pali cpd. could be rendered consistently with this as: afflicted because of being trampled by cattle. This seems to be substantially what is meant by AN comm. ii.225.11-15.

Gokarna, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.5. goghātaka (= Pali id.), beef-butcher: Mvy 3761; °ko vā goghātakāntevāsi vā Mv ii.125.3-4; Śikṣ 210.4.

gocara, m., (1) as in Skt., scope, range: Laṅk 1.11 svacitta-dṛśya-gocara-parijñāna, knowledge of what has as its scope things perceptible to their own minds (Suzuki, ... the objective world as the manifestation of their own Mind, which is not what the words say); pratyātma-gati-gocaram, what has as its scope the course of the individual self, Laṅk 4.16; 5.5; 7.8, 11; atra gambhīre buddha-gocare Śikṣ 174.9, in regard to this profound sphere (range, scope) of the Buddha(s); similarly tathāgatagocarābhīrataḥ LV 180.13; dhyāna-gocarāṇām... laukikasamādhīnām LV 244.4; etc., common, but hardly transcending Skt. limits; (2) also quite close to Skt. usage, but closer to Pali locutions, association, the range of persons with whom one associates; in comp. or parallel with ācāra, right conduct; so also in Pali, ācāra-gocara-(dvandva) as all comms. agree; PTSD wrongly-sampanna, perfect in conduct and personal associations, fully explained Vism. 17 f., where proper gocara is defined as avoiding the company of immoral persons, kings and courtiers, heretics, and impious families; so in SP 275.6 a Bodhisattva must be ācāra-gocara-pratiṣṭhita, fixed in (right) conduct and associations, which, as the following makes clear, means (besides good conduct, ācāra) avoidance of kings and courtiers, heretics, worldlings, or even followers of the Hīnayāna (276.1-11, in response to 275.11 katamaś ca... bodhisattvasya... gocarāḥ); in this sense, samtoṣaṇiyā me sabrahmacāriṇo, yad ūta tena tenācāra-gocara-samudācāreṇeti nihata māno bhavati (does samudācāra, as third member of the cpd., mean address, manner of speaking to people?) Śikṣ 150.21; prob. also samgaṇikayāpi vivekagocaraḥ Śikṣ 202.20, even with company, he is in association with solitude, i. e. he is not contaminated or distracted by crowds; (3) (= Pali id.) sustenance, provisions, food; particularly used (as in Pali) of food for monks: supriyā śrāvastīm abhisam-Gocarapariśuddha, nt., n. of a work: Mvy 1376. Cf. next.

Gocarapariśuddhi-sūtra, n. of a work (same as prec.?): Śikṣ 350.21.

— gocarika, adj., (1) providing sustenance (see s.v. gocara, 3) for... (monks): (tattraiko) baṇig bhikṣugocarikaḥ Divy 307.21; (2) (= Pali gocariya, see below), ? an epithet of wool, some of which is to be used in making coverlets for monks, Prāt 496.10, 12; they are to be made of two parts 'pure black' (śuddha-kāḍānām) wool, one part white (avadātānām), and the fourth part gocarikānām (gen. pl.), which acc. to Finot is rendered in Chin. by (wool) of inferior quality. In the close Pali parallel Vin. iii.226.25 ff. (ignored in PTSD; Childers records it from Minayeff's Prātimokṣa S.) the corresponding epithet, gocariya, is said by the comm. 684.21 to mean tawny (kapilavaṇṇanam); this is adopted by Childers; also transl. SBE 13.25 'of the colour of oxen (reddish brown)', or (below) 'tawny'; it seems like a dubious guess.

gocarin, adj., having as one's scope or sphere; devoted to: rāyākāryu no karoti dharmam eva gocari LV 76.4 (vs), does not perform the business of kingship, being devoted only to religion (or dharmam eva may depend on implied karoti).

gocari (°ri?), f. (not in Skt. or Pali, but cf. AMg. gocari, JM.goyari, both defined as begging, cf. s.v. gocara 3), = gocara, course, sphere, range: teṣu (sc. Buddhānām, gen. pl.) ca gocarim (no v.l.) otari nityam Bhad 33 (= Gv 545.22, vs), and may I enter permanently into the range of them (viz. of all Buddhas).

goṇa, m. (= Pali id., also Pkt., Hem. 2.174), ox, bull: (gorathakān...) goṇair yojitān SP 75.8 (prose); in vss SP 89.1, 7; 358.1; goṇa-mukhāś ca SP 84.13 (vs), ox-faced (of demons).

goṇasika, nt. (v.l. gonasita, with dental n; Mironov as text, v.l. °sikam), some sort of ornament: Mvy 6037 = Tib. gser gyi mon lhas, which Das renders suvarṇa-dāma, a gold braided head-ornament, also a necklace.

goṇi, n. sg. goṇiḥ, or goṇī (f.?), Mvy 9564 = Tib. do gal gal: Jā. and Das define do gal as important, importance, Das adding as Skt. equivalent gaṇi (but Skt. gaṇa = unimportant, of secondary importance!). Chin. also important. Mironov goṇī, v.l. goṇiḥ.

goṇikā (also spelled gonikā, Sukh 67.6; cf. Pali goṇaka, also gonaka, woolen cover with long fleece PTSD; Skt. goṇī = carmamayam āchādanam, Schmidt, Nachtr.; Gaṇapati Sastri uses śayyāstarāṇa-goṇikādīḥ as a gloss on parivāpaḥ Kauṭ. Gotama, MIndic spelling for Gautama, q.v.: Śikṣ 331.11 (here apparently = Gautama 3).

Gotamī, MIndic spelling for Gautamī, q.v.: LV 201.10 (no v.l. recorded, but Calc. Gau°; perhaps misprint). gotaraṇi, n. sg. °ṇiḥ, a kind of flower: Mvy 6208 (Tib. transliterates go-ta-ra-ṇi); also in ms. H of LV, see Crit. App. on LV 11.3, cited as govaraṇi, but read gota°, as shown by Tib. which here has ko-ta-ra-ni (dental n).

gotra, m. and nt. (in Skt. only nt., and not in these mgs.; Pali Dictt. also fail to record these mgs. except in cpd. gotrabhū, q.v.; but Pali gotta seems clearly used in mg. 1, below, in Vism. i.138.4-5, in definition of gotrabhū: tam parittagottābhavanato mahaggatagottābhāvanato ca gotrabhū ti pi vuccati; note how Pali here associates the Sktized gotra-bhū with the MIndic gotta! contrast Lévi's note on Sūtrāl. iii.1), (1) lit. family, but in special technical sense of religious group or communion: pañca-gotrāḥ Mvy 1260, listed 1261-5 śrāvaka-yānābhisamaya-gotraḥ, pratyekabuddha-yānā°, tathāgata-yānā°, aniyata-gotraḥ, a-gotraḥ; same five, with -gotraṃ, nt., Lañk 63.2-5 (pañcābhisamaya-gotrāṇi); for the fourth, aniyata-kaṭara-gotraṃ, 63.4; in the sequel Lañk explains at length the first three; aniyata-, le gotra qui n'est pas définitif, Lévi, Sūtrāl. iii.1, note, is briefly treated in Lañk 65.2 f., aniyata-gotrakaḥ punar . . . triṣv apy eteṣu deśya-māneṣu yatrānuniyate tatrānuyojyaḥ syāt; apparently this is the class of people who may be drawn to whichever of the three yānas happens to be presented. The a-gotra is not explained but evidently means people outside of any Buddhist communion; in this sense understand gotrāgotraṃ katham Lañk 25.2, (religious) family and lack of it (dvandva cpd.). Only the first three gotras are listed AbhidhK. LaV-P. vi.175; similarly Bh 223.5-6 contrasts śrāvaka-pratyekabuddha-gotrāṃ (acc. pl.) with tathāgata-gotrāṃ. In KP 102.9; 103.1, 8 āryānām gotraṃ is described as a state in which all normal conditions and activities are at an end, and in 104.1-2 (continuation of the same) it is said, anulomaṃ tad gotraṃ nirvāṇasya. The relation of this to the three or five gotras is not quite clear. In the question, kena pravartitā gotrāḥ suvarṇa-maṇimuktajāḥ Lañk 26.3, gotra is prob. used in this same sense, but the adj., sprung from gold, gems, and pearls, is obscure in application; one is tempted to see an allusion (metaphorically) to the next mg., cf. especially suvarṇa-gotra-vat Sūtrāl. iii.9 and suratna-gotra-vat 10, with Lévi's note; but producing gold etc., which one would expect, seems philologically impossible; (2) mine, of gems or ores: Sūtrāl. iii.9, 10, above; sarvaratnasambhavotpattigotrākaramūlyajñāneṣu Gv 451.2; dhātu-gotrāṇi, mines of ores (metals), °ṇi yaṃ paktvā suvarṇa-rūpya-vaidyūyāny (°vaid°) abhinivartante Divy 111.20, and (°ūrya-sphaṭikāny°) 111.28-29, 112.12-13; catvāro dhātu-gotrāḥ pradārśitāḥ MSV i.106.16; (3) like Skt. ākara, also origin: nikāyagati-gotrā ye Lañk 292.16, paraphrasing nikāyagati sambhavāt (labhyante) 292.13; basis, source, cause, see, Bbh 2.25 punar etad gotraṃ ādhāra ity ucyate, upastambho hetur nīśraya upaṇiṣat pūrvamgamo nilaya ity ucyate . . . (3.1 gotraṃ dvidvidham, prakṛtiṣṭhaṃ samudānitaṃ ca, natural and acquired . . .); 3.6 f. tat punar gotraṃ bijam ity apy ucyate, dhātuḥ prakṛtir ity api (cf. gotra = bija, hetu, AbhidhK. LaV-P. vii.49); (4) prob. as special development of prec., kind, class, category (like Skt. jāti, of similar origin and lit. mg.): nānāratna-gotra-puṣpapratimaṇḍite Lañk 1.7, adorned with flowers (made of) various kinds of jewels; so prob. vijñapti-gotra-samchannam Lañk 269.12, covered by (various) classes of relative (worldly, practical) knowledge (see vijñapti).

-gotraka, m., belonging to, a member of a gotra (q.v., 1); aniyata-gotrakaḥ Lañk 65.2; śrāvakayānābhisamaya-gotrakasya 64.2; similarly 64.4, 10, 17; 65.1.

Gotrakṣānti, n. of a kinnara maid: Kv 6.22.

gotrabhū, f. (cf. Pali id., a member of the religious communion, see s.v. gotra, 1), in Lañk 266.2 āśritā sarva-bhūteṣu gotrabhūḥ tarkavarjītā, nivartate kriyāmuktā jñānājñeyavivarjītā, apparently a fem. collective or abstract, the 'communion of saints', corresponding to the Pali masc. which refers to an individual person. Suzuki, the original source, which is certainly impossible; the word must have some relation to the Pali word, on which see especially Childers, and Lévi, Sūtrāl. iii.1, note.

gotra-bhūmi, f. (see s.vv. bhūmi 4 and gotra, the latter in mg. 1? or 3?), (1) the first of seven bodhisattva-bhūmi: Bbh 367.3; (2) the second of seven śrāvaka-bhūmi: Mvy 1142; ŚsP 1473.11 etc.

gotrāntariya, adj. (see -antariya, °yaka), belonging to a different (religious) 'family' or sectarian school: Karmav 60.9; 167.12.

Godāniya = Apara-go, q.v.: LV 149.19 (but Tib. nub kyi points to Apara-l); reported also from AbhidhK., iii.145 of LaVallée-Poussin's Transl.; and with short a, Godāniya MPS 31.46.

godoha (m.; Skt. godohana is used in the same way, BR), (the time required for) milking a cow, expression for a short time: antato godoha-mātram api Bbh 156.19; (antaśa) ekarātriṃ dinam apy eka-godoha-mātram api Sukh 72.6.

godha, greed, attachment (cf. Pali gedha, and BHS paligodha, q.v.); must apparently be read for bodha in KP 111.6 (vs) ākāśa-bodhe imi dve pratiṣṭhite, tau bodhisattvena vivarjanīyau; prose above, line 1, ākāśa-paligodhau, Tib. (nam mkhaḥ la = ākāśa) yoṅs su (= pari) chags pa (= greed), while in 6 Tib. (nam mkhaḥ la ni) chags pa. It seems that ākāśa-godhe is intended. But see s.v. 2 bodha. Lin Li-Kouang. Aide-Mémoire 169 n. 6, cites wrongly pali-bodhe.

Godhā-jātaka, nt. (= Pali, commonly cited as Godha-j°, tho the word for lizard is godhā as in Skt.), n. of a jātaka story (= Pali Jāt. 333): Mv ii.67.14 (colophon).

gonaṅgula (m., = Pali id., Therag. 113 = 601; Skt. golāṅgula, id., see golāṅgula-parivartana), lit. cow-tailed, a certain kind of (black-faced) monkey: Mv iii.438.8, read with mss. (one slightly corrupt) gonaṅgula-ṇiṣevitā (parvatām, acc. pl.); Senart em. golāṅgula°.

gonasaka, see goṇa°.

gonikā = gonikā, q.v.

go-ṇiṣādikā (= Pali gonisādikā, Vin. i.240.2; in same context as MSV, cow-resting-place; cow-barn (?), or merely place where cattle rest: MSV i.135.5, glossed in 13 yatra dvārāntas tad goṇiṣādiketī.

Gopa, n. of a son of Khaṇḍa (2): MSV ii.4.3 ff.

Gopaka, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Karmav 65.7. Perhaps the same as Pali āyasmā Gopako, Vin. i.300.5.

gopakṣma(n), or °ma-netra, adj. (= Pali gopaksuma), having (eyes with) eyelashes like a cow's, the 30th of the 32 lakṣaṇa; in Mvy 240 fused with abhinīla-netra into one term, abhinīla-netra-gopakṣmā; gopakṣmā Bbh 376.7; gopakṣmo (read °mā or °maḥ) sa . . . Gv 401.22 (prose); gopakṣma (perhaps sc. -netra; -a m.c.) Mv i.227.2; ii.30.5 (both vss.; in the latter mss. °kṣma, Senart em. °kṣa!); gopakṣma-netra LV 105.15; 432.7 (here text gopekṣa°, v.l. gopakṣa°, read °kṣma°); Dharmas 83 (text gopakṣa-netra-tā, v.l. gopakṣma-bhru-tā).

Gopagiri, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.10.

Gopā (also Gopī and Gopikā, qq.v.; in Pali a Śākiya girl named Gopī or Gopikā is known, but not identified with the Bodhisattva's wife), n. of a Śākyā girl, who in LV and Suv becomes the wife of the Bodhisattva (in most other texts he marries Yaśodharā, q.v.): LV 142.8 ff. (daughter of Daṇḍapāṇi); 157.4 ff.; 194.7 ff.; 230.3 ff.; 237.19; Suv 200.8; in Mvy 1071 Gopī or Gopā, named next to Yaśodharā, but there is no reason to assume their identification (Mironov reads Gopā without v.l.); in Gv 385.6 ff. Gopā occurs as a Śākyā-kanyā, who in 420.19 is the daughter of Daṇḍapāṇi (like the Gopā of LV), but there is here no suggestion that she married the Bodhisattva, tho she mentions him 419.20 (as well as Vairocana, 396.23).

gopānāsī (once, in mss., °sa; rare in Skt., see BR 5, Addenda, and pw; = Pali id., essentially Buddhist word; cf. Skt. gopāna, °naka, Acharya, Dict. Hind. Arch. s.v.), framework of a roof, rafters: Mvy 5580; gopānāsī vigadita tatra sarvā SP 83.5 (vs; of a ruined house); (-sālāyām . . . vivṛtāyām) gopānasy-antarikāś ca virājante LV 254.11, the interslices of the roof-frame; similarly 256.1 and °siye antarāni, or °sī-antarāni, vivatāni Mv ii.125.14; 127.1; 128.7; 129.9; because of curvature, used as type of the bent-over posture of old men (so Pali °sī-vaṅka, kubjo °sī-vakro vibhagno LV 188.1; Kv 48.12 (text °ṇasī°, and wrongly divided in ed.); in parallel passage, bhagno °sī-vakro Mv ii.150.19; kubja-gopānāsī-vaṅkā Mv iii.283.11; kubja-gopānāsī- (ms. °sa, em. Speyer)-vakra° Av ii.25.8.

Gopāla (= Pali id.), n. of a yakṣa: Māy 103; 237.1. Gopālaka, n. of a śreṣṭhin: Gv 525.17.

Gopālī, n. pr.? see s.v. Kumbhakāri (2).

Gopikā = Gopā (and Gopī), wife of the Bodhisattva: °kāya (gen.) LV 235.21 (vs); °ke (voc.) 237.13 (vs); MSV iv.233.17 (but in 234.14 Yaśodharā).

go-piṭaka, nt., lit. cow-basket; perh. orig. a receptacle for fodder for cattle; but in Mv always used for human (hard or dry) food or cakes (khajja, khajjaka), while soft food (odana, once bhakta, q.v.) is in the same passages placed in the alinda or °dā, q.v.: Mv ii.461.21; 462.2, 7, 9, 11; iii.15.9, 12; mentioned merely in reference to its size, °ka-mātram, Divy 70.28.

gopitaka, adj. (= Skt. °ta), hidden, concealed: (so ca naṃ māṣo) tatraiva gaṅgākūle °ko abhūsi Mv iii.184.18.

Gopī = Gopā, q.v.: Mvy 1071 v.l. for Gopā (but Mironov only Gopā, no v.l.); as the Bodhisattva's wife, Gopī (voc.) LV 235.22; 237.11 (both vss).

[gopekṣanetra, LV 432.7, corruption for gopakṣma°, q.v.]

? gomaya, m., offal, refuse, if this word is intended in Mv ii.65.7 gōmayo ti (so Senart for mss. gometi) kṛtvā na siddhā, thinking it was offal, I did not prepare it as food; foll. by, kumāro āha, na eṣā godhā abhakṣyā, bhakṣyā eṣā manusyāṇām. As Senart remarks, this seems a strange use of gomaya, and I share his suspicion of the reading, but can suggest no good emendation.

gomaya-kārsī (or -kāsi), (possibly cf. kasso = paṅkaḥ Deśin. 2.2?) perhaps a coating of cowdung, possibly mixed with something else, seemingly applied as purification: (gṛham sammārjitaṃ) sukumārī °kārsī dattā Divy 306.23; MSV ii.100.13; 129.16; in Divy 338.24 text (sā kuṭikā siktā sammārjīṭā sammārjīṭā) sukumārī (note same adj.!) gomayakārsīcānupradattā, but mss. °kārsī cānu°, read °kāsi cānu° or °kārsī cānu°; (gomayena miśrayitvā) yatra caṅkrame tathāgataḥ caṅkramyate tatra gomaya-kārsim prayacchati Divy 369.5, and, tatra gomayakārsī dattā 7. If -kāsi may be accepted as the true reading, perh. connected with root kaṣ and meaning something like a rubbing with cowdung.

Gomardana, n. of a locality: Māy 49.

Gomimukhya, n. of a king: Mmk 619.26; seems to be the same as the next, but the passage is not clear to me.

Gomiṣaṇḍa, n. of a king: Mmk 620.10; see under prec.

gomukhī (= AMg. gomuhī, Skt. gomukha), a kind of wind-instrument: parivādinī gomukhīm atha pi veṇuṃ Mv iii.82.5 (vs).

Goyoga, n. of a locality: Māy 64; cf. possibly Pali Goyoga-pilakkha.

go-rajās, lit. cow-speck, a small unit of matter, = seven sheep-specks (see edaka-rajās, where the mg. is discussed): Mvy 8196; LV 149.6; Divy 645.11.

gola, m. (in this sense Skt. Lex. nt. and golā, f.), bottle: Mvy 9415 = Tib. bum pa; Chin. large bottle. Cf. next.

golaka (m. or nt.; cf. prec.; Skt. Lex. bottle), a bottle- shaped (or ball-shaped?) ornament on a building (this is a mg. of Tib. bum pa, see under prec.): (nagaram . . .) aṭṭāla-(mss aṭṭāla)-golaka-(v.l. goraka)-toranaṃ Mv iii.160.13 (prose).

golāṅgula-parivartana (nt.?), lit. (place of) turning, moving about, of (the) monkeys (called golāṅgula, see s.v. gonāṅgula), n. of a mountain near Rājagrha: °ne parvate LV 18.14. Tib. (omitting go!) mjug ma (= tail) sgyur ba (= turn).

golika, also gaulika, m. (cf. AMg. goliya-sālā, a shop for selling treacle, Ratnach.; from Skt. guḍa with -ika), dealer in sugar or molasses: golikā, n. pl., Mv iii.442.13; gaulikā iii.113.8.

golomakam, adv., seemingly in the manner of a cow's hair: Mvy 9331 na go° keśāś (so also Mironov; Kyoto ed. v.l. keśāc; read keśāmś, keśam? or assume acc. form of s-stem keśas, q.v.?) chedayet; Tib. skra chan pas mi breg (dreg), not cut hair with scissors (1); Chin. simply hair not cut off; Jap. . . like a cow's hair; corresp. to Pali Vin. ii.134.11 (massum . . .) na golomikam-kārāpetabbam; comm. 1211.3 hanukamhi digham katvā ṭhapitaṃ eḷakam-massukam (!) vuccati; SBE 20.138 transl. nor . . . like a goat's beard; but how can go- mean (sheep or) goat? The Tib. and Chin. renderings, with the Pali gloss, suggest that the real mg. was forgotten in both traditions.

Govardhana, n. of a city in the south: Mv iii.363.6.

Govinda (= Pali id., DN ii.230.23 ff.), n. of the brahman-purohita of King Diśāmpati: Mv iii.204.9 ff. Cf. the next items.

Govindasūtra (nt.), n. of a sūtra, prob. = next but one (but see Lévi's note): Karmav 157.13.

Govindīya (or Gau°, also written °dīya), adj., belonging to Govinda, q.v.: paurohitye govindīye Mv iii.205.8; 206.5, 6 (Senart with one ms. Gauvindiye in 5, Govindiye in 6; v.l. in both Govindiye).

Govindīyam sūtram (to Govinda; cf. prec.), n. of a sūtra which corresp. to Pali DN 19: Mv iii.224.9 (mss. somewhat corrupt); also Mahāgovindīyam s°, q.v.

govratika, adj. (= Pali govatika; Skt. govratin, see below), applied to certain non-Buddhist ascetics who adopt a vow to live like cows (eating grass, etc.; see the Pali and other references, esp. MN and its comm., cited s.v. kukkuravratika): Śikṣ 332.3; Karmav 44.19; cf. also Mvy 3535 govratī, and LV 248.21 govratā- (s.v. kukkuravratika). The word govratin occurs Mbh. (Cr. ed.) 5.97.13, defined 14 thus: yatra-tatra-śayo nityam yena-kenacid-āśītaḥ, yena-kenacid āchannaḥ sa govratā (S apparently govratir, which as an irregular form from govratin may be the original!) ihocyat.

Gośāliputra, Gośālī(n), °h(kā)putra, °liputra, see Maskarin.

Gośirṣa, n. of a nāga-king: Kv 2.12.

gośṛṅgavratin, a member of some heretical sect: Mvy 3542. Possibly cf. govratika°

Gośṛṅgī, n. of a pious woman who entertained the Buddha: Mv i.261.15; 263.3, 6; 271.13.

goṣṭhika (once written gau°; not in this sense in Skt., but only as adj., relating to a guild; not in Pali; but = AMg. goṭṭhiya, °iga), m., usually pl., (boon-)companion, member of a friendly group: Mv iii.375.13 trimśa(d) goṣṭhikā udyāna-bhūmim nirgatā; id. 15 and 376.1-2 tehi goṣṭhikehi; 376.5, 7, 8; Av i.93.6; sambahulās ca goṣṭhikā . . . 163.7; °kānām śataṃ nirgataṃ 377.14; ii.53.9 ff. (in 55.9 ms. gauṣṭhika, see Speyer's note); 100.13 ff.; MSV ii.78.2. Obscure is Mv iii.121.9 (vs), in which Śuddhodana addresses the Buddha: purā tuvam goṣṭhika-tūlikāsu . . .; Senart suggests doubtfully coussins, divans où on est assis de compagnie (tūlikā, mattress, Skt.).

gośāraka (so Mironov also, with v.l. gośālaka), m., an architectural term, acc. to Tib. bcam (gduñ; cf. Das gduñ pa, gduñ ma): Mvy 5577. The surrounding terms seem to refer to parts of a pillar; does this mean a cross-beam, connecting pillars?

Gosālikā-putra, see s.v. Maskarin.

Gauṇāyana, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.13.

Gautama (also written Gotama, q.v.), (1) (= Pali Gotama), gotra-name of Śākyamuni, often applied to him especially by those who are not his followers: Mvy 78; Mv i.251.19; 294.21; ii.118.8 ff.; 119.16 ff.; 126.10; 200.1; 241.2; 277.2 ff.; 287.9; 330.11, etc. etc.; LV 238.21; 239.8 f.; 255.4 ff.; 256.8 f.; 306.5; 358.5; 369.2; 378.21; 380.13; 405.7 ff.; 406.4, 8; (2) gotra-name of another (former) Buddha: Mv i.113.11; (3) (= Pali Gotamaka) n., of a non-Buddhist sect: Mv iii.412.7; Śiks 331.11; LV 380.12 (here named with Nirgranthas, Ājīvikas, et al.); (4) n. of a ṛṣi and ascetic: Mv ii.210.2 (lived at Sāham-jani, q.v.); prob. same as the ṛṣi killed by the wicked King Arjuna, Mv iii.361.7, 10, who occurs as Gotama in Pali also; he was an Āṅgīrasa, iii.369.8, as in Pali, see DPPN s.v. 7 Āṅgīrasa; (5) n. of a brahmanical teacher: Aranemī (n. sg.) Gautamo Divy 651.7, or °ṇemīś ca Gau° 653.12 (in 632.12 corruptly Aranemī-gautamau as if a dual dvandva); (6) n. of a nāga-king (also Gautamaka, q.v.): Divy 50.22; Māy 247.20; (cf. s.v. kṛṣṇa, 4); (7) Gautama-nyagrodha (= Pali Gotama-nigrodha, DN ii.116.31), n. of a locality at Vaiśālī, doubtless the caitya called Gautamaka, q.v.: Divy 201.5, 14.

Gautamaka, (1) n. of a nāga-king (also Gautama, 6; cf. s.v. kṛṣṇa, 4): Divy 50.17, 29; 51.6; (2) n. of a caitya (cetiya) at Vaiśālī: Mv i.300.9 (see Gautama-nyagrodha, s.v. Gautama, 7).

Gautamī (= Pali Gotamī; once Got°, q.v.), family-name of Mahāprajāpati, to which Gau° is regularly added, see citations s.v. Mahāp°; rarely used alone, Mv iii.137.13 (vs); Karmav 158.19 (voc., in address by the Buddha).

Gaura, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.11.

gaura-khara, m. (AMg. gora-khara, white ass, Ratnach., a kind of ass, Sheth; once in Late Skt., see Schmidt, Nachträge, gaura-khura [sic] is cited as meaning a kind of ass, a kind of ass, acc. to BR wild ass: Mvy 4797 = Tib. rgyaṅ, which Tib. Dictt. do not record as an animal name; Jap. a kind of wild horse found in Central Asia; Chin. reddish-brown horse, or (2) wild mule (ass?).

gaurava-tā = Skt. gaurava, the condition of regarding (something) as important: tāye dharma-gaurava-tāye Mv ii.256.8. Cf. § 22.43. But possibly the true analysis is dharma-gaurava, Bhvr., being in a state of regarding righteousness as important, plus -tā.

Gaurī, (1) n. of a yoginī: Sādh 443.15; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.17.

gaulika = gotika, q.v.

gaulmika, m. (in Skt. member or commander of a troop of soldiers; AMg. gummi(ya), defined as a guard of a fort; a watchman), acc. to Tib. la gan pa = a collector of duties on a mountain pass (Das): Mvy 3803. Follows śaulkika; Jap. customs officer; perh. originally guard at an outpost, later one who collected duties there.

Gauvīndiya, adj. = Govīndiya, q.v.

gauṣṭhika, once written for goṣṭhika, q.v.

grathita, ppp. (= Pali gathita, often foll. by mucchita; in this sense not Skt.), enslaved (by desire or worldly things): Divy 534.19 (raktah saktō grdhro) grathito mūrchito 'dhyavasito... Cf. Pali DN i.245.24 gathitā mucchitā; comm. ii.403.25 gathitā ti gedhena abhibhūtā hutvā; mucchitā ti mucchākārapattāya adhimattatanhāya abhibhūtā. Cf. next items, esp. granthita, used Mvy 2194 in same context as Divy (prec. by raktah, saktah, grddhah, foll. by mūrchitah, adhyavasitah, etc.).

grantha, m. (= Pali gantha; Skt. uses granthi, but not grantha, in much the same way; cf. prec. and next), bond, fetter (to worldly life): Mvy 2145 = Tib. mdud pa, knot; context indicates fig. (religious) application.

grantha-dhāraṇi, see dhāraṇi.

granthita, ppp. (Skt. Lex. id., for grathita; Pali ganthita; ppp. either to *granthati = Pali ganthati, Skt. grathnāti, or denom. ppp. to grantha, q.v., or Skt. granthi), enslaved: Mvy 2194, see s.v. grathita; LV 372.3 (vs) iha sā vitarkamālā samjñāsūtreṣu granthitā nipathī (read with v.l. 'narthī?), vinivartitā aśeṣā bodhyaṅga-vicitramālābhīḥ.

granthi-mocaka, m. (cited by Monier-Williams from Wilson's Dict.), cutpurse: Mvy 5362; (pāripanthikā...) janapadaghātakā yāvad gra°kā iti kṛtvā Śiks 77.9.

Grasati, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 4.4.

Grasana (cf. next), n. of a piśāca: Mmk 18.6.

Grasani, (1) (cf. prec.) n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.6; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: 243.15.

Grahakośa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.14.

grahaṇa, nt., confused with gahana, thicket, entanglement (?): in Mv i.34.7 (prose) -durga-samsāra-kāntāra-grahaṇa-dāruṇāto maha-prapātāto uddharitvā, Senart thinks that grahaṇa is a copyist's hyper-Skt. alteration of gahana, which is a near-synonym of kāntāra (esp. in Pali, where diṭṭhi-kāntāra and diṭṭhi-gahana are often closely associated); in spite of this, I think grahaṇa may be sound and orig.: rescuing from a great abyss that is dreadful because of the grip of the forest of the saṃsāra etc. In Mv i.91.14-17 occur four lines of verse in which the mss. repeatedly vary between gahana and grahaṇa; the text is both very corrupt and fragmentary; Senart's note is a very earnest effort to disentangle it, but I find it hardly convincing, tho I am inclined to agree that puns are here contained, involving gahana, entanglement, obstruction, difficulty, as well as thicket, and grahaṇa, seizure, imprisonment (perhaps also eclipse, as by Rāhu, so Skt.); the text, with the most important vv.ll., reads: 14 vanagahanam (mss. °grahanam or °ṇam) balagahanam (3 mss. °grah°) girigahanāni (em.; 5 mss. °gahanam, one °grahanam) tyāgagrahaṇāni (3 mss. °gahanāni), 15 viṣa-māprati- (mss. viṣamapati-) samniṣaṇpavanāni tu manuṣyagahanāni (5 mss. °graha°), 16 tṛṇapalimakāntakalatā-kulāni vṛkṣagrahaṇā- (mss. °grahaṇya- or °ṇya-) gahanāni (3 mss. grahaṇāni), 17 śathanikṛtipaiśunyāni tu manuṣyagahanāni (5 mss. °grahanāni or °ṇāni). Tho Senart's interpretation seems very dubious, I cannot suggest with confidence any improvements. The meter is meant for āryā. See also gahana, gahana-tā.

grahaṇi (Skt. only as n. of an imaginary abdominal organ; Pali gahaṇi app. more loosely used, cf. saṃsuddha-gahaṇika, of pure womb or origin; DN comm. i.281.10 -mātu-gahaṇi kucchiti attho), (belly, womb); interior (like Skt. garbha): in SP 239.3 (prose) read pañcabhiḥ puṣpa-grahaṇi-(so with Kashgar rec. and 3 Nep. mss., ed. °ṇiya)-vedikā-sahasraiḥ svabhyaalamkṛto (stūpaḥ), adorned with 5000 balconies filled with (containing); Tib. bkram pa, besprinkled with) flowers.

grahāya (= Pali gaḥāya), irregular ger. to root grah (see § 35.19), used virtually as postposition, lit. taking; with, along with: SP 211.6 etc. (l.c.). grahika, adj.,? Mvy 2449, in a list of evil qualities; pw 7.339 guesses 'etwa bissig'; Tib. dus (time) po che (great), which I cannot interpret (is it connected with sadu pa, which might render grah, collect, bring together, perhaps in a corrupt form?); one Chin. rendering vain, futile, time-wasting (does Tib. mean [consuming] much time?); useless. Etymologically one might guess grasping, avaricious, or the like.

Grāmaghoṣa, n. of a locality: Māy 104.

grāmaṇika, presumably = next: Mv iii.160.19 (prose)

(rājā) brahmadatto amātyapāriṣadyān āmantrayasi: ho bhāṇe grāmaṇikā kṣipraṃ purohitam ānetha.

grāmaṇīya (presumably = Skt. grāmaṇī, Pali gāmaṇī; see prec.), a military officer of some sort: ārūdhā °yehi khaḍgatamarapāṇibhiḥ Mv ii.487.14 = iii.22.5° (vs), and variants ii.487.18; 488.2 = iii.22.9, 13.

grāmaluka, see grāmeluka.

grāmika, m., prob. only village headman, as in Skt., and as Pali gāmika; °kā, f. a woman belonging to a village headman's family. Senart [repeatedly in his Introd., on the passages below] understands simply villager: grāmika, m., Mv i.301.8 ff.; 303.12 ff. (his daughter was attended by serving-women, 302.16); Sujātā, q.v., was a grāmika-duhitā LV 265.11 or °dhītā Mv ii.263.15–16; 299.9, or grāmikasya dhītā ii.200.17; she is called simply a grāmikā Mv ii.131.10, but this doubtless has the mg. suggested above. Cf. also grāmika-gharaṃ āgami (in search of food) Mv ii.200.16.)

grāmeluka, adj. or subst. m. (= Mg. gāmelua, see Sheth, and Pischel 595, end), living in a village, or, a villager; rustic: grāmelukenāpi (so mss.) dāni puruṣeṇa Mv ii.275.17 (prose); in 19 mss. grāmaluko puruṣo; Senart em. grāmālo in both.

grāmya, adj. (in Skt. app. only used of speech; Pali gamma used more generally, esp. associated with synonymous hīna), vulgar, low: in passage = Pali Vin. i.10.12, hīno grāmyaḥ (sc. antaḥ) LV 416.17 and (om. hīno) Mv iii.331.3; grāmyam nopajivitaṃ LV 262.10, see s.v. upajivita; grāmyām tṛṣṇāṃ Ud iii.9, 10 = Pali jammī taṇhā Dh. 335–6.

-grāha, ifc., m. (= Pali gāha), (heretical, erroneous) belief (in), holding (to) . . . : asantagrāhātu (from false belief) vimukta bhonti SP 92.9 (vs); esp. ātma-grāha (= Pali atta-gāha), clinging to the (false view that there is a) self: Śikṣ 198.20 (bhayāni . . .) tāny ātmagrāhata utpadyante; 21 aham . . . ātmagrāham parityajeyam; Lañk 177.14 ātmagrāhapatitayā saṃtatyā; Vaj 23.11–12 and 25.16 ātmagrāho bhavet sattvagrāho jivagrāhaḥ pudgala-grāho bhavet; similarly Vaj 42.12; and 42.13 ātmagrāha iti subhūte agrāha eṣa tathāgatena bhāṣitaḥ; 45.4 sa eva piṇḍagrāho °bhaviṣyat . . . (5) agrāhaḥ sa tathāgatena bhāṣitaḥ; LV 205.8 (lokasya . . .) ātmanīyagrāhānugamānasasya, having minds that follow after the false belief that there is anything peculiar (belonging) to the self.

ghaṭaka, m., or adj., who or which reveals or expounds: Divy 442.1; 523.25 (in cliché cited s.v. udghaṭaka, for which this is substituted); ekānta-ghaṭake śāsane (loc. abs.) MSV i.237.8.

ghaṭa-bhedanaka, nt.,? Mvy 9051; Tib. rdza (clay, or clay-pot) gzoñ (chisel, graving-tool); cf. however rdza gzoñ, earthen basin (Jā.), and -rdza gsoñ, rendered in Das by ghaṭa-bhedanaka, kaṭānaka, frying-vessel! Chin. instrument(s) used in building houses. The next word in Mvy is karparaḥ, pot, bowl; but various implements and tools are listed in the vicinity. BR render (etymologically) ein bei der Verfertigung von Töpfen gebräuchtes Instrument.

ghaṭā (Skt. ghaṭa, m.; ghaṭī, ghaṭikā; Weller 24 suggests lengthening of stem-final a in the seam of cpds., but a fem. ghaṭā exists in Skt. tho in other mss.), pot, jar: pañcāsarahaśahrāni divyagandhodakaparipūrṇa-ghaṭā-parigrhītāni LV 96.9. Cf. next.

ghaṭā-śiras, adj. (cf. prec.; perh. lit. pot-headed?), in Mvy 8807 (not in Mironov), acc. to Chin. and Jap. having a knotty, uneven head; this is prob. also the meaning grīveya (nt.? = Pali gīveyya, °yaka; Skt. graiveya, °yaka, usually of a chain put on an elephant's neck), necklace or chain about the neck: (suvārṇaṇīkām yatha ośritvā) grīveya taptā (perh. read °tam? or plural? dharaye ca loke Mv ii.(334.22–) 335.1 (so mss.; Senart em. badly), as one might put off gold neck-ornaments and wear heated (i. e. red-hot) chain(s)-on-the-neck in the world.

[grīṣmāna-māse, printed as cpd. in Mv i.294.3 (vs), but read grīṣmāna (gen. pl.) māse prathame, in the first month of the summer; so also Pali gimhāna māse (so printed), Sn 233. There seems no reason for taking either Pali gimhāna or BHS grīṣmāna as a 'stem-form'.]

grīṣmika, adj. (= Pali gimhika; Skt. graīṣmika), of, for summer: grīṣmika-vārsika-haimantikeṣu prāsādesv LV 227.3; trayo prāsādā kārayat (so Senart divides) hemantikam grīṣmikaṃ vārsikam Mv ii.115.9; similarly iii.405.13; trayaś ca (sc. māsāḥ) grīṣmikāḥ Suv 178.4.

gredha (= Pali gedha, m.; cf. parigredha; analogically based on Pali gidḍha etc. = Skt. griddha etc.; § 3.68; the nearest Skt. equivalent in mg. is grdhyā), greed: sukhāpi gredhāśritā Mvy 7553 (= Tib. zhen pa); samkalpair gredha-nīśritaiḥ Ud xxxi.29; -rasa-gredhāt MPS 31.63.

(graiṣmika, m., see s.v. sāmāyika.)

glāna (also gilāna, q.v.; = Pali gilāna; acc. to BR Skt. glāna is not used in this specific sense), sick, ill; in glāna-pratyaya-bhāṣajya, one of the four pariṣkāra, q.v. for occurrences, medicine to cure the sick.

glānaka, gilā°, adj. (= Pali gilā°) = glāna, (one that is) sick: MSV i.149.8; glānakam kṛtvā Mv ii.247.4, see s.v. karoti; tam . . . glānako ti kṛtvā, thinking with regard to him, He is a sick one (specifying ka), Mv ii.242.8; 243.2, 4; ka may be m.c. in Mv ii.221.3 (with mss.; vs) °kā (n. pl.), and in SP 293.1 (vs) gilānaka-tvam, illness.

glānya, nt., once m. (Sktized form of gailānya, q.v., or directly formed from Skt. glāna plus -ya; but not recorded in Skt.), weakness, debility: SP 107.9; Divy 25.8; Av ii.85.18; 133.12; Śikṣ 37.4; 135.16; KP 65.4 tasmād glānyā(t); 118.1 dvāv imau . . . dīrgha-glānyau (dual m.) katamau dvau; but 118.7 (vs) dve . . . glānye ukte (nt.); Mmk 147.26 (vs); all but the last two prose; bahuglānyatā Dbh 26.19.

of Tib. mgo (head) ḥbar ḥbur can; cf. Jā. ḥbar ḥbar, uneven, rough; pock-marked; Jā. and Das ḥbur po, having protuberances, uneven, rough; ḥbur, boil, pustule (as pot-shaped?).

ghaṭī (f.? cf. Pali ghaṭikā, small stick), stick, piece of wood: samudramadhye patitā kecid ghaṭīm (v.l. vṛttim) ādāya kecid phalakaṃ kecid alābuśreṇīyaṃ Mv iii.68.5 (prose).

ghaṭikā (Pali id., small stick; cf. prec.), stick; in vaṃśa-gh°, q.v.

Ghaṭikāra, MSV Ghaṭī° (= Pali Ghaṭikāra), n. of a potter who was a disciple of the Buddha Kāśyapa, Mv i.319.9 ff.; 326.10 ff., and later became one of the Śuddhāvāsa gods, in which capacity he with others of that class of gods fashioned magically the Four Sights for the Bodhisattva Śākyamuni to see, Mv ii.150.16; 152.10 ff.; MSV i.217.12 (called Nandipāla). He lived at Veruṇḍīga or Vebha°, Vaibhiṇḍīga, the later Māra-karaṇḍa, qq.v. Several parts of his legend (not, apparently, his part in creating the Four Sights) recur in Pali, see DPPN.

ghaṭṭa- (or ghaṭṭaya, MIndic for ghaṭṭaka), prob. polishing-stone: in Mv iii.81.12 (vs) (bhavanāni rākṣasīnām . . .) ghaṭṭaya-vimaṣṭaka (? mss. ghaṭṭapa-vi°; Senart em. ghaṭṭa-parimṣṭaka), prob. (the palaces of the ogresses were . . .) polished with polishing-stones (cf. AMg. ghaṭṭaga. stone for polishing; Pkt., acc. to Ratnach. Deśi, ghaṭṭanaka, id.); or possibly (cf. JM. ghaṭṭa, = gādha, nibiḍa), polished hard, vigorously.

ghaṭṭita, ppp. (= Skt. ghaṭita; cf. udghaṭṭayati), closed: kāśikavastrāvāri ghaṭṭitā phuṭṭakavastrāvāri udghaṭṭitā (mss. in 12 udghaṭṭitā) Divy 29.7, 12.

? Ghaṭṭa (in Skt. n. of a Dānava), n. of a rākṣasa king: Mmk 18.1; but see Yama (3).

ghaṭṭāka (m. or nt.; Skt. Lex. as n. of a tree with bell-shaped flowers; Skt. ghaṭṭā, bell), bell: pāśa-ghaṭṭāka-dvāraka-dhanur-nārāca-mudgara- Mmk 46.8 (prose). But this word and dvāraka may be corrupt; some sort of weapons would seem suggested by the other terms.

ghaṭṭikā (Skt. Gr. id.; AMg. ghaṭṭiā), (little, decorative) bell: MSV ii.16.8.

Ghanavyūha, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1343.

? ghana-saṃdhi, n. sg. °ih, LV 106.13, one of the anuvyañjana, replacing (it seems) nirgranthi-śira, q.v.: acc. to Burnouf, having solid joints; but Tib. tshigs (joint) mi mñon pa (not visible); also renders gūḍha in the two preceding items, suggesting that the Tib. LV text had gūḍha-saṃdhi).

ghara, nt. (and m.? = Pali nt., and acc. to Childers m.; AMg. m. and nt.; Skt. gr̥ha), house: gharo, mss. (n. pl.; Senart em. gharā) Mv i.24.13; ghara-vāsa-rakṣito 285.22; gharam, acc. sg. iii.289.8 (cm.); gharam, n. sg. Mvy 5518.

gharaka (dim. of prec.? so Senart), (small) house, hut: nairayikā . . . gharakehi oruddhā (mss. °ddha) chinna-iryāpathā (mss. -iryā°) Mv i.22.10 (prose).

gharati (Skt. Dhātup., and Ved. jigharti etc.; see pragharati, parighareti), drips, flows (intrans.): Mv iii.408.1 kāśāncil lālā (mss. lolā) gharati (or with v.l. gharanti; in accord with this read in Mv i.227.17–18 kāśāncil (ed. with mss. kācil) lālā gharanti (kācil would require transitive mg. for gharanti, lālā being then acc.; but the verb and its cpds. seem to be only intrans.)).

gharā, a high number: Mmk 343.25 (= 10 pragharā, q.v.; see aśeṣa).

ghariṇi (v.l. once °aṇi; Pali gharāṇi; AMg. both °aṇi and °iṇi; cf. ghara and Skt. gr̥hiṇi), housewife: Divy 46.27 °ṇi-śatāni (one ms. gharāṇi°); 47.25 gharīṇi-stūpa. Divy Index widow, for reasons not evident to me.

Ghasmari, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 446.2.

-ghāṭaka = -ghātaka, in vadhya-gh°, q.v.; cf. ghāṭin, and § 2.41.

(? ghāṭikā, pot, jar, recorded a few times in Kosegarten's Pañcatantra, see BR, who suggest that it is an error for ghaṭikā; in Mv iii.255.10 (prose) Senart prints gandha-ghāṭikā-vidhūpitam, but one of his two mss. °ghāṭikā°. Note however that BR also record ghāṭa, 'viell. nur fehlerhaft', as meaning pot, = ghaṭa, once in Hariv.)

ghāṭin, adj. (= ghātin, cf. § 2.41), destroying: jagakleśa-ghāṭi Dbh.g. 41(67).14 (no v.l.).

Ghātani, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.28.

ghāṭikā (cf. Pali dubbala-ghāṭikā Jāt. i.176.27; 177.4, killing of the weak), destruction, violation, in visrambha-gh°, . . . of confidence: bodhisattvo . . . na °tikayā na dhūrtatayā lābham upārjayati Śikṣ 269.2.

-ghātyā, see nala-gh°.

ghuṇaghuṇāyate (cf. Deśin. 2.110 ghuṇaghuṇiā = karṇopakarnikā; JM. ghuṇāhuṇi = Gerücht, Jacobi, Erz.), buzzes (of a bee): pres. p. °yamānam (printed °nam) Kv 46.21. The Skt. ghuṇa, a wood-boring insect, seems probably not connected with this obviously onomatopoeic word.

ghṛta-kunḍika, m., in a list of trades and crafts, seems to mean lit. ghee-potter: °kā, n. pl., Mv iii.113.8; 442.13 (both times without v.l.). Does it mean maker of pots intended for holding ghee? Or dealer in pots of ghee? No similar word has been discovered elsewhere.

ghoṭaka-mṛga, m. (cited by BR from Mīnavey as gauḍaka°; Mironov as text), wild horse: Mvy 4798 = Tib. rta rgod.

Ghora, (1) n. of a rākṣasa king: Mmk 18.1; (2) n. of a piśāca: Mmk 18.6.

Ghoracandī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 488.7.

Ghorarūpi, read perhaps °pin, n. of a piśāca: Ghorarūpiś (read °pī?) ca (in list of piśācas) Mmk 18.6.

ghori (Pali ghora or ghorā, n. of a kind of magic, Jāt. iv.496.10; 498.33; also Skt. ghora, nt., see BR), n. of a kind of magic: ghorī vidyā vaśamkarī Divy 636.28 (vs, printed as prose).

ghoṣa, m. (Skt. sound, noise, roar; in this sense nt. in Mv i.229.16 = 240.5 = 333.7 ghoṣam, n. sg.), proclamation: ghoṣam anuśrāvayati (q.v.) SP 123.1; LV 266.1; Samādh 8.10; Śikṣ 38.1; or udīrayati LV 401.2; Mv i.40.11.

Ghoṣadatta, n. of a Tathāgata: Śikṣ 8.20 (from Bhadrakalpikasūtra); Samādh p. 16 line 6 ff.

Ghoṣamati, n. of one of the sons of the Buddha Candrasūryapradīpa: SP 19.4.

Ghoṣāsrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.18.

Ghoṣānana, n. of a former Buddha: Samādh p. 57 line 17.

ghoṣānuṅga, f. -ā, a kind of kṣānti, q.v.: receptivity (kṣānti) to the oral teaching (of the Buddha): Samādh 19.37 (see Régamey's note 143, p. 82 f.); Sukh 55.13.

Ghoṣila (corresp. to Pali Ghosaka or Ghosita), n. of a gṛhapatī (so Divy 541.19 ff., 575.30 ff.), one of the ministers of King Udayana: Divy 529.6; 531.19; 541.19 ff.; 575.30 ff. The same person is doubtless meant by the gṛhapatī Ghoṣila mentioned Mv ii.2.13; Karmav 157.7.

Ghoṣilārāma, m. (Pali Ghositārāma), n. of a residence built for Buddha by the prec. at Kauśāmbī: MSV ii.173.6; iii.28.7.

Ghoṣeśvara, n. of a former Buddha: Samādh p. 57 line 15.

(ca, as in normal Skt. (BR; Speyer, Skt. Synt. § 441 b, VSS § 282), is used (1) in sentences where a contrast seems implied, = tu, but: te caivaṃ vācam bhāseran, tac ca bhāṣajyam upanāmitam na pibeyuḥ SP 321.10–11, on the one hand (ca) they would speak thus, and yet (ca); on the other hand (ca) they would not drink the proffered remedy; (2) in the protasis of conditions, = yadi (acc. to Speyer,

(3) Acc. to Senart, Mv i notes pp. 370, 501, 561, ca may introduce a following word, as 'proclitic', no longer enclitic; he says the same is authorized for Pali by the Mukhamattadīpanī, a comm. on Kaccāyana. Alleged cases are cited in Mv i.3.11; 57.10; 83.17 (? read 16?); 158.1; 241.13. In some of these (e. g. 158.1) ca seems to me quite normal; in others the position may be peculiar, as sometimes it is in Pali, see Childers s.v., but I do not believe it ever introduces a following word or phrase; some of the passages cited are violently emended by Senart in other respects. The Pali Dictt. do not recognize the usage alleged by Senart, and I am not convinced that it occurs in BHS.)

cakaṭi, in °ty-odana, some inferior kind of porridge: Divy 496.9, 11, 12, 26; 497.2; and °ṭi-taṇḍulāḥ, grains intended for such a porridge, perhaps grains of cakaṭi (some sort of cereal?), Divy 496.21.

cakoraka, nt. (cf. JM. caora, a kind of dish, Samarācikkahā), acc. to Tib. and Chin. apparently a covered cup or vessel used as a lamp: Mvy 8953 = Tib. skoṅ po (or skoṅ bu, or sgron bu; the first two cup or vessel, the third lamp) kha sbyar (mouth closed); Chin. covered lamp vessel.

cakra, nt., circle; (= Pali cakka) one of the four circles or states of (desirable, happy) existence (in which gods and men may find themselves): catvāri devamanuṣṣānām cakrāṇi Mvy 1603 (similarly Pali AN ii.32.1), listed 1604-7, pratirūpadesāvāsah, satpuruṣāpāsrayam, ātmanah samyakprañidhānam, pūrve ca kṛtapuṇyatā (= Pali ibid. 5 paṭirūpadesāvāso sappurisūpassayo at-tasammāpānidhi pubbe ca katapuṇṇatā); see further cakra-bheda, vidyuc-cakra.

cakrasātapattra, nt., a kind of flower: Mvy 6188.

Cakrākṣaraparivartavyūha, n. of a (perhaps imaginary) Buddhist work (dharmaparyāya): Gv 72.26; 75.12.

Cakrāntara, n. of a future Pratyekabuddha: Av i.133.10.

cakrika, adj., or subst. m., (1) some sort of professional entertainer, perh. a juggler who does tricks with wheels or discs (cf. BR s.v. cakrin, 7; a Skt. Lex. possibly gives this mg., but it is uncertain): Mv iii.113.2 (mss. here corrupt); 442.8; (2) (a) tricky, crafty (person): °kaḥ Mvy 7326; this seems to be the mg. indicated by Tib. (five renderings), Chin., and Jap., and supported by the adjoining words (jihma, kuṭiḷa, Mvy 7324-5); cf. Skt. (Rājat.) cakrikā, Rānke (BR); (3) see s.v. cākrika.

cakrikā, acc. to Tib. double door-bar: Mvy 9344 = Tib. sgo gtan zuṅ can. Chin. contains the words double and bar. I do not know just what is meant.

-cakṣuka, ifc. for cakṣus, q.v.

Cakṣuṣmatī, n. of a goddess: Mvy 4326.

cakṣus, in pañca-c° (= Pali pañca-cakkhu), the five superior qualities of vision (partly physical, partly mental or spiritual) possessed by a Buddha (cf. pañcacakṣuḥ-samanvāgata LV 3.5; 403.2, of Buddha): listed, in agreement except for order, Dharmas 66; Sūtrāl. xviii.54, comm.; and Mv i.158.1 fl., where each is explained in some detail, viz. māmsa-c° 158.8-159.5; divya-c° 159.5-7; prajñā-c° 159.8-9; dharmā-c° 159.9-160.7 (= daśānām balānām manovibhūtā, 159.10; then follows a statement on the 10 bala, 159.12-160.5, in verse); and buddha-c° 160.7-16 (this = the 18 āvenikā buddhadharmāḥ, which are then listed). In Pali (see Childers and PTSD) the list contains māmsa-, dibba-, paññā-, and buddha-cakkhu, but for dharmā- substitutes samanta-c° (before or after buddha-c°). A difficult and corrupt line, Mv i.42.15 = 53.12 = 337.4 (in the last printed by Senart as prose), contains some form of bhava-cakṣuka, which Senart regards as containing a *bhava-cakṣu(s) = māmsa-c°, quite wrongly; his transl. (note on 42.15) misunderstands māmsa-c° which is a complimentary and superior power, not one to be derogated. Possibly rather eye of existence and agreeing with prajñā-skandha (337.4 prajñā-cakṣu[r])? The preponderant evidence of the mss. points to bhava-cakṣuke (or °ko or °kaiḥ) apāye prajñāskandho (or °dhe, °dhā; 337.4 see above) niveṣeyaṃ (? °yaḥ, or other vv.ll.). All too obscure to be useful.

caṅkrama, m. and (less regularly) nt. (= Pali caṅkama; to caṅkramati), (1) act of walking, in purely physical sense: vivṛtaḥ śobhate ārya āsana-sthāna-caṅkrame LV 157.15 (vs), when uncovered (unveiled), a noble person shines (is distinguished) in sitting, standing, and walking; these are three of the (usually four) modes of physical behavior (the fourth being lying down), see s.v. īryāpatha 4; AsP 520.13; RP 45.18; cognate acc. °mam caṅkramyate or °mati, see (4) below; (2) walking, wandering, as an occupation or mode of life: in Karmav 104.14 one of the daśa guṇāḥ pañḍapātikatve, ten advantages in the mendicant's life, is, caṅkramo 'sya upājito bhavati, he has acquired (a life of) walking, wandering about; (3) place of walking, promenade (in the sense of ground where walking is done): of walks in groves or parks (secular), ekaikaṃ caṅkrama-varaṃ . . . kalpayatha Mv ii.18.16 (vs), Śuddhodana says, adorn (or with mss. kalpayama, let us adorn) every excellent promenade (in the Lumbinī grove, in preparation for Māyā's visit); grha-dhana-dhānyāśayana-vasanaṃ caṅkramodyānāni cānekaśo yācanakebhyo niṣṛṣṭāni LV 318.5 (prose), . . . promenades and parks were bestowed on beggars many times; (4) especially, promenade, terrace, place for walking (often rendered cloister), for monks or Buddhas or other ascetics; sometimes associated with places for 'standing, sitting, lying down', the other īryāpatha, see mg. caṅkramaṇa, nt. caṅkramati (= Pali caṅkamati; Skt. caṅkramyate, rarely °mate, °mati; § 39.1), wanders, strolls, roams: opt. °mi SP 344.1; °med LV 369.1; aor. °mi LV 368.16; etc., see Chap. 43, s.v. kram (5).

? caṅkramya-yuktāḥ SP 13.2 (vs), so both edd., as cpd.; perh. Tib. understood it so, ḥchag pa byed ciñ, making wandering (no other rendering for yuktāḥ in Tib.); if so, we must assume an otherwise unknown noun caṅkramya = caṅkrama(ṇa), wandering (based on the normal Skt. pres. caṅkramya-te = BHS caṅkramati?). Burnouf clearly understood caṅkramya as separate word, ger. to caṅkramati; Kern actively engaged in walking, which is ambiguous but suggests rather a cpd.

caccara (m. or nt.; = Pali id., Skt. catvara), square, four-crossroads: so it seems that the mss. must read, or intend, at SP 88.1 (vs), where KN sthītu catvarasmin (kept by WT without note), but with note over the final letter: 'O. care the others caresmin'. This very imperfect annotation seems to mean that the Nep. mss. have caca-resmin (*caca-resmin or *caresmin would be unparalleled, morphologically and semantically incomprehensible, and metrically impossible); caccare, seemingly the reading of 'O' = Kashgar rec., would be metrically defective, lacking the necessary last syllable.

cañca, m., acc. to Chin. box, but acc. to Tib. gab tse, defined in all Tib. Dictt. as a tablet used in divination; BR Korb (accepting Chin.?): Mvy 5911; preceded by tañka, chisel, and followed by piṭhari, pot (in a list of implements and utensils). Cf. cañcu.

Cañcā (Pali Ciñcā), n. of a brahman girl who falsely accused Buddha: Lañk 240.12; MSV i.161.1 ff.; 212.10.

cañcu, nt., in Divy 131.21, 22, 24, and same passage MSV i.250.9 ff., said to mean lit. box (cf. cañca), and to be applied to a type of famine: trividham durbhikṣam bhaviṣyati, cañcu śvetāsthi śalākāvṛtti (Divy mss. °ttim; MSV ms. śilakā) ca. tatra cañcu ucyaate samudgake, tasmīn manuṣyā vijāni prakṣipyānāgate (MSV °ta-) sattvāpekṣayā sthāpayanti mṛtānām (MSV asmākam) anena te vijākāyam (MSV anena bijena manuṣyāḥ kāryam) kariṣyanti. idam samudgagam baddhvā cañcu ucyaate.

Or possibly like the moon? cf. upaniṣad. Similarly sūryo-paniṣad.

Candrolkādhārin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 441.26.

(capalam, adv., rare in Skt., see BR 5.1411; not recorded in Pali, but AMg. capalam, cavalam; quickly: chandakā capalu mā vilamba he LV 210.4 (vs), so read for Lefm. vilambahe (§ 30.8), quickly, Chandaka! don't delay, I say!; dadāhi capalam LV 220.16 (vs), give it quickly!; sampūryate capalam eva Mv ii.136.8 (vs).)

camara, m., a high number: Mvy 7787 = Tib. rgod-yas (mg.?).

camasa, m., Mvy 4050, acc. to one Tib. version rna śal, tip or lobe of ear; v.l. sna śal (not recorded; sna = nose but Dictt. do not record śal except in rna śal). Perhaps named from fancied resemblance to the (flat) shape of the utensil called camasa.

camu, camū, (1) as in Skt., host, army, but with masc. ending (otherwise only fem.): mārasya jetuṃ camūn LV 276.6 (end of stanza; no v.l.); (2) f., coffin (rare in Skt., only early, see BR s.v. camū 2, and Kauś 48.4): (so mṛtako puruṣo ...) camusmim prakṣiptvā subaddham kṛtvā ... Mv ii.173.6; etāṃ camuṃ 173.12; camuṃ 173.13, 14; 174.4, 9.

Campaka (same as Pali Campeyya), n. of a nāga-king: Mv ii.177.13 ff.; colophon 188.22 iti śricampakā-nāgarājasya jātakam (= Pali Campeyya-Jāt., 506) samāptam.

Campakavarṇā, n. of a lokadhātu, in the west: LV 291.17.

Campakavimalaprabha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.24.

caraka, m. (not noted in Pali; rare in Skt., see pw s.v. 1 c; but recorded in AMg. as caraga-, cpd. with parivvāyaga, just as in BHS), one of a heretical sect of ascetics; regularly followed in comp. by parivrājaka, the two possibly (as allegedly in AMg., above, see Ratnach.) denoting a single sect or class of persons, rather than two: usually preceded, immediately or otherwise, by anyatīrthika (LV 2.21; Mv iii.412.7) or anyatīrthya (SP 276.2); caraka-parivrājaka- LV 2.21; 380.12; SP 276.2; Mv iii.412.7; Śiṅṅ 331.11. The proper Tib. translation seems to be spyod pa pa; so both LV passages (Foucaux reads dpyod pa pa for 2.21, but my photostat of the Lib. of Congr. ed. spyod ...) and SP; spyod = car-. But Jäschke defines this by Mīmāṃsaka, the correct term for which is dpyod pa pa (both terms are given for Mīmāṃsaka in Mvy 3517; Mvy seems to omit caraka); dpyod = examine (mīmāṃs-); Tib. tradition has confused the two.

Carakā, n. of a goddess: Mahāsamāj., Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 185.17.

carāṇa, nt., (1) a high number: Mvy 7914 (cited from Gv; Tib. gdab yas); Gv 106.16; 133.26; (2) residence (of a king): rājñas carāṇa-koṣṭhe MSV ii.61.12, on the top part of the king's residence; so Tib., rgyal poḥi (king's) khap (read khab, residence, of a king) kyī (gen. suffix) khañ (house) tog tu (on top); for this mg. of koṣṭha cf. dvāra-koṣṭha(ka).

carama, nt., a high number: Mvy 7915 (cited from Gv; Tib. mthaḥ ḥbyam); Gv 106.16 (follows carāṇa; but omitted in Gv 133.26).

carama-bhavika, adj. (Pali carimabhava plus ika), living in one's last existence, destined to be reborn no more: said of Bodhisattvas, LV 22.4; 85.11 etc.; Kv 68.23; 75.5; Mmk 324.7; Gv 438.23; (bodhisattvasyaikajātiprati-baddhasya, bound to only one further rebirth) caramabhavikasya vā Bbh 229.1; without noun, Mvy 7003; of the barber-disciple Upāli, Mv iii.179.8; said of Rāhula before ordination, Mv iii.263.11 (note in 13, said of the same, etehi eva skandhehi parinirvāpayitavyam); said of śrāvaka-pratyekabuddha-yānika, Gv 141.5; of creatures (sattva) in general, not specifically classified, Divy 1.17; 174.1; 177.20; 264.2, 6; 331.5; 423.14; Av ii.135.8.

carama-śayana, 'last couch', funeral bier (wrongly Bendall and Rouse): (-vātraviṣṣair) āchādītasya carama-śayanāvasthitasya ... kālakriyā bhaviṣyati Śiṅṅ 208.4.

cari, or carī (i chiefly or wholly m.c.), f. (not recorded in MIndic; = Skt. caryā, Pali cariyā, both also in BHS, see s.vv.; cf. § 3.115), course of conduct, regular system of action (esp. religious); particularly with reference to the programmatic course of a Bodhisattva, leading to enlightenment; (on its four aspects or stages see s.v. caryā;) these forms chiefly, but not exclusively, in verse; see also cāri, cārikā; in prose the usual expression is (Bodhisattva-)caryā, e. g. SP 7.1; 65.5; LV 90.10; Gv 58.9; but even in prose note (bo)ddhisattva-cari-ṇiṣpanda- LV 5.1 (all mss., only Calc. °carita°), and cf. Bhadracari-vidhipūrvakam Śiṅṅ 139.13 (prose; the bhadracari is the bodhisattva-cari; the work of this name is elsewhere called Bhadracaryā in the prose of Śiṅṅ, 290.8; 291.9; 297.1); in Bhad itself the form is Bhadracari wherever meter does not require i, as in the cpd. °cari-prañidhāna 2, 49, 54, 61, where in the seam of the cpd. the consonant cluster makes the preceding syllable long; cf. also the acc. sg. °carim (not °carim) 17, 22, 26, 51, 62; Watanabe wrongly regards the title as primarily °cari. (All remaining citations in this article are from verses.) caryā may be used even in vss, where meter is indifferent (so SP 67.13) or requires long first syllable (SP 68.6), tho in the latter case cāri (°ī) and cārikā, qq.v., are also found; nearly all the cases here cited refer to the religious course leading to enlightenment, to Buddhahood or Bodhisattvahood, but occasionally the term is applied to any or all human courses of action, including such as are disapproved; iya bāla-cari, this foolish (or childish) course LV 174.9, 11 (vs); jāniya te carim ca SP 45.3, knowing them (all the creatures of the world) and their (various) course(s) of action; carim-carim jāniya nityakālam vadāmi sattvāna tathā-tathāham SP 326.11, knowing the various modes of conduct (of beings) always, I speak to creatures in this or that way (Kashgar rec., Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 133.1, cari acari, metrically impossible, and uninterpretable; Thomas the moving and not-moving [of living beings], which seems unacceptable); jagataḥ prañānase yā carir yatha ca karmasambhavaḥ RP 6.1; otherwise, referring to the course of Bodhisattvas, also called the true (bhūta), subtle (sūkṣma), pure (viśuddha), supreme (uttama) course, the course of (leading to) enlightenment (bodhi-), of morality (śīla-), or other similar epithets; also duṣkara-, referring to Śākyamuni's temporary experiment with severe austerities; often former, ancient (pūrva, purima) with allusion to the length of it thru many past births; frequently a form of the cognate verb car (also ā-car) is used with it: sūkṣmāṃ carim SP 12.7; te (sc. of the Buddha) ātmana yādrṣī carī 63.13; bhūtāṃ carim 64.2 (but in adjoining prose, 64.13, 65.5, caryā); 127.10; 193.6; yathā carī mahya sutena cirṇa 203.4; smara carī purimāṃ LV 161.21; yām evā varacari (acc.) caritas tvam tām evā cari vibhaja jagasya 164.16; purimāṃ prañidhāna-carim 175.14; tām pūrvacarim caryā (Skt.) = cari, q.v., used like that form (regularly in prose, but also in verses) esp. of the course of conduct of Bodhisattvas, which has four aspects or stages: catvārimāni bodhisattvānām bodhisattvacaryāni Mv i.1.2, listed in 3 as prakṛti-caryā, praṇidhāna-c°, anuloma-c°, anivartana-c° (cf. Senart i p. xxi); same list, called cata-sraḥ . . . bodhisattvacaryāḥ i.46.6; they are discussed in the following 46.8 ff. (prakṛti-c° 46.8-47.11; praṇidhi-c° 47.12-63.10; anuloma- and avivarta-c°, very briefly, 63.11-14); they seem to be aspects, or possibly successive stages, of the Bodhisattva's long course of development; prakṛti- refers to his original, basic endowment; praṇidhāna- (°dhi-) to his vows to attain enlightenment; anuloma- (also ānulomikī, see s.v. ānulomika) alludes to his progressive approach to the goal, and anivartana- (avivarta-) refers to the point at which it becomes impossible for him to backslide. We also find bodhicaryā(ṇi, with nt. ending, as above) Mv i.252.4, °ryām ii.341.1 (both of these vss), and duṣkara-caryām ii.241.4 (prose), parallel to bodhi-cari and duṣkara-cari. See further arthacaryā, dharmacaryā.

Calakalpā (Pali Allakappa, m. or nt.), n. of a city; see prec.

calatthā (f.? Kyoto ed. °tthāḥ, n. pl.? but Mironov °tthā; v.l. in both saṃcal°), manger: Mvy 5607; so Tib. bres, and Chin.

calana (m. or nt.; only Mmk 63.2), calanika, m. (so also Mironov; only Mvy 5853), calanikā, f. (cf. Skt. calanaka, once calanī, pw, and AMg. calaṇiā, defined a waist-cloth used by a nun, Ratnach.), short trousers (so Tib. on Mvy, dor thuñ): Mvy 5853 °nikah; otherwise only in Mmk; nīla-(om. 63.2, 8)-paṭṭa-calanikā-(63.2 calana-)nivasta (75.15 nivāsita), clothed in short trousers of (blue) cloth, Mmk 63.2, 8; 75.15, 21, 23; 305.4, 7 (all prose); said of Bodhisattvas, all male; Lalou, Iconographie 33 et alibi, renders the word in all these passages by vêtement(s) flottant(s), which misses the true meaning.

Calamakuta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.3. calu-śīras, see vattu-ś°. cavati (= Pali id., Skt. and BHS. cyavati, § 2.8), falls (to a lower existence): cavitvā Mv iii.42.18; 43.10, 14; so Senart, v.l. each time cya°. Cf. cuti.

cākrika, m. (= AMg. cakkia, °iya), disc-bearer, a royal officer: Mvy 3733 (so also Mironov without v.l.; BR cite cakrika, which Kyoto ed. Index gives as a var.).

cākṣuṣya, adj. (= Skt. cakṣ°, cf. cākṣuṣa; Pali cakkhussa), good for the eyes: MSV iv.210.5.

? cāṭaka, read prob. cāṭuka (= Skt. cātu, and once cāṭuka, which in the passage cited in BR may be an adj.; in Rājat. 1.213, cited in pw s.v. cātu, for cātusit- read with Stein caṭasī-), agreeable, pleasant, approximate synonym of prekṣaṇīya: Gv 214.23, see s.v. carci (-gātra).

Cāṇḍikā (cf. Skt. Caṇḍikā), n. of a yoginī: Dharmas 13 (misprint or error?).

cātudvīpa, see cāturdvīpa.

Cāturakṣa (all mss. °akṣo; Senart em. Cāturanta), n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mv i.182.18.

cāturanta (cf. also prec.), nt. (?), the whole world (bounded by the four oceans): °taṃ vijitavān Mvy 6542. In Pali used as adj. f. with words for earth; also m. as applied to a king (so also in Skt., Kauṭ. Arth. Sham.¹ 11.10 °to 'pi rājā), ruler of the whole earth, Sn 552 etc.; unrecorded in this gender and mg.; cf. Skt. caturantā, adj. or subst., said of the earth; see next, and s.v. catu- raṅga.

cāturarṇavānta-, presumably nt. (= prec., q.v.), (the world) bounded by the four oceans: cakravartī °vānta- vijetā Divy 140.21 (prose).

cāturāryasatya, the Four Noble Truths: MSV i.54.3; 58.13; etc., replaces the usual catur°, see samprative- dhaka.

cāthurhya, either period of four days, or the fourth day: ekāhorātra-cāthurhya-pañca-ṣaṭka-kālantarāś ca LV 248.22, and (eating once) at intervals consisting of a day and a night, or four, five, or six (days; as a form of austerities).

cāturdaśika, nt., food given on the festival of the 14th (lunar day): Mvy 5759; Bhik 23a.3 (see s.v. āṣṭamika).

cāturdiśa, adj. (= Pali cātuddisa; catur-diś plus -a), pertaining to the 'four directions' i. e. the whole world; universal; ep. of the bhikṣu-saṃgha (as in Pali of the bhikkhu-saṃgha): °diśāryabhikṣusamghāya Divy 274.13; °diśāya bhikṣusamghāya Av ii.109.7; MSV ii.70.10; °diśa-samghikena (sc. dravyeṇa? cf. Śikṣ 170.3), adj. belonging to the universal monk-brotherhood, Śikṣ 56.5.

Cāturdeva (v.l. Cātudeva), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.11. – cāturdvīpa, also semi-MIndic cātudvīpa, (1) adj. (= Pali cātuddīpa; from catur-dvīpa plus -a), (ruler of the earth consisting of four continents, ep. of a cakravartin: Mv i.49.2; 52.8; 108.7; 114.13; 193.14; 220.2 = ii.22.3; ii.158.14; iii.102.15; ep. of rājya, rulership: Mv i.95.2, 4; (2) adj. and subst., consisting of the four continents, ep. of the earth: °pām mahīm Mv i.208.4 (corrupt in mss.) = ii.12.13; as subst., gender uncertain (f. would be expected, recorded forms ambiguous): daśacātudvīpanayutānām... madhyama cātudvīpa, the midmost world of ten nayutas of worlds, Gv 254.6–7 (vss; final short a perhaps m.c. for ā?); cāturdvīpeśvaro, lord of the whole world, Dbh.g. 53(79).2 (as subst., without other noun; cf. caturdvī°).

cāturdvīpaka, adj., f. °ikā (or rarely) °akā, also as subst. m. (nt.?) and f. (cf. Pali cātuddī°, adj., and prec., next, and caturdvī°), as adj., of, containing, consisting of four continents; of the world; as subst., m. (nt.?) or f., the world, as containing four continents: °aka, masc. adj. with lokadhātu, Gv 107.2; 325.3; Śikṣ 282.3, 9; LV 149.21 f.; Mvy 3046; adj. with sattva, °pakānām ca sattvānām, and of creatures of the world, Dbh 81.17; adj. f. °ikā, with lokadhātu, Gv 233.23; subst. m. (nt.?), madhye cāturdvīpakasya, in the middle of the world, Gv 352.10; subst. f., usually °ikā, once at least °akā, world-of-four-continents, but usually regarded as only a part of a lokadhātu, which contains a plurality of cāturdvīpikā: trisāhasramahāsāhasrāyām lokadhātu sarvacāturdvīpakāsu Gv 380.1, but in 380.3 same phrase with °dvīpikāsu; (tasmin . . . lokadhātu) madhyamā cāturdvīpikā Gv 232.8, the middle earth in this world-system; similarly Gv 268.6; 380.26; in Gv 373.17 the cāturdvīpikā named Bhāgavati, q.v., is part of a trisāhasramahāsāhasrā lokadhātu, and itself in turn contains a Jambudvīpa.

taining four continents, masc. adj. with lokadhātu: °pika- lokadhātum Gv 275.23 (or is this, as prior member of cpd., to be interpreted as = 2, subst.?) (2) m. or nt., the whole earth: °kaṃ vyavalokayitum pravṛttaḥ Av i.258.3.

cāturdvīpeśvara, see s.v. cāturdvīpa.

cāturmahādīvīpaka, adj. m., with lokadhātu, = cā- turdvīpaka, q.v.: Śikṣ 282.3 (in same line cāturdvīpaka- lokadhātṽ-).

cāturmahābhūtika, adj. (= Pali cātu(m)mahā°, and cf. next), consisting of the four gross elements: Av ii.191.4 and Bbh 61.7, see s.v. audārika; Divy 652.13 (ayaṃ . . .) Brahmanā . . . °tika-mahāpuruṣaḥ prajñaptaḥ.

cāturmahābhautika, adj. (cf. Skt. cāturbhautika), = prec.: °tike ātmabhāve Śikṣ 21.21; °tikam (rūpaṃ) Lañk 125.3; °tikam . . . samucchrayaṃ Bbh 253.20.

cāturmahārājākāyika, adj., = catur° and next, q.v.: SP 160.2; 239.6; LV 50.20; 60.7; 396.14; Mv i.333.5; Mvy 3078; Dharmas 127; Divy 195.1; 199.8; 367.9; Bbh 61.27.

cāturmahārājika, rarely and doubtfully °jaka, once cāturmahā°, adj., almost always with deva or deva-putra (the noun rarely omitted), = prec., and catur° (= Pali cātu(m)mahā°), belonging to the group of gods of the four 'World-Guardians', a class of kāmāvacara gods, see deva, and mahārāja(n): °jaka (but v.l. °jika), without noun deva, Mv i.263.15; in the rest, °jika, LV 46.19; 150.2; 266.4 f.; 401.8 f.; Mv i.31.10; 240.4 (v.l. °ja-kāyika); ii.2.8; 163.10; Divy 68.12; 83.6; 127.20; 219.8; 367.9; 554.4; Av i.5.1; 10.16; etc.; Mmk 19.12; common. This is the most usual form. Once, at least, cāturmahārājika, Mv ii.314.5 (prose, no v.l.). Also mahārājika, q.v.

cātuṣkoṭika, °kā (from catuṣkoṭikā, q.v.), (1) adj., relating to, concerned with, involving or based on the 'four alternatives': °kaḥ Mvy 6887; °ka-naya-viśuddhim Lañk 124.1; skandhāh . . . °ka-rahitāh, deprived of anything that relates to . . ., Lañk 125.7; (2) °kā, subst. f. = catuṣ°; °kayā Lañk 152.14; 296.14 (muktaṃ bhavam); 324.14 (yukto).

cātuṣpada, f. °padī (Skt. catuṣp°), = catuṣpadaka, q.v.; f. with gāthā, Vaj in Pargiter ap. Hoernle MR 192.1 (for Vaj 42.5 catuṣpādikā, see °daka).

cātuṣpadaka, f. °ikā, = prec.: Vaj in Pargiter op. cit. 183.1 °ikā, with gāthā (for Vaj 30.1 catuṣpādikā).

cātuṣpāda, f. °dā, = prec. two; with gāthā, Vaj in Pargiter op. cit. 181.11, 14 (for Vaj 28.7, 11 catuṣpādikā).

canāḥ, n. pl. (? cf. Hindi canā, with dental n, = Skt. caṇaka°), parched grain: Mvy 5738, so Tib. yos (so read with Tib. Index, misprinted gos), and so one Chin. rendering. Cf. vahuri.

Cāpāla, nt. (= Pali id., near Vesālī), n. of a caitya near Vaiśālī: Mv i.299.22 (cf. 297.16); pūrvasmin vai (Mv purimasmim) diśo-bhāge cāpālam (Senart em. cāpa- lam, but mss. of Mv text) nāma (Mv va nāma) cetiyam LV 388.12 = Mv iii.306.14 (ys); Cāpāla-caityam Divy 201.1 (at Vaiśālī); Vaiśālī Vṛjibhūmiś Cāpāla- (13 °lam)- caityam 4 and 13; °lam caityam Divy 207.11.

? cāpālya (nt., for Skt. cāpalya), instability: lakṣmī- °ya- Divy 432.13 (prose); prob. read cāpalya.

cāpodara, having a belly (slender) like a bow, one of the anuvyañjana, replacing kṣāmodara (No. 36) in LV 107.4, and by Senart's em. in Mv ii.44.3 (see kṣāmodara). Tib. renders LV rked pa gzhu-ḥi ḥchañ bzuñ ltar phra ba, which, if I understand it correctly, seems to mean with waist slender like the handle (?) of a bow; at least the words gzhu, bow, and phra, slender, seem clear, and suggest that Tib. rendered both cāpa and kṣāma; in another context Mvy 5207 has cāpodarī, fem., rendered rked pa gzhu-ḥi chañ gzuñs, waist (like) handle (?) of bow, or bzuñ ltar phra ba, slender like handle (?); Chin. waist like handle of bow.

Cāmara, n. of a country or division of the world: Mvy 3052. Cf. Aparacāmara. See Kirfel, Kosmographie, 90 (var. Dāmara).

cāmārā (AMg. and Skt. Lex. id., f.; cf. Pali and Skt. Lex. cāmari; regularly nt. °ra in Skt., Pali, and Pkt.), chowrie: vara-cāmārāye (instr.) Mv i.235.8 (vs).

cāmarika, m. (Skt. cāmara plus -ika), chowrie-bearer, a royal attendant: Mvy 3728.

Cāmikaragaura, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.5.

Cāmpeya and °yaka, °yika (= Pali Campeyya, -ka), (1) n. of a nāga-king: °ya Mvy 3274; Mmk 18.11; °yaka Māy 247.19; (2) °yikā, woman of Campā (Viśakhā): MSV ii.59.1 f.; °yikāḥ (monks) of C. MSV ii.120.2. All prose.

cāra (m.; Ap. and Deśn. id., also Skt. Lex.; = Skt. cāraka, in Kauṭ. Arth. as well as Daśak., BR), prison: cāra-pālānām ajñā dattā... (etān... cārake baddhvā sthāpayata) Divy 565.19 f. (prose) to the prison-guards a command was given (cf. cāraka-pālavad Śiṣ 231.5).

-cāraka, m. (to cārayati, q.v., 2), dispenser, one who deals out (Tib. ḥgrim pa, or ḥdrim pa, both for more usual ḥbrim pa), in yavagū- Mvy 9058, khādyaka- 9059, phala- 9060, yatkiṃcic- 9061; all referring to officials or servants in a monastery.

cārakā = cārikā 3, q.v., course, stream (of a river).

cāraṇa (nt.; = Pali id., see below; = Skt. caraṇa), (1) conduct, practice; in Pali, Sn 162, comm. takes ā as m.c., which it could be in Mv i.177.2, but elsewhere in prose: Mv i.177.2 (vs) anupakruṣṭa-cāraṇā; Gv 333.2 dharmāṇām grahaṇa-cāraṇa-pratibodhiṣu (dvandva); (2) trained, skilled behavior; practice of an acquired art (Tib. cited as bslab pa, regularly = śiṣā): MSV i.34.11 (hastidamako...) hastiratnam ekāhnā sarva-cāraṇebhir upa-samkrāmati, and in sequel; likewise with aśvaratnam (both of a cakravartin) i.35.11 ff.; both prose; (3) (rare in Skt.: pasturing, tending of animals: MSV iv.227.18.)

cārayati, cāreti (caus. to car-), (1) distributes, casts (lots, śalākā, q.v.); so Pali cāreti, read at Jāt. i.239.27-28 te kālakaṇṇi-salākam cāresum, for text °vāresum: śalākā cāryate, a lot is cast, Mvy 9204, so read, text caryate; Mironov śalaka-caryā te, v.l. -caryate; Tib. ḥdrim (pa), distribute; the process consisted in distributing small pieces of wood (śalākā) to serve as lottery-tickets; śalākām cāraya, yo yuṣmākam utsahate... Divy 184.15, and śalākām cārayitum ārabdhaḥ 18; śalākāni cāretha (mss. dhār°) Mv iii.176.9, śalākāni cāriyanti (v.l. vār°) 10; (2) hands out, distributes (cf. s.v. cāraka): bhikṣūṇām cāraya, sa bhikṣūṇām cāratum ārabdhaḥ Divy 180.13, distribute (flowers) to the monks! and he began to distribute them to the monks; cāraya... peyām Divy 462.4, distribute the gruel; °yati (here sc. garments, to monks) MSV ii.106.2.

? cārayin, adj.? (to cārayati, caus. of car-; if adj. form, contains suffix -in), propagating, spreading (heretical views): vakṣyanty avarnam asmākam tīrthyavādam ca cārayi (v.l. °yi) SP 273.3 (vs); Kashgar rec. tīrthikā vāca cārayi, which seems better in eliminating the superfluous and disturbing ca; but the form cārayi could not only be n. pl. of an in-stem adj., but also ger. (note v.l. °yi, also ambiguous). WT kārayi with ms. K'.

Cārayaṇa = Dirgha Cār°, q.v.: Av ii.114.14, 16.

cāri (m.c. for cari, q.v.), conduct, in Bhvr. cpds.: sugatasya putrān... śāntaprasāntacārīn SP 12.14 (vs), ... of calm, peaceful conduct; paripūrnacārī (n. pl. m.) ca bhavanti tatra śilena te prasthita agrabodhim SP 13.4 (vs), having fulfilled the (religious) course of action (that leads to enlightenment).

-cārika, adj. or subst. m. (= Skt. and Pali -cārin, ifc.; see also piṇḍa-cārika), moving; practising: pattra-cārikā rddhyā harita-cārikā bhājana-cārikās cāgatāḥ Divy 45.17; similarly 45.20; it seems clear that the reference is to persons who magically ride or move thru the air on leaves, some sort of plants or trees (harita, cf. Skt. haritaka), and jars (bhājana), cf. 45.27-30. Acc. to Burnouf, Introd. 261 note 2, Tib. renders -cārikā(h) by ḥdri ma, which the Dictt. of Tib. do not interpret satisfactorily; I suggest dri bo, magician. Tib. renders harita by śiñ tshe, apparently some tree or shrub. There is a v.l. -vārika, which pw 7.365 adopts for bhājana-cārika, identifying it with °vārika in Mvy 9069, which however means something like superintendent of vessels and cannot be intended in the Divy passage. In Śiṣ 332.4 cārika seems to mean practiser, follower (cf. Skt. and Pali cārin), sc. of a heretical religion.

cārikā (in mg. 2 = Pali id.), (1) = cari, q.v., course of conduct, esp. a religious course leading to enlightenment, pursued by Bodhisattvas; repeatedly used in prose, hence not exclusively m.c.; usually with a form of the cognate verb carati: caranti ete varabodhi-cārikām SP 131.12 (vs); puruṣottama-cārikām acari, so bodhisattva-caryām (note use together of the synonymous forms cārikā and caryā!)... saṃsarati Mv i.3.9 (prose); duṣkara-cār° (cf. duṣkara-carim LV 276.1) Mv ii.130.12 (°kāye, instr., prose); 237.17 (°kām carantam, prose); bodhisattva-cārikām caranto ii.356.19 (prose); caranto bodhicārikām ii.362.20 (vs); jinacārikā(ye) ii.375.12 (vs); carann uttamabodhicārikām RP 50.2 (vs); carīṣye varabodhicārikām Sādh 29.7 (vs); otari cārika- (a m.c.)-kalpa-samudrām Bhad 29; bodhisattvacārikā Śiṣ 316.18 (prose) and °kaṃ (prob. misprint for °kām) carantam Gv 423.22 (prose); prañidhisi cārikām (ī m.c. for i) asamām (referring to the course of Bodhisattvas) Gv 57.15 (vs); saṃsāra-cārikaiṣā, naiṣā bodhisattvacārikā AsP 329.15 (prose); eka-cārikā Laṅk 291.13 (vs), the solitary religious course (of Pratyekabuddhas); (2) journey, wandering (also = Skt. caryā, which varies with this in the same passages; Pali cārikā id.), commonly as object of carati or another verb of going; the place of the journey is either in the loc. or preceding in comp.: magadheṣu cārikām prakrāmat LV 246.2 (prose), cf. magadheṣu caryām (best ms. cārikām) caran 246.6; caryām caran kāṣiṣu janapadesu cārikām (v.l. caryām) prakrāmat 405.2-3; janapadesu cārikām prakrāmet(su) Mv i.231.3 (prose), set out on a journey over the countryside; cārikām caramāṇo 6; gacchantam... cārikām 234.14 (vs); janapadacārikām caramāṇo 244.12 (prose); kāṣiṣu cārikām prakrāmi 323.10 (prose); magadheṣu °kām caramāṇo iii.47.10 (prose); °kām pratipannasya, embarked on a journey, 94.3 (vs); janapada-cārikā Mvy 9355; Kauśaleṣu janapadesu °kām caran Divy 80.11; °kām carīṣyati 92.8; Buddha-cārikā, the journey of a Buddha, 92.25; 93.2; śmaśānacārikām gantu(m) 267.8, 9, to go on a trip to a cemetery; dakṣiṇāgiriṣu janapade °kām caritvā Av i.3.3; janapadacārikām caran RP 5.2 (prose); (Pāñcāleṣu janapadesu) janapadacārikām caramāṇo Suv 202.3 (prose); also used of journeys to other worlds or states of existence, inferior or superior: niraya-cārikām gacchati Mv i.4.15 (prose) went on a trip to (the) hell(s); caranto narakacārikām 5.2; so also tiracchāna-cārikām gacchati 27.2, and caranto tir° °kām 4, a trip among the animal-existences; pretacārikām 28.3, 5; asura-c° 30.1, 3; deveṣu °kām gacchati 30.16; 31.16; and with acc. instead of loc., devām (= °ān) cār° ga° 33.4, went on a trip to the gods; deveṣu cārikām caramāṇena Mv ii.190.17; naraka-cārikām carataḥ Av i.241.9, preta-c° c° 10; (3) cārikā or cārakā, stream, course (of a river): nadīcārikām avatīrṇaḥ, went down into a river-stream, Av ii.86.3; nadīcārakāyāḥ (ms., Speyer em. °cārik°) pāre vṛkṣaḥ 4; nadīcārikām uttīrṇaḥ, crossed a river-stream, ii.116.13; nadyām cārakāyāḥ (so Speyer; ms. namdyā cārakāyā; read nadyāś, or, semi-MIndic, nadyā, gen.?) patitas, fell into the stream of a river, or if nadyām is correct, into a river, into its stream, ii.181.17.

cāritra (nt.), in °tram āpadyate (with loc.; = Pali cārittam āpajjati, with loc.), has dealings with, visits, cultivates, esp. said of a monk who takes food at the house of laymen: (bhikṣuḥ . . .) kuleṣu cāitram āpadyeta Prāt 522.4. The Pali phrase is rendered goes on his (begging) rounds in SBE 13.42.

cikka, m., or cikkā (n. pl. °ās; cf. Skt. cikkaṇa, esp. s.v. 5 in pw), sticky matter, as secreted from the eyes: cikkās tathākṣṇoḥ krimivac ca jāntoḥ Śikṣ 231.11 (vs).

ciñkhala (adj., or less likely subst. m. or nt.; cf. Skt. Lex. cikhalla, Pali and AMg. cikkhalla, AMg. also cikkhāla, all nouns), muddy (or mud, mire): °le bhūpradeṣe MSV ii.79.18; Tib. rdzab can gyi phyogs, muddy place.
cicca, or ciccha, m., a kind of malevolent supernatural being: Mvy 4377 ciccha, in Index var. cicca; Mironov cicca, v.l. ciccha; follows kākhorda and vetāla, followed by preṣaka; = Tib. sems (b)sgyur ba (?); in similar lists of evil spirits, cicca Māy 220.18; 245.16.

Cicchaka, var. for Śiṣṣaka, n. of a nāga-king, q.v.: Mvy 3283; Mironov Cicchaka, v.l. Śiṣṣaka.

ciṭṭiṭṭāyati, °te, once ciṭṭa, once ciṭṭiṭṭi° (= Pali ciṭṭiṭṭāyati), onomat., sputters, used of the noise made by hot things, especially (at least in Pali) in contact with water: cakraṃ (a hot metal disk, 604.15) ciṭṭiṭṭāyamāna-dahanakāṇacayodgāraudraṃ Divy 606.1; with subject sarṣapāḥ, ciṭṭiṭṭāyanti Mmk 298.2; 719.1; °ṭṭiṭṭāyanti Mmk 295.6; with subject an ayomaya cakra, or triśūla, ciṭṭiṭṭāyati Mmk 687.9. In these BHS passages it is not clear whether contact with water or other liquids is implied.

cita (orig. ppp. of Skt. ci-), orig. piled up, heaped up; so, thick, dense (of hair), stout, large (of fingers), full, stout (of the space between the shoulders), in cpds. (1) cita-keśa, having thick, dense hair, one of the anuvyañjana of the Buddha: Mvy 343 = Tib. stug pa, dense, thick; Mv ii.44.10, so read with one ms., the other vivitra° (Senart em. citra°); instead Dharmas 84 has citra-keśa, which I believe is certainly a corruption; lacking in the LV list; (2) citāṅguli, with stout, large fingers, another anuvyañjana: Mvy 274 (here Tib. rgyas = large); confirmed by Pali acc. to Burnouf, Lotus, 585; this time the corruption citrā° (above) is more widespread, being printed in Mv ii.43.9 (only one ms., lacuna in the other); Dharmas 84 (but one ms. ciṃtā°); and LV 106.12–13 (Lefm. anupūrvacitrāṅgulī ca, combining this with anupūrvāṅguli; most mss. have the reverse order, as does Tib., which also renders by rgyas pa = large, proving that it had citā° and not citrā°); (3) citāntarāmsa (or °śa) (= Pali citantaramsa, e. g. DN ii.18.10; comm. ii.449.6 antaramsam vuccati dvinnam koṭṭhāsānam antaram; tam citam pari-punṇam assā ti), with full, well filled-in, space between the shoulders, one of the 32 lakṣaṇa: Mvy 251, Tib. thal goṅ rgyas pa = large shoulders; so also Tib. on LV 105.18; all lists of the lakṣaṇa (q.v.) intend the same form, only varying between °āmsa and °āmsa. In Gv 69.26 read citta with 2d ed. for cita; see s.v. avabhā. See also next.

cita-vistara, m., some kind of ornament: Mvy 6044 = Tib. tshoñ-tshoñ (said to be a kind of ornament; as adj. or adv. apparently even[ly]) bśibs (or gśibs) pa, perhaps literally arranged evenly? Chin. hair-net. Does the BHS form mean lit. of full extent? Cf. cita.

citāṅguli, citāntarāmsa, see s.v. cita.

1 citta (= Pali id., also citra, = AMg. citta, = Skt. caitra), n. of the first month of spring (as usually reckoned, but here called 'the first month of summer', evidently implying a division of the year into only three seasons, spring-summer constituting one season of four months; see Senart's note): grīṣmāna māse prathame cittasmim (so, or cittesmim, mss.; Senart em. caitrasmim) Mv i.294.3 (vs).

2 citta, m. (in Skt. only nt.), thought: used with masc. adj. and pron. forms in Bhad 19 abhiyukto . . . cittu . . . , ye . . . āvaraṇiṃyās (sc. cittāḥ).

-cittaka = Skt. citta, thought, in Bhvr. cpd.: eka-cittakāḥ, single-minded, Av i.378.4 (prose).

citta-kṣaṇa, m. (1) a moment of thought: Gv 222.22, see s.v. anujava; adv. praticittakṣaṇam, in each moment of thought: Gv 242.21; 252.13; cf. AbhidhK. LaV-P. ii.153; (2) in Mvy 1216 ṣoḍaśa-c°, the 16 . . . , listed in 1217 ff., name for what in Dharmas 96 are called caturāryasatyēṣu ṣoḍaśa kṣāntijñānalakṣaṇāḥ; they are summarized s.v. kṣānti, q.v. It is not clear to me what (citta-)kṣaṇa could mean as applied to these categories, and the use in Dharmas of (jñāna-)lakṣaṇa instead suggests that kṣaṇa might be a corruption for lakṣaṇa; but Tib. on Mvy has skad cig ma = kṣaṇa.

citta-grāha, m. (or nt.), fancy of the mind, desire: devasya °ham kariṣyāmi MSV iii.138.2.

citta-dhārā, stream of thought: (teṣāḥ, sc. sattvānām, ahaṃ) nānābhāvāṃ cittadhārāṃ prajānāmi Vaj 39.11. Cf. next.

Cittadhārābuddhisamkusumitābhyudgata, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.19. Cf. prec.

Cittaratha, MIndic for Citra°, q.v.

cittavistarā (Senart suggests that this is Pkt. for citra-vi°), n. of 5th (bodhisattva-) bhūmi: Mv i.76.15.

Cittaśāśvata, n. of a Tathāgata: Sādh 445.11, 13.

Cittasthita, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 561; or Cittasthiti (in same list), ŚsP 1419.21.

[cittikāra, false reading for citri° or citri°, q.v.: LV 196.3; by em. 270.6.]

cittotpāda, m. (= Pali cittuppāda), production of intention, resolution; cf. the phrase cittam utpādayati, common in BHS, see s.v. utpādayati: antaśa ekacittotpādenāpy anumoditam idaṃ sūtram SP 224.6, by even so much as a single ('production of intent', i. e.) deliberate mental act this sūtra has been approved; śobhanas te cittotpādaḥ, that is an excellent resolution of yours, a fine ideal, Divy 389.10; (anena) kuśalamūlena cittotpādena, by this resolution which constituted a root of merit, Av i.4.2; 10.1 etc.; ii.96.9; iha bodhisattvasya prathamaś cittotpādaḥ sarvabodhisattvasamyakprañidhānam ādyam Bbh 12.1; yenāsyaikacittotpādo 'pi kṣiyeta Śikṣ 49.10, even a single resolution (as in SP 224.6 above); sarvajñātācittotpādaratne Śikṣ 184.10, in the 'jewel' of a determination to obtain omniscience; saḥacittotpādāt, as soon as the thought arose, Divy 212.18, 27; 221.21, 23 etc.; Av i.32.1; ii.95.1–2, 11;

Sukh 16.8-9; sahicittotpādena, id., Mv iii.329.18; 330.2 (read as cpd.; Senart saha cittot°, but the commoner abl. form disproves the implication that saha is a separate word). See next.

-cittotpādika, adj. ifc. (to prec. with -ika; not recorded in Pali), (one that is) characterized by production of intent, that has formed a resolution (used only of religious resolves): bodhi-cittot° Śiḥ 101.11, 13, that has formed the purpose of winning enlightenment; (eṣāṃ parvatānām...) pārśve kecid ekacittotpādikā bodhisattvāḥ prativasanti Kv 64.17 (so read), here apparently that have formed a single (? the One? the first? as in the following) resolution; often in prathama-cittot°, always epithet of Bodhisattvas, that have formed the initial resolution (to enter on the course of a B.), Śiḥ 153.11; KP 29.4; Bbh 18.16; Gv 500.3; Kv 85.20; 86.4.

Citra, (1) (= Pali Citta gahapati) n. of a lay disciple of the Buddha, with the epithet gṛhpati: MSV iii.21.9 ff.; Jm 115.25; (2) n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3268, v.l. Vicitra, which Mironov reads with v.l. Citta; Tib. ris bkra (each word alone elsewhere renders Skt. citra); Māy 246.30.

[citṛakārah LV 119.9, read citṛikāra(m).]

? Citrakālī (stem-form, in a cpd. listing yakṣiṇis), n. of a yakṣiṇī: Sādh 561.1. But v.l. Candrakānti, which may well be right; replaced below in 561.10 (based on the same list) by Candrakālī, whereas in 562.5 (a different piece) occurs Candrakāntā as n. of a yakṣiṇī.

Citraketu, n. of a king of Vidyādhara: Mmk 655.10.

[citṛa-keṣa, error for cita-, see s.v. cita.]

? Citrachattrā (so 2 mss.; v.l. °cheḍa; Senart em. °chada), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.7.

citṛaṇā (to Skt. citrayati with -anā), (the act of) painting: antarikṣa iva raṅgacitṛaṇā Dbh 6.23 (vs).

Citradhvaja, n. of a man (monk or layman?) mentioned as interlocutor of the Bodhisattva Akṣayamati: SP 447.2, 5 (vss).

citṛapāṭala, nt., a kind of flower: Mvy 6200.

Citṛapiśācikā, n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.23.

Citṛabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.4.

Citṛamakūṭa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.3.

Citṛamalla (mss.; Senart em. Citṛavarṇa), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.12.

Citṛamāla, n. of a former Buddha (or of two such): Mv i.137.11; 141.14.

Citṛamālya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.11.

Citṛaratha (once Citta°; = Pali Citaratha; see also Caitra°), n. of one of the groves of the Trāyastriṃśa gods: Mv i.32.5; 149.14; 217.2; ii.19.16 (Citta°); 181.7; 451.20.

[Citṛavarṇa, see Citṛamalla.]

Citṛaśayana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.8.

Citṛasena, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 99.

Citṛasena, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.2.

citṛastavana, worthy of all manner of praise (Senart): Mv i.147.2 (vs), of Māyā's womb.

Citṛahemajāla, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.15.

Citṛā, (1) (Skt. Lex. id.) n. of a river: Divy 451.1 ff.; 456.19 ff.; (2) n. of an ogress: Māy 244.1.

Citṛākṣa, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3244.

citṛāṅga, adj., of scarred body (so Tib. on Mvy, lus rma mtshan can): Mvy 8778; MSV iv.68.7.

[citṛāṅgull, error for citā°, see s.v. cita.]

citṛānta, of manifold, miscellaneous (with pejorative implication) conditions: citṛānta-cittān sattvān dhyāneṣu pratīṣṭhāpayāmi Gv 318.12.

Citṛārtha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.15 (vs). But perhaps read Citṛārtha-indraśiri as one compound name, and in next line separate Avabhāsarāja from Prabhaketuśiri, as two names.

citrika, nt., apparently wonder, marvel, thrilling and pleasing thing or experience: nāsti loke citrikam yam me na parityaktam tasya arthasya āharaṇatāye Mv ii.279.16, said by the Bodhisattva as a basis for his noble pride (ārya-māna); in a series of like formulas, the preceding containing ramaṇiyatā in place of citrikam, and the next aiśvaryaṃ.

citritaka, adj. (Skt. °ta with endearing dim. -ka, § 22.34), made bright, adorned: (tava rūpa surūpa suśobhanake) vasavartī sulakṣaṇa citritake LV 321.(21-)22 (vs); said by the daughters of Māra to the Bodhisattva; the e-forms seem scarcely construable with suvasantake in line 19 (nor does Tib. take them so; Calc. reads suśobhanako and citritako, but all mss. °ke in both); accordingly it seems that, if the mss. are right, we must understand them either as n. sg. nt. in e, with rūpa (§ 8.37), or as voc. sg. m., addressed to the Bodhisattva (§ 8.28).

citrikaraṇa (nt.; to next), paying reverence, respect: -saṃbuddha-śāsana-gaurava-citrikaraṇatayā Dbh 13.19-20.

citṛi-karoti (= Pali citti°, perhaps also citti°, see next; derived by Childers and PTSD from Skt. citta; Senart, Mv i.444, accepts this and regards BHS citri° as false Sktization; later, he emends the forms occurring in Mv ii and iii to citti°; whatever the history of the word may be, the BHS form is only citri° or citri°); (1) ppp. respected, honored: (vayam hi...) loke 'tīva citṛi-kṛtāḥ SP 215.6 (prose, no v.l.); (2) pays heed: na °kariṣyati MSV i.8.1, 10, he will pay no heed; caus., causes to pay heed, gets the attention of (acc.): (Māra tried to distract the Bodhisattva,) na ca tam bodhisattvaṃ citrikāresi (aor.; so mss., Senart em. citti°) Mv ii.268.11; with non-caus. mg., and °kar° with short a in mss. except in the first passage, Mv iii.282.6, 12; 283.2, 7, prob. read in all approximately: na ca sānaṃ bhagavāṃ citrikāraye (or °karaye), and the Lord paid no heed to them (the daughters of Māra who were seeking to distract him); the mss. are variously corrupt; Senart em. cittikāraye; (3) citrikṛta in a quite different sense: hastau saṃpuṭākārau kṛtvā anyonyāḥ āveṣṭya citrikṛtau ātmorasi sthāpayet (in a certain mudrā) Mmk 400.28; similarly, hastāv udveṣṭya citrikṛtāv abhayāvasthitau 401.20; hastāv ubhayāṅguṣṭhavyastau citrikṛtau lalāte darśayed 401.25; puṇaḥ citrikṛtau karau, svastikam... bandhitavyam 407.21. It is clear that citrikṛtau here applies always to the two hands in various mudrā-positions, but the mg. is not evident to me; possibly made elaborate, by intertwining the fingers (which is apparently characteristic of these mudrās)?

citrikāra, citri°, once citrikāra (?), m. (to prec., q.v.; Pali usually cittikāra, but also citti° acc. to CPD s.v. acittikāra; the usual BHS form is citri°, but citri° also occurs, in prose; citti° or citti° is not authenticated; Lefm. cittikāraṃ LV 196.3, but practically all mss. citri°), (1) respect, reverence: citrikārānuyuktaḥ LV 56.9 (vs); read citrikāra(m) for text citṛakārah 119.9 (vs) and for text cittikāraṃ 196.3 (above); citrikāra-bahumāna-270.6-7 (prose; so all mss.; Lefm. em. citti°); citrikāra- (various forms) LV 278.8 (prose; 2 mss. citri°); 429.16 (prose; no v.l.); Mvy 1759 (°rah; Tib. gces par byed pa, making esteemed); Suv 172.16; 173.6; Śiḥ 41.17; 151.17; 183.14; Dbh 46.8; 62.15; Megh 288.16 (read mahatā gurugaurava-citrikāreṇa; misunderstood by Bendall); AsP 494.15; Gv 467.17; citrikāra- Mv i.89.15 (prose; 1 ms. citri°); pūrvarāja-citrikāreṇa (mss.; read °kāreṇa, probably) Mv ii.439.18 (prose). Often associated with gaurava, sometimes with prīti, prasāda, and the like. (2) citrikārah in Mvy 7563 (cf. Skt. citrikṛta, made into a picture) = Tib. mtshan mar ḥdzin pa dañ ḥdom na bkra bar ḥdzin pa, which perhaps means the taking for a sign or the taking for variegated (?). Follows apasphotanam, rūpaṇā, and rūpyate.

cintaka, m. inspector, overseer: rājño Mūrdhātasyāmyāyās cintakās tulakā upaparīkṣakās cintayitvā tulayitvā... Divy 212.9; karvatakaḥ samnāmito nipakā ḡhītās cintakaḥ (an overseer, manager) sthāpitāḥ. Divy 451.20; for this last, MSV i.147.2 reads citrakaḥ, doubtless by corruption; Tib. sna bo, leader, commander.

cintārāja- (m.) (1) (cf. Skt. cintāmaṇi?) a kind of gem with magic powers, conferring wealth: Gv 498.25; 499.7; 500.18; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 81.3.

cinnaka, m. (presumably = Skt. cīna, cīnakaḥ and Lex. cinna, Panicum miliaceum; cf. also AMg. ciṇṇa, Chinese), a kind of grain or legume: kodravo vā śyāmako vā cinnako vā priyamgur vā... Mv ii.211.14.

-cippitika, in naḍa-cippitikam, q.v., seems to be an extension of ppp. of next (implying an active cipyati, cippati? or a caus. MIndic cippeti?).

cipyate, pass. (cf. Pali cippiyamāna, Miln. 261.28, 30; and see prec.), is crushed: naḍa-cippitikam (q.v.) vā cipyamānasya Śiḥṣ 182.2 or of one being crushed... .

[ciya = iva, like, acc. to mss. at Mv ii.158.7 (prose) karṣakā ciya, like peasants; Senart em. viya, prob. rightly. No ciya or cia is authenticated for iva; Sheth s.v. cia = iva is based on an erroneous statement in Woolner's Introduction to Prakrit, Vocabulary, where cia should be equated with eva, not iva.]

ciraṃ with gen., it is long since...; ciraṃ me devanikāyām śuddhāvāsam (or śuddhā° deva°) upasamkrāntasya Mv i.56.7, and by plausible em. i.35.1, it is long since I visited the Śu. class of gods.

ciratarakena, adv. (to compv. cira-tara plus -ka), in or after a longer time: yuṣmākaṃ evaṃ cira° vāro bhaviṣyati imehi duvehi potakehi jātehi Mv i.362.3, the lot (of death) will fall on you after a longer time, if these two jaws are born. But mss. ciratanakena (em. Senart); possibly a deriv. of Skt. cirantana is intended.

cira-sthitika, adj. (= Pali ciratthitika; Skt. cira plus sthitika), long-enduring, lasting: gaṇavaro, the excellent assembly (of monks), Mv i.301.1 (vs); kulavaṃśa, family line, Divy 2.14; 99.6; Avi.14.15 etc.; 277.1; Karmav 59.15; brahmacarya, Mvy 8356; Divy 207.28; (sa āyusmān... evaṃdirghāyur evaṃcīrasthitikāḥ Bbh 254.1, ... lasting for such a long time; dharmavinaya, Bbh 4a.3; saddharma, Mvy 6354; °ka-tā, state of being..., Bbh 28.20; saddharma-°ka-tā, Bbh 210.11; 229.10; a-cirasthitika-tā, transitoriness (sarvasaṃskāragatasya), Bbh 31.4. See also s.v. sthitaka (4).

cilimilika, nt., or ciliminikā (var.; so Mironov and BR), Mvy 8984, some kind of cloth, or article made of cloth (BR Halschmuck, clearly wrong); cf. Pali cilimikā, cimilikā; AMg. cilimiṇi, curtain, cloth used as curtain, also cilimiligā, °miliyā, °mili. Tib. bar thañ (? not in Dictt.); Chin. seems to mean mattress of coarse hair (or wool).

cilla, m. (Skt. Lex.), a kind of falcon: Mvy 4905 = Tib. ḥol bu (Jā. and Das ḥol pa, Das a kind of kite, Jā. vulture?).

ciṣṭā or ciṣṭhā (conjectural), see viṣṭhā.

cihna-dhara, m., emblem-bearer, a kind of royal officer or attendant: Mvy 3727. Tib. translates literally. On cihna cf. Meyer, Kautz. Arth. 833, 854.

ciraka, m. or nt. (in mg. 1 = Pali id., Skt. cira), (1) strip, primarily of cloth, bark, or the like: °ka-vadhrāṇi, here of strips of flesh, Mv i.19.9 (prose); of either cloth or bark garments, i.19.11 (prose), see vārṣikā; (2) in Mmk, lock or braid of hair, artificially arranged (compared to a strip) = Tib. (skra, hair) zur phud (hair-knot), Lalou, Iconographie 66 f. (but I do not think, with Lalou, that this is any cpd. ever refers to a diadem); Mañjuśrī's head is adorned with five such, but some passages suggest that in this he was like an ordinary youth in festive garb, sarvabhālakārahṣṭitāḥ (ed. °ta-) pañcacīrakopaśobhitāḥ Mmk 41.24; pañcacīrakopaśobhitā (text °taṃ) śiraṃ bhāladārakālamkāramkrtaṃ 305.6; (kumārākārahṣṭitāḥ) pañcacīrakamūrdhāno 436.3; note especially pañcacīrakopaśobhitam ekacīrakopaśobhitam śikhopaśobhitāśiraṃkam (so read for text °bhitam aśiraṃkam!) vā rājaputraṃ mūrdhābhṣṭitāḥ kṣatriyaputraṃ vā... 49.13 (the youth symbolizes Mañjuśrī, cf. 49.16 f.); Mañjuśrī is pañcacīrakopaśobhitāḥ 41.24; with more specific reference to his head, pañcacīrakāśiraṃkaḥ 62.8; similarly 68.16; 75.14; (3) also in Mmk, cīraka-mudrā is a position of the two hands, interlocked, in which one index finger is made to project (muktva) between the two thumbs, so that it resembles a hair-braid: (anyonyasaktāṅgulimūṣṭayoḥ pradēśinīm muktva aṅguṣṭhayugalam [prob. read °la-]madhyataḥ, eṣā sā Mañjuśrīḥ) tvadiyā aparā cīraka-mudrā 382.15-17; prob. this is alluded to by ekacīrakam (sc. mudram; see s.v. mudra) 355.27, also sacred to Mañjuśrī; its description in 382.15 ff. occurs in a list of mudrās the names of which refer (presumably because of their shape) to various parts of Mañjuśrī's body, e.g. tvadiyā vaktramudrā 382.11, etc. (note esp. 383.1 ff. śravaṇo grīvā bhujau etc., without specific descriptions).

? cira-cīra-cīvaraka, adj., tumbledown (?), of a house: MSV i.82.11 = avacīra-vicīraka.

cīvaraka, nt. (= cīvara, the only form otherwise recorded in Skt., Pali, or Pkt.; no dim. or other perceptible force in suffix -ka), monk's robe: °kāṇi Divy 125.16; 181.23; 267.9; °ka-śātāni, -sahasrāṇi Bbh 165.10; bhikṣubhir ḡhapatī-°kāṇi... dhārayitavyāni MSV ii.48.19. All prose. cīvara-gōpaka, guardian of the (monks') robes: Mvy 9065; MSV ii.144.15.

cīvarika, acc. to Tib. (gos kyi rin du bcas pa) the price of a robe: pātracīvaram sa-cīvara-cīvarikam MSV ii.145.6, 8; 146.1.

cukra, nt., in Mvy 5712 = Tib. tshva, which is said to mean only salt; no such mg. otherwise recorded for cukra; the preceding word is amlaḥ, which goes much better with the regular Skt. mg. of cukra; lavaṇam occurs 5709. Cf. śulukāḥ, defined in the same way.

cuccu-kārakam, adv., making the sound cuccu (smacking the lips? sc. while eating): Mvy 8577 na cu°; completed by piṇḍapātam paribhokṣyāma iti, La Vallée Poussin, JRAS 1913.845, Stein mss. fragm. 1.2.12. May correspond to Pali capucapu-kārakam, Vin. iv. 197.13. Chin. onomat., indicating that one has eaten something sour.

cuti (MIndic for Skt. cyuti; see cavati), fall (to a lower existence): jagi-r-ūrmi-cuti LV 173.13 (vs); but citation Śiḥṣ 204.1 jagi janmacyutiḥ, which must be adopted at least as to janma; and most of Lefm.'s mss. read cyuti; of course, meter proves that the pronunciation was cu°, not cyu°, in any event; cuti- Gv 230.25 (vs).

[Cunanda, LV 1.15, false reading for Cunda, q.v.; Tib. skul byed, exhortation-maker, as if from root cud-; so Tib. skul bye = Cunda in Mvy 1045.]

Cunda, (1) (= Pali id.; also Mahā-c°), n. of one or more disciples of the Buddha: SP 207.4; LV 1.15 (so read for Cunanda); Mvy 1045; Divy 153.5 (called a śrāmaṇeraka of Śāriputra); 160.6 (a śrāmaṇoddeśa; this title samaṇuddesa is given to 2 Cunda in Pali, DPPN); (karmāraputra) MPS 26.14 etc.; even in Pali the (apparently) several Cundas are hard to distinguish, and still harder in BHS; (2) n. of a yakṣa: Mv iii.327.18 (see next).

Cunda-dvīla (v.l. -vīra), nt., or -dvīlā (v.l. -vīrā), f., n. of a locality (adhiṣṭhāna) between Aparagayā and Benares, home of the yakṣa Cunda (2): Mv iii.325.11 (nt.); 327.18 (fem.). Seems to be the same as Pali Cundatthiya, °ṭṭhila, °ṭṭhika, Pv iii.1.2 and comm. pp. 168-170 (cited DPPN as Cundaṭṭhila, v.l. Cundavīla, but neither form is recorded in texts or Crit. App.).

Cundā, n. of a goddess: Sādh 270.8 etc. (cf. next). Cundā-dhāraṇī, n. of a sacred formula: Śiḥṣ 173.4 (cf. preceding).

culuculāyati (? cf. Hem. 4.127 culuculai = spandate), onomat. verb, perhaps quivers: manahsilām tri-(text tr-)lohapariveṣṭitām kṛtvā mukhe prakṣipya tāvaj japed yāvaca culuculāyati Mmk 319.11, similarly 15; 324.1.

culla, in cullākṣa, see cūlla.

Culla-pantha, = Cūḍapanthaka, q.v.; so read in Sukh 2.11 for Culla-patka, a monstrous form for which, amazingly, there is no ms. authority, whereas one ms. (reading -patthana) obviously intends -panthana (instr.) as the note points out (two mss. omit the word; the fourth -pacchena, surely for -patthana = panthana).

cūḍa, adj. (= Pali cūḷa; cf. culla, cūlla), small, petty, insignificant; always followed by paramacūḍa, and followed or preceded by dhanva (for dhandha, q.v.) and paramadhanva: Divy 488.26; 489.19; 490.7, 19; 492.21; 504.18.

Cūḍakā, n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.12.

Cūḍa-panthaka (Cūḷa°, Cūḍa°; also Culla-pantha, Śuddhi-panthaka, qq. v.; = Pali Cūḷa°), n. of a disciple of the Buddha: Cūḍa° Mvy 1054 (v.l. Cūḷa°; Mironov Cūḍa° only); MSV i.206.4 ff.; Divy 493.12 (in other places in Divy called simply Panthaka, q.v.); Cūḍa° Karmav 43.1 (doubtless by error; v.l. Vṛddha-p°; not in Tib.). The first element has nothing to do with cūḍā but means lesser, minor; he is contrasted with Mahā-panthaka Divy 493.11, 12.

cūḍā (cf. JM.cūḷā, seemingly used in the general sense of ornament, see Sheth s.v.), ornament (for the head): yat te drṣṭā bhūṣaṇā uhyamānā, cūḍā vastrā mahya mañce 'drṣāsi LV 195.19 (vs). Prob. = the usual Skt. cūḍamaṇi; Tib. cod pan, diadem, tiara (usually = mukuṭa).

Cūḍāpanthaka, see Cūḍap°.

cūḍā-pratiḡrahaṇa, nt., 'reception of the hair-knot', n. of the caitya commemorating the Bodhisattva's cutting off of his hair-knot and its reception by the gods: LV 225.19.

Cūḍāmaṇidhara, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3362.

cūḍāmaha, m. or nt., festival of the (Bodhisattva's) hair-knot (in honor of his cutting it off): (trāyatṛiṃṣatsu) deveṣu 'ho vartate LV 225.18; (trāyastṛiṃśadbhavane . . .) 'haṃ ca vartati Mv ii.166.1.

cūḍika, m., or °kā, f., applied to a lokadhātu, see s.v. sāhasracūḍika.

cūḍikābaddha, adj. (= Pali cuḷi°, read with PTSD cuḷi°, SN ii.182.16), filled full, crammed (lit. to the top): (sacet . . .) jambūdvipah paripūrṇas cūḍikābaddhas tathā-gataśarīrāṇam . . . AsP 94.3, etc.; (a silk cloth, kāśikā . . .) pūrṇā cūḍikābaddhā (with dust, in a rain of dust) Divy 577.2. Cf. next.

cūḍikāvabaddha = prec.: Mvy 6356 = Tib. byur bur (read byur with Jā. and Das?) gyur ba, become heaped up.

Cūḍeśvara, n. of a suparṇin, previous birth of Vaiśravaṇa (mahārājan): MSV i.260.19 ff.

cūrṇa, adj. ? in Mv ii.87.12 (kim) karmārāṇam sarva-cūrṇa-karmaṃ? sūciyo, what is the most delicate (so Senart; or, profound, significant, important?) work of smiths? Needles. Perh. cf. JM. cūrṇa, n., defined by Sheth pada-viśeṣa, gambhirārthaka pada, mahārthaka śabda. Sheth derives from a Skt. caurna, of which I can find no trace; if a secondary derivative of cūrṇa, it might mean lit. polished with powder, rubbed down, or the like, and so refined or subtle. Cf. Skt. cūrṇi, cūrṇī, and s.v. cūrṇika below (?).

cūrṇa-kuṭṭa, prob. grinder of powder (for perfumes): Mv iii.113.10; 442.15; in both foll. by gandhatailika or °laka.

cūrṇika- (perh. for °kā, m.c.; cf. Skt. cūrṇi, cūrṇī), commentary: ākhyāyiketiḥāsādyair gadya-cūrṇika-vārttikaiḥ Laṅk 363.7 (vs).

cūḷaka, m., in udaka-c°, mouthful or handful, small draught, of water: °kāḥ, n. pl., Mmk 690.23; 704.20 (both prose). In place of Skt. culuka (which occurs 714.19) or cūḷaka (719.14); the latter is recorded in late Skt. in pw and Schmidt, Nachtr. Is the form with ū a mere corruption?

Cūḷapanthaka, see Cūḍa°.

Cūḷiyā, n. of a sister of Māyā: Mv i.355.17.

cūlla- (= Pali culla, cūḷa), in cullākṣa, adj., small-eyed: Mvy 8834 = Tib. mig chuṅ ba. The Index records also cullākṣa; Mironov only the latter.

cūṣaka, m., 'sucker', a class of malevolent superhuman beings: Mmk 17.5. Also mahācūṣaka, ibidem.

cetaḥparyāya, m., way of thought, manner of mind; less often citta-pa°; commonly preceded by para- or parasya, of others; knowledge of other's mental make-up is one of the abhijñā, q.v.; so also in Pali, where Buddha is parassa (para-) ceto-(citta-)pariyāya-kusala (-kovidā), as one of the abhiññā. In Bhik 27a.5 cetaḥparyāyasya is not preceded by para- or equivalent, but the meaning is certainly the same, since other abhiññā precede and follow it (divyasya śrotasya, pūrvanivāsasya). In Mv iii.321.13 Buddhas are called cetaḥparyāyasampannāḥ, probably also with implication of para-, tho here most of the other abhiññā are not listed; but the next following epithet is pḍdhiprāthihāyasampannā(h), which recalls one of them.

cetanaka, or (v.l. of Mvy with Mironov) cait°, nt. (to next but one, q.v.), price: Mvy 8392 °kāni = Tib. rin thaṅ, price; Prāt 492.12, 13 (bhikṣum punar uddiṣya ajñātina ḡhapatina . . .) cīvara-cetanakāny upaskṛtāni syur etair ahaṃ cīvaracetanakair evamrūpaṃ cīvaraṃ cetayitvā evamnamānaṃ bhikṣum āchādayiṣyāmi; similarly 493.1, 3, 7 etc., always cet°. The corresponding Pali (see next but one) has (cīvara-)cetāpana, from the caus. of the verb, which alone is recorded in Pali; its mg. can only be substantially the same, price (of an article ordered to be bought).

1 cetayati (Skt. caus. of cit, not in this mg.; = Pali ceteti), longs for (dat.): samḡhasya ca alābhāya apadāya °yati MSV iii.8.14.

2 cetayati (the verb on which is based Pali caus. cetāpeti, below), buys: cetayitvā, ger., Prāt 492.13; 493.2, 4, 9 etc., see cetanaka. In Lang. 22.98 it was stated that the subject of Pali cetāpeti, causes to be bought, has bought, 'is always a monk or nun, who instigates (a layman) to buy (something for himself or herself)'. This is true only in Vin. iv.250.14-15; in Vin. iii.216.13 and 237.10 the subject is a layman, tho the mg. is certainly causes to be bought, has bought (for the benefit of a monk). Vin. iii.216.13 is the same passage as Prāt 492.13 (see cetanaka) where cetayitvā, having bought, replaces Pali cetāpetvā, having had (ordered) bought (for a monk). The non-caus. form of Prāt proves the meaning of the caus. Pali form, which Pali interpreters have not understood. The former is not recorded in Pali, nor the latter in BHS. The etymology is unknown but the mg. is clear from the contexts.

? cetayika (v.l. ve°), Mv iii.442.19, some sort of entertainer. Form and mg. alike obscure; no correspondent in parallel passages iii.113.4 (see Senart's note here) etc. If the reading ve- were accepted, one might think of reading vetālika or °ḍika (Skt. vaitālika), were it not for the fact that this word seems likely to have been read in 442.8 in the same list (Senart here tālika, but mss. vetaddika, vetarddi°), and in 113.2 Senart em. vaitālika for mss. tetālika, tetarika.

cetasika, adj. (MIndic for cait°), = caitasika, q.v.: Mv ii.260.7; iii.66.7, 14 (see vedayita, which Senart reads); KP 103.5; Divy 352.15 ff.; Av i.31.14. All cited under cait°.

ceti = cetika, cetiya, caitya, qq.v. (see § 3.115): ceti bhu (mss. bhū, Lefm. em. m.c.), printing cetibhu as one word) trisahasraḥ kim punas tubhya kāyaḥ LV 368.18 (vs), the 3000-fold world has become (= abhūt) an object of reverence (a shrine) . . . So Tib.: ston gsum (= 3,000) mchod rten (= caitya) gyur na (become) . . .

cetika, nt. (prob. hyper-Skt. for MIndic cetiya, but cf. caityaka) = ceti, cetiya, caitya; only in vss: LV 389.10 cetikaṃ (v.l. ceṭikāṃ), parallel to 388.12 cetiyaṃ (v.l. ceṭikā, °ko); dattvā patākāṃ bhagavata cetikeṣū Śikṣ 302.3, parallel to Mv ii.375.9 cetiyeṣu (mss. corruptly jāṭiyeṣu); so in Śikṣ 303.4, 7; 304.4, 8, etc., cetika regularly where Mv parallels (ii.379.7 etc.) have cetiya. cetiya, nt. or (when applied to a person) m. (= Pali id., Skt. caitya), sanctuary, temple; but also, object (of any kind) or person worthy of veneration; this form common in even the prose of Mv, only in vss of other texts; cf. also ceti, ceṭika. In sense of a shrine (building) cāpālaṃ nāma cetiyaṃ LV 388.12 = Mv iii.306.14 (vs); cāpālaṃ cetiyaṃ Mv i.299.22 (prose), and ff.; cetiyeṣu Mv i.223.11 = ii.26.8 (vs); other forms, ii.354.11; 364.11, 13; 365.20 ff.; iii.50.19; 303.1, etc.; cetiya- (mss. mostly cetiyaṃ-, perhaps read so; one ms. once ceṭika-) pūjakaṃ (taṃ kulam) Mv i.198.2 = ii.1.12 (prose), shrine-revering, of the family in which a Bodhisattva is born the last time (LV 24.9 caitya-pūjakaṃ in same passage); of the Buddha himself, sarvalokasya cetiyo Mv ii.349.6; 359.8; iii.273.5, the Revered One of the whole world; lokasya cetiya (voc.) Mv ii.263.12 (prose), for the purpose of (making it, viz. the spot where Buddha became enlightened) an object of veneration (universal emperors will never master, adhīṣṭihanti with v.l., that spot except for this purpose).

cetovimukta, adj. (cf. next), emancipated in mind: rāgavirāgāya °ktaḥ MSV iii.53.13.

cetovimukti, emancipation of mind = Pali cetovimutti, acc. to PTSD always with paññāvimutti: LV 418.18 °tiḥ prajñāvimuktiś ca; both also Mv ii.139.6; iii.333.16; but in iii.333.13 prajñāvi° is lacking. In all four described by the adj. akopya, q.v.

ceto-samādhi, f. (= Pali id., also citta-s°), concentration of mind, here as leading to the magic power of becoming invisible: tathārūpāṃ °dhīm samāpadye yathā . . . mātā-pitarau nādr̥setsuḥ Mv iii.409.12 (prose).

? cedācitta, instr. cedācittena LV 431.12 (prose; so only one ms.; v.l., two mss., °cintena; all other mss. and Calc. have a haplographic omission here), is uninterpretable to me; I must assume a corruption, perhaps a misprint. Not noted by Weller. Foucaux's Tib. omits the passage. (The particle ced can, it seems, hardly be involved.)

celaka, cellaka, see cailaka.

Celā, n. of a daughter of Simha (8): MSV ii.8.8 ff. caitanaka, nt., var. for ceṭ°; q.v.: Mvy 8392.

caitasika, fem. °ki, adj., rarely quasi-subst. with ellipsis of dharma, sometimes written cetasika, q.v. Pali citta-cetasikā dhammā, Dhammasaṅgaṇi 1022 ff. But in other occurrences of both together, in Pali and BHS, cittaṃ and caitasikā dharmāḥ (cetasikā dhammā), or caitasika (usually masc. pl.) with dh° understood, constitute a duality, the mind and mental states-of-being. (For Pali see e.g. Vism. i.84.25 citta-cetasikānāṃ samam sammā ca ādhānam; mind and mental properties, Maung Tin.) Cf. KP 103.5, above, and: kuśalānāṃ ca citta-caitasikānāṃ (so read) anusmṛtir Śikṣ 33.13, remembrance of meritorious mind and mental states. In Divy 352.15 kīdr̥śās te cittacetasikāḥ (certainly sc. dharmāḥ) pravartante, kliṣṭā vākliṣṭā vā, and similarly in the sequel, the cpd. may perhaps be a Tatp., mental states of the mind, rather than a dvandva. On the other hand cf. Sūtrāl. xi.30, comm., marīcikopamau dvau dharmāu, cittaṃ caitasikāś ca; here the duality is obvious, and dharmāḥ is certainly to be supplied with cait°. In AbhidhK. the usual equivalent is caitta, q.v.; note that the word dharma regularly has to be supplied, or at least is not expressed, but note LaV-P. viii.159 avasthāvīṣeṣo 'pi hi nāma cetasā caitasiko bhavati (is dharmāḥ here? also to be supplied with the masc. quasi-subst. caitasiko?). As in Sūtrāl. above, they are false, delusive, illusory.

Caitika (= Pali Cetiya, DPPN 2, = Apacara), n. of a lying king (former birth of Devadatta): MSV iv.245.6 ff.

caitta, adj. from citta in origin but regularly substantivized as masc.; fundamentally a Buddhist word, equivalent to caitasika, q.v.; common in AbhidhK., see LaV-P. Index; mental state or condition of being, regularly cpd. or associated with citta, as a duality: Laṅk 150.14 citta-caitta-kalāpo, mind and the whole mass of mental things (et alibi in Laṅk); MadhK 11.9 citta-caittānāṃ; 274.7 -citta-caitta-, la pensée et ses dérivés, ed. note. See esp. AbhidhK. ii.149 citta-caittāḥ (note masc.!) sahāvāśyam; LaV-P., note, says citta = manas = vijñāna; caitta = caitasa = caitasika = cittasamprayukta (cf. also ii.150).

caitya, nt., like its MIndic substitutes ceti, ceṭika, cetiya (also caityaka), seems to be used more broadly than in Skt., as any object of veneration: lokasya caityam Śikṣ 56.11 (said of any ornament of a stūpa); 136.2 (of the monkish robes); caitya-bhūtaḥ Vaj 34.12, of the nature of an object of veneration (said of any place where 'this sūtra' shall be proclaimed). See mahācaitya.

caityaka (nt; Skt. caitya plus -ka; may possibly be the direct ancestor of ceṭika, q.v., or a further hyper-Sktization of that form if, as I think likely, ceṭika is itself a semi-Sanskritized substitute for MIndic cetiya), temple, shrine: °keṣu Śikṣ 301.1 (= Mv ii.373.17 cetiyeṣu). caitradaṇḍika, see vetra°.

Caurikā, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 446.1.

caurya (nt.; not recorded in this sense), stealth, in the sense of secrecy: (ya imaṃ dharmaparyāyam . . .) rahasi cauryeṇāpi kasyacid . . . saṃprakāśayed SP 227.3 (prose), who should declare this dharma-paryāya even by stealth in secret to anyone . . .

cyavati, falls (to a lower existence); in Skt. and, so far as I have found, in Pali (cavati) construed with abl. of the existence departed from; here sometimes with loc. instead, dies, passes away in . . .: SP 94.3 ff. cyutvā manuṣyeṣu avīci teṣāṃ pratiṣṭha bhoti paripūrṇakalpān, (4) . . . cyutās ca tatra prapatanti (Kashgar rec. and WT with ms. K' cyutās-cyutās tatra patanti) bālāḥ, (5) yadā ca narakeṣu (Kashgar rec. °kebhya) cyutā bhavanti . . ., having fallen (from existence, i. e. having died) among men, Avīci becomes their abode for full kalpas . . . and having fallen (died) there, the fools fall (lower); and when they come to fall (die) in (Kashgar, from) the hells . . .

cyutopapāda (= Pali cutūpapāta), fall (from one existence) and rebirth (in another), see s.v. upapāda. [cyūḍika, read cūḍ°; see sāhasra-cūḍika.]

chaka (nt.; = Pali id., Childers and Geiger 40.1a; only chakana reported in Pali literature; = Skt. śakṛt), dur. in Mv ii.71.14 (vs) read chaka-mūtram eva sṛjan (= sṛjan, pres. pple.) for Senart charda-gūtham . . . mss. chada-mūrtam, or chanda-mūrtem; my reading is proved by the corresponding prose 70.9 uccāra-prasrāvaṃ mūcāmāno.

Chagalapāda, n. of a gandharva: Suv 162.1.

? chaṭa-, perhaps to be understood instead of ṣaṭa-, q.v., in Mmk 112.24. Cf. next.

chaṭa-chaṭā, chaṭā-chaṭā (Skt. chaṭā, AMg. chadā; āmreḍita, mass; instr. adv., in a mass, French en masse: taṃ tālaskandhaṃ pṛthiviye chaṭāchaṭāye (in one great mass; Senart, lourdeur) upari patitaṃ Mv i.317.1; tāni bandhanāni hastena chaṭāchaṭāya (in one single mass, en masse; = all with one stroke) chindati Mv ii.458.2. Both prose.

chadḍeti (= Pali id.) abandons: °ti Mv ii.170.18; iii.291.14; mss. corrupt in both, but context makes Senart's em. seem certain; in iii.291.14 the only ms. chodḍeti (lacuna in other ms.).

chandḍikā, acc. to Tib. sgo hu chuñ, app. small door, or ske hu (? ske = neck), in °kā-vārika Mvy 9075, some servant or official in a monastery; Chin. and Jap. watcher at a small gate or door, app. agreeing with the first Tib. gloss.

chattraka, nt., and °ikā, f. (both Skt. Lex.; cf. Pali ahichattaka, nt., mushroom), mushroom: tad yathā chattrakam (mss.; Senart em. chā°) evam varṇapratibhāso pi abhūsi Mv i.345.7; same phrase i.340.12 has in mss. vāḍakam, Senart em. chātrakam; chattrikām Mmk 81.25.

Chauramukhā, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 4.8.

Chattrākāra, n. of a locality: °re Māy 50.

[chaddhva-m, corrupt reading in KN for SP 352.9; read cipiṭam, flat (agreeing with nāsa in next line), with WT, supported by Tib. sna leb, flat nose. The mss. cited by KN vary greatly and at random. Burnouf and Kern both translate as if they read cipiṭam.]

-chana for -channa (Skt.), covered, in (text) duchchanaṃ and suchchanaṃ, yathā hy agāraṃ du° Ud xxxi.11–16 and . . . su° 17–22; meter favors, indeed almost demands, -channaṃ, which is read in the same vss in Pali, Dh. 13, 14, and must, it seems, be adopted here, tho the manifold repetition of this obvious error is strange.

chanda, (1) m. (rarely nt., LV 262.8), = Skt. and Pali id., used in both bad and good sense; more often in bad, desire, whim, caprice, passion, see e.g. acchanda-gāmin; in good sense, zeal, a characteristic of a Bodhisattva or a Buddha; often associated with virya: astī me (sc. Bodhisattvasya) chando 'sti viryam LV 239.1, same passage as: mahyam pi khalu asti chando . . . Mv ii.118.10; astī chandam (n. sg. one ms. °as) tathā viryam LV 262.8 = astī chando ca viryam ca Mv ii.239.9 (vs); note chandaś ca LV 262.5, just above); nāsti chandasya hāniḥ Mv i.160.12 (one of the 18 āveṇika Buddha-dharma); (āryasmitam, of the Bodhisattva) chandopastabdham Mv ii.280.16, based on zeal; janemi chandam Sukh 9.6; (2) (m.); this mg. in Pali, see PTSD s.v. 2), approval, consent, as object of dā-, give: dadāti . . . tathāgataś chandam . . . SP 248.8, the Tathāgata (who sends this message; not Sākyamuni; neither Burnouf nor Kern understands the passage) gives his consent (to the opening of this stūpa); chandārhibhyaś chandaka, (1) nt. (= Pali id.; from chanda plus -ka; see also chanda-yācaka), 'free-will offering', general collection of alms for the community of monks, made by going the rounds of the town and inviting subscriptions from all citizens (Av ii.39.4 ff. describes this); chandakāni Av i.269.9; otherwise only chandaka-bhikṣaṇa (nt.) in same mg., MSV i.61.19; ii.77.15; Av i.257.8, 11; 313.9; 314.2, 4; 317.16; ii.39.4 ff.; in i.264.2 (see Speyer's Index) read chandaka-(ed. chandana)-bhikṣaṇa (ms. and ed. bhikṣa; but the missing -na is read in line 7 below); (2) in Av ii.55.3 . . . indriyair avikalatvasya kuśaladharmachandakasya āścaryādbhuto loke prādurbhāvaḥ, Speyer, Index, renders -chandaka by gathering (of merit); but cf. Pali dhamma-chanda, desire for the Law, opp. to kāma-chanda, desire for lusts; this is certainly the word involved; either chandaka = chanda (ka svārthe), or, perhaps better, read -chandatvasya, which matches the preceding series of nouns in -tva-sya, the appearance in the world of a state of desiring meritorious (or, felicitous) dharma (Law, or states of being?) is a prodigious marvel; (3) in Mvy 2225 text tīvreṇa chandakaḥ, presumably adj., desiring (vehemently); but v.l. chandena, and so Mironov without v.l. (also Index of Kyoto ed. lists this reference under chanda, not under chandaka); this is prob. the true reading: with vehement desire (chanda); (4) n. of the Bodhisattva's charioteer (in Pali Channa; here rarely Chanda, q.v.); sometimes even when the meter seems to demand Chanda, Chandaka is written, as in Mv i.154.9; this is the regular form in prose and vs; Mv i.154.5 (prose), 6, 9; 155.14; ii.25.12 (prose); 114.5 (prose); 159.12 ff.; 189.1 ff.; iii.91.7; 262.8; LV 94.13; 95.10; 123.8; 210.3 ff.; 228.17 ff.; 237.18; Divy 391.22; sent with Kālodāyin by Śuddhodana as messenger to Buddha after his enlightenment, Mv ii.233. 11 ff.

(= Pali chandāraha, see esp. Vin. i.318.11, one who has the right to a valid vote) ca chandenānītā bhavanti (are agreed in consenting) MSV ii.210.3; (3) n. of Buddha's charioteer, oftener called Chandaka (4), q.v.: LV 133.6; Divy 391.24; both times in vss, the -ka possibly dropped m.c., cf. § 22.24 (note that Chandaka is the form used in prose two lines before in Divy); but in MSV iii.28.8 ff. (prose) also Chanda, = Pali Channa, assumed in DPPN to be this same person; here as in Vin. ii.21.7 ff. subjected to utkṣepaṇīya; MPS 29.15; the corresponding name in Pali is Channa; (4) n. of one of the ṣaḍvārgika moṅks: Mvy 9474.

Chandaka-nivartana, nt. (see prec.), n. of a caitya built on the spot where Chandaka left the Bodhisattva as he gave up worldly life: LV 225.13.

chanda-yācaka, adj. with bhikṣu, monk begging for the chandaka (-bhikṣaṇa), q.v.: MSV i.62.1, 2, 4 °kā (bhikṣavaḥ).

chandasvinī (from Skt. chandas plus -vin; sc. vidyā?), metrics, versification: LV 156.19 °vinyām (prose); so nearly all mss., v.l. chandasi nyāya-; . . . bodhisattva eva viśīyate sma); Tib. tshig (word) sdeb pa (combining; also to make poetry, to compose verses, Jā.).

chandārhin, m. (= Pali chandāraha), see s.v. chanda (2).

chandika (from chanda plus -ika; = Pali id., not well defined PTSD, cf. CPD a-chandika), desirous, with instr., inf., at end of cpds., or without complement: parasmai cārthikāya chandikāya kulaputrāya . . . yācamānāya Asp 102.19; chandiko bhaviṣyati . . . lekhaṇitum Śikṣ 49.15; (buddhagūṇebhiḥ) Śikṣ 342.20 (vs); bhūyaś-chandika, desiring more, greedy, Mv 2211; °ka-tā, abstr., in tīvra-cch° KP 155.6, kuśala- 8.

channa-daśa, adj., (garment) with hidden fringe or border, forbidden to monks: MSV ii.95.7, 13; prob. corruption for Pali accinnadasa, in corresp. passage Vin. i.306.25; see -daśaka.

chambati (= Pali chambhati, perhaps to be read here; derivs. of this root are spelled with b, not bh, in this text; see also sa-cchambhita; cf. the next entries, and (ac)chambhin, (ac)chambhita(tva)), is frightened: bi-bhety api chambaty apy uttrasaty api, Dhvajāgrasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, p. 49, line 23. The MIndic chambhati is clearly based on Skt. skambh-; BHS (rarely) uses the equivalent stambh- in the same sense, see a-stambhin.

chambhita-tva, nt. (= chambh°, see prec.), state of being frightened: Dhvajāgrasūtra (as prec.), 47.6, 16, 24.

chambhin, adj. (= chambhin, see prec.), frightened: Dhvajāgrasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, p. 49, line 22.

chambhita, adj. (ppp., cf. prec. entries and next, also acchambhita; Pali id., for Skt. *skambhita = BHS stambh-, § 2.18, cf. a-stambhin), frightened: °to Mv ii.357.8.

chambhitatva, nt. (= Pali °tatta; cf. prec. entries), consternation: SP 63.5; Gv 159.24; 166.5; Dbh 12.23; Dbh.g. 2(338).11, 13.

chambhin, see chambhin and acchambhin, and cf. astambhin.

[chayika, read chāyika, q.v.]

[challa, text in Mv ii.125.8 kola-challam pi āhāram āharanti; so one ms., but v.l. kolaṃ curṇṇa, which clearly points to kola-cūrṇam = Pali kola-cuṇṇam, MN i.80.3 in a closely parallel passage; so read; powder of jujube-berries. Senart assumes a m. or nt. equivalent of challi, bark (Pali, late and lex. Skt., see Schmidt, Nachträge.)] chava, adj. (also śava, q.v.; Pali chava, homonymous with chava = Skt. śava, corpse, and perhaps ultimately the same word, cf. Senart, Mv i.583), base, vile, wretched: śūrām sāhasikām chavām (acc. pl.) Mv i.278.10; pattrāhāro chavāvāsī Mv iii.435.22, having a wretched dwelling.

chavi (= Skt., Pali id., skin), bark (of a tree): kovidārasya chavigandhaḥ Gv 501.11 (prose). Acc. to the English of Ratnach., chavi may have this mg. in AMg.; this is a translation of Hindi chāl, which seems to mean both skin and bark; whether the AMg. word also means bark I do not know.

chāgalaka, adj. (to Skt. °la), of a goat: °ka ḍṛti, goatskin bag, MPS 7.5.

(chāta, adj., thin; occurs, tho rarely, in Skt., as well as Pkt. chāa, cf. Deśin. 3.33, with comm.; Pischel 328; Schmidt, Nachträge; acc. to Pischel, Pali chāta, Pkt. chāa, hungry, is an unrelated word, from *psāta, while our chāta is from *kṣāta; this theory seems speculative. In Mv i.147.2 = 203.17 = ii.7.13 (vs) Senart em. cāpodare, but read chātodare with all mss. in first and third citations (in second nābhodare); cf. chātodarī in comm. to Deśin., above; also Jm 3.8 kṣudhā chātatarodarīm.)

[chātraka, nt., see chattraka.]

-chāda, ifc. (cf. Skt. chādana etc.; this stem seems not recorded anywhere), cover, protection: tad rājyaṃ dharmachādaṃ (with dharma as its protection) prādāt Gv 416.19 (prose).

(chādayati, Skt., (1) covers: in Mv iii.55.4, text, kuñjaraṃ pi so . . . ṣaṣṭihāyaṃ balaśaktikāye chādita-vyaṃ manyeya, yo me . . . ṣaḍ vābhijñā balaṃ (so mss.) vaśībhāvaṃ chādayitavyaṃ manyeyā (the last part, from yo . . ., repeated 6-7, 8, 9-10). For the first chādita-vyaṃ, Senart thinks a form of chādḍeti must be read; but the Pali parallel SN ii.222.10 reads tālapattikāya chādetabbaṃ, (an elephant) to be covered with a palm-leaf, which proves chādita-vyaṃ correct. Perhaps read before it (with the Pali) tāla-pattikāye; possibly, however, tāla-śaktikāye (closer to our mss.), with an upheld arm or hand, see s.v. talaśaktikā. (2) protects, helps, saves (cf. pw s.v. 6, schützen): in LV 168.8 (vs) read, kṛpakaruṇā janiyā atiraude chādītu so bho (so best ms. A; all other mss. and Calc. śobhe, which is uninterpretable), (by you) taking pity and compassion on your very cruel (foe), he, lol was protected (helped). So Tib. seems clearly to read; it ends, de ni (that very one) khyod kyis (by you) bskyabs (protect, help).

chāya, m., and chāyā (see also duśchāya, °yā, mahāchāyā), a kind of evil supernatural being, acc. to Tib. on Mvy 4763 chāyā = grib gnon, harpy, a demon that defiles and poisons food; fem. also Mmk 17.8; Māy 219.10, etc.; masc., na chāyaḥ chāyasamatiye sthānam Māy 226.24.

chāyika, nt., or °kā, f. (cf. Pali chārikā; AMg. chāria, °ya, nt., and °yā; no form with y for r recorded), ashes: chāyikam (so Index; text, also Mironov, chayikam; short a seems clearly an error) api na prajñāyate Mvy 5255 (Tib. thal ba, dust, ashes; follows maśir, or maśir, q.v., api . . .); (na maśir) na chāyikā prajñāyate Śikṣ 246.10; in Mv ii.325.9 (vs) read, substantially with mss., na . . . maśī (mss. add va; read vā? or na?) chāyikā (mss. chā-ikā, or chāyi; Senart em. chārikām) vā (the first part of the line is corrupt but Senart's em. cannot be right; the negative was clearly present); one of four vikṛta-bhojana, MSV i.286.8, 9 chāyikā. See also jambū-chāyaka.

-chīṭi (acc. sg. °ṭim), in kāñjikacchīṭim, an inferior kind of sour gruel (kāñjika): Divy 496.9, 11, 12. Replaced by simple kāñjikam in lines 15, 21, 26.

? Chitvāsuta (Oldenburg suggests reading Chibbāsuta; I find no trace of anything like either), n. of a nāga; Māy 221.22.

chidrāchidra (nt.; § 23.12), all manner of holes: (na svapet) chidrāchidreṣu sattvānām yac ca sthānam mahadbhayaḥ (Śikṣ mahābh°) Lañk 257.1, cited Śikṣ 132.7 (one should not sleep) in all manner of holes of creatures (animals), and (not in) whatever is a place of great danger. Both translations are incorrect.

chidrikarāṇa (nt.; to next), in a-cchid°, the (not) making defective: °raṇāvīpādanatayā (i. e. -avīpād°) Bbh 187.14.

chidrikaroti (cf. prec. and next; to Skt. chidra with kr-), makes defective: -samādānam na chidrikaroti (bodhi-sattvaḥ) Bbh 183.24.

chidrikāra (m.; to prec.) = °karāṇa; in cpd., Bbh 162.19.

chinna, adj. (ppp.; not recorded in this sense), wearied; in strī-, bhāra-, mārga-chinna, Mvy 8793-5; MSV iv.68.13-14; Tib. dub pa.

chinna-bhakta, adj. (Bhvr.; = Pali °bhatta), or °taka, with food cut off, fasting, not having eaten: brāhmaṇāś cūi iabhakto (having had no breakfast) haḥalam vāhayati Divy 461.13; (same phrase, °ktako) MSV i.68.20. See also bhakta-chinnaka.

chinna-vārṣika, one who has fallen away from observance of the rainy season: Mvy 9425 (Tib. dbyar gnas pa las ṅams pa); also varṣā-chinnaka (spelled varṣacchi°) MSV ii.154.12; 157.13.

chuṭi, see next.

chuṭa, adj. or subst. nt. (also chuṭi; cf. Skt. root chuṭ-; perh. read chuṭṭha? cf. Ap. chuṭṭha, Jacobi, Bhav., Glossar, said to = kṣipta, to chuḥai, which prob. = Skt. kṣubh-), seems to mean (what has been) injured: -stūpeṣu ca khaṇḍa-chuṭṭam (Tib. ral ba dan ḥdrams pa, what is damaged and injured, cf. ḥgrams pa, to hurt, Jā.) pratisam-skartavyam MSV ii.143.12; khaṇḍa-chuṭyā pratisamskaraṇārtham MSV iv.136.10. In parallels sphuṭa (q.v., 2); read so?

cheka, adj. (Jain Skt. and Pali, clever; also Pali good, Jāt. v.366.27, comm. sundara, opp. pāpaka, of odors), good, proper, seemingly: na chekaṃ na pratirūpaṃ MSV iii.96.15.

cheda (= chedya, q.v.), a martial art: chede vā bhede vā Mv ii.74.1.

chedaka, m. (only pl. in list of misc. artisans), perh.

cutler (of wood? quite uncertain): Mv iii.113.17 nāpitā (v.l. nāvīkā) kalpikā chedakā (v.l. chedakārakā) lepakā sthapatī-; Senart by em. also in iii.443.4 (nāpitā, v.l. nāvīkā) kalpikā (mss. °akā) che° (but mss. chādakā) lepakā sthapatī-. On adv. kavaḍa-chedakam, see s.v.

chedya, nt. (also cheda; in this sense not recorded; Pali has chejja-bhejja-, Jāt. v.444.22, and chejjā, fem., alone, Vin. iii.47.7, only as forms of punishment; PTSD inaccurate), always associated with bhedya; both in lists of military arts, usually as mastered by the young Bodhisattva or another young prince; precise mg. is never made clear; Tib. on Mvy and on LV renders chedya by bcad pa, cutting, and bhedya by dral ba, splitting, tearing asunder: chedyam Mvy 4988, bhedyam 4989; otherwise only in loc., usually listed with other martial arts, chedye and bhedye, LV 156.12 and Mv ii.74.1-2 (here Mv chede, bhede, and so v.l. elsewhere in Mv; the young Bodhisattva challenges other Śākya youths to test their skill in such arts); Mv i.129.5; ii.423.17; 434.13; Divy 100.11; 442.7.

choraṇa (to next), (1) discharge, expulsion, of impurities: kheṭa-cchoraṇe (of phlegm) Mmk 113.7; pūti-ib. 14; (2) abandonment: (yatra na kasyacid dharmasya) choraṇam asti ŚsP 1409.16.

chorayati, rarely (Mv iii.20.2) choḍ° (cf. prec.; not in Pali; AMg. and JM. ppp. choḍi(ya), discharged, released; Hindi chorṇā, let go, release, abandon, etc., see Turner, Nep. Dict. s.v. chorṇu), (1) clears away, removes: (withered flowers from caityas) choreṭva jālam (see jāla) jinacetiyeṣu Mv ii.391.22; 392.4, 8, 12, 16, 20 (vss); same passages Śikṣ 306.2, 4 choritva, but 6, 8, 10 apaniya (ms.; wrongly em. to upa° in ed.); Tib. cited by Bendall as bsal ba, which can only mean remove, clear away; immediately following verses deal unambiguously with meritorious clearing away of withered flowers, and in Mv ii.394.6, 10 choreṭva is again used, with objects osannapuspam and nirmālyam; Senart and Bendall misunderstand; pātrādhiṣṭhānam chorayitavyam MSV iii.98.3-4, he must put away the (food-) bowl-stand; (2) throws away (refuse, food-leavings, dirty water, etc.): chorayisyāmaḥ Mvy 8595 = Prāt 534.13 (water with which the food bowl has been washed); Mvy 8596 (leavings of food); ekānte chorayitvā (id.; text sthor°) Mmk 107.27; chorito (food regarded as unclean) Divy 86.23; annapānam choryate Divy 84.21; ucchiṣṭodakam choritam 185.28; tad (foul stuff) ekānte chorayitvā Av i.255.7; chorayitvā (a dead body) Divy 166.1; sapta parvatā utpātītā, utpāṭayitvā laghunivānyapradeśe chorayitvā Kv 31.24, having plucked up and thrown away; with gen., tasya pātraśeṣam °yanti MSV i.5.14, threw to that (ape) what (food) was left in their bowls; (3) discharges (bodily discharges): chorayisyāmaḥ (°mi; not in an improper place) Mvy 8627-28; emils (a sigh), ucchvāsam choritam Kv 57.15, 16; (4) casts off, puts aside, lays down (garments, ornaments): vastrāṇy ābharāṇāni ca prthivyām chorayanti sma LV 321.2; mukuṭam . . . chorayitvā LV 135.11 (vs), (Suddhodana) laying off his diadem (etc., in saluting the Bodhisattva); (5) abandons, leaves (a place): choritva kṣetrāṇi svaka-svakāni SP 251.5 (vs), leaving their several (Buddha-) fields (they have come here; misunderstood by Burnouf and Kern); kva tvam gato 'si mama śayi chorayitvā LV 230.18 (vs; Gopā apostrophizes the Bodhisattva), abandoning my bed; (6) abandons, gives up: rājyam ca rāṣṭram ca chorayitvā Mv ii.483.3 = iii.18.6 (vs); choritā (? precise mg. uncertain from lack of context) Mvy 2553; gives away (in largess), patakāś choritāḥ MSV ii.107.2; (7) abandons, deserts (a person): tam (sc. rājānam) choḍitvā (v.l. choḍayitvā) Mv iii.20.2 (prose); choritāḥ (a man) Divy 6.6; 334.22; chorayantu (a woman, in a cemetery, after cutting off her hands, feet, ears, and nose) Divy 353.23; sa tam ekānte prakramya (read prakrāmya?

jaḅadvyūhagarbha, nt., n. of a kind of magic gem: °bham nāma mahāmaniratnaḃ Gv 499.9.

Jaga(n)mantrasāgaranirghoṣamati, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.21 (vs).

Jaganmitra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.25.

jaḅgalamā, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.24.

jaḅgala, m. (Skt. Lex. and Pali id., acc. to PTSD nt., which its citations do not prove; jaḅgalāni Jāt. iv.71.1 is an adj.), wild place, jungle: khānayet kūpa jaḅgale SP 235.11 (vs); ujjāḅgalo ca jaḅgalo Mv ii.207.5, 8 (treated as n. pr. by Senart, Index).

Jaḅghā, n. of a (tantalizing) state of preta-existence: Śikṣ 57.6.

Jaḅghā-kāśyapa, n. of a monk: MSV i.204.18 ff.; Karmav. 76.3. Neither the name, nor the story told of him, seems to be associated with any of the Pali Kassapas.

jaḅghā-preṣaṇa, nt. (cf. Pali °pesanika, °nika, running errands on foot), 'foot-errand', the sending (someone) on foot on an errand: nāsti taḅ jaḅghāpreṣaṇaḃ yan not-sahate Śikṣ 37.1.

jaḅghā-vihāra (m.; = Pali id., 'usually in phrase °ram anucaḅkamati anuvicarati', PTSD), walk, stroll (on foot): °ram anucaḅkramyamāḅo LV 248.7; °ram anukrāmati Divy 471.8.

jaḅā-karaṇa-karman, nt., the ceremony of clipping a young boy's hair except for the top-knot: (Rāhulasya) °karma Mv iii.263.16; = Skt. cūḅākarāṇa, which replaces this as exact synonym in line 18 below.

Jaḅāpura, n. of a town: Māy 77.

Jaḅātmadhara, n. of a śreṣṭhin and medical authority: Suv 175.1 ff.; 199.10 ff.

Jaḅālikā, n. of a village chief's daughter: LV 265.6.

Jaḅhara, n. of a local ruler (pradeśarājan), previous incarnation of Devadatta: Mv i.128.14.

jaḅa = Skt. jala, water: LV 372.15 (all mss., both edd.).

jaḅuvāra (var. °pāra), some sort of herb: Mvy 5814 = Tib. zur ba (not recorded in Dictt.).

jatu-yantira, loc. °tre, lit. lac-machine, n. of some art, in a list of those in which the Bodhisattva excelled; so read in LV 156.22, for Lefm. jala-yantire; mss. vary, A (the best) cited as janu- (read jatu-y°); Calc. jatu°, confirmed by Tib. rgya skyegs kyi ḅkhrul ḅkhor, machine of lac. The precise mg. is obscure to me; in corresponding lists of arts I have found nothing similar, unless jantunā Mv i.129.9 (in a corrupt and obscure line, included in a passage-of similar tenor) conceals jantunā, instr. of jatu.

? jatya, perh. by error for a-jatya, itself either error, or with MIndic a for ā, for Skt. a-jātya (= Pali a-jacca); or else (perhaps more likely) error for a-janya, q.v.; ignoble (person): (na mleccheṣu na pāpakuleṣu naurabhrikeṣu [text noratrikeṣu] na kaukkuṭikeṣu na jatyeṣu pratyāḅayante Kv 42.10.

(jana, (1) or janā (birth, Skt. Gr., BR s.v.; also cf. ajana, evidently unborn, BR 7.1689), kṛta tvayi hitakara bahuguna janato (abl., from birth) LV 165.1 (vs), so text; but Tib. ḅgro la, evidently based on jagato, to (for) the world, dependent on hitakara; (2) strange, foreign, subst. stranger, Saundarānanda xv.31, and cf. jani-bhavati, becomes a stranger, Buddhacarita vi.9; acc. to Johnston on Saund., jana in this sense is 'common in Buddhist Skt.', but I have not noted it. Cf. however jana, m., fremdes Volk, . . . Land, pw 7.342.)

jana-kāya, see s.v. kāya.

Janakṣetriya (mss., Senart em. °kṣatriya), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.7.

Jananī (otherwise only mother), woman (Johnston's note compares māṭṛgrāma, q.v.): na samraraṅje viṣamaḃ jananyām, Buddhacarita ii.34, loved no woman wrongly.

-jananiya, adj. ifc. (cf. § 22.20; to Skt. janana, f. janani), productive of . . . , producing: samvega-jananiyā kathā Gv 307.24 (prose); cf. Pali samvega-janani (desanā) Pv. comm. p. 1 verse 6.

Janapada-kalyāṅī (= Pali id.; Mironov and pw 7.342 with var. °ḅam, disproved by Tib. and Pali), beauty (beautiful woman) of the country: Mvy 7630 = Tib. yul gyi bzaḅ mo (fem. suffix mo!); °nyā striyā sārḅham paricaret Śikṣ 252.3; °ḅiḃ MSV i.136.4 (= Divy 444.10, text °ḅam).

Janapadi, m. (to janapada; representing stem °padin?), countryman, man of the country: manuṣyā mahāmanuṣyā janapadayo mahājanapadayaḅ Mmk 17.14 (prose), in long list of beings of all sorts.

Janayati (like upajanayati, q.v.) is used in BHS in the mg. conceive (lit. produce) a feeling or notion, in oneself; this seems to Senart, n. on Mv i.47.1, different enough from Skt. usage to record: Mv i.47.1 naiva tāva janayanti mānasam agrapudgalagataḃ; SP 12.6 (vs) harṣam janitvā (metr. bad).

Janayitrī (Skt. Lex. and once cited from Rājat.; = janetrī, janetukā, qq.v., and Pali janettī; the regular Skt. is janitrī), generatrix, mother: māṭṛbhūtāni kalyāṅamitrāni buddhakuleṣu janayitrī Gv 463.11 (prose), good friends are like mothers as causing birth in Buddha-families (°trī for °trīḅ = °trayah, n. pl.? or n. sg., ad sensum, since each one causes . . . ? followed by daṅḅa, which is followed by p-); janayitrībhūtam sarvasattvānām Gv 494.11 (prose); yena svamātā janayitrī (but most mss. janetrī; the mother that bore them) . . . añjalim praḅhya janayitrim etad avocatām SP 458.7 (prose); also in SP 462.2 (prose) svamātaram janayitrim, but several mss. janetrim; etc.

Janārdana, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.30.

Janitā (or °ta?), sg. or pl., = Skt. janatā, people: daśakuṣālī janitā (Calc. °tāḅ) thapitā te brahmapatheṣu LV 169.11 (vs); tvayi purimā janitā (here Calc. janatā) ima drṣṭvā drṣṭivipannā 169.17 (vs); in both Tib. skye bo = man, men, people. The mg. seems clearly that of janatā, but no ms. seems to read so. No record of such a form elsewhere; cf. Skt. jani, birth, life.

Janitravatī (unrecorded; seems superficially based on Skt. janitra, Pali janitta, plus -vant, -vati; but corresponds in usage to janita-vatī, periphrastic perf. act. pple. to janayati; perhaps read so?), periphrastic verb-substitute, janetukā (semi-MIndic for *janayitṛkā = janetṛī, janayitṛī; § 3.92), generatrix, mother; associated with mātār, as are janayitṛī, janetṛī: mā eṣa mātūr hi janetukāya (or °ye; v.l. also °yaṃ; Nobel em. °yāḥ) Suv 238.1 (vs).

(I) have given birth to: (ihaiva tāvad ahaṃ . . .) siddhārtham bodhisattvaṃ jan° Gv 439.2 (prose); Māyā speaks, right here I gave birth to . . .

Janīsuta, n. of a (virtuous) son of Māra: Mv ii.337.2; 408.10 (prose; here mss. jana°, janaṃ°); 410.2 (vs).

janetṛī (= prec. and janayitṛī, q.v.; Pali janetṛī), mother: janetṛī-sampannāś ca bhavanti samyaksambuddhā Mv i.142.7; jina-janetṛī i.149.13 = 217.1 = ii.19.15 (vs); pūrva-janetṛī, mother in a former birth, ii.205.3 (vs); jātiśatāni janetṛī abhūsi 205.9 (vs); purimabhavajanetṛī bhavanighāti 206.15 (vs, so read with mss.); Gv 37.15; 355.5; 381.5 (Vairocanasya janetṛy evam . . .); LV 82.22; 98.8 (atitānām . . . bodhisattvānām . . .) janetṛyaḥ; tasya mātā janetṛī Gv 354.23, the mother that bore him (similarly s.v. janayitṛī); etc. All these prose except as marked vs.

janta (nt.; also written jantra, as well as yanta; Pkt. or semi-Pkt. for Skt. yantra), machine: Mv ii.475.6 ff., 476.1, 5, in cpds. janta-kāra and janta-māṣṭa(ka), see the latter. The mss. read prevailingly janta or jantra; Senart usually j-, but sometimes y- even against both mss.

? jantāka (m. or nt.) is read once or twice in Av (i.286.9, 10, see Speyer's note on i.286.8) for jentāka, see s.v. jenta; and jamdāka(-snātra) is written in one of the Niya documents, see Rapson and Noble, Kharoṣṭhī Inscriptions (Stein collection), vol. 3, p. 321, where it is suggested that jantāka be adopted in Av; but Av i.286.8 has je-, supporting Mvy and Karmav.

janṭita (cf. janta), Pkt. = Skt. yantrita, q.v.: LV 372.15.

jantu-, in Divy 418.1 jantu-grhaṃ praveṣayitvā dagdhā (Tiṣyarakṣitā); note conjectures jatu-, lac. But cf. Pali jantu, Vin. i.196.6, a kind of grass used for making coverlets (corresponds to Divy 19.22 janduraka; see s.v. eraka); a house made of jantu-grass would make possible sense.

Jantukarṇa, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical school: Divy 635.18. Perhaps read Jātu°, q.v.

jantra, see janta.

janduraka, m., a kind of coverlet: Divy 19.22; corresponds to syandaraka (v.l. Mironov syandu°) Mvy 9182, and apparently to Pali jantu, thus supporting j- rather than sy-; see s.v. eraka.

Janmacitra, Divy 436.29 ff.; MSV i.124.5; or °traka, Divy 435.11; 436.19 ff., n. of a serpent-demon (nāga; not 'elephant' with N. Dutt, Intro. to MSV i p. 16).

janman (for closest approach to this mg. which I have found, see BR s.v. 11), circumstance, condition, case; iha janmani, in this case, under these circumstances: Mmk 56.18 meha janmani avandhyā me mantrasiddhiḥ; 56.29 iha janmani (Tib. skabs der = en ce cas, Lalou, Iconographie, 21) samhartavyaḥ (see samharatī). See also bodhisattva-janman.

janmanideśa, n. of the eighth (Bodhisattva) bhūmi, in the (isolated) formulation of Mv i.76.17.

janmabhūmika, adj. (to Skt. janmabhūmi plus -ka, or -ika), belonging to one's native land: °kānām manuṣyānām anugrahāya Gv 456.20; °kais ca babubhir jñātisambandhibhir 479.19; °kānām (text °makānām, certainly corruption for °mi°) ca manuṣyānām 525.17. All prose.

janmika, ifc. (janman plus -ika), in varṣa-janmika, born in the rainy season? or, more likely, taking this as irregular cpd. (§ 23.9) with prec. yāvat-triṇi, up-to-three-years old? in Mmk 49.(12)-13 (yāvat triṇi) °mikam pañcācīrakopaśobhitam . . . rājaputraṃ . . . kṣatriyaputraṃ vā . . . praveṣayet. See also eka-janmika, paurna-j°. jampatī, dual (= Skt. Gr. and Lex. id.; not in Pali or Pkt.), husband and wife: Mvy 3905; = Skt. dampatī, which follows it in Mvy.

jambu-kāñcana, jambū°, prob. to be read, with two mss. in first passage, for jambu° in LV 122.15 ekā kākīni jambu-kāñcana bhavati upahatā, and 17 jāmbūkāñcanasamñibhā punar bhavet sakara iya mahī (both vss); the mg. seems evidently gold from the Jambu river, and it is hard to believe that ā in the first syllable is anything but a corruption (if an adjectival form, it should be jāmbava; the ā of jāmbunada, jāmbū°, is justified because that is derived from °nadī with suffix -a).

jambuḍa, m. or nt. (Deśin. 3.41 jambuḍam = madya-bhājanam; see next, and jāmbuḍī), a liquor-vessel: dhyātvā jambuḍa-māmsa-pañcapiṣitair madyaṃ sapañcāmṛtaṃ . . . dadyād balim Sādh 588.17 (vs).

jambuḍikā = prec., q.v.: māmsa-jambuḍikā-madya-puṣpa-dhūpa-vilepanam . . . sṛjed balim Sādh 583.12 (vs).

jambudvīpaka, in Av ii.91.1 jambū°, adj., pl., (people) of Jambudvīpa: °kā akarā abhūvan Divy 316.9, with ellipsis of manuṣyāḥ, which in the rest is always found expressed; Divy 317.1 ff.; 335.21; Av ii.91.1 (jambū°); Karmav 36.5; Gv 352.22; 504.6. Also jāmbu°, jāmbū°, qq.v.

Jambudhvaja, m. (1) = Jambudvīpa, n. for India; only in vss: LV 12.7; 13.3; 29.9; 94.7; Gv 336.10 et alibi; (2) n. of a group of former Buddhas: Mv i.58.13; 62.3; (3) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3359.

jambūkāñcana, see jambu°.

jambū-chāyaka or °ika, f. °ikā, adj., having the color of the rose-apple (?), ep. of poles (yaṣṭi): MSV ii.142.2.

jambūdīvīpaka, see jambu°.

Jambūdīvīpaśīrṣa, nt., 'tip of India', = Milaspha-ṛaṇa, q.v.: Gv 83.20 (here printed Jāmbū°); 84.16.

jambūnada (nt.; = Pali jambu°, Skt. jāmbū°; § 3.32), gold: jambūnadārcisadrṣaṃ (all mss.) LV 134.11 (vs).

Jambūnadaprabhāsavatī, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 80.25.

jambūlikā, presumably = Skt. jambūla, Pandanus odoratissimus: (rañḍām) māṣa-jambūlikā-homena (. . . vaṣyām karoti) Mmk 287.22; rañḍāvaśīkaraṇe māṣa-jambūlikāṃ juhuyāt 707.18. Both prose.

Jambhaka, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 74. Perhaps to be identified with one of the demoniac beings so named in Skt. (BR); and cf. next.

Jambhala (cf. prec. and next), n. of a supernatural being, a yakṣa acc. to Mmk 549.23; 607.1; 648.6 (yakṣa-rāt); cf. Sādh 421.7 °la-rūpam atmānaṃ dhyātvā; in Mvy 4331 rendered by Tib. rmugs hdzin, which Das renders by jalendra (cf. next), 'the chief of waters,' the sea . . .

Jambhala-jalendra (see Mvy 4331 under prec.), °dra-nāmā yakṣarūpī bodhisattvo Mmk 45.20; doubtless the same as Jambhala.

jambhi, m. or f., palate: °iḥ Mvy 3954; so acc. to Tib. thag ḥgram, see Das, who gives Skt. as jimbha (a different word; see Sheth s.v., and BR s.v. jimbha-jihvatā); occurs in a list of bodily parts, after hanu, śaṅkha, and before danta, tālu, oṣṭha; pw 7.343 suggests reading jambha.

[jambhīra, var. for jambīra, nt., Mvy 5808; but Mironov jambīra, m., without v.l.; = Skt. jambīra and Lex. jambhīra, citron (m. the tree, nt. the fruit).]

jaya, (1) nt. (otherwise recorded only as m.), victory: yadi no jayaṃ syāt LV 304.14 (vs); no v.l.; (2) m., n. of a youth, previous incarnation of Aśoka: Divy 366.7, 9.

Jayamgama, m., n. of a kalpa: Gv 447.5.

Jayadatta, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 724; ŚsP 37.8.

Jayanta (see also Jenta), n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.238.9 f.

Jayantadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.1.

Jayantī (see also Jentī), n. of a devakumārīkā in the eastern quarter: LV 388.9; and so Senart in Mv iii.306.8, but his defective mss. lack it.

jaya-patākā, trophy for the winner in a contest, in fig. use: (Gopā nāma Śākyakanyā) °kā sthāpitābhūt LV 144.8.

Jayaprabha, n. of a king: Gv 352.24. A previous incarnation of Satyaka, q.v., the 'great debater': 358.26.

Jayamati, n. of a Bodhisattva, perhaps of several different ones: Mvy 682; RP 2.1; in Śikṣ 6.16, one who was punished for disbelief in śūnyatā.

Jayamitra, n. of a future Buddha: Mv iii.330.10.

Jayaśrī, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 3.22.

Jayā, n. of one of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhaginī: Mmk 537.7; 539.7, et alibi; prob. the same, a yakṣiṇī, Mmk 573.14; 574.4.

Jayoṭtama, n. of a merchant (śreṣṭhin): Gv 189.1 ff.

Jayoṣṇīṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇīṣa-rājānaḥ (see uṣṇīṣa 3): Mmk 41.11.

Jayoṣmāyatana, n. of a brahman: Gv 115.1; 116.4 ff.; 158.2. Cf. next.

(ārya-) Jayoṣmāyanavimokṣa, n. of a section of Gv (viz. 115 ff.): Śikṣ 2.3. Cf. prec.

[jara, m., old age, instead of jarā, f., according to text LV 175.4 (vs) tatha ojaharo ahu vyādhi jaro; so all mss. acc. to Lefm.; but citation Śikṣ 206.2 has jage for jaro, and is supported by Tib. ḥgro baḥi (in transl. of LV); jage is surely right; jaro is carried over from 174.16–175.2 where jarā occurs repeatedly. Tib. on LV also supports Śikṣ ayu instead of LV text ahu, reading ḥdi.]

Jalaḡarbhā, n. of a son of Jalavāhana: Suv 183.10; 188.10; 200.11.

jala-dardaraka, nt. (cf. dardaraka, and Skt. jala-dardura), a musical instrument playable in the water: °rake, loc., Mv ii.97.13–14; °rakāni (so) ii.109.9.

jaladhara (in Skt. cloud, and Lex. ocean; in Pali ocean, Milp. 117.31), ocean, appears in Pkt. form, and with ā m.c. for a, as jalāhara, in LV 175.11 (vs; cited Śikṣ 206.9) maraṇo (Śikṣ °nam) grasate bahuprāṇīsatam (Śikṣ °tān) makareva jalāhari bhūtagaṇam (Śikṣ °ro va jalākari bhūtagaṇān); the meaning ocean, which alone fits the context, is confirmed by Tib. rgya mtshoḥi. The form is loc. sg., for jala-dhare.

Jaladharaḡarjitaḡhoṣasusvaranakṣatrarājasam-kusumitābhijñā, n. of a former Buddha: SP 457.3 ff.

Jalapatha, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 450.10; 455.28.

Jalabindu, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 4.2.

[jala-yantra, read jatu°, q.v. But in MSV iii.16.10 occurs jala-yantraka, lit. water-machine, something used in water-play with women; Tib. chu (water) la spal paḥi skad ḥbyin (?).]

Jalavāhana, n. of a son of the śreṣṭhin Jatimdhara: Suv 175.4 ff.; 182.14 ff. (= the Bodhisattva, 200.3–5).

jalahara, ocean, see jaladhara.

Jalā, n. of a princess: Mv i.348.13.

Jalāgamā, n. of a river: Suv 187.1; 188.11.

Jalāmbara, n. of a son of Jalavāhana: Suv 183.9; 188.9; 190.6 ff.; 200.10.

Jalāmbuḡarbhā, n. of the wife of Jalavāhana: Suv 183.7 f.; 200.7.

jalāhara, m.c. for jaladhara, which is Prakritic for jaladhara, q.v.: LV 175.11.

Jalī, n. of a princess: Mv i.348.13.

jalūka, m. (= °kā, f., Skt. Lex., and AMg. jalūgā), leech: Mvy 4855 (so also Mironov).

Jalūkā-vana-ṣaṇḍa, n. of a grove at Pāpā where Buddha once stayed: MSV i.282.2, 7.

jalūṣita, read °tā with Kashgar rec. SP 85.9 (vs) for ed. samlūṣitā (most Nep. mss. samtūṣitā), burnt with flames (for jvaloṣitā, prob. for jvāl°); confirmed by Tib. tshig par hgyur. WT em. jvālūṣitā; but cf. § 4.31.

Jaleniprabha (!), n. of a Buddha in the north: Sukh 98.1.

jalpa, m., or better jalpā (= Pali jappā, desire), desire: in Mv iii.284.19 (vs) mss. sarvām prahāya bhavalobhajalpam, not to be emended; same vs in Pali SN i.123.8 chetvāna (v.l. hitvāna) sabbam bhavalobhajappam. It is tempting to interpret in the same way such passages as Laṅk 186.8, 9 (vss) jalpaprapañcābhiratā hi bālās . . . jalpo hi traidhātukaduḡkḡhayonis, fools delight in jalpa and idle fancies (? see prapañca) . . . for jalpa is the source of the misery of the universe. This seems more naturally to mean desire than (idle) talk; but acc. to Suzuki's Index Tib. (smra ba) supports the latter; this might however only mean that Tib. knew the regular Skt. jalpa and had lost the tradition of the old word represented by Pali jappā.

? jalla, nt. (Pali id.), dirt or dirty moisture; perh. represented by (rajo-) jala (q.v.; 1 for ll m.c.?).

? javina, adj. (if correct, a-extension of Skt. javin; cf. § 10.3; Sheth cites Pkt. javiṇa beside javi), swift: so all Nep. mss. in SP 104.1 (prose) for Kashgar rec. and both edd. javanān (puruṣān sampreṣayet).

-jaha, adj., f. -jahā, ifc. (to jahati, § 28.9, = Skt. jahāti; = Pali id.; cf. Skt. Gr. śardham-jaha, interesting as a vulgar word evidently borrowed from a MIndic dialect), abandoning, giving up: punarukta-doṣa-jahā Mvy 475, said of Buddha's speech: Rati(m)jaha, see s.v.; kileṣa-jahaḡ LV 46.3 (vs); sarvaḡmahaḡ Ud xxi.1 (v.l. sarvaj°; = Pali sabbamjaho, Dh. 353). In Śikṣ 273.1 text jahā (of śūnyatā), but Tib. bem po = jaḡā, which read (transl. 249 note 3). Cf. next, and see s.v. raṇa(m)jaha.

-jahana, f. °nī, adj. ifc. (see under prec.; this form not recorded elsewhere), abolishing, banishing, getting rid of: Sarvasattvapāpajahana (see s.v.) SP 464.2; ariṣa-trumāra-patha-jahanī KP 154.3, kutīrthya-tīrtha-jahanī 4, (a)-satkāyadrṣṭim-jahanim 9 (read as cpd.; ed. as separate word).

jahāti, in caus. sense (§ 38.24), removes, abolishes: SP 61.8 (vs) sugatāna ḡhoṣaḡ kāḡkṣam ca ṣokam ca jahāti praṇinām. It seems hardly possible to understand it otherwise; so Tib. bsal = remove, do away (an evil), cure (a disease).

jāgarikā (cf. next; perh. hyper-Skt. to Pali and AMg. jāgariyā, id.), wakefulness, staying awake (as a form of self-discipline): *kā ca saddharma-svādhyāyādīnā kartavyā Sādh 11.11; *kām bhajeta Ud xv.6 (in Pali also with bhajati); yukto jāgarikāsu ca Ud vi.6; *kā-yuktaḥ Bbh 139.24; *kānuyukta-tām 206.4 (in Pali often with anuyutta, and cf. the following); esp. common in jāgarikā-yogam anuyukta, devoted to the discipline of wakefulness: instr. *ktena Mv i.284.2; ii.48.18; iii.145.14; 152.11; 172.17; 265.12; 362.17; *ktāye, fem., iii.48.17; 49.4; n. sg. *ktaḥ Mmk 146.3; n. pl. jāgarya (read °yā? which is recorded in Skt. Gr. and Lex., and prob. underlies Pali and AMg. jāgariyā), = prec.: jāgaryam anuyuktasya Ud xv.8, of one devoted to (the discipline of) wakefulness. There is no metrical reason for shortening ā; °yām would be just as good. I suspect a misprint or error of tradition; prob. jāgaryām should be read.

jāgrta (nt.; § 34.14), waking (state): MPS 10.12 (ms.; ed. em. jāgarita, Skt., Pali).

jāgrāṇa (nt.; = Pali jaggana, °na-tā; from pres. jāgrati, § 28.11, Pali jaggati, plus -ana), waking, being or staying awake: suptā idāni yada jāgrāṇa-deśakālaḥ Mv i.154.15 (vs), asleep now when it is the place and time for being awake.

Jāṅguli, m., n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.30.

jāṅguli, f. (Skt. Lex. id.; JM. jāṅguli, AMg. jāṅgoli, id.), (1) the science and art of curing snake-bites: Śikṣ 142.1 °yām vidyāyām udāhrtāyām, a snake-charm having been recited; but Transl., p. 139, note 3, reads jāṅgulyā, allegedly 'with Tib.' (which is not cited), and renders when the snake charmer recites this spell against poison; there is a stem jāṅguli, m., snake-charmer, Skt. Lex., but this form being fem. would have to be taken as meaning by a female snake-charmer; (2) n. of a goddess: Sādh 177.14 etc.; in 249.5 a personified charm (vidyā) against poison (uttamā viṣanāṣanī).

-jāta (= Pali id.; in Skt. rarely found, if at all, in just this use; cf. BR s.v. 1d, end, where it is not cited after an abstract noun except from LV), after an abstract noun, become characterized by, full of, equivalent to prāpta (note audbilyaprāpta SP 20.7 = audbilyajāta 61.6 full of joy, joyous), or to an adj. based on the abstract; very common in Pali as in BHS; particularly common in both is prīti-saumanasya- (Pali pīti-somanassa-)jāta, full of joy and gladness, SP 60.1; LV 58.5; Mv ii.96.4; 163.20; 237.1; Mvy 2933; Divy 297.15; Suv 9.8, etc.; prīti-prāmodya-j° SP 75.2; LV 395.14; harṣa-j° SP 14.1; praharṣa-j° SP 229.13; prasāda-j° Divy 75.20; kutūhala-j°, interested, curious, Divy 77.25; 466.21; saṃśaya-j°, doubtful, Divy 191.5; vega-j°, excited, LV 232.9, 14; full of haste, nearly = speedily, Mv ii.299.13; vegajātu adade (mss. adaye) tṛṇamuṣṭim Mv ii.399.5 (vs); gaurava-j°, filled with respect, LV 410.1; vipratīṣāra-j°, remorseful, Av i.90.10; saṃtāpa-j°, afflicted, LV 381.1; antaḥśalya-paridāgha-j°, tormented with inner anguish, Mv i.42.3; krodha-j°, angry, Karmav 45.6; sometimes, when prec. part of the cpd. is a concrete noun, may be rendered like (as in Pali): samam pañī-talajātam (buddhakṣetram) SP 202.2 (prose), level, like the palm of the hand. Cf. Aśokan jāta, nt. (Hultzsch 96 n. 5).

jātaka, nt., rarely m., (1) m. pl., experiences in past births, particularly of Bodhisattvas: Bbh 67.17 (sa tena pūrve-nivāsānusrmṭijñānena jātakān pūrvām bodhisattvacaryā-paramādbhutacaryām sattvānām buddhe ... prasādajananārtham... prakāśayati, by this knowledge consisting of remembrance of former births he reveals to creatures, in order to make them well-disposed to the Buddha, his experiences in past births etc.); 397.13 (pūrvenivāsānusrmṭijñānabalena tathāgataḥ pūrvānte itivṛttakāms) ca jātakāms ca smṛtvā... vineyānām deśayati; this usage, which is prob. only a late and secondary extension of the next mg., seems not recorded in Pali; (2) nt., = Pali id., a story of a previous birth of the Buddha, common esp. in colophons to many such stories in Mv, e. g. i.282.13; also as n. of a work or type of literature, sometimes, at least, referring to a specific collection of such stories like the Pali Jāt.: as one of the nine (Mvy twelve) pravacana, gospel texts (Mvy dharmā-pra°), Dharmas 62; Mvy 1275; in a similar list, SP 45.7; Jātaka Śyāmākajātakaprabhṛtiṣu Karmav 50.6, in the Jātaka (collection), in the Śyāmāka (individual) Jātaka and others like it, combining both these mgs. in one phrase; (3) in Mv i.104.13; 105.5, 7; 192.19 taken by Senart in sense 2 above, but I think wrongly; I believe it means nativity in the sense of (astrologically determinable) personality and destiny, as in Skt.; or possibly future birth. This seems to me indicated by adjoining parallel terms, esp. paramata, q.v., which Senart misunderstands: (bodhisattvacaritam ...) jātakā-paramateṣu kovidā (deśayanti ... Iśvarā) Mv i.104.13 (vs; -kā for -ka, m.c.), the Lords (Buddhas), being skilled in nativities (indicating personality and destiny; or, future births) and in the thoughts of others, proclaim the (future!) course of Bodhisattvas ...; (yānimāni) ... jātakāni jinabhāṣitāni imāni kutāpṛabhṛtikāni vijñeyāni (? em.; mss. cihñeyāni) 105.5, answered by: yānimāni ... jātakāni jinabhāṣitāni imām aṣṭamim bhūmim (so some mss.) prapadyanti (v.l. prayanti) 105.7; the mg., as Senart suggests, seems (from -pṛabhṛtikāni) to be that they begin with the 8th bhūmi; but as this passage occurs in a description of the 4th bhūmi, it is future births or destines that are meant. In i.192.19 (vs), after sam-buddhāḥ sarvaparamataḥ viduḥ 18, Buddhas know all the thoughts of others, we read: adhyāsayam parikṣanti jātakā sarvaprañīnam, they perceive the disposition and the destinies (future births) of all living beings.

In any case it means something the removal of which from caityas is a work of merit: yo jālakāni apanāye (so read with v.l. for Senart upanāye) cetiyesu Mv ii.391.3; choretva jālam jīnacetiyeṣu 391.22, repeated in the sequel; parallel Śiḥ 306.2, 4 choritva jālam; 6, 8, 10 apanāya (ed. em. upa°) jālam. On the passage, misunderstood by Senart and Bendall, see s.v. chorayati. In the immediately following verses, Mv ii.392.21 ff., Śiḥ 306.11 ff., the meritorious removal of withered flowers is unambiguously mentioned.

Skt. jālaka, nt., BhāgP.8.20.17, s.v. in BR, same mg.), a network (of jewels, used as an ornament): chinnām jālikam (m.c. for °ām) a(d)dr̥ṣāti supine ratanā-mikām śobhanām LV 194.20 (vs), she saw in her dream her beautiful network, made of jewels, cut (so Tib., rin po che las byas pañi dra ba . . . net made of jewels etc.); here the fem. adjectives prove that °kam is m.c. for °kām; the same must be assumed also in the next: muktā-maṇi-jālīka-chādītās ca SP 89.2 (vs), and covered with networks of pearls and gems (°ka m.c. for °kā).

jālin, (1) adj. (= Pali id., Vv.81.16 and comm. 315.30, not in PTSD; from jāla, web), webbed, of hands and feet, i. e. having the fingers and toes connected by a web (one of the 32 lakṣaṇa): hastapādātale jālinī (dual; so read for text jātilinī) abhūtām Gv 399.25; jālinā hastaratnena . . . pāṇinā Mv ii.282.4-6; (2) n. of Viśvantara's son (= Pali Jāli), Jm 59.21 ff. See also next.

jālinī (f. to jālin, q.v., but in sense of ensnaring or the like: = Pali id., ep. of taṇhā, with or without that word; the comms. have various explanations, three being offered on Dhp. 180 alone), perhaps ensnaring, or subst. enchantress, as ep. of tṛṣṇā, thirst, longing: tasiṇām ca jālinīm Mv i.166.20 (vs); jālinīm tṛṣṇām ii.307.12; tṛṣṇām chittvāna jālinīm 357.15; jālinī . . . tṛṣṇā iii.92.1 = Pali Dhp. 180 jālinī . . . taṇhā; without the word tṛṣṇā, Dharmasamuccaya (unpublished BHS work) 8.44, 47, acc. to Renou, JA Jul.-Sept. 1939 p. 336 note 1; in a personal letter of May 16, 1945, Renou kindly informs me that here jālinī 'a ni plus ni moins le sens de tṛṣṇā, hors de toute ambiance métaphorique; de même pour viśālā' (q.v.). We should, then, doubtless recognize the same mg. in: sarvakileśabandhanalatām . . . jālinīm (Tib. dra ba, net) LV 276.12 (vs), and: iha jālinī . . . ṣaṭtṛiṃṣati-cāriṇī LV 373.7 (vs), thirst which acts in 32 ways (as does taṇhā in Pali, PTSD s.v.); Foucaux le filet d'illusion. Most mss. and Calc. read indrajālinī for iha j° (hence Foucaux's rendering); but this is metr. impossible, and the epithet proves that tṛṣṇā is referred to.

Jālinīprabha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 705. Tib. renders jālinī by dra ba, net, or dra ba can, having a net. Perhaps having seductive (alluring) splendor? See s.v. jālinī, which otherwise = tṛṣṇā.

Jālinīmukha, n. of a mountain: Kv 91.15.

jāva, m. (to java, but nowhere recorded), speed, swiftness: °vaḥ Mvy 2003 = Tib. mgyogs pa. So also Mironov; no v.l. Follows yogaḥ and precedes ānukramāḥ, kālah.

jāvita, nt. (= javita, 1; perhaps so read, but Mironov also jā°), running, foot-racing: Mvy 4999 °tam = Tib. bañ, foot-race.

[? jāhu, in RP 58.18 (vs), printed: dūre jāhu bhujagavad etān (sc. evil companions). Since it is scarcely possible that the Vedic verb aj-, drive (away), is concerned (°jā = aja, hu = khalu, drive them away like serpents!), I believe that some form of hā, abandon (less likely of han, smite) must be involved; the ā might well be m.c. (meter requires two long syllables), but I cannot explain the final u (ū°). Perhaps read jāhā = jaha, 2 sg. impv., abandon! (?)] jighatsita, adj. (ppp. of jighatsati, desid. to ghas-; Skt. jighatsu, BR 5.1444; = Pali jighacchita), hungry: Mvy 6306 (see s.v. pūrṇagātra); 7328 (v.l. and Mironov jighāmsita, see next; precedes pipāsitaḥ); °tā bhojana mārgamānā(h) SP 84.12 (vs); °tānām ca sattvānām agraṃ varabhojanam dadāti Śiḥ 274.7 (prose). See next.

? jighāmsita (should be ppp. of desid. of han-! but in mg. = jighatsita!), clearly means hungry in Karmav 46.9 °ta-pipāsitasya kruddhasya kālakriyā; so Tib. bkres śiñ skom pa, hungry and thirsty; and so Lévi translates, without any note, tho a note is surely needed! So v.l. for Mvy 7328, see prec. It seems likely that the true reading is jighatsita; or dare we assume that MIndic (Pali) jighacchita was falsely Sktized as jighāmsita?

jijñāsanā (cf. Skt. °na, nt., and jijnāsā, f.; perh. a blend of these two), test, trial: yūyam kanyakā (Māra speaks to his daughters) . . . bodhisattvasya jijñāsanām (no v.l.) kuruta LV 320.2 (prose).

jitam, apparently interj. or particle, chiefly in phrase: api hi jitaṃ Mv ii.126.9; iii.181.14; 206.10, 12; 209.12; this seems to be an expression of astonishment, something like Who'd have thought it? That beats all! Once, in Mv iii.286.1, jitaṃ (v.l. jidam) occurs by itself; the daughters of Māra, reporting to Māra, say: (any other man than the Bodhisattva, seeing us), so jitaṃ murchitvā prapatīsyad vā . . . cittakṣayam vā prāpune (but the B. was unmoved); here too astonishment might be the connotation of the particle; he, good heavens! would have fallen down fainting . . . , or lost his wits. No etymology is apparent for the word.

Jitaśatru, n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.15 (confirmed Tib.); follows Lokābhilāṣita, precedes Sampūjita; Mv i.136.16, follows Lokābhilāṣita, precedes Supūjita.

(jina, conqueror, standard epithet of a Buddha, so used in Skt.: Mvy 12 = Tib. rgyal ba, victorious; et passim. The word appears to be used of any head, or at least founder, of a religious sect; see s.v. jina-śrāvaka.)

Jinakāntāra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.10.

Jinacakra, n. of a former Buddha: so read in LV 5.7 for Jinavakra of both edd.; best ms. Jinacakra, confirmed by Tib. dmag tshogs (army) las rgyal.

jinaputra, (spiritual) son of a Buddha, common epithet of Bodhisattvas: Mvy 629 et passim. Any synonymous word or phrase is apt to be similarly used; see e. g. jinaurasa. Not listed in this work: sugatasya putrā(h) SP 10.5; 12.4; jinendraputrān 12.9; buddhaputro 48.12; sugatātmajānām 57.10; jinātmajānām 116.10, etc.

Jinabhāskara, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.10 (vs).

Jinarṣabha (corresponds to Pali Janesabha, Janavasabha; but the temptation to emend to Janarṣabha should prob. be resisted; Chin. versions on Māy 85 support Jina-), in Māy 237.1, n. of a yakṣa; in Māy 85 n. of a prince, son of Vaiśravaṇa (Kubera), who dwelt in Tuhāra, 'attended by (a) crore(s) of yakṣas'.

[Jinavaktra LV 5.7, read Jinacakra.]

Jinavaruttama, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.236.14, 15. (Would be °varot° in Skt.)

? Jinavrata, n. of a Pratyekabuddha, predicted as future incarnation of Sujātā: Mv ii.206.18 (vs), text °vratō ti, by em., mss. unmetrically and uninterpretablely Jinavarttāyī.

jina-śrāvaka, pupil of a jina, applied in Mv ii.118.2, 3 to the pupils of Ārāḍa Kālāma, and in ii.119.9, 10 to those of Udraka Rāmaputra. Senart assumes that this means that these teachers were Jains. But in default of any other evidence this seems unlikely; jina is of course also a title of a Buddha, and we may infer from this that it could be applied to the founder of any religious sect.

Jinasūrya, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.18.

jināti, jinati, conquers, see Chap. 43, s.v. ji, 2.

Jinendra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.233.5; n. of 300 successive former Buddhas, 237.12 f.; the last of them predicted the Buddha Sarvārthadarśin(a), 238.5. Jinendraghoṣā, n. of Susāmbhava's capital city: Suv 147.1.

jinaurasa = jinaputra, ep. of Bodhisattvas: Mvy 641 et passim.

Jihnuna, n. of a mleccha king: udayaḥ jihnuno hy ante mleccchānām vividhās tathā Mmk 622.1 (vs), at the end of a list of mleccha kings.

jihma, adj. (in these senses recorded nowhere else; Skt., Pali jimha, and Pkt. jimha, jimma, regularly crooked or fig. dishonest), (1) bereft of light, obscured, not shining, dull; regularly said of entities regarded as brightly shining in themselves, but having their light eclipsed or obscured by a greater radiance, esp. that emitted or caused by the Buddha; so at the bodhi-tree Buddha causes a radiance which makes the divine abodes of the gods jihma Mv ii.316.18 or jihmavarṇa Mv ii.313.17; 316.16 and by Senart's em. (for mss. jihmabala) 295.1; 296.9; 304.1; 308.16 (in all these jihma-bala might stand, of obscured, dulled power); similarly, jihma vipaśyatha (so divide) divya ātmabhāvām LV 49.12 (vs; Apsarases speak, looking at Māyā's superior beauty), see how (our) divine bodies are eclipsed (in splendor); jihma sarvatuṣītālayo bhuto (m.c. for bhūto) 54.3 (vs), the whole abode of the Tuṣita became splendorless; sarvāni mārabhavanāni karonti jihmā 296.16 (vs); jihma (so divide; acc. sg.) kurvati jagat sadevakam RP 6.15 (vs); also fig. of the intelligence and senses; -vijñāna, in Mv ii.355.14 (vs) ye grddhā lābhasatkāre jihma-vijñāna-(dull intelligence)-nīśritā; and Karmav 31.12 (apāyeṣūpananno) durgandho bhavati jihmendriyo bhavaty avyaktendriyaḥ, . . . of dull and obscure (see avyakta) senses; (2) (cf. jihmikṛtaḥ Mvy 5200, below s.v. jihmikaroti, with Tib.) disappointed, depressed, saddened, despondent: in LV 193.19 (vs) read (with v.l.) jihmā-jihma (n. pl., āmreḍita) sudurmanā, very depressed and downcast; confirmed by Tib. dman zhiñ dman; prob. so, a-jihma in Sukh 25.16 (prose) aśāṅko 'jihmo, free from doubt and despondency (in a description of a Bodhisattva); to be sure the next words are 'śatho 'māyāvī, which suggest the Skt. meaning, not deceitful, but these lists of characteristics are apt to go in pairs, and aśāṅka suggests this BHS meaning of (a-)jihma, which is otherwise known and easily develops from mg (1). See the following items, which support both mgs.

jihmikara, adj. (= next), obscuring: in Candra-sūrya-jihmikara-prabha, q.v. (having a splendor that obscures the moon and sun): LV 292.8 (prose). But v.l. °karaṇa, which, being much commoner (I have noted no other case of °kara), is very likely the true reading.

jihmikaraṇa, adj. (from next, with -ana), (1) obscuring, making (what is normally bright seem) dark or dull: candrasūryajihmikaraṇayā prabhayā LV 41.5; -indusūrya-jihmikaraṇa-prabho Sukh 29.16; see also prec.; -tā, (jāmbūnada-suvarṇālamkāra-bhūtam) samskr̥tāvacara-kuśalamūlopacaya-jihmikaraṇa-tayā Gv 496.6, (it is like an ornament of finest gold) because it obscures (overshadows, makes seem dull) things in the realm (see avacara) of the conditioned thru the acquisition of roots of merit; (2) disappointing (lit. darkening, so making despondent or the like), in a-ji°, not disappointing (beggars): (upasaṃkrāntānām, sc. yācanakānām, cāvi)mānānjihmikaraṇāvīksepam (adv.) LV 431.10, while not showing disrespect to (beggars) who come to him, not disappointing them, and not turning them away; yācanaka-maitrikāruṇyapūrvam-gamasampreksaṇājihmikaraṇa- LV 432.5, looking upon beggars with love and compassion and not disappointing them.

jihmikaroti to jihma, q.v., in both its BHS senses), (1) obscures, makes (esp. something normally bright to appear) dark or dull: bhagavantam . . . sūryasahasrātrekayā prabhayā sarvapaṣaṇmaṇḍalam °kurvantam . . . dṛṣṭvā RP 2.16; (sarvamāramaṇḍalāni) °kurvamānān (to pres. kurvate) Gv 87.5; sarvamārabhavanāni jihmikṛtya (text jihvī°) Mmk 7.20, and (°bhavanam) 78.16; ppp. °kr̥ta (various forms), with mārabhavanāni LV 300.9 (cf. 296.16, s.v. jihma); of Māra's host, 316.10; ābharāṇāni 122.3; jihmikṛta (so mss., Lefm. em. jihmi°) candrasūryā 354.18 (vs); (candrasūryau . . .) tayā prabhayā te 'pi jihmikṛtau nāvabhāsyante nisprabhāni ca bhavanti Mmk 78.17; fig. eclipsed, overshadowed, jihmikṛta (so mss., Lefm. em. jihmi°) śakrabrahmā (by the Bodhisattva) LV 354.2 (vs); (2) disappoints (lit. darkens, makes dull; cf. jihmikaraṇa, 2); ppp. °kr̥ta, disappointed, despondent, overcome: °kr̥taḥ Mvy 5200 = Tib. (among various renderings) spa skoṅs pa, despondent, or zil gyis non pa, overcome. Cf. prec. and next.

jihmībhavati (to jihma, q.v.; cf. prec.), becomes obscured: °vanti RP 51.2, see s.v. pāla (jagato).

jihriyati (to root hri, q.v. in Chap. 43), is ashamed; so best ms. Karmav 47.26 for text jihreti; and so ed. 49.2, 10, 16.

jihvā-nirlekhānika, m. (= Skt. °khana; not otherwise recorded), tongue-scraper: Mvy 8974.

[jiraṅka, m., cummin-seed; v.l. for jirakam, nt., Mvy 5801, but prob. only error of tradition. Mironov jirakaḥ, m., no v.l.; Skt. °ka, m. or nt.]

jirṇaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= Skt. Gr. id., Pali jirṇaka; Skt. jirṇa plus -ka; twice in vss, may be m.c.); once in prose, may be pitying or contemptuous dim.), old: LV 109.15 (vs); Mv i.184.21 (vs); tā māradhitaro jirṇikā vṛddhikā sthāvirikā palitikā . . . bhavitvā daṇḍam avaṣṭābhya . . . Mv iii.283.13 (prose). Above, lines 10–11, the other three appear with -ikā, but jirṇā without the suffix.

Jivaka (= Pali id.), n. of a physician and follower of Buddha (called in Pali Komārabhacca, in BHS Kumārabhṛta, °bhūta, qq.v.): Divy 270.12 ff.; 506.2 ff.; MSV ii.25.5 ff.; has epithet Vaidyārāja(n) KP 96.2, 3; Śiḥ 159.8, 12 (here, amazingly, Bendall and Rouse translate vaidyārāja as n. pr. and jivaka as adj., when alive!). See also Jivika.

jivakajivaka, m. (= Skt. jivajivaka), a kind of pheasant: °vakā(h), n. pl., SP 358.8 (vs); may be m.c.

jivati (for Skt. jīyate, pass. to jayati), is conquered, is lost: yasya jitaṃ nātha jivati Mv iii.91.19 (vs) = Pali Dhp. 179 yassa jitaṃ nāvajiyati, which proves the mg. (and suggests nāva- for nātha = na atha?); if not a mere corruption, change of y to v, § 2.31.

jīvantaka, f. °tikā (pres. pp. of Skt. jīvati with a-extension plus ka svārthe), living: (prānaka) Mv i.24.3, 16, living creatures; °tikā evaṃ vivarjitā Mv i.353.19, abandoned alive: all prose.

jīvasūlaka, or °ika(?), f. °ikā, adj. (to Pali jīvasūla, lit. live-stake, plus -ka), lit. provided with (= impaled on) a stake alive: yehi iha °sūlikā kāritā bhavanti eḍakāyo Mv i.25.10, who in this world roast she-goats on spits alive; nam . . . °lakam karotha ii.168.8, make him to be impaled alive; °likam (read °lakam?) api kriyamāṇasya Śikṣ 182.6, of him even being impaled alive.

Jīvika, (1) = Jivaka, the physician: Av ii.134.6 ff.; [(2) in LV 430.20 text jīvika-pariskāra, but most mss. jīvita- or javika-; read jīvita-, equipment or utensils for living.]

jīvitaka, ifc. Bhvr. (= jīvita plus -ka, Bhvr., perhaps m.c.), life: jarjarakāṣṭha va soṣita-jīvitako (for soṣo) LV 322.8 (vs), with life dried-up, withered.

jīvita-saṃskāra, m., see saṃskāra (2).

jugutsu, adj. (unhistorical hyper-Skt., § 2.19, for MIndic *jugucchu = Skt. jugupsu, cf. Pali jīgucchā etc., JM. jūccchiya, etc.), abhorring, with loc.: kāmeṣu jugutsuno Mv iii.438.2 (no v.l.; gen. sg.). Cf. next, Mv iii.407.16.

jugupsanā, °na (?nt.), °na-tā (Skt. Lex. °na, nt.; Pali jīgucchana, nt.), loathing, condition of abhorrence, with loc. or in comp.: kāmeṣu . . . °nā utpannā Mv iii.407.16, v.l. jogustanā, intending jugutsanā, cf. s.v. jugutsu; °na-tā LV 32.4; 34.9; -parigraha-°natayā (instr.) Gv 456.25; °na or °nā, in Bhvr. cpd., alpabhoga-°nāḥ Mmk 46.28. All prose.

juhana (nt., = Pali id., to juhati, § 28.18, = Skt. juhoti, plus -ana), pouring, offering (oblation): agnihotraṃ juhanāya (dat., infn.) Mv iii.161.9 (prose).

jṛmbhikṛta, ppp. (to Skt. jṛmbha plus karoti), made to appear, caused to stand out: saptadvārāṇi (so read for text sarva-dv°) °kṛtāni Kv 31.11 (not opened! since the gates were heavily locked and barricaded, as the sequel explicitly states).

Jeta-vana, (normally) nt., rarely m. (= Pali id.), n. of the grove at Śrāvastī where Buddha often dwelt and preached: Mv i.4.13; 27.11; 29.13; 30.11; 31.9; 32.14; 33.8; 73.3; iii.224.11; Mvy 4112, °nam; LV 1.5; 4.14 (here masc., sarvāntaṃ °vanam, acc.); Divy 1.2 etc.; 80.12; Av i.13.5 etc.; also, in vs, the two parts separated, Jeta-sāhvaṃ vanam LV 7.4 (vs), the grove called Jeta.

Jetavanīya, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9097.

[jen-, quasi-root, prob. error: upajenitvā, text LV 36.20, see s.v. upajanayati.]

1 jenta, nt. (Mironov jontaka, m.), v.l. for jentāka, m., at Mvy 9289, a hot (steam) bathroom. The true reading is doubtless jentāka, which is Skt. (Caraka 1.14, BR 7, App.) and also occurs Av i.286.8 ff.; ii.205.1; Karmav 38.13; but see also jantāka. Regularly cpd. with -snātra or -snāna.

2 Jenta (cf. Jayanta), n. of a bastard son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv i.348.13 ff.

Jentī (cf. Jayantī), n. of the mother of 2 Jenta: Mv i.348.13.

jeṣṭha, semi-MIndic for Skt. jyeṣṭha (§ 2.8), n. of a month: Mvy 8264 (but Mironov jye°); LV 133.2 (vs).

jotiṣ(a), semi-MIndic for jyo°, light, in sa-jotiṣa LV 340.18 (vs).

?jontaka, m., see 1 jenta.

?jomā, a kind of broth or liquid food (drunk; pāsyaṣi, pitā), with adj. hilimā, Divy 497.19 ff. Perhaps error for joṣā, cf. yosa; hardly for *jemā (cf. Skt. jemana; AMg. jemāna, delicacies in food).

jñapti, for (always in Mvy, but nowhere else) jñāpti, f. (= Pali ñatti), proposal, motion, made before the assembly of monks or nuns; in the BHS literary passages recorded, usually concerning initiation (upasampadā): jñaptim kṛtvā MSV ii.101.15; Bhik 17b.3, having made the motion: eṣā jñaptiḥ 5, this is the proposal; (duḥṣilena bhikṣunā . . . na ca) jñaptir dātavyā Gv 96.14 (. . . prāg eva jñāpticaturtham 15, see below); jñāpti-karma(n), id., Mvy 8660 (= Pali ñatti-kamma); jñāpti° MSV ii.101.16; there are three forms in which the motion may be made (see SBE 13.169, note 2), (1) isolated, simple (muktikā, q.v.) motion, not followed by a separate question as to whether the monks (or nuns) present approve, Mvy 8659; Bhik 15b.3; (2) accompanied (followed) by a single such formal question, called jñāpti- (Mvy jñāpti-) dvitīyam (sc. karma; = Pali ñatti-dutiya-kamma), Mvy 8661; MSV ii.178.12; (3) accompanied by three such questions, called jñāpti- (Mvy jñāpti-)caturtham (karma; = Pali ñatti-catutthakamma), Mvy 8662; 8754 °tha-karmanopasampanno bhikṣuḥ; Bhik 31b.1 jñāpticaturthena karmanā; Divy 356.16 °tham ca karma vyavasitam; Kv 96.15, see above; MSV ii.178.12. Tattvārthakadeśanupraveśa, m., one of the adhi-muktikariyābhūmi: Mvy 900.

tatprathamakarmika, adj. (cf. next), (a Bodhisattva) engaging in the (appropriate) action for the first time; regularly associated with ādikarmika, q.v.: ādikarmika-tatpra°ka-vīryeṇa Bbh 205.2; on Bbh 395.2 see next; Bbh 394.24.

tatprathamatas, adv. (cf. AMg. tappaḍhamayā, priority; if such a cpd. occurs in Pali I have not found it in PTSD or Childers), for the first time: °taḥ śalākāṃ gṛhṇatām Divy 44.28; °to Buddhadarśanam 47.6; tadā mama grhe tatp° piṇḍapāṭha paribhoktavya iti 188.24; ādikarmikaṃ tatprathamakarmikaṃ (see prec.) tatprathamata evaṃ avavadati Bbh 395.2. In several of these, notably the last, tat could certainly not be interpreted as an independent word.

tatsvabhāvaiśīya, m., sc. vinaya, or nt., with karma, (procedure of discipline) which investigates the special nature of that (accused monk), a particular type of procedure for settling disputes, one of the 7 adhikaraṇa-śamatha, q.v.: MSV ii.207.12 (nt.); m., Mvy 8635 = Tib. deḥi (of that) no bo nid (= svabhāva, reality, entity) tshol du (seeking, -eṣa) gzhus par (for entering?) ḥos pa (suitable). The Pali equivalent is tassa-pāpiyasikā, with which kiriyā is assumed to be supplied; PTSD offers no etym.; Childers, tasya-pāpiyas-ikā; MN ii.249.1 ff. has a description, its comm. iv.49.22 f. glosses tassa puggalaṣṣa pāpusannatā, that individual's abundance of sin; can the Pali be an unhistorical distortion of the orig. of the BHS form? Or is the latter a secondary rationalization? Childers s.v. gives a description of the performance acc. to Pali tradition (the case is decided on the accused person's general bad behavior).

tathatā, f., and tathatva, nt., once tathatvatā (= Pali tathatā, tathatta; note that Pali has actually an adj. and subst. tatha = sacca, Skt. satya, true, truth; it has not been noted in BHS; it was prob. a Pali back-formation from these nouns, and/or from such Bhvr. cpds. as vi-tatha; BHS also has the more Sktized tathatā, °tva, qq.v., but they are rare, true essence, actuality, truth: (the SP is) asaṃbhinna-tathatā SP 473.8 (prose), unmixed truth (Kern); tathatā bhavet katividhā Lañk 25.17 (vs); tathatāparivartō nāma AsP 306.1 (title of chapter); anujātas tathatām subhūtiḥ sthāviras tathāgatasya 307.1 (prose), the Elder S. is created after the manner of the truth (true nature) of the T.; and often in the sequel; tathatā tathateti . . . śūnyatāyā etad adhivacanaṃ Śikṣ 263.1 (prose), 'truth, truth'—this is a designation for nullity; sāsau paramā (so prob. read for ed. sā sauparamā) tatathāgata (= Pali id.) = Buddha: Mvy 3 (= Tib. de bzhin gśeḡs pa, thus gone or come (could = gata or āgata; both theories are held; acc. to Jā. and Das, in Tibet today the commonly accepted interpretation is who goes, or has gone, in the same way, sc. as earlier Buddhas); seven listed Dharmas 6 (Vipaśyin, Śikhin, Viśvabhū, Krakucchanda, Kanakamuni, Kāśyapa, Śākyamuni); Vipaśyin is the first °of 7 Tathāgatas, of whom I (Śākyamuni) am the 7th' SP 201.4; same list, with variant forms, Mmk 397.11; Divy 333.3; and with other Buddhas, LV 5.15; 20 listed Mvy 82-101, the above seven, with variants, in 87-94; passim in all texts; as adj., f. °gatī, only m.c. for tathāgatī, of (a) Buddha(s), in list of bhūmi: dharmameghā tathāgatī Lañk 318.12 (vs; tath° metr. impossible; sc. bhūmiḥ; see s.v. tathāgata).

Tathāgatakulagotrodgata, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.1.

Tathāgatakośaparipālita, n. of a kinnara maid: Kv 6.12.

Tathāgatakośa (i. e. °kośa)-sūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 171.13 (see Bendall 407, note).

tathāgata-garbha, m., (1) in Lañk acc. to Suzuki (see Studies 405 with references), the womb where the T. is conceived and nourished and matured = the Ālayavijñāna fully purified of its . . . vāsanā and . . . dauṣṭhulya: Lañk 77.14 ff., etc.; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 669.

Tathāgataguhyasūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 7.20; 126.5; 158.16; 242.7; 274.3; 316.5; 357.1. Not identical with Guhyasamājantra, q.v.; whether same as Tathāgatācintyaguhyānirdeśa, q.v., is not known to me.

Tathāgatājñānamudrāsamādhi, m. (or f.?), n. of a work: Mvy 1387.

Tathāgatamahākaruṇānirdeśa, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1351.

Tathāgataśrīgarbha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Dbh 2.21.

tathāgata-hṛdaya, nt., heart of the T., n. of a magic spell: Śikṣ 139.3 (it is quoted in lines 4-7).

Tathāgatācintyaguhyānirdeśa, n. of a work: Mvy 1355. See s.v. Tathāgataguhyasūtra.

Tathāgatotpattisambhāvanirdeśa, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1378.

tathatā = tathatā, q.v.: Mvy 1709; 1716; 1721; Vaj 37.3. In Mvy 620 Kyoto ed. also tathatā-, but the true reading is Tathatā(-sthitanīścitta, q.v.).

tathatva = prec. and tathatva, q.v.: v.l. in LV 437.1 (vs) tathātvatāḥ for tatha° of the text.

tathādarśana, adj. Bhvr. (evidently = evamdarśana, °dṛṣṭi), holding such a view: Mv ii.120.17 (sa cāhaṃ bhikṣavo tathādarśanato evaṃ va (one ms. omits va)

Also Mv ii.123.16 (prose) sa khalv ahaṃ . . . tathādarśanasamāno, I being of this opinion (as just stated in prec.).

tad-anuvartaka, adj. or subst. m., (the saṃghāvaśeṣa offense of persistently, and in spite of remonstrance) following that one (sc. a monk who persists in causing saṃghabheda, q.v.): Mvy 8379; corresp. to Prāt 483.9ff.; Pali Vin. iii.175.14 ff.

tadaho-poṣadhe, adv. phrase, see poṣadha.

tadāgata, m., a kind of (medicinal) resinous substance (jatu): MSV i.iii.17 and i.iv.2 (here Tib. cited as drod sman, stimulating or heating drug).

tadāni (= Pali Lex. id., Childers; Skt. °nim), then: Mv i.253.6 (prose).

[tadāhim is apparently understood by Senart as meaning then in Mv ii.69.5 (prose), yadā bhagavāṃ pravṛt-tadharmacakro tadāhim etaṃ bhikṣubhi śrutam. But mss. tadā hi or tadā hi-m-(i. e., I suppose, 'hiatus-bridging' m before following vowel); I think the particle hi must be assumed, after tadā. Perhaps Senart assumed a blend of tadā with (e)tar(a)hi(m).]

tad-ekatya, see ekatya (8).

[tadhu-, read by Senart with mss. in Mv iii.113.13 (v.l. taddhura)-kāraka, and by em. for mss. tadvā-(kāra) in iii.442.17; read respectively taṭṭu- and taṭṭa-, qq.v.]

tad-yathā, tad-yathāpi (nāma), tad-yathedam; see s.vv. yathāpi (nāma), sayyathīdam. The simple tad-yathā occurs in Skt. (pw and Monier Williams s.v. tad) as well as in BHS: Mv i.55.13; 56.8 (prose), just as if . . .

tanu, pl. (in this sense apparently not recorded; Sheth cites tanu = alpa, thoṛā, from Deśin. 3.51, a wrong reference; I have failed to find it in Deśin. elsewhere), few (in number): ima ucyante (ms. ucyate) tanu-bhyas tanutarāḥ Av ii.188.4 (prose), these are said to be fewer than few (= extremely few). [In LV 243.3, vs, read with v.l. tatu = tatas for text tanu; confirmed by Tib. der.] See also s.v. Taru.

tanukībhūta, ppp. (from Skt. and Pali tanuka = tanu with bhavati), become slight: apāyā °tā Mv i.175.11 (vs).

tanu-(also tanū-)bhūmi, f., the 5th of the seven śrāvaka-bhūmi: Mvy 1145; ŚsP 1473.13 et alibi, see bhūmi 4.

tanuruha (recorded only in mg. hair, or rarely wing, feathers, Schmidt, Nachträge), member, limb of the body: chini tava tanuruha kalinṛpu ruṣito LV 165.22 (vs), an evil king in anger cut off thy bodily member(s); the mg. is certain and is confirmed by Tib. yan lag.

tanū-bhūmi, see tanu°.

tantrajāla-jāta, adj. (see next, which is the older form), become (confused) like a (tangled) net of string: Mvy 5390 (Mironov wrongly jāla for jāla) = Tib. thags hkhruṅs pa lta bu, like a disordered web or texture, the latter representing tantra; hkhruṅs pa, disordered, prob. indicates that the BHS original had ākula rather than jāla.

tantrākulajāta, adj. (= Pali tantākulakajāta; see under prec.), become confused like an (entangled) web (or warp): LV 205.11 (so mss., wrongly em. in ed.). The Tib. transl. under prec. fits this, which is proved by Pali to be the orig. form, rather than tantra-jāla-. For the rest of the passage (same in LV and Mvy) see s.v. guṇāvagun-ṭhita-bhūta.

Tantrī, n. of a daughter of Māra acc. to Mv iii.281.15; 283.15; 284.3; 286.6. The Mv is clearly secondary here; thruout most of the passage it mentions only two daughters of Māra, Tantrī and Arati, but in 286.6 three, the third being Rati. Originally (LV 378.4 ff.; Pali, see Childers s.v. Ragā) there were three, Trṣṇā, Arati, and Rati (or, in Pali, Ragā, SN i.124.15 ff.). It is clear that Mv replaces Trṣṇā by Tantrī. Could it be a corruption of Mīdic *Tanhī = BHS trṣṇī, q.v.? Or is the corruption based on some form of the numeral for three (which is lost in Mv except in the final verse), cf. tās tisro . . . LV 378.4?

tanmukhikayā, instr. (adv. ?) of °kā (see -mukhaka, °ikā), for this reason or by that means: (anāpattayas) tanm° nirgatā bhavanti Divy 330.2, acc. to p. 708 rendered in Tib. through this consideration they go forth innocent.

tanvībhavati (for Skt. tanū-bh°, ppp. °bhūta, Pali tanubhūta; -i due to influence of forms in -i before bhavati derived from a-stems), becomes slight, diminishes: (akuśalāś ca te dharmā . . .) te tanvībhaviṣyanti Divy 236.17 (prose).

tapana, (1) m. or nt., and °nā, box or basket, in which infants are enclosed and thrown into a river: (tāhi dāni) antaḥpurikāhi te dārakā tapanasmim cailakam upastaritvā tatra prakṣiptāh, tam tapanam sv-āpīhitam subaddham kṛtvā rājakyena tāpanīyena tāpayitvā mudrayitvā nadiye gaṅgāye prakṣiptā Mv iii.163.9, by the harem-women those infants in a tapana, putting a cloth on, were laid in there, and making that tapana carefully closed and tied, soldering it with the royal solder (? gold) and (so) sealing it, they were thrown into the River Ganges; referring to the same incident, (te) cāsmābhiḥ tapanāye (loc. f.) prakṣiptivā etc. 166.6; the same receptacle is called mañjūśā, basket, in 166.10 ff., which makes the mg. clear. Senart's note compares tapu, in Divy, q.v., but this is a false reading. It seems unlikely that Skt. tapanī, Kochtopf, Schmidt, Nachträge, or Deśin. 2.59 comm. tavaṇi, frying-pan, are directly connected; (2) m., less often nt. (= Pali id.), n. of a hot hell (see also Tapana): Dharmas 121 (°nah); Mv i.6.3; 9.9 (m.); 14.15; ii.350.8 = iii.274.10; ii.369.14; iii.454.8 (nt.); Divy 67.22; 138.6; 366.29; Av i.4.8 etc.; Samādh 19.20; Kv 18.13; Mmk 114.26; Mironov tapanah for Mvy 4925 tāp°.

Tapoda, m. or nt., °dā (= Pali Tapodā, n. of a lake and its outlet river at Rājagaha), n. of one or more bodies of water (lake, spring[s], river?) at Rājagṛha: tapoda-dvāreṇa Rājagṛham . . . prāvīkṣat LV 240.1 (prose), entered R. by the gate of that-which-has-warm-water, so Tib., chu dron can gyi (of that which has warm water) sgo nas (by gate); the gate was named for warm springs or for the river outlet from them; (rājagṛhe samasamaṃ giriyagra- [v.l. giri-m-agra-]-samājam) nāma parvaṃ vartati pañcānām tapoda-śātānām (so read for ed. tapo-śa°; mss. tapa-śa°, capośata-śa°). tatra dāni pañcahi tapoda-(so read, ed. tapo-, mss. tapa-, tapota-)-śātehi pañca udyāna-śātāni Mv iii.57.7, *at R. at the same time there took place the festival called Mountain-top-gathering, of 500 Warm Springs. Pischel, SBBA 1904 p. 813 fol. 158a; n. of a river Māy 253.7 (doubtless the same).

tabdha, ppp. (cf. Pali thaddha; semi-MIndic for Skt. stabdha), haughtily, puffed up: (devadattah . . .) māni ca balavān eva tabdhaḥ śākyamānena ca tabdho . . . LV 152.15 (prose). So all mss.; only Calc. sta^o.

Tamasāvāna, n. of a grove: Divy 399.11 (vs; m.c. for tamasa- or tāmasa-? or cf. the river-name Tamasā?).

tamasikaraṇa, adj. (to *tamasī-karoti; perhaps m.c. for tāmas^o), darkening, making dark: smṛtiśokakarās tamasikaraṇā bhayahetukarā . . . (kāmaguṇāḥ) LV 173.21 (vs).

Tama(h)sundarī (text lacks h), n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 564.26 (here text corrupt); 566.15. Cf. Andhārasundarī (same personage).

Tamālapattracandanagandha, n. of a future Buddha (= Mahāmaudgalyāyana, by prediction): SP 153.8; 154.14.

Tamālapattracandanagandhābhijña, n. of a Buddha in a northwestern lokadhātu: SP 184.14 (no v.l. in edd.; Burnouf omits -abhijña, reading as prec.).

tamisrāyita-tva, nt. (abstr. from denom. pple. to tamisrā), begloomedness: Mv i.41.5; 229.20; 240.10; ii.162.10; iii.334.8; 341.12; in all of which I believe we should read tamisrāyitatvā (or possibly ti^o, cf. Pali timissā) for the corrupt mss.; Senart tamisrāpītā, but the mss. have no -r-. See under andhakārāpita-tva.

-tamisrita, ppp. denom., see andhakāra-tamisrita.

[? tam-enam, Mv i.11.7, 11 (vss), assumed by Senart to be adverbial phrase, thereupon, straightway, and identified with Pali tam enam, Vin. i.127.32, which is so interpreted PTSD s.v. ta-, II.4(b); neither Senart's nor PTSD's explanation seems plausible. It seems to me that acc. sg. m. pronouns may quite well be intended; if Senart is right in his em. of the rest of the text, i.11.7 would read: tam enam kṣṇaprapākā agnitikṣnamukhā kharā, chaviṃ bhittvāna khādanti . . ., him . . . they eat, cutting his skin; and similarly line 11 where tam enam may depend on khādanti in line 12. In the Pali passage, also, I believe pronouns are to be assumed, anticipating tam bhikkhum of the next line, altho the construction is indeed exceptionally loose.]

Tamodghātana, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mmk 42.5.

? tampuruka or tambu^o, see s.v. kimpuruṣa.

? tambhū (for Skt. *tad-bhū), being that, as just described; perhaps in Mv i.349.5 rājā ca Sujāto aprativacano satyavādī yathāvādī tathākārī tambhūvo (so mss.) rājño varam yācāhi, . . . from the king, being that (as just described), ask a boon! Senart em. tam tuvam, which seems implausible; tam would have to go with varam, which would be separated from it by tuvam.

tayyathāpi nāma, ms. var. for tadyath^o, sayyath^o, see s.v. yathāpi 2.

Taraṅgavatī, n. of a locality: Māy 42.

taraṇa, nt. Foucaux's Tib. rgyal in LV, prob. error for rgal; he renders la natation.

tarani, °ṇī, f. (Skt. Lex., used of various plants and flowers), a kind of flower: °ṇiḥ Mvy 6207; LV 11.3, reading of ms. H in Crit. App. °ṇī; Tib. in both places transliterates ta ra ṇi or °ṇi.

tara-panya, nt. or m. (= Skt. tara-deya, in Kauṭ. Arth., cited s.v. gulma, q.v.), ferry-money: Mv iii.328.7 (nāviko dāni āha, dehi) tarapaṅyam; LV 407.4 (same incident) prayaccha . . . tarap^o; aśulkenātarapaṅyena Divy taruṇaka, adj. or subst. (-ka svārthe, or dim.; AMg. °ṇaa), young; child: dārakāṇām dahukāṇām (so mss., see dahuka) °ṇakāṇām kṛidāpanikāni Divy 475.(17-18) (prose).

Taruṅkabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

tarka, m. (in Skt. reasoning, philosophizing), as with Pali takka, in BHS seems normally to have pejorative connotation, sophistry, vain speculation; typical are Sutrāl. i.12 with comm., see Lévi's Transl. tarjaniya, adj. with karman (= Pali tajjaniya-kamma), act of rebuke or threat, a formal censure against dissident monks: Mvy 8642; MSV iii.5.14 ff. (described, as in Pali Vin. ii.2.20 ff.).

tarpana, nt. (in Skt. food, sustenance, in general), a particular kind of food, dough, paste, meal(?): Mvy 5753 = Tib. skyo ma, pap, paste, dough; bhaktāni vā tarpaṇāni vā (ya)vāgūpānāni vā . . . Bhik 23a.2 (in list similar to that of Mvy).

tala, m. or nt. (= AMg. id. = Skt. bhūṭala), surface of the ground: yehi iha kīṭakamardanāni vā kārāpitāni bhavanti talamardanāni vā . . . Mv i.21.12; tala-m^o acc. to Senart stamping on the ground; but perhaps breaking up the surface of the ground, as in digging; reprobated as injurious to living creatures.

talaka (tala plus -ka svārthe), upper surface, top, roof: °kopari Mvy 9351 = Tib. khañ steñ, (on) the top of a house.

talavarga, m. (cf. Skt. talārakṣa, pw 5.255; and AMg. talavara, talāra, some sort of guard or police officer), some sort of royal officer, acc. to Tib. sku bsrūns, body-guard: Mvy 3724, in a list of royal functionaries.

tala-śaktikā (= Pali talasattikā, also a raising of the hand, but there seems to denote a threatening gesture), lit. palm-spear, a raising of the hand in a gesture of salutation: añjalī (so with WT) . . . paripūrṇa ekā talasaktikā vā SP 52.7 (vs), (by whom is made) either a complete añjali or a mere raising of one hand (in salutation). On Mv iii.55.4, where this word might be conjectured, see s.v. chādayati (1).

talikā, sc. lipi, a kind of writing: Mv i.135.8 (prose). tallakṣaṇa, nt., a high number: LV 148.11, cited Mvy 7977; Tib. renders literally deḥi mtshan űid, mark of that.

tavara, m., Mvy 7709, or nt., Mvy 7835, a high number; in 7835 cited from Gv which reads taparam, q.v. tasarikā (from Skt. tasara, shuttle), in Divy 83.24 (prose), acc. to Index weaving, as operation of the shuttle; this force of the suffix would seem peculiar, but the context gives little help: (Śacy api . . .) tasarikām kartum ārabdhā. In the preceding sentence Śakra, in disguise, vastram vāyitum ārabdhāḥ. Perhaps tasarikām kartum, to make the (little) shuttle, means only to operate the shuttle.

tasinā (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. tṣṇā), thirst: Mv i.166.20 (vs; may be m.c.; mss. ka^o, va^o, but em. certain), see s.v. jālinī.

tahi, tahim, loc. of pron. stem ta-, also as adv., there; see § 21.22.

tāḍa, (1) m. or nt. (Skt. tāla, Pali tāla, cymbal or some percussion instrument; also clap of the hand etc.), a musical instrument, cymbal: viṇāś ca tāḍā paṇavāś ca SP 51.13 (vs); saṃgīti-tāḍa-samaye ca viṇīcayajñāḥ RP 42.17 (vs), but here and in the next tāḍa could mean not the instrument, but the sound made by striking it; vādyā-tāḍa-nināda-nirghoṣa-śabdair SP 338.11 (prose); others, see s.v. śamya; see also tāḍāvacara; (2) m. (= Pali tāla, m.; see next), key (in Skt. tāla, lock, cf. tālaka; see Johnston, note on Buddhac.): saddharma-tāḍena Buddhac. 1.74; tāḍam ādāya grham asya gatvā Av ii.56.2; tāḍam apahr̥tya grham gatvā 3 (ms. tāḍan both times).

tāḍaka, m. (cf. s.v. tāḍa, 2), key, or some kind of key: °kaṃ kuñcikāṃ ca tāvad dhāraya Divy 577.21, 27; °kaḥ kuñcikā ca 578.11; tāḍaka-kuñcikāṃ (acc.); so read for ed. tāḍhaka°) MSV iii.23.14. Cf. also tālaka.

tāḍanā, f. (Skt. °na, nt.), a beating: kaści kuryān na tāḍanām... SP 285.1 (vs); tāḍanās, acc. pl., to be read LV 214.3 (vs) with practically all mss. for °nā; all the series of nouns in this line are f.

tāḍāvacara, also (doubtless wrongly) spelled tāḍopacāra, m. and nt. (= Pali tālā°, wrongly defined in PTSD; it means a musical instrument, as stated by comm. (596.15) on DN ii.159.16 which glosses turiyabhaṇḍam; Skt. tālāv° seems to mean a person, see BR, and Rām. 7.91.15, BR 5.1469), a musical instrument in general or a particular class of them, prob. of the cymbal type, cf. tāḍa; almost always preceded by tūrya: sarvagīta-vādyanr̥tya-tūrya-tāḍāvacara-saṃgīti-saṃpravāditaiḥ pūjā karaṇīyā SP 232.3 (prose); nearly this same cpd. (tāḍavika, m., Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge, = nartaka, dancer: twice in lists of entertainers, Mv iii.113.4 (here Senart with mss. bhāṇḍ°); 442.10 (mss. tāḍḍ° or taṇḍ°, MIndic); the passages are closely parallel and tā° must be read in both.)

tātaka, tātuka, tāttaka, all = tattaka (§ 3.2), so much, so great, pl. so many; no such forms are recorded elsewhere; tātaka, only as v.l. of Kashgar rec. of SP for tattaka, q.v.; tāttaka, m. pl., Samādh 19.16 (vs); KP 158.3 (prose; twice); 159.5 ff. tāthāgata, adj., f. °ī (from tāthāgata plus -a), of or belonging, pertaining to the (or a) Buddha: °taḥ (vihārah) Bbh 318.5; 367.13; °tam caturtham dhyānam Lañk 97.7; °tasya padasya Bbh 10.4; °tī (bhūmi) Lañk 244.11; 318.12 (vs, here m.c. tāthāgati); bodhisattva- °tī bhūmiḥ Bbh 367.3; °tī (vidyā) Mmk 561.20; (pūjā) 600.25; (mudrā) 502.13; tāthāgati-mantrāḥ Mmk 35.3; 392.17 (here °gati seems to represent °gati-mudrā, cf. 392.13 tāthāgata-pātra-mudrā-mantra anena samyuktaḥ); tatrottarāpathe sarvatra tāthāgati-vidyā-rājñāḥ (cf. line 4 vidyā-rājñām; here tāthāgati, which read in composition with vidyā, takes its gender from that word, see Mmk 561.20, above) siddhiṃ gacchanti saṃkṣepataḥ Mmk 325.5-6 (one might expect rājñī instead of rājan after vidyā, but this text tolerates such things).

[tādin, Pali id., = tāyin, q.v., has not been found in BHS, tho Ud once has a gen. tāḍṇo = Pali tādino, see next. In Mv iii.397.2 Senart reads tādi, n. sg., but mss. bhāvayi, and the true reading is certainly tāyi, see s.v. tāyin 1.]

tāḍr̥(n), (hyper-Skt. for Pali tādin = BHS tāyin, q.v.), holy (person): devāpi tasya spr̄hayanti tāḍr̥ṇaḥ (dental n) Ud xix.3, even the gods envy that holy man; corresp. to Pali Dh. 94 which reads tādino.

tāḍr̥sa = tāyin, q.v.: Ud xix.1 (oldest ms. tāḍr̥śāḥ, later ms. tāyi).

tāḍr̥śaka, (1) adj. (= Pali tādisaka), such, = Skt. tāḍr̥sa: Mv iii.287.10 (prose; correl. with yāḍr̥śaka, q.v.); (2) = BHS tāḍr̥sa, and tāyin, q.v.; applied to a Bodhisattva or a Buddha; holy: (kausidyapṛāptas tada yo babhūva...) tvam eva so tāḍr̥śako babhūva SP 28.2 (vs), addressed to the Bodhisattva Maitreya, (he who was indolent at that time... has become none other than thou, the holy one (misunderstood by Burnouf and Kern); tvam eva so tāḍr̥śako bhaviṣyasi anābhībhūto dvipadānam uttamāḥ SP 69.4 (vs), predicting Buddhahood in the future, thou thyself shalt become a Holy One (a Buddha), unconquered, best of bipeds.

tāpa = tapas, ascetic practice (a mg. unrecorded for tāpa or its MIndic equivalents); in Mvy 1608, chapter-title, tāpa-saṃvāra-paryāyāḥ, words for ascetic practices and restraints; saṃvāra is also unparallelled in the sense of saṃvara; Tib. dkaḥ thub, which regularly = tapas, and sdom pa, which regularly = saṃvara. Perhaps read tapaḥ-saṃvara-; but Mironov (p. vi) cites both words as in Kyoto ed.

Tāpana, (1) m. (acc. to DPPN Pali id. = Tapana; but no reference is given; this v.l. recorded in some mss. for Tapana, n. of a hot hell, = Tapana: Mvy 4925 (but Index lists Ta° as well as Tā°, and Mironov Tapanaḥ without v.l.); (2) n. of a mountain: Māy 254.6.

tāpaniya, m. or nt., acc. to Senart solder or some substance melted and used for sealing containers: Mv iii.163.10, see s.v. tapana (1), and next. But possibly gold (in Skt. adj. golden).

tāpayati, solders: °yitvā Mv iii.163.10, see under prec. Tāpasasūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 157.13 (Lévi's note says no such title is otherwise known).

tāpya, nt., regret, grief: (mā vaḥ paścāj) jambudvī-pagatānaṃ tāpyaṃ bhaviṣyati Divy 230.10 (prose).

Tāmarā, n. of a river: Māy 253.6 (prose). Cf. Epic Skt. Tāmra, a river(?). In list between Amarā and Pañcālā.

Tāmradvīpa (was prob. known in Skt. tho not so recorded BR or pw; cf. dvīpam tāmrāhvayam Mbh. Cr. ed. 2.28.46), an earlier name for Ceylon, later replaced by (Skt.) Siṃhaladvīpa (cf. Divy 528.12): Divy 525.10, 21, 28; so also in the version of Kv reported by Burnouf, Intro. 223 f.

Tāmradvīpaka, adj., belonging to, of Tāmradvīpa: Divy 525.3.

tāmra-loha, m. or nt. (= Pali tambaloḥa), copper: °haṃ ca sānaṃ (hell-inhabitants) vilīnakam pāyayanti (mss. pāyanti) Mv i.8.5.

tāmrasāṭīya, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9083.

Tāmrākṣa, n. of a serpent: Divy 106.1, 8, 11.

Tāmrātavi, n. of a forest: Divy 102.29; 105.29 f.; 106.12. (So ed.; but perhaps merely a descriptive epithet, a copper-colored forest, or a forest of tāmra trees, any of several trees given this name in Hindu Lexx.)

tāyaṇa, °na (nt.; MIndic, = trāyaṇa, q.v.), (act of) saving: jaga-tāyanam smarati Dbh. g. 2(338).7; jaga-tāyanārtham (v.l. °trāy°) 16(352).12.

tāyin, m. (= AMg. tāi, defined as attaining salvation, i. e. holy, religious; also who protects himself and others, i. e. a Jina; Pali tādi, see below), originally Prakritic for Pali tādi(n) = Skt. tāḍr̥ś; see tāḍr̥(n), tāḍr̥śa(ka). The identity of the two words can hardly be questioned. The mg. of Pali tādi(n) is also quite clear, such (= tādrś); doubt remains only as to whether this meant originally such as the Buddha, of the same quality as He, or such as a religious man ought to be, thus holy, following the path of true religion. On the Pali see esp. Childers s.v., also Senart on Mv ii.256.9, where BHS uses evamrūpa in nearly the same sense; Senart points out that tathārūpa glosses tādi in Dh. comm. Acc. to Childers tādi is usually applied to holy men, only rarely to Buddha. In BHS tāyin most often applies to Buddhas, but also fairly often to Bodhisattvas, and occasionally to other holy men. Once, at least, tādrśaka, q.v., is clearly applied to a Buddha, like tāyin. These facts all together make it seem clear to me that the etym. and original mg. are as stated above. It is true that Tib. (see on Mvy below) interprets tāyin as if for trāyin, rendering protector or the like; some modern scholars (Burnouf, Lotus 16, on vs 73 of Chap. 1; pw 7.345 'wohl nur fehlerhaft für trāyin') assume that this was the etym. and primary mg. of tāyin. But against this stands not only Pali but BHS tādrśa(ka), tādr(n)-. Tib. doubtless has a secondary popular etymology. The forms are typical of in-stems: tāyi n. sg. (SP 45.13; Mvy 15, 1746), tāyinaḥ gen. sg. (SP 69.2; 208.7, etc.), °nām gen. pl. (SP 176.8 etc.), tāyibhiḥ (LV 388.13), etc. Occasionally the mss. write corruptly tāpin (so Mv ii.349.12 text, prob. mere misprint; Mmk 98.8; 499.19; 599.20; 600.17). (1) Used of others than Bodhisattvas and Buddhas, holy: anigho tāyi tam āhu śrotriyam ti Mv iii.400.2; ariyo (mss., Senart āryo) tāyi pravuccati tathatvā 400.6; in iii.397.2 read, śramaṇo tāyi (mss. bhāvayī, Senart tādi, cf. 400.6) pravuccati tathatvā, he is called in truth a monk, a holy man (or, one such as the Buddha, or, such as he should be); tāyi sa sarvām (read °vam) prajahāti duḥkham Ud xix.1, in later version of line which in oldest ms. reads prahāsate (= °syate) sarvabhavāni tādrśāḥ, the holy man (men) gets (will get) rid of all misery (states of being): (2) used of Bodhisattvas (other than Śākyamuni in his last existence, when in laudations he is often given epithets of a Buddha, even before his enlightenment): SP 304.5 (vs; buddhaputrasya tāyinaḥ), 12; 306.1; Mv ii.370.1 (vs, buddhaputrāna tāyinaḥ); Sādh 93.10 (of Mañjuvajra = Mañjuśrī); Dbh 29(55).14(? reference not clear); (3) but most commonly of the Buddha (Śākyamuni) or of any or all Buddhas: Mvy 15 (text trāyi, tāyi, but Mironov tāyi without v.l.; Tib. skyob pa, protector); 1746 (tāyi; Tib. skyob ston, protector-teacher); SP 25.1; 45.13; 69.2; 116.9 (tāyinaḥ, for the Buddha; wrongly Kern); 176.8; 208.7; 303.13; 331.8; LV 122.20 (tāyino with v.l. for kāyi no); 388.13; 421.5; Mv ii.349.12 = iii.273.11; ii.351.8, 14; 352.15; 353.17; iii.109.20; 124.20; 445.17; Av ii.199.4; Suv 17.11; Śikṣ 260.11; Mmk 98.8; 125.15; 320.14; 375.10, 15; 442.9; 499.19; 599.20; 600.17; nikṣiptaḥ sādhu tāyinaḥ Divy 712.7. All these passages (except Mvy where the word is cited alone) are verses; they are not exhaustive, but it is doubtful whether tāyin occurs anywhere in prose.

tāraka, m. (°kā, f.; Skt. and Pali; °ka, said by Ratnach. to be nt., AMg.), pupil of the eye: °kaḥ Mvy 3945 = Tib. mig gi ḥbras bu, lit. fruit (cf. Eng. apple) of the eye.

Tārakākṣa (cf. Tārākṣa), n. of a mountain: Divy 102.29 (Nilodas Tār° ca parvatau).

Tārakopama, n. of a kalpa: ŚsP 309.9; AsP 366.12; 458.7.

tārapanyika, m. (tarapanya plus -ika; cited BR as tara°, but Mironov also tāra° with no v.l.), ferryman: Mvy 380.4.

Tārā, n. of a Buddhistic goddess: Mvy 4280; Dharmas 4; Sādh 18.16 etc.; Mmk 10.16, at the head of a list of vidyārājñī; 40.10; 65.9, called 'compassion of Avalokiteśvara', Āryāvalokiteśvara-karuṇā; 69.16; 312.6; 576.11 etc.; 647.12 ff.

Tārākṣa (cf. Tārakākṣa), n. of a rākṣasa: Divy 105.2, 6 (called a daka-rākṣasa), and by em. text 104.21, where mss. Raktākṣa, Raktāka (described as raktanetraḥ); he lives Nilode mahāsamudre.

tārāyaṇa- (m. or nt.), once °nī, n. or epithet of the bodhi-tree, only noted in LV; Tib. śiñ sgröl rgyu, cause-of-salvation-tree (deriving from tārayati): °ṇa-mūle LV 381.3; 392.7; -samīpe 381.11; -mūlam 385.11; 396.17; 398.11; these both prose and vs; °nī-mūlam 387.4 (vs, meter requires long stem-final).

tārāvarta, m. or nt., some kind of flower: °ta-puṣpam juhuyāt Mmk 684.25 (prose).

Tārīnī = Tārā: Sādh 208.2 (prose), etc.

Tāreśvararāja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 80.26.

tāla, nt. (in Skt. only m., and so BHS usually), palm-tree: (sarvasmāc ca tālād ratnasūtrād, so read with Calc. for Lefm. °trā) dvitiye tālam avasaktam abhūt LV 273.22 (prose), and from a jewel-thread (extending from each palm-tree, (each) palm-tree was attached to the next. As a measure of length or esp. height, tāla, palm-tree, occurs also in Skt. (BR), and much oftener in BHS, where previous translators often erroneously render span, esp. in the cpd. sapta-tāla; but this (= Pali satta-tāla) means, as in Pali, seven palm-trees, and so tāla regularly (confirmed by Tib., regularly śiñ ta la, tāla-tree). Acc. to Mv ii.313.3 ff. a tāla is one-eighth of a krośa, and eight times a pauruṣeya 3, q.v. In LV 14.11 the cakra-ratna of the cakravartin is saptatālam uccaḥ; in LV 154.5 a metal figure of a boar (ayasmayī varāhapratimā) measures 7 tālas (read saptatālā as one word); in LV 273.19 a vedikā is saptatālam uccaistvena; in Av ii.104.4, 14 a throne is saptatālodgatam; in SP 428.10 kūtāgāram abhiruhyā vaihāyasa saptatālamātreṇa, having mounted a tower-house seven tālas high in the air. Most commonly used as a measure of height to which someone, esp. Buddha, magically rises in the air; one tāla only, tālamātram (vaihāyasam . . .) Mv i.239.18; iii.107.12, 13; 108.5; 411.13, 15; oftener sapta-tāla-mātram vaihāyasam abhyudgama, or variations on this, SP 459.11; 465.7; LV 18.16 (here a Pratyekabuddha, rising 7 tālas, passes thru the 'fire-element', tejodhātu, and disappears); 350.20-21; Lañk 16.6; Divy 252.16.

tālaka, (1) nt. (= Skt. Lex. id. and Skt. tāla), lock: Mvy 5905 = Tib. sgo lcags, door-lock; cf. pratītālaka; (2) nt., a kind of ornament, acc. to Tib. shaped like a palm-leaf: Mvy 6029 = Tib. rgyan ta la ḥdad.

Tāladhvaja, nt., n. of a city (in the south): Gv 154.20; 155.10. (In Skt. m. as n. of a mountain, and °jā, f., cited Lex. as n. of a city.)

tāla-mukta (Mvy) or °ta-ka (MSV), adj., designates a kind of person not to be accepted as a monk: Mvy 8796; MSV iv.68.14. Acc. to Chin. on Mvy, one who mixes liquor (from the palm tree) with his food. Tib. obscure, perhaps similar to Chin.

tālavanṭaka, nt. (= Pali °vanṭa, Skt. °vṛnta), (palm-leaf) fan: °kāni Mv ii.475.8; 477.5. See also tālavṛndaka. [tālavastu? see kālavastu.]

tiṭilambha, nt., a high number: °bhaṃ (= 100 nāga-bala) LV 148.3; cited Mvy 796.4 as tiṭilam, but Tib. in both places ṅogs (! regularly = Skt. tira) ḥthob (= Skt. labh-, lambh-), confirming -lambha as the last part. Cf. also tiṭibha.

tiṭila, m., bat (the animal): Mvy 4913; so acc. to Tib. pha bañ (lbañ).

tipyaka, nt., acc. to Tib. as cited in note sgo bead, locked door, but context suggests rather bucket or container attached to a rope, with which water is drawn from a well: MSV i.24.14 (a brahman, thinking the Buddha will damage his well, tato rajjūṃ tipyakam ca gopāyitvā sthitāḥ; 25.1 (inviting Buddha to use the well) iyaṃ rajjur idam tipyakam, grṇṇātu pāṇiyam).

(timinḡala, also Skt., Ind. St. 14.106, and Pali id., more usually Skt. °gila, m., a kind of sea-monster: Divy 229.22 (so mss., ed. em. °gila); elsewhere, as 232.4, mss. °gila; in 502.19 mss. mostly °gira, cf. next, and timinḡila.)

Timinḡira (cf. prec.), n. of a nāga king: Kv 2.10. (timitiminḡila, m., cf. prec. two, once in Skt., BR; Pali °gala; a kind of sea-monster: Mv i.245.2, 15, 17, etc.; iii.454.3, where if I understand Senart his mss. read timitimi° and he em. to timinḡ° for metrical reasons, an insufficient ground in this instance, meter being bad in any case; Divy 231.16; 239.29; 502.19, here associated with timinḡila.)

timira, m. (cf. Skt. °ra, nt., darkness; obscuration of vision, an eye-disease), veiling illusion: °ro mṛgatṛṣṇā vā svapno vandyāprasūyatam Lañk 9.2 (vs); in prec. line māyā etc.

Timirāpagata, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 578; ŚsP 1421.14.

timirikṛta, ppp. of *timiri- (to Skt. timira)-karoti, blinded: °ta-netro Divy 103.14.

Timisikā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: MSV i.17.9. Perh. cf. timisaka.

? timisrā (for Skt. tamisrā; cf. Pali timissā, Jāt. iii.433.10), darkness, gloom; perh. to be read in Mv i.229.20; 240.10; iii.334.7, instead of tamisrā; cf. next, and s.v. lokāntarikā.

? timisrāyita-tva, see tamisr°; the corrupt mss.

on the whole favor tam°, but sometimes (as at Mv iii.334.8) tim°. Cf. prec.

timīsaka, adj. (§ 3.2; cf. AMg. timissa-, °ssā, Skt. tamisra; Pali timisa), dark: yathā ca bhavanam mahyam andhakāra-timīsakam (dark as night) Mv ii.398.5 = 401.17 (vs); so mss. at 398.5; in 401.17 timāsakam; Senart em. tamisrakam both times.

-tiraka (= Skt. tilaka), speck, spot: lipiphalakam ādāya divyārṣa-suvarṇa-tirakam LV 125.17-18 (prose), so Lefm.; the mss. vary, and none has exactly divyārṣa-, but all but one have -tirakam (that one -tilakam); taking a writing-board with . . . golden (decorative) spots (Foucaux paillettes, spangles).

tiraccha, or (?) tirakṣa (hyper-Skt.?), adj.-subst. (= Pali id., in °bhūta, gone astray, going wrong; cf. next, and tiriccha, °cchāna, tirya; Skt. tiraśc-a, Wackernagel 3.230; § 2.12) animal (sub-human): °ccheṣūpapadyante Mv i.31.8 (prose); in 12 below tiriccha; Mv ii.195.2 (vs), read, paśya tirakṣa-(or, as intended by v.l., tiraccha)-bhūtena karmaṃ upacitam śubham (Kern, IF. 31.195).

tiracchāna (m.; = Pali id.; cf. Skt. tiraścāna; ā for ī due to some analogy, somehow related to the stem-final of tiraccha, q.v. for other forms), animal (sub-human): °na-cārikam Mv i.27.2, 4, journey to the animals (cf. tirayagoniṣu 4); °na-yoniyam iii.274.16, see s.v. tiricchāna; °na-gata (= Pali id.), existing in the state of an animal: °gatam Mv i.17.5 (acc. pl.); °gatāye (v.l. tiricchāna-q.v.) iii.153.19.

tiras-, tiraskṛta- (cf. Pali tiro, outside, esp. as prior member of cpds.), in comp. with -prāṭiveśya, taken by Divy Index (and pw) as meaning near (neighbor), but rather outside (neighbor), (neighbor) living outside (one's own house): tiraḥprāṭiveśya-suhr̥t-svajanaādibhyo Divy 234.24; tena tiraḥprāṭiveśyāḥ prṣṭāḥ 272.4; tiraskṛta-prāṭiveśya-sajana-(read -svajana-?)-yuvatyaś 235.19. See also s.v. tiryak, where it is suggested that even Skt. tiras may have this mg. in Märk. Pur. 17.3 (BR s.v. 2a).

tiriccha m. (= AMg. id., oblique, slanting, and °cchiya, animal; the penultimate ī by 'samprasāraṇa' from tirya(k), cf. § 3.115; see next, and s.v. tiraccha), animal (sub-human): naraka-tiriccha-pretāsūreṣu kāyeṣu Mv i.31.12 (cf. tiraccha, line 8 above); similarly 32.17; eṣo hi mārgo narake tiricche ii.324.10; narakān tiricchām 344.17; nāyam (na te) tiriccho (°cchā) . . . vāyam tiricchā Mv i.365.8-9; ii.236.11-12, said in recognition of greater virtue shown by an animal than by human beings.

tiricchāna (m.; nowhere recorded, but cf. prec. and tiracchāna), animal (sub-human): °na-yoniyam (loc.) Mv ii.350.14 (vs) = iii.274.16 which reads tiracchāna; kuto imasyā (mss. °sya) tiricchāna-gatāye mṛḡiye mānuṣo apatyo Mv iii.144.3 (prose); in similar phrase 153.19 Senart tiracchāna-gatāye mṛḡiye, with one ms., v.l. tiricchāna°.

tiriṭi, °ṭi (cf. Skt. tiriṭa, Symplocos racemosa; Pali °ṭa, °ṭaka, this tree, also a garment made of its bark), a garment of bark (of the above-tree): °ṭim dhārayitum, tiriṭi iti vākalāḥ MSV ii.94.13; °ṭim ib. 91.17.

tirya, adj. and subst. (= Skt. tiryāñc, tiryak, § 15.3, cf. Pali tiryam, adv., and AMg. tiri, tirya, adj. and subst. animal; spelling tiryia not recorded in BHS but metrically demanded in Mmk 107.27, 28), (1) adj. oblique, transverse: ākāśagamanam cāpi tiryam cāpi nabhastale Mmk 148.20 (vs; perhaps adv., or adj. with -gamanam understood); (2) subst., animal (sub-human): tiryāṇa (gen. pl.; separate word) yoniṣu ca so sadā ramī SP 97.2 (vs); tiryāṇa yoniṣu 358.13 (vs); tiryā, n. pl., LV 336.3 (vs); meter seems to demand tiryia, contrary to text, in tiryebhyo dadau vratī Mmk 107.27 and °bhyo tu dattvā vai 28 (vss). Also for the Skt. cpds. tiryag-gata and °gatī, tiryā-occurs m.c., Samādh 19.17; Suv 48.1; RP 27.10 (text here tiry°); 32.8. The stem tiryia has been recorded only in verses.

The AMg. form tiri, with 'samprasāraṇa', suggests the origin of the penultimate i of tīriccha, °cchāna.

tiryak, adv. (used in the sense of Pali tiro, BHS tiras, tiraskṛta, q.v.); the converse use of Skt. tīras in the sense of tiryak, crosswise, is recorded by BR s.v. 2a from lexicons, and once in Märk. Pur.; but in this one passage it seems to me that tīras may have its Pali mg. of outside, away, afar, outside, away, afar, in contrast with iha; neha na tiryak nobhayam antarā Śikṣ 252.15, not here, not afar, not between the two. (Bendall and Rouse, Transl. 234 line 2, across; but this seems manifest nonsense in the context.)

tiryakkāma-(sevin), (one addicted to) bestiality, sexual love of animals: °vī Śikṣ 75.17 (punishment for this sin in future lives is described).

tiryāgyonika, adj. (also tairyaḡ°; cf. Pali tiracchāna-yonika), belonging to the animal state of existence: °kānān (sc. sattvānām) anyonyabhakṣaṇādīduḥkham LV 86.12.

Tiryāg-lokadhātu, m. or f., n. of a fabulous lokadhātu where people walk on all fours: Mvy 3070; Tib. thad ka = tiryak (Das).

tilakocavaka, nt., a kind of arrowhead: Mvy 6099 (in a list of weapons); acc. to Tib. (mde lu zur bzhi pa) and Jap., an arrowhead with four edges or blades; Chin. arrowhead with four layers (?). I see no etymology for the word; Skt. tila plus BHS kocavaka, q.v., seems to make no sense.

tiṣṭhatu (3 sg. impv. of sthā; = Pali tiṭṭhatu; so far as I know, not so used in Skt.), be it so! all right! as formula of assent: tiṣṭhatu tāva LV 287.19 (vs), in Svastika's response to the Bodhisattva's request for grass; rendered by Tib. freely, khyod bzhes śig, do you take it! (qy: did Tib. possibly take tāva as = tava, and understand literally let it remain yours?).

tiṣṭhantika, adj. (= pres. pple. tiṣṭhant-; we should expect °ta-ka, but there is no v.l.; -ika is abnormal here; gender is m.), remaining (in the world, of Buddhas, contrasting with nirvṛta, entered into nirvāṇa): dattā aprati-meṣu maitramanasā tiṣṭhantike (so read, both edd. °ti ke) nirvṛte LV 291.14 (vs), were given with loving heart to the Matchless Ones (Buddhas), to (one) that was remaining in the world, (and) to (another) who had entered nirvāṇa. Cf. Senart, Mv i.568, who reads this word correctly, equating it with tiṣṭhamāno (mahāvīro) i.252.12, but wrongly understands 'nirvṛte; Tib., at least, supports my interpretation: byams pañi yid kyiś do zla med par bzhugs (remaining) dañ (and) mya ṅan ḥdas la (= nirvṛta) phul.

tiṣṭha-vākya, adj. (cf. Pali tiṭṭha-bhadantika, one who says to a guest, 'wait, sir!'), one who says (to a guest) wait!: na ca yatra svānu (= Skt. śvā) bhavati na cāhi-taṃ tena (te na?) tiṣṭhavākyaśya LV 258.7 (vs). Acc. to Foucaux's Note, p. 161, Tib. (omitted in F.'s ed.) indicates a reading tiṣṭha vā gaccha.

Ṭiṣya, (1) (= Pali Tissa), n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.240.5; 241.15; 243.12; 244.3; 245.14 f.; 247.8; 248.17; LV 5.10; 172.3 (so read for Lefm. Tikṣṇa, confirmed by Tib. ḥod ldan, as in Mvy 1046 = Ṭiṣya; divide Ṭiṣya lohamuṣṭinā); Sukh 6.3; Gv 206.12; (2) n. of a future Buddha: Gv 441.25, in a list of them; cf. Pali Tissa, 2 in 'DPPN, also in such a list, but the lists do not otherwise correspond; (3) (= Pali Tissa, in same vs, DN ii.261.13, cf. DPPN Tissa 6) n. of a Mahābrahmā: Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 191.11; (4) (= Pali Tissa, 5 of DPPN) n. of one of the leading disciples (agraśrāvaka) of the Buddha Kāśyapa: Mv i.307.4, 17; (5) in a list of cakravartī-rājānaḥ, Mvy 3605 (Tib. rgyal), but the adjoining names are mostly only those of Śākya nobles, contemporaries of the Buddha, incl. even Siddhārtha (!); stands between Nanda and Bhadrīka; (6) as n. for Śāriputra (otherwise Upatiṣya): SP 91.7 (vs); (7) n. of a brother of Śāriputra: Mv iii.56.11;

(8) n. of Śāriputra's father: Av ii.186.6; (9) in a list of 'disciples' (śrāvaka): Mvy 1046 (Tib. ḥod ldan); followed immediately by Upatiṣya; Śāriputra is named, 1032, in the same list; various monks of the name Tissa are mentioned in Pali, see DPPN; (10) n. of a householder (Kātyāyana and attained enlightenment: Divy 551.6 ff.; 571.3, 5; apparently not the same as Pali Tissa, 13 in DPPN, a rājā of Roruva (= Rauruka).

Ṭiṣyarakṣitā (cf. Pali Tissarakkhā, here Asoka's second wife), n. of the chief queen of Aśoka: out of jealousy she plotted to destroy the bodhi-tree (as in Pali): Divy 397.21 ff.; made advances to Kunāla, and being rebuffed plotted his ruin, 407.5 ff.

tiṣra-loka, see § 19.8.

Tikṣṇa, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3314.

[tikṣṇam, in SP 149.2 (sa ca bhagavān . . .) sthitvā tikṣṇam dharmam deśayiṣyati, read (a)bhikṣṇam with WT and their ms. K'; so Tib. rtag tu, constantly.]

Tikṣṇagandha, m. pl., n. of a tribe of serpents living in the Saptāśvīva rivers: Divy 107.22.

tikṣṇendriya, adj. (tikṣṇa-indriya; = Pali tikkhindriya), of keen senses or faculties: AsP 387.3 (cited s.v. ātikṣṇendriya).

timayati (cf. Dhātup. tim- = Skt. tim-; M. timia, ppp.), makes wet, sprinkles: sugandhatailena ca vastrāṇi timayitvā Divy 285.25.

tira (m. or nt.), side (of a mountain): (parvatasya vaiḥyavarasya) uttare ca (so mss., Senart uttarasmi) tīre varapāśve Mv i.70.17 (vs).

tiraṇa (= Pali id.) = saṃtiraṇa, q.v.: AbhidhK. LaV-P. i.81.

-tīriyaka, adj. or subst. (§ 22.20; cf. Pali -tīriya, Vin. ii.287.4), dwelling (one who dwells) on the bank: samudra-t° Mvy 7149 (Tib. ṅogs na gnas pa, dwelling on the bank).

tīrthaka (°ika), see sama-tīrthika.

tīrtha-kara (see the foll. items; = Pali titthakara; cf. Skt. tīrthamkara, used by Jains of their own sect-founders; in BHS as in Pali always pejorative, of heretics; see however s.v. tīrthika), heretical sectarian, heresiarch, founder of a heresy; śramaṇa-brāhmaṇa-tīrthakareḥi Mv i.234.17; °karā nigrhitāḥ Av ii.187.3; °karāṇam Lañk 11.12. All prose.

tīrthika (also para-t°; see prec. and next items; prob. Skitized from MIndic (Pali) titthiya, see tīrthya; both are very common in prose as well as vss), (1) heretic; like its relatives, pejoratively used; there is one seeming exception, tīrthikā vā bhavanti bhavasūdanāḥ Mv i.106.8 (vs), where if the text is correct it seems to be said of Bodhisattvas in the 8th bhūmi that they become religious prophets (or the like), destroying (the states of normal) existence. I suspect a corruption, and cannot explain the text as it stands any more than Senart (his doubtful suggestion based on LV Calc. 313.19 falls now with the reading of that text, which in Lefm. 250.1 is replaced by . . . tīrthyāḥ, heretics, kurvante). However, it is barely possible that this one Mv passage preserves the original neutral mg., adherent (or founder) of (any) religion. A trace of this may also remain in the not infrequent prefixation of anya- to t°, other (than Buddhist) sectarian, LV 268.12; Mv iii.49.12 (anyatīrthikapūro, formerly a member of another sect); 412.7; or para-t°, q.v.; cf. kutīrthikā(h) LV 12.10, members of base (heretical) sects. Otherwise, and very often, tīrthika alone means heretic simply: SP 272.10; LV 250.21; 258.1; 260.9; Mv i.45.10; 69.17; ii.135.12; iii.392.7 (śramaṇa-brāhmaṇa-tīrthika-gaṇikā, apparently implying that brahmins were not included among tīrthikas; this cpd. appears in some of the other passages listed); Mvy 3514; Divy 146.19; 152.5; 275.9; Av i.2.6; 16.3 etc., common; Bhad 52; Bbh 173.11 etc.; yat kimcit tīrthikalīṅgaṃ... LV 409.17; Mv iii.329.11, whatever (external) mark (dress etc.) of heretics (was borne by converts, all magically disappeared and they wore the aspect of Buddhist monks); tīrthikāvākrāntaka, see avākrāntaka; (2) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3320; (3) see s.v. sama-tīrthika.

tīrthikara, heresiarch, founder of a heretical sect: Śiṅṣ 317.17 (prose). Prob. a mere error for tīrthakara; but cf. tīrthyakara, which tīrthi° might represent by 'samprāsāraṇa'.

tīrthya (= tīrthika, q.v.; Pali titthiya), heretic: LV 248.14; 250.1; Divy 81.7, 9; 126.18; 127.25 ff.; 143.13 ff., etc.; Av i.112.7, etc.; Dbh 47.3; Lañk 2.7; 7.16; common in prose as well as vss, tho in most texts less common than tīrthika; para-t° RP 3.16; tīrthyāyatana, see āyatana (2). See next.

tīrthyaka, m., = prec.: MSV i.79.17 f.; ii.204.10 (prose).

tīrthya-kara, founder of a heretical sect: Mvy 3513; = tīrthakara, which one is tempted to read here, but Mironov also °ya; no v.l.; cf. tīrthikara which perhaps supports this.

tivra, adj. (like Pali tibba, hardly Skt., used of religiously and morally good activity), adv. tivram, zealously: mātāpiṭṭṣu viro upasthapetvā tivram paricarati Mv ii.220.18 (vs), zealously waited upon (his parents).

tu, but, recorded at the beginning of a sentence: tu tava vijite catvāraḥ prāṇinaḥ... MSV iii.130.1. Unless some word has been lost or transposed, no other interpretation seems possible.

tucchaka, adj. (Skt. Lex. and Pali id., acc. to PTSD 'always with rittaka' = BHS riktaka; = Skt. tuccha, with -ka, prob. pejorative), empty, vain, only with riktaka and asāraka, see under the latter; Mv ii.145.19; AsP 346.10.

[tujyo Mv iii.74.2, presumably taken by Senart as 2 pers. pron., tho his Notes and Index ignore the form; read (ca-)turya, see s.v. caturya.]

tuṇa (m. or nt.; cf. tūṇa, tuṇava; AMg. tuṇā [tuṇa?], an unidentified mus. instrument), some musical instrument: in lists, tuṇa-panava-mṛdaṅgāṃ LV 80.5; tuṇa-veṇu-(text vainu)-ravaiḥ 173.9; tuṇa-viṇā-sughoṣakādi-bhiḥ 177.14. Tib. confused; it may intend this word by rgyud gcig (pa) in the first two (see under tuṇava), but if so the order varies from our text; on 177.14 this Tib. word does not occur, and tuṇa may be glīn bu (otherwise = veṇu or vamaśa), altho the order suggests sgra sñan, but this elsewhere = sughoṣaka. In spite of Tib., which suggests a stringed (or in 177.14 a wind?) instrument, perhaps really a kind of drum.

tuṇatuṇāyati (cf. prec.?), onomat., used of the sound made by the kokila: kokilā °yanti Mv iii.256.2 (v.l. bhūṇa-bhūṇā°).

tuṇava, m. (? cf. Skt. tūṇava, acc. to BR a wooden wind instrument, perhaps flute; Pali tiṇava, AN ii.117.6, acc. to comm. iii.121.15 = deḍḍimo or diṇḍ°, a kind of drum; see tuṇa, tūṇa), some musical instrument, possibly a kind of drum; but acc. to regular Tib. renderings a one-stringed instrument of the viṇā type: °vaḥ Mvy 5015 = Tib. pi waḥ (= viṇā) rgyud gcig pa (one-stringed); on LV and SP Tib. regularly rgyud gcig (pa); in lists, -paṇava-tuṇava-viṇā- LV 163.6 (here om. in Tib.); tuṇava-panava-viṇā-veṇu- 212.3; -paṇava-tuṇava-(so mss., except one tuṇa-panava-; Lefm. tūṇava-)-viṇā- 301.15; in SP 51.13 read tuṇavā(h) with Kashgar rec., WT, and Tib. rgyud gcig, for KN praṇadā.

tuṇḍa (m. or nt.; in Skt. beak, snout, of birds and animals, only contemptuously of men; so Pali tuṇḍa and °ḍaka; cf. next), (1) face (?), of men, as a part shaven: śiras-tuṇḍa-muṇḍa Śiṅṣ 59.17 and 68.2 -(Transl. once cheek, once chin), of monks, shaven of head and face; śiras-tuṇḍa-muṇḍana Bbh 194.5; (2) in Vajra-tuṇḍī, Bhvr. cpd., q.v., Hoernle assumes tuṇḍa, navel (cf. Skt. Lex. tuṇḍī, tuṇḍikā, tunda, late Skt. tundikā, Schmidt, Nachträge); (3) in tuṇḍa-bandham Mmk 110.9, uncertain, possibly (binding of the belly? (Skt. tunda, pot-belly; AMg. tunda, belly); but possibly face, as in (1), or mouth); (4) trunk of an elephant: na hasti-tuṇḍāvalambitām Mvy 8528.

tuṇḍaka (m. or nt.; = Pali id., Skt. tuṇḍa; see under prec.), (1) muzzle, of a dog: mukha-tu° Karmav 28.23; (2) face or mouth, of a man, not contemptuously (pādāyor) nipatito (400.18 patito) mukha-tuṇḍakena ca pādāv anuparimārjya Divy 387.7; 400.18, said of King Aśoka, paying his respects to holy men.

Tuṇḍaturika, n. of a mountain (where Pūrṇa 1 stayed): °kāto parvatāto Mv i.245.11 (prose, no v.l.).

tuṇḍi-cela, nt. with this mg. of tuṇḍī, excellent, related to tuṇḍa, q.v., cf. Skt. mukha in same mg.; Pkt. tuṇḍa = agra-bhāga, Sheth), a fine garment: Mvy 5884 = Chin. beautiful garment; Tib. bzhaḡ (gzhaḡ) gos, which I cannot interpret thus, but the Chin. is confirmed by the surrounding words (5883 kalpaduṣyam) and by Divy 221.19 (kalpaduṣyavrksaiś caturvidhāni tuṇḍicelāni (this om. in mss.) taiś tuṇḍicelaiś caturvidhāni kalpaduṣyāni. tudana- or °nā- (n. acc. to tudati plus -ana), piercing: śalyavat tudanātmakaḥ (kāyaḥ) Śiṅṣ 231.2.

tumbaka (m. or nt.; in Skt. a gourd), acc. to Tib. lamp-oil vessel (among monks' belongings): MSV iv.107.12.

Tumburu (in Skt. n. of a gandharva), n. of a yakṣa, brother of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhagīni: Mmk 523.11 (read Tumburoḥ); 534.1; 575.10; called a sārthavāha and karnadhāra, 537.2; 538.1; et alibi in Mmk.

turiya (nt. or m.; = Pali id., MIndic for Skt. tūrya), musical instrument; common in vss of LV, e.g. 54.6 (v.l. tūry°); 161.17 (v.l. tūry°); 164.20; 169.22; sometimes turiya and tūrya in the same sentence, LV 175.15 and 16 (no v.l.). Buṭ in Mv iii.122.16 (vs) turiya is Senart's em., mss. tūrya (which is metrically inferior).

tulaka, m., apparently counsellor (of a king), or the like: Divy 212.9 rājño ... amātyāś cintakāś tulakāś upaparīkṣakāś ...; 212.11; cf. tulanā.

Tulakuci, m., n. of an ancestor of Aśoka: °cī, n. sg., and °ceḥ, gen., Divy 369.11 (prose).

tulana, nt., a high number: Mvy 7725; 7851 (cited from Gv); Gv 105.24. In Gv 133.7 ulana, q.v.

tulanā (= Pali id.; in this mg. Skt. only tulana, nt.), weighing (mentally), consideration: Mvy 6472; Bbh 193.26 (foll. in comp. by upaparīkṣaṇā); ŚsP 615.11 (foll. in comp. by vyupaparīkṣaṇatā).

tulākūṭa, (m. or nt.; = Pali id.), cheating in weights: Śiṅṣ 269.2 na °ṭena; as Bhvr., one who cheats in weights, Bbh 29.1 (kāmsakūṭa, q.v.)-tulākūṭādiḥ; SP 402.10 (vs) yā gatis tulakūṭānām (ā m.c.)

tulya, adj., used in a peculiar sense in SP, and as I think misunderstood by Burnouf and Kern: equal in the sense of equally available, open to choice (said of different forms of dharma, religion, and specifically thinking of the three yānas): tulye (so with Kashgar rec., text tulya-) nāma dharmadhātupraveṣe SP 60.8 (prose), when entrance into the sphere of religion is, after all (nāma), alike (all the same, open to free choice); the sequel complains that the speaker has been given only the hina yāna by the Buddha; tulyeṣu dharmeṣu SP 61.12; 62.2 (both vss). Chinese versions confirm this interpretation.

Tuṣita (= Pali Tusita; see deva), n. of a class of kāmāvacara gods: Mvy 3081; Dharmas 127; sg. Divy 140.14; tuṣitakāyiko devaputro Mv iii.345.16; same, sg. or pl., LV 124.12; 183.17; 363.21; tuṣitabhavanakāyiko devaputro Mv i.174.1; tuṣitavarabhavana- LV 4.18-19; 7.21; tuṣitālaya LV 411.20; °te devanikāye Divy 83.2; Bbh 271.2 f.; usually pl. with, or sc., pl. of deva, often in lists of classes of gods, Mv i.212.15; 229.15; ii.16.4; LV 46.20; 150.3; 219.8; 396.15; 401.10; Divy 68.13; 140.13; 195.22; 367.10; Av i.5.1 etc.; Suv 86.10; Mmk 19.12; et passim, common everywhere. Their chief is Samtuṣita, q.v.; in Divy 140.14, by exception (just like Yāma, q.v.), Tuṣita (n. of the class in the sg.) is their chief.

tūṇa, and tūṇaka (m. or nt.; cf. tuṇa, and AMg. tūṇaya), a musical instrument, perhaps a kind of drum (= tuṇa?): tūṇa- (Senart em. tūṇava-)-paṇava-vīṇā- (so read; Senart veṇu-) Mv iii.113.5; kācit (of the harem-women) tūṇakam Mv ii.159.5; in same scene iii.407.18 kāci tūṇam; in these passages little evidence as to the nature of the instrument; cf. kumbhatūṇa, apparently also a kind of drum.

[tūrṇa, (m. or nt.), a high number: Gv 105.26, read vitūrṇa, q.v., with 133.9.]

Tūryaghoṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.14.

tūla, (1) m. or nt. (cf. Skt. tūlikā, and Lex. tūli, tuli, f., paintbrush), an instrument for writing (Index penkil): (rātrau pradīpena Buddhavacanam paṭhanti, atra bhūrjena prayojanam) tailena masinā kalamayā tūlena (mss. bhū^o) Divy 532.11; (2) some musical instrument, prob. = tūra (late and Lex. Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge; also AMg.; cf. Skt. tūrya), which should perhaps be read: vallaki-tūlām Mv iii.82.5 (vs, in list of mus. instruments; prob. acc. pl., rather than acc. sg. f.).

tūla-picu (m.; same cpd. Pali and Skt. Lex.), cotton (in some form; symbol of lightness): AsP 286.5 (sa punar evotkṣipyate 'vasidati tasya) calācalā buddhir bhavati, tūlapicūpamaś ca sa bhavati; Divy 210.14 and 388.14 mṛduḥ sumṛdus tad yathā tūlapicur vā karpāsapicur (q.v.) vā.

tūli or tūli (cf. Skt. and Pali tūla; Skt. Lex. tūli, tūli, paintbrush), tuft (of grass): trṇasya tūli (acc. sg.; m.c.) LV 75.1 (vs).

tūṣṇī, tūṣṇīm, indeclinable (Skt. tūṣṇīm only, even in comp., except once Lex. tūṣṇī-śīla; but Pali tuṇhī, lacking nasal, as separate word, and in tuṇhī-bhāva, -bhūta), as adv., in silence, silently: °nīm ca so āsi SP 191.4 (vs); °nīpavane veyam LV 393.2 (vs); °nī vyavasthitāḥ Divy 7.17 f.; 8.16 f.; adhivāsya bhagavāms tūṣṇī ... vyavasthitāḥ Lañk 6.15 (vs); in Divy and Av often in lieu of tūṣṇīmbabhūva, fell silent, no verb form being expressed; esp. in the formula ... kathayā samdarsya samādāpya samuttejya sampraharsya tūṣṇīm Divy 80.20; 89.11; 91.18; 189.8; 283.13; 310.6; 506.15, et alibi; Av i.63.9; 290.9; ii.89.11; also, āyusmān Ānandas tūṣṇīm Divy 201.12, 20–21; evam ukte Rāṣṭrapālo gr̥hapatiputras tūṣṇīm Av ii.119.13; tūṣṇībhāva (= Pali tuṇhī^o), silence, SP 167.9; LV 6.2, 3, 20; 392.19; 394.20 (vs, °ṣṇī^o m.c.); 416.13; Mv iii.255.4; 257.2, 3 (in 3 °nīm^o but v.l. °nī^o); 271.17; Divy 20.1; tūṣṇībhūto (= Pali tuṇhī) Mv iii.314.7; °bhutaḥ (m.c.) tūṣṇika-śobhana, adj., having the glory of a silent ascetic (Skt. tūṣṇika, silent; AMg. tūṣṇīkka, one engaging in a vow of silence), epithet of pratyekabuddhas: Mv i.301.3 (misprinted tuṣ^o), 14 (here v.l. uṣṇīṣa-śo^o, but context indicates that the silence of the pratyekabuddha is the significant thing); iii.414.3.

trṇhana(-tā), (Skt. Gr., n. acf. from the Vedic and Gr. root tr̥h), crushing: vātamaṅḍalibhūtam sarvāvaraṇa-nivaraṇa-trṇhana-tayā Gv 495.22–23, it is like a whirlwind, because it crushes all obstructions and hindrances. But Śiḥs 6.6, citing this passage, reads °trṇa-vikiraṇatayā, scattering like grass, for °trṇh^o.

trṇa-kuñcaka, nt., a kind of gem: Mvy 5972 = Tib. sbur len (or loñ), acc. to Jā. = amber, but given in Mvy 5970 as translation of pusparāga, topaz.

trṇa-prastāraka, m., sc. vinaya, or in MSV nt. with karman (= Pali tiṇavattāraka, see Childers and PTSD s.v.), (procedure) which covers over (as if) with grass, one of the 7 adhikaraṇa-śamatha: Mvy 8636 = Tib. rtsva bkram pa (strewn grass) lta bur (like) ḥos pa (suitable, fit); MSV ii.207.13.

trṭiya, adj. (= Pali tatiya, Skt. trṭiya), third; rare and only m.c. in BHS: SP 92.7; LV 111.11; by em. (mss. trṭi^o), m.c., SP 46.11; Mv i.174.16; in Gv 256.7 text trṭi^o, should be trṭi^o m.c. All vs. Cf. s.v. dvitiya.

trṭiyakam, adv. (= Pali tatiyakam, Skt. trṭiyam; see also trātiyakam), for the third time: SP 315.4, 9, 11; Mv i.347.2 ff.; iii.49.2, 7, 9; 189.8; AsP 182.13. All prose.

trdhā (hyper-Skt. for tridhā, which occurs SP 55.10), so all Nep. mss., or trvidham, Kashgar rec., in three ways: SP 56.1 (vs).

Trṭavasantagandha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.13.

trptitā (= Skt. trṭpti), satiation: na strīkāmagnebhi trṭpitām LV 324.1 (vs).

trbhava, hyper-Skt. for tri-bhava, q.v.: Gv 483.16. [trmuṅḍikṛtā, read tripuṅḍī^o: Mmk 40.9.]

trvidha, for Skt. trividha, see trdhā.

trṣ- = triṣ-(kṛtvas).

Trṣṇā (= Pali Taṇhā), (1) n. of a daughter of Māra: LV 378.4; cf. Tantrī; (2) = Skt., craving; as with Pali taṇhā, three in Buddhism, kāma-, bhava-, vibhava- (2): AbhidhK. LaV-P. v. 29.

trṣṇī (unrecorded) = trṣṇā, thirst, longing: trṣṇī-latā vichinnā LV 376.14 (vs); so Lefm. with best ms.; vv.ll. trṣṇā and drṣṭī (the latter clearly a rationalizing 'correction' of trṣṇī); trṣṇīyāḥ kāraṇābhīniveśaś ca Lañk 179.3 (prose; no v.l.; Suzuki Transl. and Index em. trṣṇā). Cf. also Tantrī, perhaps pointing to an original Trṣṇī.

Trinayana, m., n. of a region (janapada; in the south): Gv 126.26.

tri-nidāna (this category not found recorded elsewhere), the three motives (see nidāna 2) of worldly creatures, viz. rāga, dveṣa, moha: rāgaḍveṣamohatriṇidānānugatā (so, with ṇ, text!) vāteme sattvā(h) Dbh 28.4; trinidāna-sattva Dbh.g. 7(343).17.

tri-parivarta, see parivarta 1.

tri-piṭa, (1) m., °tā, f. (in Pali tipeṭaka, °kin, teṭiṭaka), (a monk or nun) who knows the three piṭakas: m. Divy 261.10, 22; 329.2, 6; 505.2; Av i.334.19 f.; f. Divy 4.938; (2) given as name to a son of King Prasenajit who was thus gifted miraculously at birth: Av ii.78.1; 79.4 ff.

tri-piṭaka, (1) nt. (= Pali id.), the 'three baskets', the Buddhist canon: Mvy 1411; (2) m., = tripiṭa (1): Divy 54.15.

-tri-puṇḍarī-kṛta, Mmk 44.13, or -tri-puṇḍī-kṛta, 40.9, ppp. (to Skt. tri-puṇḍra, JM. tipuṇḍa, with karoti; both semi-MIndic forms), having the triple puṇḍra-mark (made with ashes; both epd. with bhasma-); text in 40.9 printed ṭṛ-muṇḍī°.

Tripura, n. of a locality: Māy 88 (app. not the same as Skt. Tripurī which occurs Māy 50).

tri-puṣkara, m. or nt., app. a kind of drum ('having a triple drum-skin'): paṭaha-°ra-nināda-saṃgītiṃ Mv ii.201.20 (vs); (-ghoṣā) tri°ra-sphoṭika-sāryamāṇāḥ (? mss. °āryamāṇāḥ, āryanāmā) Mv iii.58.4 (vs), (if the em. is right, perh. sounds being emitted with rattle (? sphoṭika) of drums; or is sphoṭika (unrecorded) another musical instrument?

tri-pradakṣiṇīkṛtya, ger. (tri- plus Skt. prad°; oftener triḥ prad°, which is normal Skt.), having passed around thrice keeping on the right: Mvy 6275 (v.l. triḥ, so Mironov without v.l.); Av i.321.3 (mss., ed. em. triḥ); LV 68.1 and 69.14 (all mss.); also °ṇi-kṛtvā LV 253.21 (prose).

? triphala (m. or nt.), in °la-vāhakā dārakāḥ LV 132.18 (prose), form uncertain (vv.ll. triphara, trisphara, tisthara; Calc. tila); acc. to Tib. khriḥu, a small stool or chair, seat; Foucaux's Note 126 suggests reading tri(s)paḥa (Skt. tripadikā is recorded as tripod in a lexical citation, BR, and tripāda allegedly in Kauś. but not in 26.41 as BR state).

Triphalin, n. of a yakṣa or gandharva: Māy 237.3; Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4.175.3.

tri-bhava (= Pali tibhava, nt., see Childers), the triple states of existence (kāma, rūpa, and arūpa): yadi sarvabhayaṃ tribhava na bhavet Mv ii.149.17 (vs); sarvasattvān . . . tribhava vilagnān SP 128.1 (vs); tribhavaśvaraḥ (= the Buddha) Lañk 6.9 (vs); (see s.v. vartmīya) Mmk 26.22. See also ṭṛbhava.

Trimāṅgala, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.14.

tri-maṅḍala (nt.; not noted in Pali in these senses), lit. the three circles or spheres: (1) of giving, viz. the giver, recipient, and act of giving; all must be 'pure', i. e. unselfish: (dānasya) dāyakasya pratigrāhakasya trimaṅḍalapariśuddhyā dānapāramitā paripūrītā bhavati ŚsP 92.15; °la-pariśuddham Mvy 2537 = Tib. ḥkhor gsum (see Das s.v.) yoṅs su dag pa; trimaṅḍala-pariśodhana-dāna-parityāgi LV 181.8 (said of Buddha); dadato dattvā ca trimaṅḍala-pariśodhitam dānaprāmodyam Śiḥ 183.11; (2) tri-maṅḍalaṃ kṛtvā pūrvam śāstuh praṇāmanam kārayitvā . . . śaraṇagamana-śiḥṣāpadāni dadāti Bhik 9a.4, here prob. threefold sacred plot of ground (for the rite), see maṅḍala (1), maṅḍalaka (3). In Lañk 35.5 tri-maṅḍala-padam a-trimaṅḍalapadam, formulaic, no context; precise mg. obscure.

triyadhva-, only in vss for tryadhva(n), of present, triśkarma, (nt.) triple activity, i. e., presumably, acts of body, speech, and mind: °ma-pariśuddha- (. . . vaiśā-radyam, sc. of Bodhisattvas) Mvy 783.

triśkāla, (1) m. (= Skt. trikāla, BHS tryadhvan), the three times, past, present, future: °laḥ Mvy 8322 (= tryadhvan 8321); (2) adj.? or subst. m.? (Skt. trikāla), (at) the three times of day, morning, noon, and night; °lam, and m.c. °la, adv., at (these) three times: divase-divase °lam darśanāya Divy 274.4 (prose); °la vṛkṣehi pravaraṣyantu Suv 41.6 (vs); cited with var. Śiḥ 218.15, let them cause (flowers etc., objects listed in prec. lines) to rain from trees (so Tib.; see Nobel's note) thrice daily.

triṣ-kṛtvās (Skt. tri-k°, once, pw; triṣ°, also Vedic, blend of this with tris, thrice; in Class. Skt. -kṛtvās is ordinarily not used with dvi-, tri-), thrice: Lañk 3.4; Śiḥ 98.11 (prose); ṭṛṣkṛtvā, m.c., Śiḥ 99.4 (vs). For triṣ- before other representatives of Skt. -kṛtvās, see s.v. -kṛtvā.

Trisamayarāja, m. or nt., n. of a work: Śiḥ 138.15; 172.13; 290.13.

tri-sahasra, f. °rā or (once, cf. trisāhasrī) °rī, adj., consisting of 3,000 (worlds), sc. a world-system of that extent; the word lokadhātu seems to be always lacking; only in vss, and °sah° seems to be m.c. for the regular °sāh° (despite Pali sahasi; °sāh° seems unknown in Pali): ceti bhu (= abhūt; so divide) trisahasraḥ LV 368.18 (vs, see s.v. ceti); °srāyām Suv 63.5 (vs); trisahasri (acc. sg., for °rīm; the only i-stem form) Dbh.g. 40(66).4, and °ra (acc. sg., for °rām or °ram) 10. See also s.v. triḥsahasra (°rā).

tri-sāhasra-mahāsāhasra, adj. m. or (°rā) f., or in comp., with lokadhātu (which in BHS is both m. and f., in Pali app. only f.; cf. Pali sahasī, see BHS tri-sāhasrī, also ti-, mahā-, which acc. to Childers are synonyms in Pali; no numeral mahāsahasra seems recorded in BHS and it is not clear what precise mg., if any, attaches to mahāsāhasra; in Mvy 7999 ff. and MnK 343.16 ff. mahācpd. with other numbers means ten times the number), (world system) consisting of a 'triple thousand great thousand' (worlds): °ra-lokadhātu, cpd., LV 319.3; 377.4; Suv 8.6, 9; 86.4; masc. forms, °ro, °ram (acc.), etc., Mvy 226; 3044; LV 276.19; 393.18; 405.2; 410.12, 22; Mv i.40.6; ii.300.16 (mss.); 301.2, 8 (mss.); 349.3 (mss.); prec. by fem. adj.); Divy 68.23; 139.3; 158.6; 266.14; 367.21; Av i.5.10; 11.8 etc.; Samādh 8.9; 19.6; RP 2.11; fem. forms, Mv i.214.12 = ii.17.11 °rāyām °dhātūyām (loc.); ii.281.16; 301.12; 314.10; Suv 87.6 °rāyām °dhātu; Śikṣ 138.10 id.; see also trisahasra, and items here adjoining.

Only here and in Dbh.g. 40(66).4 trisahasrī have I noted the fem. (tri-, or mahā-)sāhasrī(-sah°), corresp. to Pali sahasī, which app. is the regular Pali form, see Childers s.v. Otherwise the BHS fem. stem is °srā, see preceding items.*

Triskandha-, perhaps = next, but prob. rather in the sense of skandha (3), q.v., in °dha-patha-deśika (Mironov °daiśika, a title of Buddha: Mvy 74.

Triskandhaka, nt. (cf. prec.), n. of a work: °kam Mvy 1384; °ka-dharmaparyāya-pravartanena Śikṣ 171.5; °ka-pravartanam 290.1.

trihsahasrā (only f.) = trisahasrā, see °ra; like the latter only in vss, and °sah° presumably m.c. for °sāh°; printed in LV 368.7 (°rā), 11 (°rā) and 21 (°rām, here with medinī = °nim); all mss. in 7 and 21, and all but one (A, the best) in 11, read tri-sah°, unmetr., Lefm. em. m.c.; tri° would be equally satisfactory but A trih° in 11; trihs- can be interpreted as doubling of the sibilant m.c., but doubtless influence of tris, thrice, is involved. No noun accompanies the (substantivized) adj. in 7, 11.

trihika, adj. (§ 3.115; cf. Pali dviha-tiham, adv., and trehika), (sufficient) for three days (to Skt. tri plus aha-n), with śāli, rice (as food): °kam Mv i.343.11, 12, 14, so Senart (em. °ko in 14); mss. mostly trehika, once tri° once tri°.

(truṭi (f.), Skt., so read with v.l. for Lefm. truṭi, a small particle: LV 149.4; as a unit of measure, here = 7 aṇu, one-seventh of a vātāyana-rajās, q.v., which in LV is one-seventh of a śaśarajas; Tib. rdul chuñ ŋu = small speck. Not in corresp. Mvy list, 8190 ff.; possibly cf. Tib. chu rdul = ab-rajās 8193, water-speck, between loharajas and śaśarajas, not in LV; can a corruption have occurred based on Tib. chuñ, small, and chu, water?)

tre- for trai- in vṛddhi formations, see the following items.

treḍaṇḍika, m. (Pali te°, late Skt. trai°, Schmidt, Nachträge; Skt. tridaṇḍin), triple-staff-carrier, a sort of brahmanical (Schmidt, Śaiva) ascetic: °ka-m-ānandikaguruputrika-, etc., Mv iii.412.7 (prose); mss. tre° or te°, Senart em. trai°.

tremāsika, adj. (= Skt. trai°; cf. traimāsa and dvemāsika), (suitable) for three months: °kaṃ (v.l. trai°) vā bhaktam Mv ii.462.6.

trembuka = tryambuka, q.v.: Māy 252.2 (prose), in long cpd., before trailāṭaka.

trevimśat (= Pali tevisa, for Skt. trayovimśat), twenty-three: °śad-varṣa-sahasrāni Mv iii.234.3 (vs; v.l. trayastrimśad°, unmetr.).

trehika, adj. (= AMg. tchia), so mss. mostly for trihika (Senart), q.v.

traikuntaka, nt., Mvy 6045 = Tib. rgyan rtse-gsum pa, a three-pronged ornament.

traicivarika, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali tece°, one whō wears the three (monk's) robes, one of the 12 dhūta-guṇa: Mvy 1129; Dharmas 63; RP 57.10; AsP 387.6; MSV iii.122.5.

traitiyaka, (1) adj. m., recurring every third day (of fever): Mvy 9533; SP 401.7 (prose); Bhik 17a.2; Māy 220.20 (2) °kam, adv., for the third time: SP 37.6; 38.8 (Kashgar rec. trir), 9; 484.8; 486.4 (all prose); also v.l. in some mss. for tṛṭiyakam SP 315.9, 11.

traidhātuka, nt. (= Pali tedh°), the triple universe (of kāma-, rūpa-, and arūpa- existence): asmād . . . °kān nirdhāvita nirvāṇasaṃjñino . . . SP 101.3; eṣo hi trihi kramehi °kam laṅghiya (mss., Senart em. °yā m.c.) ana-vaṣeṣam Mv ii.40.21 (vs); °ka-asaktaḥ Mvy 865; °ka-vita-rāgaḥ Divy 40.13; 282.1; 488.6; Av i.207.11 etc.; °kam anityatāgninā pradīptam paśyanti Divy 422.16; punar eva °ke virohati KP 39.3; cittamātram idaṃ yad idaṃ °kam Dbh 49.9; others, Mv ii.148.1; Samādh 8.4; Dbh 29.8; Bbh 246.25; Gv 288.16, etc.

traimāsa, m., nt., and °sī (sc. varṣā, which is normally pl. in Skt. but sometimes sg., so also in BHS, notably Divy, 401.7, 509.19), f. (= Pali temāsa, which seems, in all passages cited in Childers and PTSD, to mean specifically the rainy season, tho not so defined in Diect.), the rainy season (of three months); generally either °sa- in comp., or °sam, °sim, acc. sg. adv., for the period of the rains; but also °sam, n. sg., and °sān, acc. pl.: in comp., adhvāsehi me bhagavan °sa-bhaktena sārddham bhikṣusamghena Mv ii.272.2, similarly 6; adv. °sam Mv ii.272.13 °sam bhaktam; (ekapiṇḍapatreṇāham . . .) °sam niṣiḍṣyam iii.225.11; °sim, sa °sīm śrāmaṇero dhāritaḥ Divy 18.8; adhvāsayatu me bhagavān °sim . . . sārddham samghena 89.13; °sim sarvopakaraṇaiḥ pravārito 283.5, . . . pravā-rayeyam 6; noun forms, yāvāt °sam (so read with v.l. for Senart °sikam) samāptam Mv ii.273.7, until the rains were ended; ṣaṣṭhim traīmāsān (for 60 rainy seasons) sārddham bhikṣusamghena sarvopakaraṇair upasthitaḥ Divy 242.8.

traiyadhvika, adj. (tr(i)yadhva(n) plus -ika), of the present, past, and future: namas °kānām tathāgatānām Sādh 2.12 etc.; Śikṣ 139.4 and 140.13 (text erroneous, see note p. 405); °kā pratima buddhakulābhijātā Gv 372.16 (vs; refers to Buddhas; read °kāpratimabu°, i.e. °ka-apratima-bu°).

trailāṭaka, m.(?) = next: Māy 252.2, in long cpd., following trembuka.

trailāṭā (so text, also Mironov with v.l. °ṭaka; Kyōtō ed. Index with BR °ṭa; cf. prec.), a kind of fly: Mvy 4861; °ṭāḥ, pl., MSV iv.74.22.

Trailokyavajra, n. of an author: Sādh 524 16.

Trailokyavaśamkara (-lokeśvara), n. of a deity: Sādh 79.13 etc.

Trailokyavikrāmin, n. of a Bodhisattva: SP 3 7.

Trailokyavijaya, n. of a deity: Sādh 511.6.

traividya, adj., and °ya-tā, noun (= Pali tevijja, °ja-tā), (state of) possessing the three knowledges. In Pali (see Childers s.v. vijjā and Lévi, Sutrāl. vii.9, note), these are either (1) knowledge that all is anicca, dukkha, anatta, or (2) knowledge of former births (pubbenivāsa), of the (future) rebirths of beings (cutūpapāta), and of the destruction of the depravities (āsava-khaya); of these the first and the third are two of the abhiññā (Pali abhiññā), q.v., and the second results from another abhiññā, viz. divyacakṣus (see s.v. upapāda), so that these three abhiññā are identified in BHS as the three vidyā, AbhidhK. LaV-P. vii.108. So far as I have found, this second of the two Pali sets is the only one recognized in BHS, where the category is in any case of very restricted occurrence; I have failed to record it except in SP and LV. In SP only the adj. occurs, always associated with ṣaḍabhiññā, having the six abhiññā, as in: te traividyaḥ ṣaḍabhiññā(h) . . . SP 179.17 (prose), and in verses (always separate ṣaḍabhiññā from traividya! text makes them cpd.) 90.7; 129.10; 150.2; 155.2; no such association in LV, where context never helps in interpretation; adj., traividya (voc.) LV 363.16 (vs); noun, traividyatādhigatā 350.14 (so read with best mss. for text traividyaḥ); °dyatā daśabalena . . . prāptā 352.17; °tām anuprāptaṃ 353.13 (prose); the last suggests that in 426.13 (prose) it is necessary to em. to traividyatā-nuprāpta (text °dyānu°, no v.l.) ity ucyate (said of Buddha).

thaṇḍila (= Pali id., MIndic for Skt. stha°), see sthāṇḍila-śāyikā.

Thapakarṇi(n), and °ṇika (semi-MIndic for Stha°), see s.v. Sthapakarṇi(ka).

thapayati, thapeti (Pali only thap°), see s.v. stha-payati.

tharatharāyate, onomat., pres. p. °yamāna (AMg. tharatharai, °ranta, ppp. tharahariya; Pkt. °tharāmāna, Sheth), trembling: atha balir asurendro 'dhomukhaṃ prapatitah, smṛtibhraṣṭa-tharatharāyamānaḥ sthitah Kv 33.24; bhītās trastāḥ °āyamānaḥ Mmk 182.17; °āyamānaḥ piḍyamānās ca vepathu-r-upajātaśankā Mmk 520.17. (n, not n, always written.)

tharu (= Pali id.; § 2.9), hilt of a sword; sword: (dhanusmiṃ vā) tharusmiṃ vā Mv ii.74.3; in Mv iii.366.2 (vs) read tharu-khaḍga-pāṇi, for text tara°, with Pali Jāt. v.136.24 tharu-khagga-baddhā.

Damṣtrasena, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3507.

Damṣṭrānivāsīn, n. of a yakṣa: Divy 434.15, 22.

daka (nt.; = Pali id., for Skt. udaka; rare in Skt. except dakodara, dropsy, Suśr., but see Schmidt, Nachträge), water: khaṇḍaghaṭakam dakasya (v.l. uda°) Mv ii.429.17 (prose); daka-rākṣasa, water-ogre, = udaka°, q.v., Mv iii.11.19 (v.l. ud°); 29.14, 15; Divy 105.3 ff.; daka-candra, moon in water, = udaka-c°, q.v.. māyā-marīci-dakacandrakalpā Suv 250.2 (vs; read so, or with v.l. °marīcy-ūd°, m.c.; Nobel unmetr.); marīci-dakacandra-samāḥ RP 51.16 (vs); dakacandra also ŚsP 542.12 (prose) and Śikṣ 204.15 (vs, cited from LV which reads udacandra, q.v.); in Divy 231.1 (prose) read, uparimaṃ dakaskandham ādāya (see s.v. skandha 1); other cpds., traivaidika, adj. (Skt. only °vedika), of the 3 Vedas: °ke pravacane Divy 620.27.

tryadhva(n), also (in vss, m.c.), triyadhva(n), in comp., of the three times (adhvan), i. e. present, past, and future; see next two; nt., the three times: Mvy 8321.

Tryadhvalakṣaṇapratibhāsateja (n. sg. °jo), n. of a Buddha: Gv 312.5 (prose).

Tryadhvāvabhāsabuddhi, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.14 (prose).

tryambuka, m. (= trembuka, prob. the true original form), a kind of fly: Mvy 4862 = Tib. sbrāñ (misprinted sbruñ) bu (fly) tryam bu ka; prob. by popular etym., as if tri-ambu(ka); MSV iv.74.22.

tvam-sādṛśaka, adj. (see § 20.2 and tvam-īdrśa), like thee; °kehi pañḍitaiḥ SP 31.11 (vs).

tvagbhāra (m.), part of a tree, some part of the bark or a kind of bark: °ra-taś ca Divy 628.1, see s.v. phalgu 1. One is tempted to em. to tvaksāra- (Pali tacasāra); the fact that sārataḥ follows is no objection, since it means as to the pith; but unless the mss. actually read tvak-, the misreading implied is not easy to assume.

tvam-īdrśa, adj., = tvam-sādṛśaka, q.v.: pūrṇaṃ sarvajagat tvamīdrśair yad iha syāt LV 325.13 (vs).

TH

thala (nt., = Pali id., MIndic for Skt. sthala), dry land: Mv iii.32.2,11 (v.l. sthala in both: prose).

thavana, nt., a high number: Mvy 7855 (cited from Gv); Gv 133.8.

thāma (= Pali id., see sthāma-n), fortitude: LV 127.19 thakāre thāma . . . śabdah, in the spelling-lesson.

thīna, nt. (= Pali id.), MIndic for styāna (§§ 2.12; 3.115; also stīna): °naṃ (n. sg.) Mv iii.284.5

thutthu (-kārakam, adv.), (making) the sound thutthu (in eating): ṇa . . . Mvy 8579 = Tib. hu hu (the sound of one's mouth in eating) mi bya. Cf. Skt. Lex. thū-thū, said to be imitative of spitting; Skt. thūtkāra, and the like. Chin. onomat., indicating that one has eaten something hot.

thera, m. (= Pali id. cf. sthera; MIndic for Skt. sthāvira, which has this mg.), old man (decrepit; not in religious sense): Mv iii.4.17 (vs).

D

Mv ii.152.13; 171.5 (these are prose); Gv 27.21 (vs, could be m.c.). dakodarika, adj. (from Skt. dakodara), dropsical: Mv ii.152.13 (prose).

dakodarīn, adj., = prec.: LV 305.21 (prose).

dakṣiṇaka, adj. (= Skt. °ṇa plus -ka), adv. °kena, on the right: Divy 111.18, 27; 112.10 (all prose).

Dakṣiṇā-giri, or °na-giri (= Pali Dakkhiṇā-giri or °ṇa°), n. of a district: °nāgiriṣu janapade Av i.2.1; so also ed. i.3.1, where best ms. °na-giriṣu.

dakṣiṇādeśanā (once °na; = dakṣiṇā-ādeś°), assignment (to someone other than the donor or performer) of the profit from gifts or works of merit (see s.v. ādiśati): Divy 239.2-3 °nam (made by the recipient of alms-food) api bhayagrhitō śrutvā; Divy 179.20 bhagavān dakṣiṇādeśanām kṛtvā prakrāntaḥ; 190.9, similarly, °nām kṛtvā prakrāntaḥ; when the subject is not the Buddha or other recipient of the gift, but the donor or performer of the virtuous action, the ger. of the caus. kārayitvā is used (as ādeśayati tends, tho not invariably, to replace ādiśati with dakṣiṇām in this case): Av i.257.9 asmākaṃ nāmnā dakṣiṇādeśanām kārayitvā; 264.11 pretyā nāmnā dakṣiṇādeśanām kārayām āsa, caused the profit to be assigned in the name of...

dakṣiṇāvarta, m. (in Skt. as ep. of a conch-shell, śaṅkha, and so Pali, dakkhiṇāvatta-śaṅkha-ratanam Jāt. v.380.5, but seemingly not used in Skt. or Pali as subst., independently of śaṅkha; AMg. uses dāhiṇāvatta thus, defined Ratnach. the right conch; a particular conch), a conch-shell with spirals turning to the right, valued as a gem (cf. °varta-śaṅkha- Divy 138.3): in lists of gems, ... lohitakā °vartā etāni ca te ratnāni... Divy 115.4; similarly 229.7; 502.7; 543.29; Av i.205.3; Bbh 234.2.

Dakṣiṇāvibhaṅga Sūtra (= Pali Dakkhiṇā°), n. of a sūtra found in Pali MN no. 142, iii.253 ff.: Karmav 61.5; 156.13 (here apparently included in the Etadagra, q.v.; prob. the same text but the quotation seems to have no close correspondent in Pali).

Dakṣiṇā-sūtra, n. of a sūtra presumed by Lévi to = prec.: Karmav 163.1.

? dakṣiṇāhi, adv. (Skt. Gr. only), on the right: so acc. to Lefm., in LV 354.15 (vs) eṣa (all mss.; Lefm. eṣu) vara-dakṣiṇīyo utpātu dakṣiṇāhi, he (Buddha) is the best recipient of homage, a portent appearing on the right; but I am very doubtful of this. Text is metrically and otherwise dubious (also in next line). Tib. omitted by Foucaux.

dakṣiṇīya, adj. (also °neya, q.v.; = Pali dakkhiṇeyya), worthy of veneration, to be revered; orig. no doubt worthy of receiving a sacrificial or reverential (guru's) gift, a mg. which seems still alive in LV 358.21 (vs) °yāś ca te loke āhutinām pratigrahāḥ, na teṣu dakṣiṇā (noun, present) nyūnā...; but ordinarily simply venerable; very common in prose and vss: LV 57.21; 84.20; 89.19, 20; 97.20; 223.9; 407.6; 429.5; Mv i.78.12; 89.15; 291.18; 301.16; ii.195.1; 214.4; 368.5; iii.155.6; 414.4; Mvy 6829; 9218 (here erroneously dakṣaṇ° in text) = Tib. sbyin gnas, worthy of gifts; Divy 82.15; 229.10; Av i.173.9; Suv 139.7; Bbh 5.1; often emphasized by prefixing such words as mahā- LV 425.6; Mv ii.300.4 (vs, maha- m.c.); Divy 192.10; vara- LV 354.15; Mv ii.336.13; aka- Divy 132.22; 538.18; sadbhūta- Divy 133.12; 192.13; parama- Divy 404.12; atulya- Sukh 22.6; °ya-tā, abstr., Jm 71.14.

dakṣiṇeya, adj. (= °ṇīya; also dākṣ°; closer to Pali dakkhiṇeyya, but in BHS noted only in Mv and rare there), worthy of veneration: Mv ii.295.13; 300.8; 308.17; 328.15; iii.194.4; 414.3; °ya-tā, abstr., ii.260.13. (Some of these have v.l. °ṇīya.)

dakṣya (nt.; from Skt. dakṣa plus -ya; = Skt. dākṣya, perh. read so), skill: dakṣya-dākṣiṇya-cāturya- (text cātūrya-)mādhuryopetam Divy 109.28 (prose).

dagodara- (= Skt. dako°; AMg. regularly daga for (u)daka; cf. Skt. dagārgala, VarBrS., BR), 'water-belly', dropsy: in LV 189.11 (prose) read dagodarābhībhūtam for Lefm. dagdhod°; proved by Tib. dmu rdziñ can = dakodara Mvy 9558, and Das, Dict.

[dagdhodarābhībhūta, see prec.]

Daṇḍaka-(vana), n. of a forest (cf. Pali Daṇḍakāraṇṇā? but in LV associated with an evil person named Brahmadata): LV 316.2. Tib. transliterates, dan ta ka.

daṇḍa-kamaṇḍalu, m. and nt., a sort of water-jar (conjectured to mean one with a handle): Divy 14.26 (°luḥ), 16.27 (id.), 246.18 (°lu, n. sg.), 473.5 (°lum, acc. sg.). In the first two and last cpd. with sauvarṇa-; in 246.18 sauvarṇakam daṇḍakamaṇḍalu.

Daṇḍaki(n), n. of a wicked king (of Govardhana):

Mv iii.363.6, 16; 364.20; 365.16; 368.14; 369.2. His story is comparable to that of Pali Daṇḍakī (DPPN), tho quite different in details; see s.v. Vatsa (1).

daṇḍa-parāyaṇa, adj. (= Pali id.), dependent on a staff (for walking), said of old people: jirṇā °yaṇā Mv i.180.16 (vs).

Daṇḍapāṇi, n. of a Śākya, father of Gopā, q.v.: LV 140.9 ff.; 153.20 ff.; 157.3; Suv 199.8; Gv 420.19.

Daṇḍapāda, pl., n. of a group of nāgas: Māy 221.17. daṇḍa-pona, see pona.

daṇḍa-bhāsa, m., a celestial portent: Mvy 4403 = Tib. brañ ñer snañ ba, light in upright position; so, presumably, lit. staff-light, or freely, vertical flash.

Daṇḍa-lagna, pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.14 (follows Lagna).

daṇḍa-vāsika, m. (= Pkt. °vāsiga, °vāsiya, Sheth, by the side of °pāsi; to be derived from Skt. dāṇḍapāsika, comm. on Deśin. 2.99; § 2.30), policeman, local guard (not Türsteher, BR): Mvy 3741 = Tib. yul sruñs, place-guard.

daṇḍāpayati (cf. Pkt. ppp. daṇḍāvīa, Sheth), caus. to Skt. daṇḍayati, causes to fine or punish: °payanti Śikṣ 63.13; °payed 67.10.

Daṇḍin, n. of a brahman: MSV i.116.4 ff. (corresp. to Pali Gāmaṇi Caṇḍa, see DPPN).

dadrula, dardura (dardara), dardula, dradula, adj. (all these spellings recorded in the mss.; cf. Skt. dadrūṇa, adj., Schmidt, Nachträge; from the noun Skt. dadru, Pali and AMg. daddu, a skin disease variously alleged to be leprosy or ringworm), afflicted with a skin-disease, leprosy or ringworm(?), in a list of adj. describing physical deformities; see quotations s.v. khoda, lame. Senart's readings vary and are not always related to the wildly varying readings of the mss., which I quote: Mv ii.150.9 darduro, dardaro; 152.3 dradulo (only one ms.); 153.19 dadrulam, dradulam; 156.12 dadrulam, (da)rdulam.

dadhi-pradyotika, adv. °kam (vā dipyamānasya), Śikṣ 182.3, in a list of tortures, after taila-pradyotikam, q.v., and sarpih-pra^o; Bendall and Rouse render this (burnt with blazing . . .) ghee, on what ground I do not know; dadhi seems always to mean sour milk or curds in Skt., Pali, and (dahi) Pkt. literature. Some inflammable material must be meant; acc. to Skt. Lexicons, dadhi also may mean turpentine or resin (BR), here perhaps the latter.

Dadhimālin (= Pali °li), n. of a mythical sea: Jm 91.4.

Dadhimukha (= Pali id.), text actually Dadhī^o, n. of a yakṣa: Hoernle MR 26.13 (Ātānāṭiya Sūtra, in Hoernle's terminology; see Ātānāṭika).

[dadhyika, supposedly dealer in sour milk, Senart with mss. Mv iii.113.8; but read dhānyika, q.v.]

danta-kāraka (= Skt., Pali, AMg. °kāra), worker in ivory: Mv iii.113.7 (prose), in list of artisans and tradesmen.

Dantapura, nt. (= Pali id.), n. of the capital of Kālīṅga (only in Buddh. works): Kālīṅgeṣu °raṃ nāma nagaram Mv iii.361.12; 364.3; in Mv iii.208.16 (vs) read Dantapuram for ataḥ puraṃ, mss. antaḥpuram, and transfer to line 17 before Kālīṅgānām; see the same vs in Pali DN ii.235.19.

Dantaśayana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.8.

Dantā, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.34.

-dantīnikā, f. (= Skt. dantīn-ī, plus -ka, endearing dim., see § 22.34), having . . . teeth: -śukla-su-dantīnikā(h) LV 322.15 (vs), of the daughters of Māra.

Danturā, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.20.

damatha, m. (= Pali, Skt. Lex., id.), restraint, control: duṣṭanāgā °tham āgacchanti Divy 185.24; esp. self-control, ātma-damatha Mv i.127.17; iii.52.18; tri- (Divy 95.14 trividha-) damatha-vastu-kuśala Divy 95.14; 124.13; 264.28; Av i.16.11 (presumably control of body, speech, and mind); damathaḥ (context not clear) Mvy 672.7.

damadamā(-śabda; see Hemacandra, Gr. 3.138, with note in Pischel's Transl.), onomat., perh. as noun, a kind of drum: (anta)bhraṇac-cakra-maṇḍalālōka-pramukta-damadama-śabdā (!read °da-? °dād?) gambhīra-bhairavam āyasaṃ nagaram Divy 603.18.

? dayati, pres. to root dā-, q.v. in Chap. 43.

Darada-lipi, or (in Mv) without lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.1; Mv i.135.6 (here mss. -varada-, em. Senart). In Mv i.171.14 (vs), in a list of dasyu peoples, mss. -dareṣu, Senart em. -daradeṣu in accord with meter. That the (Skt.) Darada people is meant in LV is indicated by Tib. bru śa.

daridraka, adj. (= Skt. °dra), poor: °kā preṣaṇa-kārakāś ca SP 95.9 (vs). (-ka svārthe? m.c.? or dim.?)

dardara, variant for dadrula, q.v.

? dardaraka, m. or nt. (cf. Śkt. Lex. dardara, said to be a kind of drum; Skt. dardura, said to be a flute; AMg. daddara, some musical instrument; and BHS jala-dardaraka), some musical instrument: in Mv ii.159.7 Senart em. jharjharakam, but mss. dardarakam, dardulakam.

dardura, variant for dadrula, q.v.

? dardurā (most mss. dardarā), sc. lipi, a kind of script: Mv i.135.7. Senart's note mentions this as one of the forms in the list which 'ne laissent guère d'incertitude'; to me it is by no means clear. Did Senart mean to associate it with the Skt. name of the mountain range, often associated with Malaya? As a mountain name. Dardara (rare and doubtful in Skt., but in Pali Daddara) would merit consideration, as supported by most mss. But one would not expect a mountain-name here.

dardula, variant for dadrula, q.v.

dardulaka, variant for dardaraka, q.v.

Darbhakātyāyana, pl. n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.15. So read for Durbha^o of text; one ms. Darbhakāyana.

darvikā (= Skt. Lex. id.; Skt. darvī), spoon, ladle: Mvy 9047; āyasa-d^o Mvy 9347.

darśana, nt., once m. (Skt. nt., not in these senses; cf. °nā), (1) nt., = drṣṭi, false, heretical view: tasyedaṃ darśanaṃ abhūt, śubhāśubhānām karmānām phalam nāstīti nīśayaḥ Mv i.178.11 (vs); (2) once m. (= Pali dassana, nt., in śippa-d^o), exhibition (of skill in arts or exercises): kumāro . . . darśanaṃ dāsyati Mv ii.73.18; 74.4, 7; kumāreṇa . . . darśano dinnah 75.18; darśana-śatāni vartanti iii.57.9, hundreds of exhibitions (as entertainments at a festival).

Darśanakṣama (v.l. °kṣema, so read?), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.12.

-darśana-tā, state of seeing: LV 32.17 (prose); in amogha-d^o, perhaps to be analyzed as amogha-darśana plus -tā, state of having unflinching vision.

darśana-bhūmi, f., the 4th of the 7 śrāvaka-bhūmi: Mvy 1144; ŚsP 1473.12 et alibi, see bhūmi 4.

darśanā (nowhere recorded) = Skt. °na, nt., sight: (yāye) prabhāye samanvāgatam yāye śūkṣma-darśanāye samanvāgatam yāye tattva-darśanāye samanvāgatam . . . Mv i.158.9 (prose); perhaps nonce-form, attracted to gender of prec. prabhāye (the suffix -anā, f., is not rare in other forms beside -ana, nt.).

darśaniya, adj. (§ 3.42), beautiful: SP 313.13; LV 240.11 (em., mss. °niya, unmetr.).

darśayati, in mg. of deśayati, teaches, instructs (falsely, in wrong ways), influenced no doubt by drṣṭi, q.v.: ye ca te darśayisyanti (seemingly passive, so Senart) teṣām api ca sā gatī (sc. narakāḥ) Mv i.179.15 (vs), and those who will be taught (by you) will suffer the same fate; the next line is, anyān hi vihato hanti, naṣṭo nāśayate parām (so Senart).

? darśayin, possibly adj. (pres. stem darśaya plus -in), showing: bhūtām carim darśayi lokanāthaḥ SP 64.2 (vs). But no such stem is recorded, and more likely the form is a verb (aor.), the World-lord has shown . . .

darśāvīn, adj. (= Pali dassāvīn; § 22.51), seeing, perceiving, also intellectually, realizing: pūrvabuddha-darśāvīni (or with most mss. °vinah, construction 'ad sensum') SP 36.6-7 (prose); darśāvī pūrvabuddhānām Mv iii.104.15 (vs); anantavarṇa- Gv 30.1; bhaya- Mv iii.52.1; abhaye bhayadarśāvī Ud xvi.4 (oldest ms.; later ms. °darśīno, and so Pali equivalent °dassino Dh. 317); ādīnava-darśāvī Mv i.283.18 (prose; kāmeṣu); iii.52.5 (prose); anantajāna-d^o Mv i.357.5 (vs); sarva-d^o Mv i.254.4 (prose); ii.13.3 and 22.5 (vss); iii.51.7 and 10 (prose); asarva-d^o iii.51.6 (prose).

-darśān (from Skt. darśa, aspect, plus -in), having the aspect of, resembling, like: tathāgatadarśī ca veditavyo SP 226.8 (prose), and he is to be regarded as like a T. (because he has similar qualities and behavior; cf. lines 1-2 above, sa hi . . . tathāgato veditavyaḥ; so Kern, clearly rightly; Burnouf, wrongly, as having seen the T.).

-darśimant (= Pali dassima(nt), see § 22.48), in artha-, bhūta-d^o, qq.v.

daś(ay)-, m.c. for Skt. darś(ay)- (MIndic dass-, damṣ-), show; see § 2.87.

-daśaka, ifc. Bhvr. (Skt. daśā with -ka; = Pali -dasaka, in a-d^o), fringe: achinnāgra-daśake pate Mmk 322.20 (prose); achinna-daśakaiḥ saha Lañk 365.11 (vs; wrongly Suzuki). See channa-daśa.

Daśadharmasūtra, Śiḥs 5.7, or Daśadharmaka-s^o, 8.8; 116.16, n. of a work (cf. the ten dharma-caryā, Mvy 902 ff.).

daśabala, adj. (= Pali dasa^o), possessing the ten bala, ep. and synonym of (any) Buddha, often used in the same way as tathāgata, jina, etc.: Mvy 25; (yo dadyā jambudvīpam saptaratnasamcayam) daśabalānām Mv i.80.7, who gives . . . to the Buddhas; similarly 8; 116.2, etc.; in Divy 275.5, 7. daśabala Kāśyapa (as either two words or one) refers to a monk in Śākyamuni's entourage (not to the former Buddha Kāśyapa, who acc. to PTSD and DPPN was 'especially' called daśabala, a statement for which I have found no evidence; in BHS, at any rate, daśabala applies equally to any and every Buddha); see s.v. Kāśyapa (2).

Daśabala-sūtra, n. of a work: Bbh 384.24. Printed (practically) completely by Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4.209 ff. Text is brief, prose, normal Skt. in forms, and has little BHS vocabulary except technical religious terms.

Daśabhūmaka, or °mika, m. or nt., also °ka-sūtra, n. of a work, = our Dbh; see Rahder p. iii ff. on relations to other texts, esp. Mv, which cites a text certainly different from Dbh, tho resembling it; Śikṣ (ms.) seems always to read °aka; Mv 1350 °mikam, nt.; Mmk 109.28 °makah, m.; Mv and Bbh record both °aka and °ika: Mv i.63.15 (°ko, m.) and 16 Senart °mika, but 5 of 6 mss. °maka; i.193.8, 9, 10 mss. all °mika(m, nt.); Śikṣ (°maka) 227.11; 291.11; °makasūtra 10.15; 11.10; 126.9; 287.14 (ed. °mika° in 10.15 and 11.10 but ms. °maka°); some, at least, of Śikṣ citations are from Rahder's Dbh, e. g. 227. 11 ff. from Dbh 50.26 ff.; Bbh names several of the ten bhūmi, °mika 332.20 ff. (naming Pramudita, read °tā); 334.24 (Vimalā); 343.16 (Sudurjayā); °maka 338.17 (Prabhākara); 341.2 (Arçimati).

daśavarga, adj. or subst. (= Pali dasavagga), consisting of a group of ten; a quorum of ten (monks); required acc. to Pali Vin. i.319.33 (cf. 31) normally, 'in the middle regions,' for ordination: MSV ii.205.11 ff., cf. 203.16 ff.; Mv i.2.15 daśavargena gaṇena upasampadā (q.v.); Bhik 18b.5 bhikṣūnām daśavarge maṇḍalake (see s.v. dvādaśavarga); certain sins to be confessed before such a group, Śikṣ 169.1 āpattir daśavarge rjukena deśāyitavyā.

Daśaśiras, n. of a Pratyekabuddha: Av i.134.1 ff.

daśikā (Skt. daśā plus -(i)kā; cf. Pali dassikā-sutta, °tta-matta), hem, fringe (of cloth): °kām dattvā tantra-vāyabhūtena Śikṣ 9.3.

daśottarapadasamdhī-lipi, see yāvad-daśot°.

daṣṭaka (ppp. daṣṭa plus specifying -ka, § 22.39), one that has been bitten (by a snake; in magic practices to cure snake-bite): °kām mahāhrade nāgāyatane vā (sc. ālikhet) Mmk 53.22; daṣṭakottisthati (i. e. °ka ut°) 462.19, °ko nirviṣo bhavati 25; sarpa- (text sarva-) -viṣa-daṣṭakāni cotthāpāyati 711.28; daṣṭakopari sthāpāyitvā 721.4. All prose.

dahati (= Pali id.; for Skt. dadhāti; cf. also ni-da°), sels, places: dhvajam dahitvā Mv ii.377.6; dahitva dipam ... ceteṣu 379.7 (both vss).

dahara, (1) adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. not in this sense; cf. next, and dahra, which is far less common), young; common in prose and vss alike, in Ud xvi.7, 8 even where meter demands dahra! (in corresp. Pali vs, Dh. 382, daharo metrically correct, with other different readings): aham ca vṛddhas tvam ca daharo SP 106.14 (prose); (śākyaih) vṛddha-dahara-madhyamaih LV 82.4 (prose); daharā (mss. °ro) ca madhyā ca mahallakā ca Mv i.262.18 (vs; dahrā would be as good metr.); dahara-manohara(h) Sukh 25.14 (prose), youthfully charming; as v.l. along with dahra Mv 4081; 8734 (Mironov dahra); others, SP 293.4; 311.11; 318.2; LV 241.17; Mv ii.41.2; 63.7; 78.18, 19; 79.4 ff.; iii.48.16; 294.20; 457.9; Divy 116.16; Av ii.71.6; Gv 127.19; 129.3; 136.24 etc.; (2) Dahara-Sūtra (= Pali D° Sutta, viz. SN i.68 ff.), n. of a sūtra by which Buddha converted King Prasenajit, as in Pali King Pasenadi: Av i.36.7; also called Daharopama Sūtra, MSV iv.62.3.

daharaka, adj. (-ka svārthe) = prec.: °ka-vayasy (mss. corrupt as to °sy-) avasthitena Av i.178.1 (prose).

? dahuka, so mss. of Divy 475.17 (ed. em. dakṣaka), ep. of children, see taruṇaka. Prob. read dahara(kā), or dahraka, = next.

dahra, adj. (not in this sense in Skt.; cf. dahara, which is much commoner), young: LV 100.12; yuvān ... navo dahras ... 212.6; in Mv 4081; 8734, both times (in Mironov only in 8734) with v.l. dahara; Bbh 75.1; 281.12. All prose.

dākṣineya, adj. (= dakṣ°; cf. Skt. id., not in this sense, pw 6.302), venerable: Karmav 156.10 (sambuddho °yānām agryah); 161.18.

dākṣiṇya-lipi, a kind of script: LV 125.22 (Tib. of the southern region).

dāgha, m. (recorded only for Pkt. in Hem. 1.264, but cf. Skt. nidāgha), burning, conflagration: (geha-)dāghā vā kṛtā bhavanti vana-dāghā ... Mv i.23.1 (prose); dāgho ca utpanno ... nirvāpitaḥ ii.181.2; (śīlena pariśud-dhena kāyo bhoti prabhāsvaro), na cāsyā jāyate dāgho (but v.l. doṣo, perhaps better) maraṇe pratyupasthite Mv ii.358.14 (vs); agnidāgham (pari-)nirvāpayituṃ ii.457.9, 13, also hasti-dāgham 12, conflagration (burning) of elephants.

-dāgha, ifc. Bhvr. for *dāthā (= Pali id., Skt. damṣṭrā; cf. next), (large) tooth; in several anuvyañjana, buddhā ... vaṭṭitadāthā (m. n. pl.) ca, tikṣṇadāthā ca, abhagnadāthā ca, achinnadāthā ca, aviśamadāthā ca Mv ii.44.5-6. The mss. vary, usually reading °dātā or °dantā; both these occur in the corresponding Pali; but in the other BHS lists (see s.v. anuvyañjana) the form is °damṣṭra.

dāthin, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. damṣṭrin; see prec.), having large teeth or fangs: dāthi Mv iii.103.20; 261.10; 410.16 (all prose; always of a lion).

dāṇḍajīnika-tā (to Skt. Gr. and Lex. °jinika; cf. late Skt. °jinaka, Schmidt, Nachträge), state of being a hypocritical ascetic (characterized by external marks, staff and skin, only): Jm 188.3.

(dāna, nt., Skt., gift; as one of the four saṃgraha-vastu, q.v.)

Dānaṃdadā (cf. -dada), (1) n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.17; (2) n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 5.6.

Dānapraguru, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.15.

Dānavakula, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.4.

Dānavagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.1.

Dānaśūra, n. of a Bodhisattva, previous incarnation of Śākyamuni: Kv 15.16; 93.17 (here printed °sūra).

dāni, dāniṃ, dānim (before vowel), (= Pali dāni, before vowel dānim, Childers; for Skt. idānim now; dāni SP 113.3; 170.3 (vss); in prose in Mv, i.17.10; 18.10; 21.4, 5; i.226.14 = ii.29.17; i.227.4; 232.2, 7; ii.26.5, etc., very common; also App. to Jm (= Mv) 240.5; in vss of Mv, dāni i.142.15; 143.1; 155.1, 5; i.204.19 = ii.8.14; in i.154.12 (vs) Senart kiṃ dāni ā°, but read dānim with 2 mss., the others dānim, unmetr.; i.221.21 = ii.24.8 (vs) dānim, before vowel; in ii.11.12 (vs) dānim, before cons., m.c.; in ii.6.18 (vs, = i.203.1, where Senart prints dāni) and i.209.3 (vs) Senart em. dānim, m.c., for mss. dāni. It appears that dāni-m was used only (optionally) before vowels, and dānim only in verses m.c. In Lañk 336.11 (vs) text yathāpi dāniṃ naivāsti; rather, yathāp' idāniṃ ...

-dāntaka (dānta plus -ka, svārthe?), tamed, controlled: sarvadānta-sudāntaka (voc.) Mmk 4.29 (vs), perhaps m.c.; o° perhaps specifying -ka, you who are the one that is well controlled among all controlled ones! In a formulaic passage in which most lines end in vocs. in -ka.

dāma(n), (only Vedic, and even there rare, in this sense, except, possibly, in the cpd. sudāman, Class. Skt.), gift: dāma-carī (course of almsgiving) yādṛśā ti pure LV 11.13 (vs). So acc. to Lefm. all mss.; Calc. dāna-; mg. confirmed by Tib. sbyin.

? dāmaka, possibly adj. (from Skt. dāman), garlanded, formed into garlands (of flowers), in paryāṅkam dāmaka-puṣpa-saṃnibhaṃ Mv ii.183.16 (vs); so Senart reads, but assumes inverted order of parts of cpd., = puṣpa-dāmaka-, like a garland of flowers; if the reading is right, perhaps like flowers that form a garland. But the text is an em. and quite uncertain; mss. damakam or °ko. In the following line bhāryām ca sadr̥śi devīm, understand sadr̥śi = °śim, as separate word, corresponding, suitable.

Dāmodara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.1.

dāyika, adj. and subst. m. (= Pali id. ifc., Skt. dāyin, dāyaka), giving, a giver: bijam . . . phala-dāyikam MSV i.70.12 (vs); same vs in same story Divy 462.23 -dāyikam; -saṃghasya dāyikaiḥ prajñāptaḥ MSV ii.113.5.

? dārīka (= Skt. dāraka), and acc. to text °kā- (in comp.), boy: dvātrimśad-dārīkā-sahasrāṇi LV 128.11 (prose), all mss. acc. to Lefm.; dārīkebhiḥ LV 133.6 (vs), two mss. with Calc. dāra°. There can hardly be a reference to girls (cf. Weller 26), and at least the final -ā of dārīkā must, it seems, be a corruption for -a. Perhaps read dāraka both times. Note the same cpd. with dāraka 128.9; the word seems to occur only once in this passage in Tib.

dāru, m. (always nt., acc. to Dict., in Skt., Pali, and Pkt., except for one Skt. acc. sg. dārum), tree: dāruḥ LV 188.14 (vs), end of line, all mss. acc. to Lefm. (Calc. dāru).

Dārūka, n. of a yakṣa, and °ka-pura, n. of the town where he lived: Māy 30.

Dāru-karṇin, nickname of a brother of Pūrṇa, lit. wood-ear (see s.v. Trapukarṇin): Divy 26.28; 45.16 etc.

[dārvāyasmaya, prob. misprint for dārv-ayasmaya, made of wood or iron, in SP 440.4 (prose), altho uncorrected in Errata and repeated without note in WT: °mayair haḍi-nigaḍa-bandhanair. But the true reading is prob. dārumayair vā ayasmayair vā, with Kashgar rec. Cf. verse version, dārumāyair ayomāyair 450.1 (vs).]

dālana (nt.; Skt. in diff. mg.; = AMg. °na), splitting, piercing, in literal sense, of a military art mastered by the Bodhisattva: (bhedye) dālāne sphālane . . . LV 156.13 (Tib. dbug pa); fig., object heresies: sarva-dr̥ṣṭigata-jāla-dālānāya prayuktaḥ Gv 117.3; adj. (perh. Bhvr.?) destroying (heresies): (mahāyoginām . . .) akuśala-dr̥ṣṭidālānāṃ Laṅk 10.13.

dālāvana (if not corruption), some sort of tree: (panasa)-dālāvana-tinduka- etc. Divy 627.23 (in long cpd. containing list of trees).

Dāsaka, n. of a servant of Śroṇa Koṭīkarṇa: Divy 3.11; 4.22; 5.17 ff.; 6.2, 4; cf. 2 Dāsaka Thera in DPPN, possibly the same personage but presented in a quite different way; and cf. Pālaka 1.

? -dāsītā, in caṇḍavaco-dā° Mvy 2109 (v.l. in Mironov °dāsītā); acc. to Tib. (tshig brlaṅ(s) pos, = caṇḍavaco, zher ḥdebs pa) and Chin. reviling with harsh words. The etym. of dāsītā (app. containing suffix -tā) is obscure.

dāsīnikā (to dāsī; see § 22.45), maid-servant, slave; tava °kām LV 323.2 (vs).

dāha (m.; in this sense seems unrecorded in Skt., Pali, or Pkt.), fig. pain, sorrow: sarva-dāha-vināśani Mv i.314.13 (vs), said of Buddha's voice.

? dāhani, must mean burning, as adj. or n. act.; so both edd., no v.l.: tuśādy-angāra-dāhani-kumbha-sādhana-pakvaśīlāpacanāgnijalapraveśana- LV 249.11 (prose). Possibly understand dāhanin (dāhana plus -in)? Or mere corruption for °na?

[dikṣiṣu, I.V 364.11 (vs), read udikṣ°, see udikṣati.]

Dignāga, see Dinnāga.

Digvilokita, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 524; ŚsP 1416.18.

Digvairocanamakuṭa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.5. Dinnāga, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3481 (v.l. Dignāga; so Mironov with no v.l.).

didr̥ksuka, adj. (= Skt. °kṣu with -ka svārthe), dinna, ppp., = Skt. datta; see § 34.16 and cf. a-dinna. Divasacarā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.30.

divasa-nirīkṣaka, pl., should mean observers of the day or of days (astrologers?): in Kv 81.7 referred to as people who are initiated into certain heretical sects (but who cannot attain mokṣa).

divasam, adv.? (if so, = daivasikaṃ), daily, every day: evaṃ tuvaṃ āryam taṃ divasam āhāreṇa upastihisi (? so Senart em., mss. °sa, °sā; true reading probably °hasi, 2 sg. pres.) Mv i.302.6, and: sā dāni taṃ . . . divasam āhāreṇa upastihati 8 (both prose). But possibly, with Senart, understand divasa-m-āhāra, for divasāh°, with 'hiatus-bridging' m. divasānūdivasam, see s.v. 1 anu.

divāvihāra (m.; = Pali id.), relaxation (rest) during the day: (ārāma, acc. pl. . .) °hārārtha dadanti . . . puru-ṣarṣabhāṇām SP 13.18 (vs); °raṃ paṛigamyā 62.5 (vs); (went to a caitya) °hārāya Mv i.300.2, 5 ff.; (nadyām . . .) °hāram kalpayitvā ii.264.1; (vr̥kṣamūlam nīśritya) niṣaṅgo °hārāya Divy 201.3; 202.2; Av i.252.9; vr̥kṣamūle niṣaṅgo °hārāya 246.6; bhagavān °hāropagato 319.12; bhikṣavo °hāram (v.l. °hārāya) gatāḥ Karmav 74.10. Regularly of the Buddha or his monks.

divim, prob. m.c. for divi, loc. of div: Mmk 618.26; 625.7; 627.14; 629.16. Otherwise H. Smith (see § 1.38 fn. 15), pp. 4–5 [3.2]; Smith's em. of Mmk 629.16 (see my § 2.74) introduces not only metrical irregularity but a stem *diviya which I have not noted in BHS and do not find in Mīndic except once in Aśoka's 4th Rock Edict, Dhauli-Jaugada version.

Divaukasa, n. of a yakṣa, attendant on Māndhātār: Divy 211.5 ff.; MSV i.68.13; 94.11.

Divyānnada, n. of a future Buddha: Av i.116.13.

Divyāvadāna (nt.), n. of a work: Divy 24.8 etc., in colophons.

[dīśa; m.-nt. forms occur from stem diś(ā), as from other f. ā-stems, § 9.4; ex. daśa-diśebhir LV 416.2.]

dīśatā (= Pali diśatā; Skt. diś, diśā; PTSD refers to a 'Skt. diśatā' which does not exist), direction, region, point of the compass; only in vss except (rarely) in prose of Mv, e. g. ii.295.4; others, vss: SP 27.10; 205.6; LV 162.8 and 167.11 (dīśato, acc. pl., § 9.97); 295.21; 421.17 (read daśa-dīśata, § 9.68); Mv i.204.6 = ii.8.1; i.305.20; ii.135.12; 140.12; 299.2; 315.19; 409.17; iii.381.7; 438.15; Suv 233.1; RP 55.3, 14; Bhad 21 (text wrongly dīśa tāsu); Gv 316.22; Dbh.g. 39(65).25.

dīśati, (1) says, speaks (so in Ap. disai, Bhav. 232.7): pradakṣiṇām dakṣiṇa (so divide) lokanāthaḥ teṣāṃ dīśaiṣa 'pratimo vināyakaḥ LV 391.21 (vs), where we must understand (a)dīśa(t) as the verb of the sentence (Tib. gsuñs, said), the Lord of the World, the Matchless Guide, declared their donation (dakṣiṇā) auspicious (virtuous, pradakṣiṇa); direct quotation of his words follows; tatra gatā sukha me diśanti kṣipram Sukh 9.4 (vs), quickly declare my happiness; kṣetrārṇavān . . . cintāvyatītāṃs ca diśāmi dikṣu Gv 428.14 (vs), I proclaim, tell of; diśe (aor., by em. for diśām which would make construction difficult) sovattthikaṃ divyaṃ Mv iii.305.10 (vs); (2) teaches (= deśayati, q.v.): dharmam dīdeśa yakṣāya Laṅk 8.12, and dīdeśa nikhilam sūtram 13 (both vss); (3) confesses (also = deśayati): (kr̥tam yat) pāpam jinānām purato diśāmi Sādh 56.12 (vs); sarvāni pāpāni diśāmi bhītaḥ 90.4 (vs).

Dīśadeśa-āmukhajaga(t; so read, as cpd.), n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.23 (vs). In this and the next two dīśa- may be regarded as for diśā- m.c.

Dīśabhedajñānaprabhaketumati, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.6 (vs). See under prec.

Dīśasambhava, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.11 (vs). See under prec. but one.

Diśāmpati (= Pali Disampati, DN ii.230.22 ff.), n. of a mythical king, father of Reṇu: Mvy 3579 (here called a cakravartin); Mv iii.197.9; 204.8 ff.; in LV 171.1 (vs) apparently used as n. or epithet of Reṇu, q.v., himself (Reṇu bhū Diśāmpati).

diśi (= AMg. diśi, for Skt. diś, diśā; not in Pali), direction. Noted only in Mmk, but not rare there; usually acc. sg. diśim; sometimes (notably 205.26, where it seems clearly to be taken so, § 4.59, end) this could be interpreted as loc. diśi plus 'hiatus-bridging' m; among the cases which are certainly acc. are: dakṣiṇām diśim āsritāḥ Mmk 326.18, and . . . āsṛitya 626.26; prācim (°cim) diśim upādāya 620.1 (these all vss). The great corruption of the text of Mmk might tempt to emendation (diśam would be easy), but AMg. seems to confirm the form.

diśodāha, m. (= Skt. digdāha, Pali diśādāha), 'burning in the sky' (as omen): Divy 203.9; 206.4; Av ii.198.2; MPS 16.14. In MPS 17.21 ms. diśodāgha (ed. em.).

(dīkṣate, cf. Skt. id., undergoes consecration or monastic initiation: Kv 81.6 ff.)

Dīpa, (1) n. of the king of Dīpāvati: Divy 246.9 ff.; (2) n. of a serpent king: Mmk 18.24; (3) m.c. for Dīpaṃkara: buddha Dīpa-nāmā LV 393.12 (vs).

Dīpakāra, m.c. for Dīpaṃkara: LV 172.14 (vs).
Dīpaṃkara (= Pali id.; in Pali the first of the 24 Buddhas; here sometimes, e. g. Sukh 5.6, first of a much longer list of Buddhas, but often named without any such preeminence), n. of one of the most celebrated of former Buddhas: his story told at length in the 'Dīpaṃkara-vastu' Mv i.193.13 ff.; incomplete list of references, SP 22.3; 27.4; LV 5.4; 172.19; 185.15; 253.16; 415.19; Mv i.1.13; 2.1; 3.3; 57.13; 61.11; 170.3; 227.6 (his ṇame is given to him); iii.239.10 ff.; 241.13; 242.19; 243.20; 244.13; 247.3; 248.3; Mvy 95; Divy 246.5 ff.; Gv 104.13; 222.2; Vaj 26.18; Sukh 5.6; 76.10; Karmav 102.15; 155.9; AsP 48.10. Also, in vss m.c., Dīpa, Dīpakāra, Dīpasaha.

Dīpavati (also Dīpā°, q.v.), n. of the capital city of (Arcimant and) Dīpaṃkara: Mv i.194.1, 3; 231.7, 9; iii.239.11 ff.; AsP 48.10.

Dīpaśri, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.2.
Dīpasaha, = Dīpaṃkara, m.c.: Dīpasahena ti LV 11.11 (vs), so read as suggested by Lefm. in Crit. App. for text °sahenaśti.

Dīpā, n. of a goddess or yoginī: Sādh 157.12 etc.; 324.6.

Dīpāvati = Dīpā°, q.v.: Divy 246.9.
Dīptateja(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.17 (°jah, n. sg.).

Dīptabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.4.
Dīptavīrya, n. of a previous incarnation of Śākya-muni: LV 170.19.

dīrita, ppp. (§ 34.10), rent, destroyed: mantra-dīritā(h) Mmk 143.24 (vs).

Dirgha (= Pali Dīgha), n. of a yakṣa: Māy 235.11; 237.2.

dirghaka, (1) adj. (Skt. dirgha plus -ka, ? m.c.), long: nātidirghakaḥ Mmk 154.24 (vs); (2) m. (= Pali dīgha), snake: tehi halehi °ko ca maṇḍūko (mss. mand°) ca utkṣiptā Mv ii.45.6; so °pi °ko kumāreṇa kṣipto 7 (both prose).

Dirghakātyāyani, n. of the gotra or the nakṣatra Jyeṣṭhā: °ni-gotrēṇa Divy 640.16.

Dirgha Cārāyaṇa (Pali Dīgha Kārāyaṇa; also called simply Cārāyaṇa, q.v.), n. of the charioteer of King Prasenajit: Dirghaṇa Cārāyaṇa Av ii.114.10; in 13 mss. Dīgha-Cār°, as cpd. word, MIndic in form.

Dirghanakha (= Pali Dīgha°), n. of a mendicant to whom Buddha preached the Dirghanakhaṣya parivrājakaśya sūtram: Mv iii.67.7 (to be put in, kartavyam, but not quoted here); in Pali it is MN i.497 ff., and a version occurs in Av 99; acc. to DPPN, D. was a nephew of Sāriputta (but no citation is furnished for this; the MN sūtra does not say so); in Av ii.186.9 ff. and MSV iv.22.1 he is the uncle (mother's brother) of Sāriputta; in this story his given name was (Mahā-)Koṣṭhila, q.v.; he had the surname Agnivaiśyāyana, q.v.

Dirghabāhur-garvita (so, with -r-, no v.l., both edd.), n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 310.20. See § 12.4.

dirgharātra-, very commonly adv. °tram (= Pali dīgharattam), for a long time: prose, SP 37.10; 320.3; LV 108.7; Śikṣ 37.17; Dbh 7.14; Divy 616.21; Av i.177.7; vss, SP 38.4 (su-); 97.11; 213.8; LV 42.11; 158.11; 219.3; in comp., °trānugata- Divy 84.9; Av i.42.3; °tra-kṛta-paricaya- Divy 264.30.

dirgha-vārṣika, m. sg. Mvy 9286, pl. Bḥik 22a.3 (°kāḥ), long rains; see s.v. sāmāyika.

Dirghaśakti, n. of a yakṣa (or gandharva?): Māy 237.4.

Dirghāgama, m., n. of a section of the canon (= Pali DN): Mvy 1423; Divy 333.12.

Dirghāyu (= Pali Dīghāyu), n. of a prince, son of Arimdama: Mv iii.457.8 ff.

dirghāyuka, app. name of a class of gods, the long-lived ones: so dirghāyukehi devehi upapanno Mv i.51.14, he is born among the D. gods.

Dirghika, MSV ii.173.3, or Dirghila, 182.7 (corresp. to Pali Dīghīti), n. of a king of Kosala, conquered by Brahmadaṭṭa of Benares; reference to his story in the Dirghila-sūtra of the Madhyamāgama (Samādhisamyuktaka), 182.8.

dirghya, gdve. (to Skt. denom. dirghayati, pw 7.348), °yam, impersonal, (it is) to be delayed: tvayā kiṃ punar eva dirghyam Divy 600.15 (vs).

du- (= Pali id.) for Skt. dvi-, stem for numeral two, § 3.117, esp. in cpds.: see duḡuṇa, dupadendra, durūpa, ekadukāye.

duḥ-k-, see duṣ-k-.
duḥkhaka (nt.; duḥkha plus -ka, prob. m.c.), misery: vedentā bahu duḥkhakam Mv i.11.4 (vs).

duḥkhatā (Skt.), (state of) misery; three, listed Mvy 2228-31, and cited SP 108.17 f. (prose) tisrbhir duḥkhatābhīḥ sampīditā(h) . . . yad uta duḥkha-duḥkhatayā samskāra-du° vipariṇāma-du°; on this group see AbhidhK LaV-P. vi.125 ff., state of misery qua misery (what is grievous by its very nature, from the start, always painful), state of misery due to conditioning (saṃskāra; acc. to Vism. 499.20 f. this means particularly experience in itself not painful or pleasurable, but, because impermanent and so undependable, still a cause of misery), and state of misery due to alteration (of what was pleasurable to begin with, but cannot last); in Mvy 2232-40 eight duḥkhatā, each consisting of one of the list of evils enumerated in the first of the four noble truths.

duḥkhati (= Pali dukkhati; denom.), is painful, hurts: aṅgapratyaṅgāni dukkhanti SP 100.12 (prose); jihvā pi tasya (read tasyo with v.l.) na kadāci dukkhati SP 352.7 (vs). See also duḥkhāpayati.

duḥkhana, adj. ifc. (duḥkha-ti with suffix -ana), hurting, causing pain to: mayā . . . jana-duḥkhanena (so spelled) Śikṣ 156.5. But note cites Bodhicāryāv. as reading °duḥkhadena (same mg.).

duḥkhamukta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.8.

duḥkhāpayati (= Pali dukkhāpeti; caus. to duḥkhati), causes pain to, hurts, grieves: sukhītān (mss, °tāny, may be kept) api sattvā tvam duḥkhāpayasi durmate Mv i.179.19 (vs).

duḥkhitaka, m. (ppp. °ta plus -ka, prob. pitying dim., § 22.36), poor wretch: °ko °yam iti kṛtvā Divy 84.1 (prose); santy anye °py asmadvīdhā duḥkhitakā(h) 86.22.

duḥkhila-tā (from duḥkha plus -ila; § 22.17), state of being miserable: Mvy 1652 = Tib. tha ba ñan pa ltar.

duḥ-p-, see duḥ-p-.

? -duka, -dukā, for dvi°, see ekadukāye.

Dukura, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.11.

dukūlaka (nt. ?; Skt. °la plus -ka svārthe), a certain fine textile fabric: °kānām tatha varakausākānām Śikṣ 302.6 (vs, may be m.c.); paṭe caiva °ke Mmk 131.21 (vs, may be m.c.); °laka-sūkṣma, subst. nt., a fine garment made of dukūla(ka): °mam vā Bhik 22b.4 (prose), in a list of various textile fabrics. See also daukūlaka.

dukha (as in Pali, see Childers), dukhin, and dukḥita, m.c. in verses for duḥkha, °khin, °khita, misery; miserable. The mss. and edd. are quite inconsistent, but write dukha very often, at least, where meter requires it; so SP 54.10; 162.2 (in 92.6 ed. dukha-, acc. to note with only one ms.); LV 173.11 (no v.l.); 220.22 (dukhi, v.l. duḥ°); in LV 252.10 Lefm. properly em. dukhitam against all mss., but in 188.12 he allows the equally unmetr. suduḥkhito to stand; Senart on Mv i.9.17 keeps duḥkhā of mss., noting that meter implies a short penult; so also i.14.16, 15.13, and often, usually not em. by Senart; dukha is rather common in vss of Samādh, e. g. 19.20; also in Gv, dukha 301.22; 488.9; dukhitām 474.23; dukha (v.l. duḥ°) Bhad 21; etc. In my opinion dukh° should always be read where meter indicates short first syllable.

dukhya (nt.; cf. dukha; semi-MIndic for *duḥkhyā, *dauḥkhyā, cf. Pali sokhya = Skt. saukhya, with which dukhya is compounded and to which it was perhaps formed as a pendant), unhappiness, misery: lābha atha alābhe saukhya-dukhye (so, as cpd.) RP 47.15 (vs).

du-ḡuṇa (= Skt. dviguṇa), two-fold, double: duguṇa-palāśā ca pādapāḥ Mv ii.86.7 (vs); so mss., Senart em. dviguṇa°.

ducchana, read prob. °channa (see s.v. -chana); MIndic for Skt. duśchanna, § 2.12.

[duṭiyās is read by Senart Mv ii.134.7 (vs), but mss. dviṭiyās or °yam; meter requires two short first syllables, but dviṭiya is as good as duṭiya. I have found no writing of du- for dvi- in the ordinal numeral.]

Dundubhī (1) f., n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 4.21; (2) m., n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.16.

-dundubhikā, see mukha-du°.

Dundubhisvara, (1) n. of a former Buddha: LV 171.11; (2) (the same? cf. also next, and °svara-rāja), n. of a Buddha in the north: Suv 2.5; 8.2; 120.7; (3) n. of a gandharva king: Kv 2.17; (4) n. of a Śākya youth: Av i.371.1 ff.

Dundubhisvaranirghoṣa, n. of a Buddha in the north (cf. prec., 2): Sukh 97.22.

Dundubhisvararāja, n. of a series of former Buddhas (cf. Dundubhisvara 1 and 2): SP 380.9.

dupadendra (MIndic for Skt. dvi°; cf. du-; dupada not recorded in Pali; AMg. dupaya acc. to Sheth), (1) king: in Gv 259.20 (vs) read, yada sa niṣkramī dupadendrā (or °dro), when that king retired from the world; (2) n. of a former Buddha: in Gv 258.8 (vs) read with 2d ed., sap-tamu teṣa āsi Dupadendraḥ.

dumela (var. dumaila; Mironov dumela), nt., a high number: Mvy 7873 (cited from Gv) = Tib. yal yal; Gv 133.14 f.

duyamana (m.c. for Skt. dūyamāna, pres. pass. pple), being distressed: LV 166.8 (vs).

dura, nt. (etym.?), seems to mean something like worldly existence: māyopamam hi duram etat, svapnasamam ca samskr̥tam avikṣyam RP 33.3 (vs; meter, Finot's No. 18, p. xiv). The only possible connection I have discovered is duram-daram, Deśin. 5.46, glossed duḥkhot-tirnam.

duradhimoca, °cya, hard to strive zealously towards (see adhimukti and its congeners): SP 185.9 duradhimocyam (tathāgatajñānam; Kashgar rec. °mucyanīyam, cf. adhimucyanā, °natā); said apropos of the fact that disciples of the Buddha in many past existences are still in the same stage of discipleship; AsP 185.2, 5, et passim, duradhimocā (prajñāpāramitā); read with 2d ed. duradhimocam Gv 321.19 for text durabhimocam (etat sthānam, sc. anuttarā samyaksambodhi).

dur-anubodha (= Pali id.; cf. anubodha), hard to comprehend: Mvy 2917 (as synonym of gambhīra); LV 422.12 °am (cakram); Mv iii.314.1 (dharmah).

dur-abhimoca, prob. error for dur-adhimoca, q.v.

dur-abhisambodha, see abhi°.

dur-abhisambhava, adj. (= Pali id.; to Skt. and Pali abhisambhavati; see abhisambhāvayati, and cf. next), hard to attain: Mvy 7210; Bbh 10.3; Gv 267.10; 321.19; Jm 78.12; 122.17.

dur-abhisambhuṇa, adj. (= prec.; see abhisambhuṇati), hard to attain: Mv ii.237.21; 238.13; iii.264.5; 387.4. The last = Pali Sn 701, which has durābhisambhavaṃ (cf. prec.).

durākāra, see ākāra.

dur-ākhyāta, adj. (= Pali durakkhāta), ill-claimed, ill-stated, incorrect: Lañk 244.12 durākhyāta-dharmair api . . . anyatirthikair (Suzuki who hold erroneous doctrines).

dur-āgata, (1) adj. (= Pali id.), unwelcome, unpleasant, offensive; associated with durukta, and applied to words, vacana-patha (same collocation in Pali, AN ii.117.34; 143.29): sarva-durukta-durāgata-vacanapatha-LV 181.11; durukta-durāgatān vacanapathān sahate Śikṣ 185.2; duruktān durāgatān . . . vacanapathān 188.9; Bbh 238.9, cited s.v. avaspaṇḍana; (2) name given to Svāgata because of his bad luck: Divy 171.14; 172.12; 173.9; 177.7 ff.

dur-ājñeya, see ājñeya.

durānuga, m.c. for dūr°? see s.v. ḍhalita.

Durāroha, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.154.2; and Durārohā, a name for the first bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mv i.76.13; 90.13. Cf. Dūrāroha-buddhi. I think it probable that Dūrāroha (dūra, far, plus āroha, q.v., height or length) is the true reading in all these cases.

durāvagāha, adj. (for durava°, hard to fathom: samudrakalpa . . . gambhīra-durāvagāhatvāt LV 424.11 (prose). See § 3.10. This is ignored by Weller 39, who he refers to two other cases of apparent vowel-lengthening in the following lines (see l.c.). The -ā- here may have been carried over from some passage in vs where it was metrically required.

du-rūpa, adj. or subst. (cf. du-; for Skt. dūrūpa), (of) two kinds: (karmā kalyāna-pāpakā) Mv i.12.13 = iii.456.19 (mss. du° both times; Senart em. dvi° first time, not the second), see s.v. pariyāya (4).

dur-opagama, adj. (m.c. for dur-upa°, hard of access: LV 46.15 (vs)).

durgā, (1) nt. (Skt. id.), evil state; five such, perhaps = the five kaṣāya, q.v. (not durgati, of which there are only three or at most four): durgāni (so text) pañca, ṣaṣṭi mohāni, triṃśatiṃ ca malināni (. . . chinnā) LV 372.5 (vs); (2) m. or nt. (loc. durge), n. of a region (janapada) in the south: Gv 201.10, 25.

durgati, f. (= Pali duggati), evil destiny or state of being, see s.v. gati: SP 260.8; also called apāya, q.v.

? durgandha, acc. to Bendall and Rouse, Transl. 179 (cf. note 3, implying support of Tib.) danger of a bad destiny: sarva-durgandham (to be understood as °gandham-, with 'hiatus-bridging' m?) atikramāśvāsanam Śikṣ 183.12 (prose), giving confidence in passing beyond . . . If this is the meaning, surely the text must be corrupt.

durgandhita, denom. ppp. to Skt. durgandha, made ill-smelling: MSV ii.90.13 (prose).

Durgottāriṇī, n. of a form of Tārā: cpd. with -Tārā, Sādh 237.10; or alone, 237.21; 238.4.

Durjaya, (1) n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.12; (2) n. of an ancient king: Mv i.115.15.

Durjayacandra, n. of an author: Sādh 489.14.

Durjayā, (1) n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.6; (2) n. of the 7th bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mv i.76.16; of the 5th bhūmi (= Sudurjayā, the regular name in the standard list), Sūtrā. xx.35.

durdatta, adj.-ppp., wrongly imposed (cf. su-d°), of an ecclesiastical penalty: MSV iii.64.1 ff.

durdina, adj. (Skt. id., Pali duddina, and Pkt. duddina recorded only of weather), gloomy, fig. of men's faces or eyes: sāsrudurdinavadana- Divy 4.28; 323.24; Kv 29.15; Av i.170.10; 199.15; savāspadurdinamukha- Divy 426.24; śokāsrudurdinamukha- Jm 109.22-23; āsrudurdinanayana- Suv 221.2.

Durdharṣa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 699 (with ep. kumārabhūta).

durbalaka, adj. (Pali dubbalaka, AMg. dubbalaya; once in Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge; Skt. °la plus -ka, svārthe, or pejorative dim.?), feeble: kṛṣāluko durbalako mlānako (or mlāno) Divy 334.1, 3; 571.11, 18, 22.

durbuda, m. or nt., a high number: Gv 106.4; corresponds in position to drabuddha, q.v.

Durbhakātyāyana, see Darbha°.

durbhakṣa Māy 220.18 = durbhukta, q.v. (in identical list).

(durbhara-tā, cf. Skt. durbhara, hard to satisfy, pw, and Pali du(b)bharatā, insatiableness, of a monk as regards alms-food: Mvy 2473. Cf. subhara, °tā, and duṣpoṣatā.)

durbhukta, nt. (Pali dubbhutta cited PTSD without reference), indigestion, or indigestible food (Tib. bzah ñes), app. regarded as due to malevolent magic or superhuman powers, in a list including vetāla etc.: Mvy 4380; Māy 245.18; 259.12 (in same list 220.18 durbhakṣa).

dur-maṅku, adj. (= Pali dummaṅku; cf. s.v. maṅku), not showing regret or remorse at sins committed: Mvy 2503; 8350; in both Tib. gnoñ mi bskur (8350 bkur, so Das) ba, which acc. to Das means not confessing faults. The mg. assigned is supported by some Pali comms., while others say less specifically dussīla, immoral; see esp. Hardy, AN vol. 5, Introd. pp. v-vi, note. Perhaps orig. ill (= not properly disturbed in mind (?)). On Mvy 8350 var. °maṅgu, °madgu (as for maṅku).

Durmati, (1) n. of a king: Mv ii.485.8; (2) n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 309.3; (3) f., n. of a queen: Av i.178.9 ff.

durmanasvin, f. °nī (cf. Skt. amanasvin, in same mg., pw 2.291), melancholy, dejected: duḥkhitā °vinī Gv 411.6.

Durmukha, n. of a (brahmanical) sage (ṛṣi): Divy 211.24; 217.19; MSV i.93.15.

Duryodhana, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 23.

Duryodhanavīryavegarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 9.10; 25.9.

durlaṅghita, nt., some form of hostile magic or its result (see s.v. durbhukta): Mvy 4381; Māy 220.19; 245.18 (here dull°). Acc. to Tib. on Mvy, bgo ñe(s), app. bad clothes; or sgyuñ (which I cannot find) ñes. On the basis of Skt., laṅghita could mean violation, hostile attack; or fasting, hunger, starving.

durlambha, adj. (for usual durlabha; Skt. Gr. ati-durl°; Pkt. M. dullambha), hard to get: (kāntāra-)durlambhaṅ piṅḍako yācanakena Av ii.83.9; °bhah . . . Avalokiteśvaro Kv 66.22.

durlikhita, nt., written hostile magic: Mvy 4382 = Tib. bri(s) ñes, bad writing; Māy 220.19 and 245.18 (in both dullī°). See s.v. durbhukta.

durvarṇī-karaṇa (nt.; Pali dubbhaṇa-k°, Vin. iv.120.21, to durvarṇa plus kar-), the making to be of an ugly color (referring to a monk's robe; a new robe must be so treated): Prāt 517.6, 7, 8; also °ñi-kṛtya, ger., treating (robes) thus, MSV ii.48.19.

dull-, see durl-.

dullabha, adj. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. durl°), hard to get: LV 113.17; 322.4; 429.1 (this last prose; two mss. and Calc. durl°); Mv i.233.19; 248.2; ii.55.8; 359.14.

duvāra (rare in Pali, see Childers; = Skt. dvāra), door, gate: bhavana-duvāram (acc.) Mv ii.37.8 (vs).

duvārika, m. (AMg. °riya, derived by Hem. 1.160 and Ratnach. from Skt. dauvārika; cf. also Skt. rājadvārika, Ind. Spr.² 5631), doorkeeper: karoṭha °kam LV 337.9 (vs), make (him my) doorkeeper. Could be m.c. for Skt. dau°, Pali do°.

duve, see dve.

duścāraka, adj. (= Skt. duścara plus -ka, perh. m.c.), hard to carry out, to live thru: °kam śrāmanyam Mv iii.269.18 (vs).

Duścintita-cintin, n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 314.11 °cinty āha. Tib. ñes par bsam pa sems pa, thinking bad thoughts, which clearly supports' the text, contrary to Foucaux's statement, which Lefm. quotes, that it indicates Upacitta°; ñes par = dus-.

duščardita, nt., (evil) vomit (possibly as food of devils, or perhaps as result of their influence): °tam Mvy 4379; Māy 220.18 etc.

duščāya, °yā (cf. chāya, °yā), an evil supernatural being, presumably (like chāya, °yā) a defiler of food: °yaḥ Mvy 4384 = Tib. gnod ḥgrib, injurious defiler; °yā Māy 220.19; 245.18.

duḥ-śraddadha, adj. (to pres. śraddadhāti = Skt. °dhāti), hard to believe: SP 57.7; 313.10 (both vss).

duḥ-śraddadheya, adj. (dus- plus gḍve. based on pres. śraddadhāti, as prec.), = prec.: SP 70.2 (vs).

duḥkara, nt. (= Pali dukkara; Skt. as adj.), difficult task, said of the feats of religious performance accomplished by a Bodhisattva: °rāpi Mv i.83.12; 95.15; °ram 104.21; °ra-kārakā bodhisattvāḥ AsP 293.9; Gv 74.10; °ra-kāriṇo bodhisattvasya Suv 203.9; °ra-caryā Mvy 6679; LV 36.2; 250.10 ff., or -cārikā Mv ii.130.12, course of (such) difficult tasks (engaged in by Bodhisattvas).

duḥkaraka, (1) nt. = prec.: °kam hi kartum SP 119.6 (vs; -ka may be m.c.); (2) adj. (Skt. duḥkara, also used in this sense, plus -ka svārthe), difficult (to get), extraordinary, rare (with complimentary implication): durlabha-saṃjñā duḥkaraka-saṃjñā Gv 332.7 (prose).

duḥkuhaka, adj. (possibly cf. dukkuha Deśin. 5.44, defined asahana, in comm. also arocakin), lit. hard to deceive, not credulous (cf. Wogihara, Lex. 24): duḥkuhakā Jāmbudvīpakā (or Jambu°) manuṣyā(h), nābhīśraddadhāsyasi (°yatī, °yanti) Divy 7.29; 8.26; 9.30; 10.23; 11.18; 12.8; 13.4; 14.23; 335.20; 336.18; 337.14; (avalokiteśvaram . . .) duḥkuhakaṃ lokam upadeśayantam Sādh 77.14.

duḥkṛta, nt. (Skt. id., Pali dukkaṭa), also, rarely, °tā, f., misdeed, sin: (amūlikayā, samūlikayā . . .) duḥkṛtayā (sc. vipattiyā or āpattiyā) MSV iii.109.21 (here text with ms. duḥṣṭatayā, but Tib. ñes byas = duḥkṛta-); 110.2. (Note duḥṣṭatayā in parallel 111.1, 3, where Tib. ñes bcas; I am not sure which word this represents.)

duḥkha, regularly in ed. and acc. to note on 1.1 'always' in the ms. of Śikṣ for duḥkha, misery.

Duṣṭa, n. of a Prajāpati: Māy 257.20, in a list of twelve P.

duṣṭhula, adj. (also spelled °ṣṭū; = Pali duṭṭhulla, adj. and n.; cf. dauṣṭhulya; on etym. see below), wicked, grievously evil: °lām āpattim Prāt 504.1 (Chin. une faute grave); MSV iii.79.5 (see atisārin), duṣṭūlāpattih, a-duṣṭu° Hoernle, MR 12.5 (in a Vinaya fragment), rendered grave offense, not . . .; in Mvy 8424 °lārocana, 8473 °la-pratiechādana, Mironov °lāprati°, telling and (not) concealing what is wicked (no neg. in Tib. and Chin.), the word could (but need not) be considered equal to dauṣṭhulya; °la-samudācārāḥ, of wicked behavior, MSV ii.200.17 (of the ṣaḍvargika monks). In Prāt 479.12 duṣṭhulayā vācā (cf. Pali Vin. iii.128.22) could be rendered with lewd words (making sexual advances to a woman), which acc. to Childers and PTSD is a special (tho not the exclusive) mg. of Pali duṭṭhulla; since no other BHS occurrence of this word or dauṣṭhulya suggests this mg., it seems more probable that the standard meaning, gravely evr., prevails here too. Derivation from Skt. Gr. duṣṭhu (pendant to Skt. suṣṭhu) has been plausibly suggested by Lévi, Sūtrāl. vi.2 note 3, and others. Prob. Pali -ulla shows the older form of the ending: on the Pkt. suffix -ulla cf. Pischel 595. Probably dauṣṭhulya was first constructed as a hyper-Skt. form from duṭṭhulla; it was restricted to substantive use, and duṣṭhula (which seems to have been much rarer) was a back-formation from it, as adj. Leumann, cited by Wogihara, Lex. 27 f., came fairly close to this suggestion as an alternative (his first proposal seems to me implausible).

duṣṣoṣata (= Pali duposata-), opp. of su-p°, q.v., the being hard to feed (to satisfy with alms-food): Mvy 2472, with durbharatā 2473.

duṣṣpravedha, see pravedha.

Duṣṣpradharṣa, n. of a Tathāgata: Śikṣ 9.5; of a Tathāgata in the northern quarter: Sukh 98.1.

[duṣṣprasamṣtara ŚsP 112.15, read duṣya-sam°.]

Duṣṣprasaha, n. of a Buddha in a remote Buddha-kṣetra and different universe, but contemporary with Śākyamuni; he stopped preaching when the latter 'turned the wheel of the law': Mv iii.342.3 ff.; the same personage may be meant (tho this incident is lacking) by Buddhas of seemingly exceptional renown so named at Sukh 70.1, and (spelled Duḥprasaha) Mmk 64.1; 130.3. duṣṣprekṣita, Māy 220.19, or duḥpr°, Mvy 4383, nt., evil eye. See s.v. durbhukta.

1 dūṣya, adj., evil, = Skt. dūṣya, which Senart's note would read by em.: ye 'duṣyadharmasampannāḥ Mv iii.320.12, who are not endowed with evil characteristics.

2 dūṣya, dūṣya. nt. (= Pali dussa; see also kalpa-d°), a kind of cloth, apparently of cotton but of fine quality; see valuable note of Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 138 n.12 (on Kashgar fragment of SP 329.3), with examples of uses to which it is put in Pali and BHS (dress of laymen and -women, not monks; wrapping of corpses; spreads on chairs, and floors; curtains). Spellings with u and ū seem both to occur in mss., but editions are exceptionally confusing. Even the usually so reliable Senart always prints (kalpa-)dūṣya, but in his Index reads (kalpa-)dūṣya, without explanation and without citing any v.l. in the Crit. App. In SP usually and in LV only dūṣya is printed; Lefm.'s mss. of LV often read duṣya, or corruptly puṣpa or the like. Recorded duṣya(m) Mvy 5876 (so also Mironov; BR dū° = Tib. ras beos bu, said to mean calico; duṣyaṇi Mv i.251.14; duṣya (various forms) Mv i.216.13 = ii.19.10; i.227.14; 236.4; Divy 614.17 (mss.); RP 41.2 f. and 56.15 (ms., Finot em. dū°); Suv 126.18 (no ms. has dū°); SP 89.4; Śikṣ 76.12; duṣya-yuga, see below, Mv i.61.1; 331.12; on the other hand, dūṣya SP 75.7 (-paṭa, q.v.); 243.6 (-paṭta); 283.10; 331.6; LV 77.14, 187.13; 284.13; 368.5 (misprinted dūṣpa), Suv 7.8 (but so only 1 ms., the rest dū°); Divy 297.23; Gv 22.3: dūṣya-yuga, see Thomas loc. cit., a double piece of d° (two lengths), SP 119.9; LV 159.12; or, dūṣya-yugma, id., SP 329.3; in Kv 78.22 and 81.7 reap duṣya (or dūṣya) for dhyusita, q.v.

deva (Skt.), often also devaputra (rare in Skt., common in Pali devaputta), god. More or less complete and corresponding lists of the classes of Buddhist gods are given in Pali in MN iii.100 ff.; Kvu 207, 208; Abhidh-s. (here called Abh) 21; Childers (Ch) 467 has a list nearly agreeing with the last; in BHS, in Mvy 3075 ff.; Dharmas 127 ff.; Mv (1) ii.314.4 ff.; (2) 348.16 ff.; LV 150.2 ff.; Av i.5.1 ff. (et alibi); Divy (1) 68.12 ff.; (2) 138.19 ff.; (3) 367.9 ff.; (4) 568.24 ff.; Bbh 61.27 ff.; Gv 249.10 ff. (the last in reverse order). There are other lists, mostly fragmentary, and often so confused as to be hardly usable. The gods fall into three grand divisions: kāmāvacara, living in the kāmadhātu (cf. Mvy 3071-4), usually six in number; rūpāvacara, in the rūpadhātu; ārūpyāvacara, in the ārūpyadhātu. Cf. also the 9 sattvāvāsa, Mvy 2288 ff. (Pali DN 3.263). — Kāmāvacara (deva). The standard list is: cāturmahārājika (BHS sometimes cat°); often °rājakāyika, as in Mvy, Dharmas, Divy 2, Bbh; trāyastriṃśa (Av, Divy, Bbh, trayas°); yāma (Bbh yama); tuṣita (in Dharmas before yāma); nirmānarati (see also nirmita); paranirmitavaśavartin. The Gv list omits 1 and 2. Before 1, Mvy inserts bhauma and antarikṣavāsin, making 8 instead of 6. So Mv 2 prefixes bhūmyām (see s.v. bhūmi) va carā (devāḥ; so read with mss.; va = eva) and antarikṣecarā(h). While no other of the above lists has these two items, bhauma and antarikṣa (or antarikṣa; adjective) devas are associated with shorter lists (generally of kāmāvacara, or some of them, alone) in LV 266.1; 367.7 and 368.3; 396.14; 401.1; and correspondingly bhūmya and antarikṣecara (deva) in Mv i.40.14; 229.14, 15; 240.3, 4; ii.138.12 and elsewhere. — Rūpāvacara (deva) dwell in the rūpadhātu (Mvy 3073), divided into the four dhyāna-bhūmi (Mvy 3084 ff., see dhyāna), the last of which includes, as its final and highest group, the śuddhāvāsakāyika gods, in five sub-groups. These being counted separately, the standard list of rūpāvacara contains usually 18 items in BHS, 16 in Pali, as follows. First dhyāna-bhūmi, usually 4 items, in Pali 3: brahmakāyika (not in Pali lists, but the word occurs, acc. to Childers as an inclusive term for the classes of the first dhyāna-bhūmi; perhaps rather for all the rūpāvacara, or for them plus the arūpāvacara, since they all inhabit brahmalokas, Childers s.v.; in Gv also omitted; in Mv put second, brahmā (devā) being first in Mv 1, and mahābrahmā in Mv 2); brahmapāriṣadya (Dharmas, LV, Divy 4 °pārṣadya, Gv °pārṣada; om. Mv 1, Divy 1-3, Av, Bbh; after brahmapurohita in Dharmas, LV, Mv 2, Divy 4; our order is that of Mvy, Gv, Pali); brahmapurohita (Gv omits brahma by haplography), mahābrahman (or °hma; as no. 1 in Mv 2). Second dhyāna-bhūmi, regularly 3 items in BHS and Pali; but Mv 1 and 2 and Pali MN iii.102.25 prefix another, ābhā(h) (misprinted abhā in MN) devā(h): paritābha (Divy 1-3 mss. paritā°; Mv 1 omits); apramāṇābha (Mv 1 omits); ābhāsvara (Divy 3 apramāṇābhāsvara). Third dhyāna-bhūmi, regularly 3 items in BHS and Pali; Mv and Pali MN iii.102.30 add another, śubhā devāḥ (Pali subhā devā): paritāśubha (Mv 2 omits); apramāṇāśubha (Dharmas omits), śubhakarṣna. Fourth dhyāna-bhūmi, usually three items in BHS, one in Pali, plus (sometimes app. included in the 4th dhy. bh. but sometimes not, cf. Childers s.v. jhānaṃ) the five śuddhāvāsakāyika, who are usually not given this separate group-designation in the lists (but are so designated e. g. in Mvy 3101 and Abh): anabhṛaka (Pali and Mv omit); puṇyaprasava (Pali and Mv omit); vrhatphala (so only Mvy and Mv 2 in BHS, others brh°, but Pali vehapphala); only in Dharmas, LV, and Abh of Pali there follows asaṃjñisattva, Pali (Abh) asaññasatta, a term which occurs as the 5th sattvāvāsa in the Pali list of these DN iii.263.9 ff. (preceding the arūpadhātu), while in the corresponding list of 9 sattvāvāsa in Mvy (2297) it is made the 9th and highest, above the arūpadhātu (an obvious error of Mvy); this item is also given in Childers's list and is needed to make up the traditional Pali number of 16 rūpa-brahmaloka. Then all lists have the five śuddhāvāsakāyika: avṛṇa (Av, Divy 1-3, Bbh abrṇa, Gv abrṇat); atapa (Gv atapo, as s-stem); sudṛśa (Mv 1 omits); sudarśana (Mv 2 omits; Divy 1 sudarśa); akaniṣṭha (for the Pali forms see these words). Here Mvy alone adds as additional stages of śuddhāvāsakāyika, aghaniṣṭha and maḥāmaheśvarāyatanaṃ (see these words). — The ārūpyāvacara gods dwell in the four ārūpyadhātu bhūmi listed (only in Mvy and Dharmas, and in Pali MN, Abh. and Childers) as ākāśānantyāyatana, viññānanantyaayatana, ākimcānyāyatana, and naivasamjñānāsamjñāyātana; the gods dwelling in them are described in Dharmas as °āyatanopagāḥ (see s.v. upaga; similarly Pali °āyatanūpagā). In Suv 86.11 ff., curiously, the first three 'stages', ending °āyatana, are personified as gods (°āyatanānāṃ koṭiṣatam), while only with the last °āyatanopagatānām (for °nopagānām) is used. The first of the four is found in the Pali Kvu list also. For the Pali forms of the names see s.v.

deśanā (= Pali des°; to Skt. or BHS deśayati plus -anā), (1) preaching, in this sense Skt., hardly specifically Buddh., but see °nā-pāṭha, dharmad°, (°nā-)matsarin; also, deśanā dharmasya Mv i.42.10; 53.5; °nā naranāgānām (= Buddhānām) Mv i.168.4; deśanā-naya, the way of verbal instruction, in Lañk 148.10 ff., 172.6, distinct from and inferior to siddhānta-(pratyavasthāna-)naya, the finally approved way, which is that of immediate personal realization, see Suzuki, Studies, 409 (where other citations of this depreciative use of deśanā in Lañk); La Vallée Poussin, HJAS 3.137 ff.; (2) confession (so Pali, e.g. Jāt. v.379.22 desanam paṭiṅghanto; not in PTSD, Childers): °nā-parivarta Suv 20.1, Confession, title of Chap. 3; °nā-gāthāḥ 21.8; pāpa-d° Dharmas 14; °nādyam tu pāpāder Sādh 72.13, et alibi; see also atyaya-d°; (3) see s.v. gaṇḍī(-deśanā).

deśanā-pāṭha (m.), sermon-reading, verbal instruction or text; acc. to °Suzuki, always depreciative in Lañk; so (thinks S.) °ṭha-kathām Lañk 12.17 contrasting with tathāgatapratyātmagocarakathām 16; I am not sure that I understand this passage, but deśanāpāṭhābhiratānām sattvānām 14.2 is certainly depreciative; as to deśanāpāṭhe 16.12, I am again uncertain; yāni deśanāpāṭhe (Suzuki, canonical texts) 'nusaṃvarṇitāny ānantaryāṇi 139.9, these are among the "external" (bāhyāni, 139.6) acts-of-immediate-fruit; in 222.19 etad eva... mayā Śrīmālā devīm adbhikṛtya deśanāpāṭhe... there seems nothing depreciative, even in Suzuki's rendering, this... was told by me in the canonical text relating to Queen Śrīmālā (viz., the Śrīmālāsīmhanāda-sūtra?).

deśayati or °seti (= Pali deseti; see also diśati, 2, 3), (1) communicates, teaches: Mvy 2770; almost always with dharma, the Doctrine, as object, and very common everywhere: SP 63.10 (ppp. deṣitu, dharma), 12; 92.14; 199.7; 264.6; 317.10; LV 409.10; 416.22; Mv 1.52.11; 60.6; 73.10 (deṣitā daśabalena, subject skandhā); iii.51.12; 201.9; 357.11; dharma in different sense, (nāhaṃ... ye) dharmā anityās te nityato deśayāmi Mv 1.173.2, I do not teach that states-of-being which are impermanent are permanent; deśanām Suv 28.11 and 29.1; deśayāmo Bhik 6b.1, communicate. make known; text ppp. deśayito, yo imu Bhadracarī-prañidhānam dhārayi vācayī deśayito vā Bhad. 54, but read opt., deśay' ito vā, or teaches from it; (2) confesses: see s.v. atyaya, where SP 210.1; 212.7; LV 409.22 are cited; tat (pāpakam karma) śarvaṃ deśayisyāmi Suv 25.4; similarly 27.8, 10 etc.; (karma kṛtam...) deśayati Karmav 47.26; see also deśya; (3) displays, exhibits, in the sense of darśayati: deśenti Mv 1.170.2, cited s.v. upadeśeti, q.v. for reasons against em. to darś°.

drohiṇya, nt. (seemingly Skt. drohin plus -ya; no such formation recorded; = drauhiṇya, q.v.), injurious malice: Gv 459.15 (prose) sattva-drohiṇyāni soḍhavyāni.

? Drapadī, n. of a devakumārīkā (or of two? see below) in the Western Quarter: Mv iii.308.9; LV 390.6. Mss. of both confused, and readings doubtful; Senart reads kṛṣṇā śukrā ca dr°, the dark and light Dr.; LV may go back to some such reading; some of its mss. and Lefm.'s. text contain kṛṣṇā. It hardly needs to be recalled that Kṛṣṇā was the name of the epic heroine known as Draupadī.

drauhiṇya (nt.), so read for ed. drauhilya, = drohiṇya, q.v., injurious malice: Śiḥs 279.5 sattva-drauhiṇya-doṣaiḥ (Tib. cited as ḥkhru baḥi ṅaṅ tshul can).

dvaya (nt.), (sexual) coupling, copulation: sa nehaiva mātrgrāmeṇa sārḍham dvayaḃ samāpadyate Śiḥs 76.8, he does not by any means enter into copulation with a woman; dvaya-dvaya-samāpattiḥ Mvy 9469, copulation, lit. attaining (entering into, sc. a state of) couple by couple.

dvaya-mati, doubt (lit. double thought): *ti-vimocaka LV 360.2 (vs), O freer from doubt!

dvātriṃśata = °sat, thirty-two; see § 19.34.

dvādaśavarga, consisting of a group of twelve (nuns), necessary for ordination of a nun (whereas ten monks have this power, see daśavarga): Bhīk 19a.1 bhikṣuṅgīṇām dvādaśavarge maṅḡalake.

dvādaśavargika, fem. °kā, with or without bhikṣuṅgī, pl., prob. not = next but to prec. plus -ika, members of the °varga: MSV ii.144.1, 16.

dvādaśavargiya, f. °yā, pl., belonging to a group of twelve (nuns; clearly not heretics as stated in Index): °yābhiḥ śrutam Divy 493.12; °yābhir 495.23. No such group has been discovered in Pali; the context in Divy is my only source of knowledge of the meaning. It can hardly mean members of the dvādaśavarga, q.v., in the sense of quorum for ordination. Apparently these nuns were given to cavilling and trouble-making; they object to functions assigned to (Cūḍa-)Panthaka.

dvāra-kośa (m.; = Pali °kosa, Vin. iv.47.23), app. door-frame: in the corrupt and fragmentary passage Prāt 506.10 ff., mahallakam bhikṣuṅgā vihāraḃ kārayatā yāvad dvāraakośārgaḍasthā[pa]na ālokasamta (read āloka-sam-dhi, q.v.?) bhūmi . . . (lacuna). In the same passage in Pali (Vin., above), yāva dvārakośā aggaḷaṭṭhapanāya ālokasamdhīparikammāya.

dvāra-koṣṭha (m.), = next: (jetavanavihāre . . . sopānāni . . .) °koṣṭhe ca muktāpaṭṭakalāpapralambitāni Kv 7.23 (prose). Here seems to mean the upper part, top story, over the entrance(s) to the vihāra.

dvāra-koṣṭhaka, m. (= Pali °koṭṭhaka; cf. carāṇa-koṣṭha), lit. gate-room; a room, or (often) roofed but open space, over a gate or entrance (to a private house, religious edifice, or city); such spaces, guarded by railings and covered but open in front, are seen in the 'cave-temples' of Ajanta etc. Also, perhaps by extension, seems to be used in the sense of gate, entrance; and sometimes it is hard to say which is meant: °ke sthitvā Divy 17.12, at the gate (entrance, to a house); bhagavāms tasya (sc. of a private person, at his house) dvārakoṣṭhakam anuprāptah; dauvārikapuruseṇāsyā niveditam, bhagavān dvāre (note! = °koṣṭhake) tiṣṭhatī Av i.31.10, is standing at the gate; Divy 535.11 ff., here app. a city-gate; bahirdvārakoṣṭhaka (= Pali bahidvārakoṣṭhaka), the space outside the gate: °kasyaikānte Bhik 3b.2 (here prob. of the vihāra-gate); jetavanam gatah . . . dvāra°ke sthitvāgaruṃ dhūpitavān Av i.24.2; in the last it is hard to say whether the gateway, or the space over it, is meant; app. of the space over the entrance to a vihāra, °ke pañcagaṇḍakam cakram kārayitavyam Divy 300.8, 9, 25; (stūpasya . . .) catvāro °kā māpitāḥ Divy 244.17; (dviṭiyamaṇḍale) °ke Mmk 47.26; others, Jm 19.17; 20.1; MSV i.168.12 etc.

dvārapālinī (cf. Skt. °pālikā; f. to °pāla), female doorkeeper: Sādh 502.13.

Dvārapālī, n. of a town: °liyām, loc., Māy 13 (see Lévi p. 62).

Dvāravatī, n. of a city, said to be in the south, and residence of the god Mahādeva: Gv 218.6 ff.

dvāra-śākhī, acc. to Chin. door-frame: Mvy 5569 (so also Mironov; BR °khā) = Tib. sgo (door) skyobs (or, skyes; mg. of both obscure to me). BR cite Skt. Lex. dvāra-śākhā, Thürflügel.

Dvārasvaraprabhūtaśākhā, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 312.3.

dvi-daivasika, see daiv°.

dvipadaka, f. °ikā (= Skt. dvipada; Bhvr.), (a verse) consisting of two metrical units: (na tena) kasyacid dvipadikā gāthā śrāvītā Divy 396.6 (prose).

?dvipari (-vartanāveṇī), LV 256.1. If we accept dvipari- with all mss. and both edd. we should have to understand it as part of the foll. cpd.; in that case apparently parivartanā = vartanā, and with preceding dvi- the whole might mean string of double beads (lit. spheres?), i.e., possibly, extra-large ones? See the whole passage cited s.v. vartanā(veṇī). Note however that the close parallel LV 254.13 lacks dvipari; and Tib. on 256.1 has nothing corresponding. Note also that the preceding comparison, ending pārśve (and cited l.c.), lacks any statement of the tertium comparationis between the Bodhisattva's sides (pārśve) and the 'ribs' of a crab or the roof-frame of a (ruined) stable; 254.10–11 shows the point, viz. that they were 'open', so that light shone thru. Is it possible that dvipari goes with the preceding and contains a corruption of some form of vi-var- (cf. vivrtāyām 254.10)? Something like opt. vivare(t), vivari? The passage is prose, and MIndic forms are not normal in prose of LV; but no one knows how MIndic its original form may have been.

dvipādaka, adj. (= Skt. dvipāda; cf. Pali dipādaka, said of the human body, Sn 205), 'two-legged', human, only with puṇyakṣetra, a human (personified) field of merit (virtue): of a Buddha, Divy 48.6; 63.24, 28; of other pious persons, Mv i.329.11 (not quite rightly Senart).

dvi-puta, adj. (cf. eka-puta), folded double (of a cloth): Mvy 9187; MSV ii.90.7. dviprasūtā, who has borne twice: Mv iii.282.14. Cf. eka-pra°.

dviruttarapadasamdhī-lipi, a kind of writing: LV 126.8; Tib. tshig lan lan gnūs su gḍab paḥi tshig gi mtshams kyi (yi ge), which Foucaux renders, (écriture) du samdhī (liaison) d'un mot répété deux fois, which does not make much sense to me, nor can I see how it renders the Tib. (which however I find obscure). The text continues: yāvadaśottarapadasamdhī-lipim; this time Tib. is rather different, tshig gi mtshams beur brgyud paḥi bar gyi (yi ge), which Foucaux renders as before (with ten for two); it seems to mean writing up to a series of ten (forming) a combination of words, or writing of combinations of words in which up to ten words follow one another. Possibly dvirut-tara° means no more than writing of two words in combination.

dviṣa, m. (= Pali diṣa; in Skt. as adj. ifc.; a-extension of Skt. dviṣ), enemy: MSV ii.17.1 dviṣo (so ms., ed. em. dviḍ) bhaviṣyāmi.

dviśāhasra (in Skt. as adj., consisting of 2000; cf. Pali dviśahasā majjhimikā lokadhātu AN i.228.5), designation of a medium-sized lokadhātu, consisting of 2000 (worlds): as subst., sc. lokadhātu, Dbh 81.31 dviśāhasrā-dhīpatir (mahābrahmā); °sro madhyamo lokadhātuḥ Mvy 304.3; AsP 95.18; °sre lokadhātuḥ ŚsP 26.10; °sre madhyame lokadhātuḥ AsP 66.3; 67.3; contrasted with sāhasra (-cūḍika) on the one hand, and trisāhasrama-hāsāhasra, qq.v., on the other. Cf. next.

dviśāhasrika, adj. (cf. prec. and cf. sāhasrika), consisting of 2000 (worlds), of a lokadhātu, or ruling over such a system, of a Mahābrahmā: dviśāhasriko mahābrahmā sarvasmin dviśāhasrike lokadhātu . . . Dbh 81.23–24.

?dvistvala, m., or (iii.161.4) dvistvalaka, m., dubious form assumed by Senart (the mss. in most of the passages vary considerably), some unknown kind of entertainer, in lists of various sorts of entertainers (cf. e. g. kheluka, gāyanaḥ, kumbhatūnika, pañcavaṭuka, etc.): Mv iii.113.3; 141.18; 161.4; 255.12; 442.9. Cf. ḍimbara.

dvīpa (Pali dīpa, see below; as in Skt. usually m. but sometimes nt., e. g. Divy 214.25; Mv iii.378.2; the gender of the names follows that of the word dvīpa in the context; normally they are m.), one of the 4 continents, which to Buddhists are Jambudvīpa, Pūrvavideha (Prāgvideha La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. iii.145), Aparā-godānīya (°ni, °ḍāni- in comp., °nika; rarely Avara°, Godānīya, qq.v.), and Uttarakuru (Kuru alone, AbhidhK l. c.); see the second and third s.vv. Listed LV 19.15 f.; 149.19 f.; the three outer ones cpd. with -lipi LV 126.4 f.; Mv i.6.2; ii.68.6; 158.18; iii.378.2; cf. AbhidhK. l. c.; Mvy 3045, 3047, 3050, 3054, 3057; Dharmas 120; Divy 214.7, 10, 24; 215.15, 20; MSV i.94.4 f. The Pali forms are Jambudīpa, Pubbavideha, Aparagoyāna (! or v.l. °godhāna), and Uttarakuru.

dvīpaka (m.; dvīpa plus -ka svārthe), continent: ... catvāro dvīpā abhūvan; ekaikasmimś ca dvīpake ... Gv 325.4. Prose; no possible difference of mg. from dvīpa appears.

1 dvīpika, m., a certain insect: °kaḥ Mvy 4918 = Tib. sril (silkworm) or mug pa (moth, acc. to Jā. also worm). Seems likely to be related to Deśin. 5.53 dīviā, glossed upadehikā (Skt. Lex., said to be = Skt. upadikā, a kind of ant).

2 -dvīpika, ifc. adj., in pratyantadvīpikānām (brāhmaṇānām) Suv 14.4 (prose), belonging to the (outlying) continents.

dvīhika, dvehika, dvyahika, adj. (so the mss. and Senart variously read; § 3.115; cf. Pali dvīhika), (sufficient) for two days, with śāli, rice (as food): °kaṃ Mv i.343.11, 12, 14; Senart dvyahika in 11 (with one ms.), dvīhika in 12, 14; mss. have v.l. dvehi(ka) in 11; both read dvīhika (sol) in 12 and both dve° in 14. Most likely dvehika is to be read; cf. trīhika, tre°.

DH

? dhaṭṭika, m. (perh. cf. Skt. Lex. dhaṭi, rag; loin-cloth?), acc. to Tib. and Chin. (a cloth with hemmed edges: Mvy 9189 = Tib. cha ga btob (or ltob) pa. But the reading is uncertain; vv.ll. vaṭṭika, °so Mironov, who cites no dhaṭṭika even as v.l.), dhajika, dhaṭṭika.

Dhanapālaka, see Dhana°.

dhana, (1) nt., (spiritual) treasure (= Pali ariya-dhana, the same seven, see s.v. in CPD): Mvy 1565–72, seven such: śraddhā, śīla, hrī, apatrāpya, śruta, tyāga, prajñā; (2) n. of a king (= Mahādhana): Divy 437.19; 439.26; 441.20; MSV i.123.20 ff.

Dhanagupta, n. of a son of Gupta the perfumer: Divy 351.22.

Dhanamjaya-sūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 55.19.

Dhanapati, n. of a king: Gv 399.12.

Dhanapatigupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.
